5 And the ſons of Rimmon the Beerothite, Rechab and Baanah, went and came about the heat of the day to the houſe of Iſhboſheth, who lay on a bed at noon i.

i Either, from diſcontent of Mind, as Ahab did, 1 King. 21. 4. or from ſloth and ſenſuality, as David ſeems to have done, chap. 11. 2.

6 And they came thither into the midſt of the houſe k, as though they would have fetched wheat l; and they ſmote him under the fifth rib; and Rechab and Baanah his brother eſcaped m.

k Or, into the houſe: for the midſt is not always taken exactly, and Mathematically, but for any part within, as Gen. 48. 16. Exod. 8. 22. Joſh. 3. 17. l Which was laid up in publick Granaries in the King's Houſe, and was fetched thence by the Captains and Commanders of the Army for the Pay of their Soldiers, who, in thoſe ancient Times were not paid in Money, but in Corn, as is well known. Upon this Pretence they were admitted into the Houſe, and ſo went from Room to Room, to the place where the King lay. m Which was not difficult to do, when the King was left alone, either becauſe he deſired to compoſe himſelf to reſt or ſleep: or, becauſe his Guards, if he had any, were very ſmall, and negligent, now at leaſt, in his declining and forlorn Condition.

7 For when they came into the houſe, he lay on his bed in his bed-chamber: and they ſmote him, and ſlew him, and beheaded him, and took his head, and gat them away through the plain n all night.

n i. e. In the way from Mahanaim to Hebron; which for the moſt part was a plain Country.

8 And they brought the head of Iſhboſheth unto David to Hebron, and ſaid to the king, Behold, the head of Iſhboſheth the ſon of Saul, thine enemy, which ſought thy life o; and the LORD hath avenged my lord the king this day of Saul and of his ſeed p.

o i. e. To deſtroy it, or take it away; as this Phraſe is uſed, 1 Sam. 20. 1. and 23. 15. and elſewhere. p They thought their Action not only blameleſs, but Meritorious; becauſe they had but executed Juſtice upon Saul's Houſe, and David's Enemies, and made way for David's obtaining of his Rights. It may ſeem ſtrange, they were not diſcouraged by David's puniſhing of the Amalekite for killing Saul, 2 Sam. 1. and by his ſharp Reproof of Joab for Murdering Abner; but they thought the firſt Caſe much differing from theirs, becauſe Saul was anointed King by God: whereas Iſhboſheth was not, but was a meer Uſurper: and for the latter, they thought that David's ſharp words proceeded rather from Art and Policy, than from any real diſlike of the thing; which they judged, becauſe David contented himſelf with words, and Joab did not only go unpuniſhed, but continued in his former Place and Power.

9 ¶ And David anſwered Rechab, and Baanah his brother, the ſons of Rimmon the Beerothite, and ſaid unto them, As the LORD liveth, who hath redeemed my ſoul out of all adverſity q.

q Who hath hitherto delivered, and will deliver me from all mine Enemies. So that I needed not your wicked help in this way.

10 When * one told me, ſaying, Behold Saul is dead, († thinking to have brought good tidings) I took hold of him, and ſlew him in Ziklag, ‖ who thought that I would have given him a reward for his tidings.

CHAP. V.

The tribes come to Hebron to anoint David king over all Iſrael: the years of his reign at Hebron and Jeruſalem: his age, 1,—5. He taketh the ſtrong hold of Zion from the Jebuſites and dwelleth there, 6,—10. Hiram maketh a league with David, and ſendeth wood and workmen to build an houſe, 11, 12. He taketh more wives, and eleven ſons are born to him at Jeruſalem, 13,—16. David directed by God ſmiteth the Philiſtines at Baal-Perazim, 17,—21. And again at the Mulberry-trees, 22,—25.

THEN * came all the tribes of Iſrael a to David unto Hebron, and ſpake, ſaying, Behold, we are thy bone, and thy fleſh b.

* Chap. 19. 11,12.

a To wit, by their Ambaſſadors, Iſhboſheth and Abner being now dead; and that without David's concurrence. b i. e. Thy Brethren, or Kinſmen, of the ſame Nation and Parentage, though not of the ſame Tribe; and therefore, as God's Law, Deut. 17. 15. permits us, ſo our own relation and affection inclines us to chuſe thee for our King; and we double not thou wilt receive us for thy Subjects and People, and Pardon our Offences againſt thee.

2 Alſo in time paſt, when Saul was king over us, * thou waſt he that leddeſt out, and broughteſt in Iſrael: and the LORD ſaid to thee d, * Thou ſhalt feed my people Iſrael, and thou ſhalt be a captain over Iſrael.

* Chap. 3. 17. 1 Chron. 11. 2.

c Thou waſt our chief Commander in our Expeditions againſt the Philiſtines, and therefore art moſt fit to be King over us. d To wit, by Samuel, 1 Sam. 16. 11, 12, 13. for though the words vary, yet the ſence is the ſame. e i. e. Rule them, and take care of them, as a Shepherd doth of his Sheep, Pſal. 78. 70, 71. Thus Expreſſion he uſeth to admonith David, that he was not made a King to advance his own Glory and Intereſt, but for the good and benefit of his People

People; and that he ought to Rule them with all tenderneſs, and to watch over them with all diligence.

3 So all the elders of Iſrael came to the king to Hebron, and king David made a league with them f in Hebron before the LORD g: and they anointed David h king over Iſrael.

f Whereby David obliged himſelf to rule them according to God's Laws; and the People promiſed Fidelity and Obedience to him. g Either, 1. Before the Ark, which might be here, though that be not mentioned in this place. Or, 2. Before the Prieſt clothed with the Ephod; whereby he was in a manner put into God's Preſence. Or rather, 3. In the congregation of the mighty, or Magiſtrates, where God uſed to be preſent, Pſal. 82. 1. in the Publick Aſſembly now met together in God's name and fear, and as in his Preſence to call upon him, to appeal to him as the Witneſs and Judge of their Tranſactions. Compare Judg. 11. 11. 1 Sam. 23. 18. h Either by a Prophet or the Prieſt, to whom this Office belonged. See 2 Sam. 2. 4.

4 ¶ David was thirty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years i.

i And ſome odd Months, as it follows.

5 In Hebron he reigned over Judah * ſeven years and ſix months: and in Jeruſalem he reigned thirty and three years over all Iſrael and Judah.

* Chap. 2. 11

6 ¶ And the king and his men went k to Jeruſalem l unto the Jebuſites m, the inhabitants of the land, which ſpake unto David, ſaying, ‖ Except thou take away the blind and the lame, thou ſhalt not come in hither n: ‖ thinking, David cannot come in hither o.

k Having the advantage of ſo great a confluence of his People to make him King, he thought fit to begin his Reign with ſome eminent Action, and to lead them forth in this Expedition. Wherein doubtleſs he asked Advice from God, and the conſent of the Elders now preſent. l As the place which God had deſigned for his Worſhip; and in the center and heart of his Kingdom, and therefore fitteſt for his Royal City. m Who continued to dwell there in ſpight of the Benjamites, to whoſe lot it fell. See Joſh. 15. 63. Judg. 1. 21. and 19. 10, 11. n Or, thou ſhalt not come in hither, but the blind and the lame ſhall remove or hinder thee. By the blind and the lame they underſtand, either, 1. Their own People; and ſo they imply, that the Place was ſo impregnable, that even the blind and lame Men were able to defend it againſt all David's Aſſaults. And theſe may be called, and were the hated of David's ſoul, v. 8. Not becauſe they were Blind and Lame, but becauſe they were Jebuſites, a People hated and accurſed by God: and the Jebuſites of this place were more hateful to him, than the reſt of that Nation; partly, becauſe they poſſeſſed this Place, which David knew was deſigned for the one and only place of God's ſolemn Worſhip; and partly, becauſe they did ſo wickedly and inſolently defie the Armies of Iſrael, and conſequently, the God of Iſrael. Or 2. Their gods or images; which, after the manner of the Heathens, they Worſhipped as their tutelary gods, and placed in their Gates or Walls. Theſe they call blind and lame ſarcaſtically, and with reſpect to David's Opinion; as if they ſaid, Theſe gods of ours, whom you Iſraelites Reproach, as Blind and Lame, Pſal. 115. 5, 6. and ſo unable to direct and protect us, they will defend us againſt you; and you will find, they are neither Blind nor Lame, but have Eyes to watch for us, and Hands to fight againſt you; and you muſt Conquer them before you can take our City. And theſe may well be called, the hated of David's ſoul. But I preferr the former ſence, as being moſt eaſie, and natural, and proper; whereas, the latter is Metaphorical, and ſeems doubtful and forced. o Concluding their Fort to be Impregnable.

Others underſtand it, of their Idols, or Images. But they could not properly be ſaid to be ſmitten, i. e. Killed; as that Word is uſed here, and elſewhere. r This belongs to the Jebuſites, and the lame and the blind; and it is explained in v. 6. s Theſe words are fitly ſupplied out of 1 Chron. 11. 6. where they are expreſſed; and they muſt needs be underſtood to make the ſence compleat. And ſuch Ellipſes or Defects of a part of the Sentence, are uſual in Promiſes and Oaths, and in Conditional Offers, ſuch as this was. t i. e. Whence it became a Proverb, or a common ſaying, uſed by David, and others, upon this occaſion: or otherwiſe, The blind and the lame Jebuſites were ſet to keep the Houſe, i. e. The Fort of Zion; and to keep others from coming into it; but now they are ſhut out of it, and none of them, to wit, either, 1. Of the Jebuſites; or, 2. Of blind and lame Perſons, ſhall be admitted to come into it again. Which David might reſolve, and ordain, to keep up the memory of this great Exploit, and of the inſolent Carriage of the Jebuſites, and their unhappy Succeſs. Or, the blind and the lame ſhall not come into my houſe: to wit, Into the King's Palace. And although this diſpenſe with it in ſome ſpecial caſes, as in that of Mephiboſheth. But it is not neceſſary, that theſe ſhould be a Proverb; for the becauſe they had ſaid, even the blind and the lame, he (i. e. David) ſhall not come into the houſe: or, becauſe they (i. e. the Jebuſites) had ſaid, the blind and the lame ſhall hinder him; (which words are eaſily ſupplied out of v. 6. where having ſpoken of this more largely, it was ſufficient here to mention the moſt emphatical Words, as is uſual in ſuch caſes;) He ſhall not come into the houſe, or hither; as very largely and generally in the Hebrew Language, for any place; as Judg. 16. 21.

9 So David dwelt in the fort, and called it, The city of David: and David built round about from Millo u, and inward.

David fetcheth the Ark with much People, and great joy out of the Houſe of Abinadab, 1,——5. Uzza laying hold of the Ark, is ſlain of God: David is grieved: Carries the Ark into the Houſe of Obed-edom, whom God bleſſeth for its ſake, 6,——11. David bringeth the Ark into Zion with Sacrifices: Danceth before it: For which Michal deſpiteth him, 12,——16. They place it in a Tabernacle: He offereth to God: Bleſſeth the People: Giveth them Preſents, 17,——19. Michal reproving David: He anſwereth her: She is Childleſs to her Death, 20,——23.

AGain David gathered together all the choſen men of Iſrael a, thirty thouſand.

a The fleeteſt, and valianteſt Men in his Army and Land; leſt the Philiſtines ſhould attempt to diſturb them in this work.

2 And * David aroſe, and went with all the people that were with him b, from Baale of Judah c, to bring up from thence the ark of God d, ‖ whoſe name is called by the name of the LORD of hoſts e, that dwelleth between the cherubims.

b With the whole body of the People: for theſe ſeem to be a ſelect Party from the 30000 now mentioned. See 1 Chron. 13. 1, 2. c Or, Baalah in Joſh. 15. 9. d Which they went to it; as is evident, both from 1 Chron. 13. 6. and becauſe the Ark was there, and to be fetched thence? Anſw. Some affirm, That the Hebrew Prepoſition Min, ſometimes ſignifies To, as Gen. 13. 11. But there is no need of ſuch a ſenſe, for, 1 Chron. 13. 6. mentions their going to Baalah; and here it is ſaid, they went from thence; which ſeem to be two of theſe doubt not, but they went thither, that they might return thence. So the ſence is plain, They went from Baaleh of Judah, to bring (or rather to carry; for the Word ſignifies either) up from thence the ark. Whereby it is ſuppoſed, that they muſt needs ſtay ſome time, which is related 1 Chron. 13. 6. Moreover, this Place is commonly called Kiriath-jearim, 1 Sam. 7. 1. 1 Chron. 13. 6. and formerly, Kiriath-baal, Joſh. 15. 60. and Baalah, Joſh. 15. 9. and here Baale of Judah, ſo called, becauſe it was in the Tribe of Judah, as is evident from Joſh. 15. 1, &c. & Unto Jeruſalem, which, in many reſpects, was fitter for it than Baalah; becauſe this was a more Publick place, where it would be more obſerved and regarded; and in the Center of the Kingdom, to which they might more eaſily come from all Parts; and the Royal City, where it might be always at hand for David to enquire at, as occaſion required; and the place which God had allotted for it. e Thus whoſe, belongs not to the Ark, but to God: for what follows is not the name of the Ark, but of God. The place may well be, and is by ſome rendred thus, Upon (or At, or Beſide, or I. Jare.) which (Ark) the name, even the name of the Lord of hoſts, that ſitteth between the Cherubims is called upon: i.e. By, or before which, they were to preſent their Prayers to God for Counſel and Succour upon all occaſions. And this is mentioned here as the reaſon why David put himſelf and his People to ſo great trouble and charge, becauſe it was to fetch up the choiceſt Treaſure which they had, and to the benefit would abundantly recompenſe the inconvenience.

3 And they † ſet the ark of God * upon a new cart f, and brought it out of the houſe of Abinadab that was in ‖ Gibeah g: and Uzzah and ‖ Ahio the ſons of Abinadab h, drave the new cart.

f Being taught, and encouraged to do ſo, by the Example of the Philiſtines, who did ſo without any token of God's diſpleaſure upon them for ſo doing. But they did not ſufficiently conſider, that God might work at the Philiſtines, becauſe they were ignorant of God's Laws; and yet be angry with them for the ſame thing, becauſe they knew, or might, and ſhould have known the Law of God, which commanded the Priests to bear it upon their ſhoulders, Numb. 4. 14, 15. and 7. 9. But their preſent tranſports of Joy at the happy change of their Affairs, and their greedy deſire of having the Ark removed, made them haſty and inconſiderate. g Or, on the hill, as 1 Sam. 7. 1. h For Abinadab himſelf ſeems now to have been dead; or at leaſt, detained at home through infirmity or indiſpenſable occaſions.

4 And they brought it out of * the houſe of Abinadab which was at Gibeah, † accompanying the ark of God, and Ahio went before the ark i.

i To lead the Oxen that drew it.

5 And David and all the houſe of Iſrael played before the LORD, on all manner of inſtruments made of fir-wood, even on harps, and on pſalteries, and on timbrels, and on cornets, and on cymbals.

6 ¶ And * when they came to Nachons k threſhing-floor, Uzzah * put forth his hand to the ark of God, and took hold of it, for the oxen ‖ ſhook it l.

k Otherwiſe called Chidon, 1 Chron. 13. 9. l For they ſtumbled, 1 Chron. 13. 9.

7 And the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Uzzah, and God ſmote him m there for his ‖ rafor n, and there he died o by the ark of God.

m With ſome deadly Diſeaſe or Stroke, as it follows. n Either, For his touching the Ark, when he was no Levite, as Joſephus reports; nor indeed was Kiriath-jearim a Levitical City: or, that being but a Levite, he touched the bare Ark, which only the Prieſts might do, Numb. 5. 15. and 18. 3. And though the Ark was ordinarily covered, yet it is not impoſſible but the covering might be either looſe, and ſo blown aſide by the Wind; or worn out, and ſo he might touch the Ark it ſelf. Or, 2. Becauſe he put the Ark into a Cart, and thereby expoſed it to the danger of falling, which would have been a great diſcouragement to the Iſraelites, and a reproach to the Ark. And though Abio alſo might have an hand in putting it into the Cart, yet Uzzah only is ſmitten; either, becauſe he was the Elder Brother, and the Perſon to whoſe care the Ark was more eſpecially committed; or, becauſe he was the chief Author of this Counſel of putting it into a Cart; or, becauſe he added a new fault of touching the Ark, and that out of diſtruſt of God's care over it. o This may ſeem very ſevere, conſidering the his Intention was Pious, and his Tranſgreſſion not great. But, beſides that, Men are very improper Judges of the Actions of God; and that God's Judgments are always juſt, though ſometimes obſcure: There are many things to be ſaid of this, and ſuch like caſes. 1. That it is fit and reaſonable, that God ſhould make ſome Perſons Examples of his juſt and high Diſpleaſure againſt Sins, ſeemingly ſmall; partly, for the demonſtration of his own exact and impartial Holineſs; partly, for the eſtabliſhment of Diſcipline, (for which very reaſon, even Earthly Princes have oft-times Inflicted great Puniſhments for ſmall Offences;) and for the greater Terror and Caution of Mankind, who are very prone to have ſlight thoughts of Sin, and to give way to ſmall Sins, and thereby to be led on to greater; all which is, or may be prevented by ſuch inſtances of Severity: and conſequently, there is more of God's Mercy, than of his Juſtice, in ſuch Actions, becauſe the Juſtice is confined to one particular perſon, but the Mercy and Benefit of it is publick and common to Mankind of that, and all future Ages. 2. That God is juſtly moſt ſevere in thoſe things which immediately concern his Worſhip and Service; and againſt thoſe perſons who have the neareſt Relation to him, and the greateſt opportunities of knowing, and the higheſt obligations of careful Practiſing their Duties which they neglect: See Levit. 10. 3. 3. That this Puniſhment poſſibly was not ſo great as it may ſeem to be; for as for his Body, the Diſeaſe, though dangerous, might not be exceeding painful; and for his Soul, the ſtroke probably was not to ſudden, as not to give him ſpace of Repentance.

8 And David was diſpleaſed p, becauſe the LORD had † made a breach upon Uzzah: and he called the name of the place ‖ Perez Uzzah to this day.

p Or, grieved, both for the ſin, which he acknowledgeth, 1 Chron. 15. 2, 13. and for God's heavy Judgment; whereby their hopes were daſhed, and their joys interrupted, and a good Servant ſtruck dead for the circumſtantial error of a Pious Mind, which he might poſſibly think harſh and very ſevere, and therefore no leſs diſpleaſed or offended at this ſharp Providence.

9 And David was afraid of the LORD q that day, and ſaid, How ſhall the ark of the LORD come unto me r?

q Either, that God was diſpleaſed with him for removing the Ark, and bringing it to his City: or leſt God ſhould proceed further in the way of his Judgments upon him and his People: or, leſt the Ark being brought to his Houſe, might be the occaſion of Inconveniencies and great Calamities, for ſome Neglects or Errors which they might eaſily and frequently commit. r How may I preſume, or how ſhall I dare do it, when God hath ſhewed his diſpleaſure for my attempting it? I will therefore wait farther upon God for his direction in the caſe, and at preſent forbear. But why did not David conſult God preſently by the Urim, as he uſed to do? This therefore ſeems to have been his infirmity and neglect.

10 So David would not remove the ark of the LORD unto him into the city of David: but David carried it aſide into the houſe of Obed-Edom the Gittite s.

s Which doubtleſs was done by the conſent and deſire of the owner of it, who for the enjoyment of ſo great a Priviledge, was willing to expoſe himſelf to ſome hazard; and wiſely conſidered, that that the late Judgment was not to be imputed to the Ark, but to Uzzah's carelеſneſs in managing it. t He was certainly a Levite, 1 Chron. 15. 15, 21, 24. and 16. 5, and 26. 4. and here called a ſtranger, either, Firſt, From Gath of the Philiſtines, where he or his Father might be Born or have Sojourned, which might be upon divers occaſions: Or, Secondly, From Gath-rimmon, which was a Levitical City, Joſ. 21. 24, 25.

11 And the ark of the LORD continued in the houſe of Obed-Edom the Gittite three months: and the LORD bleſſed Obed-Edom, and all his houſhold u.

u With happy Succeſs in all their Affairs and Actions.

12 ¶ And it was told king David, ſaying, The LORD hath bleſſed the houſe of Obed-Edom, and all that pertaineth unto him, becauſe of the ark of God. So David went and brought up the ark of God * from the houſe of Obed-Edom y, into the city of David, with gladneſs.

x Underſtanding that the Ark was entertained without danger or inconveniencie, and with great advantage, he apprehended his former miſtake, and brought it to himſelf. y Which is thought to have been either in Jeruſalem, or very near it.

13 And it was ſo, that when they that bare the ark of the LORD, had gone ſix paces z, he ſacrificed * oxen and fatlings a.

z With ſafety and comfort. a Upon an Altar ſuddenly erected, as was uſual in ſuch caſes. See Exod. 20. 24. This he did, either, to appeaſe God for the former miſcarriage: or, to prepare him for his preſent Mercy, that he had not made another breach upon them: or, to implore his favour and gracious preſence with them in this great Affair.

b To expreſs his inward joy and thankfulneſs to God by his outward carriage, according to the manner of thoſe Times. See Exod. 15. 20. Judg. 11. 34. and 21. 21. 1 Sam. 18. 6. Pſal. 149. 3. and 150. 4. c The uſual Habit of the Prieſts and Levites, in their Sacred miniſtrations, yet ſometimes worn by others, as it was by the young Child Samuel, 1 Sam. 2. 18. before he was come to thoſe years in which the Levites were allowed to Miniſter; and ſo hereby David, who laid by his Royal Robes, and put on this Robe to figure and declare, that although he was King of Iſrael, yet he willingly owned himſelf to be the Lord's Miniſter and Servant.

15 So David and all the houſe of Iſrael brought up the ark of the LORD with ſhouting, and with the ſound of the trumpet.

16 And as the ark of the LORD came into the city of David, Michal Sauls daughter looked through a window, and ſaw king David leaping and dancing before the LORD, and ſhe deſpiſed him in her heart d.

d As one of a baſe and mean ſpirit, that knew not how to carry himſelf with that Majeſty which became his place, but behaved himſelf like one of the Fools or vain Perſons in Iſrael.

17 ¶ And * they brought in the ark of the LORD, and ſet it in his place, in the midſt of the tabernacle that David had † pitched for it e: and David offered burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings before the LORD.

e For Moſes his Tabernacle was ſtill at Gibeon, 1 Chron. 16. 39 and 21. 29. and 2 Chron. 1. 3. which David leſt there, becauſe he deſigned to build a Temple at Jeruſalem with all ſpeed, though he was countermanded therein by God himſelf.

18 And aſſoon as David had made an end of offering burnt-offerings, and peace-offerings, * he bleſſed the people f in the name of the LORD of hoſts.

f i.e. He heartily and ſolemnly prayed to God for his Bleſſing up on them: which he did both as Prophet, and as their King, to whom by office it belongs, by all means, to ſeek his Peoples welfare.

19 And he dealt among all the people, even among the whole multitude of Iſrael, as well to the women as men, to every one a cake of bread, and a good piece of fleſh, and a flagon of wine: ſo all the people departed every one to his houſe.

20 ¶ Then David returned to bleſs his houſehold; and Michal the daughter of Saul came out to meet David, and ſaid, How glorious was the king of Iſrael to day, who uncovered himſelf g to day in the eyes of the handmaids of his ſervants h, as one of the vain fellows ‖ ſhamefully uncovereth himſelf!

g Either, Firſt, By ſtripping himſelf of his Royal Robes, that he might put on a Levitical Ephod: or, by diſcovering ſome part of his Thighs or Legs, as might poſſibly happen whilſt he danced with all his might, as is ſaid above, ver 14. conſidering that the men did then wear looſe Garments. Or, 2dly, ſpeaks thus, not that he did ſo, but only by way of aggravation of his fault, and to vilifie him the more, as is uſual with perſons in ſuch caſes. h Who either bare a part in the Solemnity, as Women ſometimes did, Exod. 15. 20. or, at leaſt were ſpectators of it, and of David's Carriage in it. ‖ As idle and light Perſons uſe to do.

21 And David ſaid unto Michal, It was before the LORD i, which choſe me before thy father, and before all his houſe k, to appoint me ruler over the people of the LORD, over Iſrael: therefore will I play before the LORD.

i In his preſence and ſervice, which though contemptible to thee, is, and ever ſhall be ſo honorable in mine eyes. k Which took away the honour from him and his, and tranſferred it upon me, whereby he hath obliged me to Love and Serve him with all my Might.

22 And I will yet be more vile than thus, and will be baſe in my own ſight l: and of the maidſervants which thou haſt ſpoken of, of them ſhall I be had in honour m.

l I ſhall rather chuſe to get Honour from the meaneſt of my People, in ſerving and praiſing God, than to gain eſteem from thee by my lukewarmneſs in God's ſervice.

23 Therefore n Michal the daughter of Saul had no child p until the day of her death q.

n Not becauſe of David's words to her, which have nothing in them to this purpoſe; but becauſe of her proud, and petulant, and ungodly ſpeech and carriage to David, which G d juſtly puniſhed with ſterility. p To wit, by David, and after this time, which theſe words evidently reſpect. Which was true, although theſe five Children aſcribed to Michal, 2 Sam. 21. 8. were hers by Birth, and not by Adoption only. q i.e. Never: for it ſhe ever had any, it muſt be before her death. Compare 1 Sam. 15. 35. Matth. 1. 25.

CHAP. VII.

David being at reſt, deſires to build God an Houſe: Which Nathan at firſt approves of: Afterwards in obedience to the Word of God forbiddeth him, 1,——5. He promiſeth him Benefits and Bleſſings to his Seed, Solomon and the Meſſiah who ſhould build the Houſe of God, 12,——16. David's Prayer and Thankſgiving, 18,——29.

AND it came to paſs, * when the king ſat in his houſe a, and the LORD had given him reſt round about from all his enemies b; a i.e. Was ſettled and warm in the Houſe which Hiram's Men built for him, chap. 5. 11. then he reflected upon the unhandſome and unſeemly ſtate of the Ark. b Philiſtines, Moabites, and others, ſo that they durſt not invade his Land, as they had formerly done. For though you read of David's Wars with them, chap. 8. yet in them David was the Aggreſſor, and entred their Lands.

2 That the king ſaid unto Nathan the prophet, See now, I dwell in an houſe of Cedar, but the ark of God dwelleth within curtains c.

c i.e. In a Tent or Tabernacle, v. 6. compoſed of ſeveral Curtains, Exod. 26. 1, &c.

3 And Nathan ſaid to the king, Go, do all that is in thine heart d: for the LORD e is with thee.

d Purſue thy Intentions, and build an Houſe for the Ark. The deſign being Pious, and the thing not forbidden by God, Nathan haſtily approves it, before he had either ſeriouſly conſidered it in his own mind, or conſulted God about it, as both he and David certainly ought to have done in a matter of ſo great moment. And therefore Nathan meets with this rebuke, that he is forced to acknowledge his error, and recant it. For the Holy Prophets did not ſpeak all things by Prophetical Inſpiration, but ſome things by an human Spirit, and prudent conjecture; and therefore they were ignorant and miſtaken in ſome matters, as 1 Sam. 16. 6. 2 Kings 4. 27.

4 ¶ And it came to paſs that night e, that the word of the LORD came unto Nathan f, ſaying, e Becauſe David's miſtake was Pious, and from an honeſt Mind, God would not ſuffer him to lie long in his miſtake, not to inſiſt his Mind, or run himſelf into inconveniencies, in order to the Work, before he gave a ſtop to it. f That the ſame Nathan who had confirmed David in his miſtake, might now reconcile it.

5 Go and tell † my ſervant David, Thus ſaith the LORD, * Shalt thou build g me an houſe for me to dwell in?

g i.e. Thou ſhalt not. Or, wilt thou build, &c? Doſt thou purpoſe it?

6 Whereas I have not dwelt in any houſe, * ſince the time that I brought up the children of Iſrael out of Egypt, even to this day, but have walked in a tent and in a tabernacle h.

h Theſe two ſeem thus to be diſtinguiſhed, the one may more the Curtains and Hangings within, the other the Frame or Boards, and Coverings upon it.

7 In all the places wherein I have walked with all the children of Iſrael, ſpake I a word i with any of the tribes k of Iſrael, whom I commanded to feed my people Iſrael, ſaying, Why build ye not me an houſe of cedar?

i Did I ever give any Command about it, without which neither they did, nor thou ſhouldſt attempt it? k In 1 Chron. 17. 6. it is, of the Judges, and ſo ſhem, for to the Tribes, that is, to all or moſt of them, agree, whom I commanded to feed my People Iſrael. In this reſpect before the Tribes are here put Synecdochically for the Rulers of the Tribes, Tribes, as the word Church is sometimes used for the Governors of it: or, the word here rendred Tribes, may be rendred Scepters, as it is used Gen. 49. 10. and Scepters put for Scepter-bearers or Rulers, as is very frequent.

8 Now therefore, so shalt thou say unto my servant David l: Thus saith the LORD of hosts, * I took thee from the sheep-coat, † from following the sheep, to be ruler over my people, over Israel m.

* 1 Sam. 16. 11, 12. Psa. 78. 70.

l Left David should be too much discouraged, or judge himself neglected and forsaken of God, as one thought unworthy of so great an honour, God here gives him the honourable title of his Servant, thereby signifying that he accepted of his Service, and of his good Intentions, which also was expressed at this time, as it may seem from 1 Kings 8. 18. though not in this place. m I advanced thee, and I do not repent of it.

9 And I was with thee whithersoever thou †went'st, and have cut off all the enemies † out of thy sight, and have made thee a great name, like unto the name of the great men that are in the earth.

10 (Moreover, I will appoint a place n for my people Israel o, and will plant them, that they may dwell in a place of their own p, and move no more: neither shall the children of wickedness afflict them any more, as before-time q.

n i.e. I will make room for them, whereas hitherto they have been much constrained and distressed by their Enemies. Or, I will establish (for so that Verb sometimes signifies) a place for them, i.e. I will establish them in their Place or Land. Some Learned Men render the Verse thus, and the Hebrew words will bear it: And I have appointed (or, assigned, or, given) a place for my people Israel (to wit, the Land of Canaan) and have planted them in it, that they may dwell in their own place, and be no more driven to and fro: or rather, and they shall dwell in their own place, &c. i.e. As I did long ago appoint it to them, and afterwards planted them, or put them into actual possession, so now they shall continue or dwell in it, in spight of all their Enemies. o Among the favours which God had vouchsafed, and would vouchsafe to David, he reckons his Blessings to the people of Israel, because they were great Blessings to David; partly, because the strength and happiness of a King consists in great part in the multitude and happiness of his People; and partly, because David was a Man of a pious and publick Spirit, and therefore no less affected with Israel's felicity than with his own. p i.e. In their own Land, not in strange Lands, nor mixed with other People. q Either, First, As in the Land of Egypt, and so he goes downward to the Judges. Or, Secondly, As in Saul's Times; and so he ascends to the Judges.

11 And as since the time that I commanded † Or, I will cause to rest judges to be over my people Israel r, and ‖ have caused thee to rest from all thine enemies s.) Also the LORD telleth thee, That he will make thee an house t.

r Nor as they did under the Judges, neither so oft, nor so long. But all this is to be understood with a condition, except they should notoriously forsake God, or rebel against him: which being so oft declared by God in other places, it was needless to mention it here. Or, this may relate to the later Ages of the World, when the People of Israel shall be converted to Christ, and recalled out of Captivity, and planted in their own place; when they shall enjoy a far greater degree of Tranquility than ever they did before. And this agrees best with the Future Tense, I will appoint —— and will plant them, &c. otherwise the work was already done, God had already appointed this Land for them, and actually planted them in it. s i.e. And until this time in which I have given thee rest. But these words, though according to our Translation they be inclosed in the same Parenthesis with the foregoing Clauses, may seem to be better put without it, and to be taken by themselves. For the foregoing words in this Verse, and in v. 10. do all concern the People of Israel; but these words seem to concern David alone, to whom the Speech returns after a short digression concerning the People of Israel. And they may be rendred either thus, And I have caused thee to rest, &c. or, And I will cause thee to rest, &c. to wit, more fully and perfectly than yet thou dost. t For thy good Intentions to make him an House, he will make thee an house, to wit, a sure house, as is expressed, 1 Kings 11. 38. i.e. he will encrease and uphold thy Posterity, and continue thy Kingdom in thy Family.

* 1 Kings 8. 20.

12 ¶ And * when thy days be fulfilled u, and thou shalt sleep with thy fathers, I will set up thy seed after thee x, which shall proceed out of thy bowels y, and I will establish his kingdom.

u When the time of thy life shall expire. This Phrase implies, that his days shall be compleated and prolonged to the usual course and time of Nature, and not cut off in the midst, by any violent or untimely death. x I will set up in thy stead and Throne, thy Posterity, first Solomon, and then others successively, and at last the Messias. So the following words may be understood diversly, part of his Posterity in general or indefinitely taken; part of Solomon, and part of Christ only, according to the differing nature of the several passages. y Out of thy inward parts, or from thy Loins; who shall be begotten by thee.

13 * He shall build an house z for my Name a, and I will establish the throne of his kingdom b for ever.

z This is meant literally and immediately of Solomon, who alone did build the material House or Temple; but mystically and ultimately of Christ, who is the Builder of God's Spiritual House or Temple Heb. 3. 3, 6. 1 Pet. 2. 5. a i.e. For my Service, and Worship, and Glory. b This is not meant of Solomon, for his Kingdom was not for ever. And though the Phrase for ever is sometimes used of the time of a Man's Life, yet it cannot be so understood here, because the Mercy here promised to David's Son is of another nature, and of far longer continuance, than that which was given to Saul, v. 15. who yet enjoyed the Kingdom as long as he lived. But it is to be understood of David's Posterity in general, but with special respect to Christ, in whose Person the Kingdom was to be lodged for ever, Isa. 9. 7. Dan. 2. 44. Luke 1. 32. 33.

14 * I will be his father, and he shall be my son c: * if he commit iniquity d, I will chasten him with the rod of men ∴, and with the stripes of the children of men:

* Heb. 1. 5. ‖ Psa. 89. 30, 32, 33.

15 But I will * take my mercy e from him, as I took it from Saul f, whom I put away before thee.

* Or, my kindness, i.e. the Kingdom which I have mercifully and kindly promised to thee and thine. f In regard of his Posterity, for the Kingdom was continued to his Person during life.

16 And thine house, and thy kingdom shall be established for ever * before thee g: thy throne shall be established for ever.

* 1 Kings 11. 38.

g Thine Eyes in some sort beholding it: for he lived to see his Wife and Godly Son Solomon actually placed in the Throne, with great reputation and general applause, 1 Kings 1. 39, &c. which was in it self a good pledge of the continuance of the Kingdom in his Family; and being considered, together with the infallible certainty of God's Promise to him and his for ever, of the accomplishment whereof, this was an earnest, gave him good assurance thereof; especially considering that he had his Eyes and Thoughts upon the Messiah, Psal. 110. 1, &c. whose day he saw by Faith, as Abraham did, John 8. 56. and whom he knew that God would raise out of the fruit of his Loins to sit on his Throne, as is affirmed, Acts 2. 30. and that for ever: and so the Eternity of his Kingdom is rightly said to be before him. The LXX and Syriack read before me, which is an usual Phrase, which makes no great variation in the Hebrew Text.

17 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak unto David h.

h Although it was contrary to his own Opinion, and an evidence of his Rashness and Folly. This therefore is here mentioned as an evidence of his Fidelity and Imparriality, in relating the whole Mind of God herein, and of his Modesty in taking Shame to himself.

18 ¶ Then went king David in, and sat i before the LORD, and said, Who am I, O LORD God? and what is my house, that thou hast brought me hitherto k?

i This word may note either, first, his Bodily gesture: for there is no certain gesture to which Prayer is limited; and we have examples of Saints Praying in that posture, Exod. 17. 12. 1 Kings 19. 4. or, he might sit for a season whilst he was Meditating upon these things, and then alter his Posture (though it be not here expressed) and betake himself to Prayer. Or rather, Secondly, his continuance there, as this Hebrew word is oft used, as Gen. 27. 44. Levit. 14. 8. 1 Sam. 1. 22. and 20. 19. that he did not hastily prefer himself before God, but abode there for some competent time, that he might with God's leave pour out his Soul freely before him. For howsoever one may in some cases pray sitting, yet it is most probable that David would in this Holy Place, and upon this occasion, use a more humble and reverent Gesture, such as kneeling is, which therefore David prescribeth or adviseth, Psal. 95. 6. and Solomon accordingly practiseth, 1 Kings 8. 54. 2 Chron. 6. 13. k How infinitely unworthy am I and my Family of this great honour and happiness!

19 And this l was yet a small thing in thy sight, O LORD God m: but thou hast spoken also of thy servants house for a great while to come n: and is this the † manner of man, O LORD God o?

l To wit, which thou hast already done for me, as he now said, That thou hast brought me hitherto, i.e. to that pitch of Honour, and Peace, and Prosperity, in which through thy favour I now stand.

stand. m Though it was more than I deserved, or could expect, yet thou didst not think it enough for thee to give to me. n For many future Ages, and indeed to all Eternity. o Do Men use to deal so freely and kindly with their Inferiors, as thou hast done with me? No: this is the Prerogative of Divine Grace, to give such Promises and Largesses as this. So these are words of admiration: which very well suit with the foregoing and following words. Or, And is this the Manner, or Law, or Custom of mean or obscure men, &c. as the Hebrew Adam is confessed sometimes to signifie, as Psal. 49. 2. and 62. 9. Isa. 2. 9. i.e. Is this the manner of Mens dealing with mean and obscure Persons, such as I am? So the Hebrew, hadam, is the Genuine Case of the Object, which is frequent in the Hebrew and other Languages. And this seems more probable, because it exactly agrees with the parallel place, 1 Chron. 17. 17. where the words are, thou hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of high degree, i.e. thou hast dealt with me as if I had been not a poor mean Shepherd, but the Son of some great Monarch, to whom such honours best agree.

20 And what can David say more unto thee? for † thou LORD God, knowest thy servant q.

p Either, First, In way of gratitude and praise to thee, words cannot express my Obligations to thee, nor my sense of these Obligations. Or rather, Secondly, In way of Prayer, as appears by the parallel place, 1 Chron. 17. 17. What can I ask or desire of thee more than thou hast freely done? q Thou knowest, Either, First, My deep sence of thy favours, and my obligations to thee. Or rather, Secondly, My condition and necessities, what I do or may need hereafter; and as thou knowest this, so I doubt not thou wilt be ready to supply me accordingly. Compare Matth. 6. 8, 32.

r That thou mightest fulfil thy Promises made to me, by Samuel and Nathan, and thereby demonstrate thy Faithfulness. s i.e. Of thine own meer liberality and good pleasure, without any desert of mine. So far was David, though now a very gracious Man, from thinking his actions Meritorious. t i.e. That thy gracious and wonderful purposes of Mercy towards me, which lay hid in thine own heart, might be manifested unto me and others, by thy most kind works and actions. So it agrees with 1 Chron. 17. 19.

22 Wherefore thou art great u, O LORD God: for * there is none like thee, neither is there any God beside thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears x.

* Deut. 3. 24. and 32. 39. 1 Sam. 2. 2. Isa. 45. 5, 6, 14, 22.

u Both in Power and in Goodness, as appears by the great and good things which thou hast done for me. x What we have heard from our Parents, or out of thy word concerning the incomparable excellency of thy Majesty, and of thy Works; of that I have this day eminent experience.

* Deut. 4. 7, 32. and 33. 29. Psal. 147. 20.

23 And * what one nation in the earth is like thy people, even like Israel, whom God went y to redeem for a people to himself, and to make him a name z, and to do for you great things, and terrible, for thy land, before thy people which thou redeemedst to thee from Egypt, from the nations and their gods?

y To wit, into Egypt. An expression of God after the manner of Men. z To advance the Glory of his Power and Goodness, and other Perfections. Compare Exod. 9. 16.

24 For thou hast confirmed to thy self a thy people Israel to be a people unto thee for ever: and thou, LORD, art become their God b.

a Partly, by thy Promises, and that sure Covenant which thou hast made with them: and partly, by thy Glorious Works wrought on their behalf, as it appears this day. b In a peculiar manner, and by special Relation and Covenant: for otherwise he is the God and Father of all things, 1 Cor. 8. 6.

25 And now, O LORD God, the word that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant, and concerning his house, establish it for ever, and do as thou hast said.

26 And let thy name be magnified for ever, saying, The LORD of hosts is the God over Israel c: and let the house of thy servant David be established before thee.

c i.e. Do thou never cease to manifest thy self to be the God and Governour of Israel.

† Heb. to cause to rest.

27 For thou, O LORD of hosts, God of Israel, hast † revealed to thy servant, saying, I will build thee an house: therefore d hath thy servant found in his heart e to pray this prayer unto thee.

d Because thy Promise hath given me encouragement to Pray, and assurance of Answer. e Or, found his heart, i.e. taken Courage: as a Man is said to lose his Heart when he wants Courage.

28 And now, O LORD God, (thou art that God f, and * thy words be true, and thou hast promised this goodness unto thy servant):

* 1 Kings 17. 24.

f That God who hast declared thy self to be Israel's God, and in particular my God.

29 Therefore now † let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant, that it may continue for ever before thee: for thou, O LORD God hast spoken it g, and with thy blessing let the house of thy servant be blessed for ever.

† Heb. be pleased to bless.

g And therefore wilst certainly do it, for thy words never fail.

CHAP. VIII.

David subdueth the Philistines and the Moabites: Smiteth the King of Zoba: And the Syrians: Placeth a Garrison in Damascus, 1,—8. Toi sendeth Joram with Presents to bless him: Which, with the spoil, he dedicateth to God, 9,—13. Smiteth the Edomites, and placeth a Garrison in their Land, 14. David's Government and Officers, 15,—18.

AND after this it came to pass, that David smote the Philistines, and subdued them: and David took ‖ Metheg-Ammah a out of the hand of the Philistines.

a i.e. Gath and her Towns, as it is expressed in the parallel place, 1 Chron. 18. 1. which are called Metheg-Ammah, or the Bridle of Ammah, because Gath was situate in the Mountain of Ammah; and because this being the chief City of the Philistines, and having a King, which none of the rest had, was the Bridle which had hitherto kept the Israelites in subjection, but now was taken out of their mouths.

2 And he smote Moab b, and measured them with a line c, casting them down to the ground d: even with two lines measured he to put to death e; and with one full line to keep alive: and so the Moabites became Davids servants, and brought gifts.

b For although the King of Moab, out of hatred to Saul, pretended some kindness to David, and gave protection to his Parents, 1 Sam. 22. 3, 4. yet the Moabites were perpetual and sworn Enemies to the Israelites, who therefore were forbidden to admit them into the Congregation of the Lord, and to seek their Peace and Prosperity, Deut. 23. 6. And though God commanded them in their March to Canaan, to spare the Moabites, Deut. 2. 6, 19. yet afterwards they proved unthankful, and insolent, and fierce Enemies to God and his People, Numb. 22. 2, &c. and 24. 17. and 25. 17, 18. Judg. 3. 12, &c. 1 Sam 14. 47. &c. and thereby provoked God to alter his course and carriage towards them. c i.e. As with Line, the Particle as being oft understood, as Psal. 11. 1. and 22. 6. and 45. 1. The sense is, Having Conquered the Land, he made an estimate of it, and, as it follows, distributed the Towns and People into three parts. d i.e. Overthrowing their Towns, and utterly destroying their People in manner following. e Which severity was necessary for his own and his Peoples security, because they were numerous and potent, and bordering upon Canaan, and very vexatious and mischievous to the Israelites. And now that Prophecy Numb. 24. 17. was accomplished.

3 ¶ David smote also Hadadezer f the son of Rehob, king of * Zobah g, as he h went to recover his border at the river Euphrates.

* 1 Sam. 14. 47. title.

f Called Hadarezer, 1 Chron. 18. 3. the Hebrew Letters Daleth and Resch being alike, and so oft interchanged. g A part of Syria, lying North-East from Canaan, towards Hemath, 1 Chron. 18. 3. See 1 Sam. 14. 47. h Quest. Who? Ans Either, First, Hadarezer: who being already very potent, and going to enlarge his Dominion further, David thought fit to oppose him. Or, Secondly, David, who remembering the grant which God had made to his People of all the Land as far as Euphrates, and having subdued his Neighbouring Enemies, went to recover his Rights, and establish his Dominion as far as Euphrates.

4 And David took ‖ from him a thousand chariots i, and seven hundred horsemen k, and twenty thousand footmen: and David houghed l all the charet horses m, but reserved of them for an hundred charets.

i Which word is fitly supplied out of 1 Chron. 18. 4. such Substantives being oft understood in the Hebrew Language, as Gen. 26. 30. 2 Sam. 21. 16. k Or, seven hundred Companies of thirteen, i.e. in all seven thousand; as it is 1 Chron. 18. 4. there being ten in each Company, and each ten having a Ruler or Captain, Exod. 18. 21. Deut. 1. 15. Or, these seven hundred were the Chief and the Rulers of the rest, and the remaining 6400 were the common Horsemen, subject to their Commanders. l i.e. Cut the sinews of their Legs, that they might be useless for War. Compare Jos. 11. 6. m Except the following reserve. Charets are here put for Charet-Horses, as they are 1 Sam. 13. 5. 2 Sam. 10. 18. Psal. 76. 6. David did this, because he could not keep them for his own use, Deut. 17. 16.

5 And when the Syrians of Damascus ∴ came to succour Hadadezer king of Zobah, David slew of the Syrians two and twenty thousand men.

∴ i.e. Who were subject to Damascus, the chief City of Syria.

6 Then David put garisons in Syria of Damascus, and the Syrians became servants to David, and brought gifts n: and the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went.

n To purchase their Peace, and acknowledge their Subjection to him.

7 And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants o of Hadadezer, and brought them to Jerusalem.

o Or rather, which were with the servants, i.e. committed to their Custody, as being kept in the King's Armoury: for it is not probable they carried them into the field.

8 And from Betah, and from Berothai p, cities of Hadadezer, king David took exceeding much brass.

† In 1 Chron. 18. 8. it is, from Tibhath, and from Chun. Either therefore the same Cities were called by several names, as is usual, the one by the Hebrews, the other by the Syrians: or those were two other Cities, and so the Brass was taken out of these four Cities.

9 ¶ When Toi king of Hamath q heard that David had smitten all the host of Hadadezer, q Another eminent City of Syria.

10 Then Toi sent Joram r his son unto king David, to † salute him, and to bless him, because he had fought against Hadadezer, and smitten him: (for † Hadadezer † had wars s with Toi) and Joram † brought with him vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and vessels of brass;

† Heb. was a man of wars with, &c.
† Heb. in his hands were,

r Here also the Names differ from 1 Chron. 18. 9, 10. where it is Tou and Hadoram. s Heb. was a man of Wars, i.e. was exercised with continual Wars. Compare Gen. 9. 20, &c.

11 Which also king David * did dedicate unto the LORD t, with the silver and gold that he had dedicated of all nations which he subdued:

* 1 Chron. 18. 11. and 26. 26.

t To the building of God's Temple. So he shewed his affection to God and his House, in preparing for it, when he was not permitted to build it.

12 Of Syria, and of Moab, and of the children of Ammon, and of the Philistines, and of Amalek, and of the spoil of Hadadezer son of Rehob, king of Zobah.

13 And David gat him a name u when he returned from † smiting of the Syrians x in the valley of salt y, * being eighteen thousand men z.

u i.e. Much increased his Reputation. x Or, Edomites, as they are said to be, 1 Chron. 18. 12. It is likely these two People were Confederates, and that divers of the Syrians whom David had destroyed in Syria, fled to Edom, and there joyned with them against their common Enemy, and made up together a very great Army (as the number of the Men slain in it sheweth) consisting of the veterane Soldiers of both Countries. Although the slaughter here following may seem not to have been of the Syrians, as the words ar first reading seem to intimate, but of the Edomites; (it not being probable that the Syrians would come so far from their own Country, as to the Valley of Salt, to fight) and this Verse may be read thus, and that very agreeably to the Hebrew: And David got him a name when he returned from smiting of the Syrians, in finiting (which is easily repeated out of the last Clause, according to the common usage of Scripture) in the Valley of Salt eighteen thousand men, who were Edomites, as is sufficien ly implied here in the next Verse, and expressed 1 Chron. 18. 12. y A place in Edom so called, either from its Neighbourhood to the Salt Sea, or for some other cause now unknown. z As it is also 1 Chron. 18. 12. where also they are said to be smitten by Abishai; because he was then a chief Commander of the Army under David, and, it may be, began the fight; as, for the like reason, they are said to be smitten by Joab, Psal. 60. title, where also there are only 12000 mentioned; which place, if it speak of this Battel, the date of it was this: Abishai begins the Combat, and kills 6000, after him comes in Joab and kills 12000 more, which makes up this 18000. But why may not that be another History and Battel? So the Edomites and Syrians together did first fight with Abishai, and lost 18000 Men, and afterwards recruited their Forces and fought with Joab, and lost other 12000 Men. Not is it strange if two Battels were fought in one place; of which there are divers instances in Historians.

14 ¶ And he put garisons in Edom; throughout all Edom put he garisons, and all * they of Edom became Davids servants: and the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went.

* Numb. 24. 18.

15 And David reigned over all Israel, and David executed judgment and justice a upon all his people.

16 And Joab the son of Zeruiah was over the host b; and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud was ‖ recorder c.

b Who having doubtless declared his Repentance for his former Crimes, and having done eminent service for his Country, and having received the chief Command by vertue of David's Promise and Contract, 2 Sam. 5. 8. was still continued in his place. c Either, First, The writer of Chronicles. But it is not likely he would have been put among the great Officers of State and Church. Or, Secondly, The Treasurer, who examined all the Accounts, and kept Records of them. Or, Thirdly, The Kings Counsellor, as Ahitophel is called, 2 Sam. 15. 12. 1 Chron. 27. 33. who was to bring things of moment to the King's Mind and Remembrance, and to admonish him from time to time of things fit to be done. See 1 Kings 4. 3. and 2 Kings 18. 18.

17 And * Zadok the son of Ahitub d, and Ahimelech the son of Abiathar e, were the priests f; and Seraiah was the ‖ Scribe;

* 1 Chron. 24. 3. 31.
‖ Or, Secretary.

d Not of that Ahitub, 1 Sam. 4. for that was of Ithamar's Race, but this of Eleazar. e So Abiathar called his Son by the name of his Father, 1 Sam. 22. 20. f i.e. The Chief Priest next under Abiathar, who fled to David, 1 Sam. 22. 20. and now was High Priest, as may be gathered from 2 Sam. 15. 35. and 1 Kings 2. 27.

35. under him these two were the next Chief Priests, or the Second Priests, each one being Chief of the House of his Father, Zadok of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of Ithamar. See Numb. 3. 32. 1 Chron. 24. 3, 4. Or, these two are here mentioned, because they constantly attended upon the King, that he might consult with them in the matters of the Lord, as need required.

18 * And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada was over both the Cherethites and the Pelethites h: and Davids sons were ‖ chief rulers i.

* 1 Chron. 18. 17.
‖ Or, Priests.

g These words are supplied out of the parallel place, 1 Chron. 18. 17. and out of 2 Sam. 20. 23. where they are expressed. h The Cherethites and Pelethites were undoubtedly Soldiers, and such as were eminent for their Valour and Fidelity to the King, as is evident from 2 Sam. 15. 18. and 20. 7. and 1 Kings 1. 38, 44. and most probably they were the Kings Guards, which consisted of three two Bands, who might be distinguished either by their several Weapons, or by the differing time or manner of their Service. They are supposed to be thus called, either, first, from their Office, which was upon the King's Command to cut off or punish offenders, and to preserve the King's Person, as their names in the Hebrew Tongue may seem to imply. Or, Secondly, From some Country, or place to which they had relation. As for the Cherethites, it is certain they were either a Branch of the Philistines, or a People neighbouring to them, and confederate with them, as is manifest from 1 Sam. 30. 14. Ezek. 25. 16. Zeph. 2. 4, 5. And so might the Pelethites be too, though that be not related in Scripture. And these Ifraelites and Soldiers of David might be so called, either, because they went and lived with David when he dwelt in those parts: or, from some notable Exploit against, or Victory over these People; as among the Romans the names of Africani, Asiatici, Africanus, &c. were given for the same reason. One of their Exploits against the Cherethites is in part related, 1 Sam. 30. 14. And it is likely they did many other against them, and against other People, amongst which the Pelethites might be one. i Had the places of greatest Authority and Dignity conferred upon them.

CHAP. IX.

David, for Jonathan's sake, sendeth for his Son Mephibosheth, 1—5. Entertaineth him at his Table: And restoreth him all that was Saul's: Appointeth Ziba to be his Servant, 7, —— 13.

AND David said a, Is there yet any that is left of the house of Saul b, that I may shew him kindness for Jonathans sake?

a David's Wars being ended, he fet himself to the Administration of Justice to all his People, chap. 8. 15. And amongst others he minds his just debt and obligation to Jonathan and his Family. b He saith not of the house of Jonathan, for he knew not of any Son which he had left, and therefore thought his kindness and obligation was to pass to the next of his Kindred. As for Mephibosheth, he was very young and obscure, and possibly concealed by his friends, left David should cut him off from Jealousie of State, as hath been usual among Princes in like case, and therefore was unknown to David, as well he might be, especially when David's head and hands were full of War with divers and Potent Enemies, as they had hitherto been.

2 And there was of the house of Saul a servant c whose name was * Ziba: and when they had called * Chap. 16. 1. and 19. 17. him unto David, the king said unto him, Art thou Ziba? And he said, Thy servant is he.

c One who had been a Servant, and, as it may seem, a Steward to Saul. See below, v. 10.

3 And the king said, Is there not yet any of the house of Saul, that I may shew the kindness of God d unto him? And Ziba said unto the king, Jonathan hath yet a son, which is * lame on his feet.

d Either, First, That kindness which I owe him for God's sake, and by vertue of my Oath given to him about it, 1 Sam. 20. 14, 15. But that Oath seems only to oblige him to Jonathan's Posterity, and not to any other of Saul's House. Or, Secondly, Great and eminent kindness.

4 And the king said unto him, Where is he? And Ziba said unto the king, Behold, he is in the house of Machir, the son of Ammiel, in Lodebar e.

e In a place beyond Jordan, chap. 17. 27. where his Friends thought he might be kept out of David's sight.

5 ¶ Then king David sent, and fet him out of the house of Machir the son of Ammiel, from Lodebar.

6 Now when Mephibosheth the son of Jonathan, the son of Saul, was come unto David, he fell on his face, and did reverence: And David said, Mephibosheth. And he answered, Behold thy servant.

7 ¶ And David said unto him, Fear not; for I will surely shew thee kindness for Jonathan thy fathers sake, and will restore thee all the land of Saul thy father f, and thou shalt eat bread at my table continually.

f Which are now seized and possessed by David, as due to him, either, in right of his Wife, to whom the Inheritance was devolved, Saul's Sons by his Wives being all dead. See Numb 27. 8. or, by Divine Donation, as belonging to the Crown which God had had now given him: or, by forfeiture, because of Ishbosheth's Rebellion against his Lord and King.

8 And he bowed himself, and said, What is thy servant, that thou shouldest look upon such a * dead dog as I am g?

* 1 Sam. 24. 14.

g So contemptible in my Person and Condition.

9 ¶ Then the king called to Ziba Sauls servant, and said unto him, * I have given unto thy masters son all that pertained to Saul, and to all his house.

* See Chap. 16. 3, 4.

10 Thou therefore, and thy sons, and thy servants shall till the land for him, and thou shalt bring in the fruits, that thy masters son may have food to eat h: but Mephibosheth thy masters son shall eat bread alway at my table. Now Ziba had fifteen sons, and twenty servants i.

h i.e. That he may have wherewith to buy Food for all his Family, and all manner of Provisions (which oft come under the title of Food and Bread) necessary for himself and them. i For it is probable he had been the chief Steward to manage Saul's Lands: whereby he had great opportunities to inrich himself, which also he was very intent and resolved upon, either directly, or indirectly, as the following history of him shews; and therefore it is not strange that he was so rich.

11 Then said Ziba unto the king, According to all that my lord the king hath commanded his servant, so shall thy servant do. As for Mephibosheth, said the king, he shall eat at my table, as one of the kings sons k.

k These are the words, Either, First, Of David; the words, said he, or said the King, being supplied out of the former and following Verses. Or, Secondly, Of Ziba, being thus rendred and understood, Also Mephibosheth, if the King so please, shall eat at my table, and shall be treated there according to his Quality, as one of the Sons, as thou desirest: for the Estate will suffice for that also.

12 And Mephibosheth had a young son l, whose name was Micha m: and all that dwelt in the house of Ziba were servants unto Mephibosheth.

l Either, First, Before he was discovered and brought to the King; and then David seems guilty of a great error in forgetting his dear Jonathan so long; although his long and continued Wars both Civil and Foreign, might afford him some excuse, as filling his mind and time with business of another nature. Or, Secondly, After that time: for there is nothing here which determines when this Son was born. m Who also had other Children and Grand-Children, to keep up the name and memory of worthy and famous Jonathan. See 1 Chron. 8. 34, 35. and 9. 40, 41.

13 So Mephibosheth dwelt in Jerusalem: for he did eat continually at the kings table; and was lame on both his feet.

CHAP. X.

David sendeth Messengers to comfort the King of the Ammonites: He abuseth them 1,—5. The Ammonites and Syrians prepare to fight against the Israelites: And are overcome by Joab and Abishai, 6,—14. They renewing their Forces, are again conquered by David, 15,—19.

1 Chron. 19. 1.

AND it came to pass after this, that the * king of the children of Ammon a died, and Hanun his son reigned in his stead.

a Nahash, v. 2. probably the same whose Army Saul defeated and destroyed, 1 Sam. 11. who out of enmity to Saul shewed kindness to David, as it follows; hoping also by fomenting the differences between Saul and David, to make way for his future Conquests.

2 Then said David, I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash b, as his father shewed kindness unto me c. And David sent to comfort † him by the hand of his servants, for † his father: and David's servants came into the land of the children of Ammon.

b Therefore there had hitherto been Peace and Friendship between David and him; and therefore the spoils of the children of Ammon are mentioned, chap. 8. 12. by way of anticipation, and with respect to the story here following. c Which he might do, either, by offering him his help, if he needed it; or, by supplying him with Military or other Provisions upon occasion, or many other ways.

3 And the princes of the children of Ammon said unto Hanun their lord, † Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father, that he hath sent comforters unto thee? Hath not David rather sent his servants unto thee, to search the city, and to spie it out d, and to overthrow it?

d To observe where the City is weakest, and may soonest be taken. The ground of this suspicion was, partly, the Conscience of their ill deserts and carriage towards the Israelites, whose quarrel David had espoused: partly, the opinion they had of David's Policy: and partly, the severity of God's Law, particularly against them, Deut. 23. 6. which might easily come to their ears. And they knew David was a zealous asserter of God's Laws.

4 Wherefore Hanun took Davids servants, and shaved off the one half of their beards e, and cut off their garments in the middle, even to their buttocks f, and sent them away.

e Partly, that he might compel them to bear a part in their Mourning, and that in such a way as was usual with them, but forbidden to the Israelites, Levit. 19. 27. Deut. 14. 1. which probably was not unknown to them: And partly, to fasten this as a reproach upon them, and to make them ridiculous and contemptible. Compare Isa. 20. 4. and 47. 2. and 50. 6. f This was worse than the former, because the Israelites were no Breeches, and to their nakedness was hereby uncovered. Compare Isa. 20. 4.

5 ¶ When they told it unto David, He sent to meet them g, because the men were greatly ashamed: and the king said, Tarry at Jericho h until your beards be grown i, and then return.

g He sent them Clothes and other necessaries. h Both because this was one of the first places which they came to in Canaan: and because it was now a very obscure Village, and therefore fittest for them in their circumstances: for it was not built as a City till after this time, 1 Kings 16. 34. i For the want or loss of Beards was effeemed a reproach among the Hebrews.

6 ¶ And when the children of Ammon saw that they stank before David, the children of Ammon sent and hired the Syrians of Beth-Rehob k, and the Syrians of Zoba l, twenty thousand footmen, and of king Maacah m a thousand men, and of Ishtob n twelve thousand men.

k Near Hamath, Numb. 13. 21. l Of which see 1 Sam. 14. 47. and 2 Sam 8. 3. m i.e. Of that part of Syria which was under king Maachah: for Syria was a large Country, and there were divers Kings in the several parts of it. This part was near Gilead. See Deut. 3. 14. n Or, of the men of Tob, the Country where Jephthah dwelt, Judg. 11. 3. Besides these, they hired others out of Aram Naharaim, or Mesopotamia, as appears from 1 Chron. 19. 6. and Psal. 60. title. And all these were forward enough to Combine against David, both to revenge their former losses and reproaches, and to give check to his growing Greatness.

7 And when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the host of the mighty men o.

o Chusing wisely to carry the War into their Country, rather than to expect it in their own.

8 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battel in array at the entring in of the gate p: and the Syrians of Zoba, and of Rehob, and Ishtob, and Maacah, were by themselves in the field q.

p To wit, of Medeba, as it is expressed, 1 Chron 19. 7. which was a frontier City. See Numb. 21. 30. This place they chose for the Fight, that they might both defend their City and their Country, whereof that was the entrance, and, if need were, might retreat into it. q That by their numerous Forces they might fall upon the Israelites on the other side.

9 When Joab saw that the front of the battel was against him before and behind, he chose of all the choice men of Israel, and put them in array against the Syrians r.

r Which were the most valiant and expert Soldiers.

10 And the rest of the people he delivered into the hand of Abishai his brother, that he might put them in array against the children of Ammon.

11 And he said if the Syrians be too strong for me, then thou shalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, then I will come and help thee.

12 Be of good courage, and let us play the men for our people s, and for the cities of our God s: and the LORD do that which seemeth him good t.

s For the preservation of our selves and all our Brethren from that utter ruine which our Enemies design for us. Our War is not vainly undertaken to enlarge our Empire or Glory, but for our own just and necessary defence: and therefore we may hope for God's Blessing and assistance in it. t Which are devoted to his Worship and Service, and therefore he will plead their Cause against his Enemies. † Let us do our parts, and quietly referr our selves and the event to God's good pleasure, which we have no reason to distrust.

13 And Joab drew nigh, and the people that were with him, unto the battel against the Syrians u: and they fled before him.

u He prudently falls upon them first, because they were but Mercenaries, and not concerned so much in the Success as the Ammonites were, all whose Interest lay at stake; and therefore not likely to venture too far in their defence.

14 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fled x, then fled they also before Abishai, and entred into the city: so Joab returned from the children of Ammon y, and came to Jerusalem.

x In whose numbers and prowess they had the most confidence. y Not judging it convenient or safe to pursue them; because the Forces were not utterly ruined, but only dispersed and put to flight, and so might easily rally together.

15 ¶ And

15 ¶ And when the Syrians saw that they were smitten before Israel, they gathered themselves together z.

t Partly, to wipe out the stain of Cowardize which they had now contracted: partly, to prevent that Vengeance which they supposed David would execute upon them for their last attempt: and partly, to shake off the Yoke that David had lately put upon them.

16 And Hadarezer a sent, and brought out the Syrians that were beyond the river b: and they came to Helam; and Shobach c the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them.

a The same with Hadadezer, chap. 8. 3. b Who having engaged themselves in the former expedition, as was noted before, were now obliged to proceed in their own defence, being also perswaded and hired to this second Expedition, v. 19. c Or, Shophach, 1 Chron. 19. 16.

17 And when it was told David, he gathered all Israel d together, and passed over Jordan, and came to Helam: and the Syrians set themselves in array against David, and fought with him.

d i.e. The Chosen and Valiant Men pick'd out of all Israel.

18 And the Syrians fled before Israel, and David slew the men of seven hundred chariots e of the Syrians, and forty thousand horsemen f, and smote Shobach the captain of their host, who died there.

e Heb. seven hundred chariots: i.e. The Men belonging to them, that fought in, or with them; as plainly appears, 1. Because the text saith, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as Men only, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as Men only, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as Men only z Partly, to wipe out the stain of Cowardize which they had now contracted: partly, to prevent that Vengeance which they supposed David would execute upon them for their last attempt: and partly, to shake off the Yoke that David had lately put upon them.

16 And Hadarezer a sent, and brought out the Syrians that were beyond the river b: and they came to Helam; and Shobach c the captain of the host of Hadarezer went before them.

a The same with Hadadezer, chap. 8. 3. b Who having engaged themselves in the former expedition, as was noted before, were now obliged to proceed in this their own defence, being also perfwaded and hired to this second Expedition, 2. 19. c Or, Shophach, 1 Chron. 19. 16.

17 And when it was told David, he gathered all Israel d together, and passed over Jordan, and came to Helam: and the Syrians set themselves in aray against David, and fought with him.

d i.e. The Chosen and Valiant Men pick'd out of all Israel.

18 And the Syrians fled before Israel, and David slew the men of seven hundred chariots e of the Syrians, and forty thousand horsemen f, and smote Shobach the captain of their host, who died there.

e Heb. seven hund.ed charists: i.e. The Men belonging to them, that fought in, or with them; as plainly appears, 1. Because the Men only, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as Men only, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as Men only, and not the Chariots were capable of being killed, as these are said to have been. 2. Because it is thus explained in the Book of Chronicles, which was written after this Book, for this end, to explain what was dark or doubtful, and to supply what was omitted here; where, instead of these Words, are seven thousand men which fought in Charists, 1 Chron. 19. 18. And this is a very common Metonymy; of which, See above Chap. 8. 4. and the Notes on 1 Sam. 13. 5. Although there might be 1000 Chariots in all, whereof 700 were chosen ones; according to the distinction made Exod. 14. 7. f For which in 1 Chron. 19. 18. is forty thousand footmen. Which may be reconciled divers ways. 1. Both these may be true, that he slew 40000 Horsemen, which being the most considerable part and strength of the Army, it might seem sufficient to name them, and every one could easily understand, that the Footmen in that case were certainly cut off; and that he slew also 40000 Footmen, as is said 1 Chron where he mentions them only, because they were omitted in 2 Sam. and the Horsemen being expressed here, it was needless to repeat them in 1 Chron 2. The Horsemen may be here called footmen, in opposition to those that fought in Chariots; because they sometimes fought on Horseback, and sometimes came down from their Horses, and fought on Foot, when the place of the Battel was more commodious for Footmen than for Horsemen; which it is not improbable was their Case here; for David being a Soldier of great Prudence and Experience, and understanding the great Numbers of the Syrian Horsemen; whereas the Israelites had but very few, Deut. 17. 16. would doubtless endeavour to chuse a place as inconvenient for their Horsemen as he could. 3. Peradventure the Syrians designed to bring the War into David's Country, and therefore hasthned their March, and for that end put their Footmen on Horseback, (as hath been frequently done in like Cases) who, when they came to the place of Battel, came down from their Horses, and fought on Foot. So there is no need of acknowledging an error of the Scribe in the Sacred Text: which, yet if it were granted in such Historical Passages of no moment to the Doctrine of Faith and good Life, it would not shake the Foundation of our Faith in matters of great importance, which it might reasonably be presumed the Providence of God would more watchfully preserve from all depravation or corruption.

19 And when all the kings that were servants to Hadarezer g saw that they were smitten before Israel, they made peace with Israel, and served them: So the Syrians feared to help the children of Ammon any more.

f To wit, for that time, or in that Expedition to which he hired them.

CHAP. XI.

Whilst Joab besieged Rabbah David committeth Adultery with Bathsheba, 1.——4. And hearing that she was big with Child he fetcheth for Uriah her Husband out of the Camp, to cover his shame, He will not go to his own House, neither sober nor drunk, 5.——13. David sendeth him again into the Camp with a Letter to Joab to expose him to Death, 14.—— 17. The news of which Joab sendeth to David: He marrieth Bathsheba, 18.——27.

AND it came to pass, that † after the year was expired a, at the time when kings go forth b to battel c that * David sent Joab and his servants with him, and all Israel; and they destroyed the children of Ammon, and besieged Rabbah d, but David tarried still at Jerusalem.

a When that Year ended, and the next begun, which was in the Spring-time, Exod. 12. 2. b Which is, when the ground is fit for the March of Soldiers, and brings forth Provision for Man and Beast. c These words are to be understood here, as Gen. 10. 11. and 14. 8. d The Chief and Royal City of the Ammonites, Deut. 3. 11.

2 ¶ And it came to pass in an evening-tide, that David arose from off his bed e, and walked upon the roof f of the kings house: and from the roof he saw a woman washing her self g: and the woman was very beautiful to look upon.

e Where he had lain, and slept for some time; being possibly disposed to sleep after Dinner, by reason of some Excess committed in Eating or Drinking; and indulging himself in his Lazy Humour, which may seem very improper for so great a Prince and Captain, who had so many and great Burdens upon his Shoulders, especially in a time of War; and therefore such Practices have been condemned by Heathens: and Homer will not allow a General and great Counsellor to sleep all the Night, much less to take any part of the Day for it. And therefore this is thought to be David's first Error, and the occasion of his following Fall. f Which was plain after the manner, Deut. 22. 8. g To wit, in a Bath, which possibly was in her Garden, or in some room near to the King's Palace, where she might wash her self divers ways, and for different ends; either for health, or coolness, or to cleanse her self from some kind of legal Impurity: where also, the Windows being open, and the careless, David might espie her.

3 And David sent and enquired after the woman h: and one said, Is not this Bathsheba i the daughter of Eliam, the wife of Uriah the Hittite k?

h Instead of suppressing that Lust which the sight of his Eyes had kindled, he seeks rather to feed it; and first enquires who the was; that, if she were unmarried, he might make her either his Wife or his Concubine. i Called also Bathshua, 1 Chron. 3. 5. where also Eliam is called Ammiel. k So called, either, 1. By his Original, being born either of that Race, but become a zealous Proselyte; or, at least, among that People. Or, 2. By his Habitation among them. Or, 3. For some notable Exploit of his against that People: See 1 Sam. 26. 6. and the notes on 2 Sam 8. 18.

4 And David sent messengers and took her l, and she came in unto him m, and he * lay with her († for she was purified from her uncleanness) n and she returned unto her house.

l From her own House into his Palace, not by force, but by perswasion, as desiring to speak with her, m Into his Palace and Chamber, as he desired. n To wit, from her menstruous Pollution, according to the Law, Levit. 18. 19. Which is here noted, as the reason, either why David pursued his Lustful desire; or why she so easily yielded to it, because she was not under that Pollution which might alienate her from it; or rather, why she so readily conceived, or that time being observed by Aristotle and others, to be the most likely time for Conception.

5 And the woman conceived, and sent, and told David, and said, I am with child o.

o Consider therefore what to do for thy own honour, and for my safety, whom thou hast brought into a most shameful and dangerous condition.

6 And David sent to Joab, saying, Send me Uriah the Hittite: And Joab sent Uriah to David.

7 And when Uriah was come unto him, David demanded of him † how Joab did, and how the people did, and how the war prospered p?

† Heb. the peace of Joab, and the peace of the people, and the peace of the war.

p Frivolous Questions which any common Messenger could have answered: which probably made Uriah suspect that there was some other secret cause why he was sent for. And he might understand something, either by David's Messengers, v. 4. or by some of his own Family, concerning her being sent for to the Court: which, together with other Circumstances might give him cause of further suspicion. Yet such might be the Questions, (though not here particularly mentioned) concerning those Heads, as every private Person might not be acquainted with, nor able to resolve, but such only as were acquainted with the Counsel of War.

8 And David said to Uriah, Go down to thy house q, and wash thy feet r. And Uriah departed out of the kings house, and there † followed him a mess of meat from the king s.

q Not doubting but he would there Converse with his wife, and so cover their Sin and Shame. r As Travellers there used to do. s Seemingly as a Testimony of David's Respect and Affection to him; but really to cheer up his Spirits, and dispose him to desire his Wife's company.

9 But Uriah slept at the door of the kings house with all the servants of his lord t, and went not down to his house.

t With the King's Guard. This he did, either upon some suspicion of the matter, See v. 7. Or, by the secret direction of God's wise and irresistible Providence, who would bring David's Sin to light.

10 And when they had told * David, saying, Uriah went not down unto his house, David said unto Uriah, Camest thou not from thy journey u? why † didst thou not go down unto thine house?

* Whether of their own accord, or being first asked by David, it doth not appear. u Wearied with hard service and Travel, and therefore didst need refreshment; nor did I expect or desire that thou shouldest now attend upon my Person, or keep the Watch.

11 And Uriah said unto David, The ark x, and Israel, and Judah abide in tents, and * my lord Joab, and the servants of my lord are encamped in the open fields y; shall I then go into mine house to eat, and to drink, and to lie with my wife z? As thou livest, and as thy soul liveth, I will not do this thing.

* chap. 23. 6.

x Which it seems, was now carried with them for their Encouragement and Direction, as was usual: See Numb. 10. 35. 1 Sam. 4. 4. y To wit, in Tents which are in the Fields. z He might possibly add these words, to insinuate his apprehension of the King's Design, and to awaken his Conscience to the consideration of his Sin, and of the Injury which he had done him. His meaning is, Now when God's People are in a doubtful and dangerous Condition, it becomes me to Sympathize with them, and to abstain even from lawful Delights. Whereby he might possibly insinuate, how unworthy it was for David in such a season to indulge himself in sinful and injurious Pleasures. But David's Ear was now deaf, his Heart being hardned through the deceitfulness of Sin.

12 And David said to Uriah, Tarry here to day also, and to morrow I will let thee depart. So Uriah abode in Jerusalem, that day and the morrow.

13 And when David had called him a, he did eat and drink before him, and he made him drunk a: and at even he went out to lie on his bed b with the servants of his lord c, but went not down to his house.

a, a i.e. Being invited by David. a Or, he made him merry, as the word oft signifies. He caused him to drink more than was convenient. b Which it doth not appear, that he did the Night before; but now his Excess in eating and drinking, might make it more necessary for him. c i.e. In some Chamber in the King's Court, where the King's Servants used to take their Repose.

14 And it came to pass in the morning, that David wrote a letter to Joab, and sent it by the hand of Uriah.

15 And he wrote in the letter, saying, Set ye Uriah in the forefront of the † hottest battel, and retire ye † from him, that he may be smitten and die d.

d So far is David from Repenting upon these just and great Occasions, that he seeks to cover one Sin with another; and to hide his Adultery with Murther, even the Murther of a most excellent Person, and that in a most malicious and perfidious manner.

16 And it came to pass when Joab observed the city, that he assigned Uriah unto a place where he knew that valiant men were e.

e Placed there to defend it, because that part of the City was supposed either the weakest, or the place designed for the Assault. Joab having formerly committed a base Murther upon Abner, was ready to execute this wicked Command of the King; that so he being involved in the same Guilt with him, might the more willingly receive him into Favour.

17 And the men of the city went out and fought with Joab: and there fell some of the people of the servants of David, and Uriah the Hittite died also.

18 Then Joab sent, and told David all the things concerning the war:

19 And charged the messenger, saying, When thou hast made and end of telling the matters of the war unto the king;

20 And if so be that the kings wrath arise, and he say unto thee, Wherefore approached ye so nigh unto the city when ye did fight? knew ye not that they would shoot from the wall?

* Judg. 9. 53.

21 Who smote * Abimelech the son of Jerubbesheth? a did not a woman cast a piece of a millstone upon him from the wall, that he died in Thebez? why went ye nigh the wall? then say thou, Thy servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also f.

a Called also Jerubbaal, Judg. 9. 1. See the Note on 2 Sam. 2. 8. f Which he knew would be acceptable News to the King, and therefore allay his Wrath. This indeed might make the Messenger suspect that David had an hand in Uriah's Death; and possibly Joab might say so for that very reason, that these matters by degrees being known, David might be hardned in Sin, and so Joab might have the greater Interest in him.

22 So the messenger went and came, and shewed David all that Joab had sent him for.

23 And the messenger said unto David, Surely the men prevailed against us, and came out unto us into the field, and we were upon them even unto the entring of the gate g.

g We beat them back, and pursued them even to the Gate.

24 And the shooters shot from off the wall upon thy servants, and some of the kings servants be dead, and thy servant Uriah the Hittite is dead also.

† Heb. is cast to those ages.

25 Then David said unto the messenger, Thus shalt thou say unto Joab, Let not this thing † displease thee h: for the sword devoureth † one as well as another: make thy battel more strong against the city, and overthrow it: and encourage thou him i.

† Heb. So and such.

h Be not dejected or discouraged by this sad occasion. i i.e. Joab, to proceed in the Siege.

26 And when the wife of Uriah heard that Uriah her husband was dead, she mourned for her husband.

27 And when the mourning was past k, David sent and fet her to his house, and she became his wife, and bare him a son l: but the thing that David had done † displeased the LORD.

k Which was seven days, Gen 50. 10. 1 Sam. 31. 13. Nor could the nature of the thing admit of longer delay, lest the too early birth of the Child might discover David's Sin. l By which it appears, That David continued in the state of Impenitency for divers Months together; and this notwithstanding his frequent attendance upon God's Ordinances. Which is an eminent Instance of the Corruption of Man's Nature, which is even in the best; and, without Divine Assistance, is too strong for them; of the deceitfulness of Sin, and of the tremendous Judgment of God in punishing one Sin, by delivering a Man up to another. m i.e. His Adultery and Murther, as is evident from the next Chapter.

CHAP. XII.

Nathan by a parable reproveth, and threatneth David, 1.—12. He confesseth his sin and is pardoned, 13. 14. But the child must die: David mourneth and prayeth for it whilst life was in it, after is perished and cheared: the reason, 15.—23. He goeth in to Bathsheba: Solomon is born of her: and is called Jedidiah. 24, 25. David taketh Rabbah and tormenteth the people therein, 26.—31.

AND the LORD sent Nathan a unto David: and * he came unto him, and said unto him, There were two men in one city b; the one rich and the other poor:

a The Prophet, chap. 7. 2. 1 King. 1. 8. When the ordinary means did not awaken David to Repentance, God useth an extraordinary Course. Thus the Merciful God pities and prevents him who had so horribly forsaken and forgotten God. b He prudently ushereth in his Reproof with a Parable, after the manner of the Eastern Nations, and ancient Times, that so he might surprize David, and cause him unawares to give Sentence against himself. He manageth his Relation as if it had been a real thing; and demands the King's Justice in the case. Though the Application of this Parable to David be easie and obvious, yet it matters not, if some Circumstances be not so applicable; because it was fit to put in some such Clauses, either for the decency of the Parable, or that David might not too early discover his Design.

2 The rich man had exceeding many flocks and herds c.

c Noting David's many Wives and Concubines.

3 But the poor man had nothing save one little ewe lamb d, which he had bought e and nourished up: and it grew up together with him, and with his children. it did eat of his own † meat, and drank of his own † cup, and lay in his bosom f, and was unto him as a daughter.

d Designing Uriah, with his own and only Wife. e As Men then used to buy their Wives: or, had procured. f Which David might take for Hyperbolical Expressions of his tender Care of, and Affection to it. Although there want not Instances of some who have treated such Brute-Creatures in this manner.

4 And there came a traveller g unto the rich man, and he spared to take of his own flock, and of his own herd, to dress for the wayfaring man that was come unto him, but took the poor mans lamb, and dressed it for the man that was come to him.

g This some make to be the Devil, whom David gratified by his Sin; but it rather seems added for the decency of the Parable.

5 And David's anger was kindled greatly against the man, and he said to Nathan, As the LORD liveth, the man that hath done this thing, † shall surely die h.

h This seems to be more than the Fact deserved, or than he had Commission to inflict for it, Exod. 22. 1. But it is observable, That David now when he was most indulgent to himself, and to his own Sin, was most severe to others; as appears by this Passage, and the following Relation, v. 31. which was done in the time of David's impenitent continuance in his Sin.

6 And he shall restore the lamb * fourfold, because he did this thing, and because he had no pity.

* Exod. 22. 4.

7 And Nathan said to David, Thou art the man i. Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, * I anointed thee king over Israel, and I delivered thee out of the hand of Saul:

* 1 Sam. 16. 13.

i Thou hast committed this Crime with great Aggravations; and out of thine own Mouth thy Sentence hath proceeded, and thou art worthy of Death.

8 And I gave thee thy masters house, and thy masters wives k into thy bosome, and gave thee the house of Israel and of Judah, and if that had been too little, the, I would moreover have given unto thee such and such things l.

k Or, women, as that word is elsewhere used; as Numb. 31. 18. And though we read not a word of God's giving, or of David's taking any of Saul's Wives into his Bosome; or, which is all one, into his Bed; yet (which I think to be aimed at here) it might be according to the manner of that time, that the Wives and Concubines of the precedent King, belonged to the Successor, to be at least of his disposal. And to pretend to them, was interpreted little less than pretending to the Crown. Which made it fatal to Adonijah to ask Abishag, 1 Kings 2. 23. And to Abner to be suspected for Rispah, 2 Sam. 3. 7. And Absalom, usurping the Crown, usurped the Concubines also; which is looked on as a Crime unpardonable, 2 Sam. 16. 21. nor would this have been reckoned amongst the Mercies and Blessings which God here is said to give him, and which are opposed to that which he sinfully took: but we do read, That Merab Saul's Daughter, was given to him for his Wife by Saul's promise, and consequently by God's grant; though afterwards Saul perfidiously gave her to another Man; and that Michal, the other Daughter, was actually given to him, 1 Sam. 18. And it is very possible, that some other of David's Wives were nearly Related to the House of Saul; whereby David might design to enlarge and strengthen his Interest in the Kingdom. Although there is no absolute Necessity of restraining this to Saul, seeing the word is Plural, Masters; and may belong to others also, who sometimes were owned by David as his Masters, Lords, or Superiors, such as Nabal was, and some others not elsewhere named might be, whole Houses and Wives, or, at least, Women, God might give to David. l Such other things as thou hadst wanted, or in reason desired.

m i.e. Those Laws of God which forbad thee to do this thing, by not giving them that respect and observance which they deserved. n That Valiant, and Generous, and Noble Person. o This he mentions amongst his other Sins; partly, because he had rewarded her, who by God's Law should have been severely punished: partly, because he compassed this Marriage by wicked practices, even by Uriah's Murther, and for sinful Ends, even for the gratification of his inordinate and sensual Lusts, and for the concealment of that Sin which he was obliged to confess and lament. p Those cursed Enemies of God, and of his People, whom thou hast encouraged and harassed in their Idolatry, by giving up him, and others of God's People into their hands. And note here, That although David did not kill Uriah himself, nor command any to do it; but only that he should be put upon dangerous Service, (which a General of an Army oft doth to Soldiers under him, on justifiable accounts, without being therefore legally chargeable with Murther, though the Person so employed die in the Service:) yet in God's account, who judged of David's Heart therein, it is justly so reputed. And therefore, though the Ammonites Slew Uriah, yet David is said to have killed him with their Sword.

10 Now therefore the sword shall never depart from thine house q, because thou hast despised me, and hast taken the wife of Uriah the Hittite to be thy wife.

q During the residue of thy Life: as appears from the following History.

11 Thus saith the LORD, Behold, I will raise up evil r against thee out of thine own house s, and I will * take thy wives before thine eyes t, and give them u unto thy neighbour x, and he shall lie with thy wives in the sight of the sun y.

* Deut. 28. 56. Chap. 16. 22.

r To wit, the evil of Punishment. s From thy own Children and Family. t i.e. Openly, to as thou shalt know it as certainly as if thou didst see it, and yet not be able to hinder it. u i.e. I shall by my Providence, give him Power over them, which I know he will abuse; and I shall not restrain him from so doing, either by my Grace or Providence. x To one who is very near to thee, even thy beloved Son Absalom. But God expresseth this here darkly and doubtfully, that the accomplishment of it might not be hindred. y In the open Day; and in a publick Place. The accomplishment hereof, see chap. 16. 22.

12 For thou didst it secretly: but I will do this thing z before all Israel, and before the sun.

z i.e. I will execute this Judgment. This God did by inclining David's Heart to leave his Concubines, to keep his House, and so to come into Absalom's Power, by giving up Achitophel to his own Carnal Policy, which readily suggested to him that wicked and desperate Counsel; and by expelling Absalom to these Temptations, and leaving him to his own vicious Inclinations, which God certainly knew would in such Circumstances produce that Effect. So the Sin was wholly from Men; but the ordering and over-ruling their Miscarriages to this end, was from God.

* Psal. 32. 5. & 51. 4.

13 And David said unto Nathan, * I have sinned against the LORD. And Nathan said unto David, The LORD also hath put away thy sin b, thou shalt not die c.

a I now freely confess, that Sin which I have hitherto so wickedly smothered; and I have deserved all these, and far heavier Judgments for it; and I am more troubled for my Sin against my Sovereign Lord and gracious God, than for the shame and punishment that follow it. How serious and pathetical this Confession was, we may see, Psalm 51. b i.e. So far as concerns thy own Life and Eternal Salvation: both which were forfeited by this Sin. c As by thy own Sentence v. 5. thou didst deserve, and as thou mightest expect to do by my immediate Stroke; though possibly thou mightest elude the Law, before a humane Judicature; or there be no Superior to execute the Law upon thee.

14 Howbeit, because by this deed thou hast given great occasion to the enemies of the LORD to blaspheme d, the child also that is born unto thee shall surely die e.

d i.e. To reproach both God and his People, and the true Religion. For though these were not concerned in David's Sin, the blame and shame of which should have been appropriated to him; yet Heathens and wicked Men would, according to their own evil Minds, and malicious Hearts, fasten the Reproach of this upon God and Religion; as if God were unholy, because the Man after God's own Heart was so; and partial, in connivance at so great a Crime, when Saul was cast off for a far less Sin: and negligent in the Government of the World, and of his Church in suffering such a Wickedness, as even Heathens have abhorred to go unpunished; and as if all Religion were but Hypocrisie and Imposture, and a pretence for Villanies. Besides, the Ammonites upon their success against Uriah and his Party, did doubtless magnifie and praise their Idols, and blaspheme the God of Israel. e Which, considering his Affection to it, and the Punishment threatned to the poor innocent Infant for his sake, must needs be grievous to him.

15 And Nathan departed unto his house: and the LORD strook the child f that Uriahs wife bare unto David, and it was very sick.

f With some sudden and dangerous Distemper.

16 David therefore besought God for the child g, and David † fasted, and went in h, and lay all night † Heb. fasted. upon the earth.

g Supposing the Threatning might be conditional, and so the execution of it prevented by Prayer. h To wit, into his Closet, as Matth. 6. 6. to pray solitarily and earnestly as he had done with others. Or this word may only note his progress and continuance in the Actions here expressed.

i The chief Officers of his Kingdom and Household who were there present. k This excessive Mourning did not proceed simply from the fear of the loss of the Child; but from a deep sence of his Sin, and from the Divine Displeasure manifested herein; and particularly from a just apprehension of the Injury which he had done to the Child by his Sin, which Justice obliged him to do his utmost to repair by prayer, or other means.

18 And it came to pass on the seventh day l, that the child died: and the servants of David feared to tell him that the child was dead: for they said m, Behold, while the child was yet alive, we spake unto him, and he would not hearken unto our voice: how will he then † vex himself, if we tell him that the child † Heb. do evil. is dead?

l Either, 1. From the beginning of the Distemper. Or, rather, 2. From the Day of his birth, which is the most usual way of computation of Mens Days or Years: for it is apparent, that this happened during the time of David's Fasting, and lying upon the Earth, v. 20. which it is not probable that is lasted for seven Days.

19 But when David saw that his servants whispered, David perceived that the child was dead: therefore David said unto his servants, Is the child dead? And they said, He is dead.

m Whispering among themselves, v. 19.

20 Then David arose from the earth, and washed, and anointed himself, and changed his apparel, and came into the house of the LORD n, and worshipped: then he came to his own house, and when he required, they set bread before him, and he did eat.

n i.e. To the Tabernacle, to confess his Sin before the Lord, and to own his Justice in this stroke, and the other Threatnings, and to depreciate his great and just Displeasure, and to acknowledge God's rich Mercy, in sparing his own Life; and to offer such Sacrifices as were proper and required in such Cases. Nor did David transgress that Law, Numb. 19. 4. in going thither before the seven Days were expired. For neither is there the same reason of a Tent, and of a Dwelling-House, where the several Rooms of the House are as distinct as several Tents; nor is it here said, that David was in the same Room, or in the same House where the Child died.

21 Then said his servants unto him, What thing is this that thou hast done? thou didst fast and weep for the child while it was alive, but when the child was dead, thou didst rise and eat bread.

22 And he said, While the child was yet alive, I fasted and wept: * for I said, Who can tell whether God will be gracious to me, that the child may live o? * See Jon. 3. 9.

o For God's threatning of the Child's death might be conditional, as that was of Nineveh's Destruction, Jonah 3. 4.

23 But now he is dead, wherefore should I fast p? can I bring him back again? I shall go to him q, but he shall not return to me.

p Seeing Fasting and Prayer cannot now prevail with God for his Life. q Into the state of the Dead, in which he is, and into Heaven, where I doubt not I shall find him.

24 And David comforted Bathsheba his wife r, and went in unto her s, and lay with her: and * she bare a son, and * he called his name Solomon; and the LORD loved him t.

1 Chron. 3. 5.

r Who was now much dejected, both for her former Sin, which she truly repented of, as may be gathered from Prov. 31. 1, 2, 3, &c. and for the loss of that Child which was very dear to her, and which might seem to be the only tie of David's Affection to her; which being now dead, she might think that David would utterly cast her off, and leave her to that Shame and Punishment which she had deserved. s To wit, into her Chamber or Bed. t i.e. The Lord declared to David, that he loved his Son, notwithstanding the just cause which David had given to God to alienate his Affections from him.

25 And he sent by the hand of Nathan the prophet; and he called his name ‖ Jedidiah, because of the LORD u.

‖ That is, Beloved of the LORD.

u Either, because of the Lord's Love to him, as the Name signifies: or because the Lord commanded him to do so.

26 And Joab fought against Rabbah of the children of Ammon, and took the royal city x.

x i.e. That part of the City where was the King's Palace, where he ordinarily resided; though now it seems he was retired to a strong Fort.

27 And Joab sent messengers to David and said, I have fought against Rabbah, and have taken the city of waters y.

y The same Royal City so called, because it either stood beside the River, or was encompassed with Water, both for defence and delight. Although the words are by some learned Men rendred thus, I have taken, or intercepted, or cut off water from the city. Which well agrees, both with the words, eth being here put for meeth, which is frequent; as Gen. 4. 1. and 44. 4. Exod. 9. 29, &c. and with the Relation of Josephus the Jew, who saith, The Conduits of Water were cut off, and so the City was taken: And with a Relation of Polybius concerning the same City, which was taken afterwards by Antiochus in the same manner, by cutting off Water from the City.

28 Now therefore, gather the rest of the people together, and encamp against the city, and take it z: lest I take the city, and † it be called after my name a.

† Heb. which my name is called upon it.

z For having taken one part of the City, he concluded the remaining part of it could not long stand out. a Left I have the Honour of taking it. Thus he seeks to ingratiate himself with the King, by pretending great care for his Honour and Interest.

29 And David gathered all the people together b; and went to Rabbah: and fought against it, and took it.

b Either because Joab needed more help for the Storming of the City: or, at least, for the Prosecution of the Victory, and Execution of Justice upon the whole Land: or because he would have them all to partake of the spoil of the City, which was there in great abundance, v. 30. the rather because they were all exposed to the hazard of utter Ruine, in case the Ammonites had prevailed against them.

30 * And he took their kings crown from off his head, (the weight whereof was a talent of gold c, with the precious stones) and it was set on Davids head: and he brought forth the spoil of the city † in great abundance.

1 Chron. 20. 2.

c Or rather, the price whereof, &c. For as the Hebrew Shekel signifies both a Weight, and a piece of Money of a certain price; so also may mishkal, as proceeding from the same Root. And in general, the same words both in Hebrew, Greek, and Latin, are promiscuously used, to signifie either Weight, or Price; as is well known to the Learned. And the addition of precious stones, which are never valued by the Weight of Gold, makes this signification here most proper, and probable. Moreover, the Weight might seem too great either for the King of Ammon, or for David to wear it upon his Head. Although, if this were meant of the Weight, it might be said, that this was not a Crown to be worn ordinarily but meerly to be put on upon the King's Head at his Coronation, or upon Solemn Occasions, as here where this was done, in token of the Translation of this Kingdom to David; and, it may be, it was held up, or supported by two Officers of State, that it might not be too burdensome to him, and after a little while taken off.

31 And he brought forth the people that were therein d, and put them under saws e, and under harrows of iron, and under axes of iron f, and made them pass through the brick-kiln g: and thus did he unto all the cities of the children of Ammon. So David and all the people returned unto Jerusalem.

a The words are indefinite, and therefore not necessarily to be understood of all the People; for it had been barbarous to use Women and Children thus; but of the Men of War, and especially, of those who had been the Chief Actors or Abettors of that Villanous Action against David's Ambassadors, (which was contrary to the Law of Nature, and of Nations, and of all Humanity,) and of the dreadful War ensuing upon it; for which, they might seem to deserve the fewerest Punishments. Although indeed there seems to have been too much Rigour used; especially, because these dreadful Deaths were inflicted not only upon those great Counsellors, who were the only Authors of that vile Usage of the Ambassadors; but upon a great number of the People who were innocent from that Crime. And therefore it is probably conceived, That David exercised this Cruelty whilst his Heart was hardned, and impenitent: and when he was bereaved of that free and good Spirit of God, which would have taught him more Mercy and Moderation. e He found them to Death: of which Punishment, we have Examples both in Scripture, Heb. 11. 37. and in other Authors. f He caused them to be laid down upon the Ground, and torn by sharp iron Harrows drawn over them, and hewed in pieces by keen Axes. g i.e. To Moloch: i.e. of Molech, called also Milchom, and here Malcham; Punishing them with their own Sin, and with the same kind of Punishment which they inflicted upon their own Children: See 2 Kings 17. 3. and 23. 10. and Levit. 18. 21. and 20. 2. and Deut. 18. 10.

CHAP. XIII.

Amnon loveth his sister Tamar: ravisheth her: then hateth and driveth her away, 1,—19. Absalom entertaineth and revengeth her with Ammon's death, 20——29. David is grieved: Absalom fleeth to Geshur, 30—39.

AND it came to pass after this, that Absalom the son of David had a fair sister a, whose name was Tamar: and Amnon the son of David loved her.

a His Sister by Father and Mother: See 2 Sam. 3. 3.

2 And Amnon was so vexed, that he fell sick b for his sister Tamar, for she was a virgin c, and † Amnon thought it hard for him to do any thing to her.

b The Passion of his Mind disturbed his Body, as is usual. c And therefore diligently kept, so as he could not get private Converse with her; and withal Modest, and abhorring any compliance with the evil of his Lustful Desires, both from her Inclination and Interest. Ammon.

3 But Amnon had a friend whose name was Jonadab, the son of Shimeah d, Davids brother: and Jonadab was a very † subtil man.

d Called also Shammah, 1 Sam. 16. 9.

4 And he said unto him, Why art thou, being the kings son, † lean † from day to day e? wilt thou not tell me f? And Amnon said unto him, I love Tamar my brother Absaloms sister.

e Heb. from morning to morning: for, whereas in the Day he had many Diversions, and Refreshments; in the Night he was perfect'd with tormenting Thoughts and Passions; the Effects whereof appeared in his Countenance in the Morning. f The fore-Friend and faithful Servant, who am ready to advise and assist thee.

5 And Jonadab said unto him, Lay thee down on thy bed, and make thy self sick: and when thy father cometh to see thee, say unto him, I pray thee, let my sister g Tamar come, and give me meat, and dress the meat in my sight, that I may see it, and eat it at her hand h.

g So he calls her, to prevent the suspicion of any dishonest Design upon so near a Relation, whom neither Nature, nor Respect and Affection would permit him to violate. h Pretending, that his Stomach was so nice, that he could eat nothing but what he saw dressed, and that by a Person whom he much affected.

6 So Amnon lay down, and made himself sick: and when the king was come to see him, Amnon said unto the king, I pray thee, let Tamar my sister come, and make me a couple of cakes in my sight, that I may eat at her hand.

7 Then David sent home to Tamar, saying, Go now to thy brother Amnons house, and dress him meat i.

i It is strange, that so wise and sagacious a Person, as David, did not see through so vain a Pretence: but that must be ascribed partly to the Instincts of Nature, which generally preserve near Relations from such monstrous Actions; and partly to God's Providence, which blinded David's Mind, that he might bring upon him the deserved and threatened Judgments.

8 So Tamar went to her brother Amnons house, (and he was laid down k) and † she took ‖ flour, and † kneaded it, and made cakes in his sight, and did bake the cakes.

† Heb. took. ‖ Or, meal. † Heb. baked.

k Upon his Bed, or rather his Couch.

9 And she took a pan, and poured them out † before him, but he refused to eat. And Amnon said, Have out all men from me: and they went out every man from him.

l Out of the Frying-pan into the Dish.

10 And Amnon said unto Tamar, Bring the meat into the chamber m, that I may eat of thine hand. And Tamar took the cakes which she had made, and brought them into the chamber to Amnon her brother.

m An inner Chamber: either, 1. That wherein he lay sick upon his Bed, where also Tamar made the Cakes in his sight, who then carried them out into the next Room, to bring them in again when he

he called for them. Or rather, 2. Another Chamber. Amnon lying upon his Couch in one Chamber where the Company were with him, where also she made the Cakes before him, first sendeth all out of that Room, and then riseth from his Couch, and, upon some pretence, goes into another secret Chamber, where he might have the better opportunity for his intended Wickedness.

11 And when she had brought them unto him to eat, he took hold of her, and said unto her, Come lie with me, my sister.

12 And she answered him, Nay, my brother n, do not † force me o: for * † no such thing ought to be done in Israel p; do not thou this folly.

n Whom Nature both teacheth to abhor such Thoughts and obligeth to defend me from such a Mischief with thy utmost hazard, if another should attempt it. o Thou shouldest abhor it, if I were willing; but to add Violence to thy Filthiness, is Abominable. p Among God's People who are taught better things; who also will be infinitely reproached for such a base Action.

13 And I, whither shall I cause my shame to go q? And as for thee, thou shalt be as one of the fools in Israel r: now therefore I pray thee, speak unto the king, for he will not withhold me from thee s.

q How can I either endure or avoid the shame and reproach of it? r i.e. Loathsom and contemptible to all the People, whereas now thou art in great Reputation, and Heir apparent of the Crown. s This the spake, either because she did not understand, or not remember that this Law of God prohibited such Marriages between a Brother and his half-Sister; or, because she thought her Royal Father could or would dispense with it, upon this extraordinary occasion, to save his first-born Son's life: or, that by this presence she might free her self from her present and most urgent danger, knowing she should have opportunity enough to prevent other mischiefs.

14 Howbeit, he would not hearken unto her voice: but being stronger than she, forced her, and lay with her.

t Partly, because his Lust being now satisfied, his Mind and Conscience had a true and clear prospect, and deep sense of the natural turpitude and baseness of the action, and of that shame, and contempt, and loss, and mischief, which was likely to follow it, and consequently an utter aversion from her who had been the instrument and occasion of his sin; and principally, by the just Judgment of God both upon Amnon and David, that so the sin might be made publick, and way made for the succeeding Tragedies: for otherwise it would probably produce Love and Kindness to her, as it did in another, Gen. 24. 2, 3. especially in him, whom both Nature, and Interest, and even Lust it self, obliged to allay her grief and shame, by all possible demonstrations of kindness.

16 And she said unto him, There is no cause u: this evil in sending me away, is greater than the other x that thou didst unto me: but he would not hearken unto her.

u To wit, given thee by me. x This she might truly say, because though the other was in it self a greater sin, yet this was an act of greater inhumanity and barbarous Cruelty, and a greater wrong and calamity to her (which the means by evil) because it exposed her to publick infamy and contempt, as if she had been an impudent Strumpet, and had either enticed him to the sin, or at least consented to it; and besides, it turned a private offence into a publick scandal, to the great dishonour of God and of his people Israel, and especially of all the Royal Family, and was likely to cause direful Passions, and Breaches, and Mischiefs among them.

17 Then he called his servant that ministred unto him, and said, Put now this woman out from me, and bolt the door after her.

18 And she had a garment of divers colours n upon her: for with such robes were the kings daughters that were virgins, apparelled. Then his servant brought her out, and bolted the door after her.

n Of Embroidered work. Compare Gen. 37. 3.

19 ¶ And Tamar put ashes on her head, and rent her garment n of divers colours that was on her, and laid her hand on her head y, and went on, crying.

n To signifie her grief for some Calamity which had befallen her, and what that was, concurring circumstances did easily discover. y In token of grief and shame, as if she were unable and ashamed to shew her face. See Jer. 2. 37. z To manifest her abhorrency of the Fact, and that it was not done by her consent.

20 And Absalom her brother said unto her, Hath Amnon thy brother been with thee? but hold now thy peace, my sister: he is thy brother b, † regard not this thing c. So Tamar remained † desolate d in her brother Absaloms house.

a i.e. Lien with thee. b Therefore thou must forgive and forget the Injury; therefore thy disgracing of him will be a blot to us all: therefore thou wilst not get right from David against him, because he is as near and dear to him as thou: therefore thy dishonour is the less, because thou wast not abused by any mean Person, but by a King's Son: therefore this Evil must be born, because it cannot be revenged. And thus he covers his design of taking vengeance upon him at the first opportunity. c So as to torment thy self. d Neglected and forsaken by others, none now seeking her in marriage; and through shame and dejection of Mind, giving her self up to solitude and retirement.

e To wit, with Amnon: whom yet he did not punish, at least so severely as he should: either from the conscience of his own guilt in the like kind; or, from that foolish indulgence which he oft shewed to his Children: or, because the case was perplexed: for if he had been put to death for the Fact, by virtue of that Law, Deut. 22. 23, 24. she also, who was innocent, must have died with him, because she did not cry out: although indeed that Law did not reach the present case, Tamar not being betrothed to an Husband: and for the following Law concerning a Virgin not betrothed that could have no place here: he could not force Amnon to marry Tamar, because that Marriage had been incestuous.

f i.e. He said nothing at all to him; to wit, about that business. It is a Synecdochical expression, used in like manner, Gen. 31. 24. He neither debated it with him, nor threatned him for it; but seemed willing to cover it, and pass it by with Brotherly kindness. For if he had wholly forborn all discourse and converse with him, it would have raised great jealousies in Amnon and David, and hindred him in his intended and desired revenge. g Or rather, but, or though, as the Hebrew Particle, Chi, commonly signifies: for the following Clause is not added as a reason of the former, but by way of exception or opposition. Though he outwardly expressed no dislike of the Fact, yet he inwardly hated him.

23 ¶ And it came to pass after two full years h, that Absalom * had sheep-shearers i in Baal-Hazor, which is besides Ephraim i: And Absalom invited all the kings sons.

* 1 Sam. 25. 4.

∴ This circumstance of time is noted, partly, as an aggravation of Absalom's malice, which was so inveterate and implacable: and partly, as an act of Absalom's policy, that both Amnon and David might more securely comply with his desires, as being now free from all suspition of revenge. h According to the manner of those ancient times, when Princes did not give themselves up to sloth and luxury, but spent their time and pains in some honest employment. i Either, First, The City called Ephraim, or Ephrem, John 11. 54. Or, Secondly, The Tribe of Ephraim, towards or nigh unto which this place was situate.

24 And Absalom came to the king, and said, Behold, now, thy servant hath sheep-shearers, Let the king, I beseech thee, and his servants go with thy servant k.

k To the Feast, which was usual upon those occasions. See Gen. 38. 12. 1 Sam. 25. 7, 11.

25 And the king said to Absalom, Nay, my son, let us not all now go, lest we be chargeable unto thee. And he prest him l: howbeit he would not go, but blessed him m.

l Pretending great desire of his presence there, to prevent any jealousies, which otherwise he thought would arise in the breast of a King to wise and experienced, and under the expectation of God's dreadful Judgments to be inflicted upon his Family. m Dismissed him with thanks for his kindness, and with his Fatherly blessing.

26 Then said Absalom, If not, I pray thee, let my brother Amnon go with us n. And the king said unto him, Why should he go with thee?

n For the King designed (as the following words shew) to keep him at home with him, as being his eldest Son, and Heir of his Kingdom: otherwise Absalom would never have made particular mention of him; which now he was forced to do. Nor did this desire of Amnon's presence want specious Pretences, as that seeing the King would not, he who was next to him might, honour him with his company; and that this might be a manifest and publick token of that Love and Friendship which was between him and his Brother, notwithstanding the former occasion of difference.

27 But Absalom prest him, that he let Amnon and all the kings sons go with him o.

o It is strange that his urgent desire of Amnon's company raised no suspicion in so wise a King; but God blinded his Mind that he might execute his Judgments upon David, and bring upon Amnon the just punishment of his lewdness.

28 ¶ Now Absalom had commanded his servants, saying, Mark ye now when Amnons heart is merry with wine p, and when I say unto you, Smite Amnon, then kill him, fear not: ‖ have not I commanded you q? be couragious, and be † valiant.

p When he shall suspect, and will be most unable to prevent the evil. q I who am the King's Son, and, when Amnon is gone, his Heir: who therefore shall easily obtain pardon for you, and will liberally reward you.

29 And the servants of Absalom did unto Amnon as Absalom had commanded: then all the kings sons arose, and every man † gat him up upon his mule r, and fled.

r Which were in use amongst the Israelites. See 1 King. 23. 33. For though they might not promote such mixed kinds of procreation, Levit. 19. 19. yet they might use Creatures so engendred.

30 ¶ And

30 ¶ And it came to pass, while they were in the way, that tidings came to David, saying, Absalom hath slain all the kings sons s, and there is not one of them left.

s Which was not improbable, when the Sword was once drawn among them, and one of them killed, which might provoke the rest to draw their Swords, both to defend themselves, and to revenge their Brother's death, and thereby occasion the death of all. And God suffered this false report to be spread for David's greater terror and humiliation, that he who had formerly rejoyced in the tidings of Uriah's death, might now be tormented with the report of the death of all his Sons.

31 Then the king arose, and tare his garments, and lay on the earth, and all his servants stood by with their clothes rent.

32 And Jonadab the son of Shimeah, Davids brother t, answered and said, Let not my lord suppose that they have slain all the young men the kings sons: for Amnon only is dead: for by the † appointment u of Absalom this hath been ‖ determined, from the day that he forced his sister Tamar.

t A Man of great craft and subtilty, and one that had exact knowledge of Amnon's Fact, and of Absalom's Temper. u Or, by the command; Heb. mouth, but for command, Numb. 3. 16. x It was resolved from that time in his Breast: but the word of command was not then given to others; for that would probably have hindred his design. But all this he seems to have spoken from a probable conjecture, rather than of certain knowledge, as appears by the sequel.

33 Now therefore let not my lord the king take the thing to heart, to think that all the kings sons are dead: for Amnon only is dead.

34 But Absalom fled y. And the young man that kept the watch lift up his eyes, and looked, and behold, there came much people by the way of the hill-side behind him z.

y He who had undertaken to defend his Servants, flies for his own life. z Behind the Watch-man: for it seems they did not come in the direct Road, where the Watch man looked for them, but (for some reason or fansie they had) fetched a compass, and came that way which he least expected them.

35 And Jonadab said unto the king, Behold, the kings sons come: † as thy servant said, so it is.

36 And it came to pass as soon as he had made an end of speaking, that behold, the kings sons came, and lift up their voice and wept: and the king also and his servants wept † very sore.

37 ¶ But Absalom fled, and went to Talmai, the son of ‖ Ammihud king of Geshur ∴: and David mourned for his son every day.

‖ Or, Ammihur.

∴ His Mothers Father, 2 Sam. 2. 3. that he might have present protection and sustenance from him; and that by his mediation he might obtain his Father's pardon and favour.

38 So Absalom fled, and went to Geshur, and was there three years.

39 And * the soul of king David ‖ longed to go forth unto Absalom a: for he was comforted concerning Amnon, seeing he was dead.

* 1 Sam. 26. 21. ‖ Or, was consumed.

a To wit, to visit him, or to send for him. And thus this word, the Soul, is here understood, partly, from the Hebrew Verb, which being of the Femine Gender, agrees with David, but with David's Soul; and partly, by comparing this with other places, where the same Verb is used, and the Soul expressed, as Psal 84. 2. and 119. 81. But as this Supplement may seem too bold, so this Version seems not to well to agree with that Phrase of going out to Absalom; for David neither desired nor intended to go out to Absalom, but that Absalom should come home to him. And these words may be, and are otherwise rendred, by the most ancient and remarkable Interpreters to this purpose, And king David made an end of going out (to wit, in an Hostile manner, as that Verb is oft used, Gen. 12. 18. 2 Sam. 18. 11.) against (for to the Hebrew Particle, El, is oft used, as Jer. 34. 7. Ezek. 13. 20. Amos 7. 15.) Absalom; i.e. having used some, though it is probable, but cold and remiss endeavours to pursue after Absalom, and to fetch him from his Grand-fathers to receive condign Punishment, he now gave over thoughts of it. Thus the same Verb, and that in the same conjugation, is used in the same manner, 1 King. 3. 1. he made an end of building. It is to be objected, That the Hebrew Verb is of the Feminine Gender, and therefore doth not agree with King David, which is Masculine. It may be answered, That Enallage of Genders is a most frequent Figure; and as the Masculine Gender is sometimes applied to Women when they do some manly and gallant Action, Exod. 1. 21. so the Feminine Gender is sometimes used of Men when they shew an effeminate tenderness in their disposition; which is the case here, as some learned Hebricans have noted.

CHAP. XIV.

Joab observing a wisdom of Tekoah by a parable to incline the king's heart to fetch home Absalom, bringeth him to Jerusalem, but not into David's sight, 1.—24. Absalom's beauty, hair, and children, 25.—27. After two years Joab bringeth him into the kings presence, 28.—33.

NOw Joab the son of Zeruiah, perceived that the kings heart was toward Absalom a.

a He desired to see him, but was ashamed to show kindness to one whom God's Law and his own Conscience obliged him to punish; and wanted a fair pretence, which therefore Joab gave him.

2 And Joab sent to Tekoah b, and fetcht thence a wise woman c, and said unto her, I pray thee, feign thy self to be a mourner, and put on now mourning apparel, and anoint not thy self with oil d, but be as a woman that had a long time mourned for the dead:

b A City of Judah, 2 Chron. 11. 5. 6. One of Jerusalem was not convenient, left the King might know the Person, or search out the business. And besides, this Woman seems to be of great eminency for her Wisdom, as the following discourse manifests. c Rather than a Man, because Women can more easily express their Passions, and do sooner procure pity in their Miseries, and an answer to their Requests. d As they used to do when they were out of a mourning state. See Ruth 3. 3. Matth. 6. 17.

3 And come to the king, and speak on this manner unto him: so Joab put the words in her mouth.

4 ¶ And when the woman of Tekoah spake to the king, she fell on her face to the ground, and did obeisance, and said, † Help, O king.

5 And the king said unto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, I am indeed a widow-woman e, and mine husband is dead.

e One of them who most need thy compassion and assistance, and whom thou art by God's Law obliged in a singular manner to protect and relieve.

f And therefore there is no witness, either that he killed him, or them, how he killed him, whether from some sudden passion and great provocation, or in his own necessary defence, or otherwise. g As the avengers of Blood report.

7 And behold, the whole family is risen against thine handmaid, and they said, Deliver him that smote his brother, that we may kill him h, for the life of his brother whom he slew, and we will destroy the heir also i: and so they shall quench my coal which is left k, and shall not leave to my husband I mother name nor remainder † upon the earth.

h According to the Law, Numb. 35. 19. Deut. 19. 12. i So they plainly discover, that their profession of him was not so much from the love of Justice, as from a covetous desire to deprive him of the Inheritance and to transfer it to themselves; which self-interest might justly render their Testimony suspected. Or, perhaps these words are not spoken as the express words of the prosecutors (who can hardly be thought so directly to express a sinister design) but as the Womans inference or Comment upon what they were doing: (for this would be indeed the result of it, though they did not say so in express words) thereby to represent her case as the more deserving pity. k The poor remainder of my light and comfort, by whom alone my hopes may be revived and repaired. l She names him rather than her self, because Children bear the Names of their Fathers, not of their Mothers.

8 And the king said unto the woman, Go to thine house, and I will give charge concerning thee m.

m That thy Cause may be justly and truly examined, and thy Son preserved from their unjust and malicious proceedings.

9 And the woman of Tekoah said unto the king, My lord, O king, the iniquity be on me, and on my fathers house: and the king and his throne be guiltless.

n The sense is, either, first, this, If I do not inform the Light and thou thereby heart drawn to give an unrighteous Sentence on my behalf, I am willing to bear the whole blame of it before God and Men; I acknowledge them are wholly innocent in the case. Compare Gen. 27. 13. Or, secondly, this, If through thy forgetfulness or neglect of this my just cause, my Adversaries prevail and destroy my Son, my desire is, that God would not lay it to the King's charge, but rather to me and mine, to the King may be exempted therein. Whereby she both insinuates her great esteem of, and affection to the King, thereby winning upon him to compass her design: and withal implies, that such an condition of the Kings will bring guilt upon him; and yet most prudently and decently covers her Threats, by not to seem to blame or threaten the King. Compare Josh. 2. 19. 2 Sam. 20. 16. This last seems best to agree with David's answer, which shews that the desired some further assurance of the king's Care and Justice in her concern.

10 And the king said, Whosoever saith ought unto thee, bring him to me, and he shall not touch thee any more.

o i.e. So as to hurt or molest thee, by pursuing thy Son.

11 Then said she, I pray thee, let the king remember the LORD thy God p, † that thou wouldest not suffer the revengers of blood do destroy any more q, lest they destroy my son. And he said, As the LORD liveth, there shall not one hair of thy son fall to the earth r.

† Heb. that the revengers of blood do not multiply to destroy.

p The sense is, either, first, Make mention (as this Hebrew Verb is often rendred) of the Name of the Lord thy God, to wit, in an Oath; i.e. Swear to me by God. That thou wilt proceed with me and my Son against the Revenger of Blood. For to David did in compliance with this desire of hers. Only she was forced to express her Request in more general and ambiguous terms, because it had been presumption and rudeness for her in plain terms to desire the King's Oath, as if she durst not trust his word; yet withal she insinuates her meaning so plainly, that the King understood it; and yet to handsomly and elegantly, that the King was much pleased with her Wisdom, and thereby inclined to grant her request. Or, secondly, this, Remember the gracious Nature of thy God, who is not too severe and rigorous to mark at all that is amiss, nor doth cut off every man-man-slayer, as appears from Numb. 35. and from the example of Cain, and from thy self, O King: though this the expresseth not, but Cain, and from thy self, O King: though this the expresseth not, but only useth such words which the knew would give so wise and good a King occasion to reflect upon himself, and upon the goodness of God in sparing him, though a wilful Murtherer, that thereby he might be obliged to imitate God, in sparing the Person whom she designed. Or, Thirdly, this, Remember the Lord, in whose presence thou hast made me this promise, and who will be a witness against thee, if thou breakest it. q Heb. left the avenger of blood multiply to destroy; i.e. left they cause one destruction to another, and add my surviving Son to him who is slain already. Or, left thou shalt multiply avengers of blood to destroy, i.e. left by thy connivence at their cruel and malicious proceedings against my Son, thou dost encourage Avengers of Blood to the like furious Practices, and thereby increase the number of that sort of Men, and upon that pretence occasion multitudes of Murthers. r Or, and let them not destroy my Son; the Future Tense, being put for the Imperative Mood, as is frequent. f i e. He shall not suffer the least damage. We have the same Phrase used 1 Sam. 14. 45. 1 King. 1. 52. Act. 27. 34. Compare Mat. 10. 30.

12 Then the woman said t, Let thine handmaid, I pray thee, speak one word unto my lord the king. And he said, Say on:

r Having obliged the King by his Oath in her supposed case, she now throws off the Veil, and begins to apply this Parable to the Kings and Kingdoms present case.

13 And the woman said, Wherefore then hast thou thought such a thing against the people of God u? for the king doth speak this thing as one which is faulty x, in that the king doth not fetch home again his banished y.

u If thou wouldst not permit the Avengers of Blood to molest me, or to destroy my Son, who are but two Persons; how unreasonable is it that thou shouldest proceed in thy endeavours to avenge Ammon's Blood upon Absalom, whose death would be highly injurious and grievous to the whole Commonwealth of Israel, all whose Eyes are upon him as the Heir of the Crown, and a wise, and valiant, and amiable Person, unhappy only in this one act of killing Ammon, which was done upon an high and hainous provocation, and whereof thou thy self didst give the occasion by permitting Ammon to go unpunished? x By thy Word, and Promise, and Oath given to me for my Son, thou condemnest thy self for not allowing the same Equity towards thy own Son. y To wit, Absalom, from that Heathenish Country where he is in evident danger of being infected with their Idolatry and other Vices: which is likely to be a great and publick Mischief to all thy People, if he come to Reign in thy stead, which he is very likely to do. It is true, there was a confiderable disparity between her Sons, and Absalom's case, the one being a rash and sudden action, the other a deliberate and premeditated Murther; but that may seem to be balanced in some measure; partly, by Ammon's great and lasting provocation; and principally, by the vast difference between a private Injury, which was her case, and a publick calamity and grievance, which she affirmed, and the King easily believed was Absalom's case: And what David said in the case of Joab's Murther of Abner, That he could not revenge it, because the sons of Zeruiah were too hard for him, 2 Sam. 3. 39. the like peradventure might have been said in this case, where the Peoples hearts may seem to have been universally and vehemently set upon Absalom, and he rather, because his long banishment moved their pity, and his absence made him more desirable, as it frequently happens among People; and therefore it might really be out of the King's power to punish him; and so he might seem to be obliged to spare him for the common safety of his whole Kingdom.

14 For we must needs die z, and are as water spilt on the ground, which cannot be gathered up again a: ‖ neither doth God respect any person b, yet doth he devise means, that his banished be not expelled from him c.

‖ Or, because God hath not taken away his life, he hath also devised means, &c.

z Heb. In dying we shall die; i.e. we shall certainly and suddenly die all of us, both thou, O King, who therefore are obliged to take due care of thy Succeffor, who is Absalom; and Absalom, who, if he do not die by the hand of Justice, must shortly die by the neceffity of Nature: and Ammon too must have died in the common way of all flesh, if Absalom had not cut him off. Therefore, O King, be not implacable towards Absalom for nipping a Flower a little before its time of fading, and restore him to us all before he die in a strange Land. a Which is quickly drunk up and buried in the Earth, and cannot be recovered. b To wit, so far as to exempt him from this common Law of dying. But this Version seems not to agree with the Scripture-Phrase: for the accepting of a person is never to my knowledge expressed in Hebrew by Nasa Nephesh, which is the Phrase here, but by Nasa Panim, every where. The words therefore may be rendred either thus: yet God will not take away, or doth not use to take away (the Future Tense oft noting a continued act, as Hebraizants observe) the soul, or souls, or lives of Men, to wit, by violence. God doth not severely and instantly cut off Offenders, but suffers them to live till they die by the course of Nature; and therefore so shouldst thou do too. Or, rather thus: yet God hath not taken away his soul or life; the Pronoun, his, being understood here, as it is in many other places, and as being easily supplied out of the context. So the sense is, God hath hitherto spared him, and did not suffer his Brethren to kill him, as in reason might have been expected; nor hath God himself yet cut him off for his Murther, as he oft doth with Persons who are out of the Magistrates reach; but hath hitherto preserved him even in a Heathenish Land. All which are intimations that God would have him spared. c Or, but hath devised means, &c. i.e. hath given Laws to this purpose, That the man-slayer who is banished should not always continue in banishment, but upon the High-Priests death return to his own City. Whereby he hath shewed his pleasure, that the Avenger of Blood should not implacably persist in seeking revenge, and that the man-slayer should be spared. Or rather, thus, but thinketh thoughts, or, but hath designed, or, therefore he intendeth that he who is banished (to wit, Absalom) be not (always) expelled or banished from him; i.e. from God and from his People, and from the place of his worship, but that he should return home to him. So the sense is, That God by sparing Absalom's life in the midst of dangers, did sufficiently intimate, that he would in due time bring him back to his Land and People.

15 Now therefore that I am come to speak of this thing unto my lord the king, it is because the people have made me afraid d: and thy handmaid said e, I will now speak unto the king; it may be that the king will perform the requeft of his handmaid.

d The truth is, I was even forced to this bold Addreſs to thee, by the diſpoſition and condition of thy People, who are oftentormented at Absalom's perpetual banishment, and full of fears; either left, upon thy death, which none knoweth how soon it may happen, they should be involved in a Civil War about thy Succeſſor, or left, in the mean time, if Absalom by his Father-in-laws assistance invade the Land, and endeavour by force to re-gain and secure his Right to the Succeſſion, the People, who have a great opinion of him, and kindneſs for him, and think he is very hardly used, should take up Arms for him; or left he who is thy Heir and Succeſſor ſhould by continual and familiar converſation with Heathens, be infnared in their Errors, or alienated from the true Religion, and from God's Worſhip, from which he is now utterly excluded. e Or, therefore thy handmaid said, either, within my self; i.e. I intended: or, to the People, to quiet them.

16 For the king will hear f, to deliver his handmaid out of the hand of the man g that would deſtroy me and my ſon b together out of the inheritance of God i:

f For I know the King is ſo wiſe and juſt, that I aſſure my ſelf of Audience and Acceptation. Which expectation of hers is cunningly inſinuated here, that the King might conceive himſelf obliged to anſwer it, and not to diſappoint her hope, nor to forfeit that good opinion which his Subjects now had of him. g To grant my requeſt concerning my Son, and conſequently the Peoples Petition concerning Absalom. h Implying that her life was bound up in the life of her Son, and that ſhe could not out-live his death; (and ſuppoſing, it is like, that it might be David's caſe alſo, and would therefore touch him in a tender part, though it were not proper to ſay it expreſly:) and thereby ſuggeſting, that the tranquillity, ſafety, and comfort of the People of Iſrael, depended upon Absalom's Reſtitution, and the ſettlement of the Succeſſion in him. i i.e. Out of that Inheritance which God hath given to me and mine: or, out of that Land which God gave to his People to be their Inheritance and Poſſeſſion, and in which alone God hath ſettled the place of his Preſence and Worſhip. Whereby ſhe intimates the danger of Absalom's living in a ſtate of ſeparation from God, and his Houſe, and amongſt Idolaters.

17 Then thine handmaid ſaid, The word of my lord the king ſhall now be † comfortable k: for as an angel of God l, ſo is my lord the king † to diſcern good and bad m: therefore n the LORD thy God will be with thee o.

k I doubt not the King will give a gracious and ſatisfactory Anſwer to my Petition. l To wit, in Wiſdom, and Juſtice, and Goodneſs. m To hear and judge of Cauſes and Requeſts, whether they be juſt, and good, and fit to be granted, as mine is; or unrighteous, and unreaſonable, and fit to be rejected. So ſhe intimates her confidence in the Juſtice of her Cauſe, and thereby confirms the King in his purpoſe and promiſe to grant her Requeſt, and withal aims the King againſt the ſuggeſtions of them who ſhould adviſe him to a rigorous execution of God's Law againſt Absalom, and be ready to cenſure him for reſtoring Absalom, and this for want of that Angelical Wiſdom which the King had, who wiſely conſidered many things far above their reach. n Becauſe thou art ſo wiſe, and juſt, and pitiful, and gracious to thoſe who in ſtrict Juſtice deſerve puniſhment. o God will own and ſtand by thee in this thy act of Grace: or, God will proſper thee in thy enterprizes: or, at leaſt, not be offended with thee.

18 Then the king anſwered and ſaid unto the woman, Hide not from me, I pray thee, the thing that I ſhall ask thee. And the woman ſaid, Let my lord the king now ſpeak.

19 And the king ſaid, Is not the hand of Joab with thee in all this p? And the woman anſwered, and ſaid, As thy ſoul liveth, my lord the king, none can turn to the right hand, or to the left, from ought that my lord the king hath ſpoken q: for thy ſervant Joab he bade me, and he put all theſe words in the mouth of thine handmaid r:

p Haſt thou not ſaid and done this by Joab's direction and contrivance? q As the King is ſo wiſe that no Man can deceive him by any turnings or windings to the right or left hand, but he quickly ſearcheth out the truth in every thing; ſo (it is a folly to diſſemble, or go about to conceal it) it is even ſo, thou haſt now diſcovered the truth of this buſineſs. r To wit, for the ſcope and ſubſtance of them, but not as to all the expreſſions which ſhe uſed, for theſe were to be varied as the King's anſwer gave occaſion, which alſo ſhe did with ſingular prudence.

20 To fetch about this form of ſpeech s hath thy ſervant Joab done this thing: and my lord is wiſe, according to the wiſdom of an angel of God, to know all things that are in the earth t.

s i.e. To s i.e. To propoſe mine, and his, and the Peoples deſire of Abſalom's reſtitution in this parabolical manner, in mine, and my Sons Perſon. t Or, in this Land, in all thy Kingdom; all the Counſels and Devices of thy Subjects, which have any relation to thee or thy Affairs.

21 ¶ And the king ſaid unto Joab, Behold now, I have done this thing u: go therefore, bring the young man x Abſalom again.

u In compliance with thy deſire: although in truth it was according to his own deſire. He overlooks the Woman in this grant, becauſe ſhe was but Joab's Inſtrument in it. x By which expreſſion he mitigates his Crime, as being an act of youthful heat, and folly, and raſhneſs.

22 And Joab fell to the ground on his face, and bowed himſelf, and † thanked the king: and Joab ſaid, To day thy ſervant knoweth that I have found grace in thy ſight, my lord, O king, in that the king hath fulfilled the requeſt of ‖ his ſervant y.

y i.e. Reſtored Absalom at my requeſt. Whereby Joab thought to eſtabliſh himſelf for ever, and that he ſhould be both the Father's and the Son's favourite. Queſt. Whether David did well in granting this requeſt? Anſ. Although there be ſome Circumſtances which in part extenuate David's fault herein, as Ammon's high provocation of Abſalom; Abſalom's being out of the reach of David's Juſtice, where alſo he could and would have kept himſelf, if David had not promiſed him impunity; the extream danger of Abſalom's infection by Heathenish Principles and Practices; the ſafety of David's Kingdom, which ſeemed to depend upon the Eſtabliſhment of the Succeſſion, and that upon Abſalom, to whom the hearts of the People were ſo univerſally and vehemently inclined, if the matter was really ſo, and not pretended or magnified by the Art of this ſubtil Woman; yet it ſeems moſt probable that David was faulty herein, becauſe this action was directly contrary to the expreſs Laws of God, which ſtrictly command the Supreme Magiſtrate to execute Juſtice upon all wilful Murtherers, without any reſervation, Gen. 9. 6. Numb. 35. 30, 31. And David had no power to diſpenſe with God's Laws, nor to ſpare any whom God commanded him to deſtroy: for the Laws of God did bind the Kings and Rulers, as well as the People of Iſrael, to obſerve and obey them, as is moſt evident from Deut. 17. 18, 19. and from Joſ. 1. 8. and many other places. And conſidered we may read David's Sin in the Glaſs of thoſe tremendous Judgments of God which befel him, by means of his indulgence to Abſalom. For although God's Providences be in themſelves no Rule to judge of the good or evil of Mens actions; yet where they comply with God's Word, and accompliſh his Threatnings, as here they did, they are to be taken for the tokens of God's diſpleaſure.

23 So Joab aroſe and went to Geſhur, and brought Abſalom to Jeruſalem.

24 And the king ſaid, Let him turn to his own houſe, and let him not ſee my face z. So Abſalom returned to his own houſe, and ſaw not the kings face.

z Leſt whilſt he ſhewed ſome mercy to Abſalom, he ſhould ſeem to approve of his Sin, and thereby wound his own Conſcience, and loſe his Honour, and encourage him and others to ſuch like Attempts; and that by this means Abſalom might be drawn to a more thorough Humiliation and true Repentance.

25 ¶ † But in all Iſrael there was none to be ſo much praiſed as Abſalom for his beauty a: from the ſole of his foot even to the crown of his head, there was no blemiſh in him.

† Heb. as a Man like there was a beautiful praiſe all Iſrael greatly.

a This is here noted as the occaſion of his Pride and Inſolency, and of the Peoples Affections to him, and conſequently of the following Rebellion.

26 And when he polled his head, (for it was at every years end that he polled it: becauſe the hair was heavy on him, therefore he polled it) he weighed the hair of his head at two hundred ſhekels b, after the kings † weight.

b Whereas ordinarily the hair of a Man's head which grows in a years ſpace, comes not to half ſo much. But ſome Mens hair grows much faſter, and is much heavier than others. But others underſtand this not of the weight, but of the price of his hair, which was ſold by him that Polled it at that rate.

27 And unto Abſalom there were born three ſons c and one daughter, whoſe name was Tamar d: ſhe was a woman of a fair countenance.

c All which died not long after they were born, as may be gathered from chap. 18. 18. where it is ſaid, that Abſalom had no ſon. d So called from her Aunt, chap. 13. 1.

28 ¶ So Abſalom dwelt two full years in Jeruſalem, and ſaw not the kings face.

29 Therefore Abſalom ſent for Joab, to have ſent him to the king e, but he would not come to him: and when he ſent again the ſecond time, he would not come f.

e That by his mediation he might be admitted into the King's favour and preſence. f Partly, becauſe perceiving David's affections to be cold to Abſalom, he would not venture his own Intereſt for him, eſpecially in deſiring that which he feared he ſhould be denied; partly, leſt by interceeding further for Abſalom, he ſhould revive the remembrance of his former Murther, and meet with the reproach of one Murtherers interceeding for another; and partly, becauſe by converſe with Abſalom, he obſerved his temper to be ſuch, that if once he were fully reſtored to the King's favour, he would not only eclipſe and oppoſe Joab's Intereſt and Power with the King, but alſo attempt high things, not without danger to the King and Kingdom, as it happened.

30 Therefore he ſaid unto his ſervants, See, Joabs field is † near mine, and he hath barley there; go and ſet it on fire g: and Abſalons ſervants ſet the field on fire.

g That Joab may be forced to come to me to complain of, and demand reparations for this Injury.

31 Then Joab aroſe and came to Abſalom unto his houſe, and ſaid unto him, Wherefore have thy ſervants ſet my field on fire?

32 And Abſalom anſwered Joab, Behold, I ſent unto thee, ſaying, Come hither that I may ſend thee to the king, to ſay, Wherefore am I come from Geſhur? It had been good for me to have been there ſtill h: now therefore let me ſee the kings face: and if there be any iniquity in me, let him kill me i.

h Rather then here, becauſe my eſtrangement from him now when I am ſo near to him, is both more grievous and more ſhameful to me. But the truth of the buſineſs was this, Abſalom ſaw that his Father had accompliſhed his deſign in bringing him thither, having ſatisfied both his own natural affection, and his Peoples deſire of Abſalom's return from baniſhment; but that he could not without an eſtimation into the King's preſence and favour compaſs his deſign; i.e. confirm and improve that Intereſt which he ſaw he had in the Peoples hearts. i For it is better for me to die, than to want the ſight and favour of my dear Father. Thus he inſinuates himſelf into his Father's affections, by pretending ſuch Reſpect and Love to him. It ſeems that by this time Abſalom having ſo far recovered his Father's favour, as to be re-called, he began to grow upon him, and take ſo much confidence as to ſtand upon his own juſtification, as if what he had done, had been no iniquity, at leaſt not ſuch as to deſerve death. For ſo much this Speech intimates.

33 So Joab came to the king, and told him: and when he had called for Abſalom, he came to the king, and bowed himſelf on his face to the ground before the king: and the king kiſſed Abſalom k.

k In teſtimony of his thorough Reconciliation to him. Which Abſalom did very ill require, as the next Chapter manifeſteth.

CHAP. XV.

Abſalom ſtealeth the hearts of Iſrael, 1, —6. Under pretence of a vow obtaineth leave to go to Hebron: there with Ahithophel's aid he conſpires to be king, 7, —12. David flieth from Jeruſalem with all his men: leaveth ten of his concubines, 13, —37.

AND it came to paſs after this, that Abſalom prepared him charets, and horſes, and fifty men to run before him a.

1 King. 1. 5.

a As being the King's eldeſt Son, now Ammon was dead; for Chileab, who was his eldeſt Brother, 2 Sam. 3. 3. was either dead, or manifeſtly uncapable of the Government. And this courſe he knew would draw the Eyes and Minds of People to him, and make them conclude that David intended him for his Succeſſor.

2 And Abſalom roſe up early b, and ſtood beſide the way of the gate c: and it was ſo, that when any man that had a controverſie, † came to the king for judgment, then Abſalom called unto him d, and ſaid, Of what city art thou e? And he ſaid, Thy ſervant is of one of the tribes of Iſrael f.

b Thereby making a ſhew of ſelf-denial, and diligence, and ſolicitude for the good of the publick, and of every private Perſon, as he had opportunity. c Either, Firſt, Of the King's Palace. Or rather, Secondly, Of the City, for that was the place of Judicature or Judgment, for which theſe Men came. d Preventing him with the offers of his aſſiſtance. e As if he were ready to make particular enquiry into the ſtate of his cauſe. f Or rather, of one City (which word is eaſily underſtood out of the foregoing queſtion) of the tribes of Iſrael; i.e. of an Iſraelitiſh City, either this, or that; of ſuch or ſuch a City.

3 And Abſalom ſaid unto him, See, thy matters are good and right g: but ‖ there is no man deputed of the king to hear thee h.

Or, none will hear g Upon ſome very ſlight hearing of their Caſe, he approved it, that he might oblige all. h To wit, none ſuch as will do thee juſtice. The other Sons and Relations of the King, and the reſt of the Judges and Rulers under him and them, are wholly corrupted, and ſwayed by favour or bribes; or, at leaſt not careful and diligent as they ſhould be: and my Father being grown in years, is negligent of publick Affairs, leaving them wholly to their Conduct.

4 Abſalom ſaid moreover, O that I were made judge in the land i, that every man k which hath any ſuit or cauſe, might come unto me, and I would do him juſtice.

i For the King had only reſtored Abſalom to favour, but thought not fit to put him into any place of Power and Truſt. k I ſhould reſtore no Man, and decline no Pains to do any Man good. So he pretends to a very publick Spirit.

5 And it was ſo, that when any man came nigh to him, to do him obeiſance, he put forth his hand, and took him and kiſſed him l.

l Putting on the Garb of ſingular humanity and good will to all Men. For that ſeems to have been a Ceremony in frequent uſe in thoſe times, of ſhewing reſpect, as pulling off the Hat, and bowing, or imbracing, is at this day with us.

6 And on this manner did Absalom to all Israel, that came to the king for judgment: so Absalom stole the hearts of the men of Israel m.

m i.e. He secretly and subtilly undermined his Father, and robbed his Father of the good Opinions and Affections of his People, that he might gain them to himself, by such insinuations into their Affections, by his plausible and over-civil Carriage.

7 ¶ And it came to pass after forty years n, that Absalom said unto the king, I pray thee, let me go, and pay my vow o which I have vowed unto the LORD in Hebron p.

n Quest. Whence are these to be computed? Ans. Not from Absalom's Birth; for he was born in Hebron some considerable time after David had begun his Reign, 2 Sam. 3. 3. much less from the time of his Vow made, or of his return from Banishment: but, either, first, from the time of David's election or designation to the Kingdom, 1 Sam. 16. 13. Or, Secondly, From the beginning of Saul's Reign: which being a solemn time, and observable for the change of the Government in Israel, might very fitly be made an Epocha, from which the computation or account of Times begin; as the Greeks and Romans began their Accounts in the same manner, and upon the same ground. Or rather, Thirdly, From the beginning of David's Reign, who reigned 40 Years; and so the words may be rendred, about or towards the end of forty years; i.e. in the beginning of the fortieth Year. And so this very Phrase is used, Deut. 15. 1. At the end of every seven years; i.e. in the seventh Year, even from the beginning of it, as is manifested and confessed. So in a like expression, After three days will I rise again, Mark 8. 31. i.e. on the beginning of the third Day, when Christ did rise; the number of three Days being then compleated when the third Day is begun. And the 40 Years are here expressed as one motive or inducement to Absalom to rebel, because now his Father's end grew near; and one of the sixteen Doctors affirms, That there was a Tradition, or Rumour, or Prediction, that David should Reign but 40 Years. And Absalom might easily understand that David intended to decline him, and to make Solomon his Successor, as well by the conscience of his own wickedness and unfitness for so great a Trust, as by that eminent Wisdom and Piety which appeared in Solomon in his tender Years, and that great Respect and Affection which his Father must needs have and manifest to him upon this account, and by that Promise and Oath given to Bathsheba concerning his Succession mentioned, 1 King. 1. 30. but more before that time, which also might come to Absalom's ear. Against this Opinion two things are objected: First, That David was in the time of this Rebellion a strong Man, for he marched on Foot, v. 30. whereas in his last Year he was very infirm and bed-rid. Secondly, That after this Rebellion was ended, divers other things happened, as the three Years Famine, 2 Sam. 21. 1. and other things following in the History. But it may be answered to the first, That David might in the beginning of his last Year, have so much strength and vigour left as to march on Foot, especially when he did so humble and afflict himself, as it is apparent he did, v. 30. and yet through his his tedious Marches, and the tormenting Cares, Fears, and Griefs of his Soul for Absalom, might be so strangely and suddenly wasted, as in the end of the same Year to be very feeble and bed-rid, it being a very common accident, especially in old Men, and upon extraordinary occasions, to languish and decline exceedingly, and to fall from some comperent degree of health and vigour, to be very infirm and bed-rid, and that in the space of a few Months. And to the second Objection, That those Histories related chap. 21, &c. though they be placed after this Rebellion, yet indeed were done before it; the proof of which lies on chap. 21. 1. For it is so confessed and evident, that things are not always placed in the same order in which they were done, that it is a Rule of the Hebrews, and approved by other learned Men, Non datur prius & posterius in Sacris literis; that is, There is no first and last in the order of Scripture-relations. And here is a plain reason for this transplacing of this History, which is allowed in other like cases, That when once the History of Tamar's Rape had been mentioned, it was very fit to subjoin the Relation of all the Mischiefs which followed upon that occasion. If any Infidel will yet cavil with this Text and number of Years, let him know, that instead of forty, the Syriack, and Arabick, and Josephus the Jew, read four years; and that it is much more rational to acknowledge an Error of the Scribe, who copied out the Sacred Text, than upon so frivolous a ground to question the Divine Authority of the Holy Scriptures. And that some Men chuse the latter way rather than the former, is an evidence that they are Infidels by the choice of their wills, more than by the strength of their reasons. o He pretends Piety, which he knew would please his Father, and easily procure his consent. p Which is mentioned as the place, not where the Vow was made, for that was at Geshur, v. 8. but where he intended to perform it. The pretence for which was, That he was born in this place, 2 Sam. 3. 2. and that here was a famous high-place; and, till the Temple was built, it was permitted to sacrifice upon the high-places.

8 For thy servant vowed a vow while I abode at Geshur in Syria, saying, If the LORD shall bring me again indeed to Jerusalem, then I will serve the LORD q.

q i.e. Worship him by the offering of Sacrifices of Thanksgiving to God, for restoring me to the place of his presence and service, and to my Father's favour. But why should not this service have been performed at Sion, or at Gibeon? Here was some ground of suspicion; but God blinded David's Eyes, that he might bring upon David and upon Absalom the Judgments which they deserved, and he designed.

9 And the king said unto him, Go in peace. So he arose, and went to Hebron r.

r This place he chose as being an eminent City, and next to Jerusalem, the chief of the Tribe of Judah, and the place of his birth, and the place where his Father began his Kingdom, which he took for a good Omen, and where it is probable that he had secured many Friends, and which was at some convenient distance from Jerusalem, that his Father could not suddenly reach him.

10 ¶ But Absalom sent s spies throughout all the Tribes of Israel, saying, As soon as ye hear the sound of the trumpet t, then ye shall say, Absalom reigneth in Hebron.

s From Hebron. Or, had sent from Jerusalem, that when he went to Hebron, they should go into the several Tribes to stir the People, to declare them to Absalom's Party, and acquaint them with his and to dispose them to Absalom's Party, and acquaint them with his success. t Which I shall take care to have sounded in several parts by other Persons; and when that is done, you shall inform them of the reason of it. Or, as soon as you understand that the Trumpet was sounded at Hebron; partly, to call the People together for my assistance; and partly, to celebrate my Inauguration to the Kingdom, which you shall speedily know by Messengers whom I shall send to you to that end.

11 And with Absalom went two hundred men out of Jerusalem, that were called u, and they went in their simplicity, and they knew not any thing x.

u Such as Absalom had pick'd out as fit for his purpose; such as were of some quality and reputation with the King and People, which would give a great countenance to his undertaking, and give occasion to People at first to think that this was done by his Father's consent or connivence, as being now aged, and infirm, and willing to resign the Kingdom to him, as his eldest Son, and the Noblest too, as being descended from a King by both Parents; and such as by their Wisdom and Interest in the People, might have done David much service in this needful time; yet such as were not very martial Men, nor likely with violence to oppose his proceedings. x Concerning Absalom's design.

y Who is thought to have been the Author, or, at least, the fomenter of this Rebellion; either, because he was discontented with David, for which there might be many reasons; or, because he saw that the matter was old and nigh his end, and he thought it best policy to worship the rising Sun, and to follow the young Prince, whom he observed to have so great an Interest in the Hearts of the People, and whom he supposed he could easily manage as he pleased, which he could not do with David. z Which he did not in Devotion to God, for he neither feared God, nor reverenced Man; not to implore God's favour and assistance against his Father, which he knew was a vain thing to expect; but merely that upon this pretence he might call great numbers of the People together, whereof many would come to join with him in the worship of God, and most to partake of the Feasts which were made of the remainders of the Sacrifices, according to the manner.

13 ¶ And there came a messenger to David, saying, The hearts of the men of Israel are after Absalom a.

a The generality of the People are for him. Which is not strange, considering, either, first, David, whose many miscarriages had greatly lost him in the hearts of his People. Or, Secondly, The People, whose Temper is generally unstable, weary of old things, and desirous of changes, and apt to expect great benefits thereby. Or, Thirdly, Absalom, whose noble Birth, and singular Beauty, and most obliging Carriage, and ample Promises, had won the Peoples hearts, considering also that he was David's first-born, to whom the Kingdom of right belonged, and yet that David intended to give away his right to Solomon, which the People thought might prove the occasion of a civil and dreadful War, which hereby they designed to prevent. Or, Fourthly, The Just and Holy God, who ordered and over-ruled all these things for David's chastisement, and the instruction and terror of Sinners in all future Ages.

14 And David said unto all his servants, that were with him at Jerusalem, Arise, and let us flee b: for we shall not else escape from Absalom: make speed to depart, lest he overtake us suddenly, and † bring † Heb. evil upon us, and smite the city with the edge of the sword.

b For though the Fort of Zion was strong and impregnable, and he might have defended himself there; yet he had not laid in Provisions for a long Siege; and, if he had been once besieged there, Absalom would have got speedy and quiet possession of his whole Kingdom; whereas if he marched abroad, he might raise a considerable Army for his defence and the suppression of the Rebels. Besides, the greatest part of Jerusalem could not be well defended against him. And he suspected that a great number of the Citizens might take part with Absalom, and possibly deliver him up into Absalom's hands. Besides, if he had made that the Seat of the War, he feared the destruction of that City, which he vehemently desired to preserve, because it was the Chief and Royal City, and the place in which God had appointed to put his Name and Worship. Moreover, when David considered, that God's hand was now against him, and that he was now bringing evil upon him out of his own house, as he had threatned, chap. 12. 11. it is no wonder if he was intimidated and disposed to flee.

15 And the kings servants said unto the king, Behold, thy servants are ready to do whatsoever my lord † Heb. the king shall † appoint.

16 And * the king went forth, and all his household † after him c: and the king left ten women which were concubines d, to keep the house.

c Or, on foot, by comparing v. 30. which the King chose to do, rather than to ride; partly, to humble himself under the hand of God; partly, to encourage his Companions in this hard and comfortless March; and partly, to move Compassion in his People towards him. d For he supposed that their Sex would proceed them even among Barbarians, and their relation to David would gain them some respect, and, at least, safety from his Son. But it seems he did not now actually consider that Clause of the threatning concerning his Wives, (God diverting his Mind to other things) or he thought that would be accomplished some other way, conceiving that Absalom would abhor the thoughts of such incestuous Converse, especially with Persons which were now grown in Years.

17 And the king went forth, and all the people after him, and tarried e in a place that was far off f.

e Either to rest and refresh themselves a little: or rather in expectation of others who should or would come after him, that they might March away in a considerable Body, which might both defend the King, and invite others to come in to their assistance. f At some convenient distance, but not very far.

18 And all his servants passed on beside him: and all the Cherethites, and all the Pelethites g, and all the Gittites h, six hundred men, which came after him from Gath, passed on before the king.

g Of whom see the notes on chap. 8. 18. h Who were either, first, Israelites by Birth, called Gittites, because they went with him to Gath, and abode with him in that Country. Or rather, Secondly, Strangers, as Ittais their head is called, v. 19. and they are called his Brethren, v. 20. and probably they were Philistines by Birth, born in the City or Territory of Gath, as the following words imply, who by David's Counsel, and Example, and the success of his Arms, were won to embrace and profess the true Religion, and had given good proof of their Military Skill, and Valour, and Fidelity to the King.

19 ¶ Then said the king to Ittai the Gittite, Wherefore goest thou also with us? return to thy place i, and k abide with the king l: for thou art a stranger, and also an exile m.

i Either, First, To thy native Country of Gath, where thou wilest be remote from our broils. Or, Secondly, To Jerusalem, where thy settled abode now is. k Or, or: for he could not both go to Gath, and tarry in Jerusalem with Absalom. Although this part of the Verse lies otherwise in the Hebrew Text, and may be rendred thus, Return (to wit, to Jerusalem) and abide with the King (there;) for thou art a Stranger and exile from thy own place; or, in respect of thy own place, or, as concerning thy place, i.e. in regard of the place of thy birth and former habitation. l With Absalom, who is now made King by the choice of the People, and therefore is able to give thee that protection and encouragement which thou deservest; whereas I am in a manner deposed and unable to do for thee what I desired and intended. m Not much concerned in our affairs, and therefore not fit to be involved in our troubles.

20 Whereas thou camest but yesterday n, should I this day † make thee go up and down with us? seeing I go whither † I may o, return thou, and take back thy brethren p: * mercy and truth be with thee q.

Psal. 25. 6.

n By which it may be gathered, that these were not the Israelitish Soldiers which went with David to Gath, and came up with him from thence to Hebron, which was above thirty Years before this time, but some Proselytes which came from thence more lately. For though this word yesterday be sometimes used of a time long before past, as 2 Kings 9. 26. Job 9. 9. Isa. 30. 33. yet it seems to be here restrained to a shorter compass by the following words, and by the argument here used. o I know not whither; having now no certain dwelling place. p Thy Countrymen and Soldiers the Gittites, v. 18. q Since I am now unable to recompense thy kindness and fidelity to me, my hearty Prayer to God is, That he would shew to thee his Mercy, in Blessing thee with all sorts of Blessings, and his Faithfulness in making good all those Promises which he hath made, not to Israelites only, but in and with them to all true-hearted Proselytes, such as thou art.

21 And Ittai answered the king, and said, As the LORD liveth, and as my lord the king liveth, surely in what place my lord the king shall be, whether in death or life, even there also will thy servant be.

22 And David said to Ittai, Go and pass over. And Ittai the Gittite passed over, and all his men, and all the little ones that were with him r.

r For being so deeply engaged for David, he durst not leave his little ones to Absalom's Mercy.

23 And all the country s wept with a loud voice, and all the people passed over: the king also himself passed over the brook ‖ Kidron t, and all the people passed over toward the way of the wilderness u.

Gr. Cedron, Joh. 18. 1. Kidron.

s i.e. The generality of the People by whom they passed: for it must be considered, that Absalom's Friends and Partizans were gone to him to Hebron, and the rest of the People thereabouts were either well-willers to David, or at least moved with compassion at the sad and sudden change of so great and good a King, which was able to affect an heart of Stone. t Which was near Jerusalem. See 2 Kings 23. 4. Jer. 26. 36. John 18. 1. u Which was between Jerusalem and Jericho.

24 ¶ And lo, Zadok also, and all the Levites were with him, bearing the ark of the covenant of God x, and they set down the ark of God y: and Abiathar went up z, until all the people had done passing out of the city.

x As a pledge of God's presence and assistance, and that David might enquire at it upon occasion. y Either in expectation of drawing forth more People to David's Party, if not from their Loyalty to their Lawful King, yet from their Piety and Reverence to the Ark: or, that all the People might pass along, and the Ark might come in the rear of them for their safeguard and encouragement. z Either, 1. From the Ark which now was in the low ground, being near the Brook Cedron, to the top of the Mount of Olives, whence he had the prospect of the City and Temple; as appears from Mark 13. 3. where he could discern when the People ceased to come out of the City after David; which when they did, he gave notice to David, that he should wait no longer, but march away and carry the Ark with him. Or, 2. From the Ark to the City, which was in an higher ground, that so he being High-Priest, might use his Authority and Interest with the People, to perswade them to do their duty, in going forth to defend and help their King against his Rebellious Son; and there he staid until all those whom he could perswade were gone forth.

25 And the king said unto Zadok, Carry back the Ark of God into the City a: if I shall find favour in the eyes of the LORD, he will bring me again, and shew me both it, and his habitation b.

a Partly, out of Care and Reverence to the Ark, which though sometimes it was, and might be carried out to a certain place; yet he might justly think unfit to carry it from place to place he knew not whither, and to expose it to all the hazards and inconveniences to which he himself was likely to be exposed: partly, out of respect to the Priests, whom, by this means, he thought he should expose to the Rage of Absalom, as he had before exposed them to Saul's Fury on another occasion, 1 Sam. 22. And partly, that by this means he might have the better opportunity to search out, and to Counter-work Absalom's Plots; which was so necessary, not only for himself, but for the defence and maintenance of the Ark, and all God's Ordinances, and of the true Religion. b i.e. The Tabernacle which David had lately built for it, Chap. 6. 17. in which the Ark, and God, by means thereof, ordinarily dwelt. And hereby he insinuates another reason of his returning the Ark to Jerusalem, because there was the Tabernacle made for the receipt of it.

26 But if he thus say, I have no delight in thee: behold, here am I, d let him do to me as seemeth good unto him.

c I will not receive thee into my Favour, nor restore thee to thy Throne and City, and to the enjoyment of my Ark and Ordinances. d Ready to obey him, and to submit to his Will and Pleasure concerning me.

27 The king said also unto Zadock the priest e, Art not thou a seer f? return into the city in peace g, and * your two sons with you, Ahimaaz thy son, and Jonathan the son of Abiathar.

1 Sam. 9. 9. Seer. chap. 15. 27.

e Either because Abiathar was gone from him, v. 24. and not yet returned: or because David put more confidence in Zadok. f i.e. Either, 1. A Prophet, for such were called Seers, 1 Sam. 9. 9. 2 Sam. 24. 11. Amos 7. 12. And such he may be called, either because he really had the gift of Prophecy: or, because as the name of Prophets is sometimes given to those who had not Prophetical Gifts, but were only Officers and Ministers devoted to, and employed in God's Worship and Service, as 1 Sam. 10. 5, &c. 1 Kings 18. 4, 13. Compare 1 Chron. 25. 1, 2, 3. So it is reasonable, That the name of Seers be extended to the same Latitude: and therefore he may properly and fitly be called a Seer, as he was with, and under Abiathar the Chief Governour of the House and Worship of God; who, by his Office, was to instruct and direct the People in those matters, whereby he had many opportunities both of stirring our Absalom's Councils, and of minding the People of their Duty to David, as he saw opportunity. Which sence suits well with David's Scope and Design. Or, 2. a seeing, or discerning, or observing Man: for so the Hebrew Verb raah is often used. And this suits well with David's Mind: Thou are a wise Man, and therefore fit to manage this great business, which requires Prudence and Sagacity. g As Men of Peace, giving over all thoughts of War, and devoting your selves entirely to God's Service.

28 See, I will tarry in the plain of the wilderness, until there come word from you to certifie me.

29 Zadok therefore and Abiathar carried the ark of God again to Jerusalem; and they tarried there.

30 And David went up by the ascent of mount Olivet, † and wept as he went up, and had his head covered, and he went bare foot h: and all the people that was with him, covered every man his head, and they went up weeping, as they went up.

h In Testimony of his deep Sorrow, and Humiliation and Shame for his Sins, whereby he had procured this Evil to himself: for these were the Habits of Mourners, 2 Sam. 15. 2. Esth. 6. 12. Isa. 20. 3, 4. Jer. 14. 3, 4. and to take an Holy Revenge upon himself for his former Delicacy and Luxury.

31 And ‖ one told David i, saying, Ahithophel is among the conspirators with Absalom. And David said, O LORD, I pray thee, turn the counsel of Ahithophel into foolishness k.

‖ Or, They told

i Or,

i Or, David told; i. e. David being hereof informed, acquaints his Friends and Followers with it, to stir them up to joyn with him, in the following Prayer against him. k Esther inftances him, that he may give foolish Counsel; or let his Counsel be rejected as foolish, or spoiled by the foolish execution of it.

32 And it came to pass that when David was come to the top of the mount where he worshipped God, † Heb. behold, Hushai * the Archite came to meet him, with his coat rent, and ashes upon his head:

l Looking towards Jerusalem where the Ark and Tabernacle was. Compare 1 Kings 8. 44, 48. Dan. 6. 10.

33 Unto whom David said, If thou passest on with me, then thou shalt be a burden unto me m.

Increasing my Charge, and Care, and Sorrow, for what may befall thee: and being but of little use to me: for it may seem he was an Old Man, a d fitter for Counsel than for War.

34 But if thou return to the City, and say unto Absalom, I will be thy servant, O king: as I have ‖ Or, here- been thy fathers servant ‖ hitherto, so will I now also tofore. be thy servant n; then mayest thou for me defeat the counsel of Ahitophel.

m i. e. As faithful to thee, as I have been to thy Father; which he neither was, nor ought to be. And therefore, the profession of this was great dissimulation: And David's suggesting this crafty Counsel, may be reckon'd amongst his Errors: which, proceeding from a violent Temptation, and his present and pressing Straits, God was pleased mercifully to pardon and to direct this Evil Advice to a good End.

35 And hast thou not there with thee Zadok, and Abiathar the priests? therefore it shall be, that what thing soever thou shalt hear out of the kings house, thou shalt tell it to Zadok and Abiathar the priests.

* Ver. 27. 36 Behold, they have there * with them o their two sons, Ahimaaz Zadoks son, and Jonathan Abiathars son: and by them ye shall send unto me every thing that ye can hear.

o Not in Jerusalem, but in a place near to it, to which they could easily send upon occasion. See Chap. 17. 17.

37 So Hushai Davids friend came into the city, and Absalom came into Jerusalem.

CHAP. XVI.

Ziba by Presents and false Suggestions, obtaineth of David his Master's Inheritance, 1,——4. Shimei revileth and curseth David: Who refraineth Abishai from revenging it, 5,——13. Absalom cometh with Ahitophel to Jerusalem: lieth with his Father's Concubines in the sight of all Israel, according to the Counsel of Ahitophel who was esteemed as an Oracle, 15,——23.

* Chap. 17. 17. * Cha. 9. 2. AND when David was a little past the top of p the hill, behold, * Ziba a the servant of Mephibosheth met him with a couple of asses saddled, and upon them two hundred loaves of bread, and an hundred bunches of raisins, and an hundred of summer fruits, and a bottle b of wine.

a A Crafty Man; who being perswaded, that God would in due time appear for the Righteous Cause of so good a King, and scarce ever this Cloud which was now upon him, takes this occasion to make way for his future Advancement. b A large Bottle, or Vessel proportionable to the other Provisions.

2 And the king said unto Ziba, What meanest thou by these? And Ziba said, The asses be for the kings household to ride on c, and the bread and summer fruit for the young men to eat, and the wine, that such as be faint in the wilderness may drink.

c For the King, and his Wives and Children were all on Foot; not that he had not, or could not procure Asses for them at Jerusalem; but because he chose it as best becoming that State of Penitence and Humiliation in which they were.

3 And the king said, And where is thy masters son? And Ziba said unto the king, Behold, he abideth at Jerusalem: for he said, To day shall the house of Israel restore me the kingdom of my father d.

d Which though it might seem a very unlikely thing, yet such vain Expectations do often get into the Minds of Men; nor was it impossible, that when David's Family was thus divided, and one part ingaged against another, they might destroy themselves by mutual Wounds; and the People being tired out with Civil Wars, might restore the Kingdom to the Family of Saul their old Master, whereof this was the top-branch. And this was a time of general Defection of many whom the King had greatly obliged, witness Ahitophel. And Mephibosheth's absence made the Calumny more probable.

4 Then said the king to Ziba, Behold, thine are all that pertained unto Mephibosheth e. And Ziba † Heb. I do said, † I humbly beseech thee that I may find grace obeisance. in thy sight, my lord, O King f.

e A rash Sentence, and unrighteous, to condemn a Man unheard, upon the single Testimony of his Accuser, and Servant. But David's Mind was both clouded by the deep sense of his Calamity, and byassed by Ziba's great and seasonable kindness. And he might think, that Ziba would not dare to accuse his Master of so great a Crime, which, if false, might so easily be disproved. f Thy favour is more to me, than this gift; which, as a token of thy favour, I accept with all thankfulness.

5 And when king David came to Bahurim g, behold, thence came out a man of the family of the house of Saul, whose name was Shimei the son of Gera: ‖ he came forth, and cursed still as he came. ‖ Or, he still went forward.

g A City in Benjamin, Chap. 3. 16. and 19. 16. i. e. To the Territory of it. for to the City he came not till v. 14.

6 And he cast stones h at David, and at all the compass. servants of king David: And all the people, and all the mighty men were on his righthand, and on his left i.

h Not so much to hurt them, as to shew his Contempt of them. i Which is noted to shew the Prodigious Madness of the Man: though Rage, (which is truly said to be a short Madness) and the height of Malice hath oft transported Men to the most hazardous and desperate Speeches and Actions.

7 And thus said Shimei when he cursed, Come out k, come out thou † bloody man, and thou man † Heb. men of Belial: of blood.

k Or rather, go out, as the Word properly signifies. Be gone out of thy Kingdom, as thou deservest.

8 The LORD hath returned upon thee all the blood of the house of Saul l, in whose stead thou hast reigned, and the LORD hath delivered the kingdom into the hand of Absalom thy son: and † be- † Heb. lo, hold, thou art taken in thy mischief m, because thou art taken in thy evil. a bloody man.

l Either, 1. The Blood of Abner and Ishbosheth; which he maliciously imputes to David, as if they had been killed by David's Contrivance: especially the former, because David did only give Joab hard Words, as in Policy he was obliged to do; but instead of punishing him, did Reward and Prefer him. Or, 2. The Death of Saul's seven Sons, Chap. 21. 8. which, though related after this, seems to have been done before: Of which, see the Notes on Chap. 15. 7. m The same Mischief thou didst bring upon others, is now returned upon thy own head. Or, Thy Sin hath found thee out, and thou are now receiving the just Punishment of it.

9 Then said Abishai the son of Zeruiah unto the king, Why should this * dead dog curse my lord the * 1 Sam. king? let me go over, I pray thee, and take off his 24. 14. Chap. 3. 8. head.

10 And the king said, What have I to do with you n, ye sons of Zeruiah? so let him curse, because the LORD hath said unto him o, Curse David. Who shall then say p, Wherefore hast thou done i so? Or, Let him.

n To wit, in this Matter I ask not your Advice, nor will I follow it; nor do I desire you should as all concern your selves in it, but wholly leave it to me, to do what I think fit. o Not that God commanded it by his Word; for that severely forbids it, Exod. 22. 28. or moved him to it by his Spirit; for neither was that necessary, nor possible, because God tempteth no man, Jam. 1. 13. but that the secret Providence of God did order and over-rule him in it. God did not put any Wickedness into Shimei's Heart, for he had of himself an heart full of Malignity and Venome against David; but only left him to his own Wickedness, took away that common Prudence which would have kept him from so foolish and dangerous an Action; directed his Malice that it should be exercised against David, rather than another Man; as when God gives up one Traveller into the hands of a Robber, rather than another; inclined him to be at home, and then to come out of his doors at that time when David passed by him; and brought David into so distressed a condition, that he might seem a proper Object of his Scorn and Contempt. And this is ground enough for this Expression, the Lord said, not by the Word of his Precept, but by the Word of his Providence, in respect whereof he is said to command the Ravens, 1 Kings 17. 4. and to send forth his Word and Commandment to senseless Creatures, Psal. 147. 15, 18. p Not unto Shimei, for it was justly said so to him afterwards, 1 Kings 2. 9. but unto the Lord: who shall reproach God's Providence for permitting this? Or, who shall by Words or Actions restrain him from executing God's just Judgment against me?

11 And David said to Abishai, and to all his servants, Behold, my son, which came forth of my bowels, seeketh my life q: how much more now may this Benjamite ‖ do it? let him alone, and let him curse r: for the LORD hath bidden him.

q Which is a greater Mischief, than to Reproach me with Words. ‖ Of that Tribe and Family from which God hath taken away the Kingdom, and given it to me; which was likely to stir up his Rage and Hatred against me. r Do not now hinder him violently from it, nor punish him for it. It is meet I should bear the Indignation of the Lord manifested herein, and submit to his Pleasure, and possess my Soul with Patience; and by bearing these lesser Evils, prepare my self for greater, which are coming towards me.

12 It may be s that the LORD will look on mine ‖ † affliction t, and that the LORD will re- ‖ Or, eye quite me good for his cursing this day. † Heb. seed

s He speaks doubtfully, because he was conscious, that by his Sins he had forfeited all his Claim to God's Promises. t With an Eye of Commiseration

13 And as David and his men went by the way, Shimei went along on the hills side over against him, and

u Not that he could reach, or hurt him with it; but only as an expression of Contempt. And the like is to be thought concerning the Stones, wherewith he could not think to reach David, when he was Encamped with his Men on every side.

14 And the king, and all the people that were with him, came x weary, and refreshed themselves there. rested.

x To the City of Bahurim, v. 5.

15 And Absalom and all the people, the men of Israel, came to Jerusalem, and Ahitophel with them.

16 And it came to pass when Hushai the Archite, Davids friend, was come unto Absalom, that Hushai said unto Absalom, † God save the king y, God save † Heb. Let the king live. the king.

y To wit, Absalom, whom he pretends to own for his King and Liege Lord.

17 And Absalom said to Hushai, Is this thy kindness to thy friend z? why wentest thou not with thy friend?

z Doth this Action answer that Profession of greatest Friendship which thou hast hitherto made to him? Dost thou thus requite his Favour and true Friendship to thee? He speaks thus only to try him. And he saith, thy Friend, by way of Reflection upon David; as one who was a Friend to Hushai, and no Strangers, but not to his own Son, whom, by his Severity and Design to give away his Right to Solomon, he provoked to this Course; and therefore he doth not vouchsafe to call him his Father.

18 And Hushai said unto Absalom, Nay, but whom the LORD, and this people, and all the men of Israel chuse a, his will I be, and with him will I abide.

a Though as a private Person, I owed and payed Friendship to David whilst he was King; yet I must make all my Obligations give place to the Authority of God, who putteth down, and setteth up Kings at his pleasure; and to the common Sence and Decree of the whole Body of the Nation. But Hushai expresseth himself very cautiously; for though he would be thought to understand Absalom, yet in truth this Character did not agree to him, whom neither God, nor all the People had chosen, but only a part, and that the worst part of them.

19 And again, whom should I serve? should I not serve in the presence of his son b? as I have served in thy fathers prefence, so will I be in thy presence.

b Thou art his Son, and Heir, and Successor, and now in his place and stead: whereby my Friendship which was due to him, is devolved upon thee by Right of Inheritance; and I reckon, that my Friendship is not wholly alienated from him, when it is transferred upon one that came out of his Bowels.

20 Then said Absalom to Ahitophel, Give counsel among you what we shall do.

21 And Ahitophel said unto Absalom, Go in unto thy fathers concubines c, which he hath left to keep the house, and all Israel shall hear that thou † art ab- † Heb. hor- horred of thy father d, then shall the hands of all that rifyst was thy are with thee be strong e. father.

c This Counsel he gave, partly to Revenge the Injury done to Bathsheba, who was the Daughter of Eliam, 2 Sam. 11. 3. who was the son of Ahitophel, Chap. 23. 34. and principally for his own, and the People's safety, that the Breach between David and Absalom might be made wide, and irreparable by so Vile an Action, which must needs provoke David in the highest Degree, both for the Sin, and shame of it: as the like Action had done Jacob, Gen. 49. 3, 4. and cut off all hopes of Reconciliation, which otherwise might have been expected by some Treaty between Absalom and his rendernearted Father; in which Case his Followers, and especially Ahitophel himself, had been left to David's Mercy. d And therefore obliged by thy own Interest to prosecute the War with all possible Vigour, and to abandon all thoughts of Peace: as knowing that his Father, though he might dissemble, yet would never forgive so foul and scandalous a Crime. e They will fight with greater Courage and Resolution, when they are freed from the fear of thy Reconciliation, which otherwise would make their Hearts faint, and Hands slack in thy Cause. But by this we may see the Character of Absalom's Party, and how abominably wicked they were, whom such a loathsome and scandalous Action tied the faster to him, whom for that very reason they should have deserted and abhorred. And we may further learn, how corrupt and filthy the Body of the People was, and how ripe for that severe Judgment which is now inflicting to them.

22 So they spread Absalom a tent upon the top of the house f, and Absalom * went in unto his fathers * Chap. concubines g, in the sight of all Israel h. 12. 11.

f To wit, of the King's Palace, the very place from whence David had fled and gazed upon Bathsheba, Chap. 11. 2. So that his Sin was legible in the very place of his Punishment. g i. e. To one, or some of them. And by so doing did further make Claim to the Kingdom as his own; and, as it were, take Possession of it. It being usual in the Eastern Countries to account the Wives and Concubines of the late King, to belong of right to the Successor; See the note on Chap. 12. 8. h Who saw him go into the Tent; and thence concluded, That he lay with them, as he had designed to do.

23 And the counsel of Ahitophel which he counselled in those days, was as if a man had enquired at the † oracle of God i: so was all the † Heb. counsel of Ahitophel, both with David k, and with word. Absalom.

i It was received by the People with equal Authority and Veneration, and was usually attended with as certain Success. Which is mentioned as the reason why a Counsel which had so ill a face, should meet with such general approbation. k To whose Pious Disposition he accommodated himself, as Policy obliged him; but being weary of it, he takes this first occation to discover himself, and execute that Wickedness which before lay in his Heart.

CHAP. XVII.

Hushai, David's Friend, being, by David's Order, gone over to Absalom, by God's appointment, overthroweth Ahitophel's Counsel, 1,——14. Hushai certifieth David thereof, and adviseth him forthwith to march on, 15,——21. David passeth over Jordan, 22. Ahitophel hangeth himself, 23. David cometh to Mahanaim: Absalom passeth over Jordan, making Amasa the Captain of his Host, 24,——26. David is there furnished with Provisions by his Friends, 27,——29.

MOreover, Ahitophel said unto Absalom, Let me now chuse out twelve thousand men, and I will arise and pursue a after David this night:

a I am so well assured of the goodness of this Counsel, that I will venture my own Person and Life in the execution of it.

2 And I will come upon him while he is weary and weak-handed, b and will make him afraid: and all the people that are with him shall flee, and I will smite the king only.

b Tired with a tedious March on Foot, and destitute of Men, and Military Provisions; and disheartned by his own small Numbers, and by the general disaffection of his Subjects.

3 And I will bring back all the people unto thee: the man whom thou seekest is as if all returned c: so all the people shall be in peace.

c i. e. The Death of that Man whom thou seekest to destroy, is no less considerable to thee, than if all the People that follow him should desert him, and return unto thee.

4 And the saying † pleased Absalom well, and all the † Heb. Elders of Israel. was right in the eyes of, &c.

5 Then said Absalom, Call now Hushai the Archite also, and let us hear likewise † what he saith d. † Heb. what is in his mouth.

d A wonderful Effect of Divine Providence, blinding his Mind and influencing his Heart, that he could not rely in Ahitophel's Counsel, though it was so evidently Wise, and Good, and approved by the general consent of his whole Party; and that he should desire Hushai's Advice, though neither his Reputation for Wisdom was equal to Ahitophel's, nor had he yet given any one proof of his Fidelity to Absalom, as Ahitophel had done; nor was he to be fixed by his Interest to him, as Ahitophel was; and though there wanted not just Caufe to suspect him, and his Counsel too. But there is no contending with that God who can Arm a Man against himself, and destroy him by his own Mistakes and Passions, without any other help.

6 And when Hushai was come to Absalom, Absalom spake unto him, saying, Ahitophel hath spoken after this manner: shall we do after his † saying? if † Heb. not, speak thou. Word.

7 And Hushai said unto Absalom, The counsel that Ahithophel hath † given, is not good at this time e. † Heb. counselled.

e Though at other times he generally gives much wise and admirable Counsel; yet, as he is a Man, he seems now to be under a mistake, and not sufficiently to consider all the present Circumstances of this Business.

8 For (said Hushai) thou knowest thy father and his men, that they be mighty men f, and they be † † Heb. bitchafed in their minds, g. as * a bear robbed of her ter of foal. whelps in the field: and thy father is a man of war * Hos. 13. 8. b, and will not lodge with the people.

f Of approved Courage and Strength, therefore not so soon vanquished as Ahitophel supposeth. g Heb. bitter of soul, inflamed with Rage; desperate, and therefore resolved to sell their Lives at a dear rate. h A wise Prince and General; who knowing of what Importance it is to secure his own Person, and that your great Design is against his Life; will doubtless use extraordinary care to keep out of your reach, which he may easily do.

9 Behold, he is hid now in some pit, or in some other place i: and it will come to pass, when some of them k be † overthrown at the first l, that whosoever † Heb. heareth it, will say m, There is a slaughter among fallen. the people that followeth Absalom.

i Having been oft accustomed to that course, and well acquainted with all hiding-places from Saul's time. In one of them, unknown to us, he will lurk with some of his chosen Men, and lie in Ambush for us; and, when they see a fit opportunity, they will suddenly come forth and surprize some of our Men, when they least expect it, and fall upon them with great fury, and probably will at first put them to flight. k To wit, of Absalom's Men sent against David. l Implying, that their good success at first would mightily animate David's Men to proceed vigorously in the fight, and intimidate Absalom's Army, and consequently would be both a presage and an occation of their total defeat. m They who first hear these ill ridings will propagare ir, and ſtrike terror with it into the reſt of the Army.

10 And he alſo that is valiant, whoſe heart is as the heart of a lion, ſhall utterly melt: for all Iſrael knoweth that thy father is a mighty man, and they which be with him are valiant men n.

n The known fame of the prodigious Valour of David and his followers will eaſily gain credit to that report, and ſtrike the ſtouteſt of our Men with dread, even Ahithophel himſelf, if he ſhould go with them.

11 Therefore I counſel, that all Iſrael be generally gathered unto thee o, from Dan even to Beerſheba, as the ſand that is by the ſea for multitude, and † that thou go to battel in thine own perſon p.

† Heb. that I go — o In this pretence way, that they might have a far greater Army, and make more, though ſlow work: his deſign was to gain David time, that he might increaſe his Army, and make better proviſions for the Battel; and that the preſent heat of the People might be cooled, and they might at laſt bethink themſelves of their duty to David, and return to their former Allegiance. p For thy preſence will put more Life and Courage into all thy Soldiers, who will be ambitious to ſhew their utmoſt Skill and Courage in defending thy Perſon and Cauſe, when they know that all their Actions are obſerved by him who hath the diſtribution of Rewards and Puniſhments in his hands. So mayeſt thou alſo give Counſel as occaſion offers, and encourage thy men to kill David, which otherwiſe they may poſſibly be afraid to do. Beſides, the glory of the Victory will be wholly thine, which now Ahithophel ſeeks to get to himſelf.

12 So ſhall we come upon him in ſome place where he ſhall be found, and we will light upon him as the dew falleth on the ground q: and of him, and of all the men that are with him, there ſhall not be left ſo much as one.

q i.e. Piecemeally, ſuddenly, irreſiſtibly, and on all ſides; for ſo the Dew falls.

13 Moreover, if he be gotten into a city, then ſhall all Iſrael bring ropes to that city r, and we will draw it into the river ſ, until there be not one ſmall ſtone found there.

r Not that they ſhould do ſo, or that it was the Cuſtom to do ſo; but it is an Hyperbolical and Threatonical Expreſſion, ſuited to the vain glorious temper of this inſolent young Man; and therefore moſt likely to prevail with him: implying, that they would do ſo if they could not diſcover and deſtroy him another way: or, that they ſhould be enough to do ſo, if there were occaſion. ſ Adjoyning to the City; it being uſual to build Cities near ſome River, both for defence, and for other accommodations.

14 And Abſalom and all the men of Iſrael ſaid t, The counſel of Huſhai the Archite is better than the † Heb. commanded counſel of Ahithophel: for the LORD had † appointed to defeat the good counſel u of Ahithophel, to the intent that the LORD might bring evil upon Abſalom.

t Being infatuated by a Divine Power, and given up to believe Lyes and Miſtakes. u So it was, politically conſidered; being the wiſeſt and moſt effectual courſe to accompliſh Abſalom's end.

15 ¶ Then ſaid Huſhai unto Zadok, and to Abiathar the prieſts, Thus and thus did Ahithophel counſel Abſalom and the elders of Iſrael: and thus and thus have I counſelled.

16 Now therefore ſend quickly, and tell David, ſaying, Lodge not this night in the plains of the wilderneſs x, but ſpeedily paſs over, leſt the king be ſwallowed up, and all the people that are with him.

x Leſt the King's and People's Minds change, and Ahithophel, by his deep wit and great intereſt, perſuade the King to follow his former advice, and to purſue you ſpeedily.

17 Now Jonathan and Ahimaaz ſtayed by Enrogel y: (for they might not be ſeen to come into the city) and a wench z went and told them: and they went and told king David.

y Or, the Fullers well. A place near Jeruſalem, Joſ. 15. 7. and 18. 16. z Pretending to go thither to waſh ſome Cloaths.

18 Nevertheleſs, a lad ſaw them a, and told Abſalom, but they went both of them away quickly b, and came to a mans houſe in Bahurim, which had a well in his court, whither they went down c.

a Who knew them to be favourers of David, and obſerved them to wait there upon deſign, and to gain intelligence, and poſſibly ſaw the Wench ſpeaking privately to them. b Suſpecting by this Lads obſervation and Carriage, that they were diſcovered. c Either to ſome hole in the ſide of the Pit: or, to the bottom of the Pit, if being then dry, as Pits often were in thoſe hot Countries. And this being in ſo open a place, they concluded none would imagine them to be hid there. And beſides, they relied upon God's good Providence, which they knew watched over David, and them for his ſake.

19 And the woman took and ſpread a covering over the wells mouth, and ſpread ground corn thereon ∴, and the thing was not known.

∴ Under pretence of drying it by the Sun: which ſhews it was Summer-time.

20 And when Abſalums ſervants came to the woman to the houſe, they ſaid, Where is Ahimaaz and Jonathan? And the woman ſaid unto them, They be gone over the brook of water d. And when they had ſought, and could not find them, they returned to Jeruſalem.

d i.e. Over Jordan. This was a manifeſt Lye; but becauſe it was ſpoken for no hurt, but good only, many Perſons in thoſe times conceived ſuch Lyes to be lawful. Compare Exod. 1. 19. Joſ. 2. 4, 5. But although God was pleaſed to overlook and pardon the ſin, and graciouſly to reward the good intention which accompanied them; yet it is certain that all kinds of Lyes are moral Evils, and condemned by plain Scriptures, and that we muſt not do evil that good may come, nor tell a lye for Gods glory, Rom. 3. 7, 8.

21 And it came to paſs, after they were departed, that they came up out of the well, and went and told king David, and ſaid unto David, Ariſe, and paſs quickly over the water: for thus hath Ahithophel counſelled againſt you.

22 Then David aroſe, and all the people that were with him, and they paſſed over Jordan e: by the morning-light, there lacked not one of them that was not gone over Jordan.

e Either at the Ford, or in Boats.

23 ¶ And when Ahithophel ſaw that his counſel was not † followed, he ſadled his aſſe, and aroſe, and † Heb. gave gate him home to his houſe, to his city, and † put his houſhold in order f, and hanged himſelf g, and † Heb. gathering died, and was buried in the ſepulchre of his father. examin.

f Diſpoſed of his Eſtate by Will. Compare Iſa. 38. 1. g Partly, for fear leſt becauſe he could not indure to outlive his diſgrace, and the rejection of his Counſel: and partly, becauſe he foreſaw by this means David would gain time and ſtrength, and in all probability be Victorious, and then the ſtorm would fall moſt heavily upon his head, as the main Author and Pillar of the Rebellion, and the contriver of thoſe two pernicious Counſels above-mentioned.

24 Then David came to Mahanaim h: and Abſalom paſſed over Jordan i, and all the men of Iſrael with him.

h A place in the Country of Gilead, bordering upon the Land of the Ammonites, v. 27. See Gen. 32. 2. and 2 Sam. 2. 8. i Not ſpeedily, but when all the men of Iſrael were gathered together according to Joſhua's Counſel, who are ſaid to be with him here, as it follows.

25 ¶ And Abſalom made Amaſa captain of the hoſt inſtead of Joab: which Amaſa was a mans ſon whoſe name was Ithra, an Iſraelite k, that went in to Abigail l the daughter of Nahaſh m, ſiſter to Zeruiah, Joabs mother.

k Obſ. He was an Iſhmaelite, 1 Chron 2. 17. Aſſ. Not Amaſa; but Ithra, or Jether, Amaſa's Father, is there ſo called, becauſe he was ſuch, either by his Birth from ſuch Parents, or by his long habitation among them, or for ſome other reaſon now unknown. Compare 2 Sam. 15. 18. And Amaſa is here called an Iſraelite, either, becauſe he was a Proſelyte: or, in oppoſition to Joab, who was of the Tribe of Judah, as Amaſa was of one of the ten Tribes: or rather, to intimate, that although he or his Parents were called Iſhmaelites for ſome reaſon, yet as to their extraction they were indeed Iſraelites. Which if Amaſa had not been, it is not probable that he could have had ſo powerful an influence upon the Tribe of Judah, as he had, chap. 19. 14. l i.e. Lay with her, whether being firſt Married to her, or not, is uncertain. m Nahaſh is either another name of Jeſſe: or rather, the name of Jeſſe's Wife, by whom he had this Abigail, as he had Zeruiah by another Wife; ſo they were ſiſters by the Father, but not by the Mother; and Nahaſh is here named to ſignifie ſo much.

26 So Iſrael and Abſalom pitched in the land of Gilead.

27 ¶ And it came to paſs when David was come to Nahanaim, that Shobi the ſon of Nahaſh of Rabbah of the children of Ammon n, and * Machir the ſon of Ammiel of Lodebar o, and * Barzillai the Gileadite, of Rogelim,

* Chap. 19. 31. 1 Kings 2. 7.

n Who, as it may ſeem, diſliked and diſowned that barbarous action to the Embaſſadors; and therefore, when the reſt were deſtroyed, was left King or Governour of the reſidue of the Ammonites. o See above chap. 9. 4.

28 Brought beds, and ‖ baſins p, and earthen veſſels, and wheat, and barley, and flour, and parched corn, and beans, and lentiles, and parched pulſe. ‖ Or, cups

p i.e. All ſorts of houſhold-ſtuff, as well as other proviſions, all which David now wanted.

29 And honey, and butter, and ſheep, and cheeſe of kine for David, and for the people that were with him, to eat: for they ſaid, The people is hungry, and weary, and thirſty in the wilderneſs q.

q i.e. Having been in the wilderneſs. Which is an eaſie and common Ellipſis. Or, becauſe of (to the Hebrew Particle beth is oft uſed) the Wilderneſs, which they have paſſed thorough, in which Proviſions are very ſcarce.

CHAP. XVIII.

David viewing the Armies in their March, giveth them charge of Abſalom, 1,——5. whoſe Men are ſmitten: He hanging by his Hair on an Oak is ſlain by Joab, and caſt into a Pit: His Pillar and Monument, 6,——18. David hearing hereof, 19,——32. Mourneth for Abſalom, 33.

AND David numbred the people that were with him a, and ſet captains of thouſands, and captains of hundreds over them.

a Which flocked to him thicker, ſo as to make up a ſmall Army.

2 And David ſent forth a third part of the people under the hand of Joab b, and a third part under the hand of Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah Joabs brother, and a third part under the hand of Ittai the Gittite: and the king ſaid unto the people, I will ſurely go forth with you my ſelf alſo c.

b To wit, for his eſpecial conduct and management in the Battel: otherwiſe Joab was the General of all the Forces; nor had David yet taken away that Power from him, nor was this a time to do it. But ſuch diſtributions of Forces are uſual in Battels. c That by my preſence I may put life and courage into my Soldiers; and becauſe it is fit I ſhould run the ſame hazards with you, which you do for my ſake.

3 But * the people anſwered, Thou ſhalt not go forth d: for if we flee away, they will not † care for us; neither if half of us die, will they care for us: but now thou art † worth ten thouſand of us e: therefore now it is better that thou † ſuccour us out of the city f.

d For this was Abſalom's great error, into which he was drawn by a Divine infatuation, and by Hushai's craft to go to Battel in his own Perſon, which was the utter ruin of him and of his Cauſe. e Not only for the Dignity of thy Perſon, but alſo for the importance of our common cauſe and concern, which, if thou are ſlain, is irrecoverably loſt. f By ſending us Supplies of Men, and Proviſions of all ſorts, as we have occaſion; and by ſecuring our retreat, if we be defeated. Or thus: not go along to the Battel with us, but only go out with us, or accompany us out of the City (to encourage the Company) and then retire for thy own ſafety. And ſo it ſeems by the next Verſe.

4 And the king ſaid unto them, What ſeemeth you beſt, I will do. And the king ſtood by the gate-ſide g, and all the people came out by hundreds, and by thouſands.

g i.e. Between the two Gates of the City, as it is expreſſed below, v. 24.

5 ¶ And the king commanded Joab, and Abiſhai, and Ittai, ſaying, Deal gently for my ſake with the young man, even with Abſalom h. And all the people i heard when the king gave all the captains charge concerning Abſalom.

h If you Conquer (which he preſaged they would by God's gracious Anſwer to his Prayer for the turning of Ahithophel's Counſel into fooliſhneſs), take him Priſoner, but do not kill him. Which deſire proceeded, partly, from his great Indulgence towards his Children: partly, from David's Conſciouſneſs that he himſelf was the meritorious and procuring cauſe of this Rebellion, Abſalom being given up to it for the puniſhment of David's ſins; and therefore did indeed deſerve ſome pity from him: partly, from the conſideration of his Youth, which commonly makes Men fooliſh, and heady, and violent, and ſubject to ill Counſels: And partly, from his Piety, being loth that he ſhould be cut off in the act of his ſin without any ſpace, or means for repentance, wherein both his Soul and Body would be in danger to periſh for ever. i To wit, the Citizens and others who ſtood with the King in the Gate when the Army marched forth.

6 ¶ So the people went out into the field againſt Iſrael: and the battel was in the wood of Ephraim k.

k So called, not from its ſituation in the Tribe of Ephraim, which was on the other ſide Jordan, as is evident; but from ſome memorable action or occurrent of the Ephraimites beyond Jordan; whether it was their killing of Oreb and Zeeb there, Judg. 7. 25. and 8. 3. or, their ſlaughter by Jephthah, Judg. 12. 5, 6. or, ſome other not mentioned in Sacred Scripture.

7 Where the people of Iſrael l were ſlain before the ſervants of David, and there was there a great ſlaughter that day of twenty thouſand men.

l i.e. The Soldiers of Abſalom; ſo called, partly, to note that all Iſrael (ſome few excepted) were engaged in this Rebellion, which made David's deliverance more glorious and remarkable: and partly, in oppoſition to David's Men, who, as to the main Body, or moſt conſiderable part, were of the Tribe of Judah, or had followed him from Judah.

8 For the battel was there ſcattered m over the face of all the country: and the * wood † devoured more people n that day than the ſword devoured o.

* Chap. 19. 9. † Heb. devoured.

m i.e. The Warriers being beaten in the fight, fled and were diſperſed: the abſtract being put for the concrete, as poverty is put for poor men, 2 Kings 24. 14. and deceit for the deceiver, and dreams for dreamers, Prov. 12. 24. and 13. 6. n i.e. More People died in the Wood, either through hunger, and thirſt, and wearineſs: or, by the wild Beaſts, whereof great numbers were there, which, though they were driven away by noiſe and clamour from the place of the main Battel, yet might eaſily meet with them when they fled ſeveral ways, which alſo might be directed and ſent to them by God's Providence, and juſt Judgment to puniſh them for their Rebellion: or, by falling into Ditches and Pits, which were in that place, v. 17. and probably were covered with Graſs or Wood, as they could not ſee them till they fell into them: or, by being hanged in Trees, as Abſalom was, v. 9. and eſpecially by David's Men, who purſued them, and killed them in the Wood: and the Wood is rightly ſaid to have devoured them, becauſe it gave the occaſion to their deſtruction, inaſmuch as the Trees, and Ditches, and Pits, entangled them, and ſtopped their flight, and made them an eaſie prey to David's Men, who followed them, and ſlew them in the purſuit, being therein directed and aſſiſted by the People of that Country, who, after the manner, fell in with the victorious ſide, o To wit, in the main Battel: the Sword being put for the Battel, by a common Metonymy.

9 ¶ And Abſalom met the ſervants of David p; and Abſalom rode upon a mule, and the mule went under the thick boughs of a great oak, and his head caught hold of the oak q, and he was taken up between the heaven and the earth, and the mule that was under him went away r.

p Who, according to David's Command, ſpared him, and gave him an opportunity to eſcape. q In which probably he was entangled by the hair of the head, which being very long and thick, might eaſily catch hold of a Bough, eſpecially when the great God directed it. Either he wore no Helmet, or his Helmet was ſuch as left much of his Hair viſible; or he had thrown away his Helmet as well as his other Arms, to haſten his flight, or becauſe of the heat of the ſeaſon. Thus the manner of his Pride was the inſtrument of his Ruine, as alſo Aſahel's ſwiftneſs, chap. 2. 18. and Ahithophel's Policy, chap. 17. 23. were the occaſions of their deſtruction. r Which might eaſily happen, becauſe being in flight the Mule paſſed along very ſwiftly.

10 And a certain man ſaw it, and told Joab, and ſaid, Behold, I ſaw Abſalom hanged in an oak.

11 And Joab ſaid unto the man that told him, And behold, thou ſaweſt him, and why didſt thou not ſmite him there to the ground ſ, and I would have given thee ten ſhekels of ſilver, and a girdle t?

ſ Why didſt thou not ſmite him down from the Oak, and with thy Spear nail him to the ground? t A Military Belt of more than ordinary price, as a teſtimony of thy Valour and good Service. See on 1 Sam. 18. 4.

12 And the man ſaid unto Joab, Though I ſhould † receive a thouſand ſhekels of ſilver in mine hand, yet would not I put forth mine hand againſt the king's ſon: for in our hearing the king charged thee, and Abiſhai, and Ittai, ſaying, † Beware that none touch the young man ∴ Abſalom.

∴ Or, take heed what (for ſo the Hebrew Pronoun mi, is ſometimes uſed, as Judg. 13. 17.) ye do with the young man. He expreſſeth David's ſenſe, though not his words.

13 Otherwiſe I ſhould have wrought falſhood againſt mine own life t: for there is no matter hid from the king u, and thou thy ſelf wouldeſt have ſet thy ſelf againſt me x.

t Either, Firſt, I ſhould have been guilty of falſe and perfidious dealing againſt the King's expreſs Injunction, and that with the moſt hazard of my own Life. Or, Secondly, I ſhould have betray'd my own Life. I ſhould not only have deceived my ſelf with falſe hopes, either of concealing my Fact from the King, or of obtaining a Reward, yea, or a Pardon, from him or thee for it, but alſo have deſtroyed my ſelf thereby, and laid a plot againſt my own Life. u This, as all other things, would certainly come to the King's ear. x Thou wouldſt have been my Adverſary and Accuſer; partly, becauſe it was thy duty to be ſo; and partly, to vindicate thy ſelf by caſting the blame upon another Or, thou wouldſt have ſtood afar off, as this Phraſe is uſed, Pſal. 38. 11. Thou wouldſt not have ſtood to me to intercede for my Life or Reward, but wouldſt keep at a diſtance from me.

14 Then ſaid Joab, I may not tarry thus † with thee y. And he took three darts in his hand, and thruſt them through the heart z of Abſalom, while he was yet alive a in the † midſt of the oak.

y I muſt not loſe time in contending with thee till I ſee the occaſion ſlip. z Not properly ſo called, for he was yet alive after theſe wounds, and was ſlain, v. 15. but through his middle, as the word heart is oft uſed, as Pſal. 45. 2. and that too, not exactly, but more largely underſtood, as Deut. 4. 11. Ezek. 27. 4. Matth. 12. 40. or through his Body: which might be, and yet the wounds not mortal. a Or, yet he continued alive, i.e. the Darts did not diſpatch him, and therefore they ſmite him again, and kill him, v. 15.

15 And ten young men that bare Joabs armour, compaſſed about, and ſmote Abſalom, and ſlew him b.

b Judging that there could be no ſafety to the king, nor peace to the Kingdom, nor ſecurity to himſelf, and all David's Friends, and Loyal Subjects, and good Men, if Abſalom had lived, as may ſeem probable from chap. 19. 10. and yet perceiving that the King's heart was reconcilable to Abſalom, notwithſtanding his abominable Crimes of lying with his Father's Concubines, and of horrid and unnatural Rebellion; both which were capital Crimes by the Law of God; he adventured to ſave David's Life againſt his Will. But whether Joab did well in this, all things conſidered I ſhall not here determine.

16 And Joab blew the trumpet, and the people returned from purſuing after Iſrael: for Joab held back the people c.

c Who otherwiſe were highly incenſed againſt the Rebels, and holy purſued them. But, the head of the Rebellion being cut off, and the danger thereby paſt, he puts a ſtop to the effuſion of Iſraelitiſh blood.

17 And they took Abſalom, and caſt him into a great pit in the wood, and laid a very great heap of ſtones upon him d: and all Iſrael fled every one to his tent e.

d As a laſting monument of Abſalom's ſin and ſhame, and of the Righteous Judgment of God upon him. Compare Joſ. 7. 26. and 8. 29. and 10. 27. He was firſt hanged, after a ſort, which was an accurſed death, Deut. 21. 23. and then thruſt through with Darts and Swords; and, after all, in a manner ſtoned, which was the proper puniſhment of a Rebellious Son, Deut. 21. 21. e To their houſes and dwellings, to avoid the ſhame and puniſhment of their Rebellion.

18 ¶ Now Abſalom in his life time had taken and reared up for himſelf a pillar f, which is in * the kings dale g: for he ſaid, I have no ſon to keep my name in remembrance h: and he called the pillar after his own name, and it is called unto this day, Abſaloms place i.

* Gen. 14. 17.

f To preſerve his name in memory; whereas it had been more for his honour if his name had been buried in perpetual oblivion! But this was the effect of his pride and vain-glory. g A place near Jeruſalem ſo called. Geneſis 14. 17. h Obſerv. He had three Sons, Chap. 14. 27. And. Either they were all now dead; or, if one of them was left alive, he thought him unfit and unworthy to keep up his name and honour; or, he erected this Pillar before his Sons were born. But the firſt opinion ſeems moſt probable; and it was a remarkable Judgement of God, that he who ſtruck at his Father's life, ſhould be puniſhed with the death of all his Sons. i Heb. Abſalom's hand, i. e. his work, made, though not by his hand, yet for him and his glory, and by his procurement.

19 ¶ Then ſaid Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok, Let me now run, and bear the king tidings, how that the LORD hath † avenged himſelf of his enemies.

20 And Joab ſaid unto him, Thou ſhalt not † bear tidings this day, but thou ſhalt bear tidings another day: but this day thou ſhalt bear no tidings, becauſe the kings ſon is dead k.

k And thou ſhalt not be a Meſſenger of Evil tidings, which will be unwelcome to him, and proſecuted to thee.

21 Then ſaid Joab to Cuſhi l, Go tell the king what thou haſt ſeen. And Cuſhi bowed himſelf unto Joab, and ran.

l Or, to an Ethiopian; ſo he might be by birth, and yet by profeſſion an Iſraelite.

22 Then ſaid Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok yet again to Joab, But † howſoever, let me, I pray thee, alſo run after Cuſhi. And Joab ſaid, Wherefore will thou run, my ſon m, ſeeing that thou haſt no tidings ‖ ready?

‖ Or, convenient or, ſufficient, Numb. 11. 22.

m So he calls him with reſpect both to his younger years, and to that true and tender affection which he had for him.

23 But howſoever (ſaid he) let me run. And he ſaid unto him, Run. Then Ahimaaz ran by the way of the plain n, and over-ran Cuſhi.

n Which was the ſmoother and eaſier, though the longer way.

24 And David ſate between the two gates o: and the watchmen went up to the roof over the gate unto the wall p, and lift up his eyes, and looked, and behold, a man running alone.

o For the Gates of the Cities then were, as now they are large and thick; and for the greater ſecurity, had two Gates, one more outward, the other inward. Here he ſate, that he might hear tidings when any came into the City. p Unto the top of the Wall or Tower upon the Gate, where watchmen uſed to watch. Compare 2 Kings 9. 17. Ezek. 33. 2.

25 And the watchmen cried, and told the king. And the king ſaid, If he be alone there is tidings in his mouth q. And he came apace, and drew near.

q He is ſent with ſome ſpecial Meſſage: which was a very probable conjecture: for if he had run or fled from the Enemy, many others would have followed him.

26 And the watchman ſaw another man running, and the watchman called unto the porter, and ſaid, Behold, another man running alone. And the king ſaid, He alſo bringeth tidings.

27 And the watchman ſaid, † Methinketh the running of the foremoſt, is like the running of Ahimaaz the ſon of Zadok. And the king ſaid, He is a good man, and cometh with good tidings r.

r He loves me well, and therefore would not afflict me with Evil tidings.

28 And Ahimaaz called and ſaid unto the king, ‖ † All is well. And he fell down to the earth upon his face before the king, and ſaid, Bleſſed be the LORD thy God, which hath † delivered up ſ the † Heb. men that lift up their hand againſt my lord the king.

ſ Into thy hand and power; or, to deſtruction. Compare 1 Sam. 24. 19. and 26. 8.

29 And the king ſaid, † Is the young man Abſalom ſafe? And Ahimaaz anſwered, When Joab ſent † Heb. is it well. the kings ſervant s, and me thy ſervant, I ſaw a great tumult, but I knew not what it was t.

s Cuſhi. t He ſeems to tell an untruth, as is evident from v. 20. becauſe he now plainly perceived what Joab foretold him, that ſuch tidings would be very unwelcome to David. But he made a bad choice, to offend God with a lye, rather than to diſpleaſe the King with a truth. Yet thus far it might be true; that though he had reaſon to think Abſalom was dead, yet was not able to give account of the particulars which concerned it, wherewith Cuſhi was inſtructed.

30 And the king ſaid unto him, Turn aſide, and ſtand here. And he turned aſide, and ſtood ſtill.

31 And behold, Cuſhi came, and Cuſhi ſaid, † Tidings my lord the king: for the LORD hath † Heb. judged this day of all them that roſe up againſt thee. thee to him.

32 And the king ſaid unto Cuſhi, Is the young man Abſalom ſafe? And Cuſhi anſwered, The enemies of my lord the king, and all that riſe up againſt thee to do thee hurt, be as that young man is u.

u May they periſh and be cut off, as he is.

33 ¶ And the king was much moved, and went up to the chamber over the gate x, and wept: and as he went, thus he ſaid, O my ſon Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon Abſalom: would God I had died for thee, O Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon y.

x Retiring himſelf from all Men and Buſineſs, that he might wholly give up himſelf to lamentation. y This he might ſpeak from a deep ſenſe of his Eternal State, becauſe he died in his ſin, without the leaſt reſtimony of repentance, and becauſe David himſelf had by his own ſins been the unhappy inſtrument and occaſion of his Sons death.

CHAP. XIX.

Joab by hard words moveth the King to ceaſe his mourning, and ſhew himſelf to the People, 1,—8. The King is brought back by the men of Judah: And Amaſa put in Joab's place, 9,—15. Shimei ſues for mercy, and obtaineth it, 16,—23. Mephibaſheth meeting the King, recovers half his Eſtate, 24,—30. Barzillai is diſmiſſed: Chimham his Son is taken into the King's Family, 31,—40. The Iſraelites expoſtulate with Judah for bringing home the King without them, 41,—43.

AND it was told Joab a, Behold, the king weepeth and mourneth for Abſalom.

a By his Meſſengers, upon their return.

2 And the † victory that day was turned into mourning, unto all the people: for the people heard † Heb. is turned. ſay that day, how the king was grieved for his ſon.

3 And the people gat them by ſtealth that day into the city b, as people being aſhamed ſteal away when they flee in battel.

b Not openly, and orderly, and triumphantly, as Conquerors uſe to do; but ſecretly, and diſorderly, and ſtunder, as if they were afraid and aſhamed, leſt David ſhould ſee them, and look upon them with an evil eye, as thoſe that had an hand in the killing of his dearly beloved Son.

4 But the king covered his face c, and the king cried with a loud voice, O my ſon Abſalom, O Abſalom, my ſon, my ſon.

c As a deep Mourner, as one that deſired neither to ſee, nor to be ſeen by any others.

5 And Joab came into the houſe d to the king, and ſaid, Thou haſt ſhamed this day the faces of all thy ſervants e, which this day have ſaved thy life, and the lives of thy ſons, and of thy daughters, and the lives of thy wives, and the lives of thy concubines f, d Either the Gate-houſe: or, this now dwelling-houſe in the City to which he was retired, that he might more freely indulge himſelf in the expreſſions of his Grief. e By diſappointing their juſt hopes of Praiſes and Rewards, and by requiring them with Contempt and facit Rebukes. f All which Abſalom ſtruck at, and had ſooner or later actually taken away, if he had not been cut off in ſuch a manner, without expecting thy knowledge or conſent: and therefore thy carriage towards them that have ſaved the lives of thee and thine, with the utmoſt hazard of their own, is highly unjuſt and ungrateful.

6 † In that thou loveſt thine enemies, and hateſt thy friends; for thou haſt declared this day, † that thou regardeſt neither princes, nor ſervants: for this day I perceive, that if Abſalom had lived, and all we had died this day, then it had pleaſed thee well g.

g This is not to be underſtood as exactly true in the rigour of it; but only comparitively and hyperbolically ſpoken. For David deſired their preſervation and Abſalom's too: but it muſt be conſidered, that Joab was now in an high tranſport of Paſſion, which might eaſily hurry him into indecent expreſſions; and that David's carriage gave too much colour to ſuch a ſuggeſtion; and that ſuch ſharpneſs of ſpeech was in a manner neceſſary to awaken the King out of his Lethargy, and to preſerve him from the impendent Miſchiefs.

7 Now therefore ariſe, go forth, and ſpeak † comfortably unto thy ſervants: for I ſwear by the LORD h, if thou go not forth i, there will not tarry one with thee this night k, and that will be worſe unto thee than all the evil that befel thee from thy youth until now.

h This Oath was either aſſertory of what he believed might in reaſon be expected, as likely in great meaſure to come to paſs; or elſe promiſſory; or rather, minatory of what he by his influence could and would effect; and if ſo, it was much more than became him to ſay to his Sovereign; and could only be excuſed by the circumſtances which at this time might make it ſeem neceſſary: For David was indeed to blame in taking no more notice of their good ſervice (however Joab might be faulty alſo in diſobeying the Kings expreſs Command as to Abſalom's Perſon); and great reaſon there was that David, as Joab did now adviſe, ſhould ſhew himſelf leſs diſpleaſed to the People, who had expoſed their Lives to preſerve him and his. i To the Gate, to ſhew thy ſelf to thy People, and kindly and thankfully to acknowledge the good ſervice that they have now done thee. k The hearts of all thy People will forthwith be irrecoverably alienated from thee, and they will look out for ſome other Perſon on whom they may fee the Crown.

8 Then the king roſe, and ſate in the gate l: and they told unto all the people, ſaying, Behold, the king doth ſit in the gate: and all the people came before the king m: for Iſrael had fled every man to his tent.

l He was come forth out of his retirement, and appeared in public, on the Seat of Judgment, at the Gate of the City, to receive the Addreſſes of his People, and mind the Affairs of the Kingdom. m To congratulate him for the Victory, and to profeſs their ſubjection to him. So Joab's Speech, though very ſevere and preſumptuous, was, it ſeems, a word in ſeaſon, and had that good effect which he deſigned.

9 ¶ And all the people were at ſtrife n throughout all the tribes of Iſrael, ſaying o, The king ſaved us out the hand of our enemies, and he delivered us out of the hand of the Philiſtines, and now he is fled out of the land for Abſalom p.

n Quarrelling one with another as the Authors or Abettors of this ſhameful and curſed Rebellion. o Diſcourſing privately and publickly of David's high Merits, which God, being now reconciled to David, brings afreſh to their Memories, and reneweth the ſenſe of their obligations to their King, which they had lately ſhaken off. Thus the Crowns of Kings ſit faſter or looſer upon their heads, as God is pleaſed to diſpoſe of the Thoughts and Hearts of their People, which he can turn in an inſtant which way he will. p Now we come to reflect upon our own Actions, we are ſenſible of our baſe and unworthineſs in adhering to Abſalom, and thereby forcing David to fly out of the Land of Canaan, to the parts beyond Jordan for his ſecurity.

10 And Abſalom whom we anointed q over us, is dead in battel r: now therefore why † ſpeak ye not a word ſ of bringing the king back?

q i. e. Cauſed to be Anointed by Zadok, or Abiathar, or ſome other of the Prieſts, whom they perſuaded or conſtrained to do this office; for this being a Sacred Ceremony, of a great Reputation, and a likely means to gain the more authority and veneration from the People to Abſalom, as one whom God by his Vicegerent had conſtituted and ſet up; and this being uſual upon all tranſlations of the Government from one Perſon to another in an extraordinary way, as this confeſſedly was, it is not likely that they would now omit it: though otherwiſe Anointing is frequently put for deſigning or conſtituting. r And therefore we have no obligation to him, and no hope of any thing from him. ſ The People of Iſrael ſpeak thus to the Elders of Iſrael, as appears by comparing this Verſe with the next. Seeing their deſigns for Abſalom diſappointed, they now repented of that undertaking, and were willing to eſſay ſo much by their forwardneſs to bring back David, and re-eſtabliſh him.

11 ¶ And king David ſent to Zadok, and to Abiathar the prieſts, ſaying, Speak unto the elders of Judah t, ſaying, Why are ye the laſt to bring the king back to his houſe u? (ſeeing the ſpeech of all Iſrael is come to the king, even to his houſe x).

t Who being the firſt and chief Abettors of Abſalom's Rebellion, deſpaired of ever obtaining the King's Grace and Pardon, and therefore were backward to promote the King's Reſtauration. u To his Royal Palace at Jeruſalem. x i. e. Even to Mahanaim, where now the King's Houſe and Family is. Thus ſometimes one word is taken in divers ſenſes in the ſame Verſe, as Matth. 8. 22. Or rather thus: About bringing the King back to his houſe: For, Firſt, Thoſe words are very fitly and eaſily underſtood here, out of the foregoing member of the Verſe; ſuch defects being uſual in the Hebrew, which is a very conciſe or ſhort Language. So it is Exod. 22. 15. and Deut. 1. 4, &c. Secondly, It ſeems moſt reaſonable to underſtand the ſame Phraſe, to his houſe, being twice here uſed in the ſame ſence in both places, to wit, of his Houſe in Jeruſalem: and this is moſt agreeable to rule, and to Scripture uſage. Thirdly, Thus the words have more Emphaſis than the other way: For if the Speech came to the King at Mahanaim, it manifeſts not whether it found him in his Houſe there, or in the Gate-houſe, or in the Field. Fourthly, David had no Houſe in Jeruſalem, which could properly be called his houſe; as he had in Mahanaim, which could properly be called his houſe; as he had in Jeruſalem. And then the Parenthеſis ſhould cloſe before thoſe laſt words, even to his houſe, or even to his own houſe, to wit, that at Jeruſalem.

12 Ye are my brethren, ye are my bones and my fleſh y: wherefore then are ye the laſt to bring back the king z?

y Of the ſame Tribe, and ſome of you of the ſame Family with my ſelf; and therefore if I ſhould revenge my ſelf of you, (which perhaps you may fear I will do when I have fully regained my power,) I ſhould but tear my own Fleſh in pieces, and hate my own Body, which Nature and Intereſt obliged every Man to preſerve. z This delay doth not ſuit with the relation you have, and the affection you owe to me.

13 And ſay ye to Amaſa a, Art thou not of my bone, and of my fleſh b? God do ſo to me, and more alſo, if thou be not captain of the hoſt before me continually, in the room of Joab d.

a Abſalom's late General; who judging his caſe, above all others, deſperate, might be ready to uſe all his Intereſt with that Tribe, to delay or hinder the King's return. b i. e. My near Kinſman, my Nephew. See 1 Chron. 2. 16, 17. c i. e. In my preſence, or preferſion of it. d Who, beſides his other Crimes, had lately exaſperated the King by his wilful Murther of Abſalom, contrary to David's expreſs Command; and by his inſolent Carriage towards him. And therefore the King having now the opportunity of another Perſon who had a greater Intereſt both in Judah and Iſrael than Joab, he gladly complies with it, that ſo he might both chaſtiſe Joab for his faults, and releaſe himſelf from the Bondage in which Joab had hitherto held him. Yet it is not neceſſary, from theſe words in the room of Joab, to conclude that Joab was to be diſplaced to make room for Amaſa; but that he might be in like condition with Joab: But, what befalls him in the next Chapter, makes very probable that he was indeed diſplaced, and Amaſa put in his place.

14 And he c bowed the heart of all the men of Judah, * even as the heart of one man, ſo that they ſent † Heb. this word unto the king, Return thou and all thy ſervants.

c Either, Firſt, Amaſa by his great influence upon them. Or, rather, Secondly, David by the prudent and kind Meſſage, and his free offer of pardon and favour to them, as if they had never offended.

15 So the king returned, and came to Jordan: and Judah came to Gilgal, to go to meet the king, to conduct the king over Jordan f.

f To attend upon the King in his paſſage over Jordan, and to furniſh him with conveniencies for his paſſage and journey. See below, ver. 41, 42.

16 ¶ And * Shimei, the ſon of Gera, a Benjamite, * Chap. 16. 5. which was of Bahurim, haſted and came down with the men of Judah, to meet king David. † Kin. 2. 8.

17 And there were a thouſand men of Benjamin with him g, and * Ziba the ſervant of the houſe * Chap. 9. 2. of Saul h, and his fifteen ſons, and his twenty ſervants with him, and they went over Jordan before the king i.

g Whom he brought, partly to ſhew his power and intereſt in the People, whereby he was able to do David either great ſervice, or great diſſervice: and partly, as Interceſſors on his behalf, and as witneſſes of David's clemency or feverity, that in him they might ſee what the reſt of them might expect. h Who, being conſcious of his former guilt of David, and of his Maſter Mephibaſheth, which he knew the King would underſtand, delighted to incenſe David's Spirit towards him, by his great officiouſneſs and forwardneſs in meeting him, and congratulating his return. i They did not tarry on this ſide Jordan waiting till the King came over, as the moſt of the men of Judah did; but went over Jordan to pay their reſpects and duty to the King there, to expreſs their eager and impatient deſire to ſee the King.

18 And there went over a ferry-boat k to carry over the kings houſhold, and to do † what he thought good: † Heb. the good in his eyes. and Shimei the ſon of Gera fell down before the king, as he was come over Jordan l;

k Made by the men of Judah for the King's proper uſe; beſides which there were doubtleſs many Boats ready for the uſe of others. l Or rather, as he was paſſing, or about to paſs over Jordan; but this was between Jordan for as he went over Jordan to the King, v. 17. ſo doubtleſs he fell down before him at his firſt coming into his preſence there.

19 And ſaid unto the king, Let not my lord impute iniquity unto me, neither do thou remember * Chap. that which thy ſervant did perverſly the day that my lord the king went out of Jeruſalem, that the king ſhould take it to his heart m.

m i. e. Be affected with it, or exerciſed to revenge it.

20 For thy ſervant doth know that I have ſinned: therefore behold, I am come the firſt * this day of all the houſe of Joſeph n, to go down to meet my lord the king.

n I do not excuſe my Sin, but with grief and ſhame confeſs it; in which caſe the Lord thy God is ready to pardon Offenders, and ſo I truſt wilt thou be. * The ſenſe of my former Guilt, and of my Duty, and whilſt I live will make me the firſt and moſt forward in all Acts of Duty and Service to thy Majeſty. Obſerv. He was a Benjamite, Chap. 16. 5. How then doth he make himſelf one of the houſe house of Joseph? Answ. The house of Joseph is here put, either, 1. For the Ten Tribes, which are oft distinguished from Judah, and then they are called the house of Joseph; as Zech. 10. 6. But this distinction was not made before the division of the People into two Kingdoms: And even after that Division, Benjamin was constantly reckoned with Judah, and not with Joseph or Ephraim. Or, 2. For all the Tribes of Israel, who are all called the children of Joseph, Psal. 77. 15. Compare Psal. 80. 1. and 81. 5. as well they might, not only because of Joseph's Eminency, (the most Eminent Person and Things being oft put for the rest of the kind) and because the rights of Primogeniture were in a great part devolved upon him, 1 Chron. 5. 1. but also because Joseph had been as a Father to them, and had nourished them all like Children; as is expressed in the Hebrew Text, Gen. 47. 12. But in this sence this was not true, for the House of Judah came before him, ver. 11. Or rather, 3. For all the Tribes, except Judah, which are conveniently called the house of Joseph, for the reasons now mentioned, and are flily distinguished from Judah, because the Rights of the First-born were divided between Judah and Joseph, 1 Chron. 5. 2. And though Benjamin, after the Division of the Kingdoms was fitly joyned with Judah, because then they adhered to that Tribe; yet before that time it was more conveniently joyned with Joseph, because they marched under the Standard of the House of Joseph, or of Ephraim, Numb. 10. 22, 23, 24. Whence it is, that Ephraim, Benjamin, and Manasseh, are put together, Psal. 80. 2.

21 But Abishai the son of Zeruiah answered and said. Shall not Shimei be put to death for this, because he curfed the LORD's anointed q?

q i.e. The King. By this Expreſſion, he minds David of his former Zeal againſt thoſe who offered any injury to Saul, because he was the Lord's Anointed, 1 Sam. 24. 6. and 26. 9. and therefore demands the ſame Juſtice againſt Shimei for his Curſing of the King, which was ſo expreſly forbidden, Exod. 22. 28. and by the Analogy of that Law, Exod. 21. 17. might ſeem puniſhable with Death.

22 And David ſaid, What have I to do with you r, ye ſons of Zeruiah s, that ye ſhould this day be adverſaries unto me? * Shall there any man be put to death this day in Iſrael? for do not I know, that I am this day king over Iſrael t?

* 1 Sam. 11. 13.

r I do not ask, neither will I take your Advice in this Matter. s Implying, that Joab's hand was in this Contrivance, or that he ſuſpected it. t i.e. That you put me upon things unfit for me to do, and contrary to my preſent Intereſt; for it was David's Intereſt at this time to appeaſe the People, and reconcile them to him, and not now to give them any new diſtaſt by acts of Severity: For this would make others jealous, that David will not forgive them neither, but would watch an opportunity to be Revenged on them. You pretend Friendſhip herein, and would have me take it for an effect of your Zeal for my Service; but in truth you give me ſuch Counſel as my Enemies would wiſh me to follow, that thereby I might awaken the fears and jealouſies of my People which are now aſleep, and caſt them into a ſecond Rebellion: which either Joab and Abiſai really deſigned by this Advice, that ſo Joab might recover his Place again, and be made neceſſary for the King's Service; or David ſuſpected that they did ſo. u Is not my Kingdom, which for my Sins was in a manner wholly loſt, juſt now reſtored and aſſured to me? And when God hath been ſo merciful to me in forgiving my Sin, ſhall I now ſhow my ſelf Revengeful to Shimei? Shall I ſully the Publick Joy and Glory of this Day, with an act of ſuch ſeverity? Or, ſhall I alienate the Hearts of my People from me, now when they are returning to me?

23 Therefore * the king ſaid unto Shimei, Thou ſhalt not die x: and the king ſware unto him y.

* 1 Kings 2. 37, 46.

x To wit, this day, as Abiſhai deſireth; nor whilſt I live, nor by my Hands, as it is repeated and explained, 1 Kings 2. 8. nor for this Cauſe alone. For though David gave order to Solomon for his Puniſhment after his Death; nor was it tie for the Puniſh Good that ſuch a horrid Crime ſhould go unpuniſhed; yet he would not have him puniſhed for this Fault alone, but for ſome other Capital Crime, which he preſumed Shimei's Temper would eaſily betray him to; and Solomon's deep Wiſdom would eaſily find out, 1 Kings 2. 9.) That he would not put him to death with the Sword, as it is expreſſed 1 Kings 2. 8.

24 ¶ And Mephibosheth the ſon z of Saul came down to meet the king, and had neither dreſſed his feet a, nor trimmed his beard b, nor waſhed his cloathes c, from the day the king departed, until the day he came again in peace.

z i.e. The Grandſon, 2 Sam. 6. 3, 6. a By cutting his Nails, and by waſhing his Feet, which was uſual in thoſe hot Climates, and very refreſhing; and therefore now neglected, as becoming a Mourner. b But ſuffered it to grow very long, and diſorderly, as was uſual with many Perſons in a forlorn, or mournful State. c His Linnen Cloathes. This and the former were ſigns, that he was a true and obſtinate Mourner, that had laide his uſual Refreſhments: and they are here mentioned as Evidences of the Falſhood of Ziba's former Relation concerning him, Chap. 16. 3.

25 And it came to paſs when he was come to Jeruſalem d to meet the king, that the king ſaid unto him, Wherefore wenteſt not thou with me e, Mephibosheth?

d So it is ſuppoſed, That Mephibosheth, though he went to meet the King, wanted either Courage, or fit Opportunity to ſpeak to the King till he came to Jeruſalem, becauſe of the great Multitudes that Addreſſed themſelves to the King by the way. Though it might more reaſonably be thought, that he could not go from it might more reaſonably be thought, that he could not go from Jeruſalem to meet the King, as others did, becauſe he wanted conveniencies for his Journey: for Ziba had gotten all his Lands and Goods, Chap. 16. 4. and it is not likely that he, who would not provide him an Aſs to ride on, or to accompany the King at his departure, would now be haſty to furniſh him with one to meet the King, to whom he knew he would complain of him. But the Words may ſeem to be better rendred thus, when he went (for ſo the Hebrew Verb ſignifies, Ruth 4. 7. Jonah 1. 3.) from (which Preposition is oft underſtood) Jeruſalem. For there he was, Chap. 16. 3. and having continued there, as probably he did, (becauſe he wanted an Aſs to convey him elſewhere, and knew not where to be with more ſafety) he could not properly nor truly be ſaid to have come thither to meet the King. e As Juſtice and Gratitude obliged thee to do.

26 And he anſwered, My lord, O king, my ſervant deceived me f; for thy ſervant ſaid, I will ſaddle me an aſs, that I may ride thereon, and go to the king, becauſe thy ſervant is lame:

f By carrying away the Aſs which I bid him Saddle for me.

27 And * he hath ſlandered thy ſervant unto my lord the king; but my lord the king is as an angel of God g: do therefore what is good in thine eyes.

* Chap. 19. 27.

g To diſtinguiſh between true Reports and Calumnies; See on Chap. 14. 20.

28 For all of my fathers houſe, were but † dead men before my lord the king h: yet * didſt thou ſet thy ſervant among them that did eat at thine own table: what right therefore have I yet to cry any more unto the king i?

h i.e. Before thy Tribunal: we were all at thy Mercy: nor my Eſtate only (which thou haſt now granted to Ziba) but my Life alſo was in thy Power, if thou haſt dealt with Rigour, and as Earthly Kings uſe to do with their Predeceſſors and Enemies Children. For otherwiſe by the Law of God Saul himſelf had not deſerved to die by David's hands, as David himſelf confeſſed: Much leſs his Children, who were not to dye for their Father's Sins, Deut. 24. 16. But Mephibosheth ſpeaks like a Courtier, and like an Orator, aggravating Matters againſt himſelf, that he might ſeem to juſtifie the King's Sentence, and to ſubmit to it; and to inſinuate himſelf into the King's favour. i To wit, for the Vindication of mine Honour, and the Reſtitution of my Eſtate.

29 And the king ſaid unto him, Why ſpeakeſt thou any more of thy matters k? I have ſaid l, Thou and Ziba divide the Land m.

k For as Ziba was preſent, ſo doubtleſs he was not ſilent, but ſaid and did what he could to make good his former Charges which muſt needs occaſion many Words before the King. And if the King was now at leiſure for long Debates, and therefore makes an end of the Matter. l To wit, within my leiſ; I have conſidered the Matter as far as now I can, and upon the whole am come to this Reſolution, wherein I expect that thou and he do both acquieſce. Or, i do now ſay, I pronounce this Sentence in the Cauſe. m The meaning is either, 1. The Land ſhall be divided between thee and him, as it was by my firſt Order, Chap. 9. 11. He and his Sons managing it, and ſupporting thee out of it, as they did before, and giving the reſt of the Profits to thee. And to this the following words may well enough be accommodated; Yea, let him take all; to wit, to his own ſole uſe. Or, 2. The Right and Profits of the Land ſhall be equally divided between you. It ſeems a very raſh and haſtie Sentence, and very unbecoming David's Wiſdom, and Juſtice, and Gratitude to Jonathan; and Ziba ſeems to have deſerved Death for baſely abuſing his Maſter of Treaſon, rather than a Recompence. But the whole Tranſaction of the Matter is not here ſet down. Poſſibly Ziba might bring plauſible Preſences to juſtifie his Acceſation; and it might be preſended, That Mephibosheth neglected the trimming and dreſſing himſelf only in Policy, and that for a ſeaſon, till David and his Family had deſtroyed one another by their Civil Wars, and giving him a fit opportunity to take the Crown. So that David might really be at a loſs what to determine. And Ziba had given proof of his Affections to David by an Act of kindneſs which could not be without hazard to himſelf, Chap. 16. 1, 2. which Mephibosheth had not done. And poſſibly, this was only a preſent Sentence, and David reſolved to Examine things more thoroughly when he had more leiſure, and then to make a more full and final Determination of the Buſineſs; which alſo he might do, though it be not here Recorded. For we muſt not think, that nothing was done and ſaid about ſuch things but what is mentioned in Scripture. Beſides, Ziba being a powerful Man, and the Crown not yet firmly fixed upon the King's Head, David might think fit to ſuſpend his final Sentence till a more convenient ſeaſon, and not now to provoke him too much by taking away all his Eſtate from him at once, but to proceed againſt him by degrees. Howſoever, this is certain, we cannot paſs a right Judgment upon this Action of David's, unleſs we underſtood all the Circumſtances of it, which we cannot pretend to do.

30 And Mephibosheth ſaid unto the king, Yea, let him take all, foraſmuch as my lord the king is come again in peace unto his own houſe n.

n I am contented to loſe all, being fully ſatisfied with the happineſs of ſeeing my dear and dread Sovereign reſtored to his Crown, and Truth and Peace returned to his Kingdom.

31 ¶ And

31 ¶ And * Barzillai the Gileadite came down from Rogelim, and went over Jordan with the king, to conduct him over Jordan o.

* 1 King. 2. 7.

o And then to croſs Jordan again, and ſo return to his Native Land.

32 Now Barzillai was a very aged man, even fourſcore years old, and * he had provided the king of ſuſtenance while he lay at Mahanaim: for he was a very great man.

* Chap. 17. 27.

33 And the king ſaid unto Barzillai, Come thou over with me, and I will feed thee with me in Jeruſalem.

34 And Barzillai ſaid unto the king, † How long have I to live, that I ſhould go up with the king unto Jeruſalem p?

† Heb. how many are the days of the years of my life?

p Seeing my time of continuance in this World is but ſhort, it is not adviſable to change my Habitation, or to give thee or my ſelf any farther trouble.

35 I am this day fourſcore years old: and can I diſcern between good and evil? can thy ſervant taſte what I eat or what I drink? can I hear any more the voice of ſinging-men, and ſinging women q? wherefore then ſhould thy ſervant be yet a burden unto my lord the king r?

q My Senſes are grown dull, and uncapable of reliſhing the Delights of the Court. I am paſt taking Pleaſure in delicious Taſtes, or ſweet Muſick, and other ſuch Delights of the Court. r I am through Age both uſeleſs and burthenſome to others, and therefore moſt improper for a Court-life.

36 Thy ſervant will go a little way over Jordan s with the king: and why ſhould the king recompenſe it me t with ſuch a reward?

s A little onward in thy way to Jeruſalem, and then return. t Or, recompence me, to wit, for my ſmall kindneſs to thee at Mahanaim, which was but a part of my Duty to thee.

37 Let thy ſervant, I pray thee, turn back again, that I may die in mine own city, and be buried by the grave of my father, and of my mother: but behold thy ſervant Chimham u, let him go over with my lord the king, and do to him what ſhall ſeem good unto thee.

u Barzillai's Son, 1 King. 2. 7.

38 And the king anſwered, Chimham ſhall go over with me: and I will do to him that which ſhall ſeem good unto thee: and whatſoever thou ſhalt † require of me, that will I do for thee.

39 And all the people went over Jordan: and when the king was come over, the king kiſſed Barzillai, and bleſſed him, and he returned unto his own place.

40 Then the king went on to Gilgal, and Chimham went on with him, and all the people of Judah conducted the king x, and alſo half the people of Iſrael y.

x Attended upon him on his Journey towards Jeruſalem. y Whereas the Men of Judah came intirely and unanimouſly to the King, as is noted here, and above, ver. 14. the Iſraelites of the other Tribes came in but ſlowly, and by halves, as being no leſs guilty of the Rebellion, than the Tribe of Judah; but not encouraged and invited to come in by ſuch a particular and gracious Meſſage as they were. And this is here mentioned as the occaſion both of the Contention here following, and of the Sedition, Chap. 20.

41 ¶ And behold, all the men of Iſrael z came to the king, and ſaid unto the king, Why have our brethren the men of Judah ſtolen thee away a, and have brought the king and his houſhold, and all Davids men b with him over Jordan?

z To wit, ſuch as were preſent. a i.e. Conveyed thee over Jordan haſtily and privily, not expecting nor deſiring our Conſent and Concurrence in the Buſineſs, which we were no leſs ready to afford than they. It is alſo a fecret Reflection upon the King, for permitting this Precipitation. b i.e. All thy Men; ſuch changes of Perſons being moſt frequent in the Hebrew Language; ſome Officers, and Guards, and Soldiers. This is mentioned as an aggravation of their Fault, That they did not only carry the King over Jordan, but all his Men too, without asking their Advice.

42 And all the men of Judah anſwered the men of Iſrael, Becauſe the king is near of kin to us c: wherefore then be ye angry for this matter? have we eaten at all of the kings coſt? or hath he given us any gifts d?

c Of the ſame Tribe with us, and therefore both oweth the more reſpect to us, and might expect and challenge more reſpect from us. d We have neither fought nor gained any advantage to our ſelves hereby, but only diſcharged our duty to the King, and uſed all Expedition in bringing him back, which you alſo ſhould have done, and not have come in by halves, and ſo coldly as you have done; See ver. 40.

43 And the men of Iſrael anſwered the men of Judah, and ſaid, We have ten parts e in the king f, and we have alſo more right in David than ye g: Why then did ye † deſpiſe us, that our advice ſhould not be e i.e. Ten Tribes. f i.e. In the King's Perſon, and the diſpoſal thereof. g As in the general we have more right in the King and Kingdom; ſo particularly, we have more right in David than you, becauſe you were the firſt beginners, and the moſt zealous promoters of this Rebellion: and as David is neareſt of kin to you, ſo he hath been moſt injured by you; howſoever, as he is King, we juſtly Claim a greater Intereſt in him, than you; inaſmuch as we are the far greateſt part of his Subjects. h That we being the far greater Number, ſhould not have the firſt and chiefeſt Vote in this Action. But the words are by ſome, and may well be rendred interrogatively, And was not my word firſt about bringing the King back? Did not we make the firſt mention of it, before you could be drawn to it? For ſo indeed they did, ver. 11. And therefore the neglect of their Advice herein might ſeem more inexcuſable. i Inſtead of mollifying them with gentle words, they anſwered them with greater fierceneſs and inſolency; ſo that David durſt not interpoſe himſelf in the matter.

CHAP. XX.

By occaſion of this quarrel Sheba ſtirreth up Iſrael to ſedition, 1, 2. David's ten concubines are ſhut up in perpetual priſon, 3. Amaſa is ſlain by Joab, 4—10. He and Abiſhai purſueth Sheba unto Abel, 11,—15. The citizens by the advice of a wiſe woman cut off his head and caſt it over the wall to Joab, 16,—22. David's officers, 23,—26.

AND there happened a to be there a man of Belial b, whoſe name was Sheba the ſon of Bichri, a Benjamite c, and he blew a trumpet, and ſaid, * We have no part in David d, neither have we inheritance in the ſon of Jeſſe e: every man to his tents f, O Iſrael.

a His preſence was caſual in it ſelf, though certain, and ordered by God's Providence. b A lawleſs perſon, one that attempted to ſhake off the Yoke of Civil Authority: See Deut. 13. 13. c Aggrieved at the tranſlation of the Kingdom from Saul, and that Tribe, to David. d The Tribe of Judah have monopolized the King to themſelves, and will not allow us any ſhare in him; let them therefore enjoy him alone, and let us look out a new King. e An expreſſion of Contempt, implying their rejection of him, that he was no more to be owned as their King, but as a private Perſon, as the Son of Jeſſe. f Let us all deſiſt from this unthankful Office, of bringing the King back, and go each to our homes, that we may conſider, and then meet together to chuſe a new King.

2 So every man of Iſrael g went up from after David, and followed Sheba the ſon of Bichri: but the men of Judah clave unto their king, from Jordan even to Jeruſalem.

g i.e. The generality of thoſe Iſraelites who were preſent.

3 ¶ And David came to his houſe at Jeruſalem: and the king took the ten women h his concubines, whom he had left to keep the houſe, and put them in ward i, and fed them, but went not in unto them: ſo they were † ſhut up unto the day of their death, † living in a ſtate of widowhood.

i See 2 Chron. 24. 16.

4 ¶ Then ſaid the king to Amaſa, † Aſſemble me the men of Judah k, within three days l, and be thou here preſent k.

k And march in the Head of them as their General, as I have promiſed thee, chap. 19. 13. l Which he ſuppoſed Amaſa, having been their late General, could eaſily do: and the deſpatch I required hereby. & Within that time to receive Orders and Inſtructions from me.

5 So Amaſa went to aſſemble the men of Judah; but he tarried longer than the ſet time l which he had appointed him.

l Either, becauſe the People being wearied out by the late Civil War, were not forward to engage in another; or, becauſe the Soldiers had more Affection to Joab, than to their new General; ſo whoſe ill Conduct poſſibly they might impute their unſucceſsfulneſs in the laſt Battel: Or, becauſe Amaſa for his own Intereſt might feek delays, to reſ der himſelf more neceſſary and uſeful to the King, and to keep up his honourable and profitable Employment, which is the common Policy of ſuch Men.

6 And David ſaid to Abiſhai m, Now ſhall Sheba the ſon of Bichri do us more harm than did Abſalom: take thou * thy lords ſervants n, and purſue after him, leſt he get him fenced cities, and † eſcape us.

* Chap. 11. 11.

upon my Person, and the other Soldiers who are now present with me. He speaks of himself in the Third Person, as is very frequent. For it is not probable he would now call Joab his lord, whom he had lately deposed; nor Amasa, who had not yet taken actual Possession of his Place, nor had the Command over the King's Guards.

7 And there went out after him Joabs men a, and the * Cherethites, and the Pelethites p, and all the mighty men: and they went out of Jerusalem to pursue after Sheba the son of Bichri.

8 When they were at the great ſtone which is in Gibeon, Amaſa went before them q; and Joabs garment that he had put on, was girded unto him r, and upon it a † girdle with a ſword faſtned upon his loins in the ſheath thereof, and as he went forth it is fell out s.

q Having gathered ſome Forces, and given due Orders for the reſt to follow him, he returned to Jeruſalem, and by the King's Command went after thoſe mentioned ver. 7. and being come up to them at the place where they waited for him, he put himſelf into the Head of Joab's Men, and the Cherethites and the Pelethites, and ſuch as he had brought along with him, and marched before them as their Chief and General. r After the manner of Travellers and Soldiers. s To meet and ſalute Amaſa, who was coming towards him to do him Honour. t Things having (it is likely) been ſo contrived by Joab, that upon the leaſt motion of his Body, his Sword ſhould drop out, and he might take it up without raiſing Amaſa's Suſpicion.

9 And Joab ſaid to Amaſa, Art thou in health, my brother? And Joab took Amaſa by the beard u with the right hand to kiſs him.

u As the manner of Ancient Times was, when they kiſſed and ſaluted one another.

10 But Amaſa took no heed to the ſword that was in Joabs hand x: ſo he ſmote him therewith in the fifth rib y, and ſhed out his bowels to the ground, and † ſtrook him not again z, and he died: ſo Joab a and Abiſhai his brother purſued after Sheba the ſon of Bichri.

x Which falling out, as it ſeemed, caſually, he ſuppoſed that Joab intended only to put it into its Scabbard, and therefore took no care to defend himſelf againſt the ſtroke. y See on chap. 2. 23. z He diſpatched him at one ſtroke; or, gave him his Deaths Wound at the firſt blow, and needed not to ſmite him again. a Who now boldly reſumed his former Place, and marched in the Head of the Army. It is not ſtrange, that Amaſa's Soldiers did not fight to revenge his Death; partly, becauſe not many of them were yet come up, but came by degrees, as the following Verſes ſhews; and partly, becauſe Joab's Intereſt and Authority with the Military-men was very great; eſpecially, with David's Guards, who were here preſent, and who had no kindneſs for Amaſa, as having been the General of the Rebellious Army; and, as they might think, was not fit to be put into a Place of ſo great Power and Truſt.

11 And one of Joabs men b ſtood by him, and ſaid, He that favoureth Joab c, and he that is for David d, let him go after Joab.

b Leſt there ſhould be any occaſion to deliver the following Meſſage. c He that would have Joab to be General, rather than ſuch a perfidious Rebel and Traytor as Amaſa. d He that wiſheth David good ſucceſs againſt Sheba, and againſt all Rebels. Whereby he implies, that though this Fact of his was done againſt the King's Command, yet it was for his Intereſt and Defence.

12 And Amaſa wallowed e in blood f in the midſt of the high way: and when the man ſaw that all the people g ſtood ſtill h, he removed Amaſa out of the high way into the field i, and caſt a cloth upon him, when he ſaw that every one that came by him ſtood ſtill.

e Heb. rolled himſelf, being in the Pangs of Death; yet having ſo much his left, as to move himſelf a little, though not to raiſe himſelf up from his place. f In his own Blood, which was ſhed there. g To wit, the Soldiers which were upon their march. h Wondering at the Spectacle, and enquiring into the Author and Occaſion of it. i Perceiving, that it both incenſed them againſt Joab, and hindred the King's preſent Service.

13 When he was removed out of the high way, all the people went on after Joab, to purſue after Sheba the ſon of Bichri.

14 ¶ And he k went through all the tribes of Iſrael unto Abel, and to Beth-maachah l, and all the Berites m: and they n were gathered together, and went alſo after him o.

k Either, 1. Joab, who purſued Sheba through all the Tribes as far as Abel. Or rather, 2. Sheba, who was laſt mentioned, who marched from Tribe to Tribe to ſtir them up to Sedition; and to him the following words ſeem beſt to agree. l Or rather, to Abel, even to Beth-maachah; i.e. unto Abel-beth-maachah, as this place is called here in the Hebrew Text, ver. 15. and 1 King. 15. 20. 2 King. 15. 29. to diſtinguiſh it from other Abels and to ſignifie, that this was that Abel which was in the Tribe of Naphtali in the Northern border of Canaan towards that part of Syria called Aramchobah, 2 Sam. 10. 8. m Such as lived in the City, or Territory of Beerath of Benjamin, Joſh. 18. 25. who being of the ſame Tribe, if not City with Sheba, and his greateſt Acquaintance and Friends: or, being moſt implacable againſt David, adhered to Sheba, and followed him through all the Tribes of Iſrael. n To wit, the Tribe of Iſrael; i.e. a conſiderable Number of them; as might eaſily be expected, when the Diſcontents were ſo high and general. o i.e. after Sheba.

16 ¶ Then cried a wiſe woman out of the city, Hear, hear, ſay, I pray you, unto Joab, Come near hither, that I may ſpeak with thee.

17 And when he was come near unto her, the woman ſaid, Art thou Joab? And he anſwered, I am he. Then ſhe ſaid unto him, Hear the words of thine handmaid. And he anſwered, I do hear.

18 Then ſhe ſpake, ſaying, ‖ They were wont to ſpeak in old time, ſaying, They ſhall ſurely aſk counſel at Abel: and ſo they ended the matter.

s According to this Tranſlation the ſence is, This City which for ſo many years paſt has been famous for Learning and Wiſdom, and for the wiſe Counſels and Reſolutions of its Governours, and for the wiſe and prudent Anſwers of its Inhabitants, when any Differences did ariſe among any of the Neighbours, they uſed Proverbially to ſay, We will ask the Opinion and Advice of the Men of Abel about it, and we will ſtand to their Arbitrament; and ſo all Matters were ſtanched, and Diſputes ended. But there is another Tranſlation in the Margent, embraced alſo by ſome others, which ſeems to be the beſt; They (i.e. the Citizens of this City) plainly (or, ſimply) ſpake (among themſelves) in ſaying (or, with, when Sheba and his Men firſt came into the City, and they were informed, That Joab was purſuing him) ſaying, Surely they will aſk of Abel, and ſo make an end: They will peaceably Expoſtulate the Buſineſs with us, and enquire, Why we entertained Sheba into our City? And whether we would deliver him up into their hands, and would inform us of the reaſon of their Hoſtile Attempt upon us, and offer to us Conditions of Peace, which by Joab's Law, Deut. 20. 10. they were to do even to ſtrange, and much more to Iſraelitiſh Cities. So ſhe doth both modeſtly reprove Joab for the neglect of his Duty, and oblige him to the Performance of it.

19 I am one of them that are peaceable and faithful in Iſrael t: thou ſeekeſt to deſtroy a city, and a mother in Iſrael: why wilt thou ſwallow up the inheritance of the LORD u?

t Or, I (to wit, the City of Abel, in whoſe Name and Perſon ſhe ſpeaks this) am one of the peaceable and faithful Cities of Iſrael. Whatſoever Sheba may deſign, whom we have innocently received into our City, before we well underſtood the matter: We of this City abhor the thoughts of Warring, and Rebelling againſt the King, as having had no hand in Abſalom's late Rebellion: which is probable enough, conſidering both their Situation in the utmoſt Borders of the Land, very remote from the Seat of that Civil War, and their open Profeſſion of their Peaceableneſs, and Fidelity, or Loyalty to the King; which had been impudent if they had been ſo lately involved in the laſt War and Rebellion. u i.e. A Mother: for great Cities are commonly called Mothers; as leſſer Towns or Villages ſubject to them, and depending upon them, for Protection and Defence, are called their Daughters, as Ezek. 16. 46. x i.e. A conſiderable part of that Land which God hath choſen for his peculiar Poſſeſſion. The Deſtruction which thou art about to bring upon us, is an Injury alſo to Iſrael, and to the God of Iſrael.

20 And Joab anſwered and ſaid, Far be it, far be it from me, that I ſhould ſwallow up, or deſtroy.

21 The matter is not ſo: but a man of mount Ephraim y (Sheba the ſon of Bichri † by name) hath lift up his hand z againſt the king, even againſt David: deliver him only, and I will depart from the city. And the woman ſaid unto Joab, Behold, his head ſhall be thrown to thee over the wall a.

y Queſt. How can this be ſo, when he is called a Benjamite? ver. 1. Anſ. Either he was a Benjamite by Birth, but dwelt in the Tribe of Ephraim, as many did upon ſeveral occaſions dwell out of their own Tribes: or, mount Ephraim was a place in Benjamin, which might be ſo called, either becauſe it was upon the Borders of Ephraim, and bordered towards it; or from ſome notable Action or Event of the Ephraimites in that place. Compare chap. 18. 6. z i.e. Taken up Arms, or raiſed Rebellion. a Which the moſt reſolute, becauſe they knew the preſent Temper, and great fears of the Citizens, and Soldiers too; and that conſidering their evident and extream Danger, they were generally deſirous of Peace, from which they were reſtrained only by Sheba's Authority and Intereſt; and therefore did not doubt by God's Bleſſing upon her wiſe Counſel to effect it, as indeed the did. And it is not unlikely, that this Woman might be a Governeſs in that City. For though this Office was commonly performed by Men; yet were not the Women wholly excluded, but ſometimes employed in the Government: As we ſee in Deborah, who judged Iſrael, Judg. 4. 4. And Queen Athaliah, 2 King. 11.

22 Then the woman went unto all the people in her wiſdom b, and they cut off the head of Sheba the ſon of Bichri, and caſt it out to Joab: and he blew a trumpet, and they c † retired from the city, every man to his tent: and Joab returned to Jeruſalem unto the king.

b Prudently treated with them about it, either ſeverally or joyntly, as the caſe ſtood; repreſenting to them the certainty and nearneſs of all their Ruine, if they did not ſpeedily comply with her Deſires, and certain Deliverance if they did. c Joab and his Army which beſieged them.

d The good ſucceſs of this, and of the former Expedition, under the Conduct of Joab, had ſo fixed his Intereſt in the Army, and others of David's faſteſt Friends, that the King could not without danger to the Publick Weal diſplace him.

CHAP. XXI.

A three years famine declared by God to be for the Gibeonites ſake ceaſeth by their hanging ſeven of Saul's ſons, 1,—9. Rizpah preſerveth the dead bodies, 10, 11. David buryeth the bones of Saul and Jonathan, as alſo of them that were hung up in his father's ſepulchre, 12,—14. Four battels againſt the Philiſtines wherein four valiants of David ſlay four giants, 15,—22.

THen a there was a famine in the days of David three years, year after year; and David † enquired of the LORD b. And the LORD anſwered, It is for Saul, and for his bloody houſe, becauſe he ſlew the Gibeonites c.

a When? Either, Firſt, After Abſalom's and Sheba's Rebellion, as it is here related. Or rather, Secondly, In ſome other time before. It is well known and confeſſed, that the Particle, then, doth not always note that the thing was done in that order in which it is mentioned; but is oft of an indefinite ſignification; as alſo that the Scripture in its Hiſtories and Relations, doth not always obſerve the order of time, but the order of things, paſſing that over, which was done before, as occaſion requires. And ſo it ſeems to be here. The things related here and chap. 20. are by the moſt and beſt Interpreters conceived to have been done long before Abſalom's Rebellion. And this Opinion is not without ſufficient grounds: Firſt, This Particle, then, is here explained, in the days, i.e. during the Life and Reign of David: which general and indefinite words ſeem to be added as an intimation that theſe things were not done after the next foregoing Paſſages, for then the Sacred Writer would rather have added, after theſe things, or ſome ſuch expreſſion, as it is 2 Chron. 32. 1. and in many other places. Secondly, Here are divers Paſſages which it ſeems very improbable to aſcribe to the laſt Years of David's Reign: Such as theſe, Firſt, That Saul's Sin againſt the Gibeonites ſhould ſo long remain unpuniſhed. And indeed that this was done, and Saul's ſeven Sons hanged by David's order before that time, ſeems plainly to be intimated by that paſſage 2 Sam. 16. 8. where he is charged with the blood of the houſe of Saul, for which there was not the leaſt colour till this time. Secondly, That David ſhould not remove the Bones of Saul and Jonathan to their proper place, here v. 12, 13, 14. till that time. Thirdly, That the Philiſtines ſhould wage War with David again and again, v. 15, &c. ſo long after he had fully ſubdued them, chap. 8. 1. and that David in his old Age ſhould attempt to fight with a Philiſtine Giant, or that his People ſhould ſuffer him to do ſo. Fourthly, That David ſhould then have ſo vehement a deſire to number his People, chap. 24. 1, &c. which being an act of youthful heat and vanity, ſeems not at all to agree with his old age, nor with that ſtate of deep humiliation, and great affliction in which he then was. And the reaſon why theſe matters are put here out of their proper order, is plainly this, becauſe David's Sin being once related, it was very convenient that David's Puniſhments inflicted for it ſhould immediately ſucceed: this being very frequent in Scripture-ſtory, to put thoſe things together which belong to one matter, though they happened at ſeveral times. And this is the more conſiderable, becauſe it tends to the clearing of that great difficulty 2 Sam. 15. 7. b Concerning the reaſon of his Diſpleaſure, and this Judgment. c Which was not only an act of Cruelty, but alſo of Perfidiouſneſs and Perjury, becauſe it was a direct and publick violation of that Solemn Oath given to them for their ſecurity by Joſhua and the Princes, in the name of all the Iſraelites, of that, and of ſucceeding Generations, and conſequently a great ſcandal to the true Religion, and the Profeſſors of it, and a mean to diſcourage others from cleaving to it, as the Gibeonites had done. Queſt. Why did not God puniſh Saul and the Iſraelites of this Age? Anſ. Firſt, God did ſeverely puniſh Saul for this and his other Sins. Secondly, As God may juſtly inflict Temporal Puniſhments upon any Offender, either in his Perſon, or in his Poſterity, when he pleaſeth; ſo it is neceſſary he ſhould take his own time for it; and it is folly and wickedneſs in us to quarrel with God for ſo doing. Thirdly, The Iſraelites ſeveral ſundry ways make themſelves guilty of Saul's ſin, though it be not particularly mentioned in Scripture, adviſing or encouraging him to it; or, by aſſiſting him in the execution of it; or, by countenancing it; or, by rejoycing in it, for ſome worldly advantage which they received, or expected from it; or, by not repairing the Injuries which Saul had done them, as far as they might. And ſome of theſe ways David himſelf might be involved in the guilt; although indeed this evil fell principally upon the People. And whereas many of the People probably were innocent of the Crime, ſee they alſo were guilty of many other Sins, for which God might puniſh them, though he took this occaſion for it. And it may be further obſerved, That God is pleaſed many times ſeverely to puniſh leſſer Delinquents, and to ſuffer the greater for the preſent to go unpuniſhed; and that not only to manifeſt his own Sovereign Power and Liberty, but alſo to give the World thereby aſſurance of a future Judgment, and Puniſhments reſerved for the next life.

2 And the king called the Gibeonites, and ſpake unto them, (now the Gibeonites were not of the children of Iſrael, but † of the remnant of the Amorites; and the children of Iſrael had ſworn unto them: and Saul ſought to ſlay them d, in his zeal to the children of Iſrael and Judah e.)

d i.e. He fought occaſions and pretences how he might cut them off with ſome colour of Law or Juſtice, diligently ſearching out and aggravating their Faults, and puniſhing them worſe than they deſerved; oppreſſing them with exceſſive Labours, and openly killing ſome of them, and intending by degrees to cut them out. e Conceiving, or rather, pretending that it was not for the honour, nor comfort, nor advantage of God's People, to mix with any of that vicerous Brood in their Boſoms; and that howſoever Joſhua and the Princes which then were, had by their Prudence drawn into an Oath to preſerve them, Joſh. 9. 15. yet in truth that Oath was contrary to God's Command, Exod. 23. 32. Deut. 7. 2. and therefore (as he thought) not to be obſerved. This was his pretence: but how little Zeal he had for God, or for the publick good of his People, is evident by the whole courſe of his life: and therefore it is more than probable he had ſome particular motive, or deſign in the caſe: either, becauſe ſome of them had highly provoked him, for whoſe ſake he would be revenged of the whole Race; or, becauſe they being cut off, their Eſtates might be forfeited to the Crown: or, for ſome other reaſon now unknown.

3 Wherefore David ſaid unto the Gibeonites, What ſhall I do for you? and wherewith ſhall I make the atonement, that ye may bleſs the inheritance of the LORD h?

f To ſome of the chief of them, who were to report it to the reſt. g What ſatisfaction do you expect or require for the injuries formerly done to you? h That by your acknowledgment of ſatisfaction received, the guilt and curſe may be removed from me and my People of God, and by that means it ſhall be in our Power, and may be reconciled, and may reſtore his Bleſſing, or Favour to us, which hitherto he hath denied us.

4 And the Gibeonites ſaid unto him, † We will have no ſilver or gold of Saul, nor of his houſe; neither for us ſhall thou kill any man in Iſrael. And he ſaid, What you ſhall ſay it, that will I do for you.

† Or, It is no matter of ſilver and gold between us and Saul and his houſe; neither for us ſhall thou kill any man in Iſrael.

5 And they anſwered the king, The man that conſumed us, and that ‖ deviſed againſt us that we ſhould be deſtroyed from remaining in any of the coaſts of Iſrael,

6 Let ſeven men of his ſons be delivered unto us, and we will hang them up unto the LORD in Gibeah of Saul whom the LORD did chuſe. And the king ſaid, I will give them.

i That we ſhould be either killed, or baniſhed from the Land of Iſrael; which is as bad as death to us, becauſe here, and here only God is truly worſhipped and enjoyed. Wherefore it is manifeſt, if there were many Families, and godly Perſons, and ſuch as God is more ſevere in puniſhing the Injuries done to them. Compare 1 Sam. 22. 19.

k To vindicate his Honour, which was ſtained by their violation of the Oath and Covenant of God, and to appeaſe his wrath. l Saul's Country, 1 Sam. 11. 4. and 15. 4. for their greater ſhame. m This is added to aggravate Saul's Offence, which was committed not only againſt them, but alſo againſt the Lord who had choſen and advanced him, and therefore did juſtly deſerve this from Saul's hand, to have his Laws broken, and his Name diſhonoured by Perjury. p Having doubtleſs conſulted God in the matters who as he had before declared Saul's Bloody Houſe to be the cauſe of this Judgment, ſo now commanded that juſtice ſhould be done upon it, and that the remaining Branches of it ſhould be cut off: as ſufficiently appears from hence, that God was ſatisfied and well pleaſed with the action; which he would not have been, if David had done it without his command; for then it had been a ſinful action of David's, and contrary to a double Law of God, Deut. 21. 23. and 24. 16. which none but God himſelf could diſpenſe with.

7 But the king spared Mephibosheth g the son of Jonathan ∴, the son of Saul, because of * the LORD's oath that was between them, between David and Jonathan the son of Saul.

g For the Gibeonites defiring only fuch a number, without defigning elfe Perfons, it was at Davids's choice whom to fpare. Or, he prevailed with the Gibeonites that they did not demand him; and with the Lord, that he might not be one of thofe who were devoted to deftruction. ∴ This is expreffly added, to diftinguifh him from the other Mephibofheth, v. 8.

And it muft be remembred, that the Hebrew Language is very fhort, and full of Ellipſes or defects of words, which yet may be eafily underſtood from the fenſe. Particularly, relative words are oft lacking, and to be fupplied, as Goliah is put for Goliah's brother, here v. 19. and Uncle for Uncle's ſon, Jer. 32. 7, 12. Or, the Sons of Merab are called the ſons of Michal, to wit, by adoption: or, the near Kindred and next Heirs of Michal, and brought up by her. For upon that and fuch like accounts the Title of Son is oft given in Scripture, as Gen. 48. 5. Exod. 2. 10. Deut. 25. 5, 6. Ruth. 1. 11, 12. and 4. 17. Queſt. But why then are not thefe called the ſons of Merab? Anſ. Becaufe they were better known by their Relation to Michal, who was David's Wife, and, it may be alive at this time, and having no Children of her own, took thefe and bred them up as her own: when Merab was now a more obfcure Perſon, and poſſibly dead many Years before this. t For ſo this Hebrew Verb, which primarily and properly fignifies to bear, is fometimes ufed, as Gen. 50. 23. Ruth 4. 17. becaufe the Education of Children is a kind of bearing of them, as requiring frequently no leſs care and pains than the bearing doth; whence it is that Nurſes are reputed as Mothers, and fometimes go under that Name both in Sacred and Prophane Writers. See Ruth 4. 16, 17. and compare Gen. 16. 2. and 30. 3. Numb. 11. 12. Gal. 4. 19. u Of Abel-meholah in the Tribe of Benjamin, Judg. 7. 22. x Queſt. How could David do this, when he had Sworn that he would not cut off Saul's Seed, 1 Sam. 24. 21, 22. Anſ. Becaufe he had ſpecial warrant and direction from God about it, who, as all confeſs, can diſpenſe with Mens Oaths, and with his own Laws when he ſees fit. And that he did ſo here, is manifeſt, becaufe God was pleafed with it, and removed the Judgment upon it, whereas otherwiſe David had been guilty of the ſame Sin with Saul, to wit, of the breach of his Oath and Covenant, for which this Famine was inflicted. See the Note on 1 Sam. 24. 22. y Or, in an hill, in or near Gibeah; in a conſpicuous place for their greater infamy, and for the caution and terror of others who ſhould make any attempt upon the Gibeonites for the future. z As a Sacrifice offered up to God to appeaſe his Wrath: or, unto the Lord, as was ſaid v. 6. a i.e. Died: for ſo the word, to fall, is oft uſed, as Exod. 19. 21. 1 Chron. 21. 14. Pſal. 91. 7. Jer. 39. laſt. Heb. 5. 5. or, were executed. b Which was before the Wheat-harveſt.

11 And it was told David h what Rizpah the daughter of Aiah the concubine of Saul had done.

h Who heard it with ſo much approbation, that he thought fit to imitate her Piety, being by her Example provoked to do what hitherto he had neglected, to beſtow an honourable Interment upon the remains of Saul and Jonathan, and, with them, upon thoſe that were now put to death, that the honour done to them herein, might be ſome comfort to this dejected and diſconſolate Widow.

12 ¶ And David went and took the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his ſon, from the men of Jabeſh-Gilead, which had ſtollen them from the ſtreet of Beth-ſhan, where the * Philiſtines had hanged them, when the Philiſtines had ſlain Saul in Gilboa:

* 1 Sam. 31. 10.

13 And he brought up from thence the bones of Saul, and the bones of Jonathan his ſon, and they gathered the bones i of them that were hanged.

i Having firſt burnt off the Fleſh which remained upon them when they were taken down. Compare 1 Sam. 31. 10, &c.

14 And the bones of Saul and Jonathan his ſon, buried they in the country of Benjamin in Zelah k, in the ſepulchre of Kiſh his father: and they performed all that the king commanded: and after that / God was intreated for the land.

k A place in Benjamin, mentioned Joſh. 18. 28. / After thoſe things were done which were before related; i.e. after they were hanged up: for by that God was pacified, and not by their burial. So the relative belongs to the remoter antecedent. Or, it this relate to what was laſt mentioned, the meaning is, that God was pleaſed to reſtore the Bleſſing of Plenty to the Land.

15 ¶ Moreover, the Philiſtines had yet a war again with Iſrael m, and David went down, and his ſervants with him, and fought againſt the Philiſtines, and David waxed faint.

m Theſe Wars though here related, were tranſacted long before this time: of which ſee the Notes on v. 1. For it is no way probable, either, that the Philiſtines being ſo fully and perfectly ſubdued by David, chap. 8. 1. ſhould in his days be in a capacity of waging War with the Iſraelites: or, that David in his old age would undertake to fight with a Giant, or that his People would permit him to do ſo.

16 And Iſhbi-benob, which was of the ſons of † the giant n, (the weight of whoſe † ſpear weighed three hundred ſhekels o of braſs in weight) he being girded with a new ſword p, thought to have ſlain David.

n So called by way of eminency. Or, of Rapha, a Giant ſo called. o See 1 Sam. 17. 5. p Or rather, with a new Girdle or Belt: For, Firſt, This was the uſual habit of Soldiers, 1 Sam. 18. 4. 2 Sam. 18. 11. and 20. 8. 1 King. 2. 5. Jer. 5. 27. and, when it was of an extraordinary faſhion and price, and Enſign of Dignity and Command in the Army, Ezek. 23. 15. So this may be mentioned to note, that this was the firſt time either of his going out to fight, or of his advancement to ſome eminent place in the Army: which made him deſirous to ſignalize himſelf with ſome great Action. Secondly, This Supplement is more natural and uſual, the word girdle being eaſie ſupplied from the word being girded: ſuch Ellipſes of conjugate words being frequent in the Hebrew Tongue, as Numb. 11. 14. Pſal. 76. 12. Matth. 20. 12. Thirdly, The newneſs of the Sword ſeems to have no emphaſis nor ſignificancy for the preſent purpoſe; ſeeing an old and tried Sword would ſeem more conſiderable for his encouragement, than one new and unproved.

17 But Abiſhai the ſon of Zeruiah ſuccoured him, and ſmote the Philiſtine, and killed him. Then * the men of David ſware unto him, ſaying, Thou ſhalt go no more out with us to battel, that thou quench not the † light of Iſrael q.

* Chap. 21. 15, 17. † Heb. candle.

q Left thou be ſlain, and thereby thy People be ruined. Good Kings are in Scripture juſtly called the Light of their People, as 1 King. 11. 36. and 15. 4. Pſal. 132. 17. becauſe the beauty and glory, the conduct and direction, the comfort and ſafety, and welfare of a People depends upon them, and comes from them.

18 * And it came to paſs after this r, that there was again a battel with the Philiſtines at Gob ſ: then Sibbechai the Huſhathite t ſlew Saph, which was of the ſons of ‖ the giant.

* 1 Chron. 20. 4.

r After the Battel laſt mentioned. ſ Or, in Geger, as it is 1 Chron. 20. 4. whereby it ſeems Gob and Geger were neighbouring Places, and the Battel fought in the Confines of both. t One of David's Worthies, 1 Chron. 11. 29.

19 And there was again a battel in Gob, with the Philiſtines, where Elhanan u, the ſon of Jaare-oregim, a Bethlehemite, ſlew * the brother of Goliah the Gittite x, the ſtaff of whoſe ſpear was like a weavers beam y.

* See 1 Chron. 20. 5.

u Another of David's worthy and valiant Commanders. x The relative word Brother, is not in the Hebrew Text, but is fitly ſupplied out of the parallel place, 1 Chron. 20. 5. where it is expreſſed. And ſuch defects of relatives are not unuſual in Scripture. Thus the word Wife is underſtood, Matth. 1. 6. Joh. 19. 25. and Father or Mother, Mar. 15. 40, 47. Compare with Mar. 16. 1. and Luke 24. 10. and Son, Matth. 4. 21. Mar. 2. 14. Joh. 21. 15. and Father, Judg. 6. 16. Compare with Jud. v. 1. And ſuch Ellipſes do alſo frequently occur in prophane Authors. Although the place may be, and is otherwiſe rendred Elhanan the ſon of Jaare-oregim, ſlew Beth-halachmi or Lachmi, (as he is called by way of diſtinction, 1 Chron. 20. 5. which is very frequent in the Hebrew Tongue,) who was (which words are frequently underſtood in the Hebrew Text) with (ſo this is oft rendred, as hath been noted before) Goliath the Gittite; i.e. in his Company, bred up with him to the War, and related to him as his Brother. Or, he ſlew Beth-halachmi a Goliath (or, another Goliath) of Gath, or the Gittite. So the name of the Giant was Beth-halachmi, who may be here called Goliath, not only for his near relation to him, being his Brother, but y Or, like the beam of a weaver.

but for his exact reſemblance of him in Feature, or in Stature and Strength, or in Courage and Military Skill; as John the Baptiſt was called Elias, for the like reaſon. Peradventure alſo, after the death of the firſt and famous Goliath the Gittite, 1 Sam. 17. that name was either given to him by others, or taken by himſelf. y In thickneſs. See 1 Sam. 17. 7.

20 And there was yet a battel in Gath z, where was a man of great ſtature ∴, that had on every hand ſix fingers, and on every foot ſix toes, four and twenty in number, and he alſo was born to the giant.

Or, the giant.

z i.e. In the Territory of the City of Gath. Which circumſtance imimates, that this, and conſequently the other Battels here deſcribed, were fought before David had taken Gath out of the hands of the Philiſtines, which he did 2 Sam. 8. 1. compare with 1 Chron. 18. 1. and therefore not in the laſt days of David, as ſome conceive from their mention in this place. ∴ Or, a man of Middin or Madon, as the LXX render it, ſo called from the place of his birth, as Goliath is ſaid to be of Gath for the ſame reaſon.

21 And when he ‖ defied Iſrael, Jonathan the ſon of † Shimea, the brother of David, ſlew him.

a Either, becauſe they were ſlain by his Conduct, and Counſel, or Concurrence; for he contributed by his hand to the death of one of them, whilſt maintaining a fight with him, he gave Abiſhai the eaſier opportunity of killing him, ver. 16. 17. or becauſe what is done by the inferior Commanders, is commonly aſcribed to the General, both in Sacred and Prophane Writers.

CHAP. XXII.

A pſalm of thankſgiving for God's powerful deliverance and manifold bleſſings, 1,—51.

This Chapter is in a manner wholly the ſame with Pſalm 18. and therefore I ſhall adjourn the Expoſition of it to that place.

AND David ſpake unto the LORD the words of this ſong; in the day that the LORD had delivered him out of the hand of all his enemies, and out of the hand of Saul,

2 And he ſaid, * The LORD is my rock, and my fortreſs, and my deliverer:

* Pſal. 18. 2, &c.

3 The God of my rock, in him will I truſt: he is my ſhield, and the horn of my ſalvation, my high tower, and my refuge, my ſaviour; thou ſaveſt me from violence.

4 I will call on the LORD, who is worthy to be praiſed: ſo ſhall I be ſaved from mine enemies.

5 When the ‖ waves of death compaſſed me; the floods of † ungodly men made me afraid;

‖ Or, pangs. † Heb. Belial. Or, perdit.

6 The ‖ ſorrows of hell compaſſed me about: the ſnares of death prevented me;

7 In my diſtreſs I called upon the LORD, and cried to my God: and he did hear my voice out of his temple, and my cry did enter into his ears.

8 Then the earth ſhook and trembled: the foundations of heaven moved and ſhook, becauſe he was wroth.

9 There went up a ſmoke † out of his noſtrils, and fire out of his mouth devoured: coals were kindled by it.

10 He bowed the heavens alſo, and came down: and darkneſs was under his feet.

11 And he rode upon a cherub, and did flee: and he was ſeen upon the wings of the wind.

12 And he made darkneſs pavillions round about him, † dark waters, and thick clouds of the ſkies.

13 Through the brightneſs before him were coals of fire kindled.

14 The LORD thundred from heaven, and the moſt High uttered his voice.

15 And he ſent out arrows, and ſcattered them: lightning, and diſcomfited them.

16 And the chanels of the ſea appeared, the foundations of the world were diſcovered, at the rebuking of the LORD, at the blaſt of the breath of his noſtrils.

17 He ſent from above, he took me, he drew me out of ‖ many waters.

18 He delivered me from my ſtrong enemy, and from them that hated me: for they were too ſtrong for me.

19 They prevented me in the day of my calamity: but the LORD was my ſtay.

20 He brought me forth alſo into a large place: he delivered me, becauſe he delighted in me.

21 The LORD rewarded me according to my righteouſneſs: according to the cleanneſs of my hands hath he recompenſed me.

22 For I have kept the ways of the LORD, and have not wickedly departed from my God.

23 For all his judgments were before me: and as for his ſtatutes, I did not depart from them.

† Or, herſelf. † Heb. to him.

24 I was alſo ‖ upright † before him, and have kept my ſelf from mine iniquity.

25 Therefore the LORD hath recompenſed me according to my righteouſneſs: according to my cleanneſs † in his eye-ſight.

26 With the merciful thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf merciful, and with the upright man thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf upright.

27 With the pure thou wilt ſhew thy ſelf pure: and with the froward thou wilt ‖ ſhew thy ſelf unſavoury.

28 And the afflicted people thou wilt ſave: but thine eyes are upon the haughty, that thou mayeſt bring them down.

29 For thou art my ‖ lamp, O LORD: and the LORD will lighten my darkneſs.

30 For by thee I have ‖ run through a troop: by my God have I leaped over a wall.

31 As for God, his way is perfect; the word of the LORD is ‖ tried: he is a buckler to all them that truſt in him.

‖ Or, refined.

32 For who is God ſave the LORD? and who is a rock, ſave our God?

33 God is my ſtrength and power: and he † maketh my way perfect.

34 He † maketh my feet like hinds feet: and ſetteth me upon my high places.

35 He teacheth my hands † to war: ſo that a bow of ſteel is broken by mine arms.

36 Thou haſt alſo given me the ſhield of thy ſalvation, and † thy gentleneſs hath † made me great.

37 Thou haſt enlarged my ſteps under me: ſo that my † feet did not ſlip.

38 I have purſued mine enemies, and deſtroyed them, and turned not again until I had conſumed them.

† Heb. and.

39 And I have conſumed them, and wounded them, that they could not ariſe: yea, they are fallen under my feet.

40 For thou haſt girded me with ſtrength to battel: them that roſe up againſt me, haſt thou † ſubdued under me.

41 Thou haſt alſo given me the necks of mine enemies, that I might deſtroy them that hate me.

42 They looked, but there was none to ſave: even unto the LORD, but he anſwered them not.

43 Then did I beat them as ſmall as the duſt of the earth, I did ſtamp them as the mire of the ſtreet, and did ſpread them abroad.

44 Thou alſo haſt delivered me from the ſtrivings of my people, thou haſt kept me to be head of the heathen: a people which I knew not, ſhall ſerve me.

45 † Strangers ſhall ‖ ſubmit themſelves unto me: as ſoon as they hear, they ſhall be obedient unto me.

46 Strangers ſhall fade away, and they ſhall be afraid out of their cloſe places.

47 The LORD liveth, and bleſſed be my rock, and exalted be the God of the rock of my ſalvation.

† Heb. Lift.

48 It is God that † avengeth me, and that bringeth down the people under me;

49 And that bringeth me forth from mine enemies: thou alſo haſt lifted me up on high above them that roſe up againſt me: thou haſt delivered me from the violent man.

50 Therefore I will give thanks unto thee, O LORD, among * the heathen, and I will ſing praiſes unto thy name.

* Rom. 15. 9. Chap. 7. 12.

51 He is the tower of ſalvation for his king: and ſheweth mercy to his anointed, unto David, and * to his ſeed for evermore.

CHAP. XXIII.

David's Laſt words: a character of Princes: of a good ruler, and his uſefulneſs, 1, — 4. His faith in God's covenant with him, 5. Deſtruction to the wicked, 6, 7. David's worthies and their valiant acts, 8, —39.

NOw theſe be the laſt words of David: David the ſon of Jeſſe ſaid, and the man who was raised up on high b, the anointed of the God of Jacob c, and the sweet psalmist of Israel d said, a Not simply the last that he spoke, but some of the last uttered in his last days upon the approach of his death: or, the last which he spake by the Spirit of God, assisting and directing him in an extraordinary manner. b Advanced from an obscure Family and Estate, to the Kingdom. c Whom, though despised by Men, and rejected by his own Brethren, God himself singled out from all his Fathers House, and out of all the Families and Tribes of Israel, and anointed to be King. d Or, sweet, or delightful, or amiable in the Songs of Israel: Either, First, As the object of them: he whom the People of Israel used to celebrate in their Songs with joy and Praise, as when they sung, Saul hath slain his thousands, and David his ten thousands; and many others which doubtless they made and sung concerning him, upon the occasion of his eminent Victories, and the Blessings of his wife and righteous Government; some whereof we have in the Book of Psalms. Or, 2dly, As the Author of them: he who was eminent and famous among the People of God, for the composing of sweet and holy Songs to the praise of God, and for the use of his Church in after Ages: for he did not only indite most of the Book of Psalms, by the the direction of God's Spirit; but also invented the Tunes, or appointed Tunes to which they were to be sung, and the Instruments of Musick which were used in and with those Holy Sons, 1 Chron. 25. 2, &c. Amos 6. 5. If the expressions here used seem arrogant, and not fit to be said by David in his own Praise; let it be considered, That holy Men spake by Inspiration from God; and therefore must follow his suggestions impartially, as indeed they do, sometimes in the publishing their own Praises; which yet is never done unnecessarily, and always moderately; and sometimes in the publishing of their own infirmities and shame, as they are moved thereunto, and as the Edification of the Church requires. Secondly, That these seem not to be the words of David, but of the Sacred Pen-man of this Book, to make for, and gain the greater attention and respect unto David's following words.

2 The Spirit of the LORD spake by me, and his word was in my tongue e:

e The following words, and consequently the other words and Psalms composed and uttered by me upon the like solemn occasions, are not to be looked upon as my private Fancies or humane Inventions, but both the matter and the words of them are suggested and governed by God's Spirit, which is the great Teacher of the Church.

* Deut. 32. 4. † Or, He that rules.

3 The God of Israel said, * The rock of Israel f spake to me g: ‖ He that ruleth over men must be just, ruling in the fear of God h:

f He who is the strength, and defence, and protector of his People; which he here manifests by obliging and directing Kings and Rulers so to manage their Power and Authority as may most conduce to their comfort and benefit. g By way of command. Or, of me, by way of Prediction and Promise concerning me and my House, and the Messias who is to come out of my Loins. h Thus it is a Precept or Declaration of the Duty of Kings, and particularly of Solomon his Son (to whom as a dying Man he gives this Advice) and of his Successors the Kings of God's Israel, for whole Instruction he gives this Rule. And so here are the two principal parts of a King's Duty, answerable to the two Tables of God's Law, Justice towards Men, and Piety towards God, both which he is to maintain and promote among his People. To which if you add Diligence and Clemency, whereby a King renders his Government not frightful and burdensom, but acceptable and amiable to his People, which possibly may be meant by the following Similitudes, here is a compleat Character of an excellent Prince or Governour. Others make it a Prophecy of Christ, and then the words are or may be thus rendred, There shall be a Ruler over Men (or rather, among Men, as the Hebrew word properly signifies, to wit, the Messias, who, though he be the Eternal and Invisible God, yet shall visibly appear and rule among Men) a just or righteous one (a Title oft given to Christ, as Isa. 53. 11. Jer. 23. 5, 6. and 33. 15. Zech. 9. 9.) ruling in the fear of the Lord, making it his great business to advance the Service, and Worship, and Glory of the Lord: or, as it is in the Hebrew, ruling the fear of the Lord; i.e. Governing and ordering the Worship of God, which is oft called, the fear of God. And to this Clause is added to prevent or remove feandals and offences which might be taken at the Messias when he should come, because of his changing and abrogating the Ceremonial Law; and to insinuate that he should have no less power in the governing of God's House and Worship, than Moses had; and that he might make such Laws as he thought meet. And if this be the meaning of the place, then as Jacob, being greatly afflicted with the troubles which he by the Spirit of Prophecy foresaw were coming upon his Posterity, comforts himself with the thoughts of that great and glorious Salvation of God, which he also foresaw and waited for, Gen. 49. 18. So David reflecting upon the great Disorders, and Miscarriages, and Calamities which had already arisen in his House; and either, wisely presaging, or foreseeing by the Spirit of the Lord, ver. 2. that the same sins and miseries should befal his Posterity and Successors; for comforts himself with this Consideration, That one of them should be a most excellent Person; Just, and Pious, and Merciful, and an unspeakable Blessing to David himself, and to all his Family and People, and to the whole World, even the great Messias, who was undoubtedly revealed to, and expected by David, as appears by many passages of the Psalms, and by other Scriptures.

* Judg. 5. 31. Hab. 3. 3, 4. Prov. 4. 18. Hos. 6. 3.

4 And * he shall be i as the light of the morning, when the Sun riseth, even a morning without clouds; as the tender grass springing out of the earth by clear shining after rain.

i These words are either, 1. A further Description of the King's Duty, which is not only to Rule with exact Justice and Piety, but also with sweetness, and gentleness, and condescension to the Infirmities of his People; to render his Government as pleasant and acceptable to them, as is the Sun-shine in a clear Morning, or the tender Grass which springs out of the Earth by the warm and refreshing Beams of the Sun after the Rain, which hath a peculiar kind of sweetness and fragrancy in it. Or rather, 2. A Prediction or Declaration of the sweet and blessed Effects of such a Government, both to the Governour himself, in that Peace, and Prosperity, and Glory, and Happiness which it brings to him, and to his People; to whom it is no less grateful, and comfortable, and beneficial, than those great and publick Blessings of Sun-shine and Rain, and the Fruits which they produce: Which is true of every good King or Governour; but most eminently of the Messias.

5 Although my house be not so with God k; yet he hath made with me an everlasting covenant l, ordered in all things m and sure n: for o this is ‖ all my salvation q, and all my desire r, although he make it s not to grow.

k Although God knows that neither I, nor my Children have lived and Ruled as we should have done, so justly, and in the fear of the Lord; and therefore have not enjoyed that uninterrupted Prosperity which we might have enjoyed: but our Morning-light, or, the beginning of that Kingdom promised to me and mine for ever, hath been over-cast with many black and dismal Clouds, and my Children have not hitherto been like the tender Grass springing out of the Earth, and thriving by the influences of the Sun and Rain; but rather like the Grass that withereth away, or is cut off before its due time. l Notwithstanding all our Transgressions wherein we have broken Covenant with God, and the Confusions and Civil Wars which have threatned our Dissipation and utter Destruction; yet I comfort my self with this, That God, to whom all my Sins were fore-known before I committed them, was graciously pleased to make a free Covenant, to give and continue the Kingdom to me, and to my Seed for ever, chap. 7. 16. until the coming of the Messias; who is to be my Son and Successor, and whole Kingdom shall have no End. m Ordained in all Points by God's Eternal and Unchangeable Counsel; and disposed by his wise and powerful Providence, which doth and will over-rule all things, even the Sins and Sufferings of my House so far, that although he would punish them for their Sins, yet he will not utterly root them out, nor break his Covenant made with me and mine; as is said, Psal. 89. 31, 32, 33, 34. n Or, preserved, or observed, or kept; to wit, on God's part, or by God's Power and Faithfulness in the midst of all the Oppositions and Uncertainties to which it seems to be exposed on our part: Compare Rom. 3. 3. and 2 Tim. 2. 13. o Or therefore, as the Hebrew Particle, chi, oft signifies; therefore i.e. because God hath made such a Covenant. p Or, he is, he who hath made this Covenant: or, in this is, i.e. it consists in, and depends upon this Covenant. q Both my own Eternal Salvation, and the Temporal Salvation, or the Preservation of the Kingdom to me and mine. r Or, every delectable thing; the word desire being oft put for desired, or a desirable Thing, as Psal. 21. 2. and 78. 29, 30. Ezek. 24. 16. David being deeply sensible, and having had large experience of the vanity and uncertainty of all earthly things, here declares, That the Covenant made by God with him, and his in the Messias, is the only happiness which he prizeth and desireth, in which he doth fully acquiesce. s i.e. My House, mentioned before. The sentence is, Although God as yet hath not made my House or Family to grow or to increase, or to flourish with worldly Glory and Prosperity, as I expected; but hath for my Sins cut off divers of my most eminent Branches, and sorely afflicted my Person and Family; and although he may for the future deal in like manner with my Sons and Successors for the like miscarriages, which it is probable they may commit: yet this is my great support and comfort, that God will constantly and inviolably keep this Covenant; and therefore, in the midst of all the Ruins, and confusions, and interruptions, which may happen in my House, and Kingdom, will preserve my Line and Family until the coming of the Messiah out of my Loins, whole Kingdom is an Everlasting Kingdom; who, as he is the desire of all Nations, Hag. 2. 7. so in a special manner is my desire, and the Author of all my Salvation.

6 ¶ But the sons of Belial t shall be all of them as thorns thrust away u, because they cannot be taken with hands.

t Or, the Men of Belial, as it is expressed 2 Sam. 16. 7. and elsewhere. Having in the foregoing Verses described the nature, and felicity, and stability of that Kingdom which God himself had by a free and everlasting Covenant settled upon him and his Seed; and especially, upon the Messiah, who was to be one of his Posterity; he now describes the quality, the mischievous nature, the hazardous and miserable condition, of all the Enemies of this Holy and Blessed Kingdom, whom he justly calleth sons of Belial, because they rebelled against God's appointment, and against that King whom God had set over them: for which reason others are to called, 1 Sam. 10. 27. 2 Chron. 13. 7. u Which Men do not use to handle, as they do other Trees, but thrust them away from themselves, by some Instrument chosen for that purpose. And so will God remove, or thrust away from himself, and from his People, and Kingdom, all those who shall either secretly or openly set themselves against it. And this may be here added, either, 1. By way of Prescription to Rulers, whom, as before, he admonished to be just and kind to their People, ver. 3, 4. So here he requires them to be severe in Punishing, and Purging away wicked and incorrigible Men from about his Throne, and from among his People; the Encouraging of the Good, and the Punishing of the Bad, being the two chief Works of every good Magistrate, and the two Pillars of all Government. Or, 2. By way of caution; to shew, That notwithstanding the holiness, and happiness, and fureness of this Kingdom, yet there would be sons of Belial in it, who would endeavour to disturb, and overthrow it, but in vain, and fall upon their own Heads.

7 But the man that shall touch them, must be † fenced with iron, and ‖ the staff of a spear x, and they shall be utterly burnt with fire in the same place z.

† Heb. filled. Or, he that touches them.

x So the meaning is, He must fill his Hand, or Arm himself with some Iron Weapon, whereby he may cut them down; or, with the staff of a spear, or some such like thing; whereby he may thrust them away from himself, that they do him no hurt. Or thus, he will be filled, or will fill himself; i.e. his Hand, wherewith he attempted to touch, and take them with Thorns, as with iron and the staff of a spear. i.e. He will be as surely and sorely wounded, as if one should run the Iron-head, and part of the Wood of a Spear, into his Hand. y Or, therefore, because Men cannot safely touch them, therefore they will burn them up. Or, or, i.e. if they do not cut them down with Iron, or thrust them away with the Staff of a Spear, they will burn and consume them. z Or, in their place; where they grow or stand; and they will not trouble or hazard themselves to remove them. Withal, it may imply, that they shall be destroyed, when, and where they thought themselves most secure, even in their own place. And, it may possibly intimate, That those Children of Belial, the wicked and unbelieving Jews, who rejected and rebelled against the Messiah, David's Successor, and their lawful King, should be destroyed in their great, and strong, and holy City Jerusalem, where the greatest part of that People were gathered together as Fewel for the Fire, and were destroyed together by the Romans under Titus, where also their wicked Predecessors had been destroyed by Nebuchadnezzar in former times.

8 ¶ These be the names of the mighty men whom David had a; ‖ The Tachmonite b that sate in the seat, chief among the captains (the same was Adino the Eznite d) he lift up his spear e against eight hundred, whom he slew at one time f.

Or, Josheb-basshebeth the Tachmonite, head of the captains. † See 1 Chron. 11. 11. and 27. 2. † Heb. sitting.

a i.e. Of his chief and most valiant Commanders. And as it was noted upon chap. 21. 1. that the things related in that Chapter were done before Absalom's and Sheba's Rebellion, though they be mentioned after them; so that Opinion is confirm'd by this Catalogue, which though placed here, was taken long before, as is manifest from hence, that Adael and Uriah are named here. And whereas there are some differences between this List, and that, 1 Chron. 11. moft of them are eafily reconciled by thefe two Conſiderations; 1. That nothing is more common than for one Perſon to have divers Names. 2. That as ſome of the Worthies died, and others came in their ſtead; ſo this muſt needs cauſe ſome alteration in the latter Catalogue, 1 Chron. 11. from this which was the former. b Or, Hachmonite, called Jaſhobeam, 1 Chron. 11. 11. from his place; or, as here, Joſheb-baſſhebeth; i.e. as we render it, that ſate in the ſeat; i.e. Was, under Joab, Chief, or Preſident of the Council of War, or Lieutenant (locum tenens.) c This was his proper Name. d So called, either from his Family, or from the place of his Birth or Education. e Which words are fitly ſupplied out of 1 Chron. 11. 11 where they are expreſſed. Or thus, he was above 800; i.e. He conquered them. So there is only an Elliptis of the Verb ſubſtantive, which is moſt frequent. f In one Battel, which though it be ſtrange, yet cannot ſeem incredible, ſuppoſing him to be a Perſon of extraordinary ſtrength and activity, and his Enemies to be weak, or diſcouraged, and fleeing away; and eſpecially, God's ſingular Bleſſing, and Aſſiſtance: all which may very reaſonably be ſuppoſed. Obj. But this Man is ſaid to have ſlain only 300 in 1 Chron. 11. 11. Anſ. 1. Poſſibly he ſlew 800 at one time, and 300 at another; whereof the former is related here, as being moſt conſiderable; and the latter in the Book of Chronicles, which ſupplies many Paſſages omitted in the former Writings. 2. He ſlew 300 with his own Hands, and the other 500, though killed by his Men, are ſaid to be ſlain by him, becauſe he was the chief Cauſe of all their deaths; for he by his undaunted Courage killing 300, put the reſt to flight, who were eaſily ſlain by his Soldiers, in the Purſuit. 3. Some of the Hebrew Writers affirm, That theſe were two diſtinct Perſons, being called by differing Names; the one the Father, and the other the Son, who ſucceeded his Father, as in Strength and Valour, ſo alſo in his place of Honour and Truſt.

t Being hot and thirſty, he expreſſeth how acceptable a draught of that water would be to him; as it is uſual with Men to do in ſuch caſes: but was far from deſiring, or expecting that any of his Men ſhould hazard their Lives to procure it, as appears from ver. 17.

16 And the three mighty men brake through the hoſt of the Philiſtines u, and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David: nevertheleſs he would not drink thereof x, but poured it out unto the LORD y.

CHAP. XXIV.

David tempted by Satan ſeeth Joab to number the people: who are thereon hunded thouſand fighting men, 1.—9. David acknowledgeth his ſin in it: having three judgments propounded by God: he is in great diſtreſs, and chuſeth the peſtilence: of which ſeventy thouſand men die, 10.—15. David by his humiliation preventeth the deſtruction of Jeruſalem, 15, 17. He by God's direction and order from God purchaſeth Araunah's threſhing floor to build an altar there: on which being ſacrificed, the plague ſtayeth, 18.—25.

AND again a the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Iſrael, and ‖ he moved David b againſt them c, to ſay d, Go number Iſrael and Judah.

a To wit, after the former tokens of his Anger, ſuch as the three years Famine, chap. 21. b Heb. Who? Either, 1. Satan, as is expreſſed, 1 Chron. 21. 1. Or, 2. God; who is ſaid, in like manner, to ſtir up Satan againſt David, 1 Sam. 26. 19. and to turn the hearts of the Egyptians to hate his people, Pſalm. 105. 25. and to make men to err from his ways, Iſa. 63. 17. and to ſend ſtrong deluſions, &c. and to harden their hearts. All which Expreſſions are not ſo to be underſtood, as if God did work theſe ſinful Diſpoſitions; which neither was neceſſary, becauſe they are naturally in every Man's heart, nor poſſible for the Holy God to do; but becauſe he permits them, and withdraws his Grace, and all reſtraints and hindrances from them, and giveth occaſions and advantages to them; and directs their Thoughts to ſuch Objects as may indeed be innocently thought of, which yet he knows they will wickedly abuſe, and give them up to Satan, who, he knows, will deceive and entice them to ſuch and ſuch Sins; which, being tempted to do by Satan, and being effected by their own wicked Hearts, he ſo orders and over-rules, that they ſhall be Puniſhments for their former Sins. c I.e. For Iſrael's Puniſhment. d Or, ſaying. For this may be referred, either, 1. to God, of whom the ſame Expreſſion is uſed, 2 Sam. 16. 10. The Lord ſaid to Shimei, Curſe David. Which in both places is not to be underſtood of any command or impulſe of God, but of his ſecret Providence diſpoſing things in manner here above expreſſed. Or, 2. To David: he moved David to ſay, to wit, to Joab as he did, ver. 2.

2 For the king ſaid to Joab the captain of the hoſt, which was with him, ‖ Go now through all the tribes of Iſrael, from Dan even to Beerſheba, and number ye the people, that I may know the number of the people e.

Or, Compaſs.

e Which Expreſſion points at David's Sin in this matter, that he numbred them, not by direction from God, nor for any important buſineſs of the Church or Kingdom; but out of meer curioſity, and pride, and vain-glory; accompanied either with a ſecret diſtruſt of God's Promiſe; or rather, with a carnal confidence in the Numbers of his People. All which were great Sins, and were ſo manifeſt, that not only God ſaw them, and all the degrees and aggravations of them in David; but even Joab and the Captains of the Hoſt were very ſenſible of them, ver. 3, 4.

3 And Joab ſaid unto the king, Now the LORD thy God add unto the people (how many ſoever they be) an hundred fold, and that the eyes of my lord the king may ſee it: but why doth my lord the king delight in this thing f?

f What reaſon or neceſſity is there for this Action? It is to no purpoſe, and will be burdenſome to thy People, and may offend God, and produce ill Effects.

4 Notwithſtanding, the kings word prevailed againſt Joab g, and againſt the captains of the hoſt: and Joab and the captains of the hoſt went out from the preſence of the king, to number the people of Iſrael.

g Joab perceiving the King bent upon it, would not hazard the King's Favour, by further diſputing, or diſobeying his Command.

5 ¶ And they paſſed over Jordan h, and pitched i in Aroer, on the right ſide of the city that lieth in the midſt of the ‖ river of Gad k, and toward Jazer l.

Or, Valley.

h They began their Computation in the Eaſtern part of David's Dominions, which were beyond Jordan. Or, encamped. For Joab carried with them divers of his Commanders, and others; partly, for his honour, and the credit of the work: partly, to aſſiſt him in that troubleſome work: and partly, to overcome the People, in caſe they ſhould oppoſe it as ſinful or burdenſome, or favouring of ſome evil Deſign which David might have upon them. i I.e. Of the River which lay in the Tribe of Gad, or upon the borders of Gad and Reuben, which was called Arnon, Deut. 2. 36. † Or, near Jazer, which alſo was upon the River Arnon.

6 Then they came to Gilead m, and to the ‖ land of Tahtim-hodſhi n; and they came to Dan-Jaan o, and about to Zidon p, m To Mount Gilead, which lay Northward from Arnon. n A Place ſo called. Or, the low-land lately gained; i. e. not given by Joſhua, but taken lately from the Heathens by Saul; which was near Gilead, 1 Chron. 5. 10. o I.e. Probably, the famous City of Dan, as it is called, Joſh 19 47. Judg. 18. 7. for this was in the Northern Border of the Land, and in the way from Gilead to Zidon. p i. e. To the City and Territory of Zidon; but not into it, becauſe it was not in the Power and Poſſeſſion of the Iſraelites: and the like is to be thought concerning Tyre, and the Cities which the Hivites and Canaanites yet poſſeſſed in the Neighbourhood of Tyre and Sidon.

Or, Nether-land newly inhabited.

7 And came to the ſtrong hold of Tyre, and to all the cities of the Hivites, and of the Canaanites: and they went out to the ſouth of Judah, even to Beerſheba.

8 So when they had gone through all the land, they came to Jeruſalem at the end of nine months and twenty days.

9 And Joab gave up the ſum of the number of the people unto the king: and there were in Iſrael eight hundred thouſand q valiant men that drew the ſword; and the men of Judah were five hundred thouſand r men.

q Obj. In 1 Chron. 21. 5. They are numbred 1100 thouſand: Anſw. The ſum here expreſſed, is only of ſuch as were not in the ordinary and ſtanded Militia waiting upon the King, which being 24000 for every Month, as is largely related, 1 Chron. 27. amounts to 288 thouſand, which either with their ſeveral Commanders, or with the Soldiers placed in ſeveral Gariſons, might very well make up 300 Thouſand. Or, 288 Thouſand may paſs in ſuch accounts for 300 Thouſand; it being frequent in ſuch great Sums to neglect a ſmaller number. But in the Book of the Chronicles, which was to gather up the Fragments omitted in the former Books, both ſorts are put together, and ſo they amount to 1100 Theuſand. r In 1 Chron. 21. 5. but 470 Thouſand. Anſ. Either, 1. they were exactly no more, but are called 500 Thouſand in a round ſum, as is uſual in Scripture, and other Authors, Or, 2. the Gariſon-Soldiers and ſuch as were imployed in other Services about the King are here included, which are there excluded. Or, 3. They were 500 Thouſand when Joab gave up the Number to the King; though preſently after that, they were but 470 Thouſand, 30000 being ſlain by the Plague, in the Tribe of Judah; which being David's own Tribe, it was but juſt and fit it ſhould ſuffer more than the reſt for this Sin. And though it be true, that Joab gave up the Sum before the Plague began, yet the ſecret Pen-man of the Book of Chronicles thought fit to make a defalcation of them who had been ſwept away by the Plague, that the Judgment of God therein might be obſerved. Or

Or, 4. There are included here the 30000 which belonged to the 30 Colonels mentioned Chap. 23. who are excluded 1 Chron. 21. although it be queſtionable, whether thoſe were all of the Tribe of Judah.

10 ¶ And David's heart ſmote s him after that he had numbred the people: and David ſaid unto the LORD, I have ſinned greatly in that I have done: and now I beſeech thee, O LORD, take away the iniquity of thy ſervant; for t I have done very fooliſhly.

s His Conſcience diſcerned his Sin, and he was heartily ſorry for it. And the occaſion of his Repentance was, God's Meſſage by the Prophet Gad, as it here follows, ver. 11. For when, &c. as formerly Nathan Meſſage by Nathan had the ſame effect, 2 Sam. 12. Both which Paſſages are noted, to ſhew how neceſſary the further and repeated ſupplies of God's Grace, are even to the beſt of Men, to raiſe them when they fall into Sin. t Becauſe I am ſenſible of my Sin and Folly, as it is more fully expreſſed, Pſal. 51. 5, 6. Or, although, as this Particle is often uſed.

11 For when David was up in the morning, the word of the LORD came unto the prophet Gad, David's ‖ ſeer u, ſaying, u So called, becauſe he was a Prophet (for ſuch were called Seers, 1 Sam. 9. 9.) now and at other times employed by God to reveal his Mind and Will to David. See 1 Sam. 22. 5. 1 Chron. 29. 29.

‖ 2 Chron. 29. 25.

12 Go, and ſay unto David, Thus ſaith the LORD, I offer thee three things; chooſe thee one of them, that I may do it unto thee.

13 So Gad came to David, and told him, and ſaid unto him, Shall ſeven years of famine x come unto thee, in thy land? or wilt thou flee three months before thine enemies, while they purſue thee? or that there be three days peſtilence in thy land? now adviſe, and ſee what anſwer I ſhall return to him that ſent me.

x Obj. In 1 Chron. 21. 12. it is only three years of famine. Anſ. 1. Some conceive, that here was an Error in the Tranſcriber, and that the true Reading is, three years, as the LXX read it in this place, being ſuppoſed to have found it ſo in their Copies, and that otherwiſe they durſt never have preſumed to make ſo great a change in the Text. 2. In Chron. he ſpeaks exactly of thoſe years of Famine only which came for David's Sin: but here he ſpeaks more confuſedly and compehenſively, including thoſe Three Years of Famine ſent for Saul's Sin, Chap. 21. And this Sin of David's was committed in the Year next after them, which was in a manner a year of Famine; either, becauſe it was the Sabbatical Year, wherein they might not Sow, nor Reap: or rather, becauſe not being able to Sow in the Third Year, becauſe of the exceſſive Drought, they were not capable of Reaping this Fourth Year. And Three Years more being added to theſe Four, make up the Seven here mentioned. So the meaning of the Words is this, As thou haſt already had Four Years of Famine, ſhall Three Years more come? And that it is ſaid of theſe Seven Years, that they ſhall come, it is a Synecdochical Expreſſion frequent in Scripture, becauſe part of the Years were yet to come. Even as it is ſaid of the Iſraelites, that they ſhould wander in the wilderneſs forty years, Numb. 14 33. when part of that time was already ſpent.

14 And David ſaid unto Gad, I am in a great ſtrait, let us fall now into the hand of the LORD; (for his mercies are ‖ great y) and let me not fall into the hand of man.

y To wit, his immediate Stroke, which is chiefly in the Peſtilence: for though the Sword and Famine be alſo God's Hand, yet there is alſo the hand of Man, or other Creatures in them. The reaſon of this choice was partly his Experience in, and confidence of God's great goodneſs: partly, becauſe the other Judgments, eſpecially the Sword, had been more inſtrumentally, not only to David, but alſo to God, and to his People, and to the True Religion: and partly, becauſe he having ſinned himſelf, thought it fair and reaſonable to chuſe ſuch a Plague to which he was as ſo notorious as his People; whereas, he had better fences for himſelf againſt Sword and Famine than they had. z And therefore will not exceed meaſure in his Strokes, as often will do.

15 ¶ So the LORD ſent a Peſtilence upon Iſrael, from the morning even to the time appointed a: and there died of the people from Dan even to Beerſheba, ſeventy thouſand men b.

a Either, 1. From Morning to Evening, which is here called the time appointed; or, the time of the convention, or, publick meeting, as this Hebrew Word oft ſignifies, i.e. till the time of the Evening-Prayer and Sacrifice, when the People uſed more ſolemnly to meet together. See Pſal. 141. 2. Act. 3. 1. Thus God mitigated his Sentence, and turned three days into one; it being a thing unuſual with God, to qualifie his threatnings, and to take off the evil threatned ſometimes wholly, as in Nineveh's Caſe, and ſometimes in part. And this God might do here upon the ſpeedy and ſerious Repentance of David, and of his People. Or rather, 2. from the morning, (or rather, from the morning, for the Article ſeems to be Emphatical, and to denote, That very morning in which God came to David, ver. 11. and that the Plague did immediately enſue after God's offer, and David's choice:) even to the time appointed; to wit, by God, i. e. for Three Days, as God had ſet the time, ver. 13. Oyeth. If it continued Three Days, how is it ſaid, That God repented him of the evil, and ſtopped the Angel in his courſe? ver. 16. Anſw. This he did in the beginning of the Third Day, whereas otherwiſe it ſhould have gone on to the end of the Day. Or, it may ſignifie no more but this; At the end of the Third Day God gave over ſmiting: For then is God ſaid (after the manner of Men) to repent, when he ceaſeth to proceed as before he had done.

b So the number of his People, which was the matter of his pride and glorying was diminiſhed.

16 And when the angel c ſtretched out his hand upon Jeruſalem d to deſtroy it, * the LORD repented him of the evil e, and ſaid to the angel that deſtroyed the people, It is enough: ſtay now thine hand. And the angel of the LORD was by the threſhing-place of * Araunah f the Jebuſite.

* 1 Sam. 15. 29. 21.

* 1 Chron. 21. 15, 20, 21.

c Which appeared in the ſhape of a Man with a Sword in his hand, 1 Chron. 21. 16. to convince them more fully that this was no natural nor common Plague, but inflicted immediately by the hand of God. d Which he had begun to inflict, and was proceeding to make a far greater ſlaughter. e I.e. He moderated, and in part recalled his Sentence of the Plagues continuance for three whole days, and this he did upon David's Prayers and Sacrifices, as appears from v. 20. though theſe be mentioned afterward. f Called alſo Arnijah in the Hebrew of v. 15. and Ornan, 1 Chron. 21. 25. ſuch changes in the pronunciation of the names being uſual in Scripture.

17 And David ſpake unto the LORD, when he ſaw the angel that ſmote the people, and ſaid, Lo, I have ſinned, and I have done wickedly: but theſe ſheep, what have they done? Let thine hand, I pray thee, be againſt me g, and againſt my fathers houſe h.

g Wherein David ſhews his Juſtice, and Piety, and Fatherly care of his People, and that he was a Type of Chriſt. h Againſt my neareſt Relations, who probably either put David upon, or encouraged him in this action, becauſe they were no leſs vain-glorious than David; and the honour which they thought would come to David thereby, would alſo redound to them; or, at leaſt they did not uſe their utmoſt endeavours to diſſuade David from it, as they ſhould have done, and therefore were involved in David's Guilt. However it was but juſt and reaſonable that his Family which did partake of his honour and happineſs, ſhould alſo partake in his ſuffering, rather than thoſe who were leſs related to him. Nor doth David abſolutely decline that they may ſuffer, but only ſpeaks comparatively, and by way of ſuppoſition, and with reference to God's good pleaſure.

18 ¶ And Gad came that day to David i, and ſaid unto him, Go up k, rear an altar unto the LORD in the threſhing-floor of Araunah the Jebuſite l.

i By command from God, v. 19. 1 Chron. 21. 18. k To Mount Moriah. l Which place God appointed for this work, partly, in gracious condeſcention to, and compliance with David's fear of going to Gibeon, which is expreſſed 1 Chron. 21. 25, 30. partly, becauſe this was the place where God by his Angel appeared in a threatning poſture, where therefore it was meet he ſhould be appeaſed: and partly, becauſe God would hereby ſignifie the tranſlation of the Tabernacle from Gibeon hither, and the erection of the Temple here, 2 Chron. 3. 1.

19 And David, according to the ſaying of Gad, went up, as the LORD commanded.

20 And Araunah looked, and ſaw the king, and his ſervants coming on toward him: and Araunah went out, and bowed himſelf before the king, on his face upon the ground.

21 And Araunah ſaid, Wherefore is my lord the king come to his ſervant m? And David ſaid, To buy the threſhing-floor of thee, to build an altar unto the LORD, that † the plague may be ſtayed from the people.

† Sacrifices may be offered, and ſo the trouble of coming to me?

m Wherefore doth the King do me this honour, and give him-ſelf

22 And Araunah ſaid unto David, Let my lord the king take and offer up what ſeemeth good unto him: Behold, here be oxen n for burnt-ſacrifice, and threſhing-inſtruments, and other inſtruments of the oxen for wood.

n Which were employed by him in his preſent work, which was threſhing, 1 Chron. 21. 20. See the notes on Deut. 25. 4.

23 All theſe things did Araunah, as a king o give unto the king: and Araunah ſaid unto the king, The LORD thy God accept thee p.

o The Particle, as, being underſtood, as it oft is in the Hebrew: i.e. with a Royal Bounty. Or, Araunah the king; as he might be called, either, becauſe he was king of the Jebuſites before David took their City: or, becauſe he was the Son and Heir of that King. p He not only offered, but actually gave them. I.e. he actually reſigned his right and property in them unto David; for to be did; and David by his refuſal returned it to Araunah again. Or he was a Jebuſite by Nation, but an hearty Proſelyte: whom made him to liberal in his offers to God's ſervice, and the common good of God's People.

24 And the king ſaid unto Araunah, Nay, but I will ſurely buy it of thee at a price: neither will I offer burnt-offerings unto the LORD my God, of that which doth coſt me nothing r. So David * bought the threſhing-floor, and the oxen, for fifty ſhekels of ſilver ſ.

* 1 Chron. 21. 25.

r For this would be both dishonourable to God, as if I thought him not worthy of a coftly Sacrifice: and a difparagement to my felf, as if I were unable and unwilling to offer a Sacrifice of my own Goods: and unfatisfactory to the Command of God, which obligeth all offenders, and me in a particular manner, to offer Sacrifice of their own Eftate. f Obj. In 1 Chron. 21. 25. he is faid to give for the place fix hundred fhekels of gold by weight. Anf. Thefe two places may be fairly reconciled divers ways. Firft, Here he fpeaks of the price paid for the threfhing-floor, and oxen, and Inftruments; and there for the whole place adjoyning, on which the Temple and its Courts were built, which certainly was very much larger than this Threfhing-floor, and probably had Araunah's Houfe, if not fome others, now built upon it. Secondly, The Shekels here may be of Gold; and in 1 Chron. 21. of Silver; and fo the proportion of Gold to Silver being that of twelve to one, 50 Shekels of Gold make 600 Shekels of Silver. And whereas it may be objected, That on the contrary thefe 50 Shekels are faid to be of Silver, and the 600 of Gold; this they anfwer by another tranflation of the words. For they render this place thus, agreeably enough to the words and the order of the Hebrew Text, he bought them for filver, (or, for money, as the Hebrew word Chefeph, oft fignifies, and particularly in this very hiftory in the parallel place, 1 Chron. 21. 24. where David defires to buy it for the full price, or for full money, where in the Hebrew it is for full filver): even for fifty fhekels, to wit, of Gold, as it is expreffed 1 Chron. 21. 25. which place they render thus, and that confonantly to the Hebrew, he gave fhekels of gold of the value (for the Hebrew word Mifkhal, fignifies value as well as weight, as was before noted on 2 Sam. 12. 30.) of fix hundred fhekels, to wit, of Silver. And this may feem added in the Book of the Chronicles, left it fhould be thought that the 50 Shekels here mentioned were but common and Silver Shekels. Thirdly, There is a confiderable difference in the Phrafe in thefe two places. Here he mentions for what David bought it, or what he was obliged to give for it; and in Chronicles what he actually gave for it, to wit, of his Royal bounty, over and befides the full price of it: which was decent and convenient for fo great a King, and efpecially upon fo great an occafion, and to him who had given him fuch a noble example.

25 And David built there an altar unto the LORD t, and offered burnt-offerings u, and peace-offerings x: fo the LORD was intreated for the land y, and the plague was ftayed from Ifrael.

t Which he might well do, having God's command for it, and the place being Sanctified by God's fpecial prefence in and by the Angel. u To make atonement for his fins. x To praife God for his Gracious manifeftation of himfelf. y As appeared both by fire from Heaven, which confumed the Sacrifice; as was ufual in fuch cafes: and by the fpeedy ceffation of the Plague.

I. KINGS.

The ARGUMENT.

These two Books called of the Kings, becaufe they treat of the Kings of Judah and Ifrael, were written by the Prophets or Holy Men of God, living in or near their feveral times, and by fome one of them digefted into the order. But whoever was the Penman, that thefe are a part of thofe Holy Scriptures which were Divinely infpired, is fufficiently evident, Firft, From the concurring Teftimony of the whole Jewifh Church in all Ages, to whom were committed the Oracles of God, Rom. 3. 2. who alfo did faithfully difcharge their Duty in preferving and delivering them entirely and truly to their Pofterity from time to time, as plainly appears, becaufe Chrift and his Apoftles who, reproved them freely for their feveral fins, never taxed them with this fault, of depraving the Holy Scriptures of the Old Teftament. Secondly, Becaufe this is manifeft concerning divers parcels of them which were taken out of the Records of the Prophets Nathan, Ahijah and Iddo, 2 Chron. 9. 29. and out of the Prophefies of Ifaiah and Jeremiah; and the reft doubtlefs were of the fame nature. Thirdly, From the approbation of thefe Books by the New Teftament, both generally, as 2 Tim. 3. 16. All Scripture is given by infpiration from God, &c. which is affirmed concerning all thofe Holy Scriptures which Timothy had known from a child, v. 15. and therefore muft neceffarily be meant of all the Books of the Old Teftament, which the Jews owned for Canonical Scripture; and particularly Rom. 11. 2, 3, &c. where a paffage out of thofe Books is quoted and owned as a part of the Holy Scripture, called the Scripture by way of eminency.

CHAP. I.

Abifhag cherifheth David in his extream Age, 1,——4. Adonijah ufurpeth the Kingdom. 5,——10. by the Counfel of Nathan to Bathfheba, and their Petition to David, he reneweth his Oath of making Solomon King after him, 11,——31. He, by David's appointment, is anointed King, the People Triumph, 32,——40. Adonijah hearing this, his Guefts flee, and himfelf fleeth to the horns of the Altar: is pardoned by Solomon, and fent to his own Houfe, 41,——53.

NOW king David was old, and † ftricken in years a, and they covered him with cloathes, but he gat no heat b.

a Being in the end of his feventieth Year. b Which is not ftrange in a Perfon not only of fo great an Age, but alfo who had been exercifed with fo many hardfhips in War, and with fuch tormenting cares, and fears, and forrows, for his own fins (as divers of his Pfalms witnefs) and for the fins an miferies of his Children and People. See Prov. 17. 22. Befides, this might be from the nature of his Difeafe, or Bodily Diftemper.

2 Wherefore his fervants c faid unto him, † Let there be fought for my lord the king † a young virgin d, and let her ftand before the king e, and let her † cherifh him, and lie her lie in thy bofom f, that my lord the king may get heat.

c His Phyficians. d Whofe natural Heat is frefh and wholfome, and not impaired with bearing or breeding of Children. The fame counfel doth Galen give for the cure of fome cold and dry Diftempers. e i.e. Minifter unto him, or wait upon him, (as this Phrafe is often ufed) in his ficknefs, as occafion requires. f As his Wife or Concubine: for that fhe was fo, may appear by divers arguments. Firft, Otherwife this had been a wicked counfel and courfe; which therefore neither his Servants durft have prefcribed, nor would David have ufed, efpecially being now in a dying condition. And feeing this was eafily prevented by his talking her for his Concubine, which then was efteemed allowable, it is abfurd to think that he would not chufe the fafer way. Secondly, That paffage, v. 4. but the king knew her not, implies that the King might have had carnal knowledge of her without fin or fcandal. Thirdly, It appears from this Phrafe of lying in his bofom, which is every where in Scripture mentioned as the priviledge of a Wife and Concubine, as Gen. 16. 5. Deut. 13. 6. 2 Sam. 12. 8. Mic. 7. 5. Fourthly, This made Adonijah's Crime in defiring her to Wife, fo hainous in Solomon's account, becaufe he wifely faw, that by Marrying the King's Wife he defigned to revive his pretence to the Kingdom, at leaft in cafe of Solomon's death; which pretence had been ridiculous, if fhe had been only the King's handmaid.

3 So they fought for a fair damfel g throughout all the coafts of Ifrael; and found Abifhag a Shunamite h, and brought her to the king.

g Whofe beauty might engage his affections, and refrefh his fpirits, and invite him to thofe embraces which might communicate fome of her natural Heat to him, as was defigned. h Of the City of Shunem in Iffachar, Jof. 19. 18. See 2 Kings 4. 8.

4 And the damfel was very fair, and cherifhed the king, and miniftred unto him: but the king knew her not i.

i Which is mentioned to note the continuance and progrefs of the King's Malady, and the ground of Adonijah's Rebellion, and of his following requeft, chap. 2. 17.

5 ¶ Then k Adonijah the fon of Haggith l exalted himfelf m, faying, I will † be king n: and he † prepared him charets, and horfemen, and fifty men to run before him o.

k Upon notice of the defperateneſs of the King's Diſeaſe, and the approach of his death. l See 2 Sam. 3. 4. m Encreafed high thoughts and defigns. n As the right of the Kingdom is mine, v. 6. fo I will now take poſſeſſion of it, leſt Solomon attempt to deprive me of it. o As Abſalom had done upon the like occaſion, 2 Sam. 15. 1. ſuch ill uſe did he make of that example, that he committed the ſame wickedneſs which he had done, and yet feared not the ſame diſappointment and deſtruction which he brought upon himſelf.

6 And his father had not diſpleaſed him † at any time p, in ſaying, Why haſt thou done ſo q? And he alſo r was a very goodly man; and his mother bare him after Abſalom ſ.

p This is noted as David's great error, and the occaſion of Adonijah's preſumption. q He neither reſtrained him from, nor reproved him for his miſcarriages: which was a great ſin againſt that plain Law, Levit. 19. 17. and ſeverely puniſhed in Eli, which David was not ignorant of, except Adonijah's Errors were ſmall or concealed from David. r This particle relates, either, Firſt, To Abſalom here following, who alſo was a goodly Man. Or rather, Secondly, to what goes before, to ſignifie that this was a ſecond ground of his confidence, becauſe his great comelineſs made him amiable in the People's Eyes, as his Father's indulgence was the firſt. ſ i.e. Next after Abſalom was born of his Mother: See 2 Sam. 3. 2, 4.

t Either, becauſe they thought the right of the Crown was his: or rather, from ſecret grudges, becauſe they perceived themſelves neglected by David, and poſſibly by Solomon too; and from Carnal Policy, that they might ſecure and advance their own Intereſt, which they ſaw to be in manifeſt danger.

8 But Zadok the prieſt, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and Nathan the prophet, and * Shimei and Rei, and * the mighty men which belonged to David u, were not with Adonijah.

* Heb. Gerah. * Sam. 23. 8.

u His great and famous Commanders, and the Guards, and Soldiers under them.

9 And Adonijah ſlew ſheep and oxen, and fat cattel, by the ſtone of Zoheleth, which is † beſide En-rogel x, and called all his brethren the kings ſons z, and all the men of Judah the kings ſervants a.

x Partly, for a Sacrifice; and partly, for Feaſts, that he might engage God to be on his ſide, and draw a multitude of people after him. y Or, the fountain of Rogel, or, of the Fuller: a place nigh to Jeruſalem. See Joſ. 15. 7. and 18. 16. 2 Sam. 17. 17. z Either, becauſe he knew they envied, and were diſcontented with Solomon, and therefore would favour him, or that he might engage them ſo to do. a Except theſe here excepted, v. 10.

10 But Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah, and the mighty men b, and Solomon his brother he called not.

b Becauſe he knew they favoured Solomon his Competitor.

11 ¶ Wherefore Nathan ſpake c unto Bathſheba the mother of Solomon d, ſaying, Haſt thou not heard that Adonijah the ſon of * Haggith doth reign, and David our lord knoweth it not e?

* 2 Sam. 3. 4.

c Being prompted to it both by his Piety in fulfilling the will of God declared to him, and by him to David concerning Solomon's Succeſſion, 2 Sam. 7. 13. 1 Chron. 22. 8, 9. and by his prudence, as knowing that Adonijah hated him for being the principal inſtrument of Solomon's advancement. d Who being retired and private in her aparment, was yet ignorant of what was done abroad: and, who was likely to be moſt zealous in the cauſe, and moſt prevalent with David. e So far is he from conſenting to it, as thou may'ſt fear or others think, that they have not yet acquainted him with it.

12 Now therefore come, let me, I pray thee, give thee counſel, that thou mayſt ſave thine own life, and the life of thy ſon Solomon f.

f For he will never reckon himſelf ſafe till his Competitor and his Friends be taken out of the way.

13 Go, and get thee in unto king David, and ſay unto him, Didſt not thou, my lord, O king, ſwear g unto thine hand-maid h, ſaying, * Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne? Why then doth Adonijah reign k?

* 1 Chron. 22. 9.

g i.e. Thou didſt Swear; which David himſelf owneth, v. 30. which probably he did to ſatisfie Bathſheba's doubts and fears about it, and to oblige himſelf to a compliance with the Divine Will declared about it. See chap. 2. 15. and 1 Chron. 28. 5. h So ſhe calleth her ſelf, to teſtifie her reverence and ſubjection to him, not only as her Husband, but as her King. i Another expreſſion of the ſame thing, to ſignifie David's ſincerity and fervency in his Swearing, which adds to his obligation. k How comes this to paſs? Or why doth thou ſuffer it?

14 Behold, while thou yet talkeſt there with the king, I will alſo come in after thee, and † confirm thy words.

† Heb. fill up.

15 ¶ And Bathſheba went in unto the king, into the chamber: and the king was very old, and Abiſhag the Shunamite miniſtred unto the king.

16 And Bathſheba bowed, and did obeiſance unto the king: and the king ſaid, † What wouldſt thou?

† Heb. What to thee?

17 And ſhe ſaid unto him, My lord, thou ſwareſt by the LORD thy God l unto thine handmaid, ſaying, Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne:

l To whom thou are highly obliged, whoſe name thou juſtly feareſt and honoureſt, and therefore thou wilt not pollute it by Perjury, but make Conſcience of thy Oath.

18 And now behold, Adonijah reigneth; and now my lord the king, thou knoweſt it not m.

m This ſhe adds, partly, leſt ſhe ſhould ſeem to accuſe the King of inconſtancy and perfidiouſneſs; and partly, to aggravate Adonijah's Crime, from that groſs neglect and contempt of the King, which did accompany it.

19 And he hath ſlain oxen, and fat cattel, and ſheep in abundance, and hath called all the ſons of the king, and Abiathar the prieſt, and Joab the captain of the hoſt: but Solomon thy ſervant hath he not called.

n Who is not ſo preſumptuous as Adonijah, uſurping the Throne before his time, but carries himſelf modeſtly and ſubmiſſively, as thy Son, and Servant, and Subject.

20 And thou, my lord, O king, the eyes of all Iſrael are upon thee o, that thou ſhouldſt tell them who ſhall ſit upon the throne of my lord the king p after him q.

o The generality of the People are in ſuſpence, whether Adonijah's practices be with thy conſent or no, and wait for thy Sentence, which they will readily embrace. p She ſpeaks only in general, as owning the King's Prerogative to give the Crown to which of his Sons he pleaſed, if he had not reſtrained himſelf by his Oath to Solomon. q i.e. After thy death. Whereby he taxeth Adonijah's Ambition, who uſurped the Crown whilſt his Father lived.

21 Otherwiſe it ſhall come to paſs, when my lord the king ſhall ſleep with his fathers r, that I and my ſon Solomon ſhall be counted † offenders ſ.

r i.e. Die as his Fathers did. See Gen. 47. 30. ſ We ſhall be puniſhed with death as Malefactors, as guilty of preſſing againſt the right Heir of the Crown, and tranſferring the Kingdom to Solomon, and covering our ambitious deſigns with a pretence of Religion.

22 ¶ And lo, while ſhe yet talked with the king, Nathan the prophet alſo came in t.

t To diſcourſe with the King; which made it fit for her to withdraw, as ſhe did, v. 28.

23 And they told the king, ſaying, Behold, Nathan the prophet. And when he was come in before the king, he bowed himſelf before the king with his face to the ground.

24 And Nathan ſaid, My lord, O king, haſt thou ſaid u, Adonijah ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne?

u Is this done by thy conſent, without which it ſeems ſtrange that he durſt attempt it?

25 For he is gone down this day, and hath ſlain oxen, and fat cattel, and ſheep in abundance, and hath called all the king's ſons, and the captains of the hoſt, and Abiathar the prieſt; and behold, they eat and drink before him, and ſay, † God ſave king Adonijah.

† Heb. Let king Adonijah live.

26 But me, even me thy ſervant x, and Zadok the prieſt, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, and thy ſervant Solomon hath he not called.

x Whom he knew to be acquainted with thy mind, and with the mind of God in this matter: And therefore his neglect of me herein gives me cauſe to ſuſpect that this is done without thy privity: which now I come to know.

27 Is this thing done by my lord the king, and thou haſt not ſhewed it unto thy ſervant y, who ſhould ſit on the throne of my lord the king after him?

y Who, having been an inſtrument in delivering God's meſſage to thee concerning thy Succeſſor, might reaſonably expect that if the King had changed his Mind, or God had ſince made ſome revelation contrary to the former, thou wouldſt have acquainted me with it, as being both a Prophet of the Lord, and one whom thou haſt always found Faithful to thee, and to whom thou haſt uſed to communicate thy ſecret counſels.

28 ¶ Then king David anſwered and ſaid, Call me Bathſheba z: and ſhe came † into the kings preſence, and ſtood before the king.

z Who, upon Nathan's approach to the King had modeſtly withdrawn her ſelf, either in another Room, or into another part of this Room, more remote from the Bed upon which David lay.

29 And the king ſware, and ſaid, As the LORD liveth, that hath redeemed my ſoul out of all diſtreſs, 30 Even as I ſware unto thee by the LORD God of Iſrael, ſaying, Aſſuredly Solomon thy ſon ſhall reign after me, and he ſhall ſit upon my throne in my ſtead; even ſo will I certainly do this day.

31 Then Bathſheba bowed with her face to the earth, and did reverence to the king, and ſaid, Let my lord king David live for ever a.

a i.e. For a long time, as that word is oft uſed, as Chap. 2. 33. Dan. 2. 4. Though I deſire thy Oath may be kept, and the right of Succeſſion confirmed to my Son, yet I am far from thirſting after thy death for his advancement, and ſhould rather retrieve, if it were poſſible for thee to live and enjoy thy Crown for ever.

32 ¶ And king David ſaid, Call me Zadok the prieſt, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada. And they came before the king.

33 The king alſo ſaid unto them, Take with you the ſervants of your lord b, and cauſe Solomon my ſon to ride upon † mine own mule c, and bring him down to Gihon d.

b i.e. My publick Officers, and my Guards. c As a token that longeth to the Royal Dignity is tranſferred upon Solomon, and that by my conſent. Compare Gen. 41. 43. Eſth. 6. 8. d A River near Jeruſalem, on the Weſt ſide, as may be gathered from 2 Chron. 32. 2. as Enrogel, where Adonijah was inaugurated, was on the Eaſt ſide. This place David choſe, either, as remote from Adonijah and his company, that ſo the People might go thither, and be there without fear of Tumults or Bloodſhed; or to ſhew that Solomon was choſen King in oppoſition to Adonijah: or, becauſe this was a place of of great resort, and fit to receive and display that numerous company, which he knew would follow Solomon thither: or, that he might from thence return and make the more magnificent entrance into the City.

34 And let Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, anoint him there king e over Israel: and blow ye with the trumpet f, and say, God save king Solomon.

e As they used to do where there was any thing new, or doubtful, or extraordinary in the Succession, as 1 Sam. 10. 1. and 16. 12, 13. 1 Kings 19. 15, 16. 2 Kings 9. 3. And this unction fortified both the designation of the Persons to the Office, and the Gifts and Graces which were necessary for their Office, and which they seeking them sincerely from God, might expect to receive.

f To make the action more Solemn, and Glorious, and Publick.

35 Then ye shall come up after him, that he may come and sit upon my throne; for he shall be king in my stead g; and I have † appointed h him to be ruler over Israel, and over Judah i.

g My Deputy and Vice-King whilst I live, and absolutely King when I die. Or, if David and Solomon were Joint-Kings, it is no more than was afterwards frequent at Rome, where the Father and Son, or two other Persons were not seldom Joint-Emperors. h And that by Divine direction. i This is added, partly, as being the most Eminent and Royal Tribe, it being frequent, together with the general distinction, to mention one of the most eminent particulars, as 1 Kings 11. 1 Psal. 15. title. Mark 16. 7. and partly, left the men of Judah, who were in a special manner invited by Adonijah, v. 9. might think themselves exempted from his Jurisdiction.

36 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada answered the king, and said, Amen k: The LORD God of my lord the king say so too l.

k Which was both an approbation of the King's Fact, and a profession of his Allegiance to the new King, and a Petition to God to ratifie and confirm it. l The Lord establish Solomon's Throne in spight of Adonijah, and all his other Enemies.

37 As the LORD hath been with my lord the king, even so be he with Solomon, and make his throne greater than the throne of my lord king David m.

m Which Petition, albeit it might have offended an unworthy, vain-glorious and envious Father, he knew would be welcome to so pious and generous a Man as David was, and to one so kind and indulgent to his Children.

38 So Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites went down, and caused Solomon to ride upon king Davids mule, and brought him to Gihon.

Exod. 30. 23, 31. 39 And Zadok the priest n took an horn of * oil out of the tabernacle o, and anointed Solomon: and they blew the trumpet, and all the people said, God save king Solomon.

n For though he was not the High-Priest, he might do this office, especially having the direction of the Prophet Nathan, v. 34. o That which David had erected for the Ark, 2 Sam 6. 17. in which Oyl was kept for divers Sacred uses: for Moses his Tabernacle was at Gibeon. 1 Chron. 16. 39. and 21. 29. which was too remote for the present occasion, which required all possible expedition.

40 And all the people came up after him p, and the people piped with ‖ pipes, and rejoyced with great joy q, so that the earth rent r with the sound of them.

p Which flocked thither in abundance, some out of curiosity to see so solemn an Action; others to do their Duty; and others in expectation of some advantage by their chearful attendance upon the new King. q Partly, because this would certainly prevent Civil Wars, under which they had so lately and so sorely groaned, and which they had reason to fear from Adonijah's pretence to the Crown, and the assistance he might have from the great and famous Lord General Joab, and from Abiathar the High-Priest, and from others who were or might easily be engaged for him, if David had not ended the Controverse in his life-time: and partly, because of the singular wisdom and vertue for which Solomon was even then famous. See chap. 2. 3, 9. r An Hyperbolical Expression: yet even solid Bodies have been oft broken and rent by great sounds.

41 ¶ And Adonijah, and all the guests that were with him, heard it, as they had made an end of eating s: and when Joab heard the sound of the trumpet, he said, Wherefore is this noise of the city, being in an uproar?

s For Nathan having given wise Counsel, took all due care to expedite the execution of it, that it might not be spoiled by delays, as frequently happens.

42 And while he yet spake, behold, Jonathan the son of Abiathar t the priest came, and Adonijah said unto him, Come in, for thou art a valiant man u, and bringest good tidings.

t When it seems was left at Jerusalem for a Spy, as he had formerly been under Absalom. u Or, a man of vertue or worth, as this Hebrew word is used, Prov. 12. 4. and therefore an happy man, and hast good news for thy self and us. Compare 2 Sam. 18. 27.

43 And Jonathan answered and said to Adonijah, Verily x, our lord king David hath made Solomon king.

x Or, but, or, nay but; i.e. The matter is not as thou expectest, but quite contrary.

44 And the king hath sent with him Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, and Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, and the Cherethites, and the Pelethites, and they have caused him to ride upon the kings mule.

45 And Zadok the priest, and Nathan the prophet, have anointed him king in Gihon: and they are come up from thence rejoycing, so that the city rang again: this is the noise that ye have heard.

46 And also Solomon sitteth on the throne y of the kingdom.

y i.e. Is put into actual possession of the Kingdom.

47 And moreover, the kings servants came to bless our lord king David z, saying, God make the name of Solomon better than thy name, and make his throne greater than thy throne: And the king bowed himself upon the bed a.

z To praise and thank him for his great and good care, in leaving them in the hands of so excellent a Successor, under whom they might expect Peace and all Prosperity; and to congratulate with him for God's great Mercy to him, in giving him such a Son and Successor, and that his Eyes had now seen the actual accomplishment of God's promise made to him concerning this thing. a Adoring God for this great Mercy, and thereby declaring his hearty approbation and consent to this action. Compare Gen. 47. 31.

48 And also thus said the king, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which hath given one to sit on my throne this day, mine eyes even seeing it.

49 And all the guests that were with Adonijah, were afraid, and rose up, and went every man his way b.

b i.e. The way to his own House, lest they should be discovered and taken.

50 ¶ And Adonijah feared, because of Solomon, and arose, and went, and caught hold on the horns of the altar c.

c Either, that which was at Gibeon, as appears from 1 Chron. 16. 39. 2 Chron. 1. 3. and was made with four Horns, Exod. 38. 2. to which the Sacrifices were bound, Psal. 118. 27. Or rather, that which David had lately set up in the Threshing-floor of Araunah, which doubtless was made after the same form as that at Gibeon: For, First, This was next at hand. Secondly, The Altar only is mentioned here, whereas in Joab's case there is mention of the Tabernacle and Altar both, Chap. 2. 28, 29. which seems to be noted to distinguish the two Altars: for Adonijah being the King's Son, he might safely go to Araunah's Altar, and the People would not be forward to seize upon him, or bring him to Justice: but Joab truly thought it was not safe for him to venture himself there, and therefore he fleeth to Gibeon, as a place more remote from Jerusalem. Hither he fled, either to implore God's Mercy; or rather, to avoid Solomon's Rage: supposing that his Reverence to that Sacred place would not permit him to pollute him with his Brother's blood; or that the consideration of God's Grace and Mercy, which himself needed and begged of God, in pardoning his Offences, and accepting the Sacrifices which he should offer there, would engage and dispose him to shew Mercy to his offending and now penitent Brother; or, that his Piety would not allow him violently to pluck him as it were out of the Arms of God, into which he had put himself. And for these or such like reasons the Altar was esteemed a kind of Sanctuary or place of Refuge, not only among the Gentiles, but also among the Hebrews, though it be not called by that name, as may be gathered from Exod. 21. 14. 1 Kings 2. 28.

51 And it was told Solomon, saying, Behold, Adonijah feareth king Solomon: for lo, he hath caught hold on the horns of the altar, saying, Let king Solomon swear unto me to day, that he will not slay his servant d with the sword.

d He owns Solomon as his King, and himself as his Servant and Subject; and being sensible of his great guilt, and of the jealousie which Kings have of their Competitors, could not be satisfied without Solomon's Oath.

52 And Solomon said, If he will shew himself † a worthy man e, * there shall not an hair of him † Heb. a son of power. fall to the earth f: but if wickedness shall be found in him g, he shall die.

e Heb. a man of strength or courage: for it requires great strength of mind, and resolution, to resist all temptations of Vice, and to do Vertuously. f Herein Solomon manifests his Clemency and Brotherly Affection, and withal his prudence in sparing him, whom, being his Brother, and his eldest Brother too, it would have been invidious to have slain. g Not only if he shall be guilty of some capital Crime, but of any great wickedness or evil design. For as this pardon was Solomon's free act, so he might justly qualifie it as he pleased.

53 So king Solomon sent, and they brought him down from the altar; and he came and bowed himself to king Solomon: and Solomon said unto him, Go to thine house h.

h Lead a private, or retired and quiet life, without noise and numerous attendants, and meddle not with the Affairs of the Court and Kingdom.

CHAP. II.

David his charge on his Death bed, giveth charge to Solomon of a Religious Life, 1,——4. Of Joab: Barzillai and Shimei, 5,——9. he dieth: Solomon succeedeth, 10,——12. Adonijah suing for Abishag, is put to Death, 13,——25. Abiathar is deprived of the Priesthood, 26, 27. Joab fleeing to the Horns of the Altar is slain there, 28,——34. Benaiah is put in Joab's room, and Zadok in Abiathar's, 35. Shimei confined to Jerusalem, going thence to Gath is put to Death, 36,——46.

NOW the days of David drew nigh, that he should die; and he charged Solomon his son, saying, a i.e. Of all men upon the Earth. Compare Jos. 23. 14. Heb. 9. 27. b For, to govern his People according to the Law of God, as it here follows, requires great fortitude or strength of Mind, to arm himself against the subtil devices and evasions of some; against the flatteries and importunities of others; against terrors and dangers from revengeful Men, and especially against himself and his own weakness, partiality, through fear or favour; and against all those evil thoughts and passions to which the temptations of their great wealth, and glory, and uncontrollable power naturally expose them. See Prov. 16. 32. c In manly Wisdom, and Courage, and Constancy, though thou art but young in years, 1 Chron. 22. 5.

2 I go the way of all the earth a: be thou strong b therefore, and shew thy self a man c.

3 And keep the charge of the LORD thy God d, to walk in his ways, to keep his statutes, and his commandments, and his judgments, and his testimonies, as it is written in the law of Moses e, that thou mayest † prosper f in all that thou doest, and whithersoever thou turnest thy self:

d i.e. What God hath charged or commanded thee to do; the oft being put for the object, as is usual. e Which the Prince was enjoyned to transcribe and read, Deut. 17. 18. that he might govern his own and his Peoples actions by it. f Or, behave thy self prudently: for the word signifies both. Hereby he intimates, That Religion is the truest Reason of State, and that all true Wisdom and good Success depends upon Piety.

4 That the LORD may confirm his word g which he spake concerning me, saying, * If thy children take heed to their ways h, to walk before me i in truth k, with all their heart, and with all their soul l, there shall not † fail thee (said he) a man on the throne of Israel m.

* 1 Sam. 2. 30. † Heb. be cut off.

g i.e. Fulfil his promise, the condition upon which it was so ofpromised being performed. h i.e. Diligently observe all their Actions, to order them according to God's Word. i To live as those that have God before their Eyes, and endeavour to approve themselves to him. k Not only in pretence and shew, but truly and sincerely. l i.e. Universally, freely, and fervently. m The Successi-on shall be continued in thy Line without any interruption.

5 Moreover, thou knowest also what Joab the son of Zeruiah did to me n, and o, what he did to the two captains of the hosts of Israel, unto * Abner, the son of Ner, and unto * Amasa the son of Jether, whom he slew, and † shed the blood of war in peace p, and put the blood of war upon his girdle that was about his loins, and in his shoes that were on his feet q.

* 2 Sam. 3. 27. and 20. 10. † Heb. filled.

n i.e. Against me; Either, First, Directly and immediately; from indolency and imperiousness he hath carried himself towards me from time to time, trampling upon my Authority and Commands when they thwarted his humour or interest, provoking my spirit by his words and actions. See 2 Sam. 3. 39. and 16. 7. Or, Secondly, Indirectly in what he did against Abner and Amasa: whole death was a great injury to David, as it was a breach of his Laws and Peace; a contempt of his Person and Government; a pernicious example to others of his Subjects upon the like occasions; a great scandal and dishonour to him, as if Joab had been only David's instrument, to effect what he secretly desired and designed; whereby the hearts of his People either were, or might have been alienated from him, and inflamed against him, and the wounds which were well-nigh healed, might have been widened again, and made to bleed afresh. o Or, even; the following branches being added as an explication of the foregoing, to shew what and how he acted towards or against David. Or, and particularly; as his other miscarriages, so these especially. p He shew them as if they had been in the flute and act of War, when there was not only a cessation of Arms, but also a treaty and agreement of Peace, of which also there were the great procurers and promoters. q This is added to shew his impudence and impenitency, that although by his perfidious manner of killing them when he pretended to embrace them, he defiled his own Garments with their blood, yet he was not ashamed of it, but gloried in it, and marched boldly along with the Army, with the same Girdle and Shoes which were sprinkled with their Blood. See 2 Sam. 20. 10.

6 Do therefore according to thy wisdom r, and let not his hoar head go down to † the grave in peace s.

† Heb. Sheol. r i.e. Both in Civil and Justice thou seest fit. For tho' I was forced to forbear him when I was in a manner out of my power to punish him, yet I never forgave him; and therefore do thou justly, but continues his claim: Which, it seems, Solomon did apprehend wisely and severely examine all his Actions, and particularly this last Rebellion, and punish him according to his demerits. s Though he be old, having been the General of the Army 40 Years, yet do not suffer him to die a natural death, but cut him off by the Sword of Justice.

7 But shew kindness unto the sons of * Barzillai the Gileadite t, and let them be of those that eat at thy table: for so u they * came to me when I fled because of Absalom thy brother.

* 2 Sam. 19. 31.

t Quest. Why doth he not require the like kindness to Mephibosheth the Son of his dear Jonathan? Ans. Either he and his were now extinct; or by their after miscarriages had forfeited his favour. u i.e. With such kindness either as I cannot express (as the Particle so is elsewhere used) or, as I command thee to shew to them. x i.e. Barzillai and his Sons: for though Barzillai only be mentioned, 2 Sam. 17. 27. yet his Sons doubtless were instrumental in the business, especially Chimham, 2 Sam. 19. 37, 38.

8 And behold, thou hast with thee * Shimei the son of Gera, a Benjamite of Bahurim, which cursed me with a † grievous curse x, in the day when I went to Mahanaim: but he came down to meet me at Jordan, and I sware to him by the LORD, saying, I will not put thee to death with the sword a.

* 2 Sam. 16. 5. † Heb. strong. 19. 23.

x i.e. In thy power, as that Phrase is often used. y Or, reproached me with bitter reproaches, 2 Sam. 16. 7, 8. which David could not but deeply resent from him, though it was an affliction sent from God, he patiently submitted to it. a Quest. How then could David lawfully engage Solomon to punish him for it? And did David upon his Death-bed bear malice against Shimei? Ans. First, David was not a private Person which might remit such Offences without any inconvenience; but a publick Magistrate, who for the honour and maintenance of Government was obliged to punish such insolent and opprobrious Speeches, if the necessity of his Affairs had not then engaged him to pass it by. Otherwise it appears from divers passages of the Psalms, and of this History, how free David was from a rancorous and revengeful spirit even towards his Enemies. Secondly, The following advice is not contrary to David's Oath, both because that was only personal, that David would not kill him either at that time, as Abishai desired him, or whilst he lived; and did not oblige his Successors; and especially, because it was not David's mind that Shimei should be put to death for that fault (as it evident, for then there was no need of Solomon's Wisdom to find out an occasion, but only of his Justice to punish him for the old crime) but for some other competent crime, which Solomon's Wisdom narrowly prying into all his actions, would easily find out. And if the condition which Solomon imposed upon Shimei, v. 36, 37. seem hard, it must be remembred, that David only swore that he would Pardon him as to life, but not that he would exempt him from all punishment or confinement.

9 Now therefore hold him not guiltless b: for thou art a wise man c, and knowest what thou oughtest to do unto him d, but his hoar head bring thou down to the grave with blood e.

b Though I have spared his life, do not treat him as an innocent Person, neither let him go wholly unpunished. c And therefore wisely easily find out suit occasions to chastise him, especially considering his perverse and wicked disposition. d How to punish him, not without just cause, and yet without any violation of my Oath, or reflection upon me, or upon Religion for my or thy sake. e i.e. With the effusion of his blood; with a bloody or violent death.

10 * So David slept with his fathers f, and was buried in the city of David g.

* 1 Chron. 29. 28. and 2 Chron. 13. 23.

f See of this Phrase Deut. 31. 16. 1 Kings 1. 21. g i.e. In that part of Jerusalem which was called by his name, because he took it from the Jebusites. See 2 Sam. 5. 7. 1 Chron. 11. 5. 2 Chron. 5. 2.

11 And the days that David * reigned over Israel, were forty years: seven years he reigned he in Hebron, and thirty and three years reigned he in Jerusalem.

* 2 Sam 5. 4, 5. 1 Chron. 29. 27.

b More precisely, 7 Years and 6 Months, 2 Sam. 5. 5. but smaller sums are oft neglected in Scripture-computations.

12 ¶ Then sate Solomon upon the throne of David his father, and his kingdom was established greatly i.

* 1 Chron. 29. 23. 2 Chr. 1. 1.

i Being settled upon him with universal consent and approbation, and with the hearty affections of his People, which all Wise Men know to be a Prince's best and surest Establishment.

13 And Adonijah the son of Haggith came to Bathsheba the mother of Solomon, and she said, Comest thou peaceably k? and he said, Peaceably.

k, Or, with some Evil design upon me or my Son: which she might well surmise, knowing his ambition and envy at Solomon, and his hatred against her, as the chief occasion of his dejection.

14 He said moreover, I have somewhat to say unto thee. And she said, Say on.

15 And he said, Thou knowest that the kingdom was mine l, and that all Israel set their faces on me, that I should reign: * howbeit, the kingdom is turned about m, and is become my brothers: for * it was his from the LORD n.

l Both by Birthright, and by actual Inauguration. It seems he could not yet forget his pretence to the Crown, or his ambition for it.

and reſcnt, though Bathſheba did not; the Wives and Concubines of the late King being reputed to appertain to the Succeſſor. See 2 Sam. 12. 8. m They looked upon me as their King, and David's Succeſſor, expecting that David ſhould confirm my Election. n Tranſlated from me to him by the viciſſitude of human Affairs, and the changeable humour of the People. o Either, Firſt, By God's Providence ſo diſpoſing David's Mind, and the People's Hearts. Or rather, Secondly, By God's appointment and particular deſignation, wherein he would ſeem to acquieſce. Which he mentions, not that he made any Conſcience of it, or had any regard to it; but only that by this preſence he might deceive both her and Solomon, as if he were far from any deſign of uſurping the Kingdom.

16 And now I ask one petition of thee; † deny me not p. And ſhe ſaid unto him, Say on.

† Heb. turn away my face.

17 And he ſaid, Speak, I pray thee, unto Solomon the king (for he will not † ſay thee nay) that he give me Abiſhag the Shunamite to wife q.

q Which, though it was againſt a poſitive Law of God, Levit. 18. 7. yet either Adonijah might be ignorant of it, being a man more ſtudied in the Affairs of the Court, than in the Book of God; or might think her not concerned in it, becauſe David knew her not, Chap. 1. 4.

18 And Bathſheba ſaid, Well, I will ſpeak for thee unto the king.

19 ¶ Bathſheba therefore went unto king Solomon to ſpeak unto him for Adonijah: and the king roſe up to meet her, and bowed himſelf unto her, and ſat down on his throne, and cauſed a † ſeat to be ſet for the kings mother, and ſhe ſat on his right hand r.

20 Then ſhe ſaid, I deſire one ſmall petition s of thee, I pray thee ſay me not nay: and the king ſaid unto her, Ask on, my mother, for I will not ſay thee nay t.

s So ſhe eſteemed it, becauſe ſhe did not perceive his Deſign in it; and as for that Law, Levit. 18. 7. ſhe might apprehend, that becauſe Davids knew her not, it was only a Contract for Marriage, and therefore no impediment of her Marriage to any other after his Death; which alſo is the Opinion of ſome of the late Learned Hebrew Doctors. t Suppoſing thy Requeſt be but ſmall, as thou ſay'ſt it is, and not unlawful, nor injurious to my ſelf, or others.

21 And ſhe ſaid, Let Abiſhag the Shunamite be given to Adonijah thy brother u to wife.

u By the Father's ſide, whom brotherly Affection and Relation obligeth thee to gratifie; at leaſt, in ſmall things.

22 And king Solomon anſwered and ſaid unto his mother, And why doſt thou ask Abiſhag the Shunamite for Adonijah? aſk for him the kingdom alſo x; (for he is mine elder brother y) even for him, and for Abiathar the prieſt, and for Joab the ſon of Zeruiah z.

x His Deſign is not upon Abiſhag, but upon the Kingdom; which, by this means, he thinks to recover; partly, becauſe ſhe was the laſt King's Wife, or Concubine, which might ſtrengthen his Pretence to the Crown; See 2 Sam. 3. 7, and 12. 8. and 16. 21. and partly, becauſe by her eminent Beauty, and near Relation to David, ſhe had a powerful Intereſt in the Court. Queſt. Was not this too harſh a Cenſure, and the following Puniſhment of it too ſevere? Anſw. 1. That Adonijah had ſuch a Deſign, is very probable, both from his Temper, for he was an aſpiring and deſigning Man, and highly diſcontented with Solomon's Government, and deſirous of a Change; and from the nature of the thing, becauſe he would not have made ſo daring and preſumptuous a Requeſt, if he had not ſome great Deſign in it. 2. It is very likely from the following words, though not expreſſed, that he, and Joab and Abiathar were engaged in ſome Deſign againſt Solomon, and that Solomon had got Information of it; and therefore he did, and might reaſonably take this for an Indication, and the firſt overt act of his Treaſon. 3. Solomon did not pardon Adonijah's Treaſon ſimply, and abſolutely, but upon condition that he carried himſelf worthily, Chap. 1. 52. and this being conteſtedly a bold and unworthy Action, and arguing more confidence and preſumption than became him; and carrying in it the appearance and intention of an inceſtuous Marriage, he might juſtly revive his Guilt, and take this occaſion to execute the Sentence which he formerly deferred. If it be ſaid, That it is very improbable that Adonijah ſhould expect to get the Kingdom from Solomon, who was ſo firmly eſtabliſhed in it with univerſal applauſe; it may be anſwered, That Adonijah was not the only Man that hath fed himſelf with vain hopes, and engaged himſelf in high and treaſonable Deſigns, where, to other wiſe Men there was but little likelihood of Succeſs: and that he might now be only laying the Foundation of what he further intended, when he ſaw a fit time, and getting a pretence for his future Attempts upon the Crown; either, when Solomon ſhould loſe the Peoples Affections, as David had done; or when Solomon ſhould die, which alſo Adonijah might ſecretly procure and haſten; and he had only Solomon's young and tender Son to conteſt with. All which, and many other things, Solomon in his great Wiſdom might eaſily diſcern; yea, or have ſome ſecret Intelligence of, though it be not Recorded. y He looks upon the Kingdom as his, by Nature and Birthright, and the Law of Nations; and therefore he may ſeek to recover his own, and to caſt me out as an Uſurper. z Who have all an hand in the Plot, though he alone appear in it: which appears the more likely, becauſe of Solomon's proceeding againſt them all at the ſame time; as appears in the following Verſes.

23 Then king Solomon ſware by the LORD a, ſaying, * God do ſo to me, and more alſo, if Adonijah have not ſpoken this word againſt his own life.

a Once here, and again, ver. 24. Which he did to oblige himſelf irrevocably to it, and to prevent all Interceſſions for his Life, it being of ſo great importance to him.

24 Now therefore, as the LORD liveth, which hath eſtabliſhed me, and ſet me on the throne of David my father b, and who hath made me an houſe c as he * promiſed, Adonijah ſhall be put to death this day d.

* Sect. 12, 13.

b Though Adonijah be my elder Brother, yet I have an undoubted Right and Title to the Crown, and that from the promiſe and appointment of that God who diſpoſeth of all Kingdoms, and eſpecially this of Iſrael, to whom he pleaſeth; and therefore Adonijah in this, and his former Attempt, is guilty of Treaſon againſt me, and of Rebellion againſt God. c Either, 1. who hath given me Poſterity, as that Phraſe is uſed, Exod. 1. 21. and elſewhere: for Rehoboam moſt probably was born before this time; by comparing 1 Kings 14. 21. Or rather, 2. who hath eſtabliſhed me in the Houſe and Throne of David: which he thus expreſſeth, to ſignifie, that God hath fulfilled in and to him that Promiſe which he made to David, in 2 Sam. 7. 11. where the ſame Phraſe is uſed, and where it doth not ſo much ſignifie the giving of David Poſterity, which he had ſufficiently before that time; as the ſettlement of the Crown in him and his Seed. d For he knew delays were dangerous in matters of that Nature.

25 And king Solomon ſent by the hand of Benaiah, the ſon of Jehoiada e, and he fell upon him f that he died.

e For the Execution of Juſtice was not then committed to obſcure Perſons, as now it is; but to Perſons of great Honour and Authority. See Judg. 8. 21. 1 Sam. 22. 18. 2 Sam. 1. 15. and 4. 12. f With a Sword, or other Inſtrumene of Death; as below, ver. 32, 34, 46.

26 ¶ And unto Abiathar the prieſt ſaid the king, Get thee to Anathoth g unto thine own fields h, for thou art † worthy of death: but I will not at this † Heb. a man of death. time i put thee to death, becauſe thou beareſt the ark of the LORD God before David my father k, and becauſe * thou haſt been afflicted in all wherein my father was afflicted l.

* 1 Sam. 22. 20.

g A City of the Prieſts, Joſh. 21. 18. to lead a private Life there. h Either that part of the Suburbs which fell to his ſhare: or, other Land which he had purchaſed there. See Jer. 32. 7. i He doth not fully Pardon him, but only forbears him, and reſerves to himſelf a liberty of Puniſhing him afterwards, if he ſaw occaſion; which he doth to keep him in awe, that he might not dare to raiſe or foment Diſcontents or Tumults among the People, which otherwiſe he might be prone to do. k When he thought fit to carry it not with him: as 2 Sam. 15. 24, 29. 1 Chron. 15. 11, 12. when he as High-Prieſt was to attend upon it. Thus Solomon ſheweth his reſpect to his Sacred Function. l Here he mixeth Mercy with Juſtice, and requires Abiathar's former kindneſs to David; hereby teaching Princes, that they ſhould not write Injuries in Marble, and Benefits in Sand or Water, as they have been too oft obſerved to do.

27 So Solomon thruſt out Abiathar from being prieſt unto the LORD m; that he might * fulfil the word of the LORD n, which he ſpake concerning the houſe of Eli o in Shiloh.

* Sect. 2. 35.

m Either from his Office; or, at leaſt, from the Execution of his Office. For ſome think, that he was thruſt from his Office before David's Death, which Zadok was formerly made Prieſt; i.e. High Prieſt in his ſtead, 1 Chron. 29. 22. But that ſeems to be a miſtake: For although that paſſage immediately follows the Hiſtory of what was done in the time of David's Life and Health, when he was in a capacity of going into the Publick Congregation: yet it manifeſtly belongs to another time, and was done after it: For he there ſpeaks of Solomon's being made King the ſecond time, and he was made King but twice; once undoubtedly before this, 1 Chron. 23. 1. and again, 1 Kings 1. 39. When David was Bedrid, and Adonijah's Uſurpation made a ſecond Election neceſſary. And therefore what is ſaid, 1 Chron. 29. 22. of Zadok's being made Prieſt, was done after Abiathar's Depoſition, and upon that occaſion. n For what hinders but Solomon might intend this not only as a Puniſhment for his Treaſon, but alſo as a means to accompliſh God's Word? o i.e. Concerning the Tranſlation of the Prieſthood from the Houſe of Eli, and of Ithamar, unto that of Eleazar: which being threatned 80 years ago, is now Executed. So Divine Vengeance, though ſometimes it be ſlow, is always ſure.

28 ¶ Then tidings p come to Joab, (for Joab had turned after Adonijah, though he turned not after Abſalom) and Joab fled unto the Tabernacle of the LORD q, and caught hold on the horns of the altar r.

p Concerning Adonijah's Death, and Abiathar's Depoſition. q Which then was at Gibeon, 1 Kings 3. 4. compared with 2 Chron. 1. 3, 5. r Of which ſee before, Chap. 1. 50.

29 And it was told king Solomon that Joab was fled unto the tabernacle of the LORD, and, behold, he is by the altar: then Solomon ſent Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, ſaying, Go, fall upon him s.

s To wit, if he will not come thence, as I foreſee he will not.

30 And

30 And Benaiah came to the tabernacle of the LORD, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the king, Come forth t. And he ſaid, Nay, but I will die here u. And Benaiah brought the king word again, ſaying, Thus ſaid Joab, and thus he anſwered me.

* Sect. 12. Adonijah.

t That the King gave him this Command, though it be not mentioned before, is evident, both from the nature of the thing; for Solomon would not poſſure the Altar without neceſſity; and from Benaiah's affirmation of it; for why ſhould he tell a lye without cauſe? and from his return to the King for new Orders upon Joab's Reſolution not to come thence. u For he ſuppoſed, either, that Solomon would not deſile that place with his Blood: or, that he would ſpare him for his reſpect to it, as he had done Adonijah: or, he had a ſuperſtitious conceit, that his dying there might give his guilty and miſerable Soul ſome advantage.

31 And the king ſaid unto him, Do as he hath ſaid x, and fall upon him, and bury him; that thou mayſt take away the innocent blood y which Joab ſhed from me, and from the houſe of my father.

x Either, 1. Kill him in that place: and for ſo doing, Solomon might ſeem to have warrant from God, Exod. 21. 14. and might further deſign by this juſt ſeverity, to deterr future Offenders, by ſhewing, that no place nor perſon ſhould protect them from the ſtroke of Juſtice. Or rather, 2. let him Die as he is reſolved; kill him, though he be there; take him by violence from that place, and then kill him: for Exod. 21. 14. doth not command the Ruler to kill the Murderer there, but to remove him thence, to take him from the Altar, that he may die. And ſeeing this might be done, why ſhould Solomon unneceſſarily ſtain the Altar with his Blood? y i.e. Both the Guilt of it, which would reſt upon my Fathers and my Family, if it were unpuniſhed; and the ſcandal and reproach of it, that neither this, nor following Ages may imagine that it was done by David's ſecret inſtigation, or with his conſent.

32 And the LORD ſhall return his blood z upon his own head, who fell upon two men more righteous and better than he a, and ſlew them with the ſword, my father David not knowing thereof, to wit, * Abner the ſon of Ner, captain of the hoſt of Iſrael, and * Amaſa the ſon of Jether, captain of the hoſt of Judah.

* 2 Sam. 3. 27.

* 2 Sam. 20. 10.

z i.e. The guilt of the Blood which he ſhed. a Of more ingenuous and generous Tempers, abhorring from all ſuch Treacherous Practices; and both of them then devoted to, and employed in my Service.

33 Their blood therefore ſhall return * upon the head of Joab, and upon the head of his ſeed for ever b: but upon David and upon his ſeed, and upon his houſe, and upon his throne, ſhall there be peace for ever from the LORD c.

* Sect. 37.

b Either as long as he ſhall have a Poſterity: or, for a long time: as that Phraſe is commonly uſed. c In, and by this Execution of Juſtice upon him, and ſuch Malefactors, my Throne ſhall be eſtabliſhed, and God will bleſs me, and mine, with Peace and Proſperity.

34 So Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada went up, and fell upon him, and ſlew him, and he was buried in his own houſe in the wilderneſs d.

d Places which have but few Houſes and Inhabitants, are oft ſo called in Scripture; as, Iſa. 42. 11. Jer. 25. 24. Ezek. 34. 25.

35 ¶ And the king put Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada in his room over the hoſt, and Zadok the prieſt did the king put in the room of Abiathar e.

e He now put him in the execution of that Office, to which he may ſeem to have been Anointed before, 1 Chron. 29. 22. But of this, ſee my notes here on ver. 27.

36 ¶ And the king ſent, and called for * Shimei, and ſaid unto him, Build thee an houſe in Jeruſalem, and dwell there, and go not forth thence any whither f.

* 2 Sam. 16. 5.

f This Solomon ordered, partly, for his own ſecurity; that being removed from that place where his Kindred, and Eſtate, and Intereſt lay, to a place where he was but a ſtranger, and ſufficiently odious for his former, and never-to-be-forgotten inſolency towards his Lord and King, he might be uncapable of raiſing any Tumults and Seditions; partly, as a penalty for his former Wickedneſs, wherein yet there was more Mercy than Juſtice, and from which David had not promiſed him any ſecurity, but only given him his Life; and partly, That being in this Publick Theatre, all his Words, and Actions might be narrowly obſerved; which, conſidering his baſe, and covetous, and wicked Temper, was likely to give Solomon the advantage which he fought for; and this very Prohibition would probably inflame his deſire of Tranſgreſſing it, as the manner of Men is.

37 For it ſhall be, that on the day thou goeſt out, and paſſeſt over the * brook Kidron g, thou ſhalt know for certain, that thou ſhalt ſurely die: thy blood ſhall be upon thine own head h.

* 2 Sam. 15. 23.

g A Brook nigh unto Jeruſalem, of which ſee 2 Sam. 15. 23. 2 Kings 23. 4. Which he particularly names, becauſe that was the way to Bahurim, his former and ſettled Habitation: but this is not to be underſtood excluſively to other ways and places; for the reſtraint was general, that he ſhall not go forth thence any whither, ver. 36. to wit, as far any other way as Cedron was, which alſo appears from the following Hiſtory; for when he went to Gath, he went not over Cedron, (which lay Eaſtward from the City) but Weſtward, as Gath lay. h The blame and guilt of thy Blood ſhall lie upon thy ſelf only.

38 And Shimei ſaid unto the king, The ſaying is good i: as my lord the king hath ſaid, ſo will thy ſervant do k. And Shimei dwelt in Jeruſalem many days.

i Thy Sentence is much more merciful than I expected, or deſerved. k And Shimei did not only promiſe it, but alſo ſwore to it; being required by Solomon to do ſo, as is manifeſt from ver. 42, 43.

39 And it came to paſs at the end of three years, that two of the ſervants of Shimei ran away unto Achiſh ſon of Maachah king of Gath l, and they told Shimei, ſaying, Behold, thy ſervants be in Gath.

l A King, but ſubject and tributary, firſt to David, and then to Solomon. This might be, either that Achiſh who ſhewed ſo much kindneſs to David, 1 Sam. 27. and 29. or his Son; who, in regard of this kindneſs was ſtill permitted to enjoy the Title and Honour of a King, but not the full Power; wherein it was, that A Iſh could not, or durſt not keep their Servants, though they had fled to him for Protection; but ſuffered Shimei to take them away from his Royal City.

40 And Shimei aroſe, and ſadled his aſs, and went to Gath m, to Achiſh, to ſeek his ſervants: and Shimei went and brought his ſervants from Gath.

m Which, though highly dangerous, he attempted, partly, becauſe he was blinded with Covetouſneſs and Rage againſt his Servants, which two Luſts have done, and daily do engage Men to ſuch Courſes and Actions as are no leſs dangerous to their lives than this is; partly, becauſe he thought length of time had worn out of Solomon's mind, and of other mens thoughts: and that this being done ſecretly and ſpeedily, would never have come to Solomon's ears; or that Solomon would not be ſevere in this Caſe, where it was not warrantable nor contempt of his Authority, but the neceſſity of his Houſhold-concerns, which put him upon it: And partly, becauſe God withdrew from him the light of common Prudence, and wholly left him to his own Miſtaken, and Luſtful, and Luſtful, and wilful, to the Inſtigation of the Devil, who is cunning and powerful Artifices, and Inſinuations he could not reſiſt, without Divine help.

41 And it was told Solomon n, that Shimei had gone from Jeruſalem to Gath, and was come back again.

n Who doubtleſs had his Spies appointed, to obſerve him in all his Motions.

42 And the king ſent and called for Shimei, and ſaid unto him, Did I not make thee to ſwear by the LORD, and proteſted unto thee, ſaying, Know for a certain, that on the day thou goeſt out, and walkeſt abroad any whither, that thou ſhalt ſurely die? And thou ſaidſt unto me, The word that I have heard is good.

43 Why then haſt thou not kept the oath of the LORD, and the commandment that I have charged thee with o?

o He was guilty both of Rebellion againſt the expreſs, and laſt, and (as himſelf called it) good Command of the King, and of Perjury againſt God; which were two high and horrid Crimes in this Oath, he calls the Oath of the Lord, becauſe it was made in his Preſence, and he was called upon as witneſs of it, and as the Avenger of all Violations of it, and becauſe the Law of God obliged him to the performance of it.

44 The king ſaid moreover to Shimei, Thou knoweſt all the wickedneſs which thine heart is privy to, that thou didſt to David my father: therefore the LORD ſhall return p thy wickedneſs upon thine own head.

p For which thy own Conſcience awakeh thee, and there is no need of other Witneſſes. q His baſe treachery, in which ſenſe he is ſo oft upbraided by the Prophets, as Iſa. 33. 1. Jer. 12. 1. Hab. 2. 5. and by ſuffering him to fall into farther Crimes, and conſequently into more deſerved Death.

45 And king Solomon ſhall be bleſſed, and the throne of David r ſhall be eſtabliſhed before the LORD s for ever.

r That Royal Power and Dignity conferred upon David to him and his Heirs for ever. s By the execution of ſuch Righteous Judgments as this is. For the preſence of God is not to be underſtood Objectively and Paſſively, as if he were preſent to all Men alike, but Actively, as an Obſerver and Rewarder of all Righteouſneſs, and Puniſher of all Wickedneſs, and ſo he is moſt preſent to thoſe in whom he works moſt of God's inſpection, and by his Bleſſings.

46 So the king commanded Benaiah the ſon of Jehoiada, which went out t, and fell upon him that he died: and the * kingdom was eſtabliſhed in the hand of Solomon u.

* 2 Chron. 12. 13.

t Carrying Sentence along with him to the place of Execution, which was not fit to be in the Palace it ſelf. A laſt Favor and Mercy Execution is to be taken out of the way.

CHAP. III.

Solomon marrieth Pharaoh's Daughter: High Places being in use, he goeth to Gibeon to Sacrifice, 1.—4. Vowe the Lord appeareth to him: Gives him a choice: He preferreth Wisdom: Obtaineth it, and also Riches and Honour, 5.—15. His Judgment between the two Harlots, 16.—28.

* Chap. 9. 16. AND * Solomon made affinity with Pharaoh king of Egypt a, and took Pharaohs daughter b, and brought her into the city of David c, until he had made an end of building his own house, and the house of the LORD d, and the † wall of Jerusalem round about e.

a As being a powerful neighbour. b Upon what conditions it not here expressed: but it is probable, she was first instructed in, and professed to the Jewish Religion; as may be gathered, 1. Because he was not yet fallen from God, but loved the Lord, and walked in the statutes of David, ver. 3. And therefore would never have married a gross Idolater, which was so contrary to God's Law, and to pernicious in its Consequences. 2. Because he is no where reproved for this Fact, as he is for living many other strange women, 1 Kings 11. 1. 3. By comparing Pfal. 45. and the Book of Canticles: whereby it plainly appears, that this Action had something extraordinary in it, and was design'd by God to be a Type of Christ, calling his Church to himself, and to the true Religion, not only out of the Jews, but even out of the Gentile World. c Of which, see Chap. 2. 11. Into David's Palace there. d i.e. The Temple appropriated to the Worship and Honour of God. e Which though in some part built by David, 2 Sam. 5. 9. yet Solomon is here said to Build, either because he made it higher, and stronger, and more beautiful, and glorious; in which, or the like sense Nebuchadnezzar is said to have built Babylon, Dan. 4. 30. or because he built another Wall besides the former, for greater security; for after this time Jerusalem was encompassed with more Walls than one.

* 2 Chron. 33. 17. 2 * Only ∴ the people sacrificed in high places f, because there was no house g built unto the name of the LORD h until those days.

∴ This Particle is used here, and v. 3. as an Exception to Solomon's Integrity and Glory, and as his infirmity, and a blemish to his Government, That he himself both permitted and practised this which was expressly forbidden, Levit. 17. 3, 4. Deut. 12. 13, 14. except in some extraordinary cases. Possibly he permitted it, because he thought it better to allow an Error in a Circumstance, than to occasion a neglect of the Substance of God's Worship, which he apprehended would follow upon a severe Prohibition of that Practise, because the People's hearts were generally and constantly set upon these high Places, as appears from all the following History; and they were not willing to submit to so much trouble and charge as the bringing of all their Sacrifices to one place would cause; nor would yield to it until the Temple was built, which he knew would easily encline and oblige them to it; and that being speedily to be done, he might think it more advisable, rather to delay the Execution of that Law of God for an approaching Season, wherein he doubted not, they would be sweetly and freely drawn to it than at present to drive them to it by force. Although these and all other prudential Considerations should have given place to the Will and Wisdom of God. f Which are Groves, or other convenient places upon Hills, in which the Patriarchs used to offer up their Worship and Sacrifices to God; and from them this Custom was derived both to the Gentiles and the Jews: and in them the Gentiles Sacrificed to Idols; Jer. 7. 31. Ezek. 6. 3, 4. Hof. 10. 8. the Hebrews to the true God. g Which reason was not sufficient, for there was a Tabernacle, to which they were as much confined as to the Temple, Deut. 12, &c. 5 Either, 1. To the Name, or name of the Lord being oft put for the Lord himself, as Deut. 28. 58 Job 1. 21. Pfal. 7. 17. and 116. 13. and 135. 1. Or, 2. To the Honour, and Praise, and Service of God; to the Glory of his Name; i. e. of his Majesty, and all his Perfections, which shall be adored and manifested there.

3 And i Solomon loved the LORD, walking in the ſtatutes of David k his father: only he ſacrificed and burnt incenſe in high places.

i Or, yet, although he miſtook, and miſcarried himſelf in the matter of High Places, yet in the general, his Heart was right with God, and he both loved him with inward Affection, and walked with him in outward Converſation and Worſhip. k i.e. According to the Statutes or Commands of God, which are here called the ſtatutes of David; not only becauſe they were ſo freely choſen, and heartily loved, and diligently practiſed by David, but alſo becauſe the obſervation of them was ſo earneſtly preſſed upon Solomon, and fortified with David's Authority and Command: See 1 Kings 2. 2, 3. 4. and 1 Chron 28. 8, 9.

4 And the king went to Gibeon to ſacrifice there; for that was the great high place l: a thouſand burnt-offerings did Solomon offer upon that altar m.

l The moſt eminent and frequented, becauſe there was the Tabernacle, and the Altar of Moſes, 1 Chron. 16. 39. and 21. 29. And 2 Chron. 1 3, 5, 6. which poſſibly were placed upon an high, or raiſed Ground. m Thereby ſhewing his ſpecial reſpect to this: ove all other places; and by his Example teaching and inviting all his People to do ſo.

5 ¶ In Gibeon the LORD appeared to Solomon in a dream n by night: and God ſaid o, Aſk what I ſhall give thee.

n Queſt. How could Solomon pray in his Dream, or that prayer be acceptable to God, as this was, v. 10? Anſ. The Dreams of Men are not ſuch inſignificant things as many imagine. That good Dreams are oftentimes praiſe-worthy, and evil Dreams blame-worthy, is not only the opinion of the Jews and Chriſtians, but of divers of the wiſer and better Heathens; and the reaſon hereof is evident, becauſe mens Dreams are commonly the Images of their Minds and Tempers, and do only reflect and repreſent, though but faintly and imperfectly, thoſe very things which are moſt imprinted upon their hearts by their waking Meditations, and daily Converſation; and therefore it is not unreaſonable, that either the ſinful Dreams of evil-minded Men ſhould be imputed to them, and pumiſhed in them, or the vertuous Dreams of good Men imputed to, and rewarded in them; which was Solomon's caſe: for his heart having been daily and conſtantly employed in paſſionate longings and prayers for the Wiſdom, which here he begs; it was a natural and likely thing that his heart ſhould, as it did, work that way even in his Dreams. Although, to ſpeak truly and ſtrictly, Solomon's prayer made in his Dream, would have been no way pleaſing to God, nor profitable to himſelf, if it had not been the reſult of his daily and moſt ſerious practice; and though God ſignified his mind in a Dream, yet it was Solomon's waking Prayers (which were ſhadowed by this dark repreſentation) which God accepted and required; and this acceptance of God was ſignified to him in an extraordinary manner, and by a Divine Dream, which was one of thoſe ways whereby God uſe uſed to communicate his Will to his Prophets and People. So the whole buſineſs lies thus: Solomon dreamed that God bid him aſk what he would, 1 Kings 3. 5. and that he did aſk Wiſdom, v. 6, &c. and that God accepted his deſire, v. 10. and gave him that gracious anſwer, ver. 11, &c. And all this was done in a Dream, but with this difference; Solomon's prayer was but imaginary, but God's anſwer was real, though conveyed in a Dream. And when he awoke, he knew by Divine Inſpiration that this was a Dream ſent from God to aſſure him that he would give him Wiſdom, and Riches, and Honour, and this with reſpect unto his frequent, conſtant, and fervent waking deſires, which his Dream of his Prayers did ſufficiently intimate. See more on v. 6. o i.e. He dreamed that God ſaid ſo.

6 And Solomon ſaid p, Thou haſt ſhewed unto thy ſervant David my father great † mercy, according as he walked before thee in truth q, and in righteouſneſs, and in uprightneſs of heart with thee r, and thou haſt kept ſ for him this great kindneſs, that thou haſt given him a ſon to ſit on his throne, as it is this day.

p i.e. He dreamed that he ſaid. See on v. 5. Or, he really ſaid. For although the uſe of reaſon is ordinarily ſo dark and imperfect in Dreams, that ſuch actings are not human actions; yet in extraordinary and Divine Dreams it is but reaſonable to allow ſomething extraordinary. For who can doubt but God may ſo clear up and aſſiſt a Man's reaſon in his Dream, that he may have a true and ſtrong apprehenſion of ſome things, which alſo may make a ſuitable impreſſion upon the will or affections; and conſequently ſuch acts of the Soul may be moral acts and regardable by God and men? And this might be a kind of exſtatical rapture, whereby his Soul might be as it were carried out of his Body, as St. Paul's was, 2 Cor. 12. 3. for a ſeaſon, in which caſe both his reaſon might clearly and diſtinctly apprehend God's mind, and his gracious offers; and his Will might make a free choice of Wiſdom; which therefore might be accepted and rewarded by God. q Either, Firſt, Sincerely, and without diſſimulation. But that is more fully expreſſed in the following words, in uprightneſs of heart. Or rather, Secondly, in the true Worſhip and Service of God, in the profeſſion, belief, practice and defence of the truth, or of the true Religion, or of God's Will or Word, which is called truth, Prov. 23. 23. John 17. 17. Gal. 3. 1. So truth here contains all his duties to God, as righteouſneſs doth his duties to men, and uprightneſs the right manner of performing both ſorts of his duties. r i.e. In thy Judgment, to whom alone his heart was known, and to whom he oft appealed as the witneſs of his Integrity; and with reſpect to whom he performed all his duties, even to men. ſ Or, reſerved; that which thou didſt not reſerve for Saul, whoſe Poſterity thou didſt cut off from the Kingdom.

7 And now, O LORD my God, thou haſt made thy ſervant king inſtead of David my father: and I am but a little child t: I know not how to go out or come in t.

t So he was in Years: not as if he were now but twelve Years old, as many gather from this name of Child; for that name is given to Iſhmael, when 18 Years old, Gen. 21. 14, 15. and to Rehoboam when 41 Years old, 2 Chron. 13. 7. where the word is the ſame in the Hebrew: and before this time David calls him a wiſe man, Chron. 2. 9. but he was now not above 20 Years old; and withal (which he principally intends) he was raw and unexperienced, as a Child, in State affairs, and altogether unfit for ſo hard a task. t i.e. To govern my People, and manage Affairs; as that Phraſe ſignifies, Num. 27. 17. Deut. 31. 2. Joſ. 14. 11.

8 And thy ſervant is in the midſt of thy people u which thou haſt choſen x, a great people, that cannot be numbred, nor counted for multitude.

u i.e. Is ſet over them to rule and guide them. A Metaphor from the Overſeer of divers Workmen, who uſually is in the midſt of them, that he may the better obſerve how each of them diſchargeth his office. x Thy peculiar People, whom thou haſt in ſpecial care of, and therefore wilt expect a more punctual account of my Government of them.

9 * Give therefore thy ſervant an † underſtanding heart y to judge z thy people, that I may diſcern between good and bad a: for who is able b to judge this thy ſo great a people?

* Chap. 4. 29. † Heb. a heart to underſtand. y Whereby I may both clearly diſcern, and faithfully perform all the parts of my duty: for both theſe are ſpoken of in Scripture, as the

the effects of a good underſtanding; and he that lives in the neglect of his Duties, or the practice of Wickedneſs, is called a Fool, and one void of underſtanding. z Or, govern, as that word is uſed, Judg. 2. 16. and 3. 10. and 4. 4. Pſal. 7. 8. and 67. 4. Iſa. 2. 4. and 16. 5. a To wit, in Cauſes and Controverſies among my People; that I may not through miſtakes, or prejudices, or paſſions, give wrong Sentences, and call evil good, or good evil. b Of himſelf, or without thy gracious aſſiſtance.

10 And the ſpeech pleaſed the LORD c, that Solomon had asked this thing.

c How ſuch a dreaming Prayer could pleaſe God, ſee in the Notes on v. 5, and 6.

11 And God ſaid unto him, Becauſe thou haſt asked this thing, and haſt not asked for thy ſelf † long life, neither haſt asked riches for thy ſelf, nor haſt asked the life of thine enemies d, but haſt asked for thy ſelf underſtanding † to diſcern judgment;

d That God would take away their lives, or put them into thy power to deſtroy them.

12 Behold, I have done according to thy word e: lo, I have given thee a wiſe and an underſtanding heart f, ſo that there was none g like thee before thee, neither after thee ſhall any ariſe like unto thee ∴.

e I have granted, and do at this preſent grant unto thee thy deſire. And accordingly at this time God did infuſe into him a far higher degree, and greater meaſure of Wiſdom than he naturally had. f i.e. Wiſdom to govern thy People, to know and do thy ſeveral Duties, which was the thing that Solomon deſired, v. 7, 9. and the effects whereof here follow, v. 16, &c. and withal, all Divine and Humane Wiſdom, the knowledge of all Things, of all the Arts and Sciences, as may be gathered from 1 King 4. 29, &c. and that in a far greater proportion than by his years, and the time he could get for his ſtudy, could poſſibly produce. g Either, no King: or rather, no Man: for he is herein preferred not only before all Kings, but before all men, chap. 4. 31. no meer Man ſince the Fall equalled him, to wit, in univerſal Knowledge, and eſpecially in the Art of well-governing his People. ∴ Queſt. Did not the Apoſtles exceed him? Anſ. They did not in Natural and Political Knowledge, but only in the knowledge of the Myſteries of Faith, which were more freely and more fully imparted in thoſe Times; the ignorance whereof was no diſparagement to Solomon's Wiſdom, becauſe they were not diſcoverable by any Creature without Divine Revelation, which God ſaw fit not to afford in Solomon's time. I know no inconvenience in affirming that Solomon's natural Capacities were higher than any of the Apoſtles; and Solomon had a more comprehenſive Knowledge of all things known in that Age, than the Apoſtles had in all the Diſcoveries of their Age.

* Hinth. Chap. 4. 30. Or, hath or ſhall have.

13 And I have alſo * given h thee that which thou haſt not asked, both riches and honour, ſo that there ‖ ſhall not be i any among the kings like unto thee all thy days k.

h Either, Firſt, I have granted and decreed to give: for words ſignifying action, are oft put only for the purpoſe of the action. Or rather, Secondly, I will give, as it is expreſſed in the Parallel place, 2 Chron. 1. 12. I will as certainly give them, as if I had actually done it; for future certain things are oft expreſſed in Scripture in the paſt time, as is well known to all. i So it is true of all the ſucceeding Kings of Iſrael, of whom he ſpeaks. Or, hath not been, as it is in the Hebrew: and ſo it may be true of all the Kings that then were or had been in the World, whereof none was like to him, to wit, in all the things here mentioned, and wherein he is compared with them, which is not only in Riches, but alſo in Wiſdom, and in Honour or Renown. k To wit, of thy life. Whereby he ſignifies, that theſe Gifts of God were not temporary and tranſient, as they were in Saul, but ſuch as ſhould abide with him whilſt he lived.

14 And if thou wilt walk in my ways l, to keep my ſtatutes, and my commandments, * as thy father David did walk, then I will lengthen thy days.

* Chap. 15. 5.

l This Caution God gives him, leſt his great Wiſdom ſhould make him proud, or careleſs, or preſumptuous, as if he were out of all danger; and to oblige him to more care and circumſpection to avoid the ſnares and miſchiefs to which ſo much proſperity and glory would probably expoſe him; and withal to juſtifie himſelf in caſe he ſhould afterwards alter the courſe of his Providence towards Solomon; and that, when Men are ſurprized with Solomon's dreadful fall, they might know, it was no ſurprizal to God, but that he did foreſee it, and would over-rule it to his own Glory one way or other.

15 And Solomon awoke, and behold, it was a dream m: and he came to Jeruſalem, and ſtood before the ark of the covenant of the LORD n, and offered up burnt-offerings o, and offered peace-offerings p, and made a feaſt to all his ſervants.

m i.e. He perceived that it was a Dream; not a vain Dream, wherewith Men are commonly deluded; but a Divine Dream, aſſuring him of the thing: which he knew, partly, by a Divine Impreſſion and Inſpiration thereof in his mind after he was awakened: and partly, by the vaſt alteration which he preſently found within himſelf in point of Wiſdom and Knowledge. n Which was there in the City of David, 2 Sam. 6. 17. before which he preſented himſelf in way of Holy Miniſtration and Adoration, which may be noted by the word, ſtood. Or, that word may note his abode there for ſome conſiderable time, as the offering of ſo many Sacrifices required. o Chiefly for the expiation of his and his Peoples Sin, through the Blood of Chriſt, manifeſtly ſignified in theſe Sacrifices. p Solemnly to praiſe God for all his Mercies, and eſpecially for giving him a quiet and fixed poſſeſſion of the Kingdom, and for his glorious Appearance to him in a Dream, and for the great Promiſe therein made to him, and the actual accompliſhment of it there wrought in him.

16 ¶ Then came there two women that were harlots q, unto the king r, and ſtood there before him ſ.

q Or, Whoredoms: for the Hebrew word ſignifies both. See on Joſh. 2. 1. And poſſibly they might be both. that by their open profeſſion, and the other by their ſecret practice: not that they were common Harlots; for neither would Solomon have tolerated ſuch; nor durſt ſuch have preſumed themſelves to come and juſt a Ruler; nor do ſuch uſe either to bring forth Children, or to have ſuch a tender care of, and affection to them as theſe expreſs. Yet that they were unmarried Perſons, and to guiſe of Proſtitution, ſeems moſt probable, both becauſe there is no mention of any husbands, whoſe office it was, if there were any ſuch, to protect their Wives; and becauſe they lived a ſolitary life in one Houſe, r Haply they had preſented their Cauſe to the Inferior Courts, who could not determine; and therefore now they bring it to the King, as the Supreme Magiſtrate, and famous for his Wiſdom. ſ Deſiring and expecting his Sentence in the Caſe.

17 And the one woman ſaid, O my lord, I and this woman dwell in one houſe, and I was delivered of a child with her in the houſe.

18 And it came to paſs the third day after that I was delivered, that this woman was delivered alſo: and we were together; there was no ſtranger with us in the houſe u, ſave we two in the houſe.

t So they could not be diſtinguiſhed by their Age. u Therefore no Witneſs on either ſide: and although there might be ſome ſenſible difference to an exact Obſerver between the Features of the two Children; yet it is not probable that was much minded by the Neighbours: for though civil Women might aſſiſt them both in their Child-births, yet it is not likely they would afterwards converſe much with them, as being Perſons of diſpoſed Fame, and the Features of the children, eſpecially for ſo few days, might eaſily be ſo like, that it was difficult to diſcern the one from the other. And the Teſtimonies of the Women were of equal credit, i.e. of none at all.

19 And this womans child died in the night, becauſe ſhe over-laid it x.

x And ſo ſmothered it: which ſhe juſtly conjectures, becauſe there were evidences of that kind of death, but no appearance of any other cauſe thereof.

20 And ſhe aroſe at midnight y, and took my ſon from beſide me z, while thine handmaid ſlept a, and laid it in her boſome, and laid her dead child in my boſome.

y When I was aſleep, as ſhe reaſonably and truly concluded. z Either, becauſe ſhe really deſired the comfort of a Child, to be educated by her, and owned as hers: or, becauſe ſhe would not be thought guilty of the Child's death; for which ſhe knew not how ſeverely Solomon would puniſh her. a As ſhe might well know, becauſe had ſhe been awake, ſhe had diſcovered and prevented her deſign.

21 And when I roſe in the morning to give my child ſuck, behold, it was dead: but when I had conſidered it in the morning, behold, it was not my ſon, which I did bear.

22 And the other woman ſaid, Nay, but the living is my ſon, and the dead is thy ſon: and this ſaid, No; but the dead is thy ſon, and the living is my ſon. Thus they ſpake before the king b.

b Both peremptorily and vehemently affirm'd the ſame thing, oft repeating the ſame words.

23 Then ſaid the king, The one ſaith, This is my ſon that liveth, and thy ſon is the dead: and the other ſaith, Nay; but thy ſon is the dead, and my ſon is the living.

24 And the king ſaid, Bring me a ſword: and they brought a ſword before the king.

25 And the king ſaid c, Divide the living child in two, and give half to the one, and half to the other.

c With ſeeming ſincerity and earneſtly, though with a diſtant far above the reach of the two Women, or of the People preſent, who probably with admiration and horror expected the concluſion of it.

26 Then ſpake the woman whoſe the living child was, unto the king, (for † her bowels † yearned upon her ſon) and ſhe ſaid, O my lord, give her the living child, and in no wiſe ſlay it: but the other ſaid, Let it be neither mine nor thine, but divide it.

27 Then the king anſwered and ſaid, Give her the living child, and in no wiſe ſlay it: ſhe is the mother thereof d.

d As is evident from her Natural and Methods Affection to the Child, which ſhe had rather have alienated and given away from her, than deſtroyed.

28 And all Iſrael heard of the judgment which the king had judged, and they feared the king: for they ſaw that the wiſdom of God was † in him to do judgment ſ.

† Either, Of God.

e Either, great and eminent Wisdom, as the Cedars or mountains of God are the highest and most eminent of the kind: or, Divine Wisdom, with which God had inspired him for the better government of his People. f To assist him in wisely Examining and justly Determining the Causes and Controversies of his People.

CHAP. IV.

Solomon's chief princes, 1,—6. And officers for provision, 7,—19. The peace and largeness of his kingdom, 20, 21. His daily provision for his court, 22,—25. Two stables for his horses, 26,—28. His wisdom, 29,—34.

SO king Solomon was king over all Israel a.

a This is spoken with respect to his Successors, who were Kings only over a part, and that the smallest part of it. Or, in reference to the times of Division and Rebellion under David; when part were after David, and part after Ishbosheth; or part after Absalom, or Sheba, or Adonijah: but now all Israel were united under Solomon, and adhered to him, not only a part of them; especially from the death of Adonijah and Joab (who may be suspected to have watched an opportunity of revolting,) and the confinement of Abiathar, and of Shimei (if not his death also) who could now have little or no Interest or Opportunity of setting up a Party against Solomon (their Principals being taken away, to whom they were but Accessaries;) nor, in probability, any Design to attempt it.

2 And these were the princes which he had b, Azariah the son c of Zadok d, ‖ the priest e.

b i.e. The chief Rulers or Officers belonging to him. c Or, the Grand-son, by comparing this with 1 Chron. 6. 8, 9. d Either Zadok the Priest, 1 Chron. 6. 8, 9. or some other of that name. e So he was the second Priest, or the Priest that attended upon Solomon's Person in Holy Offices and Administrations. But when this Sacred Writer professeth to give an account of Solomon's Princes, why should he put the second Priest, or Solomon's Domestick Priest, in the first place? Or, why should he be mentioned distinctly from his Father, who was generally present with Solomon, and could easily, either by himself, or some other fit Person or Persons appointed by him, manage all the King's Sacred Concerns? Or, why is he named before his Father? Others therefore render this Hebrew word, Prince, as it is used, Gen. 41. 45. and 47. 22, 26. Exod. 2. 16. 2 Sam. 8. 18. So he was either the chief in Dignity, the first Prince, and the highest Officer in the State next to the King: or the chief Minister of State, by whom the great affairs of State were managed and prepared for the King's Consideration, &c.

3 Elihoreph, and Ahiah the sons of Shisha, ‖ scribes f: Jehoshaphat, the son of Ahilud the ‖ recorder g.

‖ Or, secretaries.

f i.e. Secretaries of State. He chose two, whereas David had but one: either, because he observed some inconveniencies in trusting all those matters in one hand: or, because he had now much more employment than David had, this being a time of great Peace and Prosperity, and his Empire enlarged, and his Correspondencies with Forein Princes more frequent. g Of which fee on 2 Sam. 8. 16.

4 And Benaiah the son of Jehoiada, was over the host: and Zadok and Abiathar were the priests h.

h i.e. The High-Priests, to wit, successively, first Abiathar, and then Zadok. Quest. Why is Abiathar named when he was deposed? Ans. First, Because it is ordinary for Persons to retain the Names and Titles of those Places which in reality they have left. Secondly, Because though he was deposed from the High-Priesthood, yet he was a Priest, and the Chief of one of the Priestly Families: and as Zadok was jointly named with Abiathar when Abiathar alone was the High Priest, as 2 Sam. 8. 17. and 20. 25. so now Zadok and Abiathar are joined, although the High-Priesthood was reSted in Zadok alone. Thirdly, Possibly Abiathar, though he was deposed from the Supreme Priesthood, yet upon his serious Repentance, and by the Intercession of his Friends, was restored to the execution of the Priestly Office, and put into that Place which Zadok enjoyed when Abiathar was High-Priest. Fourthly, Some say that here is mention made of all Solomon's Chief Officers, both such as now were, and such as had been, and such as were afterwards, as they gather from v. 11. and 15. where two Persons are named who married two of Solomon's Daughters, which could not be till many Years after this time.

5 And Azariah the son of Nathan was over the officers i: and Zabud the son of Nathan k was principal officer l, and the kings friend m.

i Or, Overseers, or Surveyors, to wit, over those twelve Officers named ver. 7, &c. where this Hebrew word is used, who were all subject, and to give up their Accompts to him. Though the word signifies any Governors or Commanders of the higher sort, as 1 King. 5. 16. 2 Chron. 8. 10. ‖ The Prophet, who had been so highly instrumental in Solomon's Establishment in the Throne. l Possibly, President of the King's Council. The Hebrew word is Cohen, which see. 2. is rendred Priest, whence some read this place thus: Zabud the son of Nathan the Priest, or the Minister (as the word properly signifies, and that Title well enough agrees to a Prophet, or the Prince: for the Prophet Nathan was a Man confiderable both for his Quality, and for his Honour and Esteem with the King,) was the kings friend. m Either his special Favourite, both for his Father's sake and for his own, having, it seems, been brought up with him: or, his Confident, with whom he used to communicate his most secret Counsels.

* Chap. 5. 14.

6 And Ahishar was over the houshold n: and * Adoniram the son of Abda was over the ‖ tribute o.

n Steward of the King's Houshold. o To wit, the personal Tribute, or the levy of Men, as appears by comparing this with chap. 5. 13, 14. it being very fit that there should be some one person to whom the chief Conduct or Inspection of that great business was committed.

7 ¶ And Solomon had twelve officers over all Israel, which provided victuals for the king and his houshold: each man his month in a year made provision.

8 And these are their names: ‖ the son of Hur p in mount Ephraim.

‖ Or, Bunkir.

p This and others of them are denominated from their Fathers, because they were known and famous in their Generation.

9 ‖ The son of Dekar in Makaz, and in Shaalbim, and Bethshemesh, and Elon-Beth-hanan q.

‖ Or, Bon-dekar.

q Or, Elon, the house or dwelling-place of Hanan: and Hanan may be a Mans name, and this Place may be so differenced from other Elons. Or, the plain (for so the Hebrew word signifies) of Beth-hanan.

10 ‖ The son of Hesed in Aruboth, to him pertained Socho r, and all the land of Hepher s.

‖ Or, Ben-hesed.

r There were two Sochohs, but both near together. See Josh. 15. 35, 48. s In Judah. See 1 Chron. 4. 6.

11 ‖ The son of Abinadab in all the region of Dor t, which had Taphath the daughter of Solomon to wife.

t In Manasseh with Jordan, where also were Taanach, Megiddo, and Bethshean, v. 12.

12 Baana the son of Ahilud, to him pertained Taanach, and Megiddo, and all Beth-shean, which is by Zartanah beneath Jezreel u, from Beth-shean to Abel-Meholah, even unto the place that is beyond Jokneam.

u Which was in Issachar. And this seems added to distinguish it from that Zaretanah, Josh. 3. 16.

13 ‖ The son of Geber in Ramoth-Gilead w, to him pertained the towns of Jair x the son of Manasseh, which are in Gilead: to him also pertained the region of Argob, which is in Bashan, threescore great cities with walls and brazen bars y.

w Ramoth in the Land of Gilead, Deut. 4. 43. Josh. 20. 8. 1 King. 22. 3. so called to difference it from Ramath in Issachar, 1 Chron. 6. 73. x In Manasseh beyond Jordan. See Numb. 32. 41. Deut. 3. 14. y This is added by way of distinction from those Town of Jair. For being without Jordan, they were liable to the attempts of their Enemies.

14 Ahinadab the son of Iddo had ‖ Mahanaim z.

‖ Or, in Mahanaim.

z The City and Territory of Mahanaim: of which see Gen. 32. 2. Josh. 13. 26. But this seems too narrow a compass for one of these great Officers, and unequal to the rest: although these portions seem not to be distributed into equal portions of Land, but into larger or lesser parts, according to their fertility or barrenness. And this seems to have been a very fruitful place. See 2 Sam. 17. 27. Or, to Mahanaim. So he may understand all the space from the parts last mentioned to Mahanaim, which was in the Tribe of Gad.

15 Ahimaaz was in Naphtali: he also took Basmath the daughter of Solomon to wife.

16 Baanah the son of Hushai was in Asher, and in Aloth.

17 Jehoshaphat the son of Paruah in Issachar.

18 Shimei the son of Elah a, in Benjamin.

a Which he adds to distinguish him from that cursed and curling Shimei, 2 Sam. 16. 5.

19 Geber the son of Uri was in the country of Gilead b, in the country of Sihon king of the Amorites, and of Og king of Bashan: and he was the only officer which was in the land c.

b i.e. In the remaining part of that Land of Gilead, which was mentioned above, v. 13. c Or rather, in that land, for the Hebrew points intimate that the emphatical Article is there underfood, to wit, in all Gilead, excepting the parcels mentioned before, in all the Territories of Sihon and Og; which because they were of large extent, and yet all committed to this one Man, it is here noted concerning him as his priviledge above the rest, whose Jurisdictions were of a narrower extent.

20 ¶ Judah and Israel were many, as the sand which is by the sea in multitude, eating and drinking, and making merry.

21 And Solomon reigned over all kingdoms, from the river d unto the land of the Philistines e, and unto the border of Egypt f: they brought presents, and served Solomon g all the days of his life.

d Euphrates: for so far David, having conquered the Syrians, extended his Empire, which Solomon also maintained in that extent. And so God's Promise concerning the giving of the whole Land, as far as Euphrates, to the Israelites, was fulfilled. And, if the Israelites had multiplied so much that the Land of Canaan would not sufffice them, having God's Grant of all the Land as far as Euphrates, they might have seized upon it wheresoever occasion required. e Which is to be underflood inclusively; for it is unreasonable to think that the Philistines were not within Solomon's Dominion ‖ unto the River Sihor, which was the border between Egypt and Canaan, Josh. 13. 3. Compare Gen. 15. 18. g By Tribute, or other ways, as he needed and required.

‖ Or, Even

22 ¶ And Solomons † provision for one day was † Heb. bread. thirty ‖ measures h of fine flour, and threescore measures of meal i, h Heb. Cors: each of which contained ten Ephah's, Exod. 16. 36. So this Provision was sufficient for near three thousand Persons. i Of a courser sort for common use, and for the inferior fort.

23 Ten fat oxen k, and twenty oxen out of the pastures l, and an hundred sheep, beside harts, and roebucks, and fallow-deer, and fatted fowl.

k Fatted in stalls. l Well fleshed, tender and good, though not so fat as the former.

24 For he had dominion over all the region on this side the river, from Tiphsah m even to Azzah, over all the kings on this side the river n: and he had peace on all sides round about him.

m Either that Tiphsah, 2 King. 15. 16. which was in the Kingdom of Israel within Jordan; or, rather, another place of that name upon the River now mentioned, to wit, Euphrates, even that eminent City which is mentioned by Ptolemy, and Strabo, and Pliny, called Thapsacum. And this best agrees with the following Azzah, which was the border of Canaan in the South and West, Gen. 10. 19. Deut. 2. 23. as Tiphsah was in the North and East. And so his Dominion is described by both its borders. n Who owned subjection, and payed Tribute to him.

25 And Judah and Israel dwelt † safely, * every man under his vine, and under his fig-tree o, from Dan even to Beersheba, all the days of Solomon.

o Enjoying the Fruit of his own Labours with safety and comfort. Under these two Trees, which were most used and cultivated by the Israelites, he understands all other Fruit-bearing Trees, and all other comforts, by a Synecdoche. And they are brought in as fitting or dwelling under these Trees, partly for Recreation or Delight in the Shade; and partly, for the Comfort or Advantage of the Fruit; and withal, to note their great Security, not only in their strong Cities, but even in the Country, where the Vines and Fig-trees grew, which were most open to the incursions of their Enemies.

26 ¶ And * Solomon had forty thousand ‖ stalls of horses p for his charets q, and twelve thousand horsemen r.

* 2 Chron. 9. 25.
‖ Or, chariots.

p In 2 Chron. 9. 25. it is but four thousand. Ans First, Some acknowledge an error of the Transcriber, writing arbahim, forty, for arbaph, four, which was an easie mistake. And such mistakes in some Copies, in these lesser matters, God might permit, for the trial and exercise of our Faith, without any prejudice to the Authority of the Sacred Scriptures in the great Doctrines of Faith and good life. Secondly, It is not exactly the same Hebrew word which is here and there, though we translate both stalls; and therefore there may well be allowed some difference in the signification, the one signifying properly stalles, of which there were 4000, the other stalls or partitions for each Horse, which were 40000. Which great number seems directly forbidden, Deut. 17. 16. except Solomon had some particular dispensation from God, which might be, though it be not recorded. q Both for his Military Charets, which seem to be those 1400, 1 King. 10. 26. and for divers other uses, as about his great and various Buildings, and Merchandises, and other occasions, which might require some thousands of other Charets. r Appointed partly for the defence and preservation of his People in peace; and partly, for attendance upon his Person, and for the Splendor of his Government. Compare chap. 10. 26. But the words may be otherwise rendred, and 12000 horses, for Parash manifestly signifies both an horse and horseman. And these might be a better sort of Horses than most of those which were deligned for the Charets. Or thus, and for (which Particle is eaflyunderstood and borrowed from the foregoing clause) 12000 horsemen: and so he means that the 40000 Horses were in part appointed for his Charets, and in part for his 12000 Horsemen.

27 And those officers s provided victual for king Solomon, and for all that came unto king Solomons table, every man in his month: they lacked nothing t.

28 Barley also and straw for the horses, and ‖ dromedaries u, brought they unto the place where the officers were, every man according to his charge.

u Or, Mules, by comparing this with 2 Chron. 9. 24. or, Post-Horses: which are particularly mentioned and distinguished from the other Horses, because they took a more exact and particular care about them. Howsoever, it is agreed that these were swift Beasts, which is evident from Esth. 8. 10, 14. Mich. 1. 13.

33 And he spake of trees g, from the cedar-tree that is in Lebanon, even unto the hyssop that springeth out of the wall h: he spake also of beasts, and of fowl, and of creeping things, and of fishes.

g i.e. Of all Plants, of their nature and qualities: all which Discourses are lost, without any impeachment of the Perfection of the Holy Scriptures; which were not inspired and written to teach Men Philosophy or Phyfick, but only to make Men wise to Salvation. 34 And there came of all people to hear the wisdom of Solomon, from all i kings of the earth, which had heard of his wisdom.

i To wit, from all the neighbouring Kings; universal Particles being frequently underflood in a restrained sense, and such restriction is grounded upon the following words, where this is limited to such as heard of Solomon's Wisdom.

CHAP. V.

Hiram sendeth to congratulate Solomon: who desireth of Hiram timber to build the temple, 1,—6. Hiram blesseth God for Solomon: and, for food for his family, sendeth him trees, 7,—12 The number of labourers and workmen employed about the temple, 13,—18

AND Hiram king of Tyre sent his servants unto Solomon a: (for he had heard that they had anointed him king in the room of his father) for ‖ Hiram was ever a lover of David.

‖ 2 Sam. 5. 11.

a To wit, as soon as he heard of his Succession in the Throne, as 1 Chron. the following words shew, he sent to congratulate with him, as the 12. 1. manner of Princes is.
Amos 1. 9.

2 And * Solomon sent to Hiram, saying,

* 2 Chron. 2. 3.

3 Thou knowest b how that David my father could not build an house unto the name of the LORD his God c, * for the wars which were about him on every side d, until the LORD put them under the soles of his feet e.

* 1 Chron. 22. 8.

b By common Fame, and by particular Information. c i.e. Either, First, For the Worship and Service of God. King. 3. 2. Or, Secondly, For the Lord himself, as that Phrase is used Deut. 32. 6. Psal. 20. 1. and 52. 9. d Which diverted his Cares and Thoughts to other things, and withal occasioned God's denial of the honour of that work to him. e i.e. Made them subject to him, that he might trample upon them at his pleasure. Compare Psal. 8. 6. 1 Cor. 15. 27.

4 But now the LORD my God hath given me rest on every side, so that there is neither adversary, nor evil occurrent.

5 And behold, I † purpose to build an house unto ‖ the name of the LORD my God, * as the LORD spake unto David my father, saying, Thy son whom I will set upon thy throne in thy room, he shall build an house unto my name.

† Heb. say.
* 2 Chron. 6. 7, 8, 9, 10. and 7. 12.

6 Now therefore command thou, that they † hew me cedar-trees g out of Lebanon h, and my servants shall be with thy servants i: and unto thee will I give hire for thy servants k, according to all that thou shalt † appoint: for thou knowest that there is not among us any that can skill to hew timber, like unto the Sidonians l.

† Heb. say.

f i.e. Thy Servants, as appears both from the foregoing words, command, &c. and from the following opposition of my servants. And this affiftance which these Gentiles gave to the building of Solomon's Temple, was a Type of the calling of the Gentiles, and that they should be very instrumental in the building and confirming of Christ's Spiritual Temple, to wit, his Church. g Which for their most soundness, and strength, and fragrancy, and durableness, were most fit for such a work, and therefore most proper for his design. Of these David had procured excellent and proper for his design. Of these David had procured excellent and proper store of stones, but not a sufficient number. h Which was either wholly or in part in Solomon's jurisdiction: and therefore he doth not desire that Hiram would give him the Cedars, because they were his own already; but only that his Servants might hew them for him; which required Art and Skill, in the time and manner of doing of it; all which the ingenious Tyrians well understood. i Either to be employed in the Temple, by comparing this with chap. 9. 21, 22. If it seem strange to any Man, that so many Thousands should be employed about so small a Building as the Temple was; it must be considered, 1. That the Temple, all its parts being considered, was far larger than Men imagine; of which, more hereafter. 2. That it is probable, that they were employed by turns, as the 30000 were, ver. 14. else they had been oppressed with hard and uninterrupted Labours. 3. That the Timber and Stone hewed and carried by them, was designed, not only (though principally) for the Temple, but also for Solomon's own Houses, and Buildings; because we read of no other Levy of Men, nor of any great care and pains taken after the Building of the Temple, for the procurement, or preparation of Materials for his own Houses, or his other Buildings; which implies, That that Work was done before; nay, that this very Levy of Men was made and employed for the building of the Lords house, and Solomons house, and Millo, and the wall of Jerusalem, and Hazor, and Megiddo, and Gezer, is expressed 1 Kings. 9. 15. which may fully satisfie that scruple.

Christ's

14 And he sent them to Lebanon, ten thousand a month by courses: a month they were in Lebanon, and two months at home: and † Adoniram was over the levy. Chap. 4. 6.

15 And Solomon had threescore and ten thousand that bare burdens, and fourscore thousand hewers k in the mountains:

k Either of Timber, or rather of Stones: for Hiram had taken care for the Timber.

c Whereof 3000 were set over the 150000, expressed ver. 15. each of these over 50 of them, and the odd 300 were set over three 3000, each of these to have the oversight of ten of them, to take an account of the Work from them. But in 2 Chron. 2. 18. their Overseers are said to be 3600. Ans. The 300 added in 2 Chron. 2. might be a reserve, to supply the places of the other 3000, 100, or of the 3300, as any of them should be taken off from the work by Death, or Sickness, or Weakness, or necessary occasions; which was a prudent Provision, and not unusual in such like cases. And so there were 3600 commissioned for the work, but only 3300 employed at one time; and therefore both Computations may further stand together. Some learned Men add, That those 3600 were Strangers, which indeed is manifest from 2 Chron. 2. 17. And that those 3300 were a distinct number of Men, and Israelites, which were set over all the rest, both Strangers and Israelites; who therefore are here called, the chief of Solomons officers, and are said to rule over the workmen: whereas, all that is said of those 3600 2 Chron. 2. 18. is, that they were overseers to see the people a work. Which may deserve further Consideration. Others say, That the 300 added in 2 Chron. were overseers of the Tyrian Workmen in Mount Lebanon, and the rest in all other places: or that they were set over some particular and more curious and considerable parts of the work.

d Marble and Porphiry, or other Stones of great size and value. e Where they could not afterward be seen: and therefore that this was done, is mentioned only as a point of Magnificence, except it was intended for a Type, or Mystical signification of the Precious Stones of Christ, who is the foundation of the true Temple, the Church of God; as he is called, Isa. 28. 16. 1 Cor. 3. 11.

18 And Solomons builders, and Hirams builders did hew them, and the ‖ stone-squarers f: so they prepared timber and stones to build the house.

f Heb. the Gibilites, the Inhabitants of Gebel, a place near Tyre, named Psalm 83. 7. Ezek. 27. 9. famous for Architects and Architects, Josh. 13. 5. These are here mentioned apart, as distinct from the rest of Hiram's Builders, as the most Eminent of them.

AND * it came to pass in the four hundred and * Gen. fourscore year after the children of Israel were come out of the land of Egypt a, in the fourth year of Solomons reign b over Israel, in the month Zif, which is the second month, that he † began to build the house of the LORD. † Heb. he began.

a This Chronological difficulty, is too vast and comprehensive to be fully discussed here, or to be determined by Unlearned Readers, and for the Learned, I refer them to what is largely digested in my Latin Synopsis upon this place. It may suffice at present to suggest these Particulars, 1. That Israels coming out of Egypt is variously understood in Scripture, and with some latitude, so as not only to note the time when first they came out of Egypt, but the time of their being in, or coming out of the Wilderness; as is manifest from Deut. 4. 45. where the words in the Hebrew are not after, &c. as we translate it, but in their coming forth out of Egypt: and Psalm 114. 1, 2, 3. When Israel came forth, &c. Heb. in their coming forth, &c. And it is not impossible it may be so understood here; after they were come out, &c. to wit, compleatly; i. e. towards the end of their Expedition out of Egypt into Canaan. Nor doth the difference between the Hebrew Prepositions, Lamed and Beth, which a learned Man objects, hinder this sence; for as Beth signifies, (as he saith) after; so also doth Lamed, Gen. 7. 4. 10. Numb. 33. 38. 2. That whereas the times of the Judges do chiefly cause this difficulty, there are many things which will relieve us therein; as, 1. That divers of the years there mentioned belong to one and the same time, as is evident from Jair's 22 years, within which fell out, as divers learned Chronologers agree, the 18 years of the Oppression of the Ammonites, and several years of the Philistine Tyranny, who oppressed Israel in the West, whilst the Ammonites vexed them in the East: and the like might be observed in other cases. 2. That the years of Rest are not necessarily to be understood of so many distinct years, besides those of War, and Servitude; and those words which are generally rendred, the land had rest forty, or eighty years, or the like; may be thus rendred, and that very agreeable to the Hebrew, The land had rest, or began to rest, or recovered its rest, in the fortieth, or in the eightieth (the Cardinal Numbers being frequently put for the Ordinal, especially where the Number exceeds Ten) year, to be computed from some remarkable time; and so that Phrase doth not note how long time, or till what time the Rest continued, but at what time it began. As for instance, in Judg. 3. 11. the land had rest, not forty years, as it is in our Translation, but in the fortieth year; to wit, from, and after their first Rest in, or quiet Possession of, the Land of Canaan, which Joshua gave them; which time may very probably be made up of the days of Joshua, after he had settled them in a state of Rest; and of the elders that over-lived him; Judg. 2. 7. and the time of their Corruption after the death of those Elders; and the eight years of Servitude under the king of Mesopotamia. So Judg. 3. 30. The land had rest in the eightieth year; to wit, from, and after that Rest which Othniel obtained for them, ver. 11. And Judg. 5. 31. It rested in the fortieth year; to wit, after that Rest got by Ehud, Judg. 3. 30. and Judg. 5. 28. It rested in the fortieth year; to wit, from that last Rest got by Deborah. And thus the computation of Years is more plain and certain, being thus made from Rest to rest, than theirs that proceed the other way. And this is the more considerable, because it was the Opinion of that famously Learned and Pious Bishop of Armagh. All which considered, it will be very easie to contain all the parts and passages of Sacred Story, from the coming out of Egypt, to this time, within the compass of 480 Years: of the several parcels whereof, see my Latin Synopsis. And as for other Scriptures, which some conceit to be contradictory to this, I shall by God's help Vindicate them in their several places. b His three first Years being spent, partly, in settling the Affairs of his Kingdom; without which, neither Civil nor Ecclesiastical Concerns could have any Consistency; and partly, in making necessary Preparations for the Work. c For so it is expressed, 2 Chron. 3. 1. And so it is explained here below, ver. 37. The foundation of the house was laid: though in the Hebrew it be only, he built. Thus active words are oft underflood of the beginning of the Action, as Gen. 5. 32. and 11. 26.

2 And the house g which king Solomon built for the LORD, the length thereof c was threescore cubits h, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits, and the height thereof i thirty cubits.

d Properly so called, as distinct from all the Walls and Buildings which were adjoyning to it; to wit, the holy, and most holy Place. e From East, and to West. And this, and the other Measures may seem to belong to the inside from Wall to Wall. f Cubits of the Sanctuary; of which, see on Gen. 6. 15. g To wit, of the House; for the Porch was 120 Cubits high, 2 Chron. 3. 4. So that all the measures compared each with other, were harmonious. For 60 to 20. (the length to the breadth) is triple: or as 3 to 1: And 60 to 30 (the length to the height) is double, or as 2 to 1: And 20 to 30 (the height to the breadth) is Sesquialter, or one and a half, as 3 to 2. Which are the proportions answering to the Three great Concords in Musick, commonly called, a Twelfth, an Eighth, and a Fifth. Which therefore moft needs be a graceful Proportion to the Eye, as that in Musick is graceful to the Ear.

3 And the porch before the temple of the house h, twenty cubits was the length thereof, according to the breadth of the house; and ten cubits was the breadth thereof before the house.

h In the Front of, or Entrance into the house, 2 Chron. 3. 4. Being a Peristilium or Portico, a Vvalk or Gallery, at one end of the Building (from side to side.) And the measures of this were Harmonious also. For 20 to 10 (the length of the Portico to the breadth of it) is double, or as 2 to 1. And, if the height within, be the same with that of the House, 20 to 30; it will be to the length of it, as 3 to 2; and to its breadth, as 2 to 1. Or, if we take in the whole height mentioned 2 Chron. 3. 4. which is 120; there is in this no disproportion (being to its length as 6 to 1; and to its breadth as 12 to 1; especially when this height was conveniently divided into several Galleries, one over another, each of which had their due Proportions.

4 And for the house, he made ‖ windows of narrow lights i;

i Narrow outward, to prevent the inconveniencies of the Vveather; widening by degrees inward, that so the House might better receive, and more disperse the Light. Or, for prospect; i. e. to give a forward Light; yet shut; i. e. so far closed as to keep out Vveather, and let in Light.

5 ¶ And ‖ against the wall k of the house he built † chambers l round about, against the walls of the house round about m, both of the temple, and of the oracle: † Heb. joyning. and he made † chambers n round about. Heb.

k Or, upon it; or joyning to it: for the Beams of the Chambers were not fastned into the Vvall, but leaned upon the Buttresses of ibid. the Vvall. l For the laying the Priests Garments, and other Utensils belonging to the Temple, or to the Worship of God, therein; see 2 Kings 11. 2. 1 Chron. 28. 12. Ezek. 42. 13, 14. m Not simply, for there were none on the East-side; and it may seem, that there were some spaces left for the Windows, which being narrow outwardly, little spaces would suffice; but in a manner, i. e. on all the sides except the East, where the Porch was; and except some very small passages for the Light. And yet these Lights might be in the Five uppermoft Cubits of the Vvall, which were above all these Chambers, for these were only 15 Cubits high, and the Vvall was 20 Cubits high. n Heb. Ribs; i. e. Ribbes, other Chambers above, and besides the former: or rather, Isle Galleries which encompass'd all the Chambers, as the Ribs do Mans Body; and which were necessary for passage to all the several Chambers.

6 The nethermoft chamber was five cubits broad o, and the middle was six cubits broad, and the third was seven cubits broad: for without in the wall of the house he made † narrowed rests p round about, that † Heb. narrowings. the beams should not be fastned in the walls of the house q. or retirements.

o To wit, on the inside, and besides the Galleries mentioned above. p Or, narrowings: as in our Buildings the Walls of an House are thicker, or broader at the bottom, and narrower towards the top: only these Narrowings were in the outside of the Vvall, which at each of the Three Stories was a Cubit narrower than that beneath it. And this is mentioned, as the reason of the differing breadth of the Chambers; because the Vvall being narrower, allowed more space for the upper Chambers. q That there might be no holes made in the Vvall for the fastening of them; and that the Chambers might be removed, if occasion were, without any inconvenience to the House.

7 And the house, when it was in building, was built of stone, made ready r before it was brought thither: so that there was neither hammer, nor ax, nor any tool of iron heard in the house, while it was in building s.

r Hewed, and squared, and fitted exactly according to the direction of the Architect. s So it was ordered, partly for the ease and conveniency of Carriage; partly, for the Magnificence of the Vvork, and Commendation of the Vvorkmens skill and diligence; and partly, for Mystical signification. And as this Temple was a manifeft Type both of Christ's Church upon Earth, and of the Heavenly Jerusalem: so this Circumstance signified as to the former, That it is the duty of the Builders and Members of the Church, as far as in them lies, to take care that all things be transacted there with perfect peace and quietness; and that no noise of Contention, or Division, or Violence, be heard in that Sacred Building: and for the latter, that no Spiritual Stone, no Perfon, shall bear a part in that Heavenly Temple, unless he be first hewed, and squared, and made meet for it in this Life.

8 The door for the middle chamber t was in the right † side u of the house: and they went up with ‖ winding stairs x into the middle chamber, y, and out of shoulder. the middle into the third.

t i. e. By which they entered to go up to the middle Chamber or Chambers; to wit, such as were in the middle Story. u i. e. In the South-side, called the right-side here, and in the Hebrew Text, Psalm 89. 12. and in other Authors; because when a Man looks towards the East, or Sun-rising, which is effeemed the most Glorious part of the Heavens, and to which Men moft frequently look for divers actions: the South is on his right-hand. Whereby it is implied, That there was another Door on the left, or the North-side, leading to the Chambers on that side; though for brevity sake it be not mentioned here. x Which were either, 1. Within the thickness of the Temple-wall, as many think, which is not probable, as tending to the great weakning of the Vvall; especially in the upper parts, where the Vvall was much narrower. And if such care was taken to preserve the Vvalls intire and unbroken, that there might not be small holes made into it for the fastning of the Beams of the Chambers, 6. 6. it seems very absurd and incredible, that there should be made such great Breaches within them, and the Stairs would require. Or rather, 2. Without the Vvall, and without the Chambers too, as leading up to the Gallery out of which they went into the several Chambers. y Or rather, into the middle Story, or row of Chambers; and so in the following words, out of the middle Story: for these Stairs could not lead up into each of the Chambers; nor was it needful, or convenient it should do so, but only into the Story, which was sufficient for the use of all the Chambers.

9 So he built the house, and finished it; and covered the house ‖ with beams and boards of cedar a. ‖ Or, the beams z To wit, the Bulk, and the Body of the House. ‖ Or, the beams, boards, &c. i. e. the top of the House: for the like is said of the Sides, and bottom, ver. 15. even the beams and boards; (or, the vault-beams, and those of the ceelings; the arched Beams and Boards wherewith the top of ceelings the House was covered, which was made of other VVood, which with cedar. was more pliable than Cedar, and would better endure bowing and bending) with Cedars.

10 And then he built chambers against all the house b, five cubits high c: and they rested d on the house with timber of cedar.

b Which Interpreters understand of those Chambers described ver. 5, 6. But why should that be repeated again, and that so darkly and confusedly, after he had particularly and exactly treated of them? (unless to give an account of the height of each Chamber, or Story, which before was not done.) And the Hebrew words may be truly and properly rendred thus, He built a roof, (to wit, a flat and plain Roof, called Tzeziah, because of the exact resemblance it hath with the Floor of an House) over all the house, according to the Manner of all the Israelitish Buildings, which were flat at the top; of which, see Deut. 22. 8. Josh. 2. 6. 2 Sam. 11. 2. The inner Roof was arched, ver. 9. that it might be more beautiful and glorious to behold; but the outward Roof was flat. c Above and glorious to behold; but the outward Roof was flat. c Above the Walls of the Temple; which was neceſſary, that it might be a little higher than the arched Roof, which it was deſigned to cover and ſecure. d Heb. it reſted, to wit, the Roof: for the Hebrew Verb is of the Singular Number. e Which reſted upon the top of the Wall, as the Chambers, v. 5. reſted upon the ſides of the Wall. But all this I ſubmit to the Learned and Judicious.

11 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto Solomon f, ſaying, f Either by ſome Prophet, or rather in a Viſion or Dream, as it did before.

12 Concerning this houſe which thou art in building, if thou wilt walk in my ſtatutes, and execute my judgments, and keep all my commandments to walk in them, then will I perform my word with thee, which I ſpake unto David thy father.

* Chap. 2 & 9.4.

* 2 Sam. 7.13. 1 Chron. 22.10.

g God ſpeaks thus, partly to encourage him to proceed in his Work; and partly, to purge out that Pride and Vain-glory, (which God, the ſearcher of hearts, ſaw either then did, or would ariſe in Solomon's Mind, as being the Author and Builder of ſo glorious a Work:) and that Preſumption and Security which was very likely to grow, and God foreſaw would grow both in Solomon, and in the People; as if God was now in a manner engaged to continue his Preſence with them, and in his own Temple; and that they had now no great reaſon to fear Gods departure from them, though they ſhould provoke him. Therefore he expreſſeth the Condition upon which his Promiſe and Favour is ſuſpended; and by aſſuring him thereof in caſe of Obedience, he plainly intimates the contrary, upon his Diſobedience.

13 And I will * dwell among the children of Iſrael, and will not forſake my people Iſrael.

* Exod. 25. 8.

14 So Solomon built the houſe, and finiſhed it.

15 And he built the walls of the houſe within with boards of cedar, ‖ both the floor h of the houſe, and the walls of the cieling i, and he covered them k on the inſide with wood l, and covered the floor of the houſe m with planks of fir.

h Or rather, from the floor, as it is in the Hebrew: for the floor it ſelf was not covered with Cedar, but with fir, as it here follows. i Or rather, as it is in the Hebrew, unto the walls of the cieling, or of the roof; i. e. unto the top of the Wall, which was even with the Roof: for the Roof it ſelf was not of Stone, but Wood. Or, unto the walls of the cieling; i. e. unto the Cieling it ſelf; which performing the office of a Wall, may well be called by that name. For the name of a wall is not appropriated to Stone or Brick, becauſe we read of a brazen wall, Jer. 15. 20. and a wall of iron, Ezek. 4. 3. And that wall into which Saul ſmote his javelin, 1 Sam. 19. 10. ſeems more probably to be underſtood of Wood, than of Stone; eſpecially, conſidering that it was the Room where the King uſed to dine. So by this Periphraſis, from the floor of the houſe, unto the walls of the cieling, he deſigns all the ſide-walls of the houſe. k To wit, the ſide-walls of the Houſe, now mentioned. l i. e. With other kind of Wood, even with Fir; as appears from Chron. 3. 5. wherewith the Floor is here ſaid to be covered. m This is here ſpoken only concerning the Floor, becauſe there was nothing but Planks of Fir; whereas there was both Cedar and Fir in the ſides of the Houſe, the Fir being either put above, or upon the Cedar; or, intermixed with, or put between the Boards or Ribs of Cedar: as may be gathered from the ſaid Parallel place, 2 Chron. 3. 5.

16 And he built twenty cubits on the ſides of the houſe n both the floor and the walls o with boards of cedar: he even built them for it within, even for the oracle, even for the † moſt holy place p.

n i. e. The moſt holy Place, which contained in the length of the Houſe twenty cubits, by comparing this with ver. 2. and ver. 17. which may be ſaid to be on the ſides of the houſe, becauſe this part took off 20 Cubits in length from each ſide of the Houſe, and was alſo 20 Cubits from ſide to ſide, ſo it was 20 Cubits every way; or on the ſides, (i. e. on all the ſides, as indeed it was) of the houſe, or of that houſe; to wit, The moſt holy place, as it here follows. Or, from the ſides of the houſe; i. e. from one ſide to the other. And ſo this is meant only of the Partition-Wall, which was between the holy and the moſt holy Place. o Or rather, as ver. 15. from the floor to the wall, or ceiling, or roof. So it is not neceſſary, at leaſt by virtue of theſe words, to underſtand this, as they generally do, That the Floor it ſelf was built with Cedar; but only all the ſides of it from the bottom to Cubits upward. It is be ſaid, that the whole Houſe, and conſequently the moſt holy Place, was 30 Cubits high, ver. 2. it may be replied, either, That that is true only of the greater Houſe, or the holy Place, which is called the houſe, ver 17. and that the leſſer, or that moſt holy Place, was but 20 Cubits high, as divers think; or that the ten cubits at the top, were covered with ſome other Wood or thing; or were le open, that it might thereby receive both Light from the Candleſticks, and Smoke from the Altar of Incenſe. p i. e. That it might be the Oracle, or, the moſt holy place. Or, in the inner ſide (whereby he might imply, that the outſide of the Partition-Wall which looked towards the holy Place, was not ſo covered.) Of (for the Hebrew Lamed is very often a note of the Genitive Caſe) the Oracle, even of the moſt holy place: which laſt words are added, to explain what he means by the word Oracle, which he had not uſed before.

17 And the houſe q, that is, the temple r, before it s, was forty cubits long.

q i. e. The holy Place. r This is added, to reſtrain the ſignification of the word houſe, which otherwiſe notes the whole Building. s i. e. Before the Oracle. Or, as it is in the Hebrew, before my face; i. e. before the place of my Preſence. Or, it may be ſaid to be before God, becauſe he being pleaſed to deſcribe himſelf as ſitting upon the Cherubim, hath his face towards this houſe, where he beholds the ſervices of his People. So this part of the Houſe diſtinct from the moſt Holy, hath its harmonious proportions alſo. The Length 20, to the Height 30, is Seſquitertian, or 4 to 3; (which is that of a Fourth in Muſick:) The Length to the Breadth, 40 to 20; as 2 to 1: The Height to the Breadth, 30 to 20, as 3 to 2.

18 And the cedar of the houſe within was carved with ‖ knops, and † open flowers; all was cedar; there was no ſtone ſeen.

t i. e. All the Houſe was covered with Cedar. Queſt. How was this true, when it was covered with Fir, 2 Chron. 3. 5? Anſ. 1. It was done with Cedar and Fir: of which ſee on ver. 15. 2. It may be ſaid to be all cedar, becauſe the greateſt part was ſo, univerſal Particles being oft ſo uſed. 3. Cedar is here named, not to exclude all other VVood, but Stone only; as the following words ſhew. 4. Or, all was of Cedar; that is, all the Carving was of Cedar.

19 And the oracle he prepared u in the houſe x within y, to ſet there the ark of the covenant of the LORD.

u i. e. Adorned and fitted it for the Receipt of the Ark. x Heb. in the middle of the houſe, or building; not the middle Mathematically or exactly, but in general within the Houſe, as that Phraſe, in the middle, oft ſignifies; as Deut. 4. 11. Joſh. 7. 21. Dan. 3. 26. y Or, in the uttermoſt part of the Houſe; for ſo this was, the entrance into the Houſe being at the other end.

20 And the oracle in the forepart z was twenty cubits in length, and twenty cubits in breadth, and twenty cubits in the height thereof a: and he overlaid it with † pure gold, and ſo b covered the altar c which was of cedar d.

z Or rather, which was in the inner part, to wit of the Houſe, called here in Hebrew, the fore-part; not becauſe a Man firſt enters there, but becauſe when a Man is entring, or newly entred into the Houſe, it is ſtill before him. Thus the ſame or the like word proceeding from the ſame Root, is oft uſed, as Levit. 10. 18. 1 Kings 6. 19. 29, 30, 36. 1 Chron. 28. 11. a Object. The great Houſe was 30 Cubits high, above, ver. 2. Anſ. It is probably affirmed by divers, That the moſt holy Place was not ſo high as the holy Place, by ten Cubits: which was no way inconvenient, nor againſt the Rules of Proportion obſerved in Buildings. And as the ſecond part or the Building was far lower than the firſt, which was the Porch; ſo the third part might be conſiderably lower than the ſecond. And it might be lower either, 1. Outwardly, or in reſpect of the Walls of it, which might be only 20 Cubits high, and at that height covered with a flat Roof; it being but decent that that eminently holy Place ſhould be diſtinguiſhed from the leſs holy, even by its outward and viſible ſhape. Or, 2. Inwardly, or within the VValls of that part. For although this part might be vaulted at the top, as the holy Place, which vaulted Roof ſome think was ten Cubits high; yet here might be the difference, That the vaulted Roof of the holy Place lay open to view; whereas that of the moſt holy was covered with a flat Roof from Wall to Wall, at the height of 20 Cubits, b i. e. With Gold, chap. 7. 48. 1 Chron. 28. 18. c To wit, The Altar of Incenſe, which was put next to the moſt high Place, ver. 22. d Object. This Altar was made of Shittim Wood, Exod. 30. 1. Anſ. Either that was covered with Cedar, that it might be agreeable to the reſt, all being Cedar, as was ſaid, ver. 18. Or this was a new Altar which Solomon made by Divine Command and Direction, delivered to him, either immediately, or by his Father: of which, ſee 1 Chron. 28. 12, &c. But this place may ſeem to be better tranſlated thus, and he covered the altar with Cedar, either to make it like the reſt; or, becauſe this was a new Altar made of Stone, and therefore fit to be covered with Cedar, that it might better receive and retain the Gold wherewith this Cedar was over-laid, ver. 22.

21 So Solomon overlaid the houſe e within with pure gold f: and he made a partition by the chains of gold g before the oracle h, and he overlaid it i with gold.

e Or, that houſe, to wit, the Oracle. f Compare 2 Chron. 2. 8. g i. e. He made a Veil, which was upon, or before the Partition; or which was a further Partition between the holy, and the moſt holy; which Veil did hang upon theſe Golden Chains. Others render it thus, he cloſed or ſhut (as the word ſignifies in the Chaldee Dialect, from which divers Hebrew words borrow their ſignification) it (i. e. the Houſe now mentioned; to wit, the Door of it) with chains of bars of gold. h i. e. In the outward part of the Wall, or Partition, which was erected between the Oracle and the holy Place; which is properly ſaid to be before the Oracle, which was the ſpace within, and beyond that Partition: for there the Veil was hung; and there the Chains or Bars, or whatſoever it was which faſtned the Doors of the Oracle, were placed. i To wit, the Partition; which he here diſtinguiſheth from the houſe, or the main Walls of the Houſe, which he had in the former part of this Verſe told us were overlaid with Gold; and now he affirms as much of the Partition.

22 And the whole houſe k he overlaid with gold, until he had finiſhed all the houſe: alſo the whole altar that was by the oracle l, he overlaid with gold m.

k Not only the Oracle, but all the Holy Place; and, as ſome add, even the Chambers belonging to it. l i. e. The Altar of Incenſe, which was ſet in the Holy Place cloſe by the Doors of the Oracle. m As before he overlaid it with Cedar: of which, ſee the Notes on ver. 20.

23 ¶ And within the oracle he made two cherubims n of ‖ † olive-tree o, each ten cubits high.

n Beſides thoſe two made by Moſes, Exod. 25. 18. which were of Gold, and far leſs than theſe, and fixed in another place and poſture. o Or, of oily trees, which ſometimes are diſtinguiſhed from the Olive-trees, as Iſa. 41. 19.

24 And five cubits was the one wing of the cherub, and five cubits the other wing of the cherub: from the uttermoſt part of the one wing unto the uttermoſt part of the other, were ten cubits.

25 And the other cherub was ten cubits: both the cherubims were of one meaſure, and one ciſe.

26 The height of the one cherub was ten cubits, and ſo was it of the other cherub.

27 And he ſet the cherubims within the inner houſe: and * they ſtretched forth the wings of the cherubims, ſo that the wing of the one touched the one wall, and the wing of the other cherub touched the other wall: and their wings touched one another in the midſt of the houſe.

* Exod. 25. 20. 1 Chron. 28. 18. Cauſing them to ſtretch forth their wings.

28 And he overlaid the cherubims with gold.

29 And he carved all the walls of the houſe round about with carved figures of cherubims p, and palm-trees q, and † open flowers, within and without r.

p As ſigns of the Preſence and Protection of the Angels vouchſafed by God to that Place. q Emblems of that Peace and Victory over their Enemies, which the Iſraelites duly ſerving God in that Place might expect. r Within the Oracle and without it, in the Holy Place.

30 And the floor of the houſe he overlaid with gold, within and without.

31 ¶ And for the entring of the oracle, he made doors of olive-tree: the lintel and ſide-poſts were ‖ a fifth part of the wall ſ.

ſ i. e. Four Cubits in height or breadth, whereas the Wall was 20 Cubits. Or, a fifth part of the Door now mentioned. Or rather, five-ſquare, having 5 Sides, and 5 Angles, which is not incongruous, nor unuſual in Buildings.

32 The two ‖ doors alſo were of olive-tree, and he carved upon them carvings of cherubims and palm-trees, and † open flowers, and overlaid them with gold, and ſpread gold upon the cherubims, and upon the palm-trees.

33 So alſo made he for the door of the temple, poſts of olive-trees ‖ a fourth part of the wall t.

t Or rather, four-ſquare. See on ver. 31.

34 And the two doors were of fir-tree: the * two leaves of the one door were folding, and the two leaves of the other door were folding.

35 And he carved thereon cherubims, and palm-trees, and open flowers, and covered them with gold, fitted upon the carved work.

36 And he built the inner court u with three rows of hewed ſtone, and a row of cedar-beams w.

u i. e. The Firſt Court, 2 Chron. 4. 9. for called, becauſe it was next to the Temple which it did encompaſs. w Which is underſtood, either, 1. Of the thickneſs of the Wall, the three rows of Stones being one within another, and the Cedar innermoſt as a lining to the Wall. Or, 2. Of the height of the Wall, which was only 3 Cubits high, that the People might ſee the Prieſts Sacrificing upon the Altar, which was in their Court; each row of Stones being about a Cubit, and poſſibly of a differing Colour from the reſt, and all covered with Cedar. Or rather, 3. Of ſo many Galleries, one on each ſide of the Temple, whereof the Three firſt were of Stone, and the Fourth of Cedar, all ſupported with rows of Pillars: upon which there were many Chambers for the uſes of the Temple, and of the Prieſts: for it is hard to think, that only the making of a low Wall about the Court would be called a Building of the Court. And that a great number of Buildings and Rooms were neceſſary for the various Offices and VVorks which were to be done, and the Treaſures of all ſorts which were to be laid up in the Temple, largely ſo called, is ſufficiently evident from the nature of the things, and divers paſſages in Scripture: See among others, 1 Chron. 23. 11, 12.

37 ¶ In the fourth year was the foundation of the houſe of the LORD laid, in the month Ziſ.

38 And in the eleventh year, in the month Bul, (which is the eighth month) was the houſe finiſhed throughout all the parts thereof, and according to all the faſhion of it: ſo was he ſeven years x in building it.

x Compleat, and 6 Months; as appears by computation. For ſmaller Summs are uſually neglected, and reckoned up in the greater, both in Scripture, as Judg. 20. 46. 2 Sam. 5. 5. 1 King. 2. 11. much time: for, 1. The Temple properly ſo called, was for Quantity the leaſt part of it, there being very many and great Buildings both above Ground in the ſeveral Courts, (for though only the Court of the Prieſts be mentioned, yet it is thereby implied, that the ſame thing was proportionably done in the others) and under Ground. 2. The great curioſity of Art which was uſed here, and the ſeweſts of exquiſite Artiſts, required the longer time for the doing of it. And if the Building of Diana's Temple did employ all Aſia for 200 Years; and the Building of one Pyramid employed 360 Thouſand Men, for 20 Years together; both which, Pliny affirms: no reaſonable Man can wonder that this Temple was 7 Years in Building.

CHAP. VII.

The building of Solomon's houſe: the houſe of Lebanon, v. 1, 5. The porch of pillars, and of judgment: the houſe of Pharaoh's daughter, 6, 12. Hiram's work of the two pillars of braſs, 13, 22. Of the molten ſea, 23, 26. Of the ten baſes of braſs, 27, 37. Of the ten lavers: all the veſſels of houſe and gold, 38, 51. The dedicated things are brought into the treaſury.

BUT Solomon was building his own houſe a thirteen years b, and he finiſhed all his houſe.

† Chap. 9. 10.

a The Royal Palace for himſelf, and for his Succeſſors. Or, his houſes, the Singular Number being put for the Plural. b Almoſt double time to that in which the Temple was built: becauſe neither were the Materials ſo far provided and prepared for this, as they were for the Temple: nor did either he or his People uſe the ſame alacrity and diligence in this, as in the other VVork: nor had they the ſame Obligations to this VVork, as they had to that, to which they were quickned by God's expreſs Commands: and becauſe the neceſſity of ſeeing up God's VVorſhip there, as the Foundation of all the hopes and happineſs both of King and People, whereas his Building was only for Solomon's greater convenience, and he had already a Palace of Davia's building.

2 ¶ He built alſo the houſe of the foreſt of Lebanon c, the length thereof d was a hundred cubits, and the breadth thereof fifty cubits, and the height thereof thirty cubits, upon four rows of cedar-pillars e, with cedar-beams upon the pillars f.

c An Houſe ſo called. Either, Firſt, Becauſe it was built in the Mountain and Foreſt of Lebanon, for his Recreation there in Summer-time. But it is generally and more probably held, that it was in or near Jeruſalem, both becauſe there was the throne of judgment, v. 7. which was firſt to be in the place of his reſidence: and becauſe there was the chief Magazin of Arms, Iſa. 22. 8. and Solomon's Golden Shields were put there, as is manifeſt from 1 King. 10. 17 and 14. 25, 26, 28. which to wife Princes would do a place ſo remote from his Royal City, and to the utmoſt Borders of his Kingdom, as this was. Or rather, Secondly, From ſome reſemblance it might have with that Place, for the pleaſant Shades and Groves which were about it: nothing being more frequent both in Sacred and other VVriters, than to tranſfer the names of Carmel, or Tempe, or the like, to other Places of the ſame nature and quality with them. Of ſo wide a Signification is that word, to which double or other Buildings were adjoyned. Upon which the Houſe was built, and between which there were four ſtately VValks. f VVhich were laid for the Floor of the ſecond Story.

3 And it was covered with cedar above upon the † beams that lay on forty five pillars, fifteen in a row g.

g So in this ſecond Story were only three rows of Pillars, which was ſufficient for the Ornament of the ſecond, and for the ſupport of the third Story.

4 And there was windows in three rows, and † light was againſt light h in three ranks i.

h One directly oppoſite or anſwering to the other, as is uſual in well-contrived Buildings. i One exactly under another.

5 And all the ‖ doors and poſts were ſquare with the forms, the windows: and light was againſt light in three and fifteen ranks k.

k He ſpeaks, either, firſt, of the ſame Lights mentioned, v. 4. Or, rather, of the ſmaller VVindows or Lights, which were over the ſeveral Doors, as the manner of many Buildings is.

l i. e. Supported by divers Pillars, for the more Magnificent entrance into the Houſe; upon which alſo it is thought there were other Rooms built, as in the Houſe. m Now mentioned, which is ſaid to be before them; i. e. before the Pillars on which the Houſe of Lebanon ſtood; or, before the Doors and Poſts mentioned v. 5. Or, a porch; i. e. another and a leſſer Porch, which was before them; i. e. before the Pillars of the greater Porch now mentioned. n Or, and pillars; i. e. fewer and leſſer Pillars for the ſupport of the leſſer Porch. Which was laid upon theſe Pillars, as the others were, v. 2.

7 ¶ Then he made a porch p for the throne q where he might judge r, even the porch of judgment: and it was covered with cedar † from one ſide of the floor to the other ſ.

p Another Porch or distinct Room without the House. q Described chap. 10. 18. r The People that brought their Causes before him. s i.e. The whole Floor; or, from floor to floor, i.e. from the lower Floor on the Ground, to the upper Floor which covered it.

8 ¶ And his house where he dwelt, had another court within the porch t, which was of the like work. Solomon made also an house for Pharaohs
* Chap. 3. 1. daughter u, (* whom he had taken to wife) like unto this porch x.

t i.e. Between the Porch and the House, called therefore the middle court, 2 King. 20. 4. u Of which see 1 King. 3. 1. and 2 Chron. 8. 11. x Not for Form or Quantity, but for the Materials and Workmanship, the Rooms being covered with Cedar; and furnished with like Ornaments.

9 All these y were of costly stones according to the measures of hewed stones z, sawed with saws, within and without a, even from the foundation unto the coping b, and so on the outside toward the great court c.

y Buildings described here and in the former Chapter. z Either, First, which were hewed in such measure and proportion as each Workman use to hew ordinary Stones. Or, Secondly, As large as common hewed Stones, which are oft very great. a Both on the inside of the Buildings which were covered with Cedar, and on the outside also. b From the bottom to the top of the Building. c Not only on the outside of the front of the House, which being most visible, Men are more careful to adorn; but also of the other side of the House, which looked towards the great Court belonging to the King's House 10 And the foundation was of costly stones, even great stones, stones of ten cubits d, and stones of eight cubits.

d Not square, which would have been both unnecessary, and unprofitable, and unmanageable; but of solid measure, by which Stones and Timber are usually measured: and so they were only two Cubits square, but there were twenty solid Cubits contained in them. And so also the following eight cubits are to be understood.

11 And above e were costly stones (after the measures of hewed stones) and cedars f.

e i.e. In the Roof or upper part; for this is opposed to the foundation. f Intermixed here the one, and there the other.

12 And the great court g round about, was with three rows of hewed stones, and a row of cedar-beams h, both for the inner court of the house of the LORD i, and for the porch of the house k.

g To wit, of Solomon's Dwelling-House, mentioned ver. 8. h Of which see the Note on 1 King. 6. 36. i Or, as (Heb. and, which is oft used in that Sense for a Particle of comparison or similitude, as Prov. 11. 25. and 17. 3. and 25. 25.) for the inner court, &c. i.e. as it was in that inner Court, of which the very same thing is said, 1 King. 6 36. Otherwise it might seem very improper and impertinent to speak of the Court of the Lord's House here, where he is treating only of Solomon's House. k Or, of this house, to wit, of which I am here speaking; i.e. Of the King's House, the Porch whereof had Pillars, verse 6. and these both of Stone and Cedar, as may seem most probable, because the other Pillars were such. And whereas the Number and Quality of the Pillars of the Porch was entered, verse 6. that defect is here supplied, and we are implicitly acquainted with both of them. But this I speak with submission.

† Heb. the son of a widow woman. 14 He was † a widows son of the tribe of Naphthali l, and his father was a man of Tyre m, a worker in brass: and he was filled with wisdom and understanding, and cunning to work all works in brass n: and he came to king Solomon, and wrought all his work.

l Obj. She was one of the daughters of Dan, 2 Chron. 2. 14. Ans. So indeed Hiram King of Tyre there affirms; but he might eafily miftake or be miftinformed, efpecially being no Iſraelite, nor a careful Obſerver of the diſtinction of Tribes. Or, he might be of Dan by her Father, and of Naphthali by her Mother, or by her Husband, who was of that Tribe, and therefore ſhe was truly a widow of Naphthali. m Either by his deſcent being a Tyrian by Birth: or, by Education and Habitation, he or his Father being given to the ſtudy of thoſe Arts, and having planted themſelves at Tyre for their improvement therein. However that was, it was a ſingular Providence of God that there was at that time ſo excellent a Workman fit for ſo great and glorious Works. n And of gold, and ſtone, and purple, and blue, &c. as is affirmed 2 Chron. 2. 14. But only his ſkill in braſs is here mentioned, becauſe he ſpeaks only of the Braſen things which he made.

† Heb. I ſaſhioned. * 2 Chron. 4. 12. 15 For he † caſt * two pillars of braſs o, of eighteen cubits high a piece p: and a line of twelve cubits did compaſs either of them about q.

o Of which ſee 2 King. 25. 16, 17. Jer. 52. 21. p Obj. They are ſaid to be 35 Cubits high, 2 Chron. 3 15. Anſ. That place manifeſtly ſpeaks of both the Pillars; and this of each, or one pillar, as it is in the Hebrew. Obj. But then it ſhould have been 36 Cubits. Anſ. Either the odd half Cubit is ſwallowed up either in the top of the Chapiter, or in the bottom of the Baſis of each Pillar; or, it is neglected in the Account, as commonly ſmall Meaſures or Numbers are. q So the Diameter was four Cubits, which, conſidering the chapiter of five cubits added to the height of each Pillar, 2 Chron. 3. 15. was not unproportionable to the height.

16 And he made two chapiters of molten braſs, to ſet upon the tops of the pillars: the height of the one chapiter was five cubits ſ, and the height of the other chapiter was five cubits.

ſ Obj. It is but three cubits in 2 King. 25. 17. Anſ. The word chapiter is taken diverſly, as hundreds of other words are, either more largely for the whole, ſo it is 5 Cubits; or, more ſtrictly, either for the pommels, as they are called, 2 Chron. 4. 12. or for the Cornice or Crown, and ſo it was but three Cubits, to which the Pomegranates being added make it five cubits, as it is below ver. 19. and the other work upon it took up one Cubit more, which in all made five cubits.

17 And nets of checker-work, and wreathes of chain-work, for the chapiters t which were upon the top of the pillars: ſeven for the one chapiter, and ſeven for the other chapiter.

t Which thoſe Nets and Wreathes did encompaſs, either covering, and as it were receiving and holding the Pomegranates, or being mixed with them.

18 And he made u the pillars, and two rows round about upon the net-work, to cover the chapiters that were upon the top, with pomegranates: and ſo did he for the other chapiter.

u Or, ſ. he made, or framed, or perfected. x Either of Pomegranates, by comparing this with ver. 20. or of ſome other curious Work.

19 And the chapiters that were upon the top of the pillars, were of lily-work y in the porch z, four cubits a.

y Made like the Leaves of Lilies, or ſuch Flowers. z Or, as in the porch; i.e. ſuch Work as there was in the Porch of the Temple, in which theſe Pillars were ſet, ver. 21. that ſo the work of the tops of theſe Pillars might agree with that in the top of the Porch. So there is only an Ellipſis or defect of the Particle as, which is frequent, as Gen. 49. 9. Deut. 33. 22. Pſal. 11. 1. Iſa. 21. 8. a Of which ſee on ver. 16.

20 And the chapiters upon the two pillars, had pomegranates alſo above, over againſt the belly b, which was by the net-work: and the pomegranates were two hundred c, in rows round about upon the other chapiter.

b So he calls the middle part of the Chapiter, and that which jetted furtheſt out. c Theſe Pomegranates are variouſly accounted in Scriptures. They are ſaid to be ninety and ſix on a ſide of a pillar; i.e. in one row, and in all an hundred, Jer. 52. 23. four great Pomegranates between the ſeveral Checker-works being added to the firſt 96. And it muſt needs be granted, that there were as many on the other ſide of the Pillar, or in the other Row, which makes them 200 upon a Pillar, as is here ſaid, and 400 upon both Pillars, as they are numbred, 2 Chron. 4. 13.

21 * And he ſet up the pillars in the porch of the * 2 Chron. temple d: and he ſet up the right pillar, and called the † Heb. name thereof ‖ Jachin e: and he ſet up the left pillar, to the ſouth. and called the name thereof ‖ Boaz. ‖ Heb. eſtabliſh.

d Where they were placed for meer Ornament and Magnificence, for they ſupported nothing. e Jachin ſignifies he; i.e. God ſhall ſet up eſtabliſh, to wit, his Temple, and Church, and People: and Boaz ſignifies, in it, or rather, in him (to anſwer the he in the former name) is ſtrength. So theſe Pillars being eminently ſtrong and ſtable, were in a manner Types or Documents of that ſtrength which was in God, and would be put forth by God for the defending and eſtabliſhing of his Temple and People, if they were careful to keep the Conditions required by God on their parts.

22 And upon the top of the pillars was lily-work: ſo was the work of the pillars finiſhed.

23 ¶ And he made * a molten ſea f, ten cubits † from the one brim to the other: it was round all † Heb. about, and his height was five cubits: and a line of from to thirty cubits did compaſs it round about. this brim.

* Jer. 52. 20.

f He melted the Braſs, and caſt it into the form of a great Veſſel, for its waſhing called a Sea, which name is given by the Hebrews to all great collections of Waters. The uſe of it was for the Prieſts to waſh their Hands and Feet, or other things as occaſion required, with the Water which they drew out of it. See 2 Chron. 4. 2. Compare Exod. 30. 19, 20.

24 And under the brim of it round about, there were * Chap. knops g compaſſing it, ten in a cubit b, * compaſſing † Heb. the ſea round about: the knops were caſt † in two compaſſed. rows k, when it was caſt.

g Or, carved or molten figures: for learned Hebricians note, that this word ſignifies the Figures or Pictures of all ſorts, as Flowers, Beaſts, &c. This general word is particularly explained of each, 2 Chron. 2. 3. unleſs there were ſo many Figures, or Sculptures of Gourds, or other Flowers; and in each of theſe a little Os's head. b So there were 300 in all. † Together with the Sea, not carved. k It ſeems doubtful whether the ſecond Row had ten in each Cubit, and ſo there were 300 more; or, whether the ten were diſtributed into five in each Row.

25 In ſtood upon twelve oxen l, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the weſt, and three looking toward the ſouth, and three looking toward toward the eaſt m: and the ſea was ſet above upon them, and all their hinder-parts were inward.

l Of ſolid Braſs, which was neceſſary to bear ſo great a weight. It is probably conceived, that the Water was by Cocks drawn out of the Mouths of theſe Oxen. m Partly, for the more equal and convenient ſupport of the Veſſel; and partly, that divers perſons might draw Water out of it at the ſame time, which was frequently neceſſary, eſpecially in great Solemnities.

26 And it was an hand-breadth thick, and the brim thereof was wrought like the brim of a cup, with flowers of lilies: it contained two thouſand baths n.

n Which amounts to 500 Barrels, each Bath containing about 8 Gallons; the Bath being a meaſure of the ſame bigneſs with an Ephah, Ezek. 45. 11. Obj. This Sea is ſaid to contain 3000 Baths, 2 Chron. 4 5. Anſ. Either there were two ſorts of Baths, as of Cubits, the one common, the other ſacred. and the ſacred held half as much more as the common: or rather, he here ſpeaks of what it did actually and uſually contain, to wit, 2000 Baths, which was ſufficient for uſe, and in 2 Chron. 4. 5. he ſpeaks of what it could contain if it were filled to the brim, as it is implied in the Hebrew words, which differ from theſe, and properly ſ. und erus, ſtrengthning it ſelf (to wit, to receive and hold as much as it could, or being filled to its utmoſt capacity) it contained, or could contain 3000 Baths.

27 And he made ten baſes o of braſs: four cubits was the length of one baſe, and four cubits the breadth thereof, and three cubits the height of it.

o Upon which ſtood the ten Lavers mentioned below, v. 38. in which they waſhed the parts of the Sacrifices, 2 Chron. 4. 6.

28 And the work of the baſes was on this manner: they had borders p, and the borders were between the ledges:

p Broad brims, poſſibly for the more ſecure holding of the Lavers.

29 And on the borders that were between the ledges, were lions, oxen, and cherubims: and upon the ledges there was a baſe r above: beneath the lions and oxen were certain additions ſ made of thin work.

r So he calls the uppermoſt part of the Baſe: for though it was above, yet it was a Baſe to the Laver, which ſtood upon it. ſ Either as Baſes for the Feet of the ſaid Lions and Oxen: or, only as further Ornaments.

30 ¶ And every baſe had four brazen wheels t, and plates of braſs: and the four corners thereof had under-ſetters u: under the laver were under-ſetters molten, at the ſide of every addition.

t Whereby the Baſes and Lavers might be carried from place to place as need required. u Heb. Shoulders; fitly ſo called, becauſe they ſtrongly ſupported the Lavers, that they ſhould not fall from their Baſes, when the Baſes were removed together with the Lavers.

31 And the mouth of it x within the chapiter y and above z was a cubit a: but the mouth thereof was round after the work of the baſe, a cubit and an half b: and alſo upon the mouth of it were gravings with their borders, four-ſquare, not round c.

x So he calls that part in the top of the Baſe which was left hollow, that the foot of the Laver might be fet into it, and faſtned in it. y i.e. Within the little Baſe, which he calls the chapiter, becauſe it roſe up from, and ſtood above the great Baſe, as the Head doth above the reſt of the Body. z Above the Chapiter; for the Mouth went up, and grew wider like a Funnel. a Either in breadth: or rather in height, v. 35. whereof half a Cubit was above the Chapiter or little Baſe, as is ſaid v. 5. and the other half is here implied to be within it, and below it. b To wit, in compaſs. c So the innermoſt part, called the Mouth, was round, but the outward part was ſquare, as when a Circle is made within a Quadrangle.

32 And under the borders were four wheels: and the axle-trees of the wheels were † joined to the baſe, † Heb. the baſe. and the height of a wheel was a cubit and half a cubit.

33 And the work of the wheels was like the work of a chariot-wheel: their axle-trees, and their naves, and their felloes, and their ſpokes were all molten d.

d And caſt together with the Baſes.

34 And there were four under-ſetters to the four corners of one baſe: and the under-ſetters were of the very baſe it ſelf e.

e Not only of the ſame matter, but of the ſame piece, being caſt with it.

35 And in the top of the baſe was there a round compaſs of half a cubit high: and on the top of the baſe, the ledges thereof, and the borders thereof were of the ſame.

36 For on the plates of the ledges thereof, and on the borders thereof, he graved cherubims, lions, and palm-trees, according to the † proportion f of every † Heb. ſhipſh. one, and additions round about.

f Or, empty place, i.e. according to the bignels of the ſpaces which were left empty for them, implying that they were ſmaller than thoſe above-mentioned.

37 After this manner he made the ten baſes: all of them had one caſting, one meaſure, and one ciſe.

38 ¶ Then made he ten lavers of braſs: one laver contained forty baths g: and every laver was four cubits: and upon every one of the ten baſes, one laver.

g Ten Barrels; of which ſee above on ver. 26.

39 And he put five baſes on the right † ſide h of the † Heb. houſe h, and five on the left ſide of the houſe h: ſhoulder. and he ſet the ſea on the right ſide of the houſe eaſtward, over againſt the ſouth i.

h i.e. In the South-ſide, as is expreſſed in the end of the Verſe, and as the right ſide is uſed above 1 Kings 6. 8. and Pſal 89. 12. i Not within the Houſe, but in the Priests Court, where they waſhed either their Hands or Feet, or the parts of the Sacrifices. h i.e. On the North ſide; for this is here oppoſed to the right or South-ſide. i i.e. In the South-Eaſt part, where the Offerings were prepared.

40 ¶ And Hiram made the lavers, and the fhovels, and the baſons: So Hiram made an end of doing all the work that he made king Solomon, for the houſe of the LORD.

41 The two pillars, and the two bowls of the chapiters that were on the top of the two pillars; and the two net-works to cover the two bowls of the chapiters, which were on the top of the pillars:

42 And four hundred pomegranates for the two net-works, even two rows of pomegranates for one net-work, to cover the two bowls of the chapiters that were † upon the pillars: † Heb. the faces of the pillars.

43 And the ten baſes, and ten lavers on the baſes: upon the 44 And one ſea, and twelve oxen under the ſea:

45 And the pots m, and the ſhovels, and the baſons: and all theſe veſſels which Hiram made to king Solomon for the houſe of the LORD, were of † bright braſs. † Heb. made.

m To ſeethe thoſe parts of the Sacrifices which the Prieſts or Officers were to eat. To theſe, ſcepheroth are added, 2 Chron. 4. 16.

46 In the plain of Jordan did the king caſt them † in the clay ground n, between Succoth and † Heb. in Zarthan. the thick ground.

n Or, in thick, clay, fit, and tough, and tenacious, and therefore fitteſt to make Moulds of all ſorts, into which the melted Brass was to be poured. clay of the o Becauſe the weighing of them was very troubleſome, and to no purpoſe.

48 And Solomon made all the veſſels that pertained unto the houſe of the LORD: the altar of gold, and the table of gold, whereupon the * ſhew- * Exod. bread was. 25. 30.

† Such as God by the Mouth of Moſes had commanded to be made for his Houſe and Service, and ſuch as Moſes had made, only theſe were larger, and richer, and more, according to the excellence of the Temple, and Tabernacle, and Solomon's vaſt riches, and the poverty of Moſes and the Iſraelites at that time. q To wit, of Incenſe, as appears from 2 Chron. 29. 18. where this is mentioned amongſt the things for which David left Gold, and Solomon is here ſaid to build it; and therefore this cannot be that Altar made by Moſes, Exod. 25. 23, 24. and 30. 1, 3. which alſo was of Shittim-Wood, whereas this was made of Cedar, and covered with Gold, 1 Kings 6. 20. r Under which, by a Synecdoche are comprehended both all the utenſils belonging to it, and the other ten Tables which he made together with it, 2 Chron. 4. 8.

49 And the candleſticks † of pure gold s, five on the right ſide, and five on the left, before the oracle u, with the flowers x, and the lamps, and the tongs † of gold. † Heb. of gold.

ſ Which were ten, according to the number of the Tables, whereas Moſes made but one: whereby might be ſignified the purity of the Light of Sacred Truth, which was now grown clearer than it was in Moſes his time, and ſhould ſhine brighter and brighter until the perfect day of Goſpel-Light. t Or middle and moſt holy. u In the Holy place. x Wrought upon the Candleſticks, as it ſeemeth formerly been. See on Exod. 25. 31.

50 And the bowls, and the ſnuffers, and the baſons, and the ſpoons, and the † cenſers of pure gold; and † Heb. the hinges of gold, both for the doors of the inner ſanctuary. houſe, the moſt holy place, and for the doors of the houſe, to wit, of the holy temple.

51 So was ended all the work that king Solomon made for the houſe of the LORD: and Solomon brought in the † things * which David his father had † Heb. dedicated, even the ſilver, and the gold, and the veſſels holy things ſels, did he put among the treaſures of the houſe of * 2 Sam. the LORD. 8. 11.

y Either, 2 Chr. 5. 1.

y Either, First, All of it; and so Solomon built it wholly at his own charge. Or, Secondly, So much of it as was left. z Those which David had dedicated, and with them the Altar of Moses, and some other of the old utensils which were now laid aside, far better being put in the room of them.

CHAP. VIII.

The Feast of the Dedication of the Temple: The Ark of the Covenant with the Holy Instruments are brought into it: The Lord giveth a token of his presence, 1,——11. Solomon's Blessing and Thanksgivings, 12,——21. His Prayer, 22,——61. His Sacrifice of Peace-Offering, 62,——66.

*1 Chron. 5. 2. † Heb. Fetch.

THen * Solomon assembled the elders of Israel a, and all the heads of the tribes b, the † chief of the fathers c of the children of Israel, unto king Solomon d in Jerusalem e, that they might bring up the ark f of the covenant of the LORD, out of the city of David g, which is Zion h.

a The Senators, and Judges, and Rulers. b For each Tribe had a peculiar Head or Governour. c The chief Person of every great Family in each Tribe. d Unto himself; the antecedent None being put for the relative and reciprocal Pronoun, as is frequent with the Hebrews. e Where the Temple was built, and now finished. f To the top of this high Hill of Moriah, upon which it was built; whether they were now to carry the Ark in a solemn pomp, that by this visible assurance they might make a publick profession of that Service and respect, and obedience which they owed unto that God who was graciously and gloriously present in the Ark. g Where David had placed the Ark, 2 Sam. 6. 12, 17. See on 1 Kings 2. 10 and 3. 1. h Which is called Zion, because it was built upon that Hill.

2 And all the men of Israel i assembled themselves unto king Solomon at the feast k, in the month Ethanim, which is the seventh month l.

i Not only the chief Men who were particularly invited, but a vast number of the common People, as being forward to see and to joyn in this great and glorious Solemnity. k Understand either first, The Feast of Tabernacles. Or rather, Secondly, The Feast of the Dedication, to which Solomon had invited them, which was before that Feast: for that began on the 15th day of the 7th month, Lev. 23. 34. but this began at the least 7 days before that Feast; for Solomon and the People kept the Feast for 14 days, here, ver. 65 i. e. 1 day for the dedication of the Temple, and 7 other days for that of Tabernacles; and after both these were finished, he sent all the People to their houses on the 23 day of the month. See 2 Chron. 7. 9, 10. l Which time he chose with common respect to his Peoples convenience, because now they had gathered in all their Fruits, and now they were come up to Jerusalem, to Celebrate the Feast of Tabernacles. Quest The Temple was not finished till the eighth month, 1 Kings 6. 38. how then could he invite them to the feventh month? Ans This was the feventh month of the next Year. For although the house in all its parts was finished the Year before, yet the utensils of it described Chap. 7. were not then fully finished, but took up a considerable time afterward: and many preparations were to be made for this great and extraordinary occasion.

3 And all the elders of Israel came, and the priests took up the ark m.

m For although the Levites might do this, Numb. 4. 15. yet the Priests did it at this time, partly, for the greater honour of the Solemnity; and partly, because the Levites might not enter into the Holy place, much less into the Holy of Holies, where it was to be placed, into which the priests themselves might not have entred, if the High-Priest alone could have done it. Obj. The Levites are said to have done this, 2 Chron. 5. 4. Ans. That is most true, because all the Priests were Levites, though all the Levites were not Priests.

4 And they brought up the ark of the LORD, and the tabernacle of the congregation n, and all the holy vessels that were in the tabernacle, even those did the priests and Levites bring up.

n That made by Moses, which doubtless before this time had been translated from Gibeon to Zion, and now together with other things was put into the Treasuries of the Lord's-House, to prevent all the superstitious use and prophane abuse of it, and to oblige the people to come up to Jerusalem, as the only place where God would now be Worshipped. o The Priests carrying some, and the Levites others.

5 And king Solomon, and all the congregation of Israel, that were assembled unto him, were with him before the ark, sacrificing sheep and oxen p that could not be told nor numbred for multitude.

p Either, First, In the way, as David did upon the like occasion, 2 Sam. 6. 13. Or, Secondly, When the Ark was come into the Priests Court where the Altar stood, whence it was speedily to be conveyed to that place where the People could never behold it more. Or rather, Thirdly, When the Ark was seated in its place: for although they might in the way or paſſage offer some Sacrifices, as David did; yet that was not a proper season to offer so many Sacrifices as could not be told nor numbred, as these are here said to be; which far better agrees with what is more particularly related below, ver. 62, 63, 64. which is here signified in the general by way of anticipation, as is frequently done in the Scripture in like cases.

6 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD unto his place, into the Oracle of the house q, to the most holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims r.

q i. e. To that part of the House which is called the Oracle. 1 Kings 6. 5, 16, 19, 23. or, as it here follows, the most holy place. r To wit, of Solomon's new-made Cherubims, 1 Kings 6. 23, 24, &c. not of the Mosaical Cherubims, which were far less, and immoveably fixed to the Ark, Exod. 37. 7, 8. and therefore together with the Ark, were put under the wings of these Cherubims.

7 For the cherubims spread forth their two wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark, and the staves thereof above.

8 And they drew out the staves f, that the † ends of the staves were seen out in the ‖ holy place i before the oracle, and they were not seen without: and there they are unto this day.

f Not wholly, which was expresly forbidden, Exod. 25. 15. Numb. 4. 6. but in part. t Either, First, Properly for either of which place was indeed before the oracle. But how then could it be true, that they were not seen without, to wit, in the Holy place? For that they should be seen without, to wit, in the Court, was so ridiculous a conceit, that it had been absurd to suppose it, or to say any thing to prevent it. Nor is it much better what others say, that these ends of the staves did only over themselves thorough the veil, which they thrust forward, though they could not pierce thorough it. For neither in that case had they been seen; and besides, there was a Wall as well as a Veil in that place. Or rather, Secondly, In the most holy place, which is oft called by way of eminence, the Holy place, as Exod. 29. 30. and 36. 1. Levit. 6. 30. and 10. 18. and 16. 2, 16, 17, 20. And the Hebrew words rendred before the oracle, may be as well rendred, with in the oracle, the Phrase, al pene, being so used, Gen. 1. 2. the Spirit of God moved upon the face of the waters, i. e. in the Waters, or in that confused heap of Earth and Water, in which God was now working, that he might bring it into order and use; and Gen 1. 20. where it is well rendred, in the open firmament of heaven, i.e. of the Air. And thus the whole is most true, they were seen out, to wit, without the Ark, and the Cherubims which covered all the other parts, but they were not seen without the Oracle, to wit, in the Holy place, strictly so called. For how could they be seen there, when there was both a Wall and a tenth Veil between that place and the Oracle? And these Staves were left in this posture, that the High-Priest might thereby be certainly guided to that very particular place where he was one day in a year to sprinkle Blood, and to offer Incense before the Ark, which otherwise he might mistake in that dark place, where the Ark was wholly covered with the Wings of the great Cherubims, which flood between him and the Ark when he entred thither. Some conceive that the Door of the Oracle flood always open (which yet seems very improbable); and that they who were near the Door, might see the ends of the Staves, though by reason of the darkness of the place they could see nothing else there.

9 * There was nothing in the ark u, save the two tables of stone, which * Moses put there at Horeb, ‖ when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of the land of Egypt.

u Strictly and properly: for in a more large sense, as in is oft taken for by or near, as is confessed, and hath been proved before; so the pot of Manna, and Aaron's rod were also in it, Heb. 9. 4. i. e. by it, to wit, in the most Holy place, before the Ark of the testimony, where God commanded Moses to put them, as it is expressed, Exod. 16. 33, 34. Numb. 17. 10. and not strictly in it. But of this more, God assisting, on Heb. 9. 4.

10 And it came to pass when the priests were come out of the holy place x, that the cloud y filled the house of the LORD z.

x Either, First, The most Holy place, into which the Priests had now entred to carry in the Ark. Or rather, Secondly, The Holy place, where they might have stood to ministre, if the Cloud had not hindred them, as may be gathered from the next Verse. y The usual token of God's glorious presence. See Exod. 16. 10. and 24. 15, 16. Numb. 9. 15. z Partly, in testimony of his gracious acceptance of this Work, and their Service; and partly, to beget an awe and reverence in them, and in all others, when they approach to God.

11 So that the priests could not stand to minister, because of the cloud a: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of the LORD.

a Because the Cloud was either so bright that it dazled their eyes: or rather so dark, that it struck them with horror and amazement, as is implied in the next Verse.

12 ¶ Then spake Solomon b, The LORD * said that he would dwell * in the thick darkness.

b Perceiving both Priests and People struck with horror and wonder at this darkness, he minds them, that this was no sign of God's dislike or disfavour, as some of them might possibly imagine; but a token of his Approbation, and Grace, and special Presence among them. c Not in expresse words, but by plain consequence, because he hath declared both by his Words and Actions, that he would manifest his presence with, and dwelling among his People, by a dark Cloud, in which he would appear. See Exod. 13. 21, 22. and 24. 16. and 40. 35. Numb. 9. 15. Deut. 4. 11. and 5. 22. Psal. 18. 12. and 97. 2.

13 I have surely built thee an house to dwell in d, a settled place for thee to abide in for ever e.

d I perceive by this thick darkness, that thou art coming among us, and therefore make haste and come, O thou Blessed Guest, into into the dwelling-place which I have built by thy Command, and for thy Service. e Not a Tabernacle, which was made to be carried from place to place; but a durable, and, I hope, perpetual habitation.

14 And the king turned his face about f, and blessed all the congregation of Israel g; (and all the congregation of Israel stood h).

f From the Temple, towards which he was looking to observe that chick and extraordinary darkness, to the Body of the Congregation. g Or, Blessed, (to wit, the Lord, which is easily understood from the following words; in which he only blesseth or praiseth God, but doth not bless the People at all) with (to the Hebrew eth is oft used, as hath been shewed before) all the congregation. Although he might do both, first bless the Congregation, which possibly he might do in that solemn and appointed Form, Num. 6. which therefore it was needless to repeat here; and then blessed God. And indeed he doth both here below, where these same words are used, ver. 55, 56, &c. h Partly, in way of Devotion to God, whom they adored: and partly, out of respect to the King.

15 And he said, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, which spake with his mouth unto David my father, and hath with his hand fulfilled it i, saying, i Praised be God both for his Grace in making such a promise, and for his Goodness and Truth in fulfilling it.

16 Since the day that I brought forth my people Israel out of Egypt k, I chose no city l out of all the tribes of Israel to build an house, that my Name might be therein m; but I chose * David n to be over my people Israel.

*2 Sam. 5. 2.

k Until David's time; for then he did chuse Jerusalem. l i. e. I did not declare my choice of it: for to chuſing is used for declaring or executing ones choice, as Deut. 12. 1. 2 Chron. 6. 5. Zech. 2. 12. and things are oft said to be done when they are only manifested or declared to be such; in which sense God is said to be, justified. Psal. 51. 4. and Men to be guilty, Hos. 5. 15. Otherwise to speak properly, whatsoever God chuſeth, he chuſeth from Eternity. m That my Presence, and Grace, and Worship, and Glory, might be there. n And in and with him the Tribe of Judah, of which he was, and Jerusalem where he dwelt; which is here implied by the oppoſition of this to the former part of the Verse.

17 And * it was in the heart of David my father o, to build an house for the Name of the LORD God of Israel.

*2 Chron. 6. 7.

o In his desire and purpose, as this or the like Phrase is used, 1 Sam. 10. 7. and 14. 7. 2 Sam. 7. 3.

18 And the LORD said unto David my father, Whereas it was in thine heart to build an house unto my Name, thou didst well that it was in thine heart p:

p Thy intention and affection was well-pleasing to me.

19 Nevertheless, thou shalt not build the house; but thy son that shall come forth out of thy loins, he shall build the house unto my Name.

20 And the LORD hath † performed his word that he spake, and I am risen up in the room of David my father, and sit on the throne of Israel, as the LORD promised, and have built an house for the Name of the LORD God of Israel.

21 And I have set there a place for the ark, wherein is the covenant of the LORD q, which he made with our fathers, when he brought them out of the land of Egypt.

q i. e. The Tables of the Covenant, by a Metonymy, wherein the Conditions of God's Covenant with Israel are written.

22 ¶ And Solomon stood r before * the altar of the LORD s, in the presence of all the congregation of Israel t, and spread forth his hand toward heaven:

r Upon a Scaffold set up for him in the Court of the People, 2 Chron. 6. 13. s With his Face towards the Altar of Burnt-offerings. t Who stood round about the Scaffold, in the same Coure with him.

23 And he said, LORD God of Israel, * There is no God like thee, in heaven above, or on earth beneath, who * keepest covenant and mercy with thy servants that walk before thee with all their heart:

24 Who hast kept with thy servant David my father that thou promisedst him u: thou spakest also with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

u That branch of thy Promise concerning the Building of this House by David's Son.

25 Therefore now, LORD God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father, that thou promisedst him x, saying, * † There shall not fail thee a man in my sight to sit on the throne of Israel, † so that thy children take heed to their way, that they walk before me, as thou hast walked before me.

x Make good the other branch of thy Promise, and do not lose the Glory of thy Faithfulness, which now thou hast got.

26 And now, O God of Israel, let thy word, I pray thee, be verified, which thou spakest unto thy servant David my father.

27 But * will God indeed dwell on the earth y? behold, the heaven z, and heaven of heavens a, cannot * contain thee b; how much less this house that I have builded c?

*2 Chr. 2. 6. Isa. 66. 1. Jer 23. 24. Acts 7. 49. *Am. 7. 10.

y Reflecting upon God's performance of his promise concerning the building of the Temple, he breaks forth into admiration, Is it possible that the Great, and High, and Lofty God should stoop so low, as to take up his dwelling here amongst Men? O, astonishing condescension! z All this vast space of the visible Heaven. a The third and highest, and therefore the largest Heaven, called the heaven of heavens here, as also Deut. 10. 14. Psal. 148. 4. for its eminency and comprehensiveness. b For thy Essence reacheth far beyond them, being Omnipresent. c This House therefore was not built as if it were proportionable to thy greatness, or could contain thee, but only that therein we might serve and glorifie thee.

28 Yet have thou respect unto the prayer of thy servant d, and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to hearken unto the cry, and to the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee to day:

d Though thou are not comprehended within this place, yet shew thy self to be graciously present here, by accepting and granting my present Requests here rendred unto thee.

29 That thine eyes may be open e towards this house night and day, even toward the place of which thou hast said, * My name f shall be there: that thou mayest hearken unto the prayer which thy servant ‖ shall make ‖ towards this place g.

* Deut. 12. 11. ‖ Or, in the place.

e To behold, to wit, with an Eye of favour and consolation. So it is a Synedochical Expression; compare Psal 33. 18. and 34. 15. Zech. 12. 4. f My Presence, and Glory, and Grace. See above ver. 16. g This Temple, to which Solomon did now look, and it may be, point; and towards which, the godly Israelites directed their looks in their Prayers. See Dan. 6. 10.

30 And hearken thou to the supplication of thy servant, and of thy people Israel, when they shall pray ‖ towards this place: and hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place h, and when thou hearest, ‖ forgive i.

h Which he adds, that the People might not Idolize the Temple, nor presume upon it, as if God were now fast tied to them, as having no other dwelling-place; and to direct them in all their Addresses to God in this Temple, to lift up their eyes above it, even to Heaven, where God's most True, and most Glorious Dwelling-place is. i To wit, the Sins of thy People, praying, and even of their Prayers; which, if not pardoned, will certainly hinder the Success of all their Prayers, and the course of all thy Blessings upon them.

31 ¶ † If any man trespass k against his neighbour, † and an oath be laid upon him l, to cause him to swear, and the oath come before thine altar in this house m:

* Heb. A man trespass. So Gr. † Heb. and he require k i. e. If he be accused of a Trespass. l Either by the Judge, or by the Party accusing him, or by the accused Person himself: an oath of which was usual, when there were no Witnesses. See Exod 22. 8. Num. 5. 11. Numb. 5. 12, 15, &c. m For here God, who was appealed to as Witness, was especially present. Hence the Heathens used to swear at their Altars.

32 Then hear thou in heaven, and do, and judge thy servants, condemning the wicked, to bring his way upon his head, and justifying the righteous, to give him according to his righteousness o.

n i. e. The just Recompence of his wicked Action and Course. o To vindicate him, and to manifest his Integrity.

33 ¶ When * thy people Israel be smitten down before the enemy, because they have sinned against thee, and * shall turn again to thee, and confess thy Name p, and pray, and make supplication unto thee in this house:

* Lev. 26. 17. * Lev. 26. 39, 40. ‖ Or, reward.

p Give Glory to thy Name, by acknowledging their Sins, and thy Justice; and by accepting the punishment of their Iniquity; and by trusting to thy Power and Goodness alone, for their Deliverance.

34 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel, and bring them again q unto the land, which thou gavest unto their fathers.

q From the Land into which they are supposed to be carried by their Enemies, into Canaan. Quest. If they were Banished into a strange Land, how could they pray in this house, as they are said to do, ver. 33. Answ. 1. That may be rendred to, or, towards this house, as it is expressed, v. 29, 30. The Hebrew Preposition Beth, in, being oft put for El, to, or, towards. 2. This may be understood of divers Persons; and so the sence is this: When the People of Israel be defeated in Battel, and many of their Brethren be taken Prisoners, and carried into Captivity; if then their Brethren remaining in the Land, shall heartily pray for their Captive Brethren, they shall be delivered.

35 ¶ When *heaven is shut up s, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against thee; if they pray towards this place, and confess thy Name, and turn from their sin, when thou afflictest them t:

r The lower Heaven in which the Clouds are; as Deut. 11. 17. Psal. 147. 8. s The Heaven is compared to a great Store-House in God's keeping, out of which nothing can be had, so long as it is close shut up. t Do not reject their Prayers, because they are forced from them by their Afflictions, as thou may'st justly do.

36 Then hear thou in heaven, and forgive the sin of thy servants, and of thy people Israel, that thou teach them u the good way x wherein they should walk, and give rain y upon thy land which thou hast given to thy people for an inheritance.

u That their Sin being Pardoned, and thou being Reconciled unto them, may'st vouchsafe to teach them. Or rather, as our Translators render the very same Words, 2 Chron. 6. 27. When thou shalt teach, or hast taught them, not only by thy Word, for that was done before; but by their Afflictions, which is one of God's Schools; and especially, by thy Spirit, enlightning their Minds, and enclining their Hearts, that they may learn, and profit both by the Word, and by their Afflictions. And this is here fitly added, to shew, that he could not expect, and did not desire from God the Pardon of their Sins, but upon God's Terms, to wit, upon their True Repentance. x i.e. The way, or Will of God; or the way of their Duty, as the following words explain it, which is most rightly called the good way here, and 1 Sam. 12. 23. because it is both Just and Holy, and therefore good in it self; and good, that is, both Delightful and Profitable, to those that walk in it. The meaning is, When thou hast effectually taught them, and they have throughly learned how to please and serve thee acceptably, and to walk before thee in the way which thou hast prescribed them. y The order of Solomon's Prayer is very observable; first and chiefly, he prays for their Repentance and Forgiveness, which is the chief Blessing, and the only solid Foundation of all other Mercies: and then he prays for the Temporal Mercy; thereby teaching us what to mind and desire principally in our Prayers; which also Christ hath taught us in his perfect Pattern and Form of Prayer; wherein there is but one Petition for outward, and all the rest are for Spiritual Blessings.

*Lev. 26. 16, 25. Deut. 28. 21, 22, 27, 35. | Or, pestilence. † Heb. gates.

37 ¶ If * there be in the land famine, if there be pestilence, blasting, mildew, locust, or if there be caterpillar z; if their enemy besiege them in the land of their || cities, whatsoever plague a, whatsoever sickness there be;

z i.e. The Plague of Locusts, or Caterpillars, infesting a Land by their great numbers, and venomous or noxious qualities: of which see, Exod. 10. 4, 5. Deut. 28. 42. Psal. 105. 34, 35. a That chiefly signifies, an extraordinary Judgment sent from God.

38 What prayer and supplication soever be made by any man, or by all thy people Israel, which shall know every man the plague of his own heart b, and spread forth his hands towards this house:

b i.e. Either, 1. His Sin, which may be called the plague of his heart, in opposition to the other Plagues here mentioned, which afflict only the Body, or outward Man; So the sence is, Who, by their Afflictions are brought to a true and serious sence of their worse and inward Plague of their Sins which are most fitly called the plague of the heart, because that is both the principal Seat of Sin, and the Fountain from whence all actual Sins flow, Matth. 15. 19. Or rather, 2. His Affliction; for so this is Explained in the parallel place, 2 Chron. 6. 29. (which is the more considerable, because that Book was written after this, to explain what was dark or doubtful, and to supply what was lacking in this) when every one shall know his own sore, and his own grief; which is not unfitly called, the plague of his heart, because it was that Plague which his Heart was most Afflicted with, which pained him at the very heart; as the Phrase is, Jer. 4. 19. compare Psal. 55. 4. which caused him most vexation or grief, which is a Passion of the Heart: and so the sence is, Who shall know, i.e. be duly and deeply sensible of his Affliction, and the hand of God in it; and his Sin as the cause of it: for Words of Knowledge in Scripture, do very frequently note such a kind of Knowledge as affects and changeth the Heart, and reforms the whole course of a Man's Life; for which cause, Men of ungodly Lives are frequently said in Scripture not to know God, or Christ, or his Word, &c. And therefore no man knows his sore in a Scripture-sence, but he who hears the rod, who turneth unto him that smiteth him, and sincerely seeketh to the Lord for Relief.

39 Then hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place, and forgive, and do, and give to every man according to his ways c, whose heart thou knowest d, (for thou, even thou only knowest the hearts of all the children of men.)

c According to his Repentance, or Impenitency. I pray with more hope and confidence, because I do not desire that thou wouldst deliver such as are insensible of thy Judgments, and their Sin; but only those who truly know the Plague of their own Hearts, in manner before explained. d Thou knowest who are truly Penitent, and who are not; and therefore the granting of my Request will be no dishonour to thy Government, nor injury to thy Holy Nature.

40 That * they may fear thee e all the days that they live in the land which thou gavest unto our fathers.

e That when thou hast first smitten them, and then so eminently delivered them, and that in answer to their Prayer, they may hereby be taught to fear Thee, and thy Justice, and thy Goodness.

41 Moreover concerning a stranger that is not of thy people Israel, but cometh out of a far country for thy Names sake f; f This may note, either 1. The end of his coming, that he may Worship, and Glorifie thy Name: or rather, 2. The motive, or occasion of his Coming, which was the fame of God's Greatness, and Power, and Kindness to his People: as the following words Explain it.

42 (For they shall hear of thy great Name, and of thy strong hand, and of thy stretched-out arm) when he shall come and pray towards this house.

43 Hear thou in heaven thy dwelling-place, and do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for g: that all people of the earth may know thy Name, to fear thee, as do thy people Israel h, and that they may know that † this house, which I have † Heb. this is here built, builded, is called by thy Name i.

g To wit, Agreeable to thy Will and Word: for he would not have them heard, if they had prayed for any thing dishonourable to God, or destructive to his People. It is observable, That his prayer for the Strangers is more large, and comprehensive, than for the Israelites; that thereby he might both shew his Publick fitriendness, and encourage Strangers to the Worship of the True God. h Whereby we see, how sincerely and heartily the ancient and godly Jews desired the Conversion of the Gentiles; whereas, the latter and degenerate Jews, in the days of Christ, and of the Apostles, did Envy, Oppose it, and Fret at it. i i.e. Is owned, not only by us, but by thy self, as thy House; the only place in the World to which thou wilt vouchsafe thy Presence and Protection, and wherein thou wilt be Publickly and Solemnly served.

44 ¶ If thy people go out to battel against their enemy, whithersoever thou shalt send them k, and shall pray unto the LORD † toward the city † Heb. which thou hast chosen m, and toward the house that I have built for thy Name n:

k i.e. In a just Cause, and by thy Warrant or Commission. Whereby he implies, That it was unlawful for them to undertake any War meerly for their own Glory, or Luft; or to enlarge their Empire beyond its due bounds; and that they could not with safe Confcience pray to God for his Blessing upon such a War. l Whereby he instructs them, That they should not trust, either to the strength or Justice of their Arms, but only to God's Help and Blessing, which they were to pray for. m To wit, For thy Dwelling-place, and the Seat of thy Temple. n For to it they were to turn their Faces in Prayer; partly, thereby to profess themselves to be the Worshippers of the True God, in opposition to Idols; and that they sought help from him, and from no other: and partly, to strengthen Faith in God's Promises and Covenant, the Tables whereof were contained in that House.

45 Then hear thou in heaven their prayer, and their supplication, and maintain their || cause o. || Or, right.

o Declare the Justice of their Cause, by giving them the Victory. † Heb. judgment.

46 If they sin against thee, (* for there is no man that sinneth not p) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them to the enemy, so that they carry them away captives unto the * land of the enemy, far or near:

p The universal Corruption of Man's whole Race and Nature, makes me presage, that they will fall into Sins; and withal, makes me to hope, that thou wilt not be severe to deal with them as their Sins deserve.

47 Yet if they shall † bethink themselves q in the † Heb. land whither they were carried captives, and repent, and make supplication unto thee, in the land of them that carried them captives, saying r, We have sinned, and have done perversly; we have committed wickedness;

q Heb. bring back their hearts; to wit, their Sin; Expressed ver. 46. and implied in the following word, Repent. r Sensible, and with an honest heart.

48 And so return unto thee with all their heart, and with all their soul s, in the land of their enemies, which led them away captive, and * pray unto thee toward their land, which thou gavest unto their fathers, the city which thou hast chosen, and the house which I have built for thy Name:

s i.e. Sincerely, Universally, and Steddfastly.

49 Then hear thou their prayer, and their supplication in heaven thy dwelling-place, and maintain their || cause r. || Or, right.

t Heb. their right, against their Invaders and Oppressors. For they had forfeited all their Rights to God only, but not to their Judgments. Enemies; whom though God used as Scourges to chastise his Peoples Sins, yet they had no pretence of Right to their Land, nor any regard to it; but only minded the satisfaction of their own Lusts and Interests. See Isa. 10. 5, 6. and 47. 6. Zech. 1. 15.

50 And forgive thy people that have sinned against thee, and all their transgressions wherein they have *Psal. 106. 46. transgressed against thee, and * give them compassion before them, who carried them away captive, that they may have compassion on them u:

u i.e. May gently use them whilst they are there, and proclaim Liberty to their Captives, to go to their own Land.

51 For they be thy people x, and thine inheritance, which thou broughtest forth out of Egypt, from the *Deut. 11. 4. midst of the furnace of iron y:

x For howsoever they may sin against thee, or forsake from Men; yet still remember, that they are thy peculiar People, and therefore do thou pity, and pardon, and save them. y So called, either from the Metal melted in it: or rather, from the Matter of which it consisted, an Iron Furnace being more hot and terrible, than one of Brick, or Stone. He understands hereby, their cruel Bondage, and painful Labours. See on Deut. 4. 20.

52 That thine eyes may be open unto the supplication of thy servant, and unto the supplication of thy people Israel, to hearken unto them in all that they call for unto thee.

53 For thou didst separate them from among all the people of the earth, to be thine inheritance z, * as thou spakest by the hand of Moses thy servant, when thou broughtest our fathers out of Egypt, O LORD GOD.

z Thou hast begun to build a Work of great and glorious Mercy to them; do not give occasion to thine Enemies to think, thou wilt unside to finish it; or that thou art unstable in thy ways and Counsels, or unkind to thine own Children.

54 And it was so, that when Solomon had made an end of praying all this prayer and supplication unto the LORD, he arose from before the altar of the LORD, from kneeling on his knees, with his hands spread up to heaven.

55 And he stood and blessed all the congregation of Israel with a loud voice, saying, 56 Blessed be the LORD, that hath given rest unto his people Israel, according to all that he promised: * there hath not † failed one word of all his good † promise a, which he † promised by the hand of Moses his servant.

*Deut. 12. 10. † Heb. fallen. † Heb. spoken. † Heb. by the hand of.

a See the like, Josh. 21. 45. and 23. 14. 2 Kings 10. 10.

57 The LORD our God be with us b, as he was with our fathers: let him not leave us, nor forsake us:

b By the presence of his Grace and Mercy.

58 That he may incline our heart unto him c, to walk in all his ways, and to keep his commandments, and his statutes, and his judgments, which he commanded our fathers.

c That he may not only bless us with outward Prosperity, and Glory; but especially, with Spiritual Blessings: and that as he hath given us his Word and Statutes to teach and direct us, so he would by his Holy Spirit, effectually incline and engage our Hearts to keep and obey them.

59 And let these my words wherewith I have made supplication before the LORD, be nigh unto the LORD our God, day and night, that he † maintain the cause of his servant d, and the cause of his people Israel e † at all times, as the matters shall require:

*Heb. do the judge-ment. *Heb. the matter of. † Heb. in his day.

d i.e. Of me, as ver. 28, 29, 30. their King, and consequently of all my Successors. e According to mine, or their various necessities and exigencies.

60 That all the people of the earth may know f that * the LORD is God, and that there is none else.

*Deut. 4. 35. *Isa. 45. 22.

f Both by our vertuous and holy Lives, to which thou inclinest us by thy Grace; and by the eminent manifestations of thy Power and Goodness, in defending, and delivering us from all the assaults and devices of our Enemies.

61 Let your heart therefore be perfect g with the LORD our God, to walk in his statutes, and to keep his commandments, as at this day.

g i.e. Sincere and serious in your purposes of Obedience: for finless Perfection, he himself taught them was not to be expected here, Eccles. 7. 20.

*2 Chron. 5. 6. 62 ¶ And * the king, and all Israel with him, offered sacrifice before the LORD.

63 And Solomon offered a sacrifice h of peace-offerings which he offered unto the LORD, two and twenty thousand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep i: so k the king and all the children of Israel dedicated the house of the LORD l.

h By the hands of the Priests. i Not all in one day, but in the 7, or, it may be in the 14 days, mentioned ver. 65. k i.e. By those Sacrifices, and Holy Exercises. l i.e. Began to set it apart for the Work and Service of God.

64 The * same day did the king hallow the middle *2 Chron. 7. 7. of the court m that was before the house of the LORD: for there he offered burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings, because * the brazen altar that was before the LORD, *2 Chr. 4. 1 was too little to receive the burnt-offerings, and meat-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings.

m To wit, of the Priests Court, in which the great Altar was. This he Consecrated as he did the great Altar, to wit, by Sacrifices; but with this difference, That he Consecrated That for lasting and perpetual use: but This only for the present time and occasion, being warranted to do so both by the necessity of it for God's Service, and for the present Solemn Work, for which the Brazen Altar was not sufficient, as it here follows; and by the direction of God's Spirit, wherewith Solomon was endowed, as being a Prophet, as well as a King. Here therefore he suddenly reared up divers Altars, which after this Solemnity were demolished.

65 And at that time Solomon held a feast n, and all Israel with him, a great congregation, from the entring in of Hamath, unto the river of Egypt o, before the LORD p our God, seven days, and seven days q, even fourteen days.

n i.e. Kept the Solemnity. o The usual and known bounds of the Land, in the utmost length of it, of which, see Num. 34. 8. Josh. 13. 5. Judg. 3. 3. p i.e. Before the Temple, and as in God's Presence. q Seven for the Dedication of the Temple, or Altar; and the other seven for the Feast of Tabernacles; i.e. may be gathered from 2 Chron. 7. 9. And it seems to be expressed in this manner, to intimate, that these 14 days of Rejoicing, were not all together, but that there was some interval between them, which indeed was necessary, because the Day of Atonement was on the Tenth Day of this Month, Levit. 23. 27. And because these 14 days ended on the Twenty-second day, 2 Chron. 7. 10. it may seem most probable, that the Feast of the Dedication was kept before the Tenth day: and the Feast of Tabernacles some days after it.

66 On the eighth day he sent the people away r: and they || blessed the king s, and went unto their tents || Or, joyful and glad of heart, for all the goodness that the thanked. LORD had done for David t his servant, and for Israel his people.

r Solomon having joyned with the People in the Solemn Assembly, which was kept on the Eighth day; in the close of that Day and Service, he took his solemn farewel, and dismiled them with his Blessing; and the next Morning when the Heads and Elders who came to Solomon upon this special Summons, above ver. 3. and with them divers of the People came to take their leave of the King, he sent them away. And so this place agrees very well with 2 Chron. 7. 9, 10. s i.e. They prayed to God to bless him, according to their duty and custom. Or, they praised him, for his great care and pains in Building of the Temple, and setting up God's Worship among them. t In giving him a sure House, and a wife and religious Son, by whom he had now fulfilled the Promise made to David about the Building of the Temple.

CHAP. IX.

God's Covenant, in a second Vision, with Solomon, 1,——9. The mutual Presents of Solomon and Hiram, 10,——14. Strong holds built by Solomon, 15,——19. The Gentiles are Bond-men: The Israelites not so, 20,——23. Pharaoh's Daughter removeth to her House, 24. Solomon's yearly solemn Sacrifices, 25. His Navy fetcheth Gold from Ophir, 26,——28.

AND * it came to pass when Solomon had fi- *2 Chron. 7. 11. nished the building of the house of the LORD, and the kings house, and all Solomons desire which he was pleased to do:

2 That the LORD appeared to Solomon the second time a, * as he had appeared unto him at *2 Chr. 3. 1. Gibeon.

a To wit, in a Dream or Vision: for that which is mentioned, Chap. 6. 11. seems to have been imparted unto him by some Prophet or Messe ger sent from God, with that Errand. The time of this Revelation was, either 1. after all Solomon's Buildings, as the words, thus rendred plainly imply. And if it seem strange, that God should not Reveal this purpole and sentence of his concerning the Temple, till so many years after the finishing of it; it must be confessed, 1. That as it is an act of God's singular Grace, when he doth thus Reveal himself to any Person, so it is but meet he should chuse his own time for it. 2. That God had precisely after the finishing of the Temple, at the Feast of the Dedication of it, sufficiently shewed his acceptance and approbation of it, by that glorious Cloud, Chap. 8. 10, 11. and therefore this Revelation was not then necessary. 3. That God might chuse this as the fittest time for giving Solomon the following admonition, when he perceived that his heart began to be lifted up in Pride, for his sumptuous and magnificent Buildings, &c. and that he was grown vain, and careless, and secure; and therefore moft needed such an awakening Oracle. Or, 2. Presently after the Building of the Temple, as may be thought: from the Matter of this Revelation, which seems best to suit with that time when it was newly Built, and when Solomon's Prayer here mentioned was newly made: for seeing the following words contain God's Answer to that Prayer, it seems improbable, that the Answer should come so many Years after it. But then this second Verse, and the rest even to ver. 11. are to be inclosed with a Parenthesis; and the place must be thus rendred, ver. 2. For (So the Hebrew Text is oft rendred) the Lord appeared, or, had appeared to Solomon, &c. ver. 3. And the Lord had said unto him, &c.

7 Howbeit, I believed not the words n, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and behold, the half was not told me: † thy wisdom and prosperity o exceedeth the fame which I heard.

† Heb. thou hast added wisdom and goodness to the fame, &c.

n Which the reporters used concerning thee: or, the things reported: they seemed incredible, and above the perfection of humane nature. o Or, happiness: or, success. Heb. goodness.

8 Happy are thy men, happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and that hear thy wisdom.

9 Blessed be the LORD thy God p, which delighted in thee, to set thee on the throne of Israel q: because the LORD loved Israel for ever, therefore made he thee king, to do judgment and justice r.

p He deserves all blessing and praise, for delighting to honour and advance so worthy a Person. q For it was God's special act to make him king, rather than his elder Brother. r i.e. To execute just Judgment among them, to govern them with Right and Equity. She tacitly admonisheth Solomon, that he was not made King that he might live in Ease, and Pleasure, and Splendor, but for the good of his People.

10 And he gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices very great store, and precious stones: there came no more such abundance of spices, as these which the queen of Sheba gave to king Solomon.

11 And the navy also of Hiram that brought gold from Ophir, brought in from Ophir great plenty of Almug-trees, and precious stones.

Or, rails. † Heb. pesh. * Heb. to. * 2 Chron. 9. 10.

12 And the king made of the Almug-trees s, ‖ † pillars t for † the house of the LORD, and for the kings house; harps also, and psalteries for singers: there came no such * Almug-trees, nor were seen unto this day.

s Called also (by an inversion of the Letters, which is usual among the Hebrews) Algum-trees, 2 Chron. 2. 8. and 9. 10. whereof there were some in Lebanon, 2 Chron. 2. 8. but the best sort came from Ophir, as is here said. t Or, supporters, either, for the Ascent or Stairs, by which they went from the King's House to the Temple. See 1 Chron. 26. 16. and 2 Chron. 9. 11. or, for divers parts both of the Lords, and of the King's House.

13 And king Solomon gave unto the queen of Sheba all her desire whatsoever she asked, besides that which Solomon gave her † of his royal bounty: so she turned, and went to her own country, she and her servants.

† Heb. according to the hand of king Solomon.

14 ¶ Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year, was six hundred threescore and six talents of gold u, u Which amounts to about two Millions of our Money. And this Gold did not come from Ophir in India, or Tarshish; but from Arabia and Ethiopia, and other parts, which then were well replenished with Gold, though since exhausted by the insatiable Avarice of succeeding Ages.

15 Besides that he had of the merchant-men x; and of the traffique of the spice-merchants y, and of all the kings of Arabia z, and of the ‖ governours of the country a.

Or, captains.

x Heb. of the searchers, or spies: i.e. either Merchants, who use to enquire and search out Commodities, and all advantages of Trade: or rather, the Publicans or gatherers of the King's Revenues, who used to search narrowly into all Wares and Dealings, that the King might not be defrauded of his Rights. y Or rather, of the merchants in general, as that word is oft used in Ezek. 27. and elsewhere. So this and the former particular contain both the branches of the King's Revenue, what he had from the Land and Fruits thereof, and what he had from the Merchants and Traders in other Commodities. z To wit, of those parts of Arabia which were next to Canaan, which were either conquered by David, or submitted to pay Tribute to Solomon. But we must not think all these to be kings of large Dominions, but many of them only Governours of Cities, and the Territories belonging to them, such as were formerly in Canaan, and were anciently called Kings. a Or, of the land, or of that land, for there is an Article in the Hebrew, i.e. either of the Land of Canaan: or rather, of the Land of Arabia: whereof some parts were so far Conquered, that he had Governors of his own over them, who were each of them to take care of the King's Revenue in his Jurisdiction; and part only so far, that they still had Kings of their own, but such as were Tributaries to him.

* 1 Sam. 17. 6.

16 ¶ And king Solomon made two hundred * targets of beaten gold b: six hundred shekels of gold went to one target.

b For Pomp and Magnificence, and (as may be thought from the use of the Brazen Shields, Chap. 14. 27, 28.) to be carried before him, by his Guard, when he went abroad.

17 And he made three hundred shields of beaten gold; three pound c of gold went to one shield: and the king put them in the * house of the forest of Lebanon.

c Or, 300 shekels, as it is expressed, 2 Chron. 9. 16.

18 ¶ Moreover, the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it d with the best gold.

d Not wholly, but in part, here and there, which made it more beautiful to the eye. Probably the main substance of it was Ivory, but some cavities were left in it which were filled with Gold.

19 The throne had six steps, and the top of the throne was round † behind e: and there were † stays on either side on the place of the seat, and two lions f stood beside the stays.

e Made like the half of a Circle. f These and the following Lions seem added, to expresse either the Tribe from which Solomon sprung, compared to a Lion, Gen. 49. 9. or rather, that Majesty and Power wherewith a Prince is adorned and armed, which his Subjects cannot resist; or, the Duty of a Prince in the execution of Judgment, which ought to be done with great Courage and Magnanimity.

20 And twelve lions stood there on the one side, and on the other upon six steps: there was not † the like made in any kingdom.

† Heb. it.

21 ¶ And all king Solomons drinking-vessels were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon were of pure gold, ‖ none were of silver; it was nothing accounted of g in the days of Solomon.

‖ Or, they were not in use.

g Comparatively. Such Hyperbolical expressions being frequent both in Scripture, and other Authors.

22 For the king had at sea a navy of Tharshish h, with the navy of Hiram: once in three years came the navy of Tharshish, bringing gold and silver, ‖ ivory, and apes, and ‖ peacocks.

‖ Or, elephants teeth. ‖ Or, apes.

h Either, First, The Ships of the Sea, which may seem to be called Tarshish, as Psal. 48. 7. Isa. 60. 9. from an eminent part of the Sea near Judea, so called. Or rather, the Ships that went to Tarshish. For Tarshish was the name of a certain place upon the Sea, famous for its Traffick with Merchants, as it is manifest from Isa. 23. 6, 10. and 66. 19. Jer. 10. 9. Ezek. 27. 12. and it was a place very remote from Judea, as appears from the 3 Years usually spent in that Voyage. But whether it was Spain, where in those times there was abundance of Gold and Silver, as Strabo and others affirm; or, some place in the Indies, it is needless to determine.

23 So king Solomon exceeded all the kings of the earth in riches, and for wisdom.

24 ¶ And all the earth i † fought to Solomon, to hear his wisdom which God had put in his heart.

i i.e. All the Kings of the Earth, (as it is expressed 2 Chron. 9. 23.) to wit, of those parts of the Earth: which Synecdoche is very frequent.

25 And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and garments, and armour, and spices, horses and mules, † a rate year by year.

26 ¶ * And Solomon gathered together chariots, and horsemen k: and he had a thousand and four hundred chariots l, and twelve thousand horsemen, whom he bestowed in the cities for chariots, and with the king at Jerusalem.

29 And a charet p, came up, and went out of Egypt for six hundred shekels of silver, and an horse for an hundred and fifty: and so for all the kings of the Hittites q, and for the kings of Syria, did they bring them out † by their means.

p This is not to be understood of the Charets and Horses themselves, (for then all Horses had been fet at an equal price, which is most absurd) but by a Metonymy, for the Lading of Charets and Horses, which consisting of fine Linen and Silk, &c. were of great value; and the King's Custom, together with the Charges of the Journey, amounted to these sums. q A People dwelling principally in the Northern and Eastern parts of Canaan, Jos. 1. 4. whom the Israelites, contrary to their Duty, spared, and suffered to live among them, Judg. 3. 5. who afterwards, it seems, grew numerous and potent, and, it may be, they sent out Co'onies (after the manner of the Ancient Times) into some parts of Syria and Arabia: and possibly, these kings of the Hittites may be some of those kings of Arabia, 1 Kings 10. 15.

CHAP. XI.

Solomon's Wives and Concubines which in his Old Age seduce him to Idolatry, 1,—8. God threatneth him, 9,——13. His Adversaries are Hadad, who fleeth into Egypt, and is entertained there, 14,—22. Rezon who reigned in Damascus, 23,——25. Jeroboam to whom Ahijah foretelleth that he shall be king: Solomon seeketh his life, 26,—40. His acts, reign and death. Rehoboam succeedeth him, 41,—43.

BUT * king Solomon loved a * many strange women b (‖ together with the daughter of Pharaoh:) women of the Moabites, Ammonites, Edomites, Zidonians, and Hittites:

* Neh. 13. 26. * Deut. 17. 17. Ch. Ephes. 5. 5.

a To wit, Inordinately and Luffully. b He sinned against God's known Law, both in their number, Deut. 17. 17. and in their quality.

2 Of the nations concerning which the LORD said unto the children of Israel, * Ye shall not go in to them c, neither shall they come in unto you; for surely they will turn away your heart after their gods d: Solomon clave unto these in love.

* Exod. 34. 16. Deut. 7. 3.

c i.e. Marry them. See on Gen. 6. 4. d Possibly Solomon might think himself too Wise to be drawn to Idolatry by his Wives, and therefore to be unconcerned in the reason of the Law; and consequently free in some measure from the Obligation of the Law; and so, like our first Parents, trusting his own Fancy more than God's Word, he fell dreadfully.

3 And he had seven hundred wives, princesses, and three hundred concubines e: and his wives turned away his heart.

e Partly, for his Lust, which being indulged, becomes infinite and unsatiable; and partly, from his Pride, accounting this a point of Honour and Magnificence.

4 For it came to pass, when Solomon was old f, that his wives turned away his heart after other gods g: and * his heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as was the heart of David his father.

* 1 Chron. 28. 9.

f As having now reigned nigh 30 Years, when it might have been expected that Age should have cooled his Lust, and Experience have made him wiser and better, and when probably he was secure as to any such miscarriages: Then God permitted him to fall so shamefully, that he might be to all succeeding Generations an example of God's Severity, and of the folly, and weakness, and wickedness of the wisest and best Men, when left to themselves. g Not that they changed his Mind or Opinion about the True God, and Idols, which is not credible; but that they cooled his Zeal against them, obtained from him a publick Indulgence for their Worship, and Money for the making of Idols, and the support of the Charges of their Priests and Sacrifices, and possibly perfuaded him sometimes in complaisance to joyn with them in the outward act of Idol-worship; or, at least, in their Feasts upon their Sacrifices, which was a participation of their Idolatry. See Psalm 106. 28. 1 Cor. 10. 20.

5 For Solomon went after h * Ashtaroth the goddess of the Zidonians, and after * Milcom i the abomination of the Amorites.

* Judg. 2. 13. * Heb. pulled it off after. Deut. 17. 16. * Num. 21. 29. Jer. 48. 7. 46. Zeph. 1. 5. Chap. 7. 8. 2 Kings 23. 13.

h In manner explained in the former Verse. i Called also Moloch: of which see Levit. 18. 21. 2 Kings 23. 10.

6 And Solomon did evil in the sight of the LORD, and † went not fully after the LORD k, as did David his father.

† Heb. filled not after the LORD.

k i.e. Did not worship God wholly and solely, but joyned Idols with him.

7 Then did Solomon build l an high place m for * Chemosh the abomination of Moab, in the hill that is before Jerusalem n; and for Molech the abomination of the children of Ammon.

* Num. 21. 29. Jer. 48. 7. 46. Chap. 14. 24. 2 Chron. 28. 3. 33. 6.

l i.e. Suffer to be built, or gave Money for it. m i.e. An Altar upon the high Place, as the manner of the Heathens was. See Numb 22. 41. and 23. 1. n i.e. In the Mount of Olives, which was nigh unto Jerusalem, 2 Sam. 15. 30. and from this act was called the mount of corruption, 2 Kings 23. 13. Idolatry being often called and esteemed a corruption.

8 And likewise did he for all his strange wives o, which burnt incense, and sacrificed unto their gods.

o Having once given way to some few of his most beloved Wives, he was forced to comply with the rest.

9 ¶ And the LORD was angry with Solomon, because his heart was turned from the LORD God of Israel p, * which had appeared unto him q twice,

* Chap. 3. 5. and 9. 2.

p From the express Command, and from the Worship of God; not that he wholly neglected God, but because God esteems all the Worship of Idols (though it be not exclusive of, but conjoyned with his own Worship) to be a forsaking of, and departing from God, and oft-times so calls it. q To wit, in an extraordinary, and most gracious, and obliging manner.

10 And * had commanded him concerning this thing, that he should not go after other gods: but he kept not that which the LORD commanded.

* Chap. 6. 12.

11 wherefore the LORD said unto Solomon †, Forasmuch as this † is done of thee, and thou hast not kept my covenant, and my statutes which I have commanded thee, * I will surely rend r the kingdom from thee, and will give it to thy servant t.

† Heb. is with thee. * Chap. 12. 15. Ezek. 12. 19.

r Either by suggestion to his mind: or, by appearance to him in a terrible manner: or by the Prophet Ahijah, of whom ver. 29. t I will violently take away. The word in the Hebrew is doubled for the greater assurance of the thing. t To one of thy Servants and Subjects; which was Jeroboam, ver. 26, &c.

12 Notwithstanding, in thy days I will not do it, for David thy fathers sake u: but I will rend it out of the hand of thy son.

u For the respect I bear to his Memory, and for my promise take made to him, 2 Sam. 7.

13 Howbeit, I will not rend away all the kingdom: but will give one tribe x to thy son, for David my servants sake, and for Jerusalems sake y, which I have chosen.

x How but one, when he had both Judah and Benjamin, 2 Chron. 11. 12? Ans. Either Benjamin is swallowed up in Judah, because it was comparatively very small, and their habitation much intermixed with that of Judah: or, one, to wit, of that kingdom which he here threatens to rend away from him, i.e. Of the Kingdom of Israel; and that was Benjamin: one beside Judah, which was his own Tribe: or, but one, because Benjamin was not entirely his, but part of it adhered to Jeroboam, as Bethel, 1 King. 12. 29 and Hebron, 2 Chron. 13. 19. both which were Towns of Benjamin, Jos. 18. 22. Or, if God promised to give one, and gave him two, I suppose that was no great Injury to him. y Not, surely, for its merits; but because he had chosen it, as it follows, to be the Seat of his Temple and Worship; it being God's usual method to give to him that hath, and to continue and multiply favours to them whom he hath begun to favour.

14 ¶ And the LORD stirred up an adversary unto Solomon, Hadad the Edomite, he was of the kings seed in Edom.

15 * For it came to pass when David was in Edom z, and Joab the captain of the host was gone up to bury the slain a, * after he had smitten every male in Edom b.

* 2 Sam. 8. 14. * Numb. 24. 19. Deut. 25. 19.

z To wit, by his Army, to War against it. See 1 Chron. 18. 12, 13. a To wit, the Israelites which were slain in the Battel, 2 Sam. 8. 13, 14. whom he honourably interred in some certain place, to which he is said to go up for that end. And this may be mentioned as that which gave Hadad the opportunity of making his escape, whilst Joab and his Men were employed in that Solemnity. b Or, and he smote, &c. as it is in the Hebrew. Which is here noted as the cause of Hadad's flight; he smote, &c. He understood what Joab had done in part, and intended further to do, even to kill all the Males, and therefore fled for his life.

16 (For six months did Joab remain there with all Israel, until he had cut off every male in Edom)

17 That Hadad fled, he and certain Edomites of his fathers servants with him, to go into Egypt; Hadad being yet a little child.

18 And they arose out of Midian c, and came to Paran, and they took men with them out of Paran d, and they came to Egypt unto Pharaoh king of Egypt, which gave him an house, and appointed him victuals, and gave him land e.

c He fled at first with an intent to go into Egypt, as is said, ver. 17. but took Midian, a neighbouring Country, in his way, and staid there a while, possibly till he had by some of his Servants tried Pharaoh's Mind, and prepared the way for his Reception. d Another Country in the Road from Edom to Egypt, where he hired Men to attend him, that making his entrance there something like a Prince, he might find more favour and respect from that King and People. e To support himself and his Train out of the Profits of it.

19 And Hadad found great favour in the sight of Pharaoh f, so that he gave him to wife the sister of his own wife, the sister of Tahpenes the queen.

f God so disposing his Heart, that Hadad might be a scourge to Solomon for his Impieties, which God foresaw long before they were done.

20 And the sister of Tahpenes bare him Genubath his son, whom Tahpenes weaned in Pharaohs house: and Genubath was in Pharaohs houshold among the sons of Pharaoh.

21 And when Hadad heard in Egypt that David slept with his fathers, and that Joab the captain of the host g was dead, Hadad said to Pharaoh, † Let me depart, that I may go to mine own country h.

g Which he feared as much as David himself. h Whither accordingly he came; and was there, even from the beginning of Solomon's Reign; where he either lived as a private Person, yet secretly working for the recovery of his Crown when an opportunity was offered; or rather, by the near relation which was between his Wife and Solomon's; and, by Pharaoh's intercession, he obtained his Kingdom with condition of Subjection and Tribute to be paid by him to Solomon; which Condition he kept till Solomon fell from God, and then it seems he began to be troublesome to him, and dangerous to his House and Kingdom.

22 Then Pharaoh said unto him, But what hast thou lacked with me, that behold thou seekest to go to thine own Country? And he answered, † Nothing: † Heb. not. Howbeit, let me go in any wife.

23 ¶ And God stirred him up another adversary, Rezon, the son of Eliadah, which fled from his lord Hadadezer i king of Zobah k.

i When David had defeated him: See 2 Sam. 10. 16, &c. k A part of Syria, between Damascus and Euphrates: of which see 1 Sam. 14. 47. 2 Chron. 8. 3. Psalm 60. 2.

with Rigour and Violence, if need were. z From Shechem, where it seems he yet ſtaid, and his Guards and Friends with him; that being there in the midſt of his Kingdom, and among the Seditious Tumultuous in their firſt rife.

19 So Iſrael ‖ rebelled a againſt the houſe of David unto this day.

a Their Revolt is called Rebellion, and therefore was ſinful, becauſe it was contrary to God's Authority, and Command of ſubjection to David, and his Seed for ever; from which the People were not freed by God's Promiſe and Grant made to Jeroboam, which was but a ſecret Tranſaction, nor yet ſufficiently revealed to them, and was not a grant of preſent and actual Poſſeſſion; but only a Promiſe, That God would give it to him in his own time, and way; which might have been done, though neither Jeroboam, nor the People had uſed theſe indirect and evil Courſes to bring it about; as it befel David upon the ſame occaſion. Beſides, the People did not this in compliance with God's Counſel, but to gratifie their own Paſſions, and get themſelves a little eaſe.

20 And it came to paſs when all Iſrael heard that Jeroboam was come again b, that they ſent c and called him unto the congregation d, and made him king over all Iſrael: there was none e. that followed the houſe of David, but the Tribe of Judah *only.

* Chap. 11. 13.

b To wit, from Egypt; which was known before to the chief of the Tribes, and to them who met at Shechem, and now was more univerſally known by all the People. c To his Tent or Habitation, to which he had retired himſelf, as others alſo generally did; ſee above, ver. 16. d Which was ſummoned by the Elders of the ſeveral Tribes, to take advice, how to ſettle their Affairs, which they eaſily agreed to do, by conferring the Crown upon Jeroboam, according to God's Promiſe made to him. e. i.e. No intire Tribe. See on chap. 11. 13, 31, 32.

* 2 Chron. 11. 31.

21 And * when Rehoboam was come to Jeruſalem, he aſſembled all the houſe of Judah, with the tribe of Benjamin e, an hundred and fourſcore thouſand choſen men, which were warriours, to fight againſt the houſe of Iſrael, to bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon.

e i.e. That part of it which was next to Judah, and joyned with them. See on Chap. 11. 13. f i.e. The Families or Tribes, (for theſe words are promiſcuouſly uſed one for the other) of Iſrael.

* 2 Chron. 11. 2.

22 But * the word of God came unto Shemaiah the man of God g, ſaying, g i.e. The Prophet, ſo called; partly, to diſtinguiſh him from others of that Name. See Nehem. 6. 10. Jer. 29. 31. And partly, to add the more weight to his words.

23 Speak unto Rehoboam the ſon of Solomon king of Judah, and to all the houſe of Judah, and Benjamin, and to the remnant of the people, ſaying, 24 Thus ſaith the LORD, Ye ſhall not go up nor fight againſt your brethren the children of Iſrael: return every man to his own houſe, for this thing is from me h. They hearkned therefore to the word of the LORD i, and returned to depart according to the word of the LORD.

h This Event is from my Counſel and Providence, to puniſh Solomon's Apoſtacy, though they procured it by ſinful means: and therefore, if you proceed, you muſt fight with me, as well as them. i Either from conſcience of their Duty, or becauſe they durſt not oppoſe ſo Potent an Adverſary.

25 ¶ Then Jeroboam built Shechem k in mount Ephraim, and dwelt therein; and went out from thence, and built Penuel l.

k i.e. He repaired, and enlarged, and fortified it; for it had been ruined long ſince, Judg. 9. 45. He might chuſe it as a place both auſpicious, becauſe here the Foundation of his Monarchy was laid; and commodious, as being near the Frontiers of his Kingdom. l A place beyond Jordan; of which, ſee Gen. 32. 30. Judg. 8. 17. to ſecure that part of his Dominions.

26 And Jeroboam ſaid in his heart m, Now ſhall the kingdom return to the houſe of David:

m i.e. Reaſoned within himſelf. The Phraſe diſcovers the Fountain of his Error, That he did not conſult with God, who had given him the Kingdom; as in all Reaſon, and Juſtice, and Gratitude he ſhould have done: nor believed God's Promiſe, Chap. 11. 38. but his own Imaginations, and carnal Policies.

27 If theſe people go up to do ſacrifice in the houſe of the LORD at Jeruſalem, then ſhall the heart of this people turn again unto their LORD n, even unto Rehoboam king of Judah, and they ſhall kill me, and go again to Rehoboam king of Judah.

n Which in it ſelf might ſeem a prudent Conjecture; for this would give Rehoboam, and the Prieſts, and Levites, the ſure and faithful Friends of David's Houſe, many opportunities of alienating their Minds from him, and of reducing them to their former Allegiance. But conſidering God's Providence, by which the Hearts of all Men, and the Affairs of all Kings and Kingdoms are governed, and of which he had lately ſeen ſo eminent an Inſtance; it was a fooliſh, as well as wicked courſe.

* Exod. 32. 8.

28 Whereupon the king took counſel, and * made two calves of gold o, and ſaid unto them, It is too much for you p to go up to Jeruſalem: * behold thy gods, O Iſrael, which brought thee up out of the land of Egypt q.

o In imitation of Aaron's Golden Calf, and of the Egyptians, from whom he was lately come. And this he the rather preſumed to do, becauſe he knew the People of Iſrael were generally very prone to Superſtition, and Idolatry, as their whole Hiſtory ſheweth: and that Solomon's example and countenance given to falſe Worſhips, had exceedingly ſtrengthned thoſe inclinations; and therefore they were in a great meaſure prepared for ſuch an Attempt; eſpecially, when his Propoſition tended to their own eaſe, and ſafety, and profit, which he knew was much dearer to them, as well as to himſelf, than their Religion. p Too great a trouble and charge, and neither neceſſary, nor ſafe for them, as things now ſtood. q Not as if he did himſelf believe, or thought to perſuade the People to believe, That theſe Calves were properly, and truly, that very God of Iſrael, who brought them ought of Egypt: (which was ſo monſtrouſly abſurd and ridiculous, that no Iſraelite in his right wits could believe it) and had been ſo far from attaining his end, and ſatisfying his People, that this would have made him both hateful, and contemptible to them; but his meaning was, that theſe Images were viſible Repreſentations, in, and by which he deſigned to worſhip the True God of Iſrael, as appears, partly from that Parallel-place. Exod. 32. 4. where ſee my Notes: partly, becauſe the Prieſts and Worſhippers of the Calves, are ſaid to worſhip Jehovah; and upon that account, are diſtinguiſhed from thoſe belonging to Baal, 1 Kings 18. 21. and 22. 6, 7. And partly, from Jeroboam's deſign in this Work, which was to quiet the Peoples Minds, and remove their Scruples about going to Jeruſalem to worſhip their God in the place, as they were commanded: which he doth, by ſignifying to them, That he did not intend any alteration in the ſubſtance of their Religion; nor to draw them from the worſhip of the True God, to the worſhip of Aſhtaroth, or Milcom, or any of thoſe Baals, which were ſet up by Solomon; but to worſhip that ſelf-ſame God whom they worſhipped in Jeruſalem, even the True God, and the God of their Fathers, who brought them out of Egypt; but only to vary a Circumſtance: and that as they worſhipped God at Jeruſalem by, and before one viſible Sign, even the Ark, and the Sacred Cherubims there; ſo his Subjects ſhould worſhip God by another viſible Sign, even that of the Calves, in other places; and as for the change of the place, he might ſuggeſt to them, that God was preſent in all places, where Men with honeſt Minds did call upon him; that before the Temple was built, the beſt of Kings, and Prophets, and People, did pray, and ſacrifice to God in divers high Places, without any ſcruple; notwithſtanding that reſtraint of God to one Place, Deut. 12. 5, &c. That God would diſpenſe with them alſo in that matter; becauſe going to Jeruſalem was very dangerous to them at this time; and God would have Mercy, rather than Sacrifice; and God had been pleaſed to diſpenſe with his own Ordinances in caſes of neceſſity or great inconvenience, as he did with Circumciſion for 40 years in the Wilderneſs.

29 And he ſet the one in Bethel, and the other put he in Dan r.

r Which two Places he choſe for his Peoples conveniency: Bethel being in the Southern, and Dan in the Northern parts of his Kingdom.

30 And this thing became a ſin s: for the people went t to worſhip before the one, † even unto Dan u.

s i.e. A cauſe or occaſion of great wickedneſs among that People; not only of Idolatry, which is called Sin by way of Eminency; nor only of the worſhip of the Calves, wherein they pretended to worſhip the True God; but alſo of the worſhip of Baal, and of the utter deſertion of the True God; and of all ſorts of Impiety, and abominable Sins; as is manifeſt from the Hiſtory of that Kingdom: in which, there was not one good King: and very few of the People who were not guilty of hainous Crimes, as the Prophets witneſs. t The King's Counſel and Example ſeduced them, though it did not excuſe their Sin; and they willingly walked after this wicked commandment, Hoſ. 5. 11. u Which is not here mentioned excluſively, for that they were alſo to Bethel is evident from ver. 32, 33. but for other reaſons, either becauſe that of Dan was firſt made, or beſt frequented, the People in thoſe parts having been long leavened with Idolatry: See Judg. 18. 30. or to ſhew the Peoples readineſs to comply with the King's Command, and their Zeal for Idols; that thoſe who lived in, or near Bethel, had not patience to ſtay till that Calf was finiſhed, but all of them were forward to go as far as Dan, which was in the utmoſt borders of the Land, to worſhip an Idol there; when it was thought too much for them to go to Jeruſalem to worſhip God.

31 And he made an houſe of high places x, and made prieſts of † the * loweſt of the people y, which were not of the ſons of Levi z.

* Chap. 13. 33.

x Or, an houſe (i.e. Houſes, or Chapels) in the high places. Beſides the famous Houſes, or Temples, which he built at Dan and Bethel; he built alſo for his Peoples better accommodation, leſſer Temples upon divers high Places, which were eſteemed Sacred and Venerable, becauſe their Pious Anceſtors had ſerved God in them: and thereby Jeroboam might not ſeem to bring in a new Religion, but only to revive the old. y Which he might do, either, 1. Becauſe the better ſort refuſed it, as an Office below their Quality: or, 2. Becauſe ſuch would be ſatisfied with mean allowances; and ſo he could put into his own Purſe a great part of the rich Poſſeſſions and Revenues of the Levites, which doubleleſs he fixed upon when they forſook him, and went to Jeruſalem, 2 Chron. 11. 13, 14. which alſo was very neceſſary for his preſent and preſſing Occaſions; the rather, becauſe he durſt not yet lay grievous Taxes upon that People who had newly caſt off Rehoboam for that very Reaſon. Or, 3. Becauſe mean Perſons would depend upon his Favour, and therefore be very pliable to his Humour, and firm to his Intereſt, and zealous to promote the worſhip of the Calves. But the words in the Hebrew properly ſignifie, from the ends of the people; which is, and may be tranſlated thus, out of all the people; promiſcuouſly out of every Tribe. Which Expoſition ſeems to be confirmed by the following words, which are added to explain theſe, which were not of the ſons of Levi; though they were not of the Tribe of Levi. And that indeed was Jeroboam's Sin; not that he choſe mean Perſons, for ſome of the Levites were ſuch; and his Sin had not been leſs, if he had choſen the Nobleſt and Greateſt Perſons; as we ſee in the Example of Uzziah, 2 Chron. 26. 18, 19. But that he choſe Men of other Tribes, contrary to God's appointment, which reſtrained that Office to that Tribe. z To whom that Office was confined by God's expreſs Command; but he gave the Prieſthood promiſcuouſly to any Perſon of any other Tribe.

Or, gods.

Or, went up to the altars, &c.

Or, to ſacrifice.

32 And Jeroboam ordained a feaſt a in the eighth month, on the fifthteenth day of the month b, like unto the feaſt that is ‖ in Judah c, and he ‖ offered c upon the altar, (ſo did he in Bethel) d ‖ ſacrificing unto the calves e that he had made: and he placed in Bethel f the prieſts of the high places which he had made.

a Either, 1. A Feaſt of Dedication, like that which was in Judah, at the Dedication of the Temple. Or rather, 2. The Feaſt of Tabernacles, as may be thought, 1. becauſe that began on the fifteenth day of the Month, Levit. 23. 34. 2. Becauſe he is not blamed for deviſing the Feaſt (which thereby ſeems to have been of God's appointment) but only for deviſing the month, ver. 33. for keeping God's Feaſt, not in God's time, which was the fifteenth day of the Seventh Month, and ſo onward, Levit. 23. 34. But on the fifteenth day of the Eighth Month. And this alteration he made, either, 1. To keep up the difference between his Subjects and thoſe of Judah, as by the differing Manners, ſo by the diſtinct times of their Worſhip. Or, 2. Leſt he ſhould ſeem directly to oppoſe the God of Iſrael, (who had in a ſpecial manner obliged all the People to go up to Jeruſalem at that time, Deut. 16. 16.) by requiring their attendance to Celebrate the Feaſt elſewhere, at the ſame time. Or, 3. To engage as many Perſons as poſſibly he could to come to his Feaſt; which they would more willingly do when the Feaſt at Jeruſalem was paſt, and all the Fruits of the Earth were moſt perfectly gathered in. b And ſo onward till the Seven days ended. c He took his Pattern thence, to ſhew, That he worſhipped the ſame God, and profeſſed the ſame Religion for Subſtance, which they did; howſoever he differed in Circumſtances, as here he did in the time. c Either, 1. By his Prieſts. Or, rather, 2. By his own hands; as appears from Chap. 13. 1, 4. which he did, to give the more countenance to his new-deviſed Solemnity. Nor is this ſtrange; for he might plauſibly think, that he who by his own Authority had made others Prieſts, might much more exerciſe a part of that Office; at leaſt, upon an extraordinary occaſion; in which caſe, he knew David himſelf had done ſome things, which otherwiſe he might not do. d i.e. He himſelf did offer there in like manner, as he now had done at Dan. e For they were two, ver. 29. f As he had done at Dan, ver. 31.

Or, went up to the altar, &c.

33 So he ‖ offered upon the altar which he had made in Bethel the fifteenth day of the eighth month, even in the month which he had deviſed of his own heart g: and ordained a feaſt unto the children of Iſrael, and he offered upon the altar, † and burnt incenſe.

g Which he appointed without any Warrant from God, which was Superſtition. Compare Jer 7. 31.

CHAP. XIII.

A prophet of Judah prophecieth againſt the altar at Bethel: Jeroboam, offering him violence, his hand withereth: and, at the prayer of the prophet, is reſtored. 4—6. He, refuſing the king's entertainment, departeth from Bethel, 7—10. An old prophet, inducing him, bringeth him back, 11—19. He is for it reproved of God by the old prophet: and is ſlain by a Lion: and buried by the old prophet: who confirmeth his prophecy, 20—32. Jeroboam's obſtinacy, 33, 34

AND behold, there came a man of God a out of Judah by the word of the LORD b unto Bethel: and Jeroboam ſtood by the altar to ‖ burn incenſe.

a An Holy Prophet. b By Divine Inſpiration and Command.

2 And he cried againſt the altar c in the word of the LORD, and ſaid, O altar, altar d, thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, a child † ſhall be born unto the houſe of David, * Joſiah by name e, and upon thee ſhall he offer the prieſts f of the high places that burn incenſe upon thee, and mens bones ſhall be burnt upon thee.

* 2 King. 23. 15.

c And conſequently, againſt all that worſhip; which is oft ſignified by the name of the altar. See Iſa. 19. 19. 1 Cor. 9. 13. Heb. 7. 13. and 13. 10. d He directs his Speech to the Altar; partly, becauſe the following Signs were brought upon it; and partly to ſignifie, That Jeroboam would no more regard his words, than the Altar did; and yet they ſhould take effect. e Which being done above 300 years after this Prophecy; plainly ſhews the abſolute certainty of God's Providence, and Fore-knowledge, even in the moſt contingent things. For this was in it ſelf uncertain, and wholly depended upon Man's Will, both as to the having of a Child, and as to the giving it this Name. Therefore God can certainly, and effectually over-rule Man's Will which way he pleaſeth; or elſe it was poſſible, that this Prediction ſhould have been falſe; which is Blaſphemous to imagine. f Synecdochically, the Bones of the Prieſts, 2 King. 23. 15, 16. whereby the Altar ſhould be defiled.

3 And he gave a ſign the ſame day g, ſaying, This is the ſign which the LORD hath ſpoken: Behold, the altar ſhall be rent, and the aſhes that are upon it ſhall be poured out.

g i.e. He then wrought a Miracle, to aſſure them of the Truth of his Prophecy.

4 And it came to paſs when king Jeroboam heard the ſaying of the man of God, which had cried againſt the altar in Bethel, that he put forth his hand h from the altar i, ſaying, Lay hold on him. And his hand which he put forth againſt him, dried up k, ſo that he could not pull it in again to him.

b To point out the Man whom he would have the People lay hands on, and to ſtir them up to do ſo. i Which he was employed, in offering ſomething upon it. k Or, withered, the Muſcles and Sinews, the Inſtruments of Motion, were ſhrunk up. This God did, partly to chaſtiſe Jeroboam for uſing Violence to the Lord's Prophet; partly, to ſecure the Prophet againſt further Violence: and partly, that in this Example God might ſhew, how highly he reſents the Injuries done to his Miniſters, in, and for the faithful diſcharge of their Office.

5 The altar alſo was rent, and the aſhes poured out from the altar, according to the ſign which the man of God had given by the word of the LORD.

6 And the king anſwered l, and ſaid unto the man of God, Intreat now the face of the LORD thy God m, and pray for me, that my hand may be reſtored me again. And the man of God beſought † the LORD n, and the kings hand was reſtored again o, and became as it was before.

l i.e. Spoke; as that word is often uſed in both Teſtaments. m Who by his Zeal for thee, hath manifeſted himſelf to be thy God and Friend, in a ſingular manner; and therefore will hear thy Prayers for me, though he will not regard mine, becauſe I have forſaken him and his Worſhip. n To aſſure Jeroboam, that what he had ſaid, was not from ill-will to him, and that he heartily deſired his Reformation, not his Ruine. o Partly to aſſure him, that the ſtroke was from God: partly, becauſe he repented of that Violence which he intended againſt the Prophet, for which God inflicted that: and partly, that this Goodneſs of God to him, might have led him to Repentance; or, if he continued Impenitent, leave him without all excuſe.

7 And the king ſaid unto the man of God, Come home with me, and refreſh thy ſelf, and I will give thee a reward p.

p Horrid Stupidity! He deſires to requite the Inſtrument, but takes no notice of the chief Cauſe and Author of this great and wonderful Mercy, which was God.

8 And the man of God ſaid unto the king *, If thou will give me half thine houſe, I will not go in with thee, neither will I eat bread, nor drink water in this place:

* Num. 22. 18. & 24. 13.

9 For ſo was it charged me by the word of the LORD q, ſaying, Eat no bread, nor drink water, nor turn again by the ſame way that thou cameſt r.

q My rebuke of thy Diſhonour, is not from any contempt, or hatred of thy Perſon; but in obedience to the juſt Command of my God, who hath forbidden me all further Converſe or Communication with thee. r To wit, in that Place, or with that People. Whereby God declares, how deteſtable they were in God's Eyes; not becauſe their Idolatry was ſo bad as that of the Heathens, but becauſe they were vile Apoſtates from the True God, and embraced this Idol-worſhip, againſt the Light of their own Conſciences, meerly to comply with the King's Humour and Command: and becauſe their Vicinity and Relation to the Tribe of Judah, made this more dangerous, as to their infection by it. r That by thy avoiding the way that led thee to Bethel as execrable, although thou meeteſt by my ſpecial Command, thou mighteſt teach all others, how much they ſhould abhor that way, and all thoughts of going to that place, or to Jeruſalem, upon any trivial and unneceſſary occaſion.

10 So he went another way, and returned not by the way that he came to Bethel.

11 ¶ Now there dwelt an old prophet t in Bethel u, and his † ſons x came and told him all the works that the man of God had done that day in Bethel: the words which he had ſpoken unto the king, them they told alſo to their father.

t A Prophet of the Lord; one to whom, and by whom, God did ſometimes impart his Mind; as is manifeſt from ver. 20. 21. and one that had a Reſpect to the Lord's Holy Prophets, and gave Credit to their Predictions: all which the following Relation ſhews: but whether he was an holy and good Man, may juſtly be doubted, ſeeing all thoſe Qualifications might meet in a vicious Man, to, and by whom he may reveal ſome part of his Mind, as he did to Balaam Numb. 23, &c. and in ſuch, his other Qualities are ſometimes found; and we find him in a downright and premeditated Lye, and that without any great temptation to it, ver. 18. And although, an holy Prophet might poſſibly have continued in the Kingdom of Iſrael, he would never have gone from his own Habitation, to dwell at Bethel, the chief Seat of Idolatry, unleſs with deſign to preach againſt it: which it is evident he did not; his Sons ſeem to have been preſent at, and to have joyned with others in that Idolatrous worſhip, ver. 11. and that not without their Father's connivence. u For thither he came to dwell, probably expecting ſome great advantages from Jeroboam; but he came out of Samaria, 2 King. 23. 18. where he either was born, and had lived before. Or, his uſual dwelling was at Bethel, but had lately been at Samaria, and was now returned to Bethel. x Who probably were eye and ear-witneſſes of what had paſſed.

12 And their father said unto them, What way went he? for his sons had seen what way the man of God went, which came from Judah.

13 And he said unto his sons, Saddle me the ass. So they saddled him the ass, and he rode thereon:

14 And went after the man of God, and found him sitting under an oak y: and he said unto him, Art thou the man of God that camest from Judah? And he said, I am.

y Being faint and weary with his Journey, and possibly with the heat, which makes him chuse this shady place; and especially with hunger and thirst, ver. 9. And he might easily guess that this was the old Prophet, by his Age and Carriage, and, it may be, by his Prophetical Mantle, and by the Character which his Sons had given him.

15 Then he said unto him, Come home with me, and eat bread.

16 And he said, I † may not return with thee, nor go in with thee: neither will I eat bread, nor drink water with thee in this place z.

† Heb. cannot. Deut. 12. 16. & 17. 5. & 1 Cor. 10. 21.

z i.e. In Bethel, where thou deemest me to do it.

17 For † it was said to me by the word of the LORD, Thou shalt eat no bread, nor drink water there, nor turn again to go by the way that thou camest.

18 He said unto him, I am a prophet also as thou art, and an angel spake unto me by the word of the LORD, saying, Bring him back with thee into thine house, that he may eat bread, and drink water. But he lyed unto him a.

a Not with evil design against him, but out of curiosity, to know all the truth and circumstances from his own Mouth, and to express his kindness to him, and to relieve his pressing hunger; whereby possibly he thought to please God, and to compensate for his miscarriages. But his Sin was great; for he did not only tell a premeditated Lye, but also made God a Lyar, and to contradict himself, and all this without any pretence of necessity, or benefit to himself.

19 So he went back with him, and did eat bread in his house, and drank water.

20 ¶ And it came to pass, as they sat at the table b, that the word of the LORD came c unto the prophet that brought him back d:

b There the Prophet meets with a severe Judgment, where he was pleasing himself with this seasonable Refreshment. c By secret instinct into his Mind; as sometimes God spake to Moses and other Prophets when they were in company with others. d So he makes this Prophet publickly to call himself Lyar, and so pronounce a terrible Sentence against him, to whom he professed so much kindness. Indeed the Hebrew words are ambiguous, and by others rendred thus, to the Prophet whom he had brought back; which agrees very well with the Hebrew Phrase; and may seem to be the best Translation, by comparing ver. 23. where the very same Phrase is so rendred; and ver. 26. where this message is said to be spoken to him. But these Arguments are not cogent; nor that from ver. 23. because it is a common thing for the same Phrase in divers Verses, and sometimes in one and the same Verse, to be diversly used: nor that from ver. 27. for that may be rendred concerning him. And therefore our Translation is better, as is manifest from ver. 21.

21 And he cried e unto the man of God that came from Judah, saying, Thus saith the LORD, Forasmuch as thou hast disobeyed the mouth f of the LORD, and hast not kept the commandment which the LORD thy God commanded thee, e With a loud Voice, the effect of his Passion, both for his own guilt and shame, and for the Prophets approaching misery, and his unhappy influence both in procuring and in denouncing of it. f i.e. The word of command coming out of his mouth. A Metonymy of the Cause for the Effect.

22 But camest back, and hath eaten bread, and drunk water in the place, of the which the LORD did say to thee, Eat no bread, and drink no water; thy carcase shall not come unto the sepulchre of thy fathers g.

g i.e. Thou shalt not die a natural, but a violent death; and that in this Journey, before thou returnest to thy native habitation; and thy Carcase shall not be buried in the proper Sepulchre; which was effeemed a kind of Curse, and a note of Infamy; as the contrary was reckoned an honour and blessing. See chap. 14. 13. Isa. 14. 19, 20. Jer. 22. 19. and 26. 23.

23 ¶ And it came to pass, after he had eaten bread, and after he had drunk, that he saddled for him the ass, to wit, for the prophet whom he had brought back.

∴ That he might sooner come to his home, and, if possible, escape the Judgment threatned. But, it is observable, he doth not accompany him; his guilty Conscience making him to expect and fear to be involved in the same Judgment with him.

24 And when he was gone, a * lion met him h by the way, and slew him i: and his carcase was cast in the way k, and the ass stood by it: the lion also stood by the carcase l.

* Chap. 20. 36.

h For there were many Lions in Judea, and this was brought hither by God's special Providence. i Why doth God punish a good Man so severely for so small an offence? Ans. First, his Sin was not small, for it was a gross Disobedience to a positive Command. Obj. But he supposed, and was told by another Prophet, that God had repealed his Command, and so was deceived. Ans. 1. He had no sufficient difcharge from the former Command; for he neither was assured that the old Man was a Prophet, nor that the message he delivered was from God; but had reason to suspect the contrary, or at least to enquire the mind of God in this doubtful Point, which he grossly neglected to do, and willingly believed the message, because it suited with his own inclination and necessity. Add to this, that he being a Prophet was obliged to the greatest exactness in obedience to all God's Precepts; and therefore this Sin was much greater in him than in another, because hereby God was dishonoured, and the Authority and Success of his message blasted, and Jeroboam and the Idolatrous Israelites hardened in their wicked Courses; for the prevention whereof it was necessary that God should exercise Severity towards him. Ans. Secondly, As his Sin was not so small, so his punishment was not so great, as may be imagined. For, as to his outward Man, his bodily death (which was a Debt that he owed to God and Nature) in this way was not so painful and terrible as many other kinds of death; and as to his Soul, God, by giving him a gracious Admonition both of his Sin and Danger, ver. 21, 22. awakened him to true Repentance, which doubtless he practised, and so was prepared for his death, and by this sudden death freed from all the miseries of an evil Time and the world, and speedily let into Eternal Glory. Ans. Thirdly, As the World and all Men is to be made for God's Glory, and all their Lives and Deaths ought to be laid out in his Service; so it cannot seem strange nor harsh if God should bring his deserved death upon him in this manner, for the accomplishment of his own Glorious Designs, as to vindicate his own Honour and Justice from the imputation of Partiality; to assure the Truth of his Predictions, and thereby provoke Jeroboam and his Idolatrous Followers to Repentance; to vindicate himself in all his dreadful Judgments which he intended to inflict upon Jeroboam's House, and the whole Kingdom of Israel, for their curfed Apostacy; and to warn all succeeding Sinners not rashly to venture upon small Sins, and especially to take heed of greater Sins, for which they might expect far forer punishments. k His Life and Soul being gone, his dead Body falls to the Ground, and lies there. l See on ver. 28.

25 And behold, men passed by, and saw the carcase cast in the way, and the lion standing by the carcase: and they came and told it in the city where the old prophet dwelt.

26 And when the prophet that brought him back from the way, heard thereof, he said, It is the man of God, who was disobedient unto the word of the LORD: therefore the LORD hath delivered him unto the lion, which hath † torn him, and slain him, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake unto him m.

m Or rather, concerning him: for so the Particle Lamed is often used, as Gen. 20. 13. Psal. 2. 8. and 91. 11. Compare with Matth. 4. 6. See the Notes on ver. 20.

27 And he spake to his sons, saying, Saddle me the ass n. And they saddled him.

n Being secure as to himself, because so many others had been there without any harm; and because he perceived the Prophet's Death was a Judgment of God, and that for special Reasons.

28 And he went and found his carcase cast in the way, and the ass, and the lion standing by the carcase: the lion had not eaten the carcase, nor † torn the ass.

o Here was a concurrence of Miracles: That the Ass did not run away from the Lion, according to his nature and custom, but boldly stood still, as referring himself for the carrying of the Prophet to his Burial; that the Lion did not devour its prey, as the manner is, nor yet go away when he had done his work which he was sent for, but stood still, partly, to preserve the Carcase of the Prophet from other wild Beasts or Fowls, which would quickly have eaten it; partly, as an evidence that the Prophet's Death was not casual, nor the effect of a Lions hungry and ravenous Disposition, but of God's singular and just Judgment; and consequently, that his Prediction was Divine, and should be infallibly accomplished in its proper time; and partly, as a token of God's Favour to the deceased Prophet, of whose very Carcase he took such special Care: thereby signifying, that although for wise and just Reasons he thought fit to take away his Life, yet his Remains were precious to him, and his Soul did live in his sight.

29 And the prophet took up the carcase of the man of God, and laid it upon the ass, and brought it back: and the old prophet came to the city, to mourn, and to bury him.

30 And he laid his carcase in his own grave p, and they q mourned over him, saying, Alas my brother r.

p So that threatning, ver. 22. was fulfilled; and withal, the memory of his Prophecy was revived and preserved among them, and his very Carcase reffing there, might be a witness of their Madness and desperate Wickedness, in continuing in their abominable Idolatry, after such an assurance of the dreadful effects of it. q Heedful Prophet and his Sons, and others, whom common humanity taught to lament the untimely death of so worthy a Person. r Which was an usual form of expression in Funeral-Lamentations. See Jer. 22. 18.

31 And it came to pass after he had buried him, that he spake to his sons, saying, When I am dead, then bury me in the sepulchre wherein the man of God is buried; * lay my bones beside his bones s.

* 2 Kings 23. 18.

s That I may be secured from that Judgment threatned ver. 2.

32 For 32 For the saying which he cried by the word of the LORD, against the altar in Bethel, and against all the houses of the high places, which are in the cities of * Samaria t, shall surely come to pass.

* See Chap. 13. 32.

t i.e. Of the Kingdom of Samaria; as it was called, though not when this Fact was done, yet before these Books were written. Samaria was properly the name of one City, 1 Kings 20. 1. but from hence the whole Kingdom of Israel was so called, Jer. 31. 5. Hos. 7. 1. and 8. 5. and Amos 3. 9. and the King of Israel is called the King of Samaria, 2 Kings. 1. 3. Hos. 10. 7. and (as here) we read of the cities of Samaria, Ezra 4. 10.

33 ¶ After this thing, * Jeroboam returned not from his evil way, but † made again of the lowest of the people priests x of the high places: whosoever would y, he † consecrated him z, and he became one of the priests of the high places.

x i.e. After all these things: the Singular Number put for the Plural; after so many, and evident, and successive Miracles. Which is noted to aggravate his Infidelity and Apostacy. z He abared not so much as a circumstance in his Idolatrous Worship. y Without any respect to Tribe or Family, or integrity of Body, or Mind, or Life; all which were to be regarded in the Priesthood. z Heb. he filled his hand. Of which Phrase see Exod. 28. 41. and 29. 9. 33.

34 And this thing became sin ∴ unto the house of Jeroboam, even to cut it off, and to destroy it from off the face of the earth.

∴ Either, an occasion of sin, and means of hardening all his Posterity in their Idolatry: or, a punishment, for so the word sin is often used. This his obstinate continuance in his Idolatry, after such warnings was the utter ruin of all his Family.

CHAP. XIV.

Jeroboam sendeth his Wife disguised, and with Presents to the Prophet Ahijah at Shiloh, to enquire concerning his Son, who was Sick, 1—4. He, forewarned by God, denounceth his Ruin because of Idolatry: And the Death of his Child: And the Destruction of Israel, 5,—16. His Son dieth and is buried: And he likewise: Nadab his Son succeedeth, 17,—20. Rehoboam and Judah sin against the Lord, 21,—24. Shishak King of Egypt spoileth Jerusalem, 25,——28. He dieth: and Abijam his Son succeedeth, 29,——31.

AT that time a Abijah the son of Jeroboam fell sick b.

a Either, First, Presently after the things described in the former Chapter: which, though related in the beginning of his Reign, yet might be done a good while after it, and so Abijah the Prophet might be very old, as he is described to be, v. 4. Or, Secondly, many Years after it, i.e. Whilst Jeroboam persisted in his former course. For this Phrase is oft used indefinitely, and without respect to the time last mentioned before it, as Dan. 12. 1. Matth. 4. 1. b By the stroke of God to punish Jeroboam's Rebellion against God.

2 And Jeroboam said to his wife c, Arise, I pray thee, and disguise thy self d, that thou be not known to be the wife of Jeroboam e, and get thee to Shiloh: Behold, there is Ahijah the prophet, which told me that * I should be king over this people.

* Chap. 11. 31.

c Partly, because he would trust none else with this secret; partly, because she might, without suspicion enquire concerning her own Child; and partly, because she would enquire most exactly, and diligently, and faithfully acquaint him with the whole truth. d Change thy habit, and voice, and go like a private and obscure Person. e This caution proceeded: First, From the pride of his heart, which made him loth to confess his folly in worshipping such ignorant and helpless Idols, and to give Glory to the God whom he had forsaken. Secondly, From jealousie and suspicion, lest the Prophet knowing this, should either give her no Answer, or make it worse than indeed it was. Thirdly, From Policy, lest his People should by his example be drawn to forsake the senseless Calves, and to return to the God of Judah, whom they had rashly forsaken.

4 And Jeroboam's wife did so, and arose, and went to Shiloh, and came to the house of Ahijah: but Ahijah could not see, for his eyes † were set h by reason of his age.

h Or, stood still, or were grown stiff; the Nerves, by which the Eyes and Eye-lids are moved, being contracted and withered.

5 ¶ And the LORD said unto Ahijah, Behold, the wife of Jeroboam cometh to ask a thing of thee for her son, for he is sick: thus and thus shalt thou say unto her: for it shall be, when she cometh in, that she shall feign her self to be another woman.

† Heb. Lo.

6 And it was so, when Ahijah heard the sound of her feet, as she came in at the door, that he said, Come in, thou wife of Jeroboam i, why feignest thou thy self to be another? for I am sent to thee with † heavy tidings.

i By which discovery he both reproves their folly, who thought to conceal themselves or their designs from that God from whom they expected and desired the discovery of the most secret things; and withal gives her assurance of the truth and certainty of that Message which he was to deliver.

7 Go, tell Jeroboam, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel, Forasmuch as I exalted thee from among the people, and made thee prince over my people k Israel:

k For so they were when Jeroboam was first set over them.

8 And rent the kingdom away from the house of David, and gave it thee: and yet thou hast not been as my servant David l, who kept my commandments, and who followed me with all his heart, to do that only which was right in mine eyes, l Who though he fell into some sins, yet, first, he constantly persevered in the True Worship of God; from which thou are revolted. Secondly, He heartily repented of, and turned from all his sins whereas thou are obstinate and incorrigible.

9 But hast done evil above all that were before thee m: for thou hast gone and made thee other gods, and molten images n, to provoke me to anger o, and hast cast me behind thy back p:

m Above all the former Kings of my People, as Saul, and Solomon, and Rehoboam. n Or, other Gods, to wit, (for so and oft signifies among the Hebrews, as hath been formerly noted) molten images, namely, the Golden Calves: which he calls other gods, not as if the Israelites esteemed the Calves made of their own Gold, to be gods indeed, which it is incredible should find belief with any man in his wits, especially with the whole Body of the Israelites, who knew that the Ark and Cherubims, though made by Gods special direction, were not Gods, but only Pledges of God's Presence, &c. Nor as if they thought them to be other gods in a strict and proper sense; for it is apparent that they still pretended to Worship the God of their Fathers, as the Jews at Jerusalem did, though in a differing manner; but only because God rejected their whole Worship, and, howsoever they called or accounted it, he reckoned it a manifest defection from him, and a betaking of themselves to other gods, or devils, as they are called, 2 Chron. 11. 15. by whose instigation they were led to such Idolatrous practices, and whom alone they served and worthipped therein, whatsoever pretences they had to the contrary. o i.e. Whereby thou didst provoke me. For otherwise this was not Jeroboam's design in it, but only to establish himself in the Throne. p Despised, and disregarded, and forsaken me, and my Commands, and my Worship, as we do things which we cast behind our backs.

10 Therefore behold, I * will bring evil upon the house of Jeroboam, and will cut off from Jeroboam † him that pisseth against the wall q, and him that is † shut up and left r in Israel, and will take away the remnant of the house of Jeroboam, as a man taketh away dung s, till it be all gone.

* Chap. 15. 29.

q Either, to much as a Dog: or, any male Children. Of which Phrase see the Notes on 1 Sam. 25. 22. r Those who had escaped the fury of their Enemies invading them, either because they were shut up in Caves, or Castles, or strong Towns. or, because they were left, over-looked or neglected by them, or spared as poor, impotent, helpless Creatures. But now, saith he, They shall be all searched out, and brought to destruction. See more on Deut. 32. 36. s Which they remove, as a loathsom thing, out of their Houses, and that throughly and universally.

11 Him that dieth of Jeroboam in the city, shall the dogs eat: and him that dieth in the field, shall the fowls of the air eat t: for the LORD hath spoken it.

t So both sorts shall die unburied.

12 Arise thou therefore, get thee to thine own house; and when thy feet enter into the city u, the child shall die.

u Presently upon thy entrance into the City; when thou are gone but a little way in it, even as far as to the threshold of the Kings door, v. 17. which possibly was near the Gates of the City. And by the event of this branch, judge of the Truth of the rest of my Prophecy.

13 And all Israel shall mourn for him x, and bury him; for he only of Jeroboam shall come to the grave y, because in him * there is found some good thing toward the LORD God of Israel z, in the house of Jeroboam a.

* 2 Chron. 12. 12. and 19. 3.

x Either, First, For the loss of so worthy and hopeful a Person. Or, Secondly, For the sad Calamities which should follow his death, which possibly his moderation, and wisdom, and vertue, might have prevented, whereof his death was a certain prefage and evidence. So they should mourn, not simply for him, but for their own loss in him. y Shall have the honour of Burial denied to the rest, v. 11. z Some Pious inclinations and intentions of taking away the Calves, or of permitting or obliging his People to go up to Jerusalem to Worship, if God gave him Life and Authority to do it, and of trusting God with his Kingdom in that case. a Which is added for his greater commendation; he was good in the midst of so many temptations and wicked examples; a good branch of a bad stock.

14 Moreover, the LORD shall raise him up a king b over Israel, who shall cut off the house of Jeroboam that day c: but what is it even now.

b Baasha, chap. 15. 28. c When he is to raised; in the very beginning of his Reign, chap. 15. 25. d But what do I say, he shall raise, as it were a thing to be done at a great distance of time; he hath already raised him in some sort: the man is now in being of nor nor in power, who shall do this: this judgment shall be shortly executed.

15 For the LORD shall smite Israel e as a reed
* 2 Kings 17. 23. is shaken in the water f, and he shall * root up Israel out of this good land, which he gave to their fathers, and shall scatter them beyond the river g, because they have made their groves h, provoking the LORD to anger.

c Because they obeyed Jeroboam's wicked command of Worshipping the Calves, and that willingly, Hos. 5. 11. f Easily and variously, hither and thither, with every wind. So shall the Kingdom and People of Israel be always in an unquiet and unsettled posture, tossed to and fro by Foreign Invasions and Civil Wars: by opposite Kings and Factions, and by the differions of the People. See 2 Kings 17. 18. g To wit, Euphrates, oft so called by way of eminency, as Gen. 15. 18. and 31. 21. 1 Kings 4. 21, 24. This was accomplished in part, 2 Kings 15. 29. and more fully, 2 Kings 17. 6. h For the Worship of their Idols, Exod. 34. 13 Deut 16. 21. God having before condemned the making and worshipping of the Calves, by which they designed or pretended to Worship the True God; he now takes notice that they were not contented with the Calves, but (as it is the nature of Idolatry, and all sin, to proceed from evil to worse) were many of them fallen into another and a worse kind of Idolatry, even their worship of the Heathenish Baals, which they commonly exercised in Groves. See on 1 Kings 18. 19.

16 And he shall give Israel up, because of the sins of Jeroboam, who did sin, and who made Israel to sin i.

i To wit, by his invention, and making of the occasion of their sin, the Calves; by his example by encouraging those and only those that worshipped the Calves; and by his Authority requiring and compelling them to do it. This is mentioned as a monstrous aggravation of his wickedness, that he was not content with his own sin, but was the great Author and chief cause of drawing others into sin, and of corrupting and undoing the whole Kingdom: which therefore God would never forgive him, nor forget him, but upon all occasions mentions him with this eternal brand of infamy upon him.

17 ¶ And Jeroboams wife arose, and departed, and came to Tirzah k: and when she came to the threshold of the door l, the child died.

k An Ancient and Royal City, Jos. 12. 24. in a pleasant place, Cant. 6. 4. where the Kings of Israel had a Palace, Chap. 15. 33. and 16. 6, 8, 23. 24. whether Jeroboam was now removed from Shechem, either for his pleasure, or for his Sons recovery, by the Inhabitants of the place. l To wit, of the King's House, which probably was there, or by the Wall of the City, and near the Gate, which was the place of Judicature, See 2. 12.

18 And they buried him, and all Israel mourned for him, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake by the hand of his servant Ahijah the prophet.

19 And the rest of the acts of Jeroboam, how he warred, and how he reigned, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel m.

m Heb. in the book of the words or things of the days, &c. By which you are not to understand that Canonical Book of the Chronicles, for that was written long after this Book; but a Book of Civil Records, the Annals, wherein all remarkable passages were Recorded by the King's Command from day to day; out of which the Sacred Penman by the direction of God's Spirit, took out those passages which were most considerable and useful for God's Honour, and Mens Edification.

20 And the days which Jeroboam reigned, were † Heb. lay down. two and twenty years n: and he † slept with his fathers o, and Nadab his son reigned in his stead.

n So he lived till Asa's second year, Chap. 15. 25. o Either, First, He was buried with his Ancestors. But their Sepulchre seems to be too mean and improper for a great King; and Kings use to be Buried in peculiar Sepulchres. Or, Secondly, He died, as his Fathers did.

21 ¶ And Rehoboam the son of Solomon reigned
* 2 Chron. 12. 13. in Judah: * Rehoboam was forty and one years old p when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD did chuse out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his Name there: and his mothers name was Naamah, an Ammonitess q.

p Therefore he was born a year before Solomon was King, as appears from 1 Kings 11. 42. This is noted as an aggravation of Rehoboam's folly, that he was old enough to have been wiser. q A People cursed by God, and shut out of the Congregation of his People for ever, Deut. 23. 3. Neh. 13. 1. This is observed as one cause both of God's displeasure in punishing Solomon with such a Son, and of Rehoboam's Apostacy after his three first years, 2 Chron. 11. 17.

22 And Judah did evil r in the sight of the LORD, and they provoked him to jealousie with their sins which they had committed, above all that their fathers had done.

r After a little time. 2 Chron. 11. 17.

23 For they also s built them high places t, and † Or, standing images, images, and groves u on every high hill, and under or, flatters. every green tree x.

s They followed the example of the Israelites, although they were better instructed, and had the Temple in their Kingdom, and liberty of access to it, which was denied to the Israelites: and the priviledge of Worshipping God in his own way, and the Counsels, and Sermons, and Examples of the Priests and Levites, to teach them, and establish them, and the dreadful example of Israel's horrid Apostacy, to caution and terrific them. t Which was unlawful, and, now especially when the Temple was Built, and ready to receive them; unnecessary, and therefore expressed a greater contempt of God and his express Command to the contrary. u Not only after the manner of the Heathens and Israelites, but against a direct and particular prohibition. x The People were universally corrupted: which is a prodigious, all things considered, and is a clear evidence of the greatness and depth of the Original corruption of Man's Nature, which without Gods Grace is ready to break forth into all sorts of wickedness.

24 And there were also Sodomites y in the land, and they did according to all the abominations of the nations which the LORD cast out before the children of Israel.

y i. e. Males, who prostituted their Bodies to the filthy Lusts of others: of whom see on Deut. 23. 17. who also did this in the worship, and to the honour of their Idols, as also the Women did, Numb 25. 1, 2. And this might be one occasion of so great a spreading of Idolatry among the Lustful Israelites. And on the other side, God doth frequently punish Worship with Corporal uncleanness, Rom. 1. 21, 28. See 1 Kings 15. 12. and 22. 46. 2 Kings 23. 7.

25 ¶ And it came to pass in the fifth year of king Rehoboam z, that Shishak king of Egypt a came up against Jerusalem b.

z Presently after his and his Peoples Apostacy, which was not till his fourth year: When the Apostatical Israelites enjoyed Peace and some kind of Prosperity, at first, for many Years together: of which difference two reasons may be given: First, That Judah's sins were committed against clearer Light, and more powerful means and remedies of all sorts, and therefore deserved more severe and speedy Judgment. Secondly, That God did covered more Love to Judah in chastizing them speedily, that so they might be humbled, and reformed, and so graciously preserved, as it happened; and more anger against Israel, that he spared them, and by their impunity hardned and ripened them to that total destruction which he intended to bring upon them. a Of whom see 1 Kings 11. 40. and 2 Chron. 12. 2, &c. where this History is more fully described. He is thought by many to be Solomon's Brother-in-law. But how little such Relations signifie among Kings, when their interest is concerned, all Histories witness. Besides Rehoboam was not Solomon's Son by Pharaoh's Daughter, and so the relation was in a manner extinct. b Either, From ambition and a desire to enlarge his Empire: or, from jealousie of Rehoboam's growing-greatness: Of which see 2 Chron. 11. or, by Jeroboam's instigation: or, from a covetous desire of possessing their great Treasures which David and Solomon had left: and, above all, by God's Providence, disposing his heart to this expedition for Rehoboam's punishment.

26 And he took away the treasures c of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the kings house, he even took away all: and he took away all the shields of gold * which Solomon had made. * Chap. 14. 27.

c It is implied, that first he took the City: which may seem to be strange, considering the great strength of that City, and how much time it took Nebuchadnezzar and Titus to take it. But, First, it might cost Shishak also some time, and a long Siege e're he took it, though that be not here related. Secondly, It is probable that David and Solomon in their building and altering of this City, had more respect to State and Magnificence, than to its defence, as having no great cause to fear the invasion of any Enemies, and being too secure in reference to their Posterity, because of God's Promise of the Kingdom to be continued to them and to their seed for ever, and it is probable and certain, that after the division between Judah and Israel, the Kings of Judah did add very much to the Fortifications of this City.

27 And king Rehoboam made in their stead brazen shields, and committed them unto the hands of the chief of the † guard d, which kept the door of the kings house. † Heb. runners.

d Whereas the Golden Shields, as being more precious, were kept in a certain place.

28 And it was so, when the king went into the house of the LORD e, that the guard bare them, and brought them back into the guard-chamber.

e By which it seems the affliction had done him some good, and brought him back to the Worship of God, which he had forsaken, Chap. 12. 1.

29 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Rehoboam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah f.

f Such a Book of Chronicles as that mentioned above, ver. 15.

30 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam g all their days.

g Not an Invasive War with Potent Armies, which was forbidden, Chap. 12. 12. and not revived till Abijam's Reign, 2 Chron. 13. but a defensive War from those Hostilities which by small Parties and Skirmishes they did to one another.

h This is repeated as a thing very observable. See above, ver. 21.

CHAP.

CHAP. XV.

Abijam followeth his Father's Sins: God however keepeth promise: He dieth, and Asa his Son succeedeth him, 1——8. His good Reign, 9——15. Baasha marcheth against him: he maketh a League with Benhadad, 16——22. He dieth, and Jehoshaphat succeedeth him, 23, 24. Nadab's wicked Reign: Baasha slayeth him: destroyeth his Father's House: and succeeds him: His wicked Reign, 25——34.

NOw in the eighteenth year of king * Jeroboam a the son of Nebat, reigned Abijam over Judah.

* 2 Chr. 13. 1. a Obj. How can this be, when he Reigned 3 Years, ver. 2. and Asa, his Successor, began his Reign in the twentieth Year of Jeroboam, v. 9? Answ. Parts of Years are commonly called and accounted Years both in the Old and New Testament, and in Prophane Writers. So his Reign began with Jeroboam's 18th Year, and continued his whole 19th Year, and ended within his 20th Year, in which also Asa's Reign began. And thus one and the same Year may well be, as it frequently is, attributed to two several Persons.

2 Three years b reigned he in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Maachah the daughter of Abishalom c.

b See the last Note, on ver. 1. c Or, of Absalom, as he is called 2 Chron. 11. 21. And because he is here mentioned as a known Person, without any addition of his Kindred or Quality, some conceive that this was Absalom's Daughter, called properly Tamar, 2 Sam. 14. 27. and from her Royal Grandmother, 2 Sam. 3. 3. Maachah; and that she is called Michajah (which differs not much from Maachah) the Daughter of Uriel, 2 Chr. 13. 2. because she was first Married to Uriel, as Josephus affirms, Antiq. 8. 3. and afterwards to Rehoboam. Others think this was another Person, and that both the and her Father had each of them several Names, which was not unusual among the Hebrews.

3 And he walked in all the sins of his father d, which he had done before him: and his * heart was not perfect with the LORD his God, as the heart of David his father.

* Chap. 11. 4.

d Which his Father lived in, Either, First, Before his Humiliation. Or rather, Secondly, after his Deliverance from Shishak, when, tho he did not openly renounce the Worship of God, he seems to have relapsed into his former Sins; which otherwise would not have been remembered against him: as David's Name and Memory is never loaded with the shame of his Sins, because he truly repented of them.

4 Nevertheless, for Davids sake did the LORD his God give him a ‖ lamp e in Jerusalem, to set up his son after him, and to establish Jerusalem f:

‖ Or, candle.

e i. e. A Son and Successor to perpetuate his Name and Memory, which otherwise had gone into obscurity. The same Phrase is used above, ch. 11. 36. 2 King. 8. 19. 2 Chr. 21. 7. f i. e. That he might maintain that City, and Temple, and Worship, as a Witness for God, in the World, against the Israelites and Heathen World, who should have enquired after it, and embraced the True Religion there established and set up, as a Beacon upon an high Hill, that all Men might take notice of it.

5 Because David did that which was right in the eyes of the LORD, and turned not aside from any thing that he commanded him all the days of his life, * save onely in the matter of Uriah the Hittite g.

* Chap. 22. 43. 2 Kings 12. 3.

g Quest. How is this true, seeing David sinned in the matter of Nabal, 1 Sam. 25. and Ackish, chap. 27. and Bathsheba, and his Indulgence to his Children, Amnon and Absalom, and in the numbring of the People? Ans. This and the like Phrases are not to be understood as exclusive of every sinful Action, but onely of a sinful course or state, or of an habitual and continued Apostasie from God, or from his Ways, as the very Phrase of turning aside from God, or from his Commands, doth confessedly imply, as appears from Exod. 32. 8. Deut. 9. 12, 16. 1 Sam. 8. 3. 2 Sam. 22. 23. Psal. 78. 57. Hos. 4. 18. 2 Tim. 1. 6. and 5. 15, &c. And thus it is most true. For David's other Sins were either sudden and transient Acts, proceeding from Humane Infirmity, and extraordinary Temptations, and soon repented of and blotted out, as in the cases of Nabal and Ackish; or, miftakes of his Judgment, which was not fully convinced of the sinfulness of such Actions, as in the other Cases alledged: whereas that which concerned Uriah's Wife was a designed and studied Sin, long continued in, defended with a Succession of other Sins, presumptuous, and scandalous to his Government, and to the True Religion, which he so eminently professed.

6 And there was war between Rehoboam and Jeroboam h all the days of his life.

h Which was faid, chap. 14. 30. and may be here repeated to signifie the Cause and Original of the War between Abijam and Jeroboam, which is implied here, and particularly described, 2 Chron. 13. Abijam continued the War which Rehoboam had begun, and pushed it on to a decisive Battel. But the place may be thus rendred, Yet there was War, &c. i. e. Although God was pleased to shew so much respect to David, as for his sake to continue the Succession to the Kingdom in his Posterity, yet he thought fit to manifest his Displeasure against David's Successors for their Sins, and to mix their Honour and Happiness with Wars and Troubles.

7 Now the rest of the acts of Abijam, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah i? And there was war between Abijam and Jeroboam.

i In their Annals; whence they were long after this time Translated into the Sacred Book of Chronicles. See above on chap. 14. 19.

8 And Abijam slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David: and Asa * his son reigned in his stead.

* Chr. 14. 1.

9 ¶ And in the twentieth year of Jeroboam k king of Israel, reigned Asa over Judah.

k In or towards the end of the Year. See above, ver. 1.

10 And forty and one years reigned he in Jerusalem: and his ‖ mothers l name was Maachah, the daughter of Abishalom.

‖ That is, grandmother.

l i. e. His Grand-Mothers, as appears from ver. 2. who is called his Mother, as David is called Abijam's Father, v. 3. and this Asa's Father, v. 11. And so the names of Father, and Mother, and Sons, and Daughters, are oft taken, both in Sacred and Prophane Authors, for Grand-Parents and Grand-Children. And his Grand-Mother's Name may be here mentioned, rather than his Mothers, because his Mother was either an obscure Person, or was long since dead, or indisposed, or unwilling to take care of the Education of her Son, and so he was Educated by the Grand-mother, who, though she did poison his Father Abijam with her Idolatrous Principles, ver. 12. yet could not infect Asa, nor withhold him from professing his good purposes of Reforming Religion. Which is here remembred to his praise.

11 And Asa did that which was right in the eyes of the LORD m, as did David his father.

m As to the Governments of his Kingdom, and Life, and the Reformation, and Establishment of God's Worship.

12 And he took away the Sodomites n out of the land, and removed all the idols that his fathers had made.

n Of whom see chap. 14. 24. not all of them, but those whom he could find out; but some escaped his observation and censure, as appears from chap. 22. 46.

13 And also * Maachah his mother, even her he re- * 2 Chr. moved from being queen o, because she had made † an idol p in a grove, and Asa † destroyed her idol, and burnt it by the brook Kidron q.

o i. e. He took from her either the Name and Authority of Queen-Regent, which she, having been Rehoboam's Wife, and Abijam's Mother, took to her self during Asa's Minority, and abused to the Patronage of Idolatry; or, the Dignity of the Queen-Mother, and those Guards or other Ensigns of Honor, or Instruments of Power, which, as such, she had enjoyed and misemployed. Otherwise, he removed her from the Queen, i. e. from his Wife, that she might not be infected by her, and afterwards infect his Children: which was a prudent and necessary care, for the prevention of so great and publick a Mischief. p Heb. a terror, or horror, i. e. an horrible Idol; which it may be he so called, either, because all Idols, though for a season they please, yet in the end will bring dreadful effects upon their Worshippers: or, because this was an Idol of a more horrible or terrible Shape, more abominable than ordinary, and not to be seen without Horror: whether it was that filthy Idol, called Priapus, which was commonly placed in Groves or Gardens; or, Pan, or some other Heathen God, to whose Service the in a special manner devoted her self. q That when it was burnt to Powder, it might be thrown into the Water, and be unfit for any Use. See Exod. 32. 20. Deut. 12. 3.

14 But the high places were not removed r: nevertheless, Asa his heart was perfect with the LORD s all his days.

r Obj. He did take these away, 2 Chron. 14. 3. Answ. He took away those which were devoted to the Worship of Idols, as is there said, he took away the altars of the strange gods, and the high places, to wit, where they were worshipped: but as for those High Places where the True God was Worshipped, he did not take them away; partly, because he thought there was no great Evil in them, because they had been used by David and Solomon, and other Good and Wise Men: and because the True God was there worshipped, and that in the manner, though not in the place, which God had appointed: and partly, because he thought the removal of them might do much more hurt than their continuance, to wit, by occasioning the total neglect of God's Worship by many of the People, who either could not, or through want of competent Faith and Zeal would not go up to Jerusalem to Worship, now especially, when the Israelites, their near Neighbours, formerly their Friends, were become their Enemies, and watched all opportunities to invade or molest them, which they concluded they would do when all their Males were gone up to Jerusalem; and partly, because the People were so obstinately bent towards them, that it was, or at least, seemed to him, impossible to remove them without great Offence, or such Commotions as were highly dangerous to that Church and State. f i. e. He did sincerely and constantly adhere to the Worship and Service of God. Though he could not hinder the People from using the High Places, yet he did intirely Devote himself to the Worship of God in the manner and place prescribed by God.

15 And he brought in the † things which his father † Heb. his had dedicated t, and the things which himself had dedi- ly. cated, into the house of the LORD, silver, and gold, and vessels.

t Abijam, to wit, when he was in distress, and going to fight with Jeroboam, 2 Chron. 13. though afterwards he did not perform his Vows, nor bring in what he had Devoted; whether because he was prevented by Death, or because he afterwards relapsed to Idolatry, as may seem probable from the 12th Verse of this Chapter.

16 ¶ And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days u.

u So long as they two Lived and Reigned together. Which is not to be understood, as if there were a solemn and declared War continuing all that time (for Asa was quiet in a great measure for his first ten years, 2 Chr. 14. 1. till the Israelites had recovered themselves from that dreadful Blow given them by Abijam, 2 Chron. 13. and Baasha began to Reign in Asa's third Year) but so that the e were many private and particular Hostilities practised among them; in which sense the same Phrase is used, chap. 14. 30.

17 And * Baasha king of Israel went up against Ju- * 2 Chr. dah x, and built y Ramah z, that he might not suffer any 16. 1. to go out or come in to Asa king of Judah a.

x Perceiving Asa's great Success; of which see 2 Chron. 14. and 15. and the defection of many of his own Subjects to him upon that occasion, 2 Chron. 15. 9. he began to bestir himself, and commenceth a War against him. y i. e. Repaired and fortified. † A City of Benjamin; which either belonged to the Kingdom of Israel, from the Division (as some other places of that Tribe are suppos'd to have done; of which see on 1 King. 11. 13.) or belonged to Judah, but was now Invaded and taken by Baasha, and Fortified. a Therefore he chose this place, because it was in the way from his Kingdom to Jerusalem, and, as some add, in, or near the straits of the Mountains, where they could eafily discover and hinder all Passengers that way.

18 Then Asa took all the silver, and the gold that were left b in the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the kings house, and deliver'd them into the hand of his servants: and king Asa sent them to * 2 Chr. 16. 2. * Benhadad c the son of Tabrimon, the son of Hezion king of Syria, that dwelt at Damascus, saying,

19 There is a league between me and thee, and between my father and thy father d: behold, I have sent unto thee a present of silver and gold: come, and break thy † Heb. go up. league with Baasha king of Israel, that he may † depart from me e.

d Whereby it appears, that albeit he was an Adversary to Israel all Solomon's days, chap. 11. 25. yet after the Division of the Kingdoms of Israel and Judah, he was in League with both of them, either, because his Designs lay upon the enlargement of his Empire other ways; or rather, because he thought it his Wisdom and Interest to leave them to themselves to undo one another by their intestine Wars, and so to prepare the way to his Conquest of both; whereas his invading of either of them might have made up the Breach, and forced them to unite against their common Enemy. And therefore as soon as he was free from this fear, and one of them needed and earnestly desired his help against the other, he gladly embraced the opportunity. e That being called to defend himself, he may be forced to depart from my Territories.

20 So Ben-hadad hearkned unto king Asa, and sent the captains of the hosts which he had, against the cities of Israel, and smote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-beth-maachah, and all Cinneroth f, with all the land of Naphtali.

f The Northern parts of Baasha's Kingdom, which were neareſt to his own Kingdom of Damascus, and moſt remote from thoſe parts where Baasha was now employed, which were in the moſt Southern parts of his Dominions.

21 And it came to pass, when Baasha heard thereof, that he left off building of Ramah, and dwelt in Tirzah g.

g Now the Royal City of Israel. See chap. 14. 17. There he abode to defend his own Kingdoms, and durſt not return to oppoſe Asa, leſt the Syrian King ſhould make a ſecond and worſe Invaſion. So Asa met with Succeſs in his Ungodly Courſe, as on the other ſide good Men ſometimes meet with Diſappointment in a good Cauſe and Courſe. So there is no judging of Cauſes by Events.

22 Then king Asa made a proclamation throughout † Heb. free. all Judah, (none was † exempted ∴) and they took away the ſtones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baasha had builded: and king Asa built with them Geba of Benjamin, and Mizpah h.

∴ All ſorts of Perſons were obliged to come, except thoſe who were diſenabled by Age, or Infirmity, or Abſence, or by the publick Service of the King and Kingdom in other places. h i.e. Repaired and ſtrengthened them, for they were built before. See Jer. 41. 9. Queſt. Why did he not rather perfect the Fortifications of Ramah which Baasha had begun? Anſ. Becauſe Baasha might have returned and recovered it afterwards; and he thought it moſt convenient that there ſhould be no City nor Fort in that place.

23 The reſt of all the acts of Asa, and all his might, and all that he did, and the cities which he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah? Nevertheleſs i, in the time of his old age he was diſeaſed in his feet.

i Notwithſtanding the great things which he had done, and the Glory and Proſperity which he enjoyed, he felt the effects of Humane Infirmity, and of his own Sins; of which ſee 2 Chron. 16. 12, 13.

24 And Asa ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and * 2 Chr. 17. 1. * Jehoſhaphat his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

25 ¶ And Nadab the ſon of Jeroboam † began to reign over Israel, in the ſecond Year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned over Israel two years k. Matth. 1. 8. † Heb. called Joſaphat.

k Not compleat, as appears from v. 28. and 33. † Heb. reigned.

26 And he did evil in the ſight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in his ſin wherewith he made Israel to ſin l.

l i.e. In the Worſhip of the Calves which his Father had made.

27 ¶ And Baasha the ſon of Ahijah, of the houſe m of Iſſachar, conſpired againſt him, and Baasha ſmote him at Gibbethon, which belonged to the Philiſtines n, (for Nadab and all Israel laid ſiege to Gibbethon)

m i.e. Of the Tribe, which is oft called an Houſe, as Judg. 10. 9. Pſal. 135. 20. Iſaj. 1. 7. n Who, taking advantage of the Diviſion between Israel and Judah, had retaken this Town, which belonged to the Tribe of Dan, Joſ. 19. 44. and belonged to the Levites, Joſ. 21. 23. upon whoſe departure to Judah, 2 Chron. 11. 14. the Kings of Israel ſeized their Towns and Lands to their own uſe, as was noted before; which made them ſo much concerned for this Town, to beſiege both now and many Years after this time, chap. 16. 15.

28 Even in the third year of Asa n king of Judah, did Baasha ſlay him o, and reigned in his ſtead.

n How this agrees with 2 Chron. 16. 1. ſee in the Notes there. o Which he did, not to fulfil God's Threatning, but only to advance himſelf; and therefore this is called Murder, Chap. 16. 7.

29 And it came to paſs when he reigned, that he ſmote all the houſe of Jeroboam, he left not to Jeroboam any that breathed p, until he had deſtroyed him, according unto * the ſaying of the LORD q, which he ſpake * Chap. 14. 10. by his ſervant Ahijah the Shilonite:

p i.e. Any of the Males of that Family. See Deut. 20. 16. Joſ. 10. 40. q So God over-ruled Baasha's Ambition and Cruelty, to fulfil his own Counſel and Prediction.

30 Becauſe of the ſins of Jeroboam which he ſinned, and which he made Israel to ſin r, by his provocation wherewith he provoked the LORD God of Israel to anger.

r So that ſame wicked Policy which he uſed to eſtabliſh the Kingdom in his Family, proved his and their Ruine: which is very frequently the Event of Ungodly Counſels.

31 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Nadab, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel*? * See 1 Kings 15. 7.

32 And there was war between Asa and Baasha king of Israel all their days.

33 In the third year of Asa king of Judah, began Baasha the ſon of Ahijah to reign over all Israel in Tirzah s, twenty and four years. * And reigned.

34 And he did evil in the ſight of the LORD, and walked in the way of Jeroboam, and in his ſin wherewith he made Israel to ſin.

CHAP. XVI.

Jehu prophecyeth againſt Baaſha, 1—7. Elah ſucceedeth him: Him Zimri ſlayeth, and ſucceedeth: He, beſieged by Omri, burneth himſelf. 8—20. Omri prevaileth againſt Tibni, and is King: Builds Samaria: Followeth the Sins of Jeroboam, and dieth, 21—28. Ahab his ſon ſucceedeth him: He is more wicked than his Predeceſſors, 29—33. Hiel buildeth Jericho: and Joſhua's Curſe is fulfilled in him. 34.

THen the word of the LORD came to Jehu a the ſon of Hanani b, againſt Baasha, ſaying, a A Prophet, of whom ſee more, 2 Chron. 19. 2. and 20. 34. b Who alſo was a Prophet, 2 Chron. 16. 7.

2 Foraſmuch as I exalted thee out of the duſt c, and made thee prince over my people Israel, and thou haſt walked in the way of Jeroboam, and haſt made my people Israel to ſin, to provoke me to anger d with their ſins:

c Out of a low and mean Eſtate. See 1 Sam. 2. 8. Pſal. 113. 7. Queſt. How is Baaſha's Exaltation to the Kingdom aſcribed to God, when he got it by Treachery and Cruelty? Anſw. Though that way or manner of Invading the Kingdom was from himſelf, and his own wicked Heart; yet the Tranſlation of the Kingdom from Nadab to Baasha ſimply conſidered, was from God, who by his Decree and Providence ordered it, and diſpoſed of all occaſions, and of the Hearts of all the Soldiers and People, ſo that Baaſha ſhould have opportunity of executing God's Judgment upon Nadab; and ſuch ſucceſs thereupon, that he ſhould get a preſent and quiet poſſeſſion of the Kingdom. Nay, the very Act of Baaſha, to wit, the killing of his Maſter Nadab, was an act of Divine Juſtice, foretold and appointed by God, Chap. 14. 10. And if Baaſha had done this in Obedience to God's Command, and with a ſingle Deſign, to execute God's Vengeance threatned againſt him, it had been no more a Sin, than Jehu's Act in killing his Maſter King Jehoram, upon the ſame account, 2 King. 9. But that Baaſha did this, merely to gratifie his own Pride, or Covetouſneſs, or Malice; this was not from God, but from himſelf, and therefore is charged upon him as Murder here, v. 7. d See on 1 King. 14. 9.

3 Behold, I will take away the poſterity of Baasha, and the poſterity of his houſe: and will make thy houſe like * the houſe of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat. * Chap. 15. 29. & 21. 22.

4 * Him that dieth of Baasha in the city, ſhall the dogs eat: and him that dieth of his in the fields, ſhall the fowls of the air eat. * Chap. 14. 11.

5 Now the reſt of the acts of Baasha, and what he did, and his might, * are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel? * Chap. 15. 21.

6 So Baasha ſlept with his Fathers, and was buried in Tirzah, and Elah his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

7 And alſo by the hand of the prophet Jehu the ſon of Hanani, came the word of the LORD e againſt Baasha, and againſt his houſe, even for all the evil that he did in the ſight of the LORD, in provoking him to anger with the work of his hands, in being like the houſe of Jeroboam, and becauſe he * killed him f. * Chap. 15. 29.

e The meaning is, The Meſſage which came from the Lord to Jehu, v. 1. &c. was here delivered by the hand, i. e. the Miniſtry of Jehu unto unto Baaſha. Jehu did what God commanded him in this matter, tho it was not without apparent Hazard to himſelf. f i. e. Nadab; who tho he be not expreſſed, yet is ſufficiently underſtood: 1. By the manifeſt reference which theſe Words have to the Murder committed by Baaſha, which was done upon Nadab only, ch. 15. 28. 2. By the foregoing Words, the Houſe of Jeroboam; i. e. His Poſterity, which was Nadab. Queſt. Why doth God puniſh him for doing God's Work? Anſw. 1. Though God appointed, that Jeroboam's Family ſhould be cut off; yet he did not give Baaſha Commiſſion to do it; nor had declared how, or by whom he would do it. 2. Baaſha did this, not to fulfil God's Will, but his own Luſts. See on ver. 2.

8 In the twentieth and ſixth year of Asa king of Judah, began Elah the ſon of Baasha to reign over Israel in Tirzah, two years g.

g One compleat, and part of the other, ver. 10. which in Scripture-account is reckon'd for a Year. See above 7. 15. and 15. 25.

9 And his ſervant Zimri (captain of half his chariots h) conſpired againſt him, as he was in Tirzah, drinking himſelf drunk in the houſe of Arza † ſteward of his houſe in Tirzah i. † Heb. which was over, &c.

h i.e. Of all his Military Chariots, and the Men belonging to them; the Chariots for Carriage of neceſſary things, being put into other, and meaner Hands. i Whilſt his Forces were elſewhere imployed, v. 15. which gave Zimri advantage to execute his Deſign.

10 And Zimri went in and ſmote him, and killed him in the twenty and ſeventh year of Asa king of Judah, and reigned in his ſtead.

11 ¶ And it came to paſs, when he began to reign, aſſoon as he ſat on his throne, that he ſlew all the houſe of Baasha: he left him * not one that piſſeth againſt a wall, ‖ neither of his kinſfolks, & nor of his friends l. * 1 Sam. 25. 22. ‖ Heb. both his kinſmen and his friends

l Heb. Avengers; to whom it belong'd to Revenge his Death. See Numb. 35. 12. l His Confidents, and familiar Acquaintance, ſuch as were moſt likely to hinder his Settlement in the Throne, and to Avenge their Friends Quarrel.

12 Thus did Zimri deſtroy all the houſe of Baasha, according to the word of the LORD, which he ſpake † Heb. by the hand of. &c. againſt Baasha m, † by ſhe prophet:

m i.e. Thus fulfilling God's Threatning, but either without his knowledge, or meerly for his own ends.

13 For all the ſins of Baasha, and the ſins of Elah his ſon s; by which they ſinned, and by which they made Israel to ſin, in provoking the LORD God of Iſrael to anger with their vanities n.

n i.e. Idols, oft called Vanities; as Deut. 32. 21. 1 Sam. 12. 21. Jer. 14. 22. becauſe they are but imaginary Deities, and meer nothings; 1 Cor. 8. 4. having nothing at all of a God in them, and nothing of Power to do either good or hurt.

14 Now the reſt of the acts of Elah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel*? * See 2. before 14. 19.

15 ¶ In the twenty and ſeventh year of Asa king of Judah, did Zimri reign ſeven days in Tirzah: and the people were encamped againſt Gibethon, which belonged to the Philiſtines o.

o Which had been beſieged before, Chap. 15. 27. but, it ſeems, was then relieved, or afterwards recovered by the Philiſtines; taking the advantage of the Diſorders and Contentions which were among their Enemies.

16 And the people that were encamped, heard ſay, Zimri hath conſpired, and hath alſo ſlain the king: wherefore all Israel made Omri the captain of the hoſt king over Israel that day in the camp.

17 And Omri went up from Gibbethon, and all Iſrael with him, and they beſieged Tirzah.

18 And it came to paſs when Zimri ſaw that the city was taken, that he went into the palace of the kings houſe, and burnt the kings houſe over him p with fire, and died;

p Or, and he burnt, &c. Either, 1. Omri burnt it over Zimri; for Pronouns ſometimes reſpect more remote Nouns. Or rather, 2. Zimri (to whom both the foregoing and following Words apparently belong) who burnt it upon himſelf; that neither himſelf, nor the Royal Palace and Treaſures might come into the hands of his inſulting Adverſary.

19 For his ſins q which he ſinned, in doing evil in the ſight of the LORD, in walking in the way of Jeroboam r, and in his ſin which he did, to make Israel ſin.

q i.e. This beſell him for his ſins. r Which he might do, either before his Reign, in the whole courſe of his Life, which is juſtly charged upon him, becauſe of his Impenitency: or in the Seven Days of his Reign; in which, he had time enough to publiſh his Intentions or Decrees, about the continuance of the Worſhip of the Calves; or to Sacrifice to them, for his good Succeſs, either already obtained, or further deſired.

20 Now the reſt of the acts of Zimri, and his treaſon that he wrought, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel*? * See Chap. 15. 5.

21 ¶ Then were the people of Iſrael divided into two parts s: half of the people followed Tibni the ſon of Ginath, to make him king t: and half followed Omri u.

s Fell into a Civil War: yet neither this, nor any other of God's dreadful Judgments could win them to Repentance; which is an Evidence of their prodigious Impiety, and Incorrigibleneſs, and how juſtly they were for Ruine. t Diſdaining that the Soldiers ſhould uſurp ſo high a Power over the whole Kingdom. u Becauſe they approved the Act of Treaſon, though not the manner of his Election.

22 But the people that followed Omri prevailed x againſt the people that followed Tibni the ſon of Ginath: ſo Tibni died y, and Omri reigned.

x Partly, becauſe they had the Army on their ſide; and principally, by the appointment and judgment of God, giving up the Iſraelites to him who was much the worſt; v. 25, 26. y A violent Death, in the Battel.

23 ¶ In the thirty and one year of Asa king of Judah, began Omri to reign over Iſrael, twelve years z: ſix years reigned he in Tirzah.

z i. e. And he reigned Twelve Years, not from this 31 Year of Aſa, for he died in his 38 Year, v. 29. but from the beginning of his Reign, which was in Aſa's 27 Year, v. 15, 16. So he Reigned four Years in a ſtate of War with Tibni, and eight Years peaceably.

24 And he bought the hill Samaria of Shemer, for two talents of ſilver, and built a on the hill, and called the name of the city which he built, after the name of Shemer, owner of the hill † * Samaria. † Heb. Shomron. * See Chap. 13. 32.

a To wit, the City; and eſpecially, a Royal Palace, becauſe that Tirzah was burnt, v. 18.

25 ¶ But * Omri wrought evil in the eyes of the LORD, and did worſe than all that were before him. * Mic. 6. 15

26 For he walked in all the way of Jeroboam b the ſon of Nebat, and in his ſin wherewith he made Israel to ſin, to provoke the LORD God of Iſrael to anger with their vanities.

b i.e. Did not only promote the Worſhip of the Calves, as Jeroboam and all his Succeſſors hitherto had done; but did alſo imitate all Jeroboam's other ſins, which doubtleſs were many and great; and preadventure he added this to the reſt, that together with the Calves, he Worſhipped Deities: i. e. other Idols of the Heathens, as may be thought from 1 Cor. 10. 20. where his Worſhip of the Devils, and of the Calves is diſtinguiſhed. Beſides, though he did no more for the ſubſtance of the Action, than his Predeceſſors did; yet he might juſtly and truly be ſaid to do worſe than they, becauſe he did it with greater Aggravations, after ſo many terrible Examples of Divine Vengeance upon the Kings and People of Iſrael for that Sin; or, becauſe he made ſeverer Laws concerning the Calf-Worſhip; whence we read of the ſtatutes of Omri, Mich. 6. 16. or did more induſtriouſly and violently execute them, with greater Deſpight againſt God, and Malice againſt his Servants.

27 Now the reſt of the acts of Omri, which he did, and his might that he ſhewed, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

28 So Omri ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria, and Ahab his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

29 ¶ And in the thirty and eighth year of Asa king of Judah, began Ahab the ſon of Omri to reign over Iſrael; and Ahab the ſon of Omri reigned over Iſrael in Samaria, twenty and two years.

30 And Ahab the ſon of Omri did evil in the ſight of the LORD, above all that were before him.

31 And it came to paſs, † as if it had been a light thing for him c to walk in the ſins of Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat; that he took to wife Jezebel d the daughter of Ethbaal e king of the Zidonians f, and went and ſerved Baal g, and worſhipped him. † Heb. was a light thing &c.

c As if that Sin were not big enough to expreſs his Contempt of God; as if he thought it below his Wit and Dignity, to content himſelf with ſuch a Vulgar Fault. But the Hebrew runs thus, Was it a light thing, &c.? i. e. Was this but a ſmall Sin, that therefore he needed to add more Abominations? Where the Queſtion, as is uſual among the Hebrews, implies a ſtrong Denial; and intimates, That this was no ſmall Sin, but a great Crime; and might have ſatisfied his wicked Mind, without any Additions. d A Woman infamous for her Idolatry, and Cruelty, and Sorcery, and Filthineſs. See Chap. 18. 4. and 21. 8. 2 King. 9. 22. Revel. 2. 20. e Called Ithobalus, or Itobalus in Heathen Writers. f So ſhe was of an Heatheniſh and Idolatrous Race, and ſuch whom the Kings and People of Iſrael were expreſly forbidden to Marry. g i. e. The Idol which the Sidonians Worſhipped, which is thought to be Hercules: or falſe Gods: for this Name is common to all ſuch. And this Idolatry was much worſe than that of the Calves; becauſe in the Calves they Worſhipped the True God; but in theſe, falſe Gods or Devils, as is evident from Chap. 18. 21.

32 And he reared up an altar for Baal in the houſe of Baal, which he had built in Samaria.

33 And Ahab made a grove h; and Ahab did more to provoke the LORD God of Iſrael to anger, than all the kings of Iſrael that were before him.

h Againſt God's expreſs Prohibition, Deut. 7. 5.

34 In his days i did Hiel the Bethelite k build Jericho l: he laid the foundation thereof in Abiram his firſt-born, and ſet up the gates thereof in his youngeſt ſon Segub m, * according to the word of the LORD, which he ſpake by Joſhua n the ſon of Nun. * Joſh. 6. 26.

i This is here added, 1. As a Character of the time, and an Inſtance of the Truth and Certainty of Divine Predictions and Commi-nations, this being fulfilled 800 Years after it was threatned; and withal, as a Warning to the Iſraelites, not to think themſelves innocent or ſafe, becauſe the Judgment threatned againſt them by Abijah, Chap. 14. 15. was not yet executed, though they continued in that Calf-worship which he condemned: but to expect the certain accomplishment of it in due time, if they perfisted in their Impenitency. Or, 2. As an Evidence of the horrible Corruption of his Times, and + Heb. Elijahu. Luke. 1. 25. he is called Elias.

of that high Contempt of God which then Reigned. k Who lived in Bethel, the Seat and Sink of Idolatry, wherewith he was thoroughly leavened. l A place feated in the Tribe of Benjamin, but belonging to the Kingdom of Israel: which place he seems to have chosen for his Buildings; not so much for his own advantage, as out of a contempt of the True God, and of his Threatnings, which he designed to confute of Falshood by his own Experience; and out of an ambition to decline the Fire to advance his own Reputation and Interest therehy, by attempting that which he knew his King and Queen too, would be highly pleased with. m i. e. In the beginning of his Building, God took away his Firt-born, and others successively in the progress of the Work, and the youngest when he finished it. And so he found by his own sad Experience, the truth of God's Word, and how vain it was to contend with him. Qu. Why did not God rather punish Hiel himself? Answ. This was a terrible Punishment, to see his Children cut off by Divine Vengeance, before their time, one after another; and all this, for his own sake, that he might be spared so long, that he might be an example of his Sons untimely Deaths; he also might be cut off, though it be not Recorded, as not belonging to the Prophecy here mentioned; or, if not, his present Impunity was his greatest Misery; either, as it continued his Torment in the sad and lasting Remembrance of his Lofs and Misery; or as it was a mean to harden his Heart for his greater Judgments, to which he was reserved. n Of which, see Josh. 6. 26.

CHAP. XVII.

Elijah foretelleth Ahab that there shall be a great Drought: Is sent to Cherith, where the Ravens feed him. 1——7. He is sent to Zarephath to a Widow, who feedeth him with Meal and Oil which wasted not. 8——16. Her Son dieth, and he raiseth him. 17——23. She acknowledgeth him to be a Prophet. 24.

AND † Elijah a the Tishbite b who was of the † inhabitants of Gilead c, said unto Ahab d, * As the LORD God of Israel liveth e, before whom I stand f, there shall not be dew nor rain g these years h, but according to my word i.

a The most Eminent of the Prophets, Mattb. 17. 3. who is here brought in, like Melchisedech, Gen. 14. 18. Heb. 7. 3. without any mention of his Father, or Mother, or beginning of his Days; like a Man drop out of the Clouds, and raised by God's special Providence as a Witness for himself, in this most degenerate time and state of things; that by his Zeal, and Courage, and Power of Miracles, he might give some Check to their various and abominable Idolatries, and some reviving to that small number of the Lord's Prophets, and People, who yet remained in Israel; as we shall see. b So called, either from the place of his Birth or Habitation; or for some other reason not now known. c Which was the Land beyond Jordan. See Gen. 31. 21. d Having doubtless admonished him of his Sin and Danger before this; and now upon his Obstinacy in his wicked Courses, he proceeds to denounce, and execute the Judgment of God upon him. e I swear by the God of Israel, who is the only True and Living God; when the gods whom thou hast joined with him, or preferred before him, are dead and senseless Idols. f Either, 1. Whose Minister I am, (as this Phrase is oft used, as Numb. 3. 6. Deut. 10. 8. and 17. 12. and 18. 5.) not only in general, but especially in this Threatning, which I now deliver in his Name and Authority, and not from my own Imagination or Passion. Or, 2. Who is now present with me, and a Witness of what I say; and let him punish me severely, if I speak not the Truth. g This was a Prediction, but was seconded with his Prayer, That God would verifie it; as it is Recorded, Jam. 5. 17. And this Prayer of his was not voluntary, and malicious; but necessary, and (all things considered) truly Charitable; that by this sharp and long Affliction, God's Honour, and the Truth of his Word and Threatnings (which was now so horribly and universally contemned) might be Vindicated; and the Israelites (whom their present Impunity and Prosperity had hardned in their Idolatry) might hereby be awakened to see their own Wickedness, and the Vanity of their Calves, and other Idols; and their Dependance upon God, and the necessity of returning to the True Religion. h i. e. Three following Years, which were three and an half, Luke. 4. 25. Jam. 5. 17. i i. e. Until I shall declare, That this Judgment shall cease, and shall pray to God for the Removal of it.

2 And the word of the LORD came unto him, saying,

3 Get thee hence, and turn thee East-ward, and hide thy self by the brook Cherith k, that is before Jordan.

k Thus God refuses him from the Fury of Ahab and Jezabel, who, he knew, would seek to destroy him. Qu. Why did not Ahab seize upon him immediately upon these words? Answ. 1. This must be ascribed to God's over-ruling Providence, who hath the Hearts of all Men in his hands; and hath oft protected his Prophets and Servants in such cases. 2. He might say this not by word of Mouth, but by Letter and Message sent to him; as that word is sometimes used, as Exod. 18. 6.

4 And it shall be, that thou shalt drink of the brook, and I have commanded l the Ravens m to feed thee there.

l i. e. I have decreed or appointed. Or, I shall command, i. e. effectually move them, by Instincts and Inclinations, which I shall put into them, which shall be as forcible with them, as a Law or Command is to Men. God is said to command both Brute Creatures, as Amos 9. 3. Jonah 2. 10. and senseless things; as Job 38. 11, 12. Psal. 78. 23. Isa. 5. 6. and 45. 12. when he causeth them to do the things which he intends to effect by them. m Which he names, and chuseth for this work; partly, to discour the Prophets Faith against humane Infirmity, by the credibility of the thing, there being many Ravens in those parts, and those delighting to reside near Brooks of Water; and that sort of Creatures being apt and accustomed to seek Provitions, and to carry them away to the places of their abode: and partly, to shew his Care and Power in providing for the Prophet by those Creatures, which are noted for their Greediness, in monopolizing Provision to themselves; and for their Malignity and Unnaturalness towards their own Young; that by this strange and noble Experiment he might be taught to trust God in those many and great Difficulties to which he was likely to be exposed. Obj. The Ravens were unclean, Levit. 11. 15. Answ. They were Unclean for Meat, but not for the Touch. But howsoever that Ceremonial Law was over-ruled by necessity, and by the Law-givers Dispensation.

5 So he went and did according unto the word of the LORD: for he went and dwelt by the brook Cherith, that is before Jordan.

6 And the ravens brought him bread and flesh n in the morning o, and bread and flesh in the evening p: and he drank of the brook.

n Not raw, but boiled by the Ministry of some Angel or Man, and left in some place or places till the Ravens came for it: in all which, there is nothing incredible, considering the Power and Providence of God. o p. i. e. For Dinner and Supper, according to the Custom. See Gen. 43. 25. Ruth 2. 14. Luk. 14. 12. Act. 10. 9, 10.

7 And it came to pass † after a while q, that the brook dried up r, because there had been no rain in the land.
† Heb. at the end of days. Gen. 4. 3. 2 Sam. 14. 26.

q Heb. At the end of days; i. e. of a Year; for so the word days is often used, as in Exod. 13. 10. Levit. 25. 29. Numb. 9. 22. Judg. 17. 10. 1 Sam. 1. 3. and 27. 7. And this seems to be a convenient time for the drying up of the Brook, which was gradually dried up. And so this agrees well with Chap. 18. 1. in the third Year: of which, see the Notes there. r God so ordering it, partly for the Punishment of those Israelites who lived near it, and had hitherto been refreshed by it: partly, for the Trial and Exercise of Elijah's Faith, and to teach him to depend upon God alone, not on any Creature for his Support: and partly, to shew his own allsufficiency in providing for his People.

8 ¶ And the word of the LORD came unto him, saying,

9 Arise, get thee to * Zarephath s, which belongeth to Zidon t, and dwell there: behold, I have commanded u a widow-woman there to sustain thee.
* Luke 4. 26. Act. 13. Sarepta.

s A City between Tyrus and Sydon, called Sarepta by St. Luke, Chap. 4. 26. by Pliny and others. t To the Jurisdiction of that City, which therefore was inhabited by Gentiles. See Luke 4. 25. And God's providing for his Prophet, first, by an Unclean Bird, and then by a Gentile, whom the Jews esteemed Unclean, was a notable Prelage of the Calling of the Gentiles, and of the Rejection of the Jews. u i. e. Appointed or Provided, as before, ver. 4. for that he had as yet no Revelation or Command of God about it, appears from ver. 12.

10 So he arose, and went to Zarephath: and when he came to the gate of the city, behold, the widow woman was there gathering of sticks: and he called to her x, and said, Fetch me, I pray thee, a little water in a vessel, that I may drink.

x Knowing by Divine Suggestion, that this was the woman designed.

11 And as she was going to fetch it, he called to her, and said, Bring me, I pray thee, a morsel of bread in thine hand y.

y Which he said only to try her, and to make way for what follows.

12 And she said, As the LORD thy God liveth z, I have not a cake, but an handful of meal in a barrel, and a little oyl in a cruse: and behold, I am gathering two sticks a, that I may go in, and dress it for me and my son, that we may eat it, and die b.

z By which she discovers, That though she was a Gentile, yet she owned the God of Israel as the True God. a i. e. A few sticks, that number being oft used indefinitely for any small number, both in Scripture, as Hos. 6. 2. and by other Authors. b For having no more Provision, we must needs perish with Hunger. For though the Famine was only in the Land of Israel, yet the Effects of it were in Tyre and Sidon, which were fed by the Corn of that Land. See Act 12. 20. Or the same Famine might be in those parts also; the chief cause of the Famine, to wit, the Worship of Baal, being common to both places.

13 And Elijah said unto her, Fear not; go, and do as thou hast said: but make me thereof a little cake first c, and bring it unto me, and after make for thee and for thy son.

c Which he requires as a trial and exercise of her Faith, and Charity, and Obedience, which he knew God would graciously and plentifully reward: and so this would be a great Example to encourage others to the practice of the same Graces upon like occasion.

14 For thus saith the LORD God of Israel d, The barrel of meal e shall not waste, neither shall the cruse of oil fail, until the day that the LORD † sendeth rain upon the earth.
† Heb. giveth.

d In whom I perceive thou trustest. e i. e. The Meal of the Barrel. An Hypallage or Metonymy. So the cruse of oil for the oil of the cruse.

15 And she went and did according to the saying of Elijah f: and she, and he, and her house did eat ‖ many days, g.

f Giving Glory to the God of Israel, by believing his Prophet. g i. e. A long time, even above two Years: See Chap. 18. 1. Heb. days; i. e. a full Year; as ver. 7. namely, before the following Event about her Son happened, and the rest of the time of the Famine after it.

16 And the barrel of meal wasted not h, neither did the cruse of oil fail, according to the word of the LORD, which he spake † by Elijah.
† Heb. the hand of.

h God still Creating new, as fast as the old was spent.

17 ¶ And it came to pass after these things, that the son son of the woman, the mistress of the house, fell sick, and his sickness was so sore, that there was no breath i left in him.

i Or, no Soul; qu. Life, as this Hebrew Word oft signifies; i. e. He died, as is manifest from the following Verses. See also Heb. 11. 35.

18 And she said unto Elijah, What have I to do with thee k, O thou man of God? art thou come unto me l to call my sin to remembrance m, and to slay my son?

k Wherein have I injured or provoked thee? Or, Why didst thou come to Sojourn in my House, (as the following Words seem to explain the like) if this be the Fruit of it? They are Words of a troubled Mind, favouring of some rashness and impatience. l Didst thou come for this end, that thou mightest severely observe my Sins, and by thy Prayers bring down God's just Judgment upon me, for them, as thou hast for the like cause brought down this Famine upon the Nation? m Either, 1. To my remembrance; that I should by this dreadful Judgment be brought to the knowledge and remembrance of my Sins, which have procured it. Or rather, 2. To God's Remembrance: for God is oft said in Scripture, to remember Sins, when he punisheth them; and to forget them, when he spares the Sinner. See 2 Sam. 16. 12. Have I instead of the Blessing which I expected from thy presence, met with a Curse?

19 And he said unto her, Give me thy son n. And he took him out of her bosom, and carried him up into a loft o, where he abode, and laid him upon his own bed.

n Into mine Arms. o A private place, where he might more freely and fully pour out his Soul to God, and use such Gestures or Methods, as he thought most proper, without any offence or observation.

20 And he cried unto the LORD, and said, O LORD my God, hath thou also brought evil upon the widow, with whom I sojourn, by slaying her son p?

p A Prayer full of powerful Arguments. Thou art the Lord, that canst revive the Child; and my God; and therefore wilt not, do not deny me. She is a Widow, and not Affliction to the Afflicted; deprive her not of the great Support and Staff of her Age: She hath given me kind Entertainment: Let her not fare the worse for her kindness to a Prophet, whereby wicked Men will take occasion to reproach both her, and Religion, 21 And he † stretched himself upon the child q three times, and cried unto the LORD r, and said, O LORD my God, I pray thee let this childs soul come † into him again s.

† Heb. measured. † Heb. his life. ‖ parts q Not as if he thought this could contribute any Warmth or Life to the Child; but partly, to express, and withal to increase his Grief for the Child's Death, and his Desire of its reviving; that thereby his Prayers might be more fervent, and consequently, more prevalent with God: and partly, that it might appear, That this Miracle, tho wrought by God alone, yet was done for the sake of Elijah, and in answer to his Prayers. Compare 2 King. 4. 34. Joh. 9. 6. Act. 20. 10. r First, he stretched himself, then he prayed, and that for Three times successively. s By which it is evident, That the Soul was gone out of his Body, and therefore doth subsist without it after Death. Compare Gen. 35. 18. This was a great Request; but Elias was incouraged to make it; partly, by his Zeal for God's Honour, which he thought was concerned in it, and would be eclipsed by it: partly, by the experience which he had of his prevailing Power with God in Prayer: and partly, by a Divine Impulse moving him to desire it.

22 And the LORD heard the voice of Elijah, and the soul of the child came into him again, and he revived.

23 And Elijah took the child, and brought him down out of the chamber into the house, and delivered him unto his mother: and Elijah said, See, thy son liveth.

24 ¶ And the woman said to Elijah, Now by this I know t that thou art a man of God, and that the word of the LORD in thy mouth is truth u.

t Now I am affured of that concerning which I began upon this sad occasion to doubt. u That the God whom thou professest, is the True God; and the Doctrine and Religion which thou Teachest, is the only True Religion: and therefore henceforth I wholly renounce the Worship of Idols.

CHAP. XVIII.

Elijah in the extremity of Famine is sent to Ahab: meeteth good Obadiah, 1——7. Chargeth him to terrifie the King of his coming: He bringeth Ahab to him, 8——16. He reproveth Ahab and the Congregation: by Fire from Heaven convinceth Baal's Prophets: They are slain, 17——40. Elijah by Prayer obtaineth Rain: Runs before Ahab to Jezreel. 41——46.

AND it came to pass after many days, that the word of the LORD came to Elijah in the third year a, saying, Go shew thy self unto Ahab b, and I will send rain upon the earth c.

a Either, 1. From the time when he went to hide himself by the Brook Cherith; Six Months before which time the Famine might begin, tho it was not yet come to extremity. And so this being in, or towards the end of the third Year, it makes up these Three Years and Six Months, Jam. 5. 17. Or, 2. From the time of his going to Sarepta, which probably was a Year after the Famine begun; See on Chap. 17. 7. and so this might be in the middle of the Third Year, which also makes up the Three Years and Six Months. b To acquaint him with the Cause of this Judgment, ver. 18. and to advise him to remove it, and upon Prayer, which thou shalt make for it. Thus God takes care to maintain the Honour and Authority of his Prophet, and in Judgment remembers Mercy to Israel for the sake of the Holy Seed yet left among them, who suffered in this common Calamity.

2 And Elijah went to shew himself unto Ahab d: and there was a fore famine in Samaria.

d Wherein he shews a strong Faith, and resolute Obedience, and invincible Courage, that he durst at God's Command run into the Mouth of this raging Lion; which was a degree of Martyrdom.

3 And Ahab called † Obadiah which was † the governour of his house e: (now Obadiah feared the LORD greatly f: † Heb. Obadiahu. † Heb. over his house.

e Being valued by Ahab for his great Prudence and Fidelity, and therefore too indulged as to the Worship of the Calves and Baal. f Quest. How could he and some other Israelites be said to fear the Lord, when they did not go up to Jerusalem to Worship, as God had commanded? Answ. Although they seem not to be wholly excusable in this neglect, because they should have preferred God's Service before their Worldly Commodity, according to the good Example of the Priests and Levites, and the generality of the Godly People who did so, 2 Chron. 11. 13, 16. yet because they Worshipped God in Spirit and Truth, and performed all Moral Duties to God and their Brethren, and abstained from Idolatry, and being kept from Jerusalem by violence, they thought necessity, and the apparent Hazard of their Lives, would excuse them from Ceremonial Services; and God bare with their Infirmity herein.

4 For it was so, when † Jezebel cut off the prophets of the LORD, that Obadiah took an hundred prophets g, bel. and hid them by fifty in a cave, and fed them h with bread and water i)

g Which Name is not only given to such as are endowed with an extraordinary Spirit of Prophecy, but to such Ministers as devoted themselves to the Service of God in Preaching, Praying, Praising God, and the like, as 1 Sam. 10. 10, 11, 12. and in this place compared with ver. 22. where Elijah saith, I only remain a Prophet of the Lord, to wit, strictly so called; and Matth. 10. 41. 1 Cor. 12. 28, 29. and 14. 29. h With the Hazard of his own Life, and against the King's Command; as wisely considering, that no Command of an Earthly Prince could over-rule the Command of the Supreme Lord, the King of Kings, or discharge him from those Acts of Piety to God, and Charity to Men, which God's Law indispensably required. i Either properly; which was a great kindness in those Circumstances: or figuratively, i. e. with Meat and Drink.

5 And Ahab said unto Obadiah, Go into the land, unto all fountains of water, and unto all brooks k: peradventure we may find grass to save the horses and mules alive, † that we lose not all the beasts.
† Heb. that we cut not off our beasts.

k About which, Grass was most probably to be found in that great Drought.

6 So they divided the land between them, to pass throughout it. Ahab went one way by himself l, and Obadiah went another way by himself.
from the beasts.

l Not daring to trust any other, Obadiah excepted, left being bribed by such as had Grass for their own use, they should not give him a true Account.

7 ¶ And as Obadiah was in the way, behold, Elijah met him: and he knew him, and fell on his face m, and said, Art thou that my lord Elijah?

m By this profound Reverence, shewing his great Respect and Love to him.

8 And he answered him, I am: go tell thy lord n, Behold, Elijah is here.

n Ahab: whom, though a very wicked Man, he owns for Obadiah's Lord and King; thereby instructing him, that he did well in owning him as such; and that the Wickedness of Kings doth not exempt their Subjects from Obedience to their Lawful Commands.

9 And he said, What have I sinned o, that thou wouldest deliver thy servant into the hand of Ahab, to slay me?

o Wherein have I so offended God, and thee, that thou shouldest inflict this punishment upon me, and expose me to certain ruin by this means?

10 As the LORD thy God liveth, there is no nation or kingdom p, whither my lord hath not sent to seek thee: and when they said, He is not there; he took an oath of the kingdom and nation, that they found thee not q.

p To wit, near to his own, where he could in reason think that Elijah had hid himself. Nothing is more frequent than to understand General Expressions with such Limitations. q Not that he could force other Kingdoms to take an Oath, but that by his Perfuations he prevailed with the chief Persons in several Kingdoms for his Satisfaction to swear that they did not know of Elijah's being among them. Which was not hard for him to obtain. For Ahab was a great Prince, and had a great Interest among the Neighbouring Kings. The King of Tyre was his Father-in-law; the King of Moab Tributary to him; Jehoshaphat, his Friend and Relation, to whom the King of Edom was Tributary. We read also of all the Kings of Arabia, and of all the Kings of the Philistines, and of Syria, 1 King. 10. 15, 29. which as they corresponded with Solomon, so how far they might be Allied to, or Confederate with Ahab, we know not; nor what Articles or Agreements were between him and them, among which this might be one, That they should deliver up to one another all their Fugitive or Banished Subjects upon Demand; which might give sufficient ground for his desire or expectation of this Oath. Quest. How then could Elijah lie hid in the House of the Widow of Sarepta? Answ. That might easily be, either, because the her self, or at least others, did not know particularly who he was; or, because she used all possible Care to conceal him, her Conscience and Interest both obliging her so to do; or because God secured him there.

11 And now thou sayest, Go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here.

12 And it shall come to pass, as soon as I am gone from from thee, that the Spirit of the LORD r ſhall carry thee whither I know not ſ; and ſo when I come and tell Ahab, and he cannot find thee, he will ſlay me: but I thy ſervant fear the LORD from my youth u.

r The Holy Ghoſt, to whom the Inſpiration and Conduct of the Prophets is commonly aſcribed in Holy Scripture, as Iſa. 48. 16. and 61. 1. Matth. 4. 1. Acts 16. 6, 7. who might do this either immediately by his own Power, or by an Angel, or by a ſtrong Wind. ſ Such tranſportations of the Prophets having doubtleſs been uſual before this time, as they were after it. See 2 King. 2. 16. Ezek. 3. 12, 14. Mat. 4. 1. Act. 8. 39. t Either as a curſed impoſtor that hath deluded him with vain Hopes; or rather, becauſe I did not forthwith leave upon thee, and bring thee to him to receive puniſhment. u He ſpeaks not theſe, nor the following Words, in way of vain boaſting; but only for his own neceſſary vindication and preſervation, that he might move the Prophet to pity and ſpare him, and not put him upon that hazardous action; which yet he was reſolved to do, if the Prophet peremptorily required it.

13 Was it not told my lord, what I did when Jezebel ſlew the prophets of the LORD? how I hid an hundred men of the LORDS prophets by † fifty in a cave, and fed them with bread and water?

14 And now thou ſayeſt, Go tell thy lord, Behold, Elijah is here: and he ſhall ſlay me.

15 And Elijah ſaid, As the LORD of hoſts x liveth, before whom I ſtand, I will ſurely ſhew my ſelf unto him to day.

x The Lord of all the Creatures, which are called God's Hoſts, Gen. 2. 1. Deut. 4. 19. Pſal. 103. 21. and 148. 2. and are all ſubject to his Command. He mentions this Title as his Shield, under the Proteƈtion whereof he did, and durſt venture to come into Ahab's Preſence.

16 So Obadiah went to meet Ahab, and told him: and Ahab went to meet Elijah.

17 ¶ And it came to paſs when Ahab ſaw Elijah, that Ahab ſaid unto him, Art thou he * that troubleth Iſrael y?

* Act. 16. 20.

y Have I at laſt met with thee, O thou great Diſturber of my Kingdom, the Author of this Famine, and of all our Diſquiets and Calamities?

18 And he anſwered, I have not troubled Iſrael, but thou and thy fathers houſe z, in that ye have forſaken the commandments of the LORD, and thou haſt followed Baalim.

z Theſe Calamities are not to be imputed to my Paſſions, but thine and thy Fathers Wickedneſs, which God puniſheth by this means. He anſwered him thus boldly, becauſe he ſpoke and acted in God's Name, and for his Honour and Service, whoſe Vaſſal Ahab was.

19 Now therefore ſend a, and gather to me all Iſrael b unto mount Carmel c, and the prophets of Baal d four hundred and fifty, and the prophets of the groves e four hundred, which eat at Jezebels table.

a To wit, Meſſengers, that this Controverſie between thee and me may be decided, the true Cauſe of theſe heavy Judgments diſcovered and removed, That ſo this Plague may be removed. b By their Deputies, or Heads, or Repreſentatives, that they may be witneſſes of all our Tranſactions. c Not that Carmel in Judah, 1 Sam. 15. 12. but another in Iſſachar by the Mid-land Sea, Joſ. 19. 26. Jer. 46. 18. which he choſe as a very convenient place, being not far from the Center of his Kingdom, to which all the Tribes might conveniently reſort, and at ſome good diſtance from Samaria, that Jezebel might not hinder his Deſign: and a very high Mountain, Amos 9. 3. and that upon the Sea, whence he might have the opportunity to diſcover the Rain at its firſt approach, which he did, ver. 42, &c. d Which were diſperſed in all the parts of the Kingdom. e Which attended upon thoſe Baals or Idols which were worſhipped in the Groves, which were near the Royal City, and much valued and frequented by the King and the Queen, 1 King. 15. 13. and 16. 33. 2 King. 13. 6. and therefore were maintained at the Queens Charges.

20 So Ahab f ſent unto all the children of Iſrael, and gathered the prophets together unto mount Carmel.

f He complied with Elijah's motion: partly, becauſe it was ſo fair and reaſonable, that he could not refuſe it with Honour, nor without the Diſcontent of all his People, this being propoſed in order to their Deliverance from this terrible Famine; partly, becauſe the Urgency of the preſent Diſtreſs made him willing to try all means to remove it; partly from a Curioſity of ſeeing ſome extraordinary Events; and principally, becauſe God inclined his Heart to cloſe with it.

21 And Elijah came unto all the people, and ſaid, How long halt ye between two ‖ opinions g? If the LORD be God h, follow him i: but if Baal k, * then follow him. And the people anſwered him not a word l.

g Why do you not make ſtraight Paths with your Feet, as the Phraſe is, Heb. 12. 13? Why do you walk ſo lamely and unevenly, being ſo unſteddy in your Opinions and Practices, and doubting whether it is better to Worſhip God or Baal? h Whom you pretend to Worſhip in the Calves, 2 King. 10. 16, 31. compare Exod. 32. 4. i Worſhip him, and him only, and that in ſuch place and manner as he hath commanded you, and not by the Calves. † If Baal can prove himſelf to be the True God. l Being convinced of the reaſonableneſs of his Propoſition; taught by experience, that Jehovah had ſent this Judgment, and that Baal could not remove it, which had ſtaggered them in their Opinion about Baal; yet not daring to diſown Baal, for fear of the Diſpleaſure of the King, then preſent.

22 Then ſaid Elijah unto the people, I, even I only remain m a prophet of the LORD; but Baals prophets are four hundred and fifty men.

m For Wit, here preſent, publickly to own and plead the Cauſe of God; for he oppoſeth himſelf only to Baal's 450 Prophets, becauſe they only were preſent; the Prophets of the Groves, being, it ſeems, not ſo much admitted by Jezebel (through her Pride, or Obſtinacy, or Wiſdom and Kindneſs to them) to go thither. See Chap. 22. 6. As for the other Prophets of the Lord, many of them were ſlain by Ahab or Jezebel, others baniſhed, or hid in Caves.

23 Let them therefore give us two bullocks n, and let them chuſe one bullock for themſelves o, and cut it in pieces, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under: and I will dreſs the other bullock, and lay it on wood, and put no fire under:

n He attempts the Deciſion of this Controverſie, not by God's Word, which was either rejected, or deſpiſed, or groſly neglected, by the generality of that People; but by a Miracle, to which all that had common Senſe muſt needs ſubmit. o Which they judge beſt and fitteſt for their purpoſe.

24 And call ye on the name of your ‖ gods, and I will call on the Name of the LORD: and the God that anſwereth by fire p, let him be God. And all the people q anſwered and ſaid, † It is well ſpoken.

† Heb. The word is good.

p I. e. That ſhall conſume the Sacrifice by Fire ſent from Heaven; which the People knew the True God uſed to do, as Geneſis 4. 4. Judges 6. 21. and 13. 20. q Even the Baalites themſelves; partly, becauſe they could not without great reproach to themſelves and Baal, refuſe ſo equal a motion; and partly, becauſe they were confident of Baal's Power and Divinity, having probably had ſome Experiments of ſupernatural and prodigious Events done in the Worſhip of Baal by God's juſt and wiſe Permiſſion, for the hardening of that Apoſtatical and wicked People in their Idolatry; as God hath in ſeveral Ages for the like reaſon ſuffered lying Wonders to be wrought by the Devil, whom they worſhipped in and by their Idols.

25 And Elijah ſaid unto the prophets of Baal, Chuſe ye one bullock for your ſelves, and dreſs it firſt, for ye are many r: and call on the name of your ‖ gods, but put no fire under.

r And I am willing to give you the precedency. This he did, partly, becauſe if he had firſt offered, and God had anſwered by Fire, as he knew that he would do, Baal's Prieſts would have been diſcouraged, and upon ſome Excuſe (which would eaſily be accepted in regard of the King's Authority, and the Favour which they had with the People) would have deſiſted from making the trial on their part; and partly, becauſe the Diſappointment of the Prieſts of Baal, of which he was well aſſured, would notably prepare the way for the Peoples more diligent attention unto his Words and Actions, and cauſe them to entertain the Prophets good Succeſs with more Admiration and Affection; and this coming laſt, would leave the greater Impreſſion and Reliſh upon their Hearts. And this they accepted, becauſe they might think, that if Baal did anſwer them firſt, which they preſumed he would, the People would be ſo confirmed and heightned in their Opinion of Baal, that they by the King's Aſſiſtance might murder Elijah before he came to his Experiment.

26 And they took the bullock which was given them ſ, and they dreſſed it t, and called on the name of Baal from morning u even until noon, ſaying, O Baal, ‖ hear us. But there was no voice, nor any that ‖ anſwered. And they ‖ leapt upon the altar x which was made y.

ſ Which being choſen by them, v. 25. was now put into their Hands by thoſe who had the Power of it, and were to act, till they were taken away for Sacrifice. t Cut it in pieces, and laid the parts in or upon the Wood. u From the time of the Morning-Sacrifice; which advantage Elijah ſuffered them to take for their Sacrifice. x Or, over the altar: which might eaſily be done, the Altar being low, and ſuddenly made for the preſent uſe. Or rather, beſide (as the Hebrew (al) oft ſignifies) the altar: or, before it. They uſed ſome ſuperſtitious, unuſual, and diſorderly Geſtures, either pretending to be acted by the Spirit of their God, and to be in a kind of Holy Rage, and Religious Extaſie; or, in way of Devotion to their god; which they might borrow from the Practice of their Progenitors, who, amongſt other things, uſed Dancing in God's Service and Preſence, as Exod. 15. 20. and 32. 19. Judg. 21. 21. 2 Sam. 6. 14. y Heb. which he made: Either, Firſt, Elias; which ſome think was already made, though the making of it be not mentioned till afterwards, ver. 31. and that it was their Deſign, by leaping upon his Altar, to overthrow it. Or rather, Secondly, Ahab on their behalf; or, any other Perſon: that being only an Hebraiſm, the Third Perſon Active, being put for the Paſſive Verb, as our Tranſlators well render it.

27 And it came to paſs at noon z, that Elijah mocked them a, and ſaid, Cry † aloud: for he is a god, either † Heb. with a great voice. talking, or he † is purſuing, or he is in a journey b, or peradventure he ſleepeth, and muſt be awaked.

z When they had long tried all means in vain. a Derided them as a great and mighty God, which were indeed, and had now proved themſelves to be ſo; but to be ridiculous and contemptible things. By this example we ſee, that all jeſting is not unlawful, but only that which intrencheth upon Piety, and good Manners. See on Eph. 5. 4. b He is employed about ſome other buſineſs, and hath not leiſure to mind you: for being a god of a ſmall and narrow Underſtanding, he cannot mind two things at once, and you are immodeſt and unreaſonable to expect it from him.

28 And they cried aloud c, and cut themſelves after their manner with knives and lancers d, till † the blood guſhed out upon them.

† Heb. poured.

c As if Elias had ſpoken the truth, and their god needed rowzing. d Mingling their own Blood with their Sacrifices; as knowing by experience, that nothing was more acceptable to their Baal (which was indeed the Devil) than Humane Blood; and hoping hereby to move their god to pity and help them. And this indeed was the Practice of divers Heathens in the Worſhip of their falſe gods, as is manifeſt both from Scripture, as Levit. 19. 28. Deut. 14. 1. 1 King. 18. 28. and and from the expreſs Teſtimonies of Plutarch, Lucian, Apuleius, and many others.

29 And it came to paſs, when mid day was paſt, and they † propheſied e until the time of the † offering of the evening ſacrifice f, that there was neither voice, nor any to anſwer, nor any † that regarded g.

e I. e. Praiſed, and prayed unto, and worſhipped their God; for ſo the word prophecying is uſed, 1 Sam. 10. 10. and 19. 20, &c. 1 Chron. 25. 2, 3. Matth. 7. 22. 1 Cor. 11. 4. and 14. 5, 6. &c. f Heb. of the Sacrifice, which being here oppoſed to the time of their offering, which was the morning, ver. 26. muſt needs be meant of the Evening Sacrifice; of which ſee Exod. 29. 39. &c. which is called the Sacrifice, by way of Eminency, becauſe it was more ſolemn, and publick, and frequented, than the Morning Sacrifice; of which divers Reaſons may be given. See Exod. 12. 6. Pſal. 141. 2. Act. 3. 1. g Heb. there was no attention: Either, Firſt, Of their god, who was ſo far from anſwering, that he did not mind any of their Words and Actions. Or, Secondly, Of the People, who were now tired out with ſo long attention and expectation; and therefore more readily deſerted them, and approached to Elijah and his Altar, at his Call, v. 30.

30 And Elijah ſaid unto all the people, Come near unto me h. And all the people came near unto him; and he repaired i the altar of the LORD k that was broken down l.

h Come away from theſe impudent Deceivers to me, and expect from me what Satisfaction you deſire. i Which by the Peoples help was quickly done; the Materials being all ready, and very ſlightly put together; only for the preſent occaſion. k Which had been built there by ſome of their Anceſtors for the offering of Sacrifice to the God of Iſrael, which was frequently done in High-Places, of which this was none of the leaſt eminent ones: but being for ſome time neglected, it needed Reparations. l Either, Firſt, By the Prieſts of Baal at this time, who leaped upon it to that end: of which ſee on ver. 26. Or rather, Secondly, By ſome of the Baalites, out of their Enmity to the True God, whoſe Temple, becauſe they could not reach, they ſhewed their Malignity in deſtroying his Altars, ch. 19. 14.

31 And Elijah took twelve ſtones, according to the number of the tribes of the ſons of Jacob m, unto whom the word of the LORD came, ſaying, * Iſrael ſhall be thy name n.

Gen. 32. 28. & 35. 10. 2 King. 17. 34.

m This he did, partly, to renew the Covenant between God and all the Tribes, as Moſes did, Exod. 24. 4. partly, to ſhew, that he prayed and acted in the Name, and for the Service of the God of all the Patriarchs, and of all the Tribes of Iſrael, and for their good: and partly, to teach the people, that though the Tribes were divided as to their Civil Government, they ought all to be united in the Worſhip of the ſame God, and in the ſame Religion. n Which Jacob was graciouſly anſwered by God when he prayed to him, and was honoured with the glorious Title of Iſrael, which noted his prevalency with God and Men. And I, calling upon the ſame God, doubt not of a like gracious Anſwer; and if ever you mean to have your Prayers granted, you muſt not ſeek to Baal for it, who, as you now ſee, neither hears nor regards his moſt devout Worſhippers; but unto the God of Jacob: and if you would recover the Honour which was once conferred upon Jacob, and continued a long time to his Poſterity, you muſt return to that God from whom you are revolted.

32 And with the ſtones he o built an altar p in the Name of the LORD q: and he made a trench about the altar, as great as would contain two meaſures r of ſeed.

o With the aſſiſtance of the People, who readily yielded their helping hand. p Which, though generally forbidden, he might do, becauſe he did it by the command and inſtigation of God, who can diſpence with his own Laws, and upon apparent and urgent neceſſity, and for a work of great mercy, (to which even by God's Command the Ceremonial Laws muſt give place, Hoſ. 6. 6. Mar. 2. 27.) even for the converſion of the Iſraelites, whom it was impoſſible to bring to the Altar of Jeruſalem at this time. q By the Authority of God, and for his Worſhip. r I. e. Two third parts of an Ephah: which ſhews that the Trench was of a competent largeneſs.

33 And he put the wood in order, and cut the bullock in pieces, and laid him on the wood, and ſaid, Fill four barrels with water ſ, and * pour it on the burnt-ſacrifice, and on the wood t.

Exod. 29. 17. Lev. 1. 6, 12. & 8. 20. Judg. 6. 20.

ſ Which they could quickly fetch, either from the River Kiſhon; or, if that was dried up, from the Sea; both which were at the foot of the Mountain. See Jer. 46. 18. t This he did, to make the Miracle more glorious, and more unqueſtionable, and to mock the Prieſts of Baal.

34 And he ſaid, Do it the ſecond time. And they did it the ſecond time. And he ſaid, Do it the third time. And they did it the third time.

35 And the water † ran round about the altar, and he filled the trench alſo with water.

36 And it came to paſs, at the time of the offering of the evening ſacrifice u, that Elijah the prophet came near, and ſaid, LORD God of Abraham, Iſaac, and of Iſrael, let it be known this day, that thou art God in Iſrael, and that I am thy ſervant, and that I have done all theſe things x at thy word y.

u Which time he choſe, that he might unite his Prayers with the Prayers of the Godly Jews at Jeruſalem, who at that time aſſembled together to pray, Act. 3. 1. x Brought this Famine, gathered the People hither, and done what I have done, or am doing here. y Not in compliance with my own Paſſions, but in Obedience to thy Command, as thy Agent and Miniſter. For that action of ſhutting up Heaven, and that of killing the Prieſts of Baal, muſt needs exaſperate him to great Envy and Reproach; which made this publick Vindication neceſſary, as it was alſo effectual, being witneſſed from Heaven.

37 Hear me, O LORD, hear me, that this people may know that thou art the LORD God, and that thou haſt turned their heart z back again a.

z That they may feel ſo powerful and ſudden a change in their Hearts, that they may know it is thy Work, and the effect or thy Grace to them, and in them. Or, when thou haſt turned, &c. or, becauſe thou, &c. So the Particle Vau is oft uſed; and the Senſe is, That they may know thee to be the True God, by the effects of thy Divine Power, in converting their Hearts, and that in ſo miraculous a way, and in anſwer to my Prayers. a Unto thee, from whom they have revolted.

38 Then the fire of the LORD fell, and conſumed the burnt-ſacrifice, and the wood, and the ſtones, and the duſt, and licked up the water that was in the trench.

39 And when all the people ſaw it, they fell on their faces b: and they ſaid, The LORD, he is the God; the LORD, he is the God c.

b In way of acknowledgment and adoration of the True God. c He alone; and Baal is a dull and ſenſeleſs Idol. And they double the words, to note their abundant ſatisfaƈtion and aſſurance of the Truth of their Aſſertion.

40 And Elijah ſaid unto them d, ‖ Take the prophets of Baal, let not one of them eſcape: and they took them. and Elijah brought them down to the brook Kiſhon e, and ſlew them there ſ.

d He takes the opportunity, whilſt the peoples Hearts were warm with the freſh ſenſe of this great Miracle. e That their Blood might be poured into that River, and thence conveyed into the Sea, and ſeeing he was but a private Perſon? Anſw. Firſt, He had no doubt of the Conſent of all the Heads of the People, who were here aſſembled; and of the King too, who durſt not reſiſt the univerſal Torrent, and could not deny that they were Impoſtors, and worthy of Death: and probably was by the Prophet aſſured of Rain when this was done. Anſw. Secondly, As theſe Idolatrous Prieſts were manifeſtly under a Sentence of Death, paſſed upon ſuch by the Sovereign Lord of Life and Death, Deut. 13. and 17. fo Elijah had ſufficient Authority to execute it, as being a Prophet, and an extraordinary Miniſter of God's Vengeance againſt Sinners, now eſpecially when the Magiſtrate ſo groſly neglected his Duty therein.

41 ¶ And Elijah ſaid unto Ahab, Get thee up g, eat and drink h, for there is ‖ a ſound of abundance of rain i.

‖ Or, a ſound of a noiſe of rain.

g From the River, where the King and he had been preſent at the ſlaughter of Baal's Prieſts, to thy Tent: which probably was pitched on the ſide of Carmel. h Take Comfort, and refreſh thy ſelf: for neither the King, nor any of the People could have any leiſure to eat, being wholly intent upon the deciſion of the great Controverſie. i The Rain is as certainly and ſpeedily coming, as if I did actually ſee it, or hear the Noiſe which it makes. God's Wrath is now appeaſed, and thou ſhalt have no cauſe to repent of this days Work.

42 So Ahab went up to eat and to drink, and Elijah went up to the top of Carmel k, and he caſt himſelf down upon the earth, and put his face between his knees l, k Where he might ſecretly and ardently pour out his Prayers unto God; and whence he might look towards the Sea, and diſcern when the Rain was coming. He elſe-where ſate, or rather, kneeled upon his Knees, and then caſt down his Face to the Ground between his Knees; either, in token of profound Reverence and Humility; or, out of Fervency of Spirit, which oft diſpoſeth Men to uncouth Geſtures, which at other times, or in other Men, would be ridiculous; but in them and in that caſe, were uſual and allowed; or, that turning away his Eyes from all outward Objects, he might be more intent and earneſt upon his Work, or pray to God without Diſtraƈtion.

43 And ſaid to his ſervant, Go up now m, look towards the ſea n. And he went up, and looked, and ſaid, There is nothing. And he ſaid, Go again ſeven times o.

l Where he might ſecretly and ardently pour out his Prayers unto God; and whence he might look towards the Sea, and diſcern when the Rain was coming. He elſe-where ſate, or rather, kneeled upon his Knees, and then caſt down his Face to the Ground between his Knees; either, in token of profound Reverence and Humility; or, out of Fervency of Spirit, which oft diſpoſeth Men to uncouth Geſtures, which at other times, or in other Men, would be ridiculous; but in them and in that caſe, were uſual and allowed; or, that turning away his Eyes from all outward Objects, he might be more intent and earneſt upon his Work, or pray to God without Diſtraƈtion.

m Whilſt I continue praying. n Whence Clouds and Vapours uſually ariſe. Elijah deſired to have timely notice of the very firſt appearance and ſignification of Rain, not out of Vanity or Ambition, but that Ahab and the People might know that it was obtained from Jehovah by the Prophets Prayers, and thereby be confirmed in the True Religion. o Let us not be dejected for ſome Diſappointments, but continue to wait upon God, who will anſwer me, and that ſpeedily.

44 And it came to paſs at the ſeventh time, that he ſaid, Behold, there ariſeth a little cloud out of the ſea, like a mans hand. And he ſaid, Go up, ſay unto Ahab, † Prepare thy chariot, and get thee down, that the rain ſtop thee not.

† Heb. Tye, or, bind.

45 And it came to paſs in the mean while, that the heaven was black with clouds and wind, and there was a great rain. And Ahab rode and went to Jezreel p.

p Not that in Judah, Joſ. 15. 56. but another City in the border of Iſſachar and Manaſſeh, Joſ. 19. 18.

46 And the hand of the LORD was on Elijah q, and he girded up his loyns r, and ran before Ahab ſ, † to the entrance of Jezreel.

† Heb. till thou come to Jezreel.

q God gave him more than natural and ordinary ſtrength, whereby he was enabled to outrun Ahab's Chariot, and that for ſo many miles together. r That his Garments, which were then long, might not hinder him. See 2 King. 4. 29. and 9. 1. ſ Partly, to ſhew how ready he was to honour and ſerve the King, if he did not exalt himſelf above or againſt God: partly, that by this humble and ſelf-denying Carriage, it might appear, that what he had done was not from Envy, or Ambition, or Humane Paſſion, but only from a juſt Zeal for God's Glory: partly, that by his Preſence with the King, and his Courtiers who attended upon him, he might animate and oblige them to proceed in the well-begun Reformation of Religion: and partly, to demonstrate, that he was neither ashamed of, nor afraid for what he had done, tho' he knew how Jezebel would resent it, but durst venture himself in the midst of his Enemies, as being confident of the Divine Power and Protection.

CHAP. XIX.

Ahab streamed by Jezebel flieeth to Beer-sheba: Is comforted by an Angel. 3 Mount Horeb complaining to God, he is strengthened by special Revelation, 9——14. Is sent to anoint Hazael, Jehu, and Elisha. 15——18. Elisha followeth Elijah, 19——21.

AND Ahab told Jezebel a all that Elijah had done, and withal how he had slain all the prophets b with the sword.

a For his Vindication, and her Satisfaction. b To wit, of Baal; not of the Groves, who were not present, as may be gathered from chap. 18, 19, 22. and 22. 6.

2 Then Jezebel sent a messenger unto Elijah c, saying, * So let the gods do to me, and more also, if I make not thy life as the life of one of them by to morrow at this time d. * Ruth 1. 17.

c She gives him notice of it before-hand: partly, out of the height of her Spirit, as scorning to kill him secretly and surreptitiously, and resolving to make him a publick Sacrifice: partly, out of her Impatience, till she had breathed out her Rage, which she could do speedily, when it required some time and preparation to seize him, who was now so much esteemed and favoured by all the People: partly, because she supposed, that he who had the confidence to come thither (where, it seems, she was at this time) would still have the same Confidence to stay there, and be obliged in honour to maintain his ground: and principally, from God's all-disposing Providence, that to he might have an opportunity of escaping. d So far was she from being changed by that most evident Miracle, that she perists in her former Idolatry, and adds to it a mad and monstrous Confidence, that in spight of God he would destroy his Prophet.

e i. e. To save his life: or, according to his soul, or mind. Whereby it may be intimated, that he did not flee from Jezreel by the hand or direction of the Lord, by which he came thither, ch. 18. 46. but because of his own fear and apprehension of danger. For this may seem to be an act of humane frailty. For God had brought him hither, and his Presence might seem very necessary here to incourage and ingage the King and People to go on to destroy the Priests of the Groves, and to purge out Idolatry: and his withdrawing, as we see, did discourage all the rest, and occasioned their return to Idolatry again; and, having had such a late and ample experience of God's all-sufficiency in protecting him against the King and 450 of Baal's Priests, and the current of the People incensed against him for the Famine, he had little reason to fear the Threats of an impotent Woman, whom God could cut off in a moment. But Elias was a man subject to like Passions as we are, Jam. 5. 17. which probably is said with respect to his fear and discontent, manifested here and ver. 4. And left he should be exalted above measure (which was alſo Paul's case, 2 Cor. 12. 7.) for his eminent Gifts, and Graces, and miraculous Works, God saw fit to withdraw his Grace, and to leave him to himself, that he might be sensible of his own imporency and sinfulness, and might not dare to take any part of God's Honour to himself. f Either, First, To the Tribe of Judah, according to the first Division; for Simeon's part, in which Beersheba was, was afterwards taken out of it. Or, Secondly, to the Kingdom of Judah. g Partly, that he might abide there in safety: and partly, that he should wait there till his return: partly, because he would not expose him to those Perils and Hardships which he expected: and partly, because he desired Solitude, that he might more freely converse with God.

4 ¶ But he himself went a days journey into the wilderness h, and came and sat down under a juniper-tree: and he * requested † for himself i that he might die, and said, It is enough k, now, O LORD, take away my life: for I am not better than my fathers l. * Jona 4. 3, 8. † Heb. for his Life.

h The vaſt Wilderness of Arabia. He durst not stay in Judah, tho' good Jehoshaphat Reigned there, because he was Allied to Ahab, and was a Man of an easie temper, whom Ahab might circumvent, and either by force or art seize upon Elijah. i Heb. for his life, or his soul, that it might be taken away from his body. Or, with his soul, as it is Isa. 26. 9. i. e. He desired it heartily or fervently. Which he did not only for his own sake, that he might be freed from his great Fears and Troubles; but especially from his Zeal for God's Glory, which he saw was and would be dreadfully eclipsed by the relapse of the Israelites into Idolatry, and by Elijah's Death, if it should be procured by the hands of Jezebel, or of the Worshippers of Baal: and therefore he wiſhed to die in Peace, and by the Hand of God. k I have lived long enough for thy Service, and am not like to do thee any more Service; neither my Words nor Works are like to do any good upon these unstable and incorrigible People. l That I should continue in Life, when other Prophets who have gone before me, have loſt their Lives by Jezebel, or other Persecutors.

5 And as he lay and slept under a Juniper-tree, behold then, an angel touched him, and said unto him, Arise and eat.

6 And he looked, and behold, there was a cake baken on the coals, and a cruse of water at his † head: and he did eat and drink, and laid him down again. † Heb. bolster.

7 And the angel of the LORD came again the second time, and touched him, and said, Arise, and eat, because the journey is too great for thee m.

m i. e. Above thy strength, now especially when thou art faint, and weary, and fasting.

8 And he arose, and did eat and drink, and went in the strength of that meat n * forty days and forty nights, unto * Horeb o the mount of God. * Exod. 34. 28.

n God giving that Food a far greater and more durable vertue than ordinary. o He wandred hither and thither for 40 days, till at last he came to Horeb, which in the direct Road was not above 3 or 4 days Journey.

9 ¶ And he came thither unto a cave, and lodged there: and behold, the word of the LORD came to him, and he said unto him, What doſt thou here p, Elijah?

p A tacit Reproof. This is not thy proper place, nor the station in which I set thee, which was in Israel, to turn that back-sliding People, to which end I gave thee my help, and would have proceeded to assist thee further, if thou hadſt continued there. Nor did I give thee those excellent Gifts to lie idle in this Wilderness, but to employ them for thy People's Good, whom now thou hast deserted, and art come hither, not by my Command, but through thy own Fear and Cowardise.

10 And he said, I have been very jealous for the LORD God of hosts q: for the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars r, and slain thy prophets with the sword: and * I, even I only am left s, and they seek my life to take it away t. * Rom. 11. 3. Gr.

q I have not been wholly wanting to my Vocation, but have executed my Office with Zeal for God's Honour and Service, and with the hazard of my own Life; and am fled hither, not being able to endure to see the Dishonour done to thy Name by their obstinate Idolatry and Wickedness. r Those which were erected for thy Worship in High-Places, which they did not destroy, because they were to be abolished by thy Command, Deut. 12. but out of meer contempt and opposition against thee, and therefore they suffered the Altars of Baal to stand. s To wit, of all thy Prophets, I mean, which do boldly and publickly plead thy Cause: for the reſt of thy Prophets who are not slain, hide themselves, and dare not appear to do thee any Service. t I despair of doing them any good: for instead of receiving my Testimony, they hunt for my Life.

11 And he said, Go forth, and stand upon the mount before the LORD. And behold, the LORD passed by u, and a * great and strong wind rent the mountains, and brake in pieces the rocks x before the LORD; but the LORD was not in the wind y: and after the wind an earthquake; but the LORD was not in the earthquake. * Exod. 34. 6. & 33. 19.

u Either, First, By his Harbingers: for, as it follows, the Lord was not yet there. Or, Secondly, Himself. And so this is a brief and general Description of the thing, after which the manner of it is particularly explained. x Whereby he both prepares Elijah to receive this Discovery of God with greateſt Humility, Reverence, and Godly Fear; and signifies his Almighty and Irresistible Power, to break the hardeſt Hearts of the Israelites, and to bear down all opposition that was or should be made against him in the Discharge of his Office. y The Lord did not vouchsafe his Special and Gracious Presence to Elijah in that Wind, where he confidently expected him: which possibly was, Either, First, To qualifie the excessive Fervour and Passion of Elijah, which mixed it self with his Zeal for God, and to make him more mild in his Censures, and more meek and patient in waiting for the Conversion of Israel; wherein he might sooner expect God's Presence and bleſſed Succeſs, than in the Storm of Anger or Impatience. Or, Secondly, To teach him not to wonder if God did not accompany his terrible Administration at Mount Carmel with the Presence of his Grace, to turn the hearts of the Israelites to himself, as he desired, but God for wise and just Reasons saw fit to deny.

12 And after the earthquake, a fire; but the LORD was not in the fire: and after the fire a still small voice z.

z Wherein it is implied, That God was present. Which peradventure was to insinuate, that God would do his Work in and for Israel in his own time, not by might or power, but by his own spirit, Zech. 4. 6. which moves with a powerful, but yet with a sweet and gentle Gale.

13 And it was so, when Elijah heard it, that he wrapped his face in his mantle a, and went out, and stood in the entring in of the cave b: and behold, there came a voice unto him, and said, What doſt thou here, Elijah c?

a Through Horror and Dread of God's Presence, being sensible that he was neither worthy nor able to endure the sight of God with open face. Compare Gen. 16. 13. with Exod. 3. 6. b Which God commanded him to do; and as he was going towards the mouth of the Cave, he was affrighted and stopped in his course, by the dreadful Wind, and Earthquake, and fire: and, when these were past, he prosecutes his Journey, and goeth on to the mouth of the Cave, and there stands still. Or, the words may be rendred, After (as I am in elsewhere used) he was gone out, and standing in the mouth of the cave: which may be mentioned as the reason why he covered his Face, because now he wanted the shelter of the Cave. c What before he spake by an Angel, he now speaks to him again immediately.

14 And he said, I have been very jealous for the LORD God of hosts: because the children of Israel have forsaken thy covenant, thrown down thine altars, and slain thy prophets with the sword; and I, even I only am left, and they seek my life, to take it away.

15 And the LORD said unto him, Go, return on thy way d to the wilderness of Damascus: and when thou comeſt, anoint Hazael to be king over Syria e.

d By which thou camest: for so in part lay the way from Horeb to Damascus. e Anoint: Either, First, Figuratively, i. e. appoint or declare him King; which was done, 2 King. 8. 12. For this Word is often uſed of them who were never anointed with Oil, Isa. 45. 1. and 61. 1. Zech. 4. 14. Dan. 9. 24. Or, Secondly, Properly; which which might be done, though it be not related. Again, anoint, either, by thy self; or, by another: for so he anointed Jehu by Elisha, 2 King. 9. 1, 6.

16 And * Jehu the son of Nimshi f shalt thou anoint to be king over Israel: and * Elisha g the son of Shaphat of Abel-Meholah, shalt thou anoint to be prophet in thy room. * 2 King. 9. 1, 2. * Luk. 4. 27. called Eliseus.

f i. e. His Grand-son, for he was the son of Jehoshaphat, 2 King. 9. 2. g Whom he constituted Prophet, by casting his Mantle over him, here, v. 19.

17 And it shall come to pass, that him that escapeth the sword of Hazael, shall Jehu slay: and him that escapeth from the sword of Jehu, shall Elisha slay h.

h Here the order of times seems to be perverted; for Elisha was Prophet before Jehu or Hazael were Kings, and Hazael was King before Jehu. But that is of no moment as to the substance of the thing threatned, which is only this, That one or other of these should infallibly execute God's Judgments upon the Apostatical Israelites. Elisha is said to slay them, either, because he flew those 42 Children, 2 King. 2. 23. besides others whom upon like occasions he might destroy; or, because he by God's appointment inflicted the Famine, 2 King. 6. 31. or rather, by the Sword which came out of his mouth, as Isa. 49. 2. Revel. 1. 16. and 19. 15, 21. by his Cutting-Prophecies and Threatnings of God's Judgements: the Prophets being said to pull down and to destroy what they only declare and foretel shall be pulled down; Ex. Hazael began to slay them before Jehu was King, 2 King. 8. 28. though his Cruelty was much increased afterward, 2 King. 10. 32. and 13. 1, 2, 3. and Jehu destroyed those whom Hazael did not, as King Joram himself, and Ahaziah, and his 42 Brethren, 2 King. 9. 24, 27. and 10. 14. all the near Relations of wicked Ahab.

18 * Yet ‖ I have left i me seven thousand k in Israel, all the knees which have not bowed unto Baal, and every mouth which hath not kissed him l. * Rom. 11. 4. ‖ Or, I will leave.

i Or, I have reserved to my self; I have by my Grace kept from the common Contagion: therefore thou art mistaken to think that thou art left alone, or that the People are universally corrupted. Or, I will reserve, from the slaughters laſt mentioned, and from Jezebel's Rage. k Either, definitely to many: or rather, indefinitely, for many thousands; the number of seven being often uſed for a great number, as Lev. 26. 18. Pſal. 12. 6. Mic. 5, 5. Zech. 3. 9. Luk. 17. 4. For it is altogether improbable that all the Israelites, except 7000, did worship Baal: except Baal be here Synecdochically put for all their Idols, and the Calves among others. l i. e. All those who have not worshipped Baal, nor professed Reverence or Subjection to him: which Idolaters did to their Idols, by bowing the Knee, Rom. 11. 4. compare Rom. 14. 11. Phil. 2. 10. and by kissing them, or by kissing their Hand with their Mouth, before them, and in respect to them; of which mention is made both in Scripture, as Job 31. 26, 27. Hos. 13. 2. compare Pſal. 2. 12. and in Pliny, Apuleius, and other prophane Authors. And God chuseth these Expressions here, to teach men, that it is not sufficient to deny inward Veneration of Mind and Heart to Idols, unleſs they do alſo forbear all outward ſignifications of Worship and reverence to them; and that he will own none for his People that do otherwise.

19 ¶ So he departed thence, and found Elisha the son of Shaphat, who was plowing with twelve yoke of oxen before him, and he with the twelve m: and Elijah passed by him, and cast his mantle upon him n.

m Who had twelve Ploughs going, whereof eleven were managed by his Servants, and the laſt by himself; according to the simplicity and humility of those ancient times, in which Men of good Worth and Estate submitted themselves to the meaneſt employments. n By this Ceremony conferring upon him the Office of a Prophet, which God was pleased to accompany with the Gifts and Graces of his Spirit, wherewith he endowed and qualified him for it. The Mantle was the uſual Habit of the Prophets. See 2 King. 1. 8. Zech. 13. 4. But whether he did alſo Anoint him, is uncertain. See the Note on ver. 16.

20 And he left the oxen, and ran after Elijah o, and said p, Let * me, I pray thee, kiſs my father and my mother q, and then I will follow thee. And he said unto him, † Go back again r; for what have I done to thee s? * Matth. 8. 21, 22. † Heb. Go, return.

o Being powerfully moved by God's Spirit to follow Elijah, and wholly to give up himself to his Function. p Or, but he said: or, yet he said. q i. e. Bid them farewell by the uſual Ceremony. See Gen. 29. 11. and 31. 28. Act. 20. 37. r And take thy leave of them, as thou desireſt, and then return to me again. s Either, First, To hinder thee from performing that Office. That Employment to which I have called thee, doth not require an Alienation of thy Heart from thy Parents, nor the total neglect of them. Or, Secondly, To make such a Change in thee, that thou shouldſt be willing to forsake thy Parents, and Lands, and All, and desire only this Liberty to go and bid them farewel, that thou mayst follow me. Whence comes this marvellous Change? It is not from me, who did only throw my Mantle over thee; but from an higher Power, even from God's Spirit, which hath changed thy Heart, and confecrated thee to thy Prophetical Office: which therefore it concerns thee vigorously to execute, and wholly to devote thy self to it.

21 And he returned back from him t, and took a yoke of oxen, and slew them, and boiled their flesh with the instruments of the oxen u, and gave unto the people x, and they did eat: then he arose, and went after Elijah, and ministred unto him.

t From Elias to his Parents; whom when he had seen and kiſſed, he returned to the Field where Elijah was. u i. e. With the Wood belonging to the Plow, &c. to which more was added, as occasion required. But that he burned, to shew his total relinquishing of his former Employment. x i. e. He made thereof a Feaſt for his Servants who had been Ploughing with him, and for him, and his other Friends and Neighbours who came to take their leave of him. Hereby he shewed how willingly and joyfully he forsook all his Friends, that he might serve God in that high and honourable Employment.

CHAP. XX.

Benhadad not content with Ahab's Homage, besiegeth Samaria, 1——12. By the Direction of a Prophet the Syrians are twice beaten: and Benhadad hides himself, 13——30. The Syrians submit themselves, and Ahab maketh a Covenant with Benhadad, 31——34. The Prophet by a Parable reproveth Ahab: and denounceth Judgments against him, 35——43.

AND Ben-hadad a the king of Syria gathered all his hoſt together b, and there were thirty and two kings c with him, and horses, and chariots: and he went up and besieged Samaria, and warred against it.

a Called Adad by Josephus, and Ader by the LXX, and Adores by Justin; such Changes of Names being uſual in their Translations into other Languages, and by other Authors. b To War against Israel: wherein his Design was to amplifie the Conquests which his Father had made, chap. 15. 20. but God's Design was to punish Israel for their Apostacy and Idolatry. c Petty Kings, such as were in Canaan in Joshua's time, who indeed were no more than Governours of Cities or small Territories. These were either Subject or Tributary to Benhadad, or hired by him.

2 And he sent messengers to Ahab king of Israel into the city, and said unto him, Thus saith Benhadad,

3 Thy silver and thy gold is mine d, thy wives also and thy children, even the goodlieſt are mine.

d I challenge them as my own, and accordingly expect to have them forthwith delivered into my Poſſeſſion, if thou expecteſt Peace with me.

4 And the king of Israel answered and said, My lord, O king, according to thy saying, I am thine, and all that I have e.

e I do ſo far comply with thy Demand, that I will own thee for my Lord, and my self for thy Vaſſal and Tributary; and will hold my Wives, and Children, and Estate, as by thy Favour, and with an Acknowledgment. But it is not likely that he would deliver up his Wives and Children into the Barbarians hand, or that his proud and imperious Wife Jezebel would permit him to do ſo.

5 And the messengers came again, and said, Thus speaketh Ben-hadad, saying, Although I have sent unto thee, saying, Thou shalt deliver me thy silver and thy gold, and thy wives, and thy children f:

f Although I did before demand not only the Dominion of thy Treasures, and Wives, and Children, as thou mayſt seem to understand me; but alſo the Propriety and actual Poſſeſſion of them; wherewith I would then have been contented:

6 Yet I will send my servants unto thee to morrow about this time, and they shall search thine house, and the houses of thy servants; and it shall be, that whatsoever is † pleasant in thine eyes, they shall put it in their hand, and take it away g. † Heb. desirable.

g Yet now I will not accept of those Terms, but together with thy Royal Treasures, I expect all the Treasures of thy Servants or Subjects; nor will I wait till thou deliver them to me, but I will send my Servants into the City, and they shall have free Liberty and Power to search out and take away all which they desire, and this to prevent Fraud and Delay; and then I will grant thee a Peace.

7 Then the king of Israel called all the elders of the land h, and said, Mark, I pray you, and see how this man seeketh mischief: for he sent unto me for my wives, and for my children, and for my silver, and for my gold, and † I denied him not k. † Heb. I Though he pretended Peace, and a Friendly Agreement upon their back from Terms propounded, it is apparent by those Additional Demands, That him. he intends nothing leſs than our utter Ruin. k I granted his Demands in the sense before mentioned.

8 And all the elders, and all the people said unto him, Hearken not unto him, nor consent.

9 Wherefore he said unto the messengers of Ben-hadad, Tell my lord the king, All that thou didſt send for to thy servant at the first, I will do: but this thing I may not do l. And the messengers departed, and brought him word again.

l If I would do it, I cannot, because my People will not suffer it.

10 And Ben-hadad sent unto him, and said, * The gods do ſo unto me, and more alſo, if the duſt of Samaria shall ſuffice for handfuls for all the people that † follow me m. * Chap. 19. 2. † Heb. are at my feet.

m If I do not aſſault thy City with ſo potent and numerous an Army, that ſhall turn all thy City into an heap of Duſt, and ſhall be ſufficient to carry it all away, though every Soldier take but one handful of it: See the like Boaſt, 2 Sam. 17. 13.

11 And the king of Israel answered and said, Tell him, Let not him that girdeth on his harneſs, boaſt himſelf, as he that putteth it off n.

n Do not Triumph before the Fight and Victory, for the Events of War are uncertain. † Heb. Word.

12 And it came to pass, when Benhadad heard this † message (as he was drinking, he, and the kings in the ‖ pavilions) that he said unto his servants, ‖ Set your selves in array o: And they ſet themſelves in array against the city. ‖ Or, Tents. † Or, Place of Ex-ercise. o Put your ſelves and Engines in order, to make the Assault. Engines.

13 ¶ And behold, there † came a prophet p unto † Heb. approached.

Ahab king of Israel, saying, Thus saith the LORD g, Hast thou seen all this great multitude? behold, I will deliver it into thine hand this day; and thou shalt know that I am the LORD r.

14 Who having bid himself before, now ventures to come to Ahab, having this welcome Message in his Mouth. g God, though forsaken and neglected by Ahab, prevents him with his gracious Promise of Help; partly, That Ahab and the Idolatrous Israelites, might hereby be fully convinced and won to God, or left without all Excuse: and partly, that Benhadad's intolerable Pride, and Contempt of God, and of his People, might be reproved and punished: and partly, that the remnant of his Prophets and People who were involved in the same Calamity with the rest of the Israelites, might be preserved and delivered. r And not Baal, because I will deliver thee, which he cannot do.

15 ¶ And Ahab said, By whom? And he said, Thus saith the LORD, Even by the‖ young men of the princes of the provinces s. Then he said, Who shall † order the battel? And he answered, Thou t.

‖ Or, Servants. † Heb. bind, or tie.

s Not by Old and Experienced Soldiers, but by those Young Men: either the sons of the Princes, and great Men of the Land, who were generally fed thicker for Safety; or their Pages, or Servants that used to attend upon them; who are bred up delicately, and seem unfit for the business. t Partly to encourage the Young Men to Fight courageously, as being in the Presence of their Prince: and partly, that it might appear, that the Victory was wholly due to God's gracious and powerful Providence, and not to the Valour or Worthiness of the Instruments.

15 Then he numbred the young men of the princes of the provinces, and they were two hundred and thirty two: and after them he numbred all the people, even all the children of Israel u, being seven thousand x.

u Either, 1. All the Men; for they only went out to Battel; and the rest of the Men might be confumed with the Sword or Famine, or other Judgments: Or rather, 2. All the Men of War, or all that were fit to go out to War; all, except those whom their Age, or Infirmity, or other sufficient Causes excused. x Which number may possibly be noted with respect unto those 7000, commended chap. 19. 18. for whose sakes principally God gave this deliverance.

16 And they went out at noon y: but Benhadad was drinking himself drunk in the pavilions, he and the kings, the thirty and two kings that helped him.

y When they were eating, and drinking, and fecure from all fear and expectation of an Assault.

17 And the young men of the princes of the provinces went out first, and Benhadad sent out, and they told him, saying, There are men come out of Samaria.

18 And he said, Whether they be come out for peace, take them alive; or whether they be come out for war, take them alive z.

z He bids them not Fight, for he thought they needed not to strike one stroke; and that the Israelites could not stand the first brunt.

19 So these young men of the princes of the provinces came out of the city, and the army which followed them.

20 And they slew every one his man a: and the Syrians fled b, and Israel pursued them: and Benhadad the king of Syria escaped on an horse, with the horsemen.

a i. e. Him who came to Fight with him, or to seize upon him, as Benhadad had commanded. b Being amazed at the unexpected and undaunted Courage of the Israelites, and being struck with a Divine Terror.

21 And the king of Israel went out c, and smote the horses and chariots d, and slew the Syrians with a great slaughter.

c i. e. Proceeded further in his March, and Fought against them. d i. e. The men that fought from them, or belonged to them: for so Horses and Chariots are sometimes taken. See on 1 Sam. 13. 5.

22 ¶ And the prophet came to the king of Israel, and said unto him, Go, strengthen thy self, and mark, and see what thou doest e: for at the return of the year f the king of Syria will come up against thee.

e Consider what is fit and necessary for thee to do by way of Preparation, or Prevention. f Next Year about this time, when the Season comes of going forth to Battel: of which see 2 Sam. 11. 1. 1 Chron. 20. 1. 2 Chron. 36. 10.

23 And the servants of the king of Syria said unto him g, Their gods are gods of the hills, therefore they were stronger than we: but let us fight against them in the plain h, and surely we shall be stronger than they.

g They suppose that their gods were no better than the Syrian gods (which the Idolatry of the Israelites had given them too great Cause to imagine;) and that there were many gods who had each his particular Charge and Jurisdiction; which was the Opinion of all Heathen Nations, That some were gods of the Woods, others of the Rivers, and others of the Mountains; and they fancied these to be the latter, because the Land of Canaan was a mountainous Land, Deut. 12. 2. And the great Temple of their God at Jerusalem stood upon an Hill, and so did Samaria, where they had received their last Blow: or because the Israelites did generally chuse High Places for the Worship of their gods. It is observable, that they do not impute their ill Success to their Negligence, and Drunkenness, and bad Conduct, or Cowardice, of which they were really guilty; nor to the Valour of the Israelites; but to a Divine Power, which indeed was visible in it. h Wherein there was not only Superstition, but Policy; because the Syrians most excelled the Israelites in Horses, which are most serviceable in plain Ground.

24 And do this thing, Take the kings away every man out of his place i, and put captains k in their rooms.

i Who being of softer Education, and less experienced in Military Matters, were less fit for his Service; and being many of them but Mercinaries, and therefore less concerned in his good Success, would be more negligent and cautious in venturing themselves for his good. k i. e. Experienced Soldiers of his own Subjects, who will faithfully obey the Commands of the General (to which the Kings would not so readily yield) and use their utmost Skill and Valour for their own Interest and Advancement.

25 And number thee an army, like the army † that thou hast lost, horse for horse, and chariot for chariot: and we will fight against them in the plain, and surely we shall be stronger than they. And he hearkned unto their voice, and did so.

† Heb. fell from thee.

26 And it came to pass at the return of the year, that Benhadad numbred the Syrians, and went up to Aphek † to fight against Israel.

† Heb. to the War.

l Not that in Judah; of which, Josh. 13. 4. and 15. 53. but that within Israel, in other; of which, Josh. 19. 30. Judg. 1. 31. nigh unto which, was the great Plain of Galilee. And this seems to be one of those Cities which Benhadad's Father had taken from Israel, ver. 34. Here also the Syrians might retreat, if they should be worsted.

27 And the children of Israel were numbred, and‖ were all present m, and went against them n: and the children of Israel pitched before them o, like two little flocks of kids p: but the Syrians filled the country.

‖ Or, were victualled.

m i. e. All the Forces of the Israelites were here gathered together, to oppose the Syrians: so if those had been conquered, all had been loft. n Being perfuaded, and encouraged so to do; partly, to prevent the mischiefs of a Siege in Samaria, and the waste of all the rest of their Country: and partly, by the remembrance of their former Success, and an expectation of the same Assistance from God again. o Probably upon some hilly Ground, where they might secure themselves, and watch for Advantage against their Enemies; which may be the reason why the Syrians durst not assault them before the Seventh Day; ver. 29. p i. e. Few, and Weak, and Heartless; being also for conveniency of Fighting, and that they might seem to be more than they were, divided into Two Bodies.

28 ¶ And there came a man of God, and spake unto the king of Israel, and said, Thus saith the LORD, Because the Syrians have said q, The LORD is God of the hills, but he is not God of the valleys: therefore will I deliver all this great multitude into thine hand, and ye shall know that I am the LORD r.

q Which he knew, either by common Report, strengthned by their present Choice of a Plain Ground for the Battel: or rather, by Revelation from God, who discovered their Secret Counsels, 2 King. 6. 12. r To wit, The Universal Lord of all Places, and Persons, and Things.

29 And they pitched one over against the other seven days, and so it was, that in the seventh day the battel was joined, and the children of Israel slew of the Syrians an hundred thousand footmen in one day.

30 But the rest fled to Aphek in the city, and the wall s fell upon twenty and seven thousand of the men that were left: and Benhadad fled, and came into the city t,‖ † into an inner chamber u.

‖ Or, from chamber to chamber.

s Or, the Walls (the Singular Number, for the Plural; than which to claim nothing more frequent) of the City; or of some great Castle, or Fort, in, or near the City, in which they were now fortifying themselves; or of some part of the City where they lay. Which might possibly happen through Natural Causes; but most probably, was effected by the mighty Power of God, then sending some sudden Earthquake, or violent Storm of Wind, which threw down the Wall, or Walls upon them; or doing this by the Ministry of Angels. Which cannot be incredible to any Man, except to him that denies the Truth of all the Miracles Recorded in the Old and New Testament; which being Attested, many of them, by Jews and Heathens, it is the height of Folly and Impudence to deny. For if ever Miracle was to be wrought, now seems to have been the proper time, and reason for it; when the Blasphemous Syrians denied the Soveraign and Infinite Power of God, and thereby in some fort obliged him, for his own Honour, to give a Proof of it; and to shew, That he was the God of the Plains, as well as of the Mountains; and that he could as effectually destroy them in their strongest Holds, as in the open Fields; and make the very Walls, to whose Strength they trusted for their Defence, to be the Instruments of their Ruine. But it may be further observed, that it is not said, That all these were killed by the Fall of this Wall; but only that the wall fell upon them, Killing some, and Wounding others; as is usual in those cases. Nor is it necessary, that the Wall should fall upon every individual Person; but it is sufficient to justifie this Phrase, if it fell upon the main Body of them; for the Words in the Hebrew run thus, the Wall fell upon 27000 (not of the men that are left, as we render it, but) which were left of that great Army. t Either, 1. Out of the Fields, as the rest of his Army did. Which is distinctly, and particularly noted of him, because he was the most eminent Person in it, and the Head of it. Compare the Title of Psal. 18. Or, 2. As, and from the noise and report of that terrible Fall of the Wall, or Walls; which possibly might be in the outside, or Suburbs of the City; from whence he fled further into the City. u Or, a chamber, within a chamber; where he supposed he might lie hid, till he had an opportunity of making an Escape, or of obtaining Mercy.

31 ¶ And his servants said unto him, Behold, now, we have heard that the kings of the house of Israel are merciful kings x: let us I pray thee, put sackcloth on our loins, and ropes upon our heads y, and go out to the king of Israel, peradventure he will save thy life.

x More merciful than others, because that Religion which they had professed, taught them Humanity, and obliged them to shew Mercy. y As a testimony of our sorrow, for undertaking this War; and that we have justly forfeited our Lives for it, which we submit to their Mercy.

32 So they girded sackcloth on their loins, and put ropes on their heads, and came to the king of Israel, and said, Thy servant Benhadad saith, I pray thee let me live. And he said, Is he yet alive? he is my brother z.

z I do not only freely Pardon him, but Honour and Love him as my Brother.

33 Now the men did diligently observe, whether any thing would come from him, and did hastily catch it a: and they said, Thy brother Benhadad b. Then he said, Go ye, bring him: then Benhadad came forth to him; and he caused him to come up into the chariot.

a Or, they took that Word for a good token, and made haste and snatched it (i. e. that Word) from him, i. e. from his Mouth; they repeated the Word again, to try whether the King would own it, or it only dropt casually from him; or made haste to know, whether it was from him: i. e. Whether he spoke this from his Heart, or only in Dissimulation or Deign: for it seemed too good News to be true. b Understand, Vivit: for that he enquired after, v. 32.

34 And Benhadad said unto him, The cities which my father took from thy father c, I will restore, and thou shalt make streets d for thee in Damascus, as my father made in Samaria. Then said Ahab, I will send thee away with this covenant e. So he made a covenant with him, and sent him away.

c Either, 1. From Baasha, Chap. 15. 20. whom he calls Ahab's Father, because he was his Legal Father; i. e. His Predecessor. Or, 2. From Omri; in whose time, it seems, he made a successful Invasion into the Land of Israel, and took some more of the Cities, and Aphek amongst the rest; though it be not elsewhere Recorded in Scripture. d Or, Markets, &c. places where those many Merchants either receive the Tribute which I promise to pay thee, or exercise Judicature upon my Subjects in case of their Refusal. Or outlets (as the LXX render it) in or into Damascus; i. e. Some strong Fort near Damascus, which might curb the Kings of Damascus, and keep them from attempting any other Invasion into the Land of Israel. e He takes no notice of his Blasphemy against God; nor of the vast Injuries which his People had suffered from him, but only minds his own Grandure, and the advancement of his Power.

35 ¶ And a certain man of the sons of the prophets said unto his neighbour f in the word of the LORD g, Smite me h, I pray thee. And the man refused to smite him i.

f Or, Brother, another Son of the Prophets. g In the Name, and by the Command of God, whereof doubtless he had informed him. h So as to wound me, ver. 37. He speaks what God commanded him, though it was to his own hurt; by which Obedience to God, he secretly reproacheth Ahab's Disobedience in a far easier matter. And this the Prophet by God's appointment desires, that looking like a wounded Soldier, he might have the more free access to the King, and discourse with him; which it was very hard for a Prophet to obtain, that sort of Men being hateful to Ahab, Chap. 22. 8. and to his Courtiers. i Not out of Contempt of God's Command, but most probably, in tenderness and compassion to his Brother.

36 Then said he unto him, Because thou hast not obeyed the voice of the LORD, behold, as soon as thou art departed from me, a lion shall slay thee. And as soon as he was departed from him, a * lion found him, and slew him k.

* Heb. a lion. Chap. 13. 24.

k If the Punishment seem too severe for so small a Fault, let it be considered; 1. That Disobedience to God's Express Command, especially when it is delivered by a Prophet, is a great Sin, and no less than Capital, Deut. 18. 19. 2. This Fault was much worse in a Prophet, who very well knew the Authority of God's Commands, and this way or manner of Publishing them. 3. We cannot judge of the Case, because this Man might be guilty of many other heinous Sins unknown to us, but known to God; for which, God might justly cut him off: which God chuse to do upon this occasion, that by the severity of this Punishment of a Prophet's Disobedience, proceeding from pity to his brother, he might teach Ahab the greatness of his Sin, in sparing him through foolish pity, whom by the Laws of Religion, and Justice, and Prudence, and common Safety, he should have Cut off, and what Punishment he might expect for it.

37 Then he found another man, and said, Smite me, I pray thee. And the man smote him, † so that in smiting he wounded him.

† Heb. smiting and wounding.

38 So the prophet departed, and waited for the king by the way, and disguised himself l with ashes m upon his face.

l That he might sooner gain Access to the King, and Audience from him. See on ver. 35. m Whereby he changed the Colour of it. Or, with a veil, or cloth, or band; (as the Hebrew Doctors understand the Word) whereby he might seem to have bound up his Wound, which probably was in his Face; for it was to be made in a very conspicuous place, that it might be visible to Ahab and others.

39 And as the king passed by, he cried unto the king: and he said n, Thy servant went out into the midst of the battel, and behold, a man turned aside, and brought a man unto me, and said, Keep this man: if by any means he be missing, then shall thy life be for his life p, or else thou shalt † pay a talent of silver.

n This following Relation is not an Untruth, but a Parable; an usual way of Instruction in the Eastern parts, and ancient Times, and most fit for this occasion, wherein an obscure Prophet was to speak to a great King; whose Ears were tender, and impatient of a down-right Reproof, and exceeding Partial in his own Cause: who by this Artifice is made to condemn himself, before he was aware of it, and so forced to receive the Prophet's just sentence with more Patience and Moderation, as the manner of his Expression here following sheweth. p Thou shalt die in his stead; as below, ver. 42. Compare Exod. 21. 23.

40 And as thy servant was busie here and there, † he was gone. And the king of Israel said unto him, So shall thy judgment q be, thy self hast decided it.

† Heb. he not was.

q i. e. Thy Sentence; or the Sentence against thee: thou must perform the Condition to which thou didst submit. Either suffer the one, or do the other.

41 And he hasted, and took the ashes away from his face: and the king of Israel discerned him that he was one of the prophets r.

r Either 1. By his Face, which was known either to the King, or to some of his Courtiers there present. Or, 2. By the change of the manner of his Address to him, which now was such as the Prophets used.

42 And he said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, * Because thou hast let go out of thy hand a man † whom I appointed to utter destruction, therefore thy life shall † go for his life s, and thy people for his people t.

* Chap. 22. 37. † Heb. of my Curse.

s Quest. What was the great Sin of Ahab in this Action, for which God so severely punisheth him? Answ. The great Dishonour hereby done to God, in suffering so horrid a Blasphemer, ver. 23. to go unpunished, which was contrary to an express Law, Levit. 24. 16. Quest. What is this to Benhadad, having that Law concerned Israelites only? Answ. It reached both to them that were born in the Land, and (as is there expressed) unto strangers that were among them, and in their Power, which was Benhadad's case; for God had delivered him into Ahab's hand, for his Blasphemy, as he promised to do, v. 28. by which act of his Providence, especially compared with that Law, it was moft evident, that this man was appointed by God to Destruction, as is here said. But Ahab was so far from punishing this Blasphemer, that he doth not so much as Rebuke him, but Treats him like a friend, and a Brother; dismisseth him upon easie Terms, and takes his Word for the Performance, and takes not the least Care for the Reparation of God's Honour, but only for the Amplification of his own Power. Quest. Why were the People punished for Ahab's Sin? Answ. 1. Because Ahab was punished in the loss of his People. 2. The People were punished for their own Sins, which were many, and great; though God took this occasion to inflict it. 3. The great injury and mischief was hereby done to his own People; who by this meek foolish and wicked act, were exposed to all those Rapines and Slaughters which Benhadad either did commit, or might have committed against them afterwards; of which, consequently Ahab was guilty. And it muft be considered, That all the Israelites were the Lord's peculiar people: nor did their Apostacy from God, deprive God of his right; and the Kings of Israel and Judah had these committed to them, in way of Trust, to be Governed and Protected by them. And therefore Ahab for this gross breach of his Trust, was justly liable, though not to the Censures of his People, yet to the Hand of God, who was his King and Governour.

43 And the king of Israel went to his house, heavy and displeased u, and came to Samaria.

u Not for his Sin, but for the fad Effects of it upon himself, and People; which he might confidently expect, having had many experiences, that God did not suffer the Words of his Prophets to fall to the ground.

CHAP. XXI.

Ahab coveteth to buy Naboth's Vineyard: Which is denied him, and he is grieved, 1——4. Jezebel writeth Letters against Naboth: He is condemned of Blasphemy, and stoned, 5——14. Ahab possesseth the Vineyard, 15, 16. Elijah denounceth Judgment against Ahab and Jezebel, 17——26. He repenting, God deferreth the Judgment, 27——29.

AND it came to pass after these things, that Naboth the Jezreelite had a vineyard, which was in Jezreel a, hard by the palace of Ahab king of Samaria.

a Where one of Ahab's Palaces was, as the other was in Samaria.

2 And Ahab spake unto Naboth, saying, Give me thy * vineyard that I may have it for a garden of herbs, because it is near unto my house, and I will give thee for it a better vineyard than it: or if it † seem good to thee, I will give thee the worth of it in money.

* 1 Sam. 8. 14. † Heb. be good in thine eyes.

3 And Naboth said to Ahab, the LORD forbid it me, that I should give the inheritance of my fathers unto thee b.

b For God hath expresly, and for divers weighty Reasons forbidden the alienation of Lands from the Tribes and Families to which they were allotted, Levit. 25. 15, 23, 25. Numb. 36. 7. Ezek. 46. 18. And although these might have been alienated till the Jubilee, yet he durst not sell it to the King for that time; because he supposed, that if once it came into the King's Hand, especially to be made a Garden of Pleasure, and affixed to his Palace, neither he, nor his Posterity, could ever recover it again; and so he should both offend God, and wrong his Posterity; which, being, as it seems, a Pious Man, he durst not do.

4 And Ahab came into his house, heavy and displeased, because of the word which Naboth the Jezreelite had spoken to him: for he had said, I will not give thee the inheritance of my fathers: and he laid him down upon his bed, and turned away his face c, and would eat no bread d.

c From the Light, and Company which either then were with him, or might come to him, to the Wall, as Hezekiah did under a like dejection of Spirit, Isa. 38. 2.

d Refused to eat meat in his usual time.

5 ¶ But Jezebel his wife came to him, and said unto him, Why is thy spirit so sad, that thou eatest no bread?

6 And he said unto her, Because I spake unto Naboth the Jezreelite, and said unto him, Give me thy vineyard for money; or else, if it please thee, I will give thee another vineyard for it: and he answered, I will not give thee my vineyard.

7 And Jezebel his wife said unto him, Doest thou now govern the kingdom of Israel e? arise, and eat bread, and let thine heart be merry: I will give thee the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite.

e Art thou fit to be King, that canst put up such Affronts from thy Subjects, and hast not the Courage to use thy Absolute Power to dispose of them, and theirs, as seemeth good unto thee?

8 So she wrote letters in Ahabs name, and sealed them with his seal, and sent the letters unto the elders, and to the nobles f that were in his city g dwelling with Naboth.

f Whom she very well knew to be fit for her purpose. g i.e. In Jezreel. So she seeks to destroy him with a pretence of Justice, and with a little reflection upon Ahab, as might be.

9 And she wrote in the letters, saying, Proclaim a fast h, and set Naboth ‖ on high i among the people.

‖ Heb. in the top of the people.

h To remove all suspicion of hatred, or evil design in Ahab, and to beget a good opinion of him amongst his People, as if his Afflictions had done him good, and as if he were grown zealous for Gods Honour, and careful of his Peoples welfare, and therefore desirous to prevent, and avert the further displeasure of God against his City and Kingdom, and in order thereunto, to enquire into all those sins which provoked God against them, and effectually to purge them out. 1 In a Scarfold, or some other high-place, where Malefactors were usually and fitly Placed, that they might be seen, and their Offence heard by all the People.

10 And set two men, sons of Belial, before him, to bear witness against him, saying, Thou didst ‖ blaspheme k God and the king: and then carry him out l, and ‖ stone him m that he may die n.

‖ Heb. bless. So Gr. Job 2. 5, 9. ‖ Act. 6. 11 ‖ Lev. 24. 15, 16.

k Heb. Bless. Blessing is put for cursing and blaspheming, as Job 1. 11. 2. 5. and 2. 9. 6 also here, as is apparent, because his blessing God and the king had been no Crime. It is a Figure called Euphemismus. God would have Blasphemy so much abhorred, that it should not easily and unnecessarily be named by its proper name. Compare Psal. 16. 4. 1 To the place where Malefactors were punished, which was out of the City, Lev. 24. 23. Jos. 7. 24. Mar. 15. 20. Heb. 13. 12. partly, to shew that they were unworthy of all humane society, and abhorred by all the people: and partly, because the place where they were killed, was thereby ceremonially polluted. m The proper punishment of Blasphemers, Lev. 24. 15, 16. n As one that cursed his God, and his Political Father, his King. See Exod. 21. 17. and 22. 28.

11 And the men of his city, even the elders, and the nobles, who were the inhabitants in his city, did as Jezebel had sent unto them o, and as it was written in the letters which she had sent unto them.

o Which is not at all strange in them who had for a long time cast off the fear and sense of God, and prostituted their Consciences and Religion to please their King, and sold themselves to all manner of wickedness, and could not now make a safe and honourable retreat, and durst not disobey Jezebel's command, by whom they knew the King was wholly governed, and who could easily have taken away their Lives in the same manner, if they had refused to kill Naboth.

12 They proclaimed a Fast, and set Naboth on high among the people.

13 And there came in two men, children of Belial, and sat before him: and the men of Belial witnessed against him, even against Naboth, in the presence of the people, saying, Naboth did ‖ blaspheme God and the king. Then they carried him forth out of the city, and stoned * him p with stones that he died.

‖ Heb. bless. So Gr. * 2 Kin. 9. 26.

p And his Sons with him, as it may be thought from 2 King. 9. 26. that so the King might have an undisturbed possession: for which they might pretend those examples, Numb. 16. 32. Jos. 7. 24. But these were examples of extraordinary vengeance, and by special Warrant from God; and the Law of God was positively contrary to it, Deut. 24. 16.

14 Then they sent to Jezebel q, saying, Naboth is stoned, and is dead.

q By whom they knew the Affairs of the Kingdom were managed, and this Design contrived.

15 ¶ And it came to pass, when Jezebel heard that Naboth was stoned, and was dead, that Jezebel said to Ahab, Arise, take possession of the vineyard of Naboth r the Jezreelite, which he refused to give thee for money: for Naboth is not alive, but dead.

r Either, First, By right of Confiscation, to repair the injury which he did to the King by blaspheming him. Or, Secondly, By tyrannical usurpation. Or, Thirdly, By right of Inheritance: for some say that Ahab was his next Kinsman, his Sons being Dead; which they judge more likely, because his Land was next to the Kings.

16 And it came to pass, when Ahab heard that Naboth was dead, that Ahab rose up to go down to the vineyard of Naboth the Jezreelite, to take possession of it.

17 ¶ And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

18 Arise, go down to meet Ahab king of Israel, which is in Samaria f: behold, he is t in the vineyard of Naboth, whither he is gone down to possess it.

f Either, who now is there, and about to depart thence to Jezreel: or, who commonly dwells there. t Or rather, he will be; by that time that thou comest thither, thou shalt find him there.

19 And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the LORD, Hast thou killed, and also taken possession u? And thou shalt speak unto him, saying, Thus saith the LORD, in the place where dogs licked the Blood of Naboth, shall dogs lick thy blood, even thine x.

u Thou hast murdered an Innocent and Righteous Man: and instead of repenting for it, thou hast added another piece of injustice and violence to it, and art going confidently and chearfully to reap the Fruit of thy wickedness. He ascribes Jezebel's Fact to Ahab, because Jezebel did it by his Connivance, and Consent, and Authority, and for the satisfaction of his inordinate Appetite. x Quest. How was this fulfilled, when Ahab's blood was not licked in Jezreel, which was in the Tribe of Issachar, but in the Pool of Samaria, chap. 22. 38. which was in the Tribe of Ephraim? Ans. First, This was done, though not in the same individual place, yet in the same general place, i. e. in the Territory of Samaria, within which Jezreel was; and in a place of the same nature, a publick and common place; for such was both the place of Naboth's Execution, and the Pool of Samaria. Secondly, This was particularly accomplished in his Son Joram, as is affirmed, 2 King. 9. 25, 26. whose blood is not improperly called Ahab's blood, because Children are said to be born of their Parents blood. See Job. 1. 13. Ad. 17. 26. Obj. These words, thy blood, even thine, shew that it is meant of Ahab's Person. Ans. True, the threatning was so directed and designed at first; but afterwards, upon his humiliation, the punishment was transferred from him to his Son, as is expressed, ver. 29. Obj. This is said to be fulfilled in Ahab's Posterity, chap. 22. 38. Ans. Either that may be referred to some other Prediction or Commination not elsewhere mentioned: or rather, it intimates, that it was in part, and in some fort fulfilled in him, though not so severely and opprobriously, nor with such Characters of the Curse as it was in his Son; whence he there mentions only the thing, without any regard unto the place here designed. But it may further be observed, That although upon Ahab's humiliation the Curse here threatned might seem to be wholly translated from his Person to his Posterity; yet upon Ahab's return to sin, in the next Chapter, he brings back the Curse upon himself, and so it is no wonder if it be in some fort fulfilled in him also. Thirdly, The Hebrew word, rendred in the place where, may be, and is by some learned men otherwise rendred, either thus, Instead of this that; that being frequently said to be done in anothers place, which was onely done in his stead: or, like as: or, because that. So it doth not design the place, but the cause and reason of this Judgment. And in this sense the same word is used, Zech. 2. 10.

20 And Ahab said to Elijah y, Hast thou found me z, O mine enemy a? And he answered, I have found thee: because thou hast sold thy self c to work evil in the sight of the LORD d.

y Upon, and after his delivery of the message last mentioned, which it was needless to repeat. z Dost thou pursue me from place to place? Wilst thou never let me rest? Art thou come after me hither with thy unwelcome Messages? a That art always disturbing, threatning, and upbraiding me, and expressing not so much Gods mind, as thy own hatred and enmity against me. Comp. ch. 22. 8. b The hand of God hath found and overtaken thee in the very act of thy sin. c Thou hast wilfully and wholly resigned up thy self to be the bondslave of the Devil, or Baal, and of wicked Jezebel, to do whatsoever they perswade thee to do; as a man that sells himself to another is totally in his Masters Power, and must employ all his time and strength for his Service. Compare 2 King. 17. 17. See on Rom. 7. 14. d i. e. Impudently and contemptuously. Withal he minds him, that although his sin was in a great measure hid from the eyes of men by Jezebel's cunning contrivance, yet it was evident and known to God, who would require it at his Hands.

21 Behold, * I will bring evil upon thee, and will take away thy posterity, and will cut off from Ahab * him that pisseth against the wall, and * him that is shut up, and left in Israel,

* 2 King. 9. 8.

e Of which see on chap. 14. 10.

22 And will make thine house like the house of * Jeroboam the son of Nebat, and like the House of * Baasha the son of Ahijah, for the provocation wherewith thou hast provoked me to anger, and made Israel to sin.

* 2 King. 9. 9. * 15. 29.

23 And * of Jezebel also spake the LORD, saying, The dogs shall eat Jezebel by the ‖ wall f of Jezreel.

* 2 King. 9. 36.

‖ Or, by the ditch, or fort: or, in the Portion, as it is explained in 2 King. 9. 36. the Hebrew chel, here, being put for chelek, which there by an Apocope of the last Hebrew Letter, which is not unusual in the Hebrew Tongue.

24 * Him that dieth of Ahab in the city, the dogs shall eat; and him that dieth in the field, shall the fowls of the air eat.

* 14. 11. 16. 4.

25 ¶ But there was none like unto Ahab g, which did sell himself to work wickedness in the sight of the LORD, whom Jezebel his Wife ‖ stirred up.

g None among all the Kings of Israel which had been before him. b This is added to shew, that temptations to sin are no excuse to the sinner.

26 And he did very abominably in following idols, according to all things as did the Amorites i, whom the LORD cast out before the Children of Israel.

i i. e. The i i. e. The seven Nations of Canaan, all called by this Name, as Gen. 15. 16. and 28. 22. Amos 2. 9, 10.

27 And it came to pass when Ahab heard those words, that he rent his clothes, and put sackcloth upon his flesh, and fasted, and lay in sackcloth, and went softly k.

k i. e. Slowly and silently, after the manner of mourners, or those who are under a great conflernation, and in deep confideration.

28 And the word of the LORD came to Elijah the Tishbite, saying,

29 Seest thou how Ahab humbleth himself before me? because he humbleth himself before me, I will not bring the evil m in his days: but * in his sons days will I bring the evil upon his house.

2 King. 9. 26.

l i. e. In my presence, and upon my threatning. But this humiliation or repentance of Ahab's was only external and superficial, arising from the terror of God's Judgments; and not sincere and serious, proceeding from the Love of God, or a true sense of his sin, or a solemn purpose of amendment of his Life, as appears, because all the particulars of his repentance here, ver. 27. are external and ritual only; nor is there the least intimation of any one sign or fruit of his true repentance, as that he restored Naboth's Land, or reproved his infamous Wife; but in the very next Chapter you find him returning to his former Vomit, hating and threatning the Lords Prophets, &c. m i. e. The Judgment threatned, both that ver. 19. which was not inflicted upon Ahab with so much ignominy, and with that particular signature of Gods vengeance, that it was to be done in the same place, as it was upon his Son Joram; and especially that, ver. 21, 22. which was wholly suspended until his Sons days.

CHAP. XXII.

Ahab intending War against the Syrians, is advised by Jehoshaphat first to ask Counsel of God: Ahab's Prophets advise him to it, especially Zedekiah, 1——12. Micaiah, a Prophet of the Lord, disswadeth him from it: And is put in Prison by Ahab, 13——28. Ahab goeth to the Battel, is slain: The Dogs lick his Blood; and Ahaziah succeedeth him, 29——40. Jehoshaphat's good Reign over Judah: His Acts and Death: Jehoram succeedeth him, 41——50. Ahaziah's evil Reign, 51——53.

AND they a continued three years b without war between Syria and Israel.

a The Syrians and Israelites designed in the following words. b Computed from the last War and League wherewith it was concluded: because both Ahab and Benhadad were so weakned and broken by the late Wars, that they needed and desired Peace to recruit themselves, and repair their former losses.

2 And it came to pass in the third year, that * Jehoshaphat the King of Judah came down to the king of Israel c.

* 1 Chron. 3. 10.

c Having now, as he supposed, made a firm peace with Ahab by the Alliance contracted between Joram his Son, and Athaliah, Ahab's Daughter; Of which see 2 King. 8. 18. 2 Chron. 18. 1.

3 (And the king of Israel said unto his servants, Know ye that * Ramoth in Gilead is ours d, and we be ‖ still, and take it not out of the hand of the king of Syria?)

* 1 Chron. 6. 73. ‖ Heb. silent from fighting.

d i. e. Belongeth to us by right, both by Gods Donation, and designation of it for a City of Refuge, Jos. 21. 38. and by our last agreement with Benhadad, 1 King. 20. 34. which he refuseth to deliver up to us upon our demand.

4 And he said unto Jehoshaphat, Wilt thou go with me to battel to Ramoth-gilead? And Jehoshaphat said to the king of Israel, * I am as thou art, my people as thy people, my horses as thy horses e.

* 2 King. 3. 7.

e I will heartily and effectually join with thee; and my Forces shall be at thy service, as much as my own.

5 And Jehoshaphat said unto the king of Israel, Enquire f I pray thee, at the word of the LORD to day.

f By some Prophet; that we may know the mind of God in it, and what success we may expect. This was the practice of the Godly. See Judg. 1. 1. and 20. 28. 1 Sam. 23. 2.

6 Then the king of Israel gathered the prophets g together, about four hundred men, and said unto them, Shall I go against Ramoth-gilead to battel, or shall I forbear? And they said, Go up: for the LORD shall deliver it unto the hand of the king.

g Which doubtless were his own Idle Prophets, or the Priests of Baal; probably those very 400 Men whom Jezebel preferred from that great slaughter, chap. 18. who yet gave in their Answer in the Name of Jehovah, not of Baal; either, in compliance with Jehoshaphat; or rather, by Ahab's direction, that good Jehoshaphat might be deceived by them, into a good opinion of the War.

7 And Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a Prophet of the LORD besides h, that we might enquire of him?

h Besides these, who may seem to be such by your Opinion, and their own profession: but I desire further satisfaction from some other Prophet.

8 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one i man (Micaiah k the son of Imlah) by whom we may enquire of the LORD; but I hate him, for he doth not prophesie good concerning me, but evil l. And Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so m.

i To wit, in this place, for whom I can speedily send: for there were also other Prophets elsewhere in the Kingdom, as Elijah, Elisha, and others: but these were not at hand for the present occasion. k Not one of the 12 Prophets, who lived about 150 Years after this time, but another of that name. l He is always a messenger of evil tidings: which was true, but no sufficient reason why he should hate him, because Micaiah was purely God's Instrument in all his Messages: and whatsoever evil he threatned, Ahab himself was the cause and procurer of it. m Do not presage evil to our enterprize: let us neither hate his person, nor despise his message; but first hear it, and then do as we see cause.

9 Then the king of Israel called an ‖ Officer, and said, Hasten hither Micaiah, the son of Imlah.

‖ Or, Eunuch.

10 And the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, sat each on his throne, having put on their robes n, in a ‖ void place o in the entrance of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets prophesied before them.

Heb. floor.

n Their Royal Robes, and Ensigns of Majesty. o In the place of Judicature, which was in, or nigh the Gate of the City, and in the front of some void place, where either People stood to hear and see Justice administred; or Souldiers were placed for the defence of the City in time of War.

11 And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah made him horns of iron p: and he said, Thus saith the LORD q, With these shalt thou push the Syrians, until thou have consumed them.

p Fit emblems of the Power and Victory of these two Kings. The Devil is God's Ape, and the false Prophets sometimes imitating the true, who when they declared God's mind by words, did also oftentimes confirm it by sensible signs. See Isa. 20. 2. Jer. 27. 2. q Heb. Jehovah: whose Name he pretends, to gain the more credit and countenance to his words. See on v. 7.

12 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the kings hand.

13 And the Messenger that was gone to call Micaiah, spake unto him, saying, Behold now, the words of the prophets declare good unto the king with one mouth: let thy word, I pray thee, be like the word of one of them, and speak that which is good r.

r This he designs, not out of any Love to Micaiah (whom he perswades to debauch his Conscience), but meerly out of a desire to gratify his Kings humour.

14 And Micaiah said, As the LORD liveth, what the LORD saith unto me s, that will I speak.

s What answer God shall put into my mind and mouth; which, it seems, was not yet done.

15 ¶ So he came to the king, and the king said unto him, Micaiah, shall we go against Ramoth-gilead to battel, or shall we forbear? And he answered him t, Go, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.

t Not seriously, but ironically, using the very words of the false Prophets, in way of derision: As appears, First, From his omission of that Solemn Preface, Thus saith the Lord; or, this is the word of the Lord, which the Prophets generally used, and which himself useth when he comes to his serious answer, v. 19. Secondly, From Ahab's reply, ver. 16. which shews that he suspected Micaiah's sincerity in that answer, and gathered by his gesture or manner of speaking, that he spake onely mimically, as representing and traducing the false Prophets for their answer. See the Like Ironical passages, Gen. 3. 22. Judg. 10. 14. 1 King. 18. 27. Eccles. 11. 9. Ezek. 20. 39. Amos 4. 4, 5. All which expressions are not used to lead Men into mistakes, but to bring them to the sight of their sin and duty; which may be done sometimes most effectually in this way. So Micaiah's meaning is plainly this, Because thou dost not seek to know the truth, but only to please thy self, go to the Battel, as all thy Prophets advise thee, and expect the Success which they promise thee, and try the truth of their Prediction by thy own costly experience.

16 And the king said unto him, How many times shall I adjure thee u, that thou tell me nothing, but that which is true in the Name of the LORD?

u I adjure thee again and again, that thou give over this mockery, and seriously tell me the mind of God in this matter.

17 And he said, I saw x all Israel * scattered upon the hills y, as sheep that have not a shepherd z: And the LORD said, These have no master, let them return every man to his house in peace a.

* Matth. 9. 36.

x In the Spirit, or in a Vision. y Upon the Mountains of Gilead, nigh Ramoth: either, where they lay encamped by Ahab's order: or, to which they fled from the Enemy, esteeming that the safest place. See Matth. 24. 16. z As people who have lost their King. See Num. 27. 17. Isa. 40. 11. and 44. 28. Ezek. 34. 23. a Discharged from the War: which was fulfilled, v. 26.

18 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would prophesie no good concerning me, but evil b?

b Now thou seest my words verified, and this man shewing his hatred by this malignant and treasonable Prophecy, and how little heed is to be given to his words. Which crafty insinuation seems to have had too great an influence upon good Jehoshaphat; otherwise, he would never have gone to the Battel.

19 And he said, Hear thou therefore c the word of the LORD: I saw d the LORD sitting on his throne, * all the host of Heaven e standing by him f, on his right hand, and on his left.

* Job 1. 6 and 2. 1. Dan. 7. 10.

c Because thou givest credit to thy false Prophets, and distrustest my words, as if they were but the suggestions of my own fancy, and hatred of thy Person; I will give thee a distinct and true account of the whole matter, in Gods Name and Prefence. d By the Eyes of my Mind: for he could not see the Lord with bodily Eyes. e i. e. The Angels, 14. who who are oft called Gods loft or loſts, because of their great number, excellent order, and constant readiness to attend upon God, and to execute his Commands. See Gen. 2. 1. Pſal. 103.21. and 148.2. These Angels were both good and bad, the one possibly on his right, the other on his left hand. Nor is it strange that the Devils are called the host of heaven; if you consider, First, That their original seat was in Heaven, and men in Scripture are oft called by the name of the place from whence they came. Secondly, That the name of heaven is oft given to all that part of the World which is above the Earth, and among the reſt, to the Air, as Gen. 1. 20. and 7. 11. and 8. 2. and 27. 28. Deut. 4. 11. and 11. 11. where the Devils residence and dominion lies, Eph. 2. 2. and that both Michael and his Angels, and the Dragon and his Angels, are said to be, and to wage war in heaven, Revel. 12. 7. i. e. either the Air, or the Church. And this place is not to be understood as if Micaiah had seen with his bodily Eyes, the Lord and his Angels sitting in the third Heaven; but that he saw a representation of the Divine Prudence in the Air, attended with good and bad Angels. f In the posture of Miniſters, to receive and execute his Commands.

20 And the LORD said, Who shall‖ perſwade Ahab g, that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? And one said on this manner, and another said on that manner.

g This is not to be grosly understood, as if God did ask and take counsel from his Creatures, or were at a loſs to find out an expedient to accomplish his own Will; did conſider several ways, and then close with that which upon debate appeared to be best; all which, it is ridiculous to imagine concerning a God of perfect and infinite knowledge: but only to bring down divine things to our shallow Capacities, and to express the various means which God hath to execute his own Designs.

21 And there came forth a spirit h, and stood before the LORD, and said, I will perſwade him.

h An evil Spirit came out of the host or company of them, standing possibly on the left hand, and presented himself before the Throne, as having something to say to the Lord.

22 And the LORD said unto him, Wherewith? And he said, I will go forth, and I will be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets k. And he said, * Thou shalt perſwade him, and prevail also !: go forth, and do so m.

* Judg. 9. 23.

k I will inſpire a Lie into the Minds and Mouths of his Prophets. I will give them up into thy hands, and blind their minds, and leave them to their own ignorance and wickedneſs, which will certainly lead them into dreadful mistakes. m This is not a Command, but only a Permiſſion; which is oft expressed in the Imperative Mood; as 1 Sam. 16. 10. Matth. 8. 22. Joh. 13. 27. I will not hinder thee from tempting them, nor give them Grace to withstand their temptation; wherefore thou mayst be assured of Success.

23 Now therefore behold, the LORD hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of all these thy prophets, and the LORD hath spoken evil concerning thee.

24. But Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah n went near, and smote Micaiah on the cheek o, and said, * Which way went the spirit of the LORD from me to speak unto thee?

* 2 Chr. 18. 23.

n The chief of the False Prophets, who was much in the King's Favour, upon which he now presumed. o In way of Contempt and Scorn, Job 16. 10. Prov. 20. 2. Lament. 3. 30. Mark 14. 65. p i.e. In what manner went it? For although as I and my Brethren have consulted the Lord, and answered in his Name, and have the same Spirit which thou pretendeſt to have, and not a lying Spirit, as thou doſt falsly and maliciously affirm, How is it possible that the same Spirit should tell us one thing, and thee the quite contrary?

25 And Micaiah said, Behold, thou shalt see in that day, when thou shalt go ‖ into † an inner chamber to hide thy self q.

‖ Or, from chamber, to chamber. † Heb. a chamber in a chamber.

q Out of a just fear and expectation of the deserved punishment of a falſe Prophet, and of the great Author and Abettor of this pernicious War, and of Ahab's Destruction.

26 And the King of Israel said, Take Micaiah, and carry him back r unto Amon the governour of the city, and to Joash the kings son:

r To wit, into Priſon; where it seems, he was before shut up: for so the Lords Prophets were used by Ahab. And some think he was the Deliverer of that unwelcome Meſſage, chap. 20. 41, 42.

27 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this fellow in the priſon, and feed him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction ſ, until I come in peace t.

ſ i. e. With a very coarſe and sparing Diet, whereby he may be only supported to endure his Torment. See Deut. 16. 3. 2 Chr. 18. 26. Iſa. 30. 20. t Until I return in Triumph, which I doubt not I shall do in spight of all his malicious Suggeſtions to the contrary, and then I shall call him to an account for all his Lies and Impudence.

28 And Micaiah said, If thou return at all in peace, the LORD hath not spoken by me u. And he said x, Hearken, O people, every one of you.

u I acknowledge my self to be an Impoſtor, and to deserve Death. x i. e. Micaiah, the Person but named, being assured of the Truth of his Prophecy, calls all the People to be Witneſses of it.

29 So the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah y went up to Ramoth-gilead.

y Who, though a good Man, yet was easily deceived in this matter; partly, because Micaiah was a Perſon unknown to him, and both he and the other Prophets pretending to give their Anſwer in the Name of the Lord, it seemed hard to him to determine the Controverſie, which only the Event could decide; and therefore it is no wonder if he was over-born by the vaſt Diſproportion of 400 Prophets to one, and by his Relation, and Obligation, and Affection to Ahab; and partly, because the War was Just and Lawful to recover his own Rights, which the Syrian King unjuſtly detained from him.

30 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, ‖ I will disguise my self z, and enter into the battel, but put thou on thy robes a. And the king of Israel disguised himself, and went into the battel.

‖ Heb. I will change my self.

z i. e. Put off my Imperial Habit, that the Syrians may not know me, and direct their main Force againſt me; which they will aſſuredly endeavour, as knowing that this War proceeded from me, and is likely to die with me: and then thou shalt see that this Man is a falſe Prophet, and I shall have the Succeſs which I desire and expect, notwithstanding all his Preſages. a Thy Royal Robes: which thou mayst do without any Danger, because thou art not the Object either of the Syrians Rage, or of this falſe Prophesie.

31 But the king of Syria commanded his thirty and two captains, that had rule over his chariots b, saying, Fight neither with small nor great, save onely with the king of Israel c.

b And the Men that fought from them, or with them, i. e. his whole Army. Possibly the Chariots and the whole Army were distributed into thirty two several parts, and each Captain ruled those Chariots and Soldiers attending upon them, which fell to his share. c This he ordered, either in Policy, truly supposing this to be the best way to put an end to the War: or, with Design to take him Priſoner, that thereby he might wipe out the ſtain of his own Captivity, and recover the Honour and Advantage which then he loſt: or rather, by the Power and Providence of God, which diſpoſeth the Hearts of Kings as he pleaſeth; and inclined them to this course, that they might, though ignorantly, accomplish his Word and Counsel.

32 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, Surely it is the king of Israel. And they turned aside d to fight against him: and Jehoshaphat cried out e.

d They drew their Forces from their several quarters towards Jehoshaphat. e To the Lord for Help, 2 Chron. 18. 31.

33 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots perceived that it was not the king of Israel f, that they turned back from pursuing him.

f Which they eaſily perceived either, by the Words uttered to God or them; or, by the difference of his Shape and Countenance from that of Ahab, which probably many of them very well knew.

34 And a certain man drew a bow † at a venture g, and smote the king of Israel between the † joints of the harneſs b: wherefore he said unto the driver of his chariot, Turn thine hand, and carry me out of the host; for I am † wounded.

† Heb. in the fulness. The bow being drawn to the full length of the arrow.

g Heb. in his ſimplicity, i. e. ignorantly, without care, or choice, or any deſign, or thought of reaching Ahab. Or, according to his pre-deſtination, i. e. with his pre-ſcit and utmoſt ſtrength: which is mentioned as the reaſon why it pierced through the Joints of his Armour. b Where the several parts of his Armour are joined together: which poſſibly were not then joined with ſo much art and cloſeneſs as now they are. i Out of the midſt of the Hoſt where the Heat of the Battel was, into a safer part of the Army. See the next Verſe.

35 And the battel † increased k that day: and the king was stayed up l in his chariot against the Syrians, and died at even, and the blood ran out of the wound into the † midst of the chariot.

† Heb. stood.

† Heb. was made to go up.

k i. e. Grew hot and violent. l Was supported by Cordials, or by those his Servants, that by his Preſence he might encourage his Soldiers to Fight more courageouſly, and that he might see the event of the Battel.

36 And there went a proclamation throughout the host m, about the going down of the sun, saying, Every man to his city, and every man to his own country n.

m Probably by Jehoshaphat's Order, with the Conſent of the chief Captains of Israel; and possibly with the permiſſion of the King of Syria, upon notice of Ahab's Death, which was the only thing at which he aimed, v. 31. n The King is dead, and the Battel ended: and therefore every man hath liberty to return to his own Houſe and private occasions.

37 ¶ So the king died, and † was brought to Samaria, and they buried the king in Samaria.

† Heb. came.

38 And one washed the chariot in the pool of Samaria, and the dogs licked up his blood o, and they washed his armour, according * unto the word of the LORD, which he spake p.

* Chap. 21. 19.

o Together with the Water wherewith it was mixed. p Of which see the Note on chap. 21. 19.

39 Now the reſt of the acts of Ahab, and all that he did, and the ivory house q which he made, and all the cities that he built, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

q Heb. the houſe of the tooth or teeth, to wit, of Elephants: See chap. 10. 18. Not that it was made wholly of ſolid Ivory, but because the other materials were covered, or intermixed, or adorned with Ivory. Compare Amos 3. 15.

40 So Ahab slept with his fathers, and Ahaziah his son reigned in his stead.

41 ¶ And * Jehoshaphat the son of Asa began to reign over Judah in the fourth year of Ahab r king of Israel.

* Chap. 22. 41.

r Who Reigned 22 Years; therefore he Reigned about 18 Years with Ahab.

42 Jehoshaphat was thirty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and five years s in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

s Part, by himſelf; and partly, with his Sons whom he took into the Fellowſhip of his Kingdom. Of which, see more on 2 King. 1. 17.

43 And he walked in all the ways of Asa his father t, he turned not aside from it, doing that which was right in the eyes of the LORD: nevertheleſs, the high places were not taken away u; for the people offered and burnt incense yet in the high places.

t He took the same care for the government of his Kingdom; and especially for the reformation of Religion, that Aſa did; of whom, see Chap. 15. 11. u Obſerl. It is said, he did take them away, 2 Chron. 17. 6. Anſw. He took away those which were erected to Idols; of which, he seems to speak there, because the high places are there joined with Groves, which were generally erected to Idols, and not to the True God, as will appear to any one that shall compare all the Scriptures where groves are mentioned; but he could not take away those which were erected to the True God; of which, this place manifeſtly speaks; as also that parallel place, 1 King. 15. 14. where see the notes. Or, he took them away, but not fully; or not in the very beginning of his Reign.

44 And Jehoshaphat made peace with the king of Israel x.

x With Ahab firſt, and then with his Son. This is noted as a Blemiſh in his Government, 2 Chron. 19. 2. and proved of most miſchievous Conſequence to Jehoshaphat's Poſterity; as we shall see 2 King. 9. and 10.

45 Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoshaphat, and his might that he shewed, and how he warred, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah y?

y Whence the moſt memorable Paſſages were Tranſlated into that Canonical Book of the Chronicles.

46 And the remnant of the Sodomites z which remained in the days of his father Asa, he took out of the land.

z Of whom see Deut. 23. 17. 1 King. 14. 24. and 15. 12.

47 There was then no king in Edom: a deputy a was king.

a Sent, and set over them by the Kings of Judah, from the time of David, 2 Sam. 8. 14. until the days of Jehoram, 2 Chron. 21. 8.

48 Jehoshaphat‖ made ships b of Tharshish c to go to Ophir d for gold: but they went not; for the ships were broken at Ezion-geber e.

b As it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 20. 36. Or, there were to Jehoshaphat ten ships: the Hiſtoſis of the Verb Subſtantive, and of the Præfix Lamed, being frequent in the Hebrew Language. Some render the Words, he made ten ships; ſo joining both Texts together, and out of both compleating the ſence. c Either, 1. Of the Sea, as this Word is thought sometimes to be uſed. Or, rather 2. To go to Tarſhiſh, (as it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 20. 36.) and thence to Ophir, as it here follows. See more Edom, and consequently in Jehoshaphat's Territories.

49 Then said Ahaziah the son of Ahab unto Jehoshaphat, Let my servants go with thy servants in the ships, but Jehoshaphat would not f.

f Obſ. It is said, that he did joyn with Ahaziah herein, 2 Chron. 20. 35,36. Anſw. That was before this time, and before the Ships were broken: for the breaking of the Ships mentioned here, ver. 48. is noted to be the Effect of his Sin, in joyning with Ahaziah, and of the Prophecy conſequent upon it, 2 Chron. 20. 37. And good Jehoshaphat being warned and chaſtiſed by God for this ſin, would not be perſwaded to repeat it; whereby he ſhewed the ſincerity of his Repentance.

50 ¶ And Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father: and Jehoram his son reigned in his stead.

51 ¶ Ahaziah the son of Ahab began to reign over Israel in Samaria the seventeenth year of Jehoshaphat g king of Judah, and reigned two years h over Israel.

g By comparing this Verſe with ver. 41. it appears, that Ahaziah was made King by his Father, and Reigned in Conjunction with him a year or two before Ahab's Death, and as long after it; even as Jehoram the son of Jehoshaphat was made King by his Father in his Life-time, as we shall see hereafter; which poſſibly was done in compliance with Ahab's desire upon Marriage of his Daughter to Jehoshaphat's son: and it may be Ahab, to induce and encourage him to do ſo, gave him an Example of it, and made his Son his Partner in the Kingdom, rather after his Father's Death: or one before it, and another after it.

52 And he did evil in the sight of the LORD, and walked in the way of his father, and in the way of his mother, and in the way of Jeroboam i the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.

i Which Clauſe seems here added, to shew, how little the Authority and Example of Parents, or Ancestors, is to be valued, where it is oppoſed to the Will and Word of God.

53 For he served Baal, and worshipped him, * and provoked to anger the LORD God of Israel, according to all that his father had done.

* By so doing.

II. KINGS.

CHAP. I.

Moab rebelleth againſt Iſrael, 1. Ahaziah being ſick ſendeth to Baalzebub: Elijah foretelleth his Death, 2——4. Ahaziah hearing it, ſendeth twice Captains of 50, to bring Elijah to him: Upon whom he bringeth Fire from Heaven, 5——12. The third Captain entreateth Elijah: Who encouraged by an Angel, goeth and telleth the King of his Death, 13——16. Jehoram ſucceedeth him, 17——18.

Chap. 3.

THEN Moab a rebelled againſt Israel, * after the death of Ahab.

a Which had been ſubdued by David, 2 Sam. 8. 2. as Edom was: and upon the diviſion of this Kingdom into two, Moab was adjoined to that of Iſrael, and Edom to that of Judah, each to that Kingdom upon which it bordered. And when the Kingdoms of Iſrael and Judah were weak and forſaken by God, they took that opportunity to Revolt from them; Moab here, and Edom a little after it.

2 And Ahaziah fell down through a latteſs in his upper chamber b that was in Samaria, and was sick, and he sent meſſengers, and said unto them, Go, inquire of Baal-zebub c the god of Ekron, whether I shall‖ recover of this diſeaſe?

b In which, the Latteſs might be left to convey Light into the lower Room. Which if it now seem abſurd to be in a King's Palace, we muſt not think it was ſo then, when the World was not arrived to that height of Curioſity and Art, in which now it is. But the Words may be, and are by some rendred, through the Battlements (or through the Latteſs in the Battlements) of the Roof of the Houſe. Where being first walking, after the manner, and then ſtanding and looking through, and leaning upon this Latteſs, which was grown infirm, it broke, and he fell down into the Court or Garden belonging to the House. c Properly, the God of Flies. An Idol ſo called, because it was falſly ſuppoſed to deliver those People from Flies, which were both vexatious and hurtful to them: as Jupiter and Hercules were called by a like name among the Greekes, for the same reaſon. And it is evident, both from Sacred and Prophane Hiſtories, That the Idol-gods, being conſulted by the Heathens, did sometimes through God's Permiſſion, and Juſt Judgment, give them Anſwers; though they were generally obſerved, even by the Heathens themſelves, to be dark and doubtful.

3 But the Angel of the LORD said to Elijah the Tishbite, Arise, go up to meet the meſſengers of the king of Samaria, and say unto them, Is it not because there is not a God in Israel d, that ye go to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron?

d Deſt thou not by this action call contempt upon the God of Iſrael, as if he were either ignorant of the Event of thy Diſeaſe, or unable to give thee any Relief; and as if Baal-zebub had more Skill and Power than he?

4 Now therefore thus saith the LORD, ‖ Thou shalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die. And Elijah departed f.

‖ Heb. The bed whither thou art gone up.

e For this was a very heinous Crime, to deny the Perfections of God, and to transfer them to an Idol. See Levit. 19. 31. and 20, 6, 27. Deut. 18. 10. f The Meſſengers not daring to Apprehend him, as ſuſpecting him to be more than Man, because he knew the ſecret Meſſage which the King delivered to them in his Bed-Chamber.

5 ¶ And when the messengers turned back unto him, he said unto them, Why are ye now turned back g?

g Before you have been at Ekron: which he eaſily knew by their quick return.

6 And they said unto him, There came a man up to meet us, and said unto us, Go, turn again unto the king that sent you, and say unto him, Thus saith the LORD, Is it not because there is not a God in Israel, that thou sendeſt to inquire of Baal-zebub the god of Ekron? therefore thou shalt not come down from that bed on which thou art gone up, but shalt surely die.

7 And he said unto them, ‖ What manner of man was he which came up to meet you, and told you these words?

‖ What was the manner of the man?

8 And they answered him, He was an hairy man h, and girt with a girdle of leather about his loins i: and he said, It is Elijah the Tishbite.

h Either, 1. As to his Body; the hair of his Head and Beard being through neglect grown long, and ſpread over much of his Face. Or rather, 2. As to his outward Garment, which was rough and hairy, ſuch as were ſometimes worn by Eminent Perſons in Greece, in ancient Times; and were the proper Habit of the Prophets. See Iſa. 20. 2. Zech. 13. 4. Mat. 3. 4. Heb. 11. 37. i As Jehu the Baptiſt alſo had; Mat. 3. 4. That by his very outward Habit, he might represent Elias, in whoſe Spirit and Power he came.

9 Then the king sent unto him a captain of fifty, with his fifty: and he went up to him, (and behold, he sat on the top of an hill) and he spake unto him, Thou man of God k, the king hath said, Come down l.

k So he calls him in way of Scorn and Contempt; q. d. Thou that vaunteſt, as if thou waſt more than a meer Man. l The King commands mands thee to come to him: which if thou refuſeſt, I am here to carry thee to him by Force.

10 And Elijah anſwered and ſaid unto the captain of fifty, If I be a man of God, then let fire come down from heaven, and conſume thee and thy fifty m. And there came down fire from heaven, and conſumed him and his fifty.

m Which deſire did not proceed from a carnal and malicious Paſſion; but from a pure zeal, to vindicate God's Name and Honour, which was ſo horribly abuſed: and from the motion of God's Spirit; as is evident from God's miraculous Anſwer to his deſire. And therefore Chriſt doth not condemn this Fact of Elias, but only reproves his Diſciples for their perverſe imitation of it, from another Spirit and Principle, and in a more unſeaſonable time, Luke 9. 54, 55.

11 Again alſo he ſent unto him another Captain of fifty, with his fifty: and he anſwered and ſaid unto him, O man of God, Thus hath the king ſaid, Come down quickly n.

n Wherein he diſcovers more Petulancy and Impudence than the former: and ſhews, how little he was moved or affrighted by the former Example.

12 And Elijah anſwered and ſaid unto them, If I be a man of God, let fire come down from heaven, and conſume thee and thy fifty. And the fire of God came down from heaven, and conſumed him and his fifty.

13 ¶ And he ſent again a captain of the third fifty, with his fifty: and the third captain of fifty went up, and came and ‖ fell on his knees before Elijah, and ‖ beſought him o and ſaid unto him, O man of God, I pray thee, let my life, and the life of theſe fifty thy ſervants be precious in thy ſight.

o Expreſſing both Reverence to his Perſon, and a Belief of his Power, and Dread of God's Judgments.

14 Behold, there came fire down from heaven, and burnt up the two captains of the former fifties, with their fifties: therefore let my life now be precious in thy ſight.

15 And the Angel of the LORD ſaid unto Elijah, Go down with him, be not afraid of him. And he aroſe, and went down with him unto the king p.

p Not fearing the rage of the King, nor of Jezebel, nor of all their Forces. Wherein, he gives an eminent Example of his Faith and Obedience: and withal, of his growth in Grace ſince that time that he fled for fear of Jezebel, 1 Kings. 19. 3.

16 And he ſaid unto him q, Thus ſaith the LORD, Foraſmuch as thou haſt ſent meſſengers to inquire of Baal-zebub the God of Ekron, (is it not becauſe there is no God in Iſrael to enquire of his word?) therefore thou ſhalt not come down off that bed on which thou art gone up, but ſhalt ſurely die.

q To his very Face. Nor did the King lay hands upon him, being daunted with the Prophets preſence, and great courage, and confidence; and affrighted by the late dreadful Evidence of his Power with God and over Men: and withal, ſtruck with a divine and extraordinary Terror.

17 ¶ So he died, according to the word of the LORD which Elijah had ſpoken: and Jehoram r reigned in his ſtead, in the ſecond year of Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah s, becauſe he had no ſon.

r His Brother, Chap. 3. 1. for he had no ſon to ſucceed him, as it here follows. 2 Other Paſſages of Scripture ſeem to clash with this, as that Ahaziah, who reigned but two years, begun his reign in Jehoſhaphat's ſeventeenth year, 1 King. 22. 51. and therefore this Jehoram muſt begin his Reign in Jehoſhaphat's Nineteenth Year: and therefore before the Reign of Jehoram, Jehoſhaphat's Son; and that Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat began to reign in the fifth year of Joram, Ahab's ſon, 2 King. 8. 16. Anſw. Theſe difficulties are eaſily reſolved by this conſideration, That it was an uſual Practice among Kings in former Ages, to make their Sons ſometimes their Viceroys and Deputies in the Adminiſtration of the Kingdom; and ſometimes formally Kings in Conjunction with themſelves, and whilſt they lived; whereof there are inſtances both in Prophane Hiſtory, among the Perſians, Greeks, and Romans, and in the Sacred Scripture, as in David; 1 Chron. 23. 1. and 29. 22. in Uzziah, 2 Chron. 26. 21. (and to come cloſe to the point) in Jehoſhaphat, 2 King. 8. 16. who in his Seventeenth Year, when he went to Ahab, and with him to Ramoth-Gilead, appointed his Son Jehoram his Vice-roy, and (in caſe of his Death) his Succeſſor. In the ſecond year from that time, when Jehoram was thus made Vice-King in his Father's ſtead and abſence; this Jehoram, Ahab's ſon, began to Reign: and in the fifth year of the reign of this Joram ſon of Ahab, which was about the Twenty fourth year of Jehoſhaphat's Reign, Jehoram the Son of Jehoſhaphat was formerly made King of Judah, together with his Father; or whileſt Jehoſhaphat lived, and was King of Judah alſo. And ſo all the places agree. To which ſome add, that this Verſe, or this part of it, wherein the difficulty conſiſts, is wanting in ſome ancient Copies, and is omitted by the LXX Interpreters; which is far more prudent and pious to grant, than upon ſuch Chronological difficulties to queſtion the Truth and Divinity of the Holy Scriptures.

18 Now the reſt of the acts of Ahaziah, which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

CHAP. II.

Elijah taking his leave of Eliſha, with his Mantle divideth Jordan, 1——8. And granting Eliſha his Requeſt on Condition, is taken up by a fiery Chariot into Heaven, 9——11. Eliſha dividing Jordan with Eli- jah's Mantle, is acknowledged his Succeſſor, 12——18. He with Salt healeth the Waters at Jericho, 19——22. Children mock him, he curſeth them: and they are devoured by two Bears, 23——25.

AND it came to paſs, when the LORD would take up Elijah into heaven by a whirlwind, that Elijah went with Eliſha from Gilgal.

2 And Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, a Tarry here, I pray thee: for the LORD hath ſent me to Bethel b: and Eliſha ſaid unto him, As the LORD liveth, and * as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they went down to Bethel.

a This he deſires, Either, 1. That he being left alone, might better prepare himſelf for his great Change. Or, 2. Out of his Humility and Modeſty: he deſired no Witneſſes of his Glorious Removal, and no Fame and Glory from it. Or, 3. Out of Indulgence to Eliſha, that he might not be overwhelmed with Grief at ſo ſad a ſight. Or, 4. That he might trie his Love, and whet his Deſire to accompany him; it being highly convenient for God's Honour, and the Church's good, (which Elijah fought above all things) that there ſhould be Witneſſes of ſo glorious a Tranſlation. b Which was truth, but not the whole truth: for he was to go a far longer Journey. But he was firſt to go to Bethel, as alſo to Jericho, to the Schools of the Prophets there, that he might comfort, and ſtrengthen their hearts in God's Work, and give them his laſt and dying Counſels.

3 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Bethel came forth to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the LORD will take away thy maſter c from thy head d to day? And he ſaid, Yea, I know it; hold you your peace e.

c This was revealed to ſome of the Sons of the Prophets, and by them to the whole College. d Heb. from above thy head: Which Phraſe may reſpect, either, 1. The manner of ſitting in Schools, where the Scholar ſat at his Maſters feet, Deut. 33. 3. Act. 22. 3. Or, 2. The manner of Elijah's Tranſlation, which was to be by a Power ſent from Heaven, to take him up thither. e Do not aggravate my grief, nor divert me with any unſeaſonable Diſcourſes; that I may digeſt my ſorrow, and prepare my ſelf for ſo great a Stroke, and diligently attend all my Maſter's ſteps, leſt he be ſnatched away from me whilſt I am talking with you; and that I may beg and obtain ſome great Bleſſing from him, before his departure.

4 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Eliſha, tarry here, I pray thee: for the LORD hath ſent me to Jericho: and he ſaid, As the LORD liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. So they came to Jericho.

5 And the ſons of the prophets that were at Jericho, came to Eliſha, and ſaid unto him, Knoweſt thou that the LORD will take away thy Maſter from thy head to day? And he anſwered, Yea, I know it; hold you your peace.

6 And Elijah ſaid unto him, Tarry, I pray thee here: for the LORD hath ſent me to Jordan. And he ſaid, as the LORD liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee. And they two went on.

7 And fifty men of the ſons of the prophets went and ſtood ‖ to view f afar off: and they two ſtood by Jordan.

f To obſerve this great Event, Elijah's Tranſlation to Heaven, which they expected every moment, now when he had taken his laſt leave, farewell of all the Prophets: and whereof they deſired to be Spectators, not ſo much to ſatisfie their own Curioſity, as that they might be Witneſſes of it to others.

8 And Elijah took his mantle, and wrapt it together, and ſmote the waters, and * they were divided hither and thither, ſo that they two went over on dry ground.

9 ¶ And it came to paſs when they were gone over, that Elijah ſaid unto Eliſha, ask what I ſhall do for thee, before I be taken away from thee. And Eliſha ſaid, I pray thee, let a double portion of thy Spirit g be upon me.

g Either, 1. Double to what is in thee. Which it ſeems not probable, that he had confidence either to aſk, or to expect. Or, rather 2. Double to what the reſt of the Sons of the Prophets may receive at thy Requeſt upon this occaſion. He alludes to the double portion of the firſt-born, Deut. 21. 17. But though Eliſha deſired no more, yet God gave him more than he deſired or expected; and he ſeems to have had a greater Portion of the Prophetical and miraculous gifts of God's Spirit, than Elijah had.

10 And he ſaid, ‖ Thou haſt aſked a hard thing: nevertheleſs, if thou ſeeſt me when I am taken from thee, it ſhall be ſo unto thee: but if not, it ſhall not be ſo i.

h i.e. A rare and ſingular Bleſſing, which I cannot promiſe: for which only God can give; and he gives it only when, and to whom he pleaſeth. i This Sign he propoſed, not without the inſtinct and direction of God's Spirit, that hereby he might engage him more earneſtly to wait, and more fervently to pray for this mercy.

11 And it came to paſs as they ſtill went on and talked, that behold there appeared a * chariot of fire, and horſes of fire k, and parted them both aſunder, and Elijah went up by a whirlwind into heaven l.

k A bright Cloud formed into ſuch a likeneſs, managed by Holy and Bleſſed Angels ſent from Heaven to conduct him thither. l Into the Third Heaven, being in the way ſo tranſformed and changed, as might make him meet to be admitted into thoſe bleſſed Manſions.

12 ¶ And Eliſha ſaw it, and cried, * My father, my father m, the chariot of Iſrael, and the horſemen thereof n.

And he ſaw him no more: and he took hold of his own clothes, and rent them in two pieces.

m So he calls him for his Fatherly Affection to him, and for his fatherly Authority which by his Office he had over him, in which reſpect the Scholars of the Prophets are called their Sons, as 1 King. 20. 35. n Who by thy Example, and Counſels, and Prayers, and Power with God, diſtit more for the Defence and Preſervation of Iſrael, than all their Chariots and Horſes, or other Warlike Proviſions. The Expreſſion alludes to the form of Chariots and Horſes which he had ſeen.

13 He took up alſo the mantle of Elijah, that fell from him o, and went back and ſtood by the † bank of Jordan.

o God ſo ordering it for Eliſha's comfort, and the ſtrengthning of his Faith, as a Pledge, that together with Elijah's Mantle, his Office and Spirit ſhould reſt upon him.

14 And he took the mantle of Elijah, that fell from him, and ſmote the waters, and ſaid, Where is the LORD God of Elijah p? and when he had ſmitten the waters, they parted q hither and thither: and Eliſha went over.

p Who at Elijah's Requeſt divided theſe Waters, and is as able to do it again; and hath given me his Spirit, and Office, and therefore I humbly beg, and confidently expect his Aſſiſtance in this matter. q But theſe Words after [Where is the God of Elijah?] may more properly be many ordred otherwiſe, and that agreeably to the Hebrew, even himſelf? or, even the ſame? (which Words they join with the former, as an Emphatical Addition, or Repetition, which is uſual in fervent Prayers. But they may be rendred without an Interrogation, thus, Surely he is, to wit, here preſent, and ready to help me. Or, ſurely he is the ſame; to wit, to me, that he was to Elijah, as able and willing to work for me, as for Elijah. Then the following Words they render, as they are in the Hebrew) and he ſmote the water, and it was divided. By which Repetition it may ſeem, that he ſmote it twice, and that at the firſt ſmiting, the Succeſs did not anſwer his Deſire and Expectation. Which God ſo ordered, partly to keep him in a modeſt and humble ſenſe of his own Inſufficiency, that he might not be puffed up with the great Gifts which he had now received; Comp. 2 Cor. 12. 7. And partly, to fit him up to a more lively Exerciſe of Faith and Prayer, which followed God's Denial or Suſpenſion of his Help, as it is here expreſſed; which alſo was attended with deſired Succeſs.

15 And when the ſons of the prophets which were * to view at Jericho, ſaw him r, they ſaid s, The ſpirit of Elijah doth reſt on Eliſha. And they came to meet him, and bowed themſelves to the ground before him t.

r Or, as it is in the Hebrew, And the ſons of the Prophets who lived in Jericho, ſaw him over-againſt them, from ſome hill where they ſtood at a convenient diſtance, to obſerve the Event, ver. 7. s Heb. and they ſaid, either by Revelation; or rather, by the viſible Effects of it which they ſaw. t Thereby teſtifying their Reverence and Subjection to him as Elijah's Succeſſor, and their Maſter and Teacher.

16 ¶ And they ſaid unto him, Behold now, there be with thy ſervants fifty † ſtrong men u, let them go, we pray thee, and ſeek thy maſter, leſt peradventure * the ſpirit of the LORD hath taken him up, and caſt him upon † ſome mountain, or into ſome valley w. And he ſaid, Ye ſhall not ſend.

t Able to take ſuch a Journey. u They thought, either, 1. That God had not finally taken him away from them, but only for a time; comp. 1 King. 18. 12. which they heartily deſired, and therefore eaſily believed; or that God had only taken away his Soul, and that his Body was caſt down into ſome place, which they deſired to ſeek, that they might give it an honourable Burial.

17 And when they urged him, till he was aſhamed x, he ſaid, Send. They ſent therefore fifty men, and they ſought three days, but found him not.

x i.e. To wit, to deny them any longer, leſt they ſhould think his denial proceeded from a neglect of his Maſter, or a contempt of the Sons of the Prophets, or a ſecret Content he took in his Maſters Loſs, that he might have his Honour and Power. Or, till they were aſhamed, becauſe he did ſo oft, and ſo obſtinately deny their Requeſt.

18 And when they came again to him (for he tarried at Jericho) he ſaid unto them, Did I not ſay unto you, Go not?

19 ¶ And the men of the city ſaid unto Eliſha, Behold, I pray thee, the ſituation of this city is pleaſant, as my lord ſeeth: but the water is naught, and the ground † barren y.

y Either it was ſo originally, at leaſt, as to that part of the City where the College of the Prophets was; for it is not neceſſary to underſtand this of the whole Territory: or, it became ſo from the Curſe of God inflicted upon it, either when Joſhua firſt took it; or afterwards, when Hiel rebuilt it. Howſoever, upon the Prophets Care, it grew exceeding fruitful, and therefore is commended for its Fertility by later Writers.

20 And he ſaid, Bring me a new cruſe z, and put ſalt therein a. And they brought it to him.

z Partly, that there might be no ground of Suſpicion, that the Cure was wrought by any natural Vertue of any thing which was, or had been in the Cruſe before, but only by God's Power: and partly, that there might be no Legal Pollution in it which might offend God, and hinder his miraculous Operation by it. a A moſt improper Remedy; for ſalt naturally makes Waters brackiſh, and Lands barren. Hereby therefore he would ſhew, That this was effected ſolely by the Divine Power, which could work either without means, or againſt them.

21 And he went forth unto the ſpring of the waters, and caſt the ſalt in there b, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the LORD, I have healed theſe waters: there ſhall not be from thence any more death c, or barren land.

b Which was in it ſelf idle and ineffectual, conſidering both the quality of Salt, and the ſmall quantity of it, and the place where it was put; the Fountain which quickly works out any thing which is put into it: See Lewis, 11. 26. but was only uſed as a ſign of God's Preſence and Power, which did the thing: compare Exod. 15. 25. 2 King. 4. 41. and 6. 6. c i.e. Hurt, or Danger, as death is oft uſed, (as 2 Cor. 11. 23.) to Men or Beaſts, by drinking of it, as formerly.

22 So the waters were healed unto this day, according to the ſaying of Eliſha which he ſpake.

23 ¶ And he went up from thence unto Bethel d: and as he was going up by the way, there came forth little children e out of the city f, and mocked him g, and ſaid unto him, Go up h, thou bald-head i, go up thou bald-head k.

d To the other School or College of Prophets, to inform them of Elijah's tranſlation, and his Succeſſion into the ſame Office: and to direct, comfort, and eſtabliſh them, as he ſaw occaſion. e Or, children: or, young men: as this Hebrew word oft ſignifies, as Gen. 22. 5, 12. and 41. 12. 2 Chr. 13. 7. Iſa. 11. 6. It is more than probable they were old enough to diſcern between Good and Evil, as their Expreſſion ſheweth. f Bethel, which was the Mother-City of Idolatry, 1 King. 12. 28, 29. Hoſ. 4. 15. and 5. 8. where the Prophets planted themſelves, that they might bear witneſs againſt it, and diſſuade the People from it; though, it ſeems, they had but ſmall ſucceſs there. g With great petulancy and vehemency, as the Conjugation of the Hebrew Verb ſignifies; deriding both his Perſon and Miniſtry, and that from a prophane Contempt of the True Religion, and a paſſionate Love to that Idolatry which they knew he oppoſed. h Go up into Heaven, whither thou pretendeſt that Elijah is gone. Why didſt not thou accompany thy Friend and Maſter to Heaven? O that the ſame Spirit would take thee up alſo, that thou mightſt not trouble us more out of ſight, as Elijah did! i So they mock his natural Infirmity, which is a great ſin. k The repetition ſhews their Heartineſs and Earneſtneſs, that it was no ſudden nor raſh ſlip of their Tongue, but a Scoff proceeding from a rooted Impiety and Hatred of God and his Prophets.

24 And he turned back, and looked on them, and curſed them l in the Name of the LORD m: and there came forth two ſhe-bears n out of the wood, and tare forty and two children o of them.

l Not was this Puniſhment too great for the Offence, if it be conſidered, that theſe Children were grown up to ſome maturity; (See on v. 23.) that their mocking proceeded from a great malignity of mind againſt God; that they mocked not only a man, and an ancient man, whoſe very Age commanded reverence; and a Prophet; but even God himſelf, and that moſt admirable and glorious Work of God, the aſſumption of Elijah into Heaven, which makes it in ſome degree reſemble the Sin againſt the Holy Ghoſt; that they might be guilty of many other hainous Crimes, which God and the Prophet knew; and were guilty of Idolatry, which by God's Law deſerved Death: that the Idolatrous Parents were puniſhed in their Children; and that, if any of theſe Children were more innocent and ignorant of what they ſaid, God might have mercy upon their Souls, and then this Death was not a Miſery, but a real Bleſſing to them, that they were taken away from that wicked and idolatrous Education which was moſt likely to expoſe them not only to Temporal, but to an Eternal Deſtruction. m Not from any carnal or revengeful Paſſion, but by the motion of God's Spirit, and by God's Command and Commiſſion, as appears by God's concurrence with him. Which God did, partly, for the terror and caution of all other Idolaters and prophane Perſons who abounded in that place; partly, to vindicate the Honour, and maintain the Authority of his Prophets; and particularly, of Eliſha, now eſpecially in the beginning of his Sacred Miniſtry. And this did beget ſuch a Confidence in Eliſha, that he durſt venture to go into Bethel after this was done; and ſuch a terror in the Bethelites, that they durſt not avenge themſelves of him. n Poſſibly robbed of their Whelps, and therefore more fierce, Prov. 17. 12. Hoſ. 13. 8. but certainly acted by an extraordinary Fury, which God raiſed in them for this purpoſe. This Hebrew word ſignifies not only young Children, but thoſe alſo who are grown up to maturity, as Gen. 32. 22. and 34. 4. and 37. 30. Ruth 1. 5.

25 And he went from thence to mount carmel p, and from thence he returned to Samaria q.

p Partly, to decline the Fury of the People of Bethel: partly, that he might retire himſelf from Men, and converſe more freely with God, and ſo fit himſelf more for the diſcharge of his Employment: and partly, that he might viſit the Sons of the Prophets who lived in that place, or near it. q By the direction of God's Spirit for the ſervice which he did, chap. 3. 11. &c.

CHAP. III.

Jehoram followeth the Sin of Jeroboam: He with Jehoſhaphat and the King of Edom goeth to Battel againſt Moab, 1——8. They in Diſtreſs for Water obtain it by Eliſha, and a Promiſe of Victory, 9——20. The Moabites deceived by the Colour of the Water, coming as to Spoil, are overcome, 21——25. The King of Moab, by ſacrificing his Eldeſt Son ſaveth the Siege, 26, 27.

NOw Jehoram the ſon of Ahab began to reign over Iſrael in Samaria, the eighteenth year of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah a, and reigned twelve years.

a Queſt. How can this be true, when Ahaziah, Jehoram's Predeceſſor, who Reigned two Years, began his Reign in Jehoſhaphat's 17th Year, 1 King. 22. 51? Anſw. Either, Ahaziah Reigned the greateſt part of two Years, to wit, of the 17th and 18th Years of Jehoſhaphat, (parts of Years being oft called Years in the computation of Times, both in Scripture and other Authors) and Jehoram began his Reign towards the end of his 18th Year: or, Ahaziah Reigned part of this two Years with his Father, and the reſt after him.

2 And he wrought evil in the ſight of the LORD, † Heb. but not like his father, and like his mother: for he put * 1 King. away the † image of Baal, * that his father had made b. 16. 31, 32.

h Not from any Principle of Conscience (for that would have reached the Calves also:) but either, because he was startled at the dreadful Judgments of God inflicted upon his Father and Brother for Baal-worship; or, because he needed God's help to subdue the Moabites, which things he knew Baal could not do: or, to gratifie Jehoshaphat, whose help he meant to crave, which he knew he should never obtain without this; and for this reason, it seems, Jezabel was willing to connive at it, as a trick of State.

3 Nevertheless, he cleaved unto the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, which made Israel to sin: he departed not therefrom.

c i.e. The Worship of the Calves: which all the Kings of Israel kept up as a Wall of Partition between their Subjects and those of Judah. Thus he shews that his Religion was over-ruled by his Interest and Policy.

4 ¶ And Mesha king of Moab was a sheep-master d, and rendred unto the king of Israel an hundred thousand lambs, and an hundred thousand rams, with the wool.

d A Man of great Wealth (which in those times and places consisted much in Cattel) which enabled and emboldned him to Rebel against his Sovereign Lord.

5 But it came to pass, when Ahab was dead, that the king of Moab rebelled e against the king of Israel.

e See of this chap. 1. 1. It is here repeated to make way for the following Story. Ahaziah did not attempt the recovery of Moab; either, because he was a Man of a low Spirit and Courage: or, because his Sickness, or the shortness of his Reign, gave not opportunity for it.

6 ¶ And king Jehoram went out of Samaria f the same time, and numbred all Israel g.

f To some place appointed for the Rendezvous of his People. g To wit, such as were fit for War.

7 And he went and sent to Jehoshaphat the king of Judah, saying, The king of Moab hath rebelled against me: wilt thou go with me against Moab to battel? and he said, I will go up: I am as thou art, my people as thy people, and my horses as thy horses h.

h Of which see on 1 King. 22. 4. He joins with him in this War; partly, because the War was very just in it self, and convenient for Jehoshaphat, both in the general, that Rebels and Revolters should be chastised and suppressed, lest the Example should pass into his Dominions, and the Edomites should be hereby encouraged to revolt from him, as they did from his Son; and in particular, that the Moabites should be humbled, who had with others Invaded his Land before this time, 2 Chron. 20. 1. and might do so again if they were not brought low; for which a fair opportunity was now offered to him; and partly, because Jehoram had reformed some things, and Jehoshaphat hoped by this means to engage him to proceed further in that work.

8 And he i said, Which way shall we go up? And he answered, The way through the wilderness of Edom k.

i Either, Jehoshaphat: or rather, Jehoram: for the following answer may seem to be Jehoshaphat's. k Which though it was much the longer way, yet they thought it best; partly, to secure the King or Vice-Roy of Edom, of whom they might have some Suspicion, from that Partage 2 Chron. 20. 22. and to carry both him and his Soldiers along with them into the War, both to get their Assistance, and to prevent them from making a War of Diversion against Judah, whilst Jehoshaphat was engaged against Moab: and partly, that they might invade Moab on their weakest side, and where they least expected them. God also thus disposed their Hearts to make way for the following Miracle.

9 So the king of Israel went, and the king of Judah, and the king of Edom l: and they fetcht a compass of seven days journey m: and there was no water n for the † Heb. host, and for the cattel † that followed them.

l i.e. The Vice-Roy under Jehoshaphat, 1 King. 22. 47. here called king; either, because he was so called and accounted by his own People: or, because that word is sometimes used for any Prince or chief Ruler. See Deut. 33. 5. Judg. 18. 1. and 21. 25. 1 King. 20. 1. m Because they made a great Army, which could move but slowly; and they fetched a greater Compass than was usual, for some advantage which they expected by it. n A frequent want in those hot and desart parts; and now, as it seems, increased by the extraordinary Heat and Drines of the Season.

10 And the king of Israel said, Alas, that the LORD hath called these three kings together, to deliver them into the hand of Moab o.

o So he chargeth his Calamity upon God: and not upon himself, whose Sins were the true and proper Causes of it.

11 But Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the LORD, that we may enquire of the LORD by him? And one of the king of Israels servants answered and said, Here is Elisha the son of Shaphat, which poured water on the hands of Elijah p.

p This he should have asked before, when they first undertook the expedition, as he did in a like case, 1 King. 22. 5. and for that neglect he now suffers: but better late than never: His Affliction brings him to the remembrance of his former Sin, and present Duty. q i.e. Who was his Servant: this being one office of a Servant: and this Office was the more necessary among the Israelites, because of the frequent Wallings which their Law required.

12 And Jehoshaphat said, The word of the LORD is with him r. So the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat, and the king of Edom went down to him s.

r We may enquire the Mind of God by him: for he is a true Prophet. Which Jehoshaphat might easily understand, because being a good Man, and a great Favourer of the Lords Prophets, he would diligently enquire, and many Persons would be ready to inform him of all things of that nature, and, amongst others, of Elijah's calling of Elisha by casting his Prophetical Mantle over him, 1 King. 19. 19. and of Elijah's Translation, and Elisha's Substitution in his place, and of the proof of it, 2 King. 2. 8, 14. s To his Tent; which was either in the Camp, or not far from it: for he went along with the Army by the Impulse of God's Spirit, for this very occasion. They did not send for him, but went to him, that by giving him this Honour, they might more effectually ingage him to give them his utmost Assistance; and, because they had heard that he was a man of a rugged temper and carriage, who therefore was to be sweetned, and to dispose to pity and relieve them.

13 And Elisha said unto the king of Israel, What have I to do with thee? † get thee to the prophets of thy † Heb. father, and to the prophets of thy mother u. And the king of Israel said unto him, Nay x: for the LORD hath called these three kings y together to deliver them into the hand of Moab.

t I desire to have no Discourse nor Converse with thee. u i.e. To the Calves, which thou after thy Father's Example dost worship; and to the Baals which thy Mother yet worshippeth by thy Permission; and to which thy Heart is yet inclined, though thou hast deftroyed one of his Images for politick Reasons. Let these Idols whom thou worshippest in thy Prosperity, now help thee in thy Distress. x I renounce those false Prophets and Baals, and will seek to none but God for help. y If thou hast no respect for me, yet pity this innocent King of Edom, and good Jehoshaphat, who are involved in the same Danger with my self.

14 And Elisha said, As the LORD of hosts liveth, before whom I stand, Surely were it not that I regard the presence of Jehoshaphat the king of Judah z, I would not look toward thee, nor see thee.

z Whom I Reverence and Love for his Vertue and Piety.

15 But now bring me a minstrel a. And it came to pass when the minstrel played, that the hand of the LORD b † came upon him. † Heb.

a One that can sing and play upon a Musical Instrument. This he was requires, that his Mind which had been disturbed and inflamed with Holy Anger at the sight of wicked Jehoram, might be composed, and cheered, and united within it self, and that he might be excited to the more fervent prayer to God, and joyfully praising him; whereby he was prepared to receive the Prophetical Inspiration. For although Prophecy be the Gift of God, yet men might do something either to hinder or further the reception of it: for which Cause Paul bids Christians study to get the Gift of Prophecy, 1 Cor. 14. 1. And for this very end the Colledges of the Prophets were erected, wherein the Sons of the Prophets did use divers means to procure this Gift, which also they did sometimes receive, as we see 2 King. 2. 3, 5. and, amongst other means, they used Instruments of Musick to exhilarate their Spirits, &c. 1 Sam. 10. 5. Of the great power of Musick upon the Affections, see the Notes on 1 Sam. 16. 16. b i.e. The Spirit of Prophecy, so called, to note that it was not from Elisha's temper of Body or Mind: that it was natural nor acquired virtue inherent in him; but a singular Gift of God, given to whom and when he pleased. This Phrase is used also Ezek. 1. 3. and 3. 14, 22. and 8. 1.

16 And he said, Thus saith the LORD, Make this valley † full of ditches c. † Heb. ditches, ditches.

c Which may receive the Water, and hold it for the use of Men and Beasts.

17 For thus saith the LORD, Ye shall not see wind d, neither shall ye see rain, yet that valley shall be filled with water, that ye may drink, both ye, and your cattel, and your beasts.

d Any of those Winds which commonly produce Rain. And seeing is here put for perceiving or feeling, one sense for another, or for all, as Gen. 42. 1. compare Act. 7. 12. Exod. 20. 18. and elsewhere.

18 And this is but a light thing in the sight of the LORD e, he will deliver the Moabites also into your hand.

e This is but a small Favour in comparison of what he intends to you for Jehoshaphat's sake. He will give you more than you ask or expect. For they were so weakned and discouraged with the great Drought, that they had no hopes of proceeding in the offensive War, and thought it sufficient, if it were possible, to defend themselves from the Moabites, ver. 13.

19 And ye shall smite every fenced city, and every choice city, and shall fell every good tree f, and stop all wells of water, and † mar every good piece of land † Heb. grieve, make sick with stones.

f This is, Either, First, A Command; and then the last Clause is an Exception from that Law, Deut. 20. 19. which being delivered by a Prophet, might be obeyed. And if this Command seem severe, it must be considered, that the Moabites were a very wicked People, perfidious, cruel, implacable Enemies to God's People upon all occasions, and now in a state of Rebellion. Or rather, Secondly, A Prediction of their Success, that they should have so full and compleat a Victory, that they should be able to do all which is here expressed.

20 And it came to pass in the morning, when the meat-offering was offered g, that behold, there came water h by the way of Edom, and the country was filled with water.

g i.e. The Morning-Sacrifice: of which Exod. 29. 39, 40. which doubtless was attended with the solemn Prayers of God's People, as the Evening Sacrifice unquestionably was, Acts 3. 1. there being the same reason for substance for both times. At this time Elisha joined his Prayers with the Prayers of God's People, especially those at Jerusalem, as Elijah had done at a like time, 1 King. 18. 29. and this time God chose to answer his and their Prayers, and to work this Miracle, that thereby he might determine the Controversie between the Israelites and the Jews, about the place and manner of Worship, and give a publick Testimony from Heaven for the Jews, and against the Israelites.

Israelites. h Miraculously produced out of some Rock or Vein of the Earth. i From those parts which were towards Edom.

21 ¶ And when all the Moabites heard that the kings were come up to fight against them, they † gathered all † Heb. were cried that were able to † put on armour k, and upward, and together. stood in the border l. † Heb. gird himself with a girdle.

k Heb. to gird on a girdle, i.e. a Military Girdle, to which the Sword was fastened, 2 Sam. 20. 8. 1 King. 2. 5. l Or, in that border, to wit, of their Country, which was towards Edom, which way they understood the Kings came. Here they stood probably to defend the Passages into their Country.

22 And they rose up early in the morning, and the sun shone upon the water, and the Moabites saw the water on the other side as red as blood m.

m Because of the Morning-Sun, which meeting with the Vapours that arose from the Earth, and shining through them upon the Water, gave it a reddish Tincture. God also so ordered things, that their Senses and Faculties were disturbed, or the Air so disposed, that it might seem of this Colour. And they might more easily mistake this for Blood, because they knew that that ground was generally dry, and without any Trenches or Streams of Water, now especially in this dry Season, there being no noise of Wind and Rain, v. 17. And they might justly think that the three Kings being divided in their Religion and Interests, and discontented for want of Water, might fall into Dissentions, and Heats, and mutual Slaughters, of which they had a late Example, 2 Chron. 20. 22, 23.

23 And they said, This is blood: the kings are surely † slain, and they have smitten one another: now there- † Heb. fore Moab to the spoil n. smitten.

n They were so highly confident, that they send no Scouts, but march thither with their whole Army, and that in great Disorder, Wherein there was also a Divine Hand, strengthening them in their Mistakes, and hardening them to their Destruction.

24 And when they came to the camp of Israel, the Israelites rose up and smote the Moabites, so that they † fled before them: but ‖ they went forward smiting the Moabites, even in their countrey o. † Heb. they fled from the presence of Israel. ‖ Heb. and they went smiting.

o They pursued them to their own Countrey, and entred it, with and after them; the paſſes, which before the Moabites defended, being now open for them.

25 And they beat down the cities, and on every good piece of land cast every man his stone p, and filled it, and they stopped all the wells of water, and felled all the good Trees: † only in Kirharaseth q left they the stones thereof: howbeit the slingers r went about it, and smote it t. † Heb. only in that they left the stones thereof in Kirharaseth.

p The Stones which happily had been with great care and pains pickt out of the Land, and laid in heaps after the manner, they dispersed again, and slew the people, who should have cleansed them again. q Which was the Royal and strongest City of the Moabites, Isa. 16. 7, 11. into which the remnant of the Moabites were gathered, where also their King was with them. r The Walls and Buildings of this City onely were left; other Cities, and, in a manner, their whole Countrey being utterly deftroyed. s Either, First, Such as flung small Stones against those that stood upon the Wall to defend it. Or rather, Secondly, Such as flung great Stones against the Walls to break them down, according to the manner of those times. t i.e. Made Breaches in the Walls, by which they might enter into the City, and take it.

26 ¶ And when the king of Moab saw that the battel was too sore for him, he took with him seven hundred men that drew swords, to break through even unto the king of Edom u: but they could not.

u That being unable to defend the City longer, he might make an escape: which he chose to do on the King of Edom's quarter; because he thought either that this was the weakest side: or, that he would more willingly suffer him to escape, because he was not so hearty in the War as the rest, but onely forced to it, and he might hereafter have some occasion of the King of Moab to joyn with him, as before he had, 2 Chron. 20. 22.

27 Then he took his eldest Son x that should have reigned in his stead, and * offered him for a burnt-offering upon the wall y, and there was † great indignation against Israel z, and they departed from him, and returned to their own land. * Amos 2. 1. † Heb. the presence upon Israel.

x Either, First, the King of Edom's Son: whom in this eruption he took, and then Sacrificed. Compare Amos 2. 1. But, First, That place speaks of the king, not of the king's son; and of the burning of his bones, not of the offering of a living man for a Burnt-Offering. Secondly, this would not have made the besiegers to raise their siege, but to have followed it more warmly to revenge so barbarous an Action. Thirdly, The following clause, that should have reigned in his stead, agrees not so well to the Edomites, whose King was only Jehoshaphat's Vice-Roy, and therefore his Son had no right to succeed him: as it doth to the Moabites, whose King was revolted from Israel, and intended to keep that Kingdom to himself and Children. Or rather, Secondly, his own Son: whom he Sacrificed; partly, to obtain the favour of his God, according to the manner of the Phanicians and other people in grievous and publick Calamities; whereof we have manifest Testimonies, both in Scripture, as Jer. 19. 5. and 32. 35. and in Heathen Authors, as Porphyrius, Plutarch, and others: and partly, to oblige the Israelites to quit the siege out of compassion: or, as despairing to Conquer (at least without greater loss of men than it was worth) him who was resolved to defend himself and City to the utmost extremity. y That the besiegers might see it, and be moved by it. ? Or, great trouble or repentance upon Israel, i. e. the Israelitish King and people (who was the first cause of the War, and had brought the rest into confederacy with him) were greatly afflicted and grieved for his barbarous action, and resolved to prosecute the War no further, and so withdrew their Forces, as also did their Allies, and returned to their several Homes. Which they were the more willing to do, because the Kingdom and Countrey of Moab were so ruinated both as to cure of any great annoyance from it.

CHAP. IV.

Elisha multiplieth the Widows Oyl, 1——7. He is lodged by a Shunamite Woman, who is barren: He promiseth her a Son: Which is born, 8——17. Dieth, and is raised by Elisha, 18——37. At Gilgal he healeth the deadly Pottage, 38——41. And feedeth 100 Men with 20 Loaves and ears of Corn, 42——44.

NOW there cried a certain woman of the wives of the sons of the prophets a unto Elisha, saying, Thy servant my husband is dead, and thou knowest that thy servant did fear the LORD b: and the creditor is come to take unto him my two sons to be bond-men c.

a Who, though they were wholly devoted to Sacred employment, were not excluded from Marriage, no more than the Priests and Levites. b His poverty therefore was not procured by his idleness, or prodigality, or rather, wickedness; but by his Piety, because he would not comply with the King's way of worship, and therefore lost all worldly advantages. c Either, to use them as his slaves, or to sell them to others, according to the Law. Of which see Exod. 21. 2. Levit. 25. 39. Isa. 50. 1. Matth. 18. 25.

2 And Elisha said unto her, What shall I do for thee? Tell me, what hast thou in the House? And she said, Thine hand-maid hath not any thing in the House, save a pot of oil f.

d How shall I relieve thee, who am my self poor? e Which may contribute to the Payment of thy Debts, or, at least, to the satisfaction of thy Creditors, who may perchance deal favourably with thee through my perswasion. f Which was useful for divers things about the Service of God, and health, or delight, or ornament, and other uses of men. See Judg. 9. 9.

3 Then he said, Go, borrow thee vessels abroad of all thy neighbours, even empty vessels, ‖ borrow not a few. ‖ Heb. scant not.

4 And when thou art come in, thou shalt shut the door upon thee g, and upon thy Sons, and shalt pour out h into all those Vessels, and thou shalt set aside that which is full.

g Partly, that none may hinder thee from minding thy work of filling and removing the Vessels, which will require attention and diligence: partly, that thou alone mayest enjoy the benefit of it: partly, left any of thy Creditors should break in upon thee, and seize upon thy borrowed Vessels before they are filled: partly, that thy mind being freed from distraction, may be wholly employed in Prayer and Praising of God: and partly, that it may be manifest that this is the work of God alone. h Out of the Pot, in which God multiplied the Oil from time to time.

5 So she went from him, and shut the door upon her, and upon her sons: who brought the vessels to her, and she poured out.

6 And it came to pass when the vessels were full, that she said unto her son i, Bring me yet a vessel. And he said unto her, There is not a vessel. And the oil stayed k.

i To one of them: for she had two, v. 1. k To teach us, that we should not waste any of God's Good Creatures; and that God would not work Miracles unnecessarily.

7 Then she came and told the man of God: and he said, Go, sell the oil, and pay thy ‖ debt, and live thou Or, creditor. and thy children of the rest l.

l First do Justice to others, and then take care of thy self and Children.

8 ¶ And † it fell on a day, that Elisha passed to Shu- † Heb. nem m, where was a great woman n; and she † constrain- there was ed him o to eat bread p. And so it was, that as oft as a day, he passed by, he turned in thither to eat bread. † Heb. laid hold m A City in Issachar, near Mount Carmel, Jos. 19. 17, 18. whither on him. the Prophet frequently went. n For Estate, or Birth and Quality. See Gen. 24. 35. 1 Sam. 25. 2. o By her importunate desire. p To take his repast there.

9 And she said unto her husband, Behold, now I perceive, that this is an holy man of God q, which passeth by us continually.

q A Prophet, as Judg. 13. 6. and that of eminent Holiness: by our kindness to whom, we shall procure a blessing to our selves.

10 Let us make a little chamber, I pray thee, on the wall r, and let us set for him there a bed, and a table, and a stool, and a candlestick s: and it shall be, when he cometh to us, that he shall turn in thither.

r That he may be free from the noise of Family-business, and enjoy that privacy, which, I perceive, he desireth for his Prayers and Meditations. s He will not be troublesome or chargeable to us: he cares not for rich Furniture or costly entertainment, and is content with bare necessaries.

11 And it fell on a day that he came thither, and he turned into the chamber, and lay there.

12 And he said to Gehazi his servant, Call this Shunamite. And when he had called her, she stood before him s.

s i.e. Before the Prophet, in the door of his Chamber, as it is said, ver. 15. The relation seems to be a little perplexed, but may be thus conceived. It is in this Verse recorded in the general, That the Prophet fent Gehazi to call her, and that fhe came to him upon that call: then follows a particular defcription of the whole bufinefs, with all the Circumftances, firft, of the meffage with which Gehazi was fent when he went to call her, and of her anfwer to that meffage, ver. 15. and of Gehazi's conjecture thereupon, ver. 16. and then of her coming to the Prophet at his call: which is there repeated to make way for the following Paffages.

13 And he faid || unto him, Say now unto her, Behold, thou haft been careful for us, with all this care, What is to be done for thee? Wouldeft thou be fpoken for to the king, or to the captain of the hoft u? And fhe anfwered, I dwell among mine own people x.

14 Wherewith fhall I recompence all thy care and kindnefs to me and my fervant? x With whom he juftly had great power for his eminent fervice, chap. 3. x I live in Love and Peace among my Kindred and Friends: nor have I any caufe to complain of them, or to feek relief from higher Powers.

14 And he faid, What then is to be done for her? And Gehazi anfwered, Verily fhe hath no Child, and her Husband is old.

15 And he faid, Call her. And when he had called her, fhe ſtood in the door y.

y Out of reverence, humility, and modeſty, waiting till he came to her, or called her further in to him.

† Heb. fee time.

16 And he faid, About this † feaſon, according to the time of life z, thou ſhalt embrace a ſon. And ſhe ſaid, Nay, my lord, thou man of God, do not lye unto thine hand-maid a.

z Of which Phraſe ſee on Gen. 18. 10. a Do not delude me with vain hopes. She could not believe it for joy, and ſuppoſed the Prophet might ſay thus either for her tryal, or from his own private judgment and affection, and not by warrant from God.

17 And the woman conceived and bare a ſon, at that ſeaſon that Eliſha had ſaid unto her, according to the time of life.

18 ¶ And when the child was grown, it fell on a day, that he went out to his father to the reapers.

19 And he ſaid to his father, My head, my head b: and he ſaid to a lad, carry him to his mother.

b His Head was grievouſly pained: which poſſibly came from the heat of the Harveſt-ſeaſon, to which he was expoſed in the field.

20 And when he had taken him, and brought him to his mother, he ſat on her knees till noon, and then died.

21 And ſhe went up, and laid him on the bed of the man of God, and ſhut the door upon him c, and went out.

c Partly, in hopes that this might contribute ſomething to the Child's reſtitution to Life, the having in all probability had an account of the like Miracle done by Eliſha, 1 Kyng. 17. 21. and partly, that ſhe might for the preſent conceal the death of the Child: which if it had been known, would have filled her Husband with grief, and hindred her journey, and opened the mouths of the Enemies of God and his Prophets to blaſpheme: whereas ſhe had a confidence put into her by God, that the Prophet could and would reſtore her ſon.

22 And ſhe called unto her husband, and ſaid, Send me, I pray thee, one of the young men, and one of the aſſes, that I may run to the man of God, and come again.

23 And he ſaid, Wherefore wilt thou go to him to day? it is neither new moon nor ſabbath d. And ſhe ſaid, It ſhall be || well e.

d Which were the chief and uſual times in which they reſorted to the Prophets for inſtruction, for which he ſuppoſed ſhe now went, not ſuſpecting but that the Child was well by this time. e My going will not be troubleſom to him, nor prejudicial to thee or me. Heb. ſhall it be. i. e. peace be to thee, farewel, or be contented, let me go.

24 Then ſhe ſaddled an Aſs, and ſaid to her ſervant, Drive, and go forward: || ſlack not thy riding for me, except I bid thee.

|| Heb. reſtrain not for me to ride.

25 So ſhe went, and came unto the man of God to mount Carmel: and it came to paſs when the man of God ſaw her afar off, that he ſaid to Gehazi his ſervant, Behold, yonder is that Shunamite:

26 Run now, I pray thee, to meet her, and ſay unto her, Is it well with thee? Is it well with thy husband? Is it well with the child? And ſhe anſwered, It is well f.

f So it was in ſome reſpects, becauſe it was the Will of a Wiſe and Good God, and therefore beſt for her. Or, it ſhall be well: though the Child be dead, I doubt not by God's Bleſſing upon thy Endeavours it ſhall live again and do well. But ſhe anſwers ambiguouſly and briefly too, that ſhe might ſooner come to the Prophet, and more fully open her mind to him.

27 And when ſhe came to the man of God to the hill, ſhe caught || him by the feet g: but Gehazi came near to thruſt her away h. And the man of God ſaid, Let her alone, for her ſoul is || vexed within her: and the LORD hath hid it from me, and hath not told me k.

g She fell at his Feet and touched them, as a moſt humble and earneſt ſuppliant. Compare 1 Sam. 25. 24. Matth. 28. 9. Withal, ſhe intimated, what ſhe durſt not preſume to expreſs in words, that ſhe deſired him to go along with her. h Judging this poſture indecent for her, and offenſive to his Maſter. i Diſturb her not, for this uncouth geſture is a ſign of ſome extraordinary grief. k Whereby he ſignifies, that what he knew or did, was not by any Vertue inherent and abiding in himſelf, but only from God, who revealed to him only what and when he pleaſed. Compare 2 Sam. 7. 3.

28 Then ſhe ſaid, did I deſire a ſon of my lord l? Did not I ſay, do not deceive me m?

l This Child was not given to me upon my immoderate deſire, for which I might have juſtly been thus chaſtiſed, as Rachel was, Gen. 30. 1. compare with 35. 16. but was freely promiſed to me by thee in God's Name, and from his ſpecial Grace and Favour: and therefore I truſt both thou didſt pray for it, and God deſign it as a Bleſſing, and not as an Affliction, as now it proves, unleſs thou doſt obtain the Child for me a ſecond time, which I know thou canſt do, and I humbly beg thee to do. m With vain hopes of a Comfort that I ſhould never have. And I had been much happier if I had never had it, than to loſe it ſo quickly. Therefore thou art in ſome meaſure concerned to revive my dead hopes, and to continue to me the great Bleſſing which thou haſt procured.

29 Then he ſaid to Gehazi, gird up thy loins n, and take my ſtaff in thy hand, and go thy way: if thou meet any man, ſalute him no: and if any ſalute thee, anſwer him not again o: and lay my ſtaff upon the face of the Child p.

n Tie up thy long Garments about thy Loins for expedition. See 1 Kyng. 18. 46. o An Hyperbolical expreſſion: Make no delays nor ſtops by the way, neither by words nor actions, but go with all poſſible ſpeed. Compare Luk. 10. 4. He requires this haſte, that the Miracle might be done ſecretly and ſpeedily before the Child's death was divulged, which might cauſe many inconveniences. See on ver. 21. p For God can work a Miracle by the moſt unlikely and contemptible means, as he did by a Rod, Exod. 14. 16. and a Mantle, 2 Kyng. 2. 8.

30 And the mother of the child ſaid, As the LORD liveth, and as thy ſoul liveth, I will not leave thee q. And he aroſe and followed her.

q Until thou goeſt home with me. For ſhe had no great confidence in him, nor was her Faith ſo ſtrong as to think that the Prophet could or would do great a Miracle at this diſtance, and by his Staff: which poſſibly was one reaſon why this did no good. Compare Matth. 9. 18. and 15. 28. and 17. 20.

31 And Gehazi paſſed on before them, and laid the ſtaff upon the face of the child, but there was neither voice, nor || hearing r: wherefore he went again to || Heb. meet him, and told him, ſaying, The child is not awaked ſ.

r i. e. Neither ſpeech, nor Senſe, nor any ſign of Life, to wit, in the child. Which diſappointment might proceed from hence, that Eliſha had changed his mind, and yielded to her importunity to go with her, rather than purſue and not join his ſervent Prayers with Gehazi's action, who ſerved them till he came thither. ſ i. e. Not revived: death being ſtill and fully compared to a ſleep, as Iſai. 26. 19. Dan. 12. 2. becauſe of the reſurrection which will in due time follow it, and here followed by a reſurrection, which makes the expreſſion moſt proper in this place.

32 And when Eliſha was come into the houſe, behold, the child was dead, and laid upon his bed.

33 He went in therefore, and ſhut the door upon them twain t, and prayed unto the LORD.

t Upon himſelf and the dead Child, that he might pray to God for reſtitution, and might more freely uſe all thoſe geſtures and words which he thought fit.

34 And he went up and lay upon the child u, and put his mouth upon his mouth, and his eyes upon his eyes, and his hands upon his hands x, and he ſtretched himſelf upon the child, and the fleſh of the child waxed warm y.

u And although ſome ceremonial uncleanneſs might ſeem to be contracted by the touch of this dead Body, yet that was juſtly to give place to a Moral Duty, and to an action of ſo great Piety and Charity as this was, eſpecially when done by a Prophet, and by the inſtinct of God's Spirit, who can diſpence with his own Laws. x One part upon another ſucceſſively; for the diſproportion of the Bodies would not permit it to be done together. Compare 1 Kyng. 17. 21. Act. 20. 10. y Not by any external heat, which could not be tranſmitted to the Child's Body by ſuch ſlight touches of the Prophet's Body; but by a Natural heat, proceeding from a principle of Life, which was already infuſed into the Child, and by degrees enlivened all the parts of his Body.

35 Then he returned and walked in the houſe † to and fro z, and went up and ſtretched himſelf upon him: and the child neeſed ſeven times, and the child opened his eyes b.

z He changeth his poſtures for his own neceſſary refreſhment, and alſo to and fro, exerciſing his mind in Prayer to God, and Faith, in the accompliſhment of this work. a Repeating his former actions, to teach us not to be diſcouraged in our Prayers, if we be not ſpeedily anſwered, but to wait with Patience, and continue, and be inſtant in prayer, till we obtain what we ſeek for. b So the work begun in the former Verſe is here perfected. Although Miracles were for the moſt part done in an inſtant, yet ſometimes they were done by degrees, as here, and 1 Kyng. 18. 44. 45. Mark 8. 24, 25.

36 And he called Gehazi, and ſaid, Call this Shunamite. So he called her, and when ſhe was come in unto him c, he ſaid, Take up thy ſon.

c Heb. come to him, to wit, to the Door of his Chamber: Where probably he met her with this joyful Meſſage.

37 Then

37 Then ſhe went in d, and fell at his feet, and bowed herſelf to the ground, and took up her ſon, and went out.

d Into his Chamber, and, after ſhe had done him honour, to the Bed where the Child lay, whence ſhe took him, and went her way.

38 ¶ And Eliſha came again to Gilgal e, and there was a dearth in the land, and the ſons of the prophets were ſitting before him f: and he ſaid unto his ſervant, Set on the great pot, and ſeeth pottage g for the ſons of the prophets.

e When he came with Eliſah, chap. 2. 1. where was a School of the Prophets, whom he deſigned to comfort concerning the preſent Dearth, and their other diſcouragements, and to confirm in the profeſſion and practice of Religion, and to inſtruct in the Duties of the preſent Seaſon. f At his feet, as Scholars to be taught by him. See chap. 2. 3. Act. 22. 3. g He provides no delicious Meats, but meer Neceſſaries, to teach them the contempt of worldly delights.

39 And one went out into the field to gather herbs, and found a wild vine h, and gathered thereof wild gourds his lapful, and came and ſhred them into the pot of pottage: for they knew them not.

h A Plant called Coloquintida, whoſe Gourds or Leaves reſemble the Leaves of a Vine, and are very bitter, and pernicious to the eater.

40 So they poured out for the men to eat: and it came to paſs as they were eating of the pottage, that they cryed out, and ſaid, O thou man of God, there is death in the Pot i: and they could not eat thereof.

i i.e. Some deadly thing: which they gathered from its exceſſive bitterneſs, by which poſſibly ſome of them might diſcern what it was.

41 But he ſaid, then bring meal: and he caſt it into the Pot k: and he ſaid, Pour out for the people, that they may eat: and there was no † harm in the Pot l.

k Together with the Pottage which they had taken out of it. l The Meal took away that hurtful quality, not by its natural Power, which could do little in ſo ſhort a time, but by the ſupernatural Bleſſing of God upon it.

42 ¶ And there came a man from Baal-ſhaliſha, and brought the man of God bread of the firſt fruits m, twenty loaves n of barley, and full ears of corn || in the huſk thereof, and he ſaid, give unto the people o, that they may eat.

|| Or, in his ſcrip, or garment.

m Which were the Priеſts due, Numb. 18. 2. but theſe, and probably the reſt of the Prieſts dues, were uſually brought by the Pious Iſraelites, according to their ability and opportunity, to the Lord's Prophets; partly, becauſe they did a great part of the Prieſts office; and partly, becauſe they were not permitted to carry them to Jeruſalem; and they might reaſonably think that their circumſtances being extraordinary, would warrant their giving of them to extraordinary Perſons: and that thoſe ceremonial Inſtitutions ought to give place to the greater Laws of neceſſity and mercy to the Lord's Prophets. And this paſſage ſeems to be noted here, not only on occaſion of the following Miracle; but alſo that by this one inſtance we might underſtand how ſo many Schools of the Prophets were ſupported. n Small Loaves, as appears, both becauſe one Man brought them all ſo far; and becauſe, otherwiſe there had been no Miracle here. o To wit, the Sons of the Prophets, who were then preſent with him, ver. 38.

43 And his ſervitor ſaid, What ſhould I ſet this before an hundred men? He ſaid again, Give the people, that they may eat: for thus ſaith the LORD, * They ſhall eat, and ſhall leave thereof.

* Joh. 6. 11

44 So he ſet it before them, and they did eat, and left thereof, according to the word of the LORD.

Or, Secondly, In the City of Samaria: where he was when ſhe was taken: or, where he commonly reſided, though he went to other places, as need required. g Or, take him away (as this Hebrew Verb is uſed, Gen. 30. 23. Zeph. 1. 2.) from his Leproſie, i. e. take away his Leproſie from him.

4 And one went in, and told his lord h, ſaying, Thus and thus ſaid the maid that is of the land of Iſrael.

h One of Naaman's Servants hearing this, went in and told it to Naaman, and he to the King of Syria, which is implied. Or, And he went in, &c. i. e. Naaman, mentioned, ver. 1. hearing this from his Wife, told it to the King of Syria, as the next Words intimate.

5 And the king of Syria i ſaid, Go to, go, and I will ſend a letter unto the king of Iſrael k. And he departed, and took † with him ten talents of ſilver, and ſix thouſand pieces of gold l, and ten changes of raiment.

i For on the Son of Ahab, chap. 3. 1. k Deſiring him to obtain this Favour from the Prophet. † Partly, for the Charges of his Journey; and partly, for Preſents to the Prophet, or others, as he ſaw fit.

6 And he brought the letter to the king of Iſrael, ſaying, Now when this letter is come unto thee, behold, I have therewith ſent Naaman my ſervant to thee, that thou mayeſt recover him m of his leproſie.

m i. e. Procure his recovery by the means of Eliſha, v. 3, 4. whom thou muſt command to uſe his utmoſt skill and power herein.

7 And it came to paſs, when the king of Iſrael had read the letter, that he rent his clothes n, and ſaid, Am * I God, to kill and to make alive o, that this man doth ſend unto me to recover a man of his leproſie? Wherefore conſider, I pray you, and ſee how he ſeeketh a quarrel againſt me p.

* Deut. 32. 39. and 1 Sam. 2. 6.

n Either, in deteſtation of his Blaſphemy, in giving God's Perfections to him: or rather, for Grief, ariſing from a ſuſpicion and fear that the Syrian made this only a pretence for the War which he deſigned againſt him. o He expreſſeth it thus, becauſe Leproſie is a kind or degree of Death, Numb. 12. 12. and he thought it as impoſſible to cure it, as to raiſe the Dead. p For not doing what he requires, which he knows impoſſible for me to do.

8 ¶ And it was ſo, when Eliſha the man of God q had heard, that the king of Iſrael had rent his clothes, that he ſent to the king, ſaying, Wherefore haſt thou rent thy clothes r? Let him come now to me, and he ſhall know that there is a prophet in Iſrael.

q Whom Joram had not adviſed with, either, becauſe the ſudden ſurprizal made him forget it: or, becauſe he hated him, and ſcorned to beg to any thing from him. r There was no juſt occaſion for thee to do ſo.

9 So Naaman came with his horſes, and with his chariot, and ſtood at the door of the houſe of Eliſha ſ.

ſ Waiting for Eliſha's coming to him.

10 And Eliſha ſent a meſſenger unto him t, ſaying, Go, and waſh in Jordan ſeven times, and thy fleſh ſhall come again u unto thee, and † thou ſhalt be clean.

t Which he did, partly, to try and exerciſe Naaman's Faith and Obedience: partly, for the Honour of his Religion and Miniſtry, that it might appear he fought not his own Glory and Profit in his miraculous Performances, but only God's Honour, and the Good of Men: and partly, for the diſcovery of the Almighty Power of God, that could by ſuch ſlight means cure ſo deſperate a Diſeaſe. u Which was in great part conſumed by the Leproſie. See Numb. 12. 12.

11 But Naaman was wroth x, and went away, and ſaid, Behold, I † thought y, he will ſurely come out to me, and ſtand, and call on the Name of the LORD his God, and † ſtrike his hand over the place, and recover the leper.

† Heb. ſaid, or, I faid with my ſelf, He will ſurely come out. † Heb. ſmite.

x Suppoſing himſelf deſpiſed and mocked by the Prophet. y Herein he gives an Example of the perverſeneſs of Mankind, who are apt to prefer their own Fancies before God's Appointments. ? Over or up-move up on the affected part where the Leproſie is; without which it ſeemed to and down. him ridiculous to expect a Cure.

12 Are not † Abana and Pharpar, rivers of Damaſcus, better than all the waters of Iſrael? May I not waſh in mana, them, and be clean a? So he turned and went away in a rage.

a Is there not as great a virtue in them to this purpoſe? But he ſhould have conſidered, that the Cure was not to be wrought by the Water, but by the Power of God, who might uſe what means and methods of Cure he pleaſed.

13 And his ſervants came near, and ſpake unto him, and ſaid, My father b, if the prophet had bid thee do ſome great thing, wouldeſt thou not have done it? how much rather then, when he ſaith to thee, Waſh and be clean?

b Or, our father. So they call him, both to ſhew their Reverence and Affection to him, and to mitigate his exaſperated Mind.

14 Then went he down, and dipped himſelf ſeven times in Jordan, according to the ſaying of the man of God: and his fleſh came again like unto the fleſh of a little child c, and * he was clean.

* Luk. 4. 27.

c i. e. Freſh and pure, free from the leaſt mixture or mark of the Diſeaſe.

15 ¶ And he returned to the man of God d, he and all his company, and came and ſtood before him: and he ſaid, Behold, now I know that there is no God in all the earth, earth, but in Israel e: now therefore, I pray thee, take a blessing f of thy servant.

e To give him thanks, and a recompence for his great kindness.
f By this wonderful Work I am fully convinced, that the God of Israel is the only True God, and that other gods are but impotent Idols. f A thankful acknowledgment. See on Gen. 33. 11.

16 But he said, As the LORD liveth before whom I stand, I will receive none: and he urged him to take it, but he refused g.

g Not that he thought it simply unlawful to receive Gifts or Presents, which he did receive from others, chap. 4. 42. but because of the special circumstances of the present case; this being much for the Honour of the True God and Religion, that the Syrians should see the generous Piety, and Charity, and Kindness of his Ministers and Servants, and how much they despised all that worldly Wealth and Glory, which the Priests or Prophets of the Gentiles so greedily fought after; and that hereby Naaman might be much confirmed in that good Religion which he had embraced, and others might be brought to a love and liking of it.

17 And Naaman said, Shall there not then, I pray thee, be given to thy servant two mules burden of earth h? for thy servant will henceforth offer neither burnt-offering, nor sacrifice unto other gods, but unto the LORD.

h Wherewith I may make an Altar of Earth, as was usual, Exod. 20. 24. He desires the Earth of this Land, because he thought it more holy and acceptable to God, and proper for his Service; or, because he would by this Token profess and declare his Conjunction with the Israelites in the Worship of God, and constantly put himself in mind of his great Obligations to that God from whose Land this was taken. And though he might freely have taken this Earth without asking any leave, yet he rather desires it from the Prophet's Gift, as believing that he who had put so great a Vertue into the Waters of Israel, could put as much into the Earth of Israel, and make it as useful and beneficial to him in a better way. And these thoughts, though extravagant and groundless, yet were excusable in an Heathen, and a Novice, who was not yet thoroughly instructed in the True Religion, 18 In this thing the LORD ‖ pardon thy servant, that when my master goeth into the house of Rimmon i to worship there, and he leaneth on my hand k, and I bow myself in the house of Rimmon: when I bow down myself in the house of Rimmon l, the LORD pardon thy servant in this thing m.

‖ Or, be favourable to. So Gr.

i A Syrian Idol, called here by the LXX Remman, and Act. 7. 43. Remphan. k Or, arm, as that word sometimes signifies, both in Scripture and other Authors; or, shoulder. Upon which, the King leaned, either for State, or for support. Compare chap. 7. 2. l Not in honour to the Idol, which I do here, and shall there, openly renounce; but only in compliance with the King's infirmity and conveniency, who cannot well bow if I stand upright. m Because there seemed to be an appearance of Evil in this action, though done with an honest mind, he desires the Prophet's Prayers that God would not charge it upon him as Idolatry, nor be displeased with him for that practice.

19 And he said unto him, Go in peace n. So he departed from him † a little way.

n These words may contain an Answer: Either, First, To his last Petition, v. 18. and so the sense may be this, Be not too solicitous about this matter, Go, and the Peace or Blessing of God go along with thee. So the Prophet both Prays to God to bless and direct him in this and all other things, and intimates that God would do so. Or, Secondly, To the former, v. 17. trouble not thy self about any of our Earth, but go to thy own Land, and I with thee from God, and doubt not but God will give thee peace, i. e. his favour and other Blessings, which are oft contained in this Word, if thou dost persist in this Religion which thou hast now received. Or rather, this is only a farewell Salutation, wherewith the Prophet dismisseth him without any further Answer to his Requests, or Instruction about his Doubt: which he forbore by the Motion of God's Spirit, which sometimes gives and sometimes denies Instructions to Persons or People, as he thinks fit. See Act. 16. 6, 7. And the Prophet by the Spirits Direction might forbear to give him particular Answers, partly, because these matters were not of such Importance as to concern the Essence or Foundation of Religion: and partly, because he was yet but a Novice, and not able to bear all Truths, which was for a time the condition of the Apostles, Joh. 16. 12. nor fit to be prefled to the practice of the hardest Duties, which Christ himself thought not convenient for his Disciples, Matth. 9. 14, 15, 16, 17. And therefore he at present accepts of his profession of the true Trust, and his renunciation of the false Religion; and of this Declaration, that what he did in the Temple of Rimmon should not now be (as he had formerly intended and practised it) a Religious Action towards the Idol, but only a civil Respect to his Master. And what was necessary for him to know further about the Lawfulness or Sinfulness of that Action, the Prophet might take another and a more convenient time to inform him.

20 ¶ But Gehazi the servant of Elisha the man of God, said, Behold, my master hath spared Naaman this Syrian o, in not receiving at his hand that which he brought: but as the LORD liveth, I will run after him, and take somewhat of him p.

o A Stranger, and one of that Nation who are the implacable Enemies of God's People: whom therefore my Master should not have had so much regard to, as to the Lord's Prophets, who better deserved and more needed the Money which he offered, than Naaman himself did. p He swears, that he might have some pretence for the Action to which he had bound himself by his Oath; not considering, that to swear to do any wicked Action, is so far from excusing it, that it makes it much worse.

† Heb. Is there peace?

21 So Gehazi followed after Naaman: and when Naaman saw him running after him, he lighted down from the chariot to meet him q, and said, † Is all well?

q Thereby testifying his great Respect to the Prophet his Master.

22 And he said, All is well: my master hath sent me r, saying, Behold, even now there be come to me from mount Ephraim two young men of the sons of the prophets: give them, I pray thee, a talent of silver, and two changes of garments.

r This was a very unlikely Story; but Naaman was not willing to question it, but glad of the opportunity of shewing his Gratitude to the Prophet.

23 And Naaman said, Be content, take two talents: and he urged him s, and bound two talents of silver in two bags, with two changes of garments, and laid them upon two of his servants, and they bare them before him.

s Who at first refused it upon a pretence of Modesty and Obedience to his Masters command.

24 And when he came to the ‖ tower t, he took them from their hand, and bestowed them in the house u; and he let the men go u, and they departed.

t A safe and private place which he chose for that purpose, and where possibly he hid and kept other things which he had got by such like Frauds and Artifices. u Before they came within sight of his Master.

25 But he went in and stood before his master: and Elisha said unto him, Whence comest thou Gehazi? and he said, Thy servant went † no whither.

† Heb. to thither.

26 And he said unto him, Went not mine heart with thee x, when the man turned again from his chariot to meet thee? Is it a time y to receive money, and to receive garments, and oliveyards, and vineyards, and sheep, and oxen, and men-servants, and maid-servants z?

x Did not my Mind, being enlightened by God's Spirit, discern what thou didst and didst? y Was this a fit season for this action? I had but newly and obstinately refused his Gifts, for great Reasons: of which see on ver. 16. and now thou hast given him cause to think, that I was a cursed and wicked Impostor, who vain-gloriously refused in Publick, what I inwardly and greedily desired, and fought only a fitter place and opportunity to take; and that all our Religion is but an Imposture; and that the God who owns such a vile Wretch for his Prophet, as thou hast represented me to him, is not so holy and righteous as we pretend. z Which Gehazi intended to purchase with this Money: and therefore the Prophet names them, to inform him, That he exactly knew by Divine Inspiration not only Gehazi's outward Actions, but even his most secret Intentions.

27 The leprosy therefore of Naaman shall cleave unto thee, and unto thy seed for ever ‖. And he went out from his presence † a leper as white as snow ***.

‖ i.e. For some Generations; or for a long time, as that word is often used, and as may be thought by comparing this with Exod. 20. 5. and 34. 7. † Being confounded with the sense of his Guilt, and Shame, and Misery, and banished from the Company of others by God's Law, Levit. 13. and 14. * Which is the worst kind of Leprosie, and noted by Physicians to be incurable. See Exod. 4. 6. Numb. 12. 10. 2 Chron. 26. 19, 20. Nor was this punishment too severe for Gehazi's Wickedness, which was great, and various, horrid Covetousness, which is Idolatry; the Prophanation of God's Name, by a wicked Oath; down-right Theft; deliberate and impudent Lying, and that to a Prophet, which was in a manner a lying to the Holy Ghost, like theirs, Acts 5. 3. A deliberate contempt of God's Omniscience, Justice, and Holiness; an horrible Reproach faithed upon the Prophet, and his Religion; and a mischievous Scandal given to Naaman and all other Syrians that might hear of it.

CHAP. VI.

Elisha giving leave to the young Prophets to enlarge their Dwellings, causeth Iron to swim, 1——7. He discloseth the King of Syria's Counsel, 8——12. Who sendeth Syrians to apprehend him: He is preserved by Angels, they are smitten with Blindness: are brought into Samaria, and dismissed in Peace, 13——23. Samaria is besieged, and brought to such extream Want and Famine, that Women eat their own Children, 24——29. The King sendeth to slay Elisha, 30——33.

AND the sons of the prophets a said unto Elisha, Behold now, the place where we dwell with thee b, is too strait for us c.

a Either at Bethel: or, Jericho: or rather, at Gilgal: as may seem from its nearness to the River of Jordan, ver. 2. b Or, before thy face; i. e. under thy Inspection and Direction; where thou dost frequently dwell with us. Or, to thy face; which may be joined with the following Words; and so the sense may be this: It is apparent to thy view, that this place is too strait for us. c The number of the Prophets increasing by the gracious Providence of God, and by the Ministry and Miracles of Elijah and Elisha.

2 Let us go, we pray thee, unto Jordan d, and take thence every man a beam e, and let us make us a place there where we may dwell. And he answered, Go ye.

d i.e. To the Woods near Jordan, which were near to them. See on v. 1. e i.e. A piece of Timber for the Building. Hence it may be gathered, That although the Sons of the Prophets principally devoted themselves to Religious Exercises, such as Prayer, and praising of God, and the studying of God's Word, and instructing of others, and waiting for Divine Revelations; yet they did sometimes employ themselves about Manual Arts; which now they might be forced to, through the Iniquity of the Times.

3 And one said, Be content, I pray thee, and go with thy servants. And he answered, I will go.

4 So he went with them. And when they came to Jordan, they cut down wood.

5 But as one was felling a beam, the † ax head f fell into the water: and he cried, and said, Alas master, for it was borrowed g.

f The Iron fell from the Wood. g He was the more concerned, partly, because he was now forced to be idle and useless to them in the common Work; and partly, because it was his Friends loss, who now was likely to suffer for his kindness; and as Justice obliged him to restore it, so his Poverty disenabled him from it.

6 And the man of God said, Where fell it? and he shewed him the place: and he cut down a stick, and cast it in thither, and the iron did swim.

7 Therefore said he, Take it up to thee: and he put out his hand, and took it.

8 ¶ Then the king of Syria warred against Israel, and took counsel with his servants, saying, † In such and such a place shall be my ‖ camp h.

† Heb. in the place of such a one.

h Thither I will send my forces, to surprize some place: or to lie in Ambush where the King or his People were to pass, ver. 9.

9 And the man of God sent unto the king of Israel, saying, Beware that thou pass not such a place, for thither the Syrians are come down.

10 And the king of Israel sent to the place b which the man of God told him, and warned him of, and saved himself i there not once nor twice k.

i Either Spies, to try whether the Prophet spake Truth: or rather Soldiers, to secure the Place and Passage designed. k Either his Person when he was to pass that way: or his People, or Places of Importance. k But much more frequently.

11 Therefore the heart of the king of Syria was sore troubled for this thing, and he called his servants, and said unto them, Will ye not shew me which of us is for the king of Israel?

12 And one of his servants said, † None, my lord, O king: but Elisha the prophet, that is in Israel, telleth the king of Israel the words that thou speakest in thy bedchamber.

† Heb. no.

13 ¶ And he said, Go, and spie where he is, that I may send and fetch him l. And it was told him, saying, Behold he is in Dothan m.

l For though I cannot conceal my Designs from him, yet I may possibly take him by force; his Power being, I doubt not, much inferiour to his Knowledge. m A City near Shechem, Gen. 37. 17. and not far from Samaria.

14 Therefore sent he thither horses, and chariots, and a † great host: and they came by night and compassed the city about.

† Heb. a heavy.

15 And when the ‖ servant of the man of god n was risen early, and gone forth o, behold, an host compassed the city, both with horses and chariots; and his servant said unto him, Alas my master, how shall we do?

n Who having been with him but a little time, even since Gehazi's Dismission, had not yet seen any Experiments of his great Power; or, if he had, his Faith might easily be shaken upon so great and sudden a danger. o Either out of the Curiosity of the City, where he might see them; or, out of his House into the Streets of the City, where he might learn this by the Common Fame and Tumult of the People.

16 And he answered, Fear not: for * they that be with us, are moe than they that be with them.

* 2 Chron. 32. 7.

17 And Elisha prayed, and said, LORD, I pray thee, open his eyes, that he may see p. And the LORD opened the eyes of the young man, and he saw: and behold, the mountain was full of horses, and chariots of fire q round about Elisha r.

p That by some visible Appearance, he may see the Invisible Guard of Angels which incompass and defend us. q Which is useful, both for Defence to those that are surrounded by it, and Offence to the Enemies who shall attempt to break through it. r Either the Mountains were round about the City, and therefore round about Elisha, who was within it: or, he saw in a Vision, Elisha upon the Mountain encompassed with Fiery Horses and Chariots.

18 And when they came down to him s, Elisha prayed unto the LORD, and said, Smite this people, I pray thee, with blindness. And he smote them with blindness t, according to the word of Elisha.

s Either in the City, into which they easily got admission when they Declared, That the only end of their coming, was to take Elisha: or in the Field without the City, whither he went to meet them. t Not with a total Blindness, that they could see nothing, for then they would not have followed him: but with a partial Blindness, that they could not distinctly discern the Man they sought: which might be by some Alteration made by God in their Brain, or in the Air. See the Notes on Gen. 19. 11.

19 ¶ And Elisha said unto them, This is not the way, neither is this the city u: † follow me, and I will bring you to the man whom ye seek x. But he led them to Samaria y.

† Heb. go ye after me.

u To wit, where you will find the Man for whom you seek, which was very true; because he was now come out of the City: and if they had gone on in that way into the City, they had found that Elisha was gone thence. There is indeed some Ambiguity in his Speech, and an Intention to deceive them, which hath ever been esteemed lawful in the State of War, as appears from the use of Stratagems. x And so he did, though not in such a manner as they expected and desired. y Which seemed to them to be some small and ordinary City; their Senses being still deluded by a Divine Operation.

20 And it came to pass, when they were come into Samaria, that Elisha said, LORD, open the eyes of these men, that they may see. And the LORD opened their eyes, and they saw, and behold they were in the midst of Samaria.

21 And the king of Israel z said unto Elisha, when he saw them, My father a, shall I smite them? shall I smite them b?

z To whom Elisha had doubtless sent notice of his Intentions, that he might accordingly prepare himself. a Now he gives him this Title of Reverence and Affection, because of a great and present Benefit he received from him; though otherwise he hated him, and would not hearken to his Counsel. b The repetition of the question shews his great desire to smite them, and that with utter Destruction.

22 And he answered, Thou shalt not smite them: Wouldest thou smite those whom thou hast taken captive with thy sword, and with thy bow c? set bread and water before them d, that they may eat and drink, and go to their master.

c It is against the Laws of Humanity, and Custom of War, to kill Captives, though thou thy self hast taken them with thy own Sword and Bow; which may seem to give these some colour of Right to destroy them; but much more unworthy will it be in cold Blood to kill People, whom not thy Arms, but God's Miraculous Providence hath put into thy Hands. d i. e. Give them Meat and Drink, which may refresh and strengthen them for their Journey. Which was an action of singular Piety and Charity, in doing good to their Enemies, which was much to the Honour of the True Religion: and of no less Prudence, that hereby the hearts of the Syrians might be both mollified towards the Israelites, and afraid to Oppose that People who had such an Invincible Protector.

23 And he prepared great provision for them, and when they had eaten and drunk, he sent them away e, and they went to their master. So the bands of Syria came no more f into the land of Israel.

e Refreshed, but Disarmed, as is most probable. f Either, 1. In such a manner, to wit, in small Bands, or Companies, which might be Entrapped, as these had been: but their next Attempt was by an open and solemn War, and a Conjunction of all their forces, which they still ridiculously conceited would be too hard for the King, and Prophet, and God of Israel; notwithstanding their multiplied Experiences to the contrary. Or, 2. For some considerable time; until the Terror of these Examples was got out of their Minds.

24 ¶ And it came to pass after this, that Benhadad king of Syria g gathered all his host, and went up, and besieged Samaria.

g He whom Ahab wickedly and foolishly spared, 1 Kings. 20. 32. who now comes to requite Ahab's Kindness, and to fulfil that Divine Prediction. Benhadad was a name very frequent among the Kings of Syria, 1 Kings. 15, 18, &c. and Chap. 13. 24. 2 Kings. 13. 3, 24. if not common to them all. See Jer. 49. 27. Amos 1. 4.

25 And there was a great famine in Samaria: and behold they besieged it, until an asses head was sold for fourscore pieces h of silver, and the fourth part of a kab i of doves dung k for five pieces of silver.

h Supposed to be Shekels; and the common Shekel being valued at fifteen pence of English Money, this amounts to five pounds. A vast price, especially for that which had on it so little Meat, and that unwholsome, and unclean by Law, Levit. 11. 13. though necessity might seem to excuse their Violation of that Law. i A Measure containing 24 Eggs. k Which they ated not for Fire (for that is speaking here onely of the scarcity of Food) but for Food. Which if it seem incredible, it must be considered, First, That Famine hath constrained People to eat things as improper and unfit for nourishment as this, as dry Leather, and Man's Dung, as is implied, Isa. 36. 12. and affirmed by grave Historians. Secondly, That some Creatures do usually eat the Dung of others. Thirdly, That Doves Dung, though it be hotter than ordinary, might in other respects be fitter for Nourishment than other, as being made of the best and purest Grains, and having some moisture in it, &c. Fourthly, That this Hebrew Word being of an obscure and doubtful signification, and no where else used, may be, and is by Learned Men otherwise rendred and understood: either, first, of the Corn which is found in the Crops of Doves: or, secondly, of the Guts and other Inwards of Doves: or rather, thirdly, of a fort of Cicer or Pease, which in the Arabick Language (which is near a kin to the Hebrew, and from which many Words are explained) is called Doves Dung: for this was a Food much in use amongst the poorer Israelites, and was by all esteemed a very course Food, and therefore fit to be joined with an Asses Head: and a Kab was the usual Measure of all sorts of Grains and Fruits of that sort.

26 And as the king of Israel was passing by upon the wall l, there cried a woman unto him, saying, Help my lord, O king.

l To give necessary order for the Defence of the City against Assaults, and to see if the several Guards were watchful and diligent, and if his Directions were executed, and to observe the Motions of the Enemy.

27 And he said, ‖ If the LORD do not help thee m, ‖ Or, Let whence shall I help thee? out of the barn-floor, or out of the wine-press n? Lord save m Or, let not God help thee, as some both ancient and late Interpreters render the Words. So they are Words of Impatience, and Rage, and a formal Curse, wishing that God would not help her, as he could not, as Josephus amongst others understand it: which agrees too well with the Character of the Man, an Infidel, and an Idolater, and a wicked Man, and at this time in a great Rage, as appears from ver. 31. Or, they may be rendred thus, No; (as this Hebrew Particle is sometimes used, as Job 22. 17. Psal. 34. 5. and 41. 2. and 50. 3. Prov. 3. 21. and 31. 2. let the Lord help thee. So it may be taken, either,

H H

First, As a Direction: No: do not cry to me; but to God for help: God help thee, for I cannot. Or rather, Secondly, As a prophane Scoff. No: come not to me, but go to him to whom Elisha directs you; Pray to the Lord: you see how ready he is to help you, by his suffering you to come to this Extremity: wait upon God, for I will take a course with Elisha for thus abusing both me and my People with vain hopes. Or, thus, the Lord (on whom forsooth thou and I are commanded to wait for help) will not help thee, as he could easily do, and would do, if he were so good as Elisha pretends; whence then shall I help thee? u Dost thou ask of me Corn or Wine, which I want for my self?

28 And the king said unto her, What aileth thee? And she answered, This woman said unto me, Give thy son, that we may eat him to day, and we will eat my son to morrow.

29 So * we boiled my son, and did eat him o: and I said unto her on the † next day, Give thy son, that we may eat him: and she hath hid her son p.

* Deut. 28. 53, 57. † Heb. other.

o A dreadful Judgment threatned to them in case of their Apostacy, Deut. 28. 56, 57. in which they were now deeply plunged. Compare Ezek. 5. 10. p Either, that she might eat him alone; or rather, that the might save him from Death, her bowels yerning towards him, and her hunger being in great measure satisfied.

30 ¶ And it came to pass, when the king heard the words of the woman, that he rent his clothes q, and he passed by upon the wall, and the people r looked, and behold, he had sackcloth within upon his flesh s.

q Partly, in Grief for such an horrid Fact: and partly, through Indignation at the Prophet, ver. 31. r Who were in great numbers upon the Wall, either to defend the City: or rather, to seek for relief from the Soldiers, for whose Provisions the King doubtless took special care, as it was necessary, for the preservation of the place. s Under his inner Garments, in token of his sorrow, and with a pretence of humiliation, which he would shew by outward signs, as his Father Ahab had done, not without some advantage to himself, 1 King. 21. 27, 29.

31 Then he said, * God do so, and more also to me, if the head of Elisha the son of Shaphat shall stand on him this day t.

t If I do not this day take his head and life. This wretched and partial Prince overlooks his own great and various sins, and amongst others, his obstinate cleaving to the Idolatry of the Calves, and the Whoredoms and witchcrafts of his Mother Jezebel, 2 King. 9. 22. and the Wickedness of his People, which was the true and proper cause of this and all their Calamities; and lays the blame of all upon Elisha, either, supposing that he who had the Spirit of Elijah resting upon him, had brought this Famine by his Prayers, as Elijah had formerly done, 1 King. 17. 1. or, because he had encouraged them to withstand the Syrians, by promising them help from God in due time: or, because he would not by his intercession to God, and the working of a Miracle, deliver them from these Calamities, as he easily could have done. But he did not consider, that the Prophets could not work what Miracles, and when they pleased, but only as far as God saw fit, whole time was not yet come; otherwise, it was Elisha's Interest, as well as theirs, to be freed from this distress.

32 But Elisha sat in his house u (and the Elders x sat with him) and the king sent a man from before him y: but e're the messenger came to him, he said to the elders z, See ye how this son of a murderer a hath sent to take away mine head b? Look when the messenger cometh, shut the door, and hold him c fast at the door: Is not the sound of his masters feet behind him d?

u In the House where he lodged: for he had no House of his own, having forsaken all when he followed Elijah, 1 King. 19. 20, 21. x So they might be called, Either, First, From their age. Or rather, Secondly, from their office, which was either Ecclesiastical, or Civil: so they were either the Sons of the Prophets: or rather, some Godly men who were then in some Power and Office, either in the Court, or Army, or City, as may seem probable from what he requires of them. And though Joram was a wicked King, and most of his Officers probably like himself; yet there were some of them, which Elisha's Holy Life, and Powerful Ministry, and Glorious Miracles, and the great and publick benefits procured by him, had won to God, and to the True Religion, at least to the profession of it, among which Jehu might be one: and these were here sitting with him; either, to receive comfort and counsel from him in this distressful time; or rather, to solicite him to use his Power with God, for their relief: which accordingly he doth, and in compliance with them, not out of any fear of the King, (from which he very well knew by frequent experience, and certain assurance, that God both could and would deliver him), he gives the following answer, chap. 7. 1. y Or, one of them who stood before his face, one of his Guard, or some other Officer, to take away his head, as it follows. z Being admonished by God of his danger. a The genuine Son of that wicked Ahab the Murderer of the Lord's Prophets, 1 King. 18. 4. and 21. 9. whose son he is not by Birth only, but also by his manners and bloody disposition. Compare Job. 8. 44. This expression may seem very harsh and unfit; nor is it to be drawn into imitation by others: but it must be considered, that he was an extraordinary Prophet, intrusted with a Power in some sort superior to that of Joram, and had Authority to controle and rebuke him in the Name of the King of kings. b To kill me, before he hear what I have to say. c Not the King, but the Messenger, who was left mentioned; that he may not break in upon me, and take away my Life, before the King comes. d You shall not need to hold him long, for the King is just at his heels coming, as is probable; either, to recal his rash and furious sentence; or, at least to debate the matter with the Prophet, and to procure relief.

33 And while he yet talked with them, behold, the messenger came down unto him e: and he said f, Behold, this evil g is of the LORD h, what should I wait for the LORD any longer i?

e To wit, to the Door, where also we are to understand that he was held fast, that he could not come at the Prophet till the King came, as the Prophet had commanded them to do. f Either, 1. The Messenger in the Kings name and words. Or, Secondly, The King himself, who, though not here named, may be presumed to be present, both by the Prophets prediction of his speedy coming, and by the presence of the lord, on whose hand the king leaned, chap. 7. 2. g This dreadful Famine, which is now so extream, that Women are forced to eat their own Children. h He hath inflicted it, and (for ought that I see) he will not remove it. Thus he lays all the blame upon God, not, as he ought, upon his own, and his Mothers wickedneſs, which provoked God, who doth not willingly afflict, to send this heavy Judgment upon him. i Thou bidst me wait upon God for help: but I perceive I may wait long enough before deliverance comes: I am weary with waiting, I can wait no longer.

CHAP. VII.

Elisha prophesieth incredible Plenty in Samaria: And the death of a great Lord, who would not believe the Prophesie, 1, 2. Four Lepers visit the Camp of the Syrians, and bring tidings of their flight, being scared away by God, 3——11. The King sendeth Spies, who confirm this Report: And he spoileth their Tents: Great Plenty: The Lord, on whose Hand the King leaned, is trodden upon by the People, and dieth, 12——20.

THen Elisha said a, Hear ye the word of the LORD, Thus saith the LORD b, To morrow about this time shall a measure c of fine flour be sold for a shekel d, and two measures of barley for a shekel, in the gate of Samaria.

a Either, to the Messenger, to be reported to the King: or rather, to the King, being then come to him, as it is expressed, ver. 18. and to his Courtiers, who were come with him, ver. 2. b The Lord, whom you have so highly offended, and at present despise and refuse to wait upon, of his own meer Grace and Bounty hath sent you the glad tidings of your deliverance. c Heb. Seah, a Measure containing fix Cabs, or 144 Egg-shells, or about a Peck and a Pottle of our Measure. d Compare this with chap. 6. 25.

2 Then † a lord on whose hand the king leaned e, answered the man of God, and said, Behold, if the LORD would make windows f in heaven, might this thing be? And he said, behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof g.

† Heb. third, or captain of the second, or middle rank.

e When he walked. See chap. 5. 18. f Through which he could Rain down Corn, as once he did Manna. g A just punishment for such peremptory unbelief, whereby he made not only the Prophet, but even God himself (in whose Name it was evident Elisha said and did this and other things) a lyar.

3 ¶ And there were four leprous men at the entring in of the gate h: and they said one to another, Why sit we hear until we die?

h To wit, of the City; out of which they were shut by virtue of God's Law, Levi. 13. 46. and 14. 3. either, the dwelling place of the Lepers, was near the Gate: or, they were come very near the Gate, for fear of the Syrians.

4 If we say, we will enter into the city, then the famine is in the city, and we shall die there: and if we sit still here, we die also. Now therefore come, and let us fall unto the host of the Syrians: if they save us alive, we shall live; and if they kill us, we shall but die.

5 And they rose up in the twilight i to go unto the camp of the Syrians: and when they were come to the uttermost part of the camp of Syria, behold, there was no man there.

i In the Evening twilight, as appears from v. 9. and 12.

6 For the LORD made the host of the Syrians to * hear a noise k of chariots, and a noise of horses, even the noise of a great host: and they said one to another, Lo, the king of Israel hath hired against us the kings of the Hittites l, and the kings of the Egyptians m to come upon us.

* Or, in the Air.

k Either, in the Air: or rather in their Ears: otherwise the Israelites had heard it. l Under which name (as elsewhere under the name of the Amorites) he seems to understand all, or any of the People of Canaan. For though the greatest number of that People were destroyed, yet very many of them were spared, and many of them upon Joshua's coming, fled away, some to more remote parts, (which that famous and ancient Inscription upon a Pillar in Africa testifies, and others to the Lands bordering upon Canaan, where by reason of the scarcity of Inhabitants there was in that Age room enough for them; and there they fixed themselves, and grew numerous and powerful, and had (after their ancient and constant manner) Kings over them. The Kings also of Tyrus or Sidon may be here included. m By which they may understand, either the King of Egypt, the Plural number being put for the Singular, as it is elsewhere: or, the Princes and Governors of the several Nomi or Provinces in Egypt, such being oft called kings in Scripture.

7 Wherefore they arose and fled in the twilight, and left their tents, and their horses, and their asses, even the camp as it was, and fled for life.

∴ To save their Lives; which they fancied to be in such present and extream danger, that they durſt not stay to take away any of their Goods, but every man fled the next way before him.

8 And when these lepers came to the uttermost part of the camp, they went into one tent, and did eat and drink, and carried thence silver, and gold, and raiment, and went and hid it: and came again, and entred into another another tent, and carried thence also, and went and hid it.

9 Then they said one to another, We do not well n: this day is a day of good tidings, and we hold our peace: if we tarry till the morning-light, † some mischief will come upon us: now therefore come, that we may go and tell the kings houſhold.

† Heb. we shall find punishment.

n Not well for our Brethren, whom we should pity and help: nor well for our selves; for we may suffer for this neglect; either, from the Syrians, who may lie lurking hreabouts; or, from our King and people; or, from God's immediate hand.

10 So they came, and called unto the porter of the city: and they told them o, saying, We came to the camp of the Syrians, and behold, there was no man there, neither voice of man, but horses tied, and asses tied, and the tents as they were.

o To wit, the Porter and his Companies.

11 And he called the porters p, and they told it to the kings houſe within.

p Either, his fellow-porters of the City: or rather, the Porters or Guards of the Gate of the King's House.

12 ¶ And the king arose in the night, and said unto his servants, I will now shew you what the Syrians have done to us: they know that we be hungry, therefore are they gone out of the camp, to hide themselves in the field, saying, When they come out of the city, we shall catch them alive, and get into the city.

13 And one of his servants answered and said, Let some take, I pray thee, five of the horses that remain, which are left † in the city: (behold, they are as the multitude of Israel that are left in it: behold, I say, they are even as all the multitude of the Israelites that are consumed q) and let us send and see.

q So the sense is, We may well venture these horses, though we have no more, because both they and we are ready to perish through hunger: and therefore let us use them whilst we may for our common good, or to make the discovery. But the repitition of the Phrase seems to imply something more emphatical and significant than the saving of four or five Horses, for which it is not probable they would be so much concerned in their circumstances. The words therefore may be rendred otherwise, Behold, they are of a truth (the Hebrew prefix, Caph, being not here a note of similitude, as the other Translations make it, and as it is commonly used, but an affirmation of the truth and certainty of the things, as it is taken Numb. 11. 1. Deut. 9. 10. Hos. 4. 4. and 5. 10. Joh. 1. 14.) all the multitude of the horses of Israel that are left in it: (to wit, in the City:) behold, I say, they are even all the multitude of the Horses of the Israelites, which (i. e. which multitude) are consumed, i. e. reduced to this small number, all consumed except these five. And thus the vulgar Latin, and some others, understand it. And this was indeed a memorable passage, and worthy of a double behold, to shew what mischief the Famine had done both upon Men and Beasts, and to what a low ebb the King of Israel was come, that all his Troops of Horses, to which he had trusted, were shrunk to so small a number.

14 They took therefore † two chariot-horses r, and the king sent after the host of the Syrians, saying, Go, and see.

r Or, two chariots of horses: or rather, two chariot-horses, as divers render the words, i. e. Horses which belonged to the Kings Chariots. For single Horses seem much more proper for this service, than Chariots and Horses. And whereas it was moved by the King's Servant, that all the five Horses should be sent, it seems it was thought by the King and others, that two were sufficient for that purpose.

15 And they went after them unto Jordan, and lo, all the way was full of garments and vessels, which the Syrians had cast away † in their haste s: and the messengers returned and told the king.

Or, in their flight. Or, in their affrightment.

s Or, in their fear or consternation, wherewith God struck them.

16 And the people went out, and spoiled the tents of the Syrians: So a measure of fine flour was sold for a shekel, and two measures of barley for a shekel, according to the word of the LORD.

17 ¶ And the king appointed the lord on whose hand he leaned, to have the charge of the gate t: and the people trod upon him in the gate, and he died, as the man of God had said, who spake when the king came down to him.

t Partly, to prevent tumults, and disorders and mischiefs amongst the People: and partly, to take order about the shutting of the Gates, if need were, and if the Syrians should happen to return upon them.

18 And it came to pass, as the man of God had spoken to the king, saying, Two measures of barley for a shekel, and a measure of fine flour for a shekel, shall be to morrow about this time in the gate of Samaria:

19 And that lord answered the man of God, and said, Now behold, if the LORD should make windows in heaven, might such a thing be? And he said, Behold, thou shalt see it with thine eyes, but shalt not eat thereof.

20 And so it fell out unto him: for the People trod upon him in the gate, and he died.

CHAP. VIII.

The Shunamite having, by Elisha's Advice, left the Land because of the Famine, returneth home: And hath her whole Estate restored to her for Elisha's sake, 1——6. He cometh to Damascus: Benhadad is sick: And sendeth Hazael to him with Presents: Elisha foreseeth Benhadad's violent death: and Hazael's cruel Reign, with Tears. Hazael's Answer: He killeth his Master, and succeedeth him, 7——15. Jehoram's Wicked Reign in Judah: Edom and Libna revolt, 16——23. Ahaziah his Son succeedeth him: His wicked reign: He entertaineth Friendship with Joram King of Israel, 25——29.

THen * spake Elisha unto the woman b († whose son he had restored to life) saying, Arise, and go thou and thine houſhold, and sojourn wheresoever thou canst sojourn c: for the LORD * hath called for a famine d, and it shall also come upon the land seven years e.

* Chap. 4. 35. * Psal. 105. 15. Hag. 1. 11.

a This particle of time may be understood, either, particularly and definitely of the time next following the former History: or, more generally and indefinitely (as it is frequently used) of the time in which Elisha and this Shunamitish Woman lived. Possibly this might happen before the History of Naaman, chap. 5. or at least, before the Siege of Samaria, chap. 6. But this is not certain. b Expressing his gratitude for her former Kindneſſes, by taking special care for her preservation. c In any convenient place out of the Land of Israel. d i. e. Hath appointed to bring a Famine, or a great scarcity of Provitions. This Expreſſion intimates, that all afflictions are sent by God, and come at his Call or Command. e A double time to the former Famine under Elijah, Jam. 5. 17. which is but just and reasonable, because they were but obstinate and incorrigible under all the severe and succeeding Judgments of God, and under the powerful ministry of Elisha, who confirmed his Doctrine by glorious Miracles. See Levit. 25. 21, 22, 28.

2 And the woman arose, and did after the saying of the man of God: and she went with her houſhold, and sojourned in the land of the Philistines f seven years.

f Either, because that was near her Lands and Dwelling, which she thought she might have an eye to, when occasion required: or, because there was more plenty than in Judah: or, because she knew that her going to dwell in Judah would be very displeasing to the King of Israel, whose favour she was like to need hereafter. Nor was there now that danger of Idolatry from the Philistines, as there had been formerly, because their Power and influence was now grown inconsiderable, and probably many of the Jews and Israelites lived among them. And this Land, though bordering upon Israel, was free from this Famine, that it might appear that this was a special Hand and Judgment of God upon the Israelites for their Idolatry, and for their unreformableness under all the means of Grace which now they plentifully enjoyed by Elisha and many other Prophets; which the Philistines not enjoying, their sin was much less, and therefore their present condition was better.

3 And it came to pass at the seven years end, that the woman returned out of the land of the Philistines: and she went forth to cry unto the king for her houſe, and for her land g.

g Which having been forsaken by her, were possessed by her Kindred, or others, who had obtained them from the King, and now intended to keep the possession of them.

4 And the king talked with Gehazi the Servant of the man of God h, saying, Tell me, I pray thee, all the great things that Elisha hath done.

h Quest. How could the King speak with Gehazi who was a Leper? Ans. Either, the King might speak with him at a convenient distance, it being usual for others to discourse with Lepers, as 2 King. 7. 8. Matth. 8. 2. Luk. 17. 12. or, his Leprosy might be of that sort which was not infectious: or, if his Leprosy was such as made him yet to be unclean, the King's great Curiosity might easily prevail with him to break a Ceremonial Law, who made no Kruple of violating God's Moral Law.

5 And it came to pass, as he was telling the king how he had restored a dead body to life, that behold, the woman i whose son he had restored to life, cried to the king, for her houſe, and for her land. And Gehazi said, My lord, O king, this is the Woman, and this is her son, whom Elisha restored to life.

i By God's wonderful and Gracious Providence brought thither in the most advantagious season.

6 And when the king asked the woman k, she told him. So the king appointed unto her a certain ‖ Officer, saying, Restore all that was hers, and all the fruits of the field, since the day that she left the land, even till now.

‖ Or, eunuch.

k Concerning the truth of Gehazi's relation.

7 ¶ And Elisha came to Damascus l; and Ben-hadad the king of Syria was sick, and it was told him, saying, The man of God is come hither.

l Either to the City: or rather, to the Kingdom of Damascus: by comparing v. 9. as Samaria, which properly was the name of the City, is sometimes the name of the Kingdom: of which see on 2 King. 13. 32. Hither he came by the special direction of the Spirit, and under God's protection, upon the Errand here following.

8 And the king said unto Hazael, Take a present in thine hand m, and go meet the man of God, and enquire of the LORD by him, saying, Shall I recover of this disease?

m By which he thought to purchase his Favour, and the healing of his Disease.

9 So Hazael went to meet him, and took a present † with him, even of every good thing of Damascus, for forty camels burden n, and came and stood before him, and his hand. said, thy son Ben-hadad o king of Syria hath sent me to thee, saying, Shall I † recover of this disease?

† Heb. of all good things of Damascus, the burden of forty camels.

n Hazael carried the more noble Present, hoping, as his Master live, that he did, to get some Interest in the Prophet, and advantage to himself by it. 2.

it. Whether the Prophet received it or not, is not here mentioned; but it is moſt probable he did not, from his former practice, chap. 5. and becauſe the Reaſons which then ſwayed him, were ſtill of the ſame Force. o He who before perſecuted him as an Enemy, chap. 6. 13, 14. now in his Extremity honours him like a Father.

10 And Eliſha ſaid unto him, Go, ſay unto him, Thou mayeſt certainly recover: howbeit, the LORD hath ſhewed me, that he ſhall ſurely die p.

p Here is no contradiction: for the firſt Words contain an Anſwer to Benhadad's Queſtion, ver. 8. Shall I recover this Diſeaſe? To which the Anſwer is, thou mayeſt or ſhalt recover, i. e. notwithſtanding thy Diſeaſe, which is not mortal, and ſhall not take away thy life. The latter Words contain the Prophet's Explication of, or Addition to that Anſwer, which is, that he ſhould die, not by the power of his Diſeaſe, but by ſome other Cauſe. But it is obſervable, that in the Hebrew Text it is, lo, the Adverb, which ſignifies not; which though moſt affirm to be put for lo, the Pronoun, ſignifying to him; yet others take it as it lies, and Tranſlate the Words thus, Say, thou ſhalt not recover: for the Lord hath ſhewed me, that he ſhall ſurely die. Or, according to the former reading, the firſt Words may be taken interrogatively, ſay unto him, Shall thou indeed recover? (as thou doſt flatter thy ſelf): no: (which Negation is implied in the very queſtion, and gathered from the following Words) for the Lord hath ſhewed me, that he ſhall ſurely die.

† Heb. and ſet it. 11 And he ſetled his countenance † ſtedfaſtly q, until he was aſhamed r: and the man of God wept.

q The Prophet fixed his Eyes upon Hazael. r Either, till the Prophet was aſhamed to look any longer upon him: or, till Hazael was aſhamed, as apprehending that the Prophet ſuſpected or diſcerned ſomething extraordinary, and of an evil and ſhameful Nature in him. The Hebrew Words are ambiguous, and may indifferently be referred to either of them: but they ſeem more properly to belong to Hazael, becauſe it follows by way of Diſtinction, the Man of God wept.

* Chap. 10. 32. & 13. 3. Amos 1. 3. † Chap. 15. 16. Hoſ. 13. 16 Amos 1. 13. 12 And Hazael ſaid, Why weepeth my lord? And he anſwered, Becauſe I know * the evil that thou wilt do unto the children of Iſrael s: their ſtrong holds wilt thou ſet on fire, and their young men wilt thou ſlay with the ſword, and wilt † daſh their children, and rip up their women with child.

s So here was a double Cauſe of his Grief and Tears, the evil of ſin in Hazael: and the evil of ſuffering upon Iſrael.

13 And Hazael ſaid, But what, is thy ſervant a dog t, that he ſhould do this great thing? And Eliſha anſwered, The LORD hath ſhewed me that thou ſhalt be king over Syria u.

t Either, ſo vile and unworthy, as this Expreſſion is uſed, 2 Sam. 3. 8. and 9. 8. or ſo impudent, for which Dogs are noted: or, ſo fierce, and barbarous, and inhumane. Compare Pſal. 22. 16, 20. and 59. 6. u And when thou ſhalt have Power in thy hand, thou wilt diſcover that bloody Diſpoſition, and that Hatred againſt God's People, which now lies hid from others, and poſſibly from thy ſelf; and therefore with the Kingdom thou wilt inherit their cruel Diſpoſitions.

14 So he departed from Eliſha, and came to his maſter, who ſaid to him, What ſaid Eliſha to thee? And he anſwered, He told me that thou ſhouldeſt ſurely recover x.

x He repreſents the Prophets Anſwer by halves, that by his Maſters Security he might have the fitter opportunity to execute his Treaſonable Deſign.

15 And it came to paſs on the morrow, that he took a thick cloth, and dipt it in water, and ſpread it on his face y, ſo that he died: and Hazael reigned in his ſtead z.

y Pretending it may be to cool his immoderate Heat with it, but applying it ſo cloſely, that he choaked him therewith: by which Artifice his Death ſeemed to be Natural, there being no ſigns of a violent Death upon his Body. And this he the more boldly attempted, becauſe the Prophet's Prediction made him confident of the Succeſs. z Having the favour of the People, and of the Men of War.

* 2 Chr. 21. 4. † Heb. reigned. 16 ¶ And in the fifth year of Joram the ſon of Ahab king of Iſrael, Jehoſhaphat being then king of Judah, * Jehoram the ſon of Jehoſhaphat king of Judah † began to reign a.

a Jehoram was firſt made King or Vice-Roy by his Father divers Years before this time, to wit, at his expedition to Ramoth-Gilead, as was noted before: which Dominion of his ended at his Fathers return. But now Jehoſhaphat, being not far from his Death, and having divers Sons, and fearing ſome Competition and Diſſention among them, makes Jehoram King the ſecond time, as David did Solomon upon the like occaſion, 1 Chron. 29. 22. which is the thing here related. This unequal Marriage, though Jehoſhaphat poſſibly deſigned it as a mean of uniting the two Kingdoms under one Head, and in the True Religion, is here and elſewhere noted, as the Cauſe both of the great Wickedneſs of his Poſterity, and of thoſe ſore Calamities which befel them.

But when the Meſſiah was once come, there was no more need of any Succeſſion, and the Scepter might and did without any Inconvenience depart from Judah, and from all the ſucceeding Branches of David's Family, becauſe the Meſſiah was to hold the Kingdom for ever in his own Perſon, though not in ſo groſs a way as the carnal Jews imagined, but in a ſpiritual manner. f i. e. 20 ¶ In his days Edom revolted from under the hand of Judah g, and made a king over themſelves.

g Under which they had been from David's time; 2 Sam. 8. 14. Compare 1 King. 22. 47.

21 So Joram went over to Zair, and all the chariots with him, and he roſe by night and ſmote the Edomites which compaſſed him about: and the captains of the chariots, and the people h fled into their tents.

h i. e. The common Soldiers of the Edomites, herein following the example of their Captains.

22 Yet Edom revolted i from under the hand of Judah until this day. Then Libnah k revolted l at the ſame time.

i For though Joram had given them a Defeat, yet it may ſeem to have been no great ſlaughter, but only a putting them to flight; and therefore they might eaſily rally again. And Jehoram could not purſue the Victory, becauſe he was recalled by the revolt of his own Subjects, which had took the occaſion of his Abſence, and probably feared that others would follow their Example, if they had the like occaſion. k A conſiderable City in Judah, belonging to the Prieſts, Joſ. 15. 42. and 21. 13. l Why, ſee 2 Chron. 21. 10, 11. It is probable they returned to their Obedience, becauſe thoſe Words, unto this day, which are added to the former Clauſe, are omitted here.

23 And the reſt of the acts of Joram, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah m?

24 And Joram ſlept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and * Ahaziah his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * 2 Chr. 22. 1.

25 ¶ In the twelfth year of Joram n the ſon of Ahab king of Iſrael, did Ahaziah o the ſon of Jehoram king of Judah begin to reign.

n Obj. It was in the eleventh year of Joram, chap. 9. 29. Anſw. Either, Firſt, He began to Reign in the Confines of Joram's 11th and 12th Year, in the very end of his 11th Year, or towards the beginning of the 12th, whence it is indifferently aſcribed to the one or the other. Or, Secondly, The one year of Ahaziah did concur with the latter half of Joram's 11th Year, and the former half of his 12th Year: and if he could not be ſaid to begin to reign in both theſe Years, yet he might unqueſtionably be ſaid to reign in both of them; and the Hebrew word, both here and chap. 9. 29. properly ſignifies he reigned, and not, he began to reign, as it is Tranſlated. Or, Thirdly, Ahaziah began to Reign with his Father, and during his Life, according to the late Examples both in Judah and Iſrael, there being alſo ſpecial occaſion for it, by reaſon of Joram's cruel and long ſickneſs, 2 Chron. 21. 18, &c. and this was in Joram's 11th Year, and then his Father died, and he began his ſingle Reign in Joram's 12th Year. o Called alſo Jehoahaz, 2 Chron. 21. 17. and Azariah, 2 Chron. 22. 6.

26 Two and twenty years old p was Ahaziah when he began to reign; and he reigned one year in Jeruſalem; and his mothers name was Athaliah, the daughter q of Omri king of Iſrael.

27 And he walked in the way of the houſe of Ahab, and did evil in the ſight of the LORD, as did the houſe of Ahab; for he was the ſon in law of the houſe of Ahab r.

r He was the proper Son of Athaliah, Daughter of Ahab, and the Grand-Son-in-law of Ahab, becauſe his Father was Ahab's Son-in-law, ver 18.

28 ¶ And he went with Joram the ſon of Ahab, to the war againſt Hazael king of Syria in Ramoth-gilead, and the Syrians wounded Joram.

CHAP. IX.

Eliſha ſendeth a Young Prophet with Inſtructions to anoint Jehu King over Iſrael: whom he chargeth to deſtroy the Houſe of Ahab: and ſheweth, 1——10. Jehu is made King by the Soldiers, killeth Joram in the Field of Naboth, 11——26. Killeth alſo Ahaziah King of Judah, 27——29. Cauſeth Jezebel to be thrown out of a Window: whoſe Body is devoured by Dogs, 30——37.

AND Eliſha the prophet called one of the children of the prophets, and ſaid unto him, Gird up thy loins a, and take this box of oyl in thine hand, and go to Ramoth-gilead.

a For haſte, to take this opportunity when the Kings of Iſrael and Judah were both abſent, chap. 8. 29. and Jehu, as it ſeems, was left in Chief Command.

2 And when thou comeſt thither, look out there Jehu the ſon of Jehoſhaphat, the ſon of Nimſhi, and go in, and and make him ariſe up from among his brethren, and carry him to an † inner chamber b.

c This was not his whole Meſſage; but the reſt of it is particularly declared. v. 7, 8, 9, 10. and is to be underſtood here.

4 ¶ So the young man, even the young man the prophet, went to Ramoth-gilead d.

d Which is here noted, as an eminent act of Obedience, whereby he run into a manifeſt hazard of his Life.

5 And when he came, behold, the captains of the hoſt were ſitting: and he ſaid, I have an errand to thee, O captain. And Jehu ſaid, Unto which of all us? And he ſaid, To thee, O captain.

6 And he aroſe, and went into the houſe e, and he poured the oyl on his head f, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, * I have anointed thee king over the people of the LORD, even over Iſrael. * 1 Kin. 19. 15. 21. 21. 2 Sam. 12. 7. 2 Kin. 9. 3, 11.

Though others think Elijah did perform that Command by Eliſha, to whom he left it in charge, and Eliſha waited God's time and command for the actual execution of it, which he received at this time.

i In that part of Land in or near the City, which belonged to Naboth.

11 ¶ Then Jehu came forth to the ſervants of his lord k, and one ſaid unto him, Is all † well? Wherefore came this mad fellow m to thee? And he ſaid unto him, Ye know the man, and his communication n. † Heb. peace.

k To the reſt of the Commanders and Officers there preſent. l Is not this unlucky Meſſenger come with ſome ill Tidings? m They perceived him to be a Prophet by his Habit, and Geſtures, and manner of Speech. And theſe prophane Soldiers eſteemed the Lord's Prophets Mad-men: partly, becauſe of their neglect of themſelves, and contempt of all Worldly Wealth and Honour, which the wiſe Men of this World ſo greedily ſeek, and of their ſtrange and uncouth manner of living: partly, becauſe of their Holy Exerciſes to which they devoted themſelves, which they eſteemed nothing but a Religious Phrenzy: and partly, becauſe of thoſe unuſual and ſeemingly ridiculous Geſtures and Actions which the Prophets ſometimes uſed in raptures of Spirit, or in the Fervours of Devotion. Compare Jer. 29. 26. Joh. 10. 20. Act. 26. 24. n You rightly gueſs that he was a Mad-man, and ſo it appears by his Diſcourſe with me, which was, after the manner of that ſort of Men, vain and impertinent, to tell me of my ſins, or of my duty, or ſuch things as are not worth my ſpeaking, or your hearing.

12 And they ſaid, It is falſe o; tell us now p. And he ſaid, Thus and thus ſpake he to me, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD, I have anointed thee king over Iſrael.

o There is ſomething extraordinary and of great importance in his Meſſage, as we plainly perceive by his calling thee into an inner Chamber, by his great Expedition, and by his Geſture and Carriage. p His Concealment of the thing made them more greedy to know it.

13 Then they haſted q, and took every man his garment, and put it under him r on the top of the ſtairs ſ, and blew with trumpets, ſaying, Jehu † is king. Heb. goeth.

q Being well pleaſed with the thing; partly, from the advantage which hereby they expected; partly, from that deſire of Change which is in moſt Mens Natures; and principally, by God's Providence, inclining their Hearts to Jehu. r A Ceremony uſed in the Eaſtern parts towards Superiors, in token of great Reverence to his Perſon, that they would not have his Feet to touch the Ground, and that they put themſelves and their Concerns under his Feet, and into his Diſpoſal. See on Matth. 21. 7. ſ In ſome high and eminent place, whence he might be ſeen and owned by all the Soldiers, who were called together upon this great occaſion.

14 So Jehu the ſon of Jehoſhaphat the ſon of Nimſhi, conſpired againſt Joram: (Now Joram had kept Ramoth-giliad t, he and all Iſrael, becauſe of Hazael king of Syria:

t Which Interpreters conclude to have been taken by Joram before this time, though the taking of it be not mentioned. This they gather, Firſt, from the mention of the inner chamber, ver. 2. and of the top of the ſtairs here. Secondly, From ver. 15. let none go forth out of the City. But theſe Arguments ſeem not to be cogent. Not the former, becauſe there might be ſome Suburbs or out-Buildings belonging to the City, or not far from it, which the Iſraelites might have in their Poſſeſſion. Nor the latter, as we ſhall there ſee. And if it was taken, why ſhould all Iſrael be there to keep it, for which a ſtrong Garriſon was ſufficient? The Words therefore may be otherwiſe rendred, exactly according to the Hebrew, Joram had kept, or did keep (to wit, by his Army left there) or put guards, or laid ſege at, or to (for ſo the Particle Beth is oft uſed) Ramoth-Gilead. And therefore he had all Iſrael, i. e. all the Military Force of Iſrael, with him, that he might both maintain the Siege, and withal oppoſe Hazael who fought to relieve it.

15 But * king † Joram was returned to be healed in Jezreel, of the wounds which the Syrians * had given him, when he fought with Hazael u king of Syria). And Jehu ſaid, If it be your minds, then † let none go forth nor eſcape out of the city x, to go tell it in Jezreel y. * Chap. 8. 29. † Heb. Jehoram. † Heb. let not.

u When he came with an Army, either to retake the City taken † Heb. let by Joram: or, to raiſe the Siege. x Or, from the City: either from no eſcape within the City, or from before it, from the Siege or Army. y That ſo, Or, we may ſurpriſe him, and ſo more eaſily ſubdue him.

16 So Jehu rode in a chariot, and went to Jezreel z, (for Joram lay there) and Ahaziah king of Judah was come down to ſee Joram.

z Accompanied with the Horſemen of his Army.

17 And there ſtood a watch-man on the tower in Jezreel, and he ſpied the company of Jehu as he came, and ſaid, I ſee a company. And Joram ſaid, Take an horſeman, and ſend to meet them, and let him ſay, Is it peace a?

a Enquire who it is comes, and if he come upon peaceable terms. For he feared, leſt either the Syrians had prevailed there; or, ſome Sedition or Rebellion was raiſed againſt him: which the Example of Libnah, and his own guilty Conſcience, made him fear.

18 So there went one on horſeback to meet him, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu ſaid, What haſt thou to do with peace b? turn thee behind me. And the watch-man told, ſaying, The meſſenger came to them, but he cometh not again.

b What right haſt thou, or thy Maſter that ſent thee, to Peace?

19 Then he ſent out a ſecond on horſeback, which came to them, and ſaid, Thus ſaith the king, Is it peace? And Jehu anſwered, What haſt thou to do with peace? turn thou behind me.

20 And the watch-man told, ſaying, He came even unto them, and cometh not again: and the † driving is like the driving of Jehu the ſon of Nimſhi; for he driveth † furiouſly c. † Or, marching. † Heb. in madneſs.

c As his Temper is haſty and fierce, ſo is his March.

21 And Joram ſaid, † Make ready. And his chariot was made ready. And Joram king of Iſrael, and Ahaziah king of Judah went out, each in his chariot, and they went out againſt Jehu d, and † met him in the portion of Naboth the Jezreelite e. † Heb. Bind. † Heb. found.

d Or, to meet Jehu, to know his Intentions, and by his Preſence to repreſs any ſeditious Inclinations which might be in Jehu or his Followers. e In that Field which formerly belonged to Naboth, part whereof was inclofed by Ahab, and made a Garden.

22 And it came to paſs when Joram ſaw Jehu, that he ſaid, Is it peace f, Jehu? And he anſwered, What peace g, ſo long as the whoredoms of thy mother Jezebel, and her witchcrafts h are ſo many?

f Doſt thou come to me with a peaceable Mind, or in a way of Hoſtility? For now, when it was too late, he began to ſuſpect ſome Treachery: which God hid from him before, to prepare him for Deſtruction. g What cauſe haſt thou to expect Peace, when thou haſt ſo long abetted, and doſt ſtill abet, and allow thy Mother in her abominable Practices? h Which are to be underſtood, either, Firſt, Literally; Spiritual Whoredom, which is Idolatry, being oft puniſhed with corporal. See ver. 30. and witchcrafts there was oft practiſed by Idolaters. Or rather, Myſtically and Spiritually, of her Idolatry, which is oft called whoredom, becauſe it is a departing from God, to whom we are all tied by many Obligations; and witchcrafts, either, becauſe it doth ſo powerfully bewitch and deceive Mens Minds; or, becauſe it is a manifeſt entering into Covenant with the Devil. For Idolatry being her chief Sin, and the cauſe of all the reſt, it ſeems improbable, that Jehu would omit that in the Indictment which he drew againſt her. He mentions not Joram's, but his Mother's Sins: partly, becauſe they were more notorious and infamous: partly, becauſe they were the principal cauſe why God inflicted, and he was come to execute theſe Judgments: partly, becauſe by his Connivance he had made them his own: and partly, becauſe he could find no groſs and odious matter where with to charge him, except about the Worſhip of the Calves; which he forbore to mention, both leſt it ſhould looſe his Intereſt amongſt his Officers and Soldiers, who were devoted to that Worſhip; and becauſe he himſelf intended to keep it up.

23 And Joram turned his hands i, and fled, and ſaid to Ahaziah, There is treachery, O Ahaziah.

i Either, that therewith he might turn the Reins of the Chariot: or, that by this motion he might direct his Charioteer to turn it from Jehu.

24 And Jehu † drew a bow with his full ſtrength, and ſmote Jehoram between his arms k, and the arrow went out at his heart, and he † ſunk down in his chariot. † Heb. filled his hand with a bow. † Heb. bowed.

k Between his Shoulders, when he was turned, or turning back, the Chariot being probably open behind, as many times they were.

25 Then said Jehu to Bidkar his captain, Take up, and caſt him in the portion of the field of Naboth the Jezreelite: for remember how that ‖ when I and thou rode together after Ahab his father l, * the LORD laid this burden m upon him.

l Which might be when Ahab went in his Chariot, attended with his Nobles or Chief Officers (of which theſe were two) to take a formal and ſolemn poſſeſſion of Naboth's Land: for then the Prophet Elijah met him, and denounced this Judgement againſt him, 1 Kings. 21. 17, &c. m I. e. this grievous Prophecy: for ſuch are oft, and truly called burdens, as Iſa. 13. 1. and 15. 1. Jer. 23. 33, 34. Nah. 1. 1.

For it is not unuſual to bring in ſuch fragments of Hiſtory in ſucceeding Writings which were neglected in the Hiſtory of thoſe matters. Thus we read of the earthquake in the days of Uzziah, Amos 1. 1. which was not recorded in his Hiſtory in the Books of the Kings or Chronicles. Or, Secondly, if Samaria be the City, then the Hiſtory is briefly and imperfectly deſcribed here, and the defects ſupplied there, (the Book of Chronicles being in great part written for that end, to ſupply things omitted in the Book of Kings) and out of both, the Hiſtory may be thus compleated: He fled firſt to Megiddo, and thence to Samaria, where he was caught, and thence brought to Jehu, and by his Sentence was put to death at Megiddo, either becauſe Jehu was there at that time upon ſome occaſion; or, for ſome other reaſon, which at this diſtance of time we cannot underſtand.

28 And his ſervants carried him in a chariot to Jeruſalem, and buried him in his ſepulchre with his Fathers, in the city of David u.

u Which they did by Jehu's permiſſion for Jehoſhaphat's ſake, 2 Chron. 22. 9.

29 And in the eleventh year of Joram x the ſon of Ahab, began Ahaziah to reign over Judah.

33 And he ſaid, Throw her down. So they threw her down c, and ſome of her blood was ſprinkled on the wall, and on the horſes: and he trod her under foot.

c Being mercenary Creatures, they quickly comply with Jehu's command, ſacrificing her Life to ſave their own.

34 And when he was come in, he did eat and drink, and ſaid, Go ſee now this curſed woman, and bury her d: for ſhe is a kings daughter e.

d This he ſuddenly commanded, either, becauſe he had forgot the charge given him above, ver. 10. or, becauſe having done his own buſineſs, he was careleſs about God's Work, and the fulfilling of his threatning. e See 1 King. 16. 31. He doth not ſay, becauſe ſhe was a king's wife, leſt he ſhould ſeem to ſhew any reſpect to that wicked and curſed houſe of Ahab, which God had devoted to ignominy and utter deſtruction.

35 And they went to bury her: but they found no more of her than the ſcull, and the feet, and the palms of her hands.

36 Wherefore they came again, and told him: and he ſaid, This is the word of the LORD f, which he ſpake † by his ſervant Elijah the Tiſhbite, ſaying, * In the portion of Jezreel ſhall the dogs eat the fleſh of Jezebel:

a Either, Firſt, Properly Sons by ſeveral Wives. Or rather, Secondly Grand-ſons are comprehended, who are oft called ſons; and Grand-fathers, fathers in Scripture. b Either, becauſe they were bred up there, that being the chief city of the Kingdom: or, becauſe upon the ſlayings of Joram's ſlaughter, they fled thither, or were by their Friends conveyed from ſeveral parts thither, as to the ſtrongeſt place; in which it may ſeem by Jehu's meſſage, they intended to defend themſelves and Ahab's Children, and to ſet up one as King in Joram's ſtead: or rather, becauſe they were left there by Joram, when he went to Ramoth-Gilead, that if the Syrians had prevailed againſt him, they might have ſafety in that very ſtrong and great City, and he by their means ſuccour from it. c Heb. the princes of Jezreel, i. e. The great Perſons and Officers of the Court, which then was, and had been for ſometime at Jezreel, who either had fled thither with Ahab's Sons, upon the news of Jehu's Actions and Succeſſes: or rather, had been ſent by Joram with his Sons to Samaria, to take care of them there. d Either, by Age: or rather, by Office, the Rulers or Senators of Samaria. e That had a more particular care of the ſeveral Children under the inſpection of the princes or rulers here mentioned.

2 Now aſſoon as this letter cometh to you, ſeeing your maſters ſons are with you, and there are with you chariots and horſes, a fenced city alſo, and armour:

3 Look even out the beſt and meeteſt of your maſters ſons, and ſet him on his fathers throne, and fight for your maſters houſe f.

f Thus he ſpeaks, either, becauſe he had ſome notice of their intentions thus to do: or, to make tryal of them, whether they would do ſo, or would be true to him and his deſigns: or, to ſignifie to them his intentions of fighting againſt them, if they did ſo, that by the terror hereof he might bring them to a compliance with him.

4 But they were exceedingly afraid, and ſaid, Behold two kings ſtood not before him g: how then ſhould we ſtand?

g All their Power and Intereſt, either in Jezreel, or in the Army before, or in Ramoth-Gilead, could not hinder him from executing his deſigns, from killing the two Kings, and from invading one of their Kingdoms. It is true, he ſurprized the Kings, which a little weakens their argument; but fear and ſelf-love made them eaſily yield to it.

5 And he that was over the houſe h, and he that was over the city i, the elders alſo, and the bringers up of the children, ſent to Jehu, ſaying, We are thy ſervants, and will do all that thou ſhalt bid us k; we will not make any king: do thou that which is good in thine eyes.

h The chief Governour of the Kings Palace or Caſtle there. i The chief Magiſtrate or military Governour. k They make no delays or conditions, but ſubmit all to his mercy.

6 Then he wrote a letter l the ſecond time to them, ſaying, If ye be † mine, and if ye will hearken unto my † Heb. voice, take ye the heads of the men m, your maſters ſons, and come to me to Jezreel by to morrow this time: (now the kings ſons being ſeventy perſons, were with the great men of the city, which brought them up)

l This Jezebel is required for her Letter directed in like manner to the Elders of Naboth's City, whereby his life was wickedly taken away, 1 King. 21. 8. And it is probable that ſome of theſe Elders were concerned in that very Buſineſs, which makes the Judgment of God more remarkable. m Which word ſeems to imply that ſome of them were grown up, who doubtleſs trod in their Parents ſteps; and thoſe that were younger, were juſtly cut off for their Parents ſin: of which ſee on Exod. 20. 5. Deut. 5. 9.

7 And it came to paſs when the letter came to them, that they took the kings ſons, and ſlew ſeventy perſons n, and put their Heads in baskets, and ſent him them to Jezreel.

n Jehu juſtly required this, becauſe the Sovereign and moſt righteous Lord of all mens lives commanded it; but the Samaritans wickedly obeyed it, becauſe they deſtroyed Perſons in a great meaſure innocent, meerly out of ſlaviſh fear, and without any knowledge of, or regard to God's Command.

8 ¶ And there came a meſſenger, and told him, ſaying, They have brought the Heads of the kings ſons. And he ſaid, Lay ye them in two heaps at the entring in of the gate n, until the morning.

n The place of Judicature; to ſignifie, that this was an act of Juſtice, and of God's Righteous Judgment; and the place of greateſt concourſe, where people went out of the City, and came into it, and whither they reſorted for Judgment, and other occaſions; that all men might behold this dreadful ſpectacle of divine vengeance upon Ahab's Family, and thereby might juſtifie Jehu's cauſe and proceedings.

9 And it came to paſs in the morning, that he went out, and ſtood, and ſaid to all the people, Ye be righteous: behold, I conſpired againſt my maſter, and ſlew him: but † who ſlew all theſe? † Heb. and.

o Either, Firſt, To the promiſcuous multitude met there to gaze upon this ſad and ſtrange ſpectacle. So the ſenſe is, Be not ye troubled nor affrighted with theſe unuſual and diſmal occurrences: if any thing be amiſs in theſe actions, I do here publickly and ſolemnly acquit you as Righteous and Innocent; do not you therefore fear any vengeance from God or men for it: if there be any guilt, it is in me, and in thoſe who cut off theſe heads. Or, Secondly, To thoſe who cut off, and brought the heads; for the ſame perſons did both, and were here preſent, as Jehu commanded them, v. 6. to them he ſpeaks in the audience of all the people; or by all the people may be meant all thoſe who brought the heads, and were there waiting for Jehu, according to his order. So the ſpeech is in part Ironical, to this purpoſe, You are Righteous in your own eyes, and you look upon me as a Traitor, and Rebel, and Murderer, becauſe I have ſlain againſt, and ſlain my Maſter, which I acknowledge I have done. But if I am guilty, you are not innocent, and therefore cannot accuſe me: for I have killed one, but you a great number. This explication ſeems probable; ple, may ſeem not ſo fitly to agree to theſe Rulers and great Men, who had brought the Heads; and that expreſſion, to all the people, implies, that Jehu did not direct his ſpeech to ſome particular Perſons, but to the whole Body of the people then preſent, whom he clears from all blame, and to whom he appeals as Witneſſes, between him and theſe perſons.

10 Know now, that there ſhall fall unto the earth nothing of the word of the LORD, which the LORD ſpake p concerning the houſe of Ahab: for the LORD hath done that which he ſpake * † by his ſervant Elijah q.

h Either all his Houſhold: or rather, all his Kindred, and Relations, though more remote from him.

18 And Jehu gathered all the people together i, and ſaid unto them, Ahab ſerved Baal a little, but Jehu ſhall ſerve him much k.

i By their Repreſentatives, their Elders or Rulers, as was uſual: to whom he imparts his mind: and they being generally Corrupt, and Time-ſervers, and ſuch as had no fence of Religion in them, durſt not oppoſe his Reſolution, but ſeemed to comply with it. k As if he had ſaid, My quarrel is only with Ahab's Family, and not with Baal; which my actions ſhall manifeſt. Which words being manifeſtly falſe, and ſpoken with a deſign to deceive, cannot be excuſed from Sin, though they were uttered with a pious intention; this being an unmoveable Principle, That we muſt not do the leaſt Evil of Sin, that the greateſt good may come, Rom. 3. 8. And if Jehonadab did concur with Jehu herein, it was a humane Infirmity.

19 Now therefore call unto me all the prophets of Baal, all his ſervants l, and all his prieſts, let none be wanting: for I have a great ſacrifice to do to Baal m; whoſoever ſhall be wanting, he ſhall not live. But Jehu did it in ſubtilty n, to the intent that he might deſtroy the worſhippers of Baal.

l Either, 1. All his Miniſters: of whom there may ſeem to have been ſeveral ſorts, whereof two are here diſtinctly mentioned, his Prophets and Prieſts; and the reſt of the Inferior ſort, may be comprehended under this general Title of Servants, becauſe they were to attend upon the others in their Sacred Miniſtrations. And theſe being once deſtroyed, Jehu rightly concluded, that the reſt would fall of courſe. And this ſence may ſeem to be favoured by ver. 22. wherein Veſtments were brought forth for all thoſe worſhippers of Baal; which were not commonly uſed by the People, in the Worſhipe either of God, or of Baal; but onely by the Prieſts, or Miniſters. Or, 2. All his Worſhippers, as the ſame word is Tranſlated, in the cloſe of this Verſe. Thoſe could all theſe be contained in one Houſe of Baal? Anſ. Well enough, for the number of Baal's Worſhippers had been vaſtly diminiſhed by the Miniſtry of Elijah, and Eliſha, and the reſt of the Prophets; and by Joram's neglect, and diſlike of that Worſhip. For the generality of the Iſraelites had too much knowledge to have any real and Religious reſpect to ſuch ſenſleſs Idols; only they practiſed it in compliance with the humour of their King and Queen, and for worldly, or wicked ends; and therefore when the King deſerted it, they generally forſook it: ſome few ſilly and beſotted Perſons excepted, who are here gathered together. Beſides, this Houſe or Temple of Baal might be very large and capacious, and probably was ſo, becauſe it was the chief of that ſort, as being in the King's City, and nigh his Palace, and for the uſe of the King and Queen, and the whole Court; and for great and high Solemnities. Moreover, as the name of the Houſe or Temple of God at Jeruſalem oft ſignifies, not only the principal Building, but all the other Buildings and Courts belonging to it; in which all the Worſhippers ſtood when they Worſhipped, ſo it might be here; and ſo there was ſpace ſufficient for all the Worſhippers of Baal, which can reaſonably be thought to have been at this time in all Iſrael. m I will offer to him a noble and acceptable Sacrifice; not of Sheep, or Oxon, &c. as they underſtood it; but of his own beloved Prieſts, and Prophets, and Servants; as he meant it. n With another deſign, that he might both certainly diſcover, and utterly Deſtroy them all, without any farther trouble, or danger of Sedition or Tumult in his Kingdom.

20 And Jehu ſaid, † Proclaim o a ſolemn aſſembly for Baal: and they proclaimed it.

21 And Jehu ſent through all Iſrael: and all the worſhippers of Baal came, ſo that there was not a man left that came not p: and they came into the houſe q of Baal;

Baal; and the house of Baal was ‖ full from one end to another.

‖ Or, so full that they stood mouth to mouth.

p Either, 1. Because they thought Jehu was serious and sincere in his Professions; it being natural, and usual for men too easily to believe, what they wish to be true. And for the Priests which Jehu destroyed before, ver. 11. they might think that was done, only because of their nearness and Relation to Ahab and his Family. Or, 2. For fear of their Lives; for certain Death was threatned to all that did not come, ver. 19. which considering Jehu's fierce and bloody Temper, they knew would be executed; whereas, if they did come, there was more than a possibility of the sparing of their Lives: for Jehu was known to be indifferent and unconcerned in matters of Religion, one that had served Baal when his Prince Ahab lived and did so; and forsook it when the next Prince Joram did; and therefore it was doubtful whether Jehu had not in good earnest returned to his first Love, to that Religion which he had formerly embraced, and only deserted in complacency to others. Or, 3. By God's just Providence, deceiving their Minds, and enclining their Hearts to come to their own Destruction. q i.e. The Temple.

22 And he said unto him that was over the vestry, Bring forth vestments r for all the worshippers of Baal. And he brought them forth vestments.

r Sacred Garments; such as were used by the Priests and others of the Lord's Ministry in God's Worship; and from thence the Devil borrowed this Custom in his Worship.

23 And Jehu went, and Jehonadab the son of Rechab s into the house of Baal, and said unto the worshippers of Baal, Search, and look that there be here with you none of the servants of the LORD t, but the worshippers of Baal only.

s Whom the Rechites possibly did not know, and therefore suspected nothing; or, if any of the more crafty sort suspected any thing, it was now too late to amend their Error. t Because their Presence will offend Baal, and deride, or pollute his Worship: whence Prophane Persons have been oft excluded from Solemn Acts of Worship, both by Jews and Heathens. So this did not raise their suspicion.

24 And when they went in u to offer sacrifices, and burnt-offerings, Jehu appointed fourscore men x without, and said, If any of the men whom I have brought into your hands, escape, he that letteth him go, his life shall be for the life of him.

u When some in the name of the rest went to the Altar to offer Sacrifice. x Far greater numbers being doubtless in readiness to assist them, in case of any opposition.

25 And it came to pass assoon as he y had made an end of offering the burnt-offerings z, that Jehu said to the guard, and to the captains a, Go in, and slay them, let none come forth. And they smote them with † the edge of the sword, and the guard and the captains cast them out b, and went to the city of the house of Baal c.

y i.e. The Chief Priest of Baal. See 2 Chron. 23. 17. z So far he suffered them to proceed: either, because till then they were not all come into the House: Or, because having been taken in the very act of gross Idolatry, their Destruction was more just and reasonable. a i.e. To the Fourscore Men, and their Officers. b i.e. Cast their Carcasses out of the City. But that was not proper Work for the Guard: nor could they so soon have done it; nor would they stay to do it, when they were going in haste to other Work; nor indeed was it necessary to be done; because they intended to pull down the House, and bury them in its Ruines, and turn it into a Draught-House, as it follows. This Word therefore is, and may be joined with the next; and both rendred, They went hastily and eagerly (properly, and flung themselves out) (Hithpil for Hithpahel, which is not unusual in the Hebrew Language) and went. The like Expression is used, Esth. 6. 12. hasted, Heb. pushed himself on, or flung himself, i. e. went with great haste; and in the Greek Text, Mark 14. 72. c Either, 1. To some City near to Samaria, where another eminent Temple of Baal was erected. But this seems not to agree with the Context, there being but one House or Temple of Baal mentioned, both in the foregoing and following Verses. Or rather, 2. To some Buildings belonging to this House of Baal, which may be here called the City; either for some particular reason now unknown: or, because they were very numerous and capacious. For as there were divers Chambers and Rooms built without the Temple, belonging to it, for the use of the Priests, and Levites, &c. So it may probably be conceived, That this famous Temple of Baal had many such Buildings; in some of which, the Priests of Baal, or of the Groves, (whereof there were great numbers belonging to the King's Court, 1 King. 18. 19.) peradventure might dwell; and others of them might be for divers uses belonging to the House, and Service of Baal. And into these Buildings the Guard might go, and that swiftly, to surprize, and kill those inferior Ministers of Baal, who were there employed in preparing things for the Sacrifices which were to be offered; or, in other Services belonging to that House, or that Solemnity.

26 And they brought forth the † Images out of the house of Baal, and burnt them d.

27 And they brake down the Image of Baal e, and brake down the house of Baal f, and made it a draught-house unto this day.

e The Chief Image which they worshipped more than the rest. f And the like they did with the rest of the Houses of Baal in Israel; as may be gathered both from the nature and reason of the thing; and from ver. 28.

28 Thus Jehu destroyed Baal out of Israel.

29 Howbeit from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin, Jehu departed not from * 1 Kings. 12, 28. after them g, to wit, * the golden calves that were in Bethel, and that were in Dan.

g Herein he discovers his Hypocrisie, that he follows God as far as his Interest would permit; namely, in destroying the House of Ahab, and the Worship of Baal, but no further: for he still resolves to keep up the Worship of the Calves: partly, lest he should disoblige and irritate his own Nobles and Subjects, who had been long inured, and were heartily affected to it: and partly, lest he should open a Door for his People to return to their Obedience to the House of David. And his sin and folly is the more inexcusable, both because he durst not trust that God with the keeping of his Kingdom, of whose Power, and Faithfulness, and Kindness to him, he had such ample Experience in his giving him the Kingdom; and because he had so great and uncontrolable a Power in the matters of Religion; having first practiced, and seemed to set up the Worship of Baal with all his might, and then destroying it with no less Vehemency, none daring to mutter against him in either case; and because the House of David, and Kingdom of Judah, his Competitor, now was, and was likely to be in a feeble and declining Condition, and much more likely to fall into his Hands, than that his Kingdom should come into theirs.

30 And the LORD said unto Jehu h, Because thou hast done well in executing that which is right in mine eyes i, and hast done unto the house of Ahab according to all that was in mine heart, * thy children of the fourth generation shall sit on the throne of Israel k. * Chap. 15. 12.

h By some Prophet, as above, Chap. 9. 7. i i.e. In part, and so far as is here expressed, these Actions were good and right, though his Heart was not so. k And so they did; namely, Jehoahaz, below ver. 35. Joash, Chap. 13. 10. Jeroboam, Chap. 14. 24. and Zechariah, Chap. 15. 8.

31 But Jehu † took no heed to walk in the law of the LORD God of Israel, with all his heart l: for he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam m, which made Israel to sin.

† Heb. turned not.

l His Obedience wanted three necessary Properties, Care or Heedfulness, Universality, and Sincerity. m His resolved continuance in one single Course, is justly alledged as an Argument of his Faithheartedness in all his other Actions.

Athaliah destroyeth all the Royal Family: only Jehoash escapeth: is hid six Years in the House of God, 1—3. Jehoiada giving Order to the Captains in the Seventh Year maketh him King, 4—12. Athaliah slain, 13—16. The Covenant is renewed between God, the King, and the People: and Baal's Worship is destroyed: the King is set on his Throne, 17—21.

a i.e. All of the Royal Family, left after thofe Slaughters, 2 Chron. 21. 2, 4. and 22. 1. and 2 King. 10. 13, 14. except one, as the next Verse limits and explains it. This she did, partly out of Rage at the Extirpation of her Family; resolving, that David's Family should not out-live hers; partly, from Ambition and desire of Rule; for which many Persons have destroyed their nearest Relations: partly, from the Zeal which she had for Idolatry, and the Worship of Baal which she intended to establish; to which she knew the House of David were implacable Enemies. And partly, in her own Defence, that she might secure her self from Jehu's Fury, who was commanded by God, and resolved in himself, utterly to destroy all the Branches of Ahab's Family, whereof she was one, Chap. 8. 18, 26. For had she not done this, she fufpected, that either the King, or People of Judah would have delivered her up to Jehu upon his coming to Jerusalem, as they knew he was Joram's Children by another Wife: Of which, see on the next Verse. And this was the fruit of Jehoshaphat's Marrying his Son to a Daughter of that Idolatrous and Wicked House of Ahab, even the extirpation of all his Posterity, but one. And this dreadful Judgment God permitted, and inflicted upon him and his, to shew how much he abhors all such sinful and unequal Affinities.

2 But Jehosheba b the daughter of king Joram c sister of Ahaziah, took Joash the son of Ahaziah e, and stole him from among the kings sons which were slain d; and they e hid him, even him and his nurse in the bed-chamber f, from Athaliah, so that he was not slain.

b Called Jehoshabeath, 2 Chron. 22. 11. c To wit, by another Wife, and not by this Athaliah: for it is not likely Jehoiadah who Married her, 2 Chron. 22. 11. would have Married one of that wicked and cursed House, except he were married very young, and therein over-ruled by his Parents. e Either, 1. His Adopted, and Legal Son, who was to succeed him, though he was of another House, and of Nathan's Family, as many think: such Persons being sometimes called the Sons of their Predecessors, as we shall see hereafter. Or rather, 2. His proper and natural Son; for not only he, but the rest who were slain, are here called the kings (i. e. Joram's) sons. d Either, 1. From amidst of the Carcasses, where this Infant was laid, and supposed by her to be killed, though it was not quite dead; either through the Compassion, or Connivance of the Instruments of this Execution; or by some other Artifice which his Nurse effected. Or, 2. Out of that Apartment of the Palace which was allotted for the Kings Children. e Jehosheba and her Husband Jehoiadah. f Which was in the House of the Lord; as is affirmed in the next Verse. So that it was one of those Chambers adjoyning, or near to the Temple, which were for the uses of the Priests and Levites, and for them only: which made it more proper for this purpose.

3 And he was with her hid in the house of the LORD, six years g: and Athaliah did reign over the land h.

g Either, Athaliah thought they were all Dead; or if she fuspected that this was preserved, she thought an Infant could do her no great harm; and that she could so well assure the Kingdom to her self within a few Years, that the need not fear any such weak Competitor; or she was willing to smother up the business, left if she had made a strict and diligent Search for it, the People should thereby learn, that there was yet a Son of David's Family left; and so be unquiet under her Government, and desirous of a Change. h Which she had an opportunity to do, because she was not only the late King's Wife, but also was probably made Queen-Regent upon Joram's going to Ramoth-Gilead.

4 And * in the seventh year Jehoiada sent i, and fet the rulers over hundreds k, with the captains l and the guard m, and brought them to him into the house of the LORD n, and made a covenant with them o, and took an oath of them p in the house of the LORD, and shewed them the kings son. * 2 Chron. 23. 1.

i If this action of Jehoiadah's seem strange and irregular, this was no ordinary case, but there were divers peculiar things in it; as that Athaliah was a meer Usurper, having no pretence of Right to the Crown, and one of that wicked House which God had particularly, and by Name, devoted to Destruction; that Jehoiadah's Wife was nearer Allied, and had more Right to the Crown, than Athaliah; that the Crown of Judah was by Divine appointment appropriated to the Sons of David; and therefore the Right of the Crown was inherently in him whom Jehoiadah put, which Right her Usurpation could not exclude: That Jehoiadah was not a meer private Person, but the Husband of the King's Aunt; and probably the High-Priest, to whom it belonged in great part to fee the Laws of God executed: That Jehoiadah did not act alone in the business, but had the Consent and Concurrence of the Chief Rulers both Civil and Ecclesiastical; and besides all this, that it is conceived, That he had a special Motion of God's Spirit, or the Direction and Encouragement of the Prophets of that time. So that this action cannot be drawn into a President for succeeding Times, and for other Kingdoms. k Of whom see Exod. 18. 25. Of these there were five, which are named, 2 Chron. 23. 1. And these were either, 1. Civil, or Military Officers. But then such small Officers could not have stood him in much stead. And why did he not rather engage Captains of Thousands, or greater Persons, whom doubtless he might easily have brought into this Confederacy? Or rather, Priests or Levites of eminency, as their Work sheweth, ver. 5, 6, 7. and 2 Chron. 23. 1, 2. and their distinction from the Captains and Guard. l Or, Princes, or Nobles, or Commanders; such as he knew were weary of her Idolatrous and Tyrannical Government, and Faithful to their King. m Possibly those who had been the former King's Guard, who had been displaced by Athaliah, as Persons whose Fidelity she suspected. n i. e. Into the Courts of that House, which oft come under the Name of the House, or Temple of the Lord: for into the House none but the Priests or Levites might enter. o To reform the King to his Kingdom, and Religion to its Purity. p For their Secrefie and Fidelity in the prefent Design.

5 And he commanded them, saying, This is the thing that ye shall do; a third part of you q that enter in * on the sabbath r, shall even be keepers of the watch of the kings house s: * Chron. 23.

q Either, 1. A third part of you, (i. e. of the whole Number, including those that come in, and those that go out on the Sabbath) even they that enter in on the Sabbath: and so the two other Third parts were to consist of those that went out on the Sabbath; as some gather from ver. 5, 7. Or rather, 2. A third part only of those that enter in on the Sabbath, who seem to be plainly divided into three Thirds here; and ver. 6. as those that went forth on the Sabbath are expresly distributed into Two Parts, ver. 7. r i. e. That come into the Temple on the Sabbath-day. For the understanding of this matter, you must know, That the Levites were, in and from David's time, distributed into Twenty four Courses, which were to do the Work of the Temple successively, and by turns; each Course consisting of about a Thousand Men for his Week: of which see 1 Chron. 23. and 24. s Either, 1. Of that Bed-chamber where the King now was. But it is unlikely, and without Example, either that one Bed-chamber, or the Temple, or any part of it, should be called the King's treasure. And besides, the King's Person is secured by other Persons, ver. 7. Or rather, 2. By that part which leadeth to the King's Palace, which Athaliah now possessed, and whence they might expect Opposition.

6 And a third part shall be at the gate of Sur t, and a third part at the gate behind the guard u: so shall ye keep the watch of the house ‖ that it be not broken down x. ‖ Or, from being pulled down.

t The Chief Gate of the Temple called the Neigh-gate, 2 King. 15. 35. and the foundation-gate, 2 Chron. 23. 5. and the east-gate, Jer. 19. 2. and the middle-gate, Jer. 39. 3. and the gate of the entrance, Ezek. 40. 15. u Either, 1. The King's Guard. Or, 2. The Guard of the Temple; for such a Guard there was, and a Captain of the Guard, called, the Captain of the temple, Act. 4. 1. and 5. 24. This Gate was in the South-side; and, as some think, is that which is called Supim, or the threshold-gate, 2 Chron. 23. 4. x i. e. So you shall guard all the Gates or Entrances into the House or Temple of God, that neither Athaliah nor any of her Soldiers may break into the Temple, and Desile it, or Destroy it; as she will doubtless endeavour to do. Or, and ye shall keep the watch of the House Massach: as the LXX and other Interpreters render it; who think this was the name of an House not far from the Temple; in which, or against which, they were to keep a Guard.

7 And two ‖ † parts of all you that go forth on the sabbath y, even they shall keep the watch of the house of the LORD about the king z. ‖ Or, Companies. † Heb. Bands.

y i.e. Who having finished their Course, and Week, should have gone home, but were detained, 2 Chron. 23. 8. z Whilst the rest guard the Doors and Entrances into the Temple; these shall have a special Care of the King's Person, part on his Right, and part on his Left Hand.

8 And ye shall compass the king round about a, every man with his weapons in his hand: and he that cometh within the ranges b, let him be slain; and be ye with the king as he goeth out, and as he cometh in c.

9 And the captains over the hundreds did according to all things that Jehoiada the priest commanded: and they took every man his men that were to come in on the sabbath, with them that should go out on the sabbath, and came to Jehoiada the priest.

a When you have set your Watches, and Guards, all the rest of you shall draw near to the King to preserve his Royal Person from all Assaults and Dangers. b Or, Fences, i. e. the Walls wherewith the Courts of the Temple were Invironed: See ver. 15. Or, your Lines or Order. If any of Athaliah's Guards shall attempt to break in upon you, or within your Bounds. c Whether the King shall go out of the Temple, to offend, or subdue his Enemies; or retire hither to Defend himself; do you always accompany him.

10 And to the captains over hundreds, did the priest give king Davids spears and shields d that were in the Temple of the LORD.

d Offensive and Defensive Weapons, which he gave to the Captains, both for themselves, and for all their Soldiers: for they all came into the Temple unarmed, to prevent suspicion. These are called David's, either because they were such as he had taken from his Enemies, which he had dedicated to God, and laid up in the Temple, as Monuments of God's Goodness to him. See 1 Sam. 21. 9. 2 Sam. 8. 7, 11. 1 King. 7. 51. Or, because David had made a Sacred Armory in the Temple, whence Arms might be taken upon extraordinary Occasions, for the Defence of the Temple, or City of God.

11 And the guard stood, every man with his weapon in his hand, round about the king, from the right † corner of the temple, to the left corner of the temple e, along by the altar f, and the temple g. † Heb. shoulder.

e From the South-east, to the North-east side. f The Altar of Burnt-offerings, which was by the Great and Eastern Gate of the Temple. g i.e. By, and towards the other parts of the Temple, which they defended on all sides.

12 And he brought forth the kings son, and put the crown upon him, and gave him the testimony h, and they made him king, and anointed him i; and they clapt their hands, and said, † God save the king. † Heb. let the King live.

h i.e. The Book of the Law, which he put into the King's Hand, to mind him of his Duty at his entrance upon his Kingdom, which was to Read and Write out that Holy Book, Deut. 17. 18. and to Govern himself and his Kingdom by it: the Law of God being frequently and most properly called a Testimony, as Psal. 78. 5. and 132. 12. Isa. 8. 16, 20. See also Deut. 6. 17, 20. 2 King. 23. 3. because it is a Witness of God's Will, and Man's Duty. i As fince it used to do in doubtful cases, when there was any competition or question about the Crown, as now there was.

13 ¶ And when Athaliah heard the noise of the guard, and of the people k, she came to the people l into the temple of the LORD m.

k Who came thither upon the hearing of the Noise and Tidings of what was done. l To enquire into the Cause of this great Noise; being hitherto kept in deep Ignorance, partly, because it was managed with so much Secresie, and in the Temple; and partly, because the People universally hated her, and wished her downfall. m i. e. Into the Courts: whither by Jehoiadah's Direction she was permitted to enter, though contrary to his general Order, ver. 8. that so he might draw her into his Net.

14 And when she looked, behold, the king stood by a pillar ‖ as the manner was, and the princes and the trumpeters by the king, and all the people of the land rejoyced, and blew with trumpets: and Athaliah rent her clothes, and cried, Treason, treason.

‖ Possibly by one of the two famous Pillars of the Temple; of which see 1 King. 7. 21. nigh unto which the Throne was erected. If it be faid, That none but Priests might come thither: I answer, ordinarily they might not: but the King being a Sacred Person, especially upon such extraordinary occations might be there. Or, upon a scaffold, possibly that Brazen Scaffold which Solomon erected, 2 Chron. 6. 13. and left there for such purposes. See 2 King. 23. 3.

15 But Jehoiada the priest commanded the captains of the hundreds, the officers of the host n, and said unto them, Have her forth without the ranges n: and him that followeth her o, kill with the sword: for the priest had said, Let her not be slain in the house of the LORD p.

n Of these Companies of Levites, who are elsewhere called the Lord's Host, and now were the King's Host. o Of which, see above, ver. 8. If she will not go out of them of her own accord, force her out of them. p If any of the People come hither upon this occasion, shall stand up for her help. p i. e. In the Court of the Temple, left it be polluted with her Blood.

16 And they laid hands on her g, and she went by the way by the which the horses came into the king's house r, and there was she slain s.

q Or, they gave her place or room, to wit, to go out of the Court of the Temple, and did not keep her within it, as they could have done. Or, they appointed hands for her: they ordered two Bands of the Levites to follow her, and kill her. r By the great and publick Road in which Horsesand Cha riots went to the Palace. s In an Ignominious place and manner; as her Mother Jezebel had been.

17 ¶ And Jehoiada made a Covenant between the LORD, and the king, and the people t, that they should be the LORD's people; between the king also and the people u.

t A Sacred Covenant, whereby he solemnly ingaged both the King, and People, as it here follows, that they should be the Lord's people; i. e. That they should renounce, and root out all Idolatry, and set up and maintain God's true Worship. Comp. 2 Kings 23. 2. 2 Chron. 29. 10. u This was a Civil Covenant, whereby the king engaged himself to Rule them justly, and in the fear of God; and the People obliged themselves to Defend and Obey him. Comp. 2 Sam. 5. 3.

18 And all the people of the land went into the house of Baal, and brake it down, his altars and his images brake they in pieces throughly, and slew Mattan the priest of Baal before the altar x: and the priest appointed officers † over the house of the LORD y.

† Heb. Offices.

x To which possibly he fled for Refuge: or rather, he was brought thither as a fit Sacrifice to his God. y Of which see more particularly, 2 Chron. 23. 18, 19.

19 And he took the rulers over hundreds, and the captains and the guard, and all the people of the land, and they brought down the king from the house of the LORD, and came by the way of the gate of the guard z to the kings house, and he sat on the throne of the kings.

z i. e. By the Gate of the Royal Palace, where the King's Guard stood.

20 And all the people of the land rejoyced, and the city was in quiet; and they slew Athaliah with the sword besides the kings house.

21 Seven years old was Jehoash when he began to reign.

CHAP. XII.

Jehoash reigneth well all the days of Jehoiada: He giveth order for the repair of the Temple, 1——16. He diverteth Hazael from Jerusalem, by a present of the hallowed Treasures: He is slain by his servants: Amaziah succeedeth him, 17——21.

* 2 Chro. 24. 1.

IN * the seventh year of Jehu, Jehoash began to reign; and forty years reigned he in Jerusalem: And his mothers name was Zibiah of Beersheba.

2 And Jehoash did that which was right in the sight of the LORD a all his days, wherein Jehoiada the Priest instructed him.

a To wit, for the matter of it, though not with an honest and sincere mind, but onely by the influence of his good Tutor and Restorer, as the words here following plainly imply.

3 But the high places were not taken away b: the people still sacrificed, and burnt incense in the high places c.

b To which the people were so fondly and strangely addicted, that the foregoing Kings, though men of riper years, and great power and courage, and finally settled in their Thrones, could not take them away: and therefore it is not strange if Jehoiada could not now remove them, when the King was very young and tender, and not well settled in his Kingdom, and when the people were more corrupt and disorderly through Athaliah's male-Administration. c To God.

* Chap. 22. 4. ‖ Or, holy things. † Heb. hoinesses. ‖ Or, and. † Heb. the money of the souls of his estimation. † Heb. ascendeth upon the heart of a man.

4 ¶ And Jehoash said to the priests d, * All the money or the ‖ † dedicated things e that is brought f into the house of the LORD, even ‖ the money of every one that passeth the account ∴, † the money that every man is set at g, and all the money that † cometh into any mans heart b to bring into the house of the LORD, d Remembring that he owed his preservation and restauration to the Temple, and that he was made by God the Guardian of his Temple and Worship, and that he had covenanted to be so, he now takes care to repair it. e This may be, Either, First, The general designation of the Money, the particulars whereof here follow. Or rather, Secondly, A special branch of it, the Money which had been either formerly or lately vowed or dedicated to the use and service of God and of his House, either by the former Kings; of which see below, ver. 18. and compare 1 King. 7. 51. and 15. 15. 2 King 12. 18. 2 Chron. 15. 18. or, by this King or his people. f Or rather, that shall be brought: for though the people might Vow to bring it thither in convenient time, yet it is not likely they would bring much Money thither in the Tyrannical and Idolatrous Reign of Athaliah: or, if they did, that Athaliah would not seize it for her own use. ∴ i. e. The half Sheket, which was paid for every one that was numbred from 20 Years old and upward; of which the very same Phrase is used, Ex. 30. 13. compare 2 Chron. 24. 5, 6, 9. g Heb. the money of souls, or persons, according to his taxing, i. e. the money which every man that had vowed his person to God, paid according to the rate which the Priest put upon him: Of which see Levit. 27, 2, &c. h All that shall be freely offered. See Exod. 25. 2. and 35. 5.

5 Let the priests take it to them i, every man of his acquaintance, and let them repair the breaches of the house, wheresoever any breach shall be found k.

i Let them go abroad through all the parts of the Land, as they have acquaintance and interest, and gather up the Money, and bring it to Jerusalem. k Either through decay; or, by ill accidents; or, by the malice of Athaliah or her Relations: Of which see 2 Chron. 24. 7.

6 But it was so, that † in the three and twentieth year † Heb. of king Jehoash, the priests had not repaired the breaches of the house l. nothing.

l Either, because the People were generally corrupt and backward to the Worship of God, especially where it cost them any thing: or, because the Persons employed in making the Collections, were negligent, or unfaithful, perverting the Money received, to their own uses, as may seem probable from the contrary character of other Persons, of whom it is noted, that they dealt faithfully, below, v. 15. or, because the people did not like this way of Collection, and had no good opinion of the Collectors Faithfulness.

7 Then king Jehoash called for Jehoiada the priest, and the other priests, and said unto them, Why repair ye not the breaches of the house? now therefore receive no more money of your acquaintance, but deliver it m for the ‖ breaches of the house. ‖ Or, palaces.

m i. e. The money which you have already received.

8 And the priests consented to receive no more money of the people, neither to repair the breaches of the house n.

n Nor to take the charge of that work which the King had committed unto them, but freely to resign it to whom the King should appoint.

9 But Jehoiada the priest o took a chest, and bored a hole in the lid of it, and set it beside the altar p, on the right side, as one cometh into the house of the LORD: and the priest that kept the † door q, put therein all the money that was boought into the house of the LORD. † Heb. threshold.

o By the Kings consent, 2 Chron. 24. 8. p In the Priests Court. Obj. It was placed without, at the gate of the house of the Lord, 2 Chr. 24. 8. Anſ. Either, First, It was first placed by the Altar, and afterwards thence removed to the Gate of the Court, for the Peoples greater satisfaction, that they might come thither, and put in their money with their own hands. Or, Secondly, That place 2 Chron. speaks of the Gate of the Temple strictly so called, nigh unto which the Altar of burnt-Offerings was. Or, Thirdly, It was placed near the entrance into the Priests Court, which was over against the Altar, and not far from it, so as the people standing in their own Court, might either put their Money into it, or see when the Priests put it in. q The Door of the Priests Court, which, together with the Temple and all its utensils, was committed to the charge of the Priests and Levites, Numb. 18. 4. 1 Chron. 9. 26, &c.

10 And it was so, when they saw that there was much money in the chest, that the kings ‖ scribe r, and the high Priest came up, and they † put up in bags, and told the money that was found in the house of the LORD. ‖ Or, Secretary. † Heb. bound up.

t And for all other things which were necessary for the reparation of the House.

13 Howbeit, there were not made u for the house of the LORD, bowls of silver, snuffers, basons, trumpets, any vessels of Gold, or vessels of silver, of the money that was brought into the house of the LORD.

u To wit, until all the breaches of the House were repaired: but, when that was done, they laid it out for these things, as is noted 2 Chron. 24. 14.

14 But they gave that to the workmen, and repaired therewith the house of the LORD.

15 Moreover, * they reckoned not with the men, in- * Or, to whose hand they delivered the money to be bestowed on workmen; for they dealt faithfully x.

y i. e. It was not employed towards the reparation of the House, because, as it follows, it was the Priests; it was given to them for their private use and maintenance. Quest. If this reason was weighty, how could the money of them that passed the account, or, the money that every man was set at, be thus employed, as they were, ver. 4. for these also may seem to have been the Priests? Anſ. They were not appropriated to the Priests, but, for the service of the tabernacle of the congregation, as is said of the former, Exod. 30. 16. Or, for the Lord, Levit. 27. 9, 14, 22.

17 ¶ Then z Hazael king of Syria went up, and fought against Gath a, and took it: and Hazael set his face b to go up to Jerusalem.

c That necessity of saving his Kingdom and People by this means, which otherwise might seem to excuse the fact, was brought upon him-self by his Apostacy from God. See on 1 King. 15. 18.

19 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Joash, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

21 For Jozachar g the son of Shimeath, and Jehozabad the son of Shomer h, his servants, smote him, and he died; and they buried him with his fathers i in the city of David, and Amaziah his son reigned in his stead.

k i. e. The King of Syria, ver. 4. with which this Verse is to be joyned: ver. 5. and 6. being put within a Parenthesis, as it is in our Translation. But this verse may be translated otherwise, Although (either the King of Syria, v. 4. or the Lord, ver. 5. to whom judge executing it) had iron left, &c. And so it may be joyned with the next foregoing Verse, as a great aggravation of their impenitency, and obstinate continuance in their Idolatry, notwithstanding such terrible Judgments, which in all reason should have driven them from it. l i. e. Of his Army, or Men of War, as the following words evince: it is many times broken by threshing.

8 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jehoahaz, and all that he did, and his might n, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

n For though his forces was not good, he showed much personal valour and courage. Which is noted to intimate, that the Syrians were not conquered, because of the baseness and cowardice of their King, but merely from the Righteous and dreadful Judgment of God, who was now resolved to reckon with them for their filthy Apostacy.

9 And Jehoahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in Samaria, and Joash his son reigned in his stead.

10 ¶ In the thirty and seventh year of Joash king of Judah o, began Jehoash the son of Jehoahaz to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned sixteen years.

o By which, compared with v. 1. it may be gathered, that Jehoahaz had two or three Years before his death made his son Jehoash King with him: which is very probable, because he was perpetually in the state of War, and consequently in danger of an untimely death: and because he was a Man of valour, as is implied here, ver. 12. and declared 2 Chron. 25.

11 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD; he departed not from all the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel sin: but he walked therein.

12 And the rest of the acts of Joash, and all that he did, and his might wherewith he fought against Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

13 And Joash slept with his fathers, and Jeroboam sat upon his throne: and Joash was buried in Samaria with the kings of Israel.

14 ¶ Now Elisha was fallen sick of his sickness wherof he died, and Joash the king of Israel came down unto him, and wept over his face p, and said, O my father, my father, the chariot of Israel and the horsemen thereof q.

p Not for any true Love and Respect to him, for then he would have followed his counsel, in forsaking the Calves, and returning to the Lord; but for his own and the Kingdoms ineffinable loss in him. q See 2 King. 2. 12.

15 And Elisha said unto him, Take bow and arrows: And he took unto him bow and arrows.

16 And he said to the king of Israel, † Put thine † Heb. Make hand upon the bow. And he put his hand upon it: and Elisha put his hands upon the kings hands. to ride.

17 And he said, Open the window eastward r: and he opened it. Then Elisha said, Shoot: and he shot. And he said, The arrow of the LORD's deliverance, and the arrow of deliverance from Syria: for thou shalt smite the Syrians in Aphek s, till thou have consumed them.

r Either, towards Syria, which lay North-East-ward from the Land of Israel: or, towards the Israelites Land beyond Jordan, which lay East-ward from Canaan, and which was now possessed by the Syrians. Either way this Arrow is that against the Syrians, as is also what God intended to do against them. s Not in the City, but in the Territory of it, where it seems there was a great Battel to be fought between the Israelites and Syrians. Of Aphek in 1 Sam. 4. 1. and 29. 1. 1 King. 20. 26. though it is possible there might be several Cities of that name. Or, as to Aphek, i. e. thou shalt smite them as they were smitten in the City and Territory of Aphek, i. e. utterly destroy them. See 1 King. 20. 26, 29, 30. the Particle as being oft underfood, as hath been formerly and frequently proved. t i. e. The Syrians, not all that people, but their Armies, or at least that which was to be at Aphek, where a dreadful Battel was to be fought. Or, if this be meant of all the Syrian Armies, this is to be understood conditionally, if he did not hinder it by his unbelief or neglect, fignified in the following Verses.

18 And he said, Take the arrows: and he took them. And he said unto the king of Israel, Smite upon the ground u: and he smote thrice, and stayed.

u The former fign portended Victory, and this was to declare the number of the Victories.

19 And the man of God was wroth with him, and said, Thou shouldest have smitten five or six times, then hadst thou smitten Syria till thou hadst consumed it: whereas now thou shalt smite Syria but thrice x.

x Quest. Wherein was Jehoash his fault, or why was the Prophet angry with him? Anſ. The Prophet himself did not yet know how many Victories Jehoash should obtain against the Syrians, but God had fignified to him, that he should learn that by the number of the Kings strokes. And he was angry with him, not simply, because he smote onely thrice, but because by his unbelief and Idolatry he provoked God to no over-rule his heart and hand, that he should smite but thrice, which was a token that God would unfill him no further. Although his smiting but thrice might proceed either from his unbelief or negligence.

For by the former ſign, and the Prophet's Comment upon it, he might clearly perceive that this alſo was intended as a ſign of his ſucceſs againſt the Syrians, and therefore he ought to have done it frequently, and vehemently.

20 ¶ And Eliſha died, and they buried him y: and the bands of the Moabites invaded the land at the coming in of the year z.

y In or near Samaria. z In the Spring, when the Fruits of the Earth grew ripe.

21 And it came to paſs as they were burying a man, that behold, they ſpied a band of men a, and they caſt the man into the ſepulchre of Eliſha b: and when the man c † was let down, and touched the bones of Eliſha d, he † revived, and ſtood up on his feet e.

a Or, were about to bury, as that Particle is oft uſed in the Hebrew Tongue. b Coming towards them, but at ſome diſtance. b Not daring to carry the dead Corps further to the place appointed for his burial, they made uſe of the next burying-place, where Eliſha was buried, and there they removed ſome Stone, or opened ſome Door, and haſtily flung down their dead Corps there, c i. e. The man's dead Body, or the Coffin in which he was put. d Which might eaſily be, the Coffin and linnen in which Eliſha's Body was put, and the Fleſh of his body being now conſumed: for this was ſome conſiderable time after his death. e Which Miracle God wrought there, partly, to do honour to that great Prophet, and that by this Seal he might confirm his Doctrine, and thereby confute the falſe Doctrine and Worſhip of the Iſraelites; partly, to ſtrengthen the Faith of Joaſh, and of the Iſraelites, in his promiſe of their ſucceſs againſt the Syrians; and partly, in the midſt of all their Calamities to comfort ſuch Iſraelites as were Eliſha's followers, with the hopes of that Eternal Life, whereof this was a manifeſt pledge, and to awaken the reſt of that people to a due care and preparation for it.

22 ¶ But Hazael king of Syria oppreſſed Iſrael all the days of Jehoahaz.

23 And the LORD was gracious unto them, and had compaſſion on them, and had reſpect unto them, becauſe of his covenant with Abraham, Iſaac, and Jacob, and would not deſtroy them, neither caſt he them from his † preſence f as yet.

CHAP. XIV.

Amaziah's good reign: His juſtice on the Murtherers of his Father: His Victory over Edom: Warreth againſt Jehoaſh King of Iſrael: Is overcome by him; and ſlain by his own People: Azariah ſucceedeth him, 1——22. Jehoaſh dieth; and Jeroboam his Son is King over Iſrael: His Acts, and Death: Zachariah his Son ſucceedeth him, 23——29.

IN the ſecond year of Joaſh ſon of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael a, reigned * Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah.

* 2 Chro. 25. 1.

a i. e. After he began to Reign alone: for he Reigned two or three Years with his Father: for which ſee on chap. 13. 10.

2 He was twenty and five years old when he began to reign, and reigned twenty and nine years b in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Jehoaddan of Jeruſalem.

b To wit, 14 Years with Joaſh King of Iſrael, who reigned only 16 Years, chap. 13. 10. and 15 Years after the death of Joaſh, or with Jeroboam the Son of Joaſh, as is affirmed here, ver. 17. and 2 Chron. 25. 25.

3 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the LORD c, yet not like David his father d: he did according to all things as Joaſh his father did e.

c That which was in ſome ſort agreeable to God's Will. d Not ſincerely, 2 Chron. 25. 2. e i. e. For a time ſerved God aright, but afterwards fell to Idolatry, 1 Chron. 25. 14. as Joaſh had done, 2 Kings. 12. 3.

4 Howbeit f, the high places were not taken away: as yet the people did ſacrifice, and burnt incenſe on the high places.

f Though he did right, &c. for this particle is to be joyned with thoſe words, the reſt being to be cloſed with a Parenthеſis.

5 ¶ And it came to paſs aſſoon as the kingdom was confirmed in his hand, that he ſlew his ſervants * which had ſlain the king his father :.

* Chap. 12. 20.

:. Whereby it is implied, that his Father's Murderers had powerful Friends and Abettors, and that their fact was in ſome ſort approved by the generality of the People, to whom Joaſh had made himſelf hateful by his Apoſtacy to Idolatry, and by his ingratitude to the Houſe of Jehoiada.

6 But the children of the murderer he ſlew not g: according unto that which is written in the book of the law of Moſes, wherein the LORD commanded, ſaying, * The fathers ſhall not be put to death for the children, nor the children be put to death for the fathers; but every man ſhall be put to death for his own ſin.

* Deut. 24. 16. Ezek. 18. 20.

g Wherein he ſhewed ſome Faith and Courage, that he would obey this Command of God, though it was very hazardous to himſelf, ſuch perſons being likely to ſeek revenge for their Fathers death.

7 He ſlew of Edom h in the valley of ſalt i, ten thouſand, and took ‖ Selah k by war, and called the name of it Jokthеel l, unto this day.

‖ Or, the rock.

h i. e. Of the Edomites, or the children of Seir, as they are called 2 Chron. 25. 11. either, becauſe they dwelt in Seir; See Gen. 36. 8. or, becauſe theſe people were confederates. And he invaded theſe People becauſe they were Subjects to his Kingdom, from which they had revolted in Joram's days, 2 King. 8. 20. i Which was the Land of Edom: Of which ſee 2 Sam. 8. 13. Pſal. 60. 2. k Or, the rock: the chief City of that part of Arabia, called by other Authors Petra, which ſignifies a rock, becauſe it was built upon a Rock, 2 Chron. 25. 12. l Which ſignifies, the obedience of God, i. e. given him by God as a reward of his Obedience to God's Meſſage by the Prophet, 2 Chron. 25. 8, 9.

8 ¶ Then Amaziah ſent meſſengers to Jehoaſh, the ſon of Jehoahaz ſon of Jehu, king of Iſrael, ſaying, Come, let us look one another in the face m.

m Let us fight perſonally, and with our Armies. This challenge he ſent, partly upon the late and great injuries done by the Iſraelites to his people, 2 Chron. 25. 10. 13. and partly, from ſelf-confidence, and a deſire of advancing his Glory and Empire by his Arms.

9 And Jehoaſh the king of Iſrael ſent to Amaziah king of Judah, ſaying, The thiſtle that was in Lebanon, ſent to the cedar that was in Lebanon n, ſaying, Give thy daughter to my ſon to wife o: and there paſſed by a wild beaſt that was in Lebanon, and trod down the thiſtle p.

n By the thiſtle, a low and contemptible, yet troubleſome Shrub, he underſtands Amaziah; and by the cedar, himſelf, whom he intimates to be far ſtronger than he, and out of his reach. o Let us make a match, i. e. let us fight. Onely he expreſſeth this Bloody work in a civil manner, as Amaziah had done, ver. 8. and as Abner did, 2 Sam. 2. 14. Or, let thy Kingdom and mine be United under one King, as formerly they were; and let us decide it by a pitched Battel, whether thou or I ſhall be that King. Or, as ſome expound it, by affirming, That it was great arrogancy and preſumption for him to deſire a Friendly League or Affinity with him; he leaves him to gueſs how intolerable it was that he ſhould undertake to wage War againſt him. p And with no leſs eaſe ſhall my Soldiers tread down thee and thy Forces.

10 Thou haſt indeed ſmitten Edom, and thine heart hath lifted thee up: glory of this q, and tarry † at home: for why ſhouldeſt thou meddle to thy hurt, that thou ſhouldeſt fall, even thou, and Judah with thee?

† Heb. in thy houſe.

q Content thy ſelf with that Glory and Succeſs, and let not thine Ambition betray thee to ruin.

11 But Amaziah would not hear r: therefore Jehoaſh king of Iſrael went up ſ, and he and Amaziah king of Judah looked one another in the face at Beth-ſhemeſh, which belongeth to Judah t.

r Becauſe God blinded and hardned him to his deſtruction, for his abominable and ridiculous Idolatry, 2 Chron. 25. 10. ſ To wit, into the Kingdom of Judah, carrying the War into his Enemies Countrey. t Which is added to diſtinguiſh it from that Bethſhemeſh in Iſſachar, and another in Naphtali, Joſ. 19. 22. 38.

12 And Judah † was put to the worſe before Iſrael, and they fled u every man to their tents.

† Heb. was ſmitten

u Being unſatisfied in the ground and manner of the quarrel, and ſeeing diſcouraged by their King's Idolatry, and ſmitten by God with a ſpirit of fear.

13 And Jehoaſh king of Iſrael took Amaziah king of Judah, the ſon of Jehoaſh, the ſon of Ahaziah, at Beth-ſhemeſh, and came to Jeruſalem x, and brake down the wall of Jeruſalem, from the gate of Ephraim y, unto the corner-gate, four hundred cubits z.

x Commanding entrance in Amaziah's name, and with his conſent, which he durſt not deny. y Which led to Ephraim. z Which was done, partly in ſcorn and contempt; and partly, that he might reenter and retake it, if they ſhould attempt to renew the War.

14 And he took all the gold and ſilver, and all the veſſels that were found in the houſe of the LORD, and in the treaſures of the kings houſe, and hoſtages a, and returned to Samaria b.

a To aſſure their peaceable carriage towards him. b He did not keep Jeruſalem, nor ſeek to gain the poſſeſſion and dominion of that Kingdom; partly, becauſe he thought he could not keep it, conſidering the difficulty he found in keeping his own from ſuch potent and near Enemies as the Syrians were; and the great affection which all Judah bare to David's Houſe: and partly, becauſe God ſo inclined his heart, that he might make good his promiſe to David and his Family.

15 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Jehoaſh which he did, and his might, and how he fought with Amaziah king of Judah, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Iſrael?

16 And Jehoaſh ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in Samaria with the kings of Iſrael, and Jeroboam his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

17 ¶ And Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah, lived after the death of Jehoaſh ſon of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael, fifteen years.

a Queſt. How can this be true, ſeeing Amaziah, the Father of this Azariah, lived only till the 15th Year of Jeroboam's Reign, chap. 14. 23? Anſw. This might be either, Firſt, Becauſe Jeroboam was made King by, and Reigned with his Father eleven or twelve Years, and afterwards Reigned alone; and ſo there is a two-fold beginning of his Kingdom; by the former this was his 27th Year, and by the latter, his 15th Year. Or, Secondly, becauſe there was an Interregn for eleven or twelve Years in the Kingdom of Judah; either, through the prevalency of that Faction which cut off Amaziah the Father, and kept the Son out of his Kingdom; or, becauſe Azariah was very young when his Father was ſlain, and the people were not agreed to reſtore him to his Right till his 16th Year, chap. 14. 21. 2 Chron. 26. 1. And yet theſe 11 or 12 Years of Inter-Reign, in which he was excluded from the exerciſe of his Regal Office, ſome think to be included in thoſe 52 Years which are here aſcribed to Azariah's Reign, ver. 2. which may well be doubted. b Called alſo Uzziah here, and ver. 13, 30. c Solely and fully to exerciſe his Regal Power.

* 2 Chr. 9. 1.

† Heb. Land.

r Called by Heathen Authors Pul-Belochus, who by the help of Abraces the Mede, vanquiſhed Sardanapalus the laſt Monarch of Aſſyria, and tranſlated the Kingdom to Chaldea, and was the firſt King of Babylon and Aſſyria; Abraces being made King of the Medes and Perſians. ſ To wit, of Iſrael, as the Context ſhews. t i. e. Agreed or promiſed to give, as the next Verſe explains it. u That he might aſſiſt him against all that did or should oppose him. By which it appears, that his Cruelty to Tiphsah was so far from establishing him, as he expected, that it weakened and endangered him so far, that he was forced to call in a Foreign Prince to his Aid.

† Heb. caused to come forth.

20 And Menahem † exacted the money of Israel, even of all the mighty men of wealth, of each man a fifty shekels of silver, to give to the king of Assyria: so the king of Assyria turned back, and stayed not there in the land.

a i.e. Of each of those wealthy Israelites. But as each of these were not equally Wealthy, so it is not probable that he taxed them equally. Others therefore render it, to or for each man, i.e. for every Assyrian Soldier: which Interpretation is favoured by the placing of the Words in the Hebrew Text, which differs from that in our Translation.

21 ¶ And the rest of the acts of Menahem, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel?

22 And Menahem slept with his fathers, and Pekahiah his son reigned in his stead.

23 ¶ In the fiftieth year of Azariah king of Judah, Pekahiah the son of Menahem began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned two years.

24 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.

25 But Pekah the son of Remaliah, a captain of his, conspired against him, and smote him in Samaria, in the palace of the kings house, with Argob, and Arich ‖, and † with him fifty men of the Gileadites y: and he killed him, and reigned in his room.

† There were.

‖ Who might be either Pekah's Partners in this Treason: or, the King's Courtiers or Officers, who were now slain with him. y Who assisted him in the execution of his Treason.

26 And the rest of the acts of Pekahiah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

27 ¶ In the two and fiftieth year of Azariah king of * Isa. 7. 1. Judah, * Pekah the son of Remaliah began to reign over Israel in Samaria, and reigned twenty years.

28 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, he departed not from the sins of Jeroboam the son of Nebat, who made Israel to sin.

* 1 Chr. 5. 26. 29 In the days of Pekah king of Israel, came * Tiglath-pilefer z king of Assyria, and took Ijon, and Abelbeth-maachah a, and Janoah b, and Kedesh, and Hazor c, and Gilead d, and Galilee e, all the land of Naphtali, and carried them captive to Assyria.

z Or, Tiglath-pilnefer, 2 Chron. 28. 20. called in Heathen Authors Thilafar, or Phul-Affur, the Son of that Pul or Phul above, v. 9. a Of which see 1 King. 15. 20. b A City of Ephraim, Jol. 16. 6. c Two Cities of Naphtali, Jol. 12. 22. and 19. 36. d All the Land beyond Jordan, which was nigher to the Assyrian than the reft. e To wit, the upper Galilee, as may be gathered from the following Words, all, (or, even all) the land of Naphtali: which feem to be added by way of explication or reflection, to shew what Galilee he meant, even the upper, in which Naphtali's lot fell. See the Notes on Isa. 9. 1.

30 And Hoshea the son of Elah made a conspiracy against Pekah the son of Remaliah, and smote him, and slew him f, and reigned in his stead, in the twentieth year of Jotham the son of Uzziah g.

f Which he did more easily effect, because the people were enraged against Pekah, as the Man who by his Murder of King Pekahiah the Son of Menahem, whom the Assyrian Monarch set up and favoured, and by his unnecessary War with Ahaz, had brought the Assyrian upon them, and caused the loss of one half of that Kingdom. g Quest. How could this be, when Jotham Reigned only 16 Years, below, ver. 33? Ans. The meaning is, That he began his Reign in the twentieth Year after the beginning of Jotham's Reign; or, which is the same thing, in the fourth Year of Ahaz, Son of Jotham, as appears from chap. 16. 1. But the Sacred Writer, having not yet made mention of Ahaz, thought it more proper to number Hoshea's Years by Jotham, of whom he had spoken, than by Ahaz. Besides, as Jotham did Reign divers Years in his Father's Life, so might Ahaz in Jotham's Life, and Jotham might for divers Reasons (which it is needless here to enquire) resign up the Administration of the Kingdom wholly into Ahaz his hands some Years before his Death, and therefore might be said to Reign but 16 Years, though he lived longer.

31 And the rest of the acts of Pekah, and all that he did, behold, they are written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Israel.

* 2 Chr. 27. 1. 32 ¶ In the second year of Pekah the son of Remaliah king of Israel, began * Jotham the son of Uzziah king of Judah to reign.

33 Five and twenty years old was he when he began to reign h, and he reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Jerusha, the daughter of Zadok.

h To wit, properly and alone: for he had Reigned before this, as his Father's Deputy and Vice-Roy.

34 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD: he did according to all that his father Uzziah had done.

35 ¶ Howbeit, the high places were not removed: the people sacrificed and burnt incense still in the high places: he built the higher gate of the house of the LORD i.

i Not of the Temple, properly so called; but of one of the Courts of the Temple, probably that which led to the King's Palace, 2 Chron. 23. 20. called also the new gate, Jer. 26. 10. and 36. 10.

36 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jotham, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

37 (In those days k the LORD began to send l against Judah, * Rezin the king of Syria, and Pekah the son of * Isa. 7. 1. Remaliah) k i.e. Towards the end of Jotham's Reign. l i.e. Disposed their Hearts to unite their Forces together, and to make preparation for a War against Judah: which yet they did not execute till Ahaz his Reign.

38 And Jotham slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David his father, and Ahaz his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XVI.

Ahaz's Idolatry, 1——4. Rezin King of Syria: and Pekah King of Israel war against him: he hireth Tiglath-Pileser against them, 5——9. Ahaz goeth to Damascus to meet the King of Assyria, seeth an Altar: the Pattern whereof he sendeth to Uriah, who maketh one like it at Jerusalem: Ahaz sacrificeth on it, 10——16. He spoileth the Temple: Hezekiah succeedeth him, 17——20.

IN * the seventeenth year of Pekah a the son of Re- * 2 Ch. maliah, Ahaz the son of Jotham king of Judah began 28. 1. to reign.

a Of which see on ch. 15. 30.

2 Twenty years old was Ahaz when he began to reign b, and reigned sixteen years in Jerusalem, and did not that which was right in the sight of the LORD his God, like David his father.

b Of the Difficulty hence arising, see the Notes on chap. 18. 2. to which it more properly belongs.

3 But he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, yea, and made his son to pass through the fire c, according to the abominations of the heathen, whom the LORD cast out from before the children of Israel.

c Either, 1. By way of Lustration, to pass hastily thorow it, so as to be scorched, and, as it were, baptized with it: Or, 2. By way of Oblation, so as to be utterly consumed, and offered for a Burnt-offering, which was the practice of Heathens, and of some Israelites, in imitation of them; of which, see 2 Kings 21. 6. Psal. 106. 36. Jer. 7. 31. which seems best to agree with 2 Chron. 28. 3. where it is said, he burnt his children, i.e. some of them: first one, as is here noted, and afterwards others of them, as is there observed. Of these practices, see more on Lev. 18. 21. and Deut. 18. 10.

4 And he sacrificed and burnt incense in the high places, and on the hills, and under every green tree d.

d After the manner of the Heathens; See on Deut. 12. 2. Jer. 2. 20. Hos. 4. 13.

5 ¶ * Then Rezin king of Syria, and Pekah son of * Isa. 7. 1. Remaliah king of Israel, came up to Jerusalem to war: and they besieged Ahaz, but could not overcome him e.

e Because God of his own meer Grace, undertook their Protection, as he promised to do, and disappointed the Hopes and Design of their Enemies: of which, see on Isa. 7.

6 At that time Rezin king of Syria recovered Elath f to Syria, and drave the Jews from Elath: and the Syrians came to Elath, and dwelt there unto this day.

f i.e. Took it from the Jews, who had not long since taken it, chap. 14. 22. It lay in the land of Edom, upon the Red Sea, very conveniently for Navigation: of which, see on 1 Kings 9. 26.

7 So Ahaz sent messengers to Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria, saying, I am thy servant, and thy son g: come up, and save me out of the hand of the king of Syria, and out of the hand of the king of Israel h, which rise up against me.

g I yield my self to thee, as thy Vassal, to serve and obey thee, and pay thee Tribute, upon condition thou dost assist me against my Enemies. h For though they were now gone from Jerusalem, yet he justly concluded they would return again, and from time to time molest and vex him.

8 And Ahaz * took the silver and the gold that was * Chap. found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasures 12. 18. of the kings house, and sent it for a present to the king of Assyria.

9 And the king of Assyria hearkened unto him: for the king of Assyria went up against † Damascus i, and took † Heb. it, and carried the people of it captive k to Kir l, and slew Damascus. Rezin.

i The Metropolis of the Syrians, and the Head of that Kingdom, Isa. 7. 8. k As was prophesied, Amos 1. 5. l Not Kir of Moab, Ifa. 15. 1. but a part of Media, which then was subject to the King of Assyria.

10 ¶ And king Ahaz went to Damascus, to meet Tiglath-pileser king of Assyria m, and saw an altar n that was at Damascus: and king Ahaz sent to Urijah the priest the fashion of the altar, and the pattern of it, according to all the workmanship thereof.

m To congratulate his Victory, and acknowledge his Favour and Help, and to beg the Continuance of it. n Of an excellent Structure, upon which the Syrians used to offer to their Idols; see 2 Chron. 28. 23.

11 And Urijah the priest built an altar according to all that that king Ahaz had sent from Damascus o; so Urijah the priest made it against king Ahaz came from Damascus p.

o So he complied with the King's Command against his own Conscience, and against the express Command of that great God, to whom the King, and he both, were subject. p He made haste, and delayed not to do it, to please the King, and advance himself.

12 And when the king was come from Damascus, the king saw the altar: and the king approached to the altar, and offered thereon q.

q To wit, a Sacrifice, and that not unto God, but unto the Syrian Idols, as appears from 2 Chron. 28. 23, 24. to whom that Altar was appropriated. Whether he offered this by himself, or by a Priest, is not certain.

13 And he burnt his burnt-offering, and his meat-offering, and poured his drink-offering, and sprinkled the blood of † his peace-offerings r upon the altar.

† Heb. Shalmanesser over his.

r For the Heathens; and Ahaz, in imitation of them, offered the same sorts of Offerings to their False Gods, which the Israelites did to the true, the Devil being noted to be God's Ape in his Worship.

14 And he brought also the brazen altar s which was before the LORD t, from the fore-front of the house, from between the altar and the house of the LORD u, and put it on the north side of the altar x.

s Of Burnt-Offerings, made by Solomon, and placed there by God's appointment. t i.e. From before the Lord's House; See on Lev. 1. 3. u Or rather, from between his Altar, &c. or, that Altar, &c. His new Altar was at first set below the Brazen Altar, and at a further distance from the Temple. This he took for a Disparagement to his Altar; and therefore most impiously and audaciously takes that away, and puts his in its place. x Or, of that Altar; or of his Altar; as before. So he put God's Altar out of its place and use.

15 And king Ahaz commanded Urijah the priest, saying, Upon the great altar y burn * the morning burnt- * Heb. To burn. offering, and the evening meat-offering, and the kings burnt-sacrifice, and his meat-offering, with the burnt-offering of all the people of the land, and their meat-offering, and their drink-offerings, and sprinkle upon it all the blood of the burnt-offering, and all the blood of the sacrifice z: and the brazen altar shall be for me to enquire by a.

y i.e. This new Altar; which was greater than Solomon's, either in quantity, or in his estimation. z Whatsoever is offered to the true God, either in my Name (for possibly he did not yet utterly forsake God, but Worshipped Him with) or on the behalf of the People, shall be offered upon this new Altar: Which he seems to prescribe, not only to gratifie his own Humour, but also in design to discourage, and by degrees to extinguish the Worship of the True God: for he concluded, that the Worshippers of God would never be willing to offer their Sacrifices upon his Altar. a That shall be referred for my proper use, to enquire by; i. e. at which I may seek God, or his favour, or enquire of his Will, to wit, by sacrifices joined with Prayer, when I shall see fit. He saith only to seek, or to enquire; not seek the Lord, or, to enquire of the Lord, as the Phrase is more largely expressed elsewhere; but he would not vouchsafe to mention the name of the Lord, whom he had so grossly forsaken and despised.

16 Thus did Urijah the priest, according to all that king Ahaz commanded b.

b Having once begun to debauch his Conscience, he could not now make an honourable Retreat; and therefore proceeds to execute all the King's Commands.

* 1 Kings 7. 27, 28. * 2 Kings 25. 13. 17 ¶ And king Ahaz cut off * the borders of the bases, and removed the laver from off them, and took down the * sea from off the brazen oxen that were under it, and put it upon a pavement of stones c.

c Which he did, either to express his Contempt of them, or to render them inconvenient for the uses to which they had been designed; or to dispose of them, or of the Brass of them, in some other place and way, as best suited with his fancy; or for the King of Assyria, as it follows in the next Verse.

18 And the covert for the sabbath d that they had built in the house, and the kings entry without e, turned he from the house of the LORD, for the king of Assyria f.

d The form and use whereof is now unknown. It is generally understood of some Building, or Covert, either that where the Priests after their Weekly Course was ended, abode until the next Course came, and relieved them; which was done upon the Sabbath-day, see 2 King. 11. 5, 7. or that in which the Guard, or Watchmen of the Temple, kept their Station; or that under which the King used to sit to hear God's Word, and see the Sacrifices; which is called, the covert of the Sabbath, because the chief times in which the King used it for those ends, was the Weekly Sabbath, and other solemn Days of Feasting, or Fasting (which all come under the name of Sabbaths in the Old Testament) upon which the King used more certainly, and solemnly, to present himself before the Lord, than at other times. e By which the King used to go from his Palace to the Temple; see on 1 Kings 10. 5, 12. f i.e. That he might ingratiate himself with Religion which had been the only Partition-Wall between the Kings of Judah, and other Kings; and which possibly the present King of Assyria did vehemently dislike and hate; and therefore required these things from Ahaz.

19 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Ahaz, which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

20 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David, and Hezekiah his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XVII.

Hoshea King of Israel his wicked Reign: being subdued by Shalmaneser King of Assyria, he conspireth against him with So King of Egypt: He is besieged: taken Prisoner: and with all the People carried Captive to Assyria for their Sins, 1——23. The strange Nations transplanted into Samaria, are plagued with Lions: an Israelitish Priest is sent to them: Whence followeth a mixture of Religions, 24——41.

IN the twelfth year of Ahaz king of Judah, † began † Heb. Hoshea the son of Elah to reign a in Samaria, over reigned. Israel nine years b.

a Quest. How can this be true, seeing it is said, that he reigned, or began to reign in Israel in the twentieth year of Jotham, chap. 15. 30. which was the Fourth Year of Ahaz, as was there noted? Ans. He usurped the Kingdom in Ahaz his Fourth Year; but either was not owned as King, by the generality of the People; or was not accepted and established in his Kingdom by the Assyrian, till Ahaz his Twelfth Year: Or, in his eight first Years, he was only a Tributary Prince, and the King of Assyria's Vice-Roy; and after that time he set up for himself, which drew the Assyrian upon him. b To wit, after his Confirmation and peaceable Possession of his Kingdom: For in all, he reigned Seventeen, or Eighteen Years; to wit, Twelve with Ahaz, who reigned Sixteen Years, and Six with Hezekiah, 2 Kings 18. 10.

2 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, but not as the kings of Israel that were before him c.

c For he neither worshipped Baal, as many of his Predecessors did: nor compelled the People to Worship the Calves; one of them, that of Dan, being destroyed, or carried away before, as the Hebrew Writers affirm; nor, as some add, hindred those by force, who were minded to go to Jerusalem to worship. And yet, the measure of the Israelites sins, being now full, vengeance comes upon them without remedy; Compare 2 Kings 23. 26.

3 ¶ Against him came up Shalmaneser d king of Assyria, and Hoshea became his servant, and † gave him ‖ presents e. † Heb. rendred.

d The Son, or Successor of Tiglath-pileser. The ancient Hebrew Writers make him the same with Semischeris, who Eight Years after this time, invaded the Kingdom of Judah; See chap. 18. 10, 13. it being very frequent in the Eastern parts, for one man to be called by several Names, especially by the People of several Countries. Josephus affirms, that he met with his Name in the Annals of the Syrians, which were extant in his days. He came against him, either because he denied the Tribute which he had promised to pay; or that he might make him Tribute. e Swore Fealty to him, and engaged to pay him a Tribute.

4 And the king of Assyria found conspiracy in Hoshea: for he had sent messengers to So king of Egypt f, and brought no present to the king of Assyria, as he had done year by year: therefore the king of Assyria shut him up, and bound him in prison g.

f By Heathen Writers called Sua, or Sabahus, that by his Assistance he might shake off the Yoke of the King of Assyria; who now was, and for many Years had been the King of Egypt's Rival; See 2 Kings 18. 21. Jer. 37. 5. g To wit, after he had come up against him, and taken him, with Samaria; the particular Relation whereof here follows.

5 ¶ Then the king of Assyria came up throughout all the land, and went up to Samaria, and besieged it three years.

6 ¶ * In the ninth year of Hoshea, the king of Assy- * Chap. ria took Samaria, and carried Israel away into Assyria, 18. 10. and placed them in Halah, and in Habor, by the river of Gozan, and in the cities of the Medes h.

h This is added, to distinguish this place from the former, which was either in Assyria, or in the mountainous and less inhabited parts of Media. Hither he carried them, partly to replenish his own Country; and partly, because these places were at so great a distance from Canaan, that this would cut off all Hopes and Thoughts of returning to their own Country.

7 For so it was, that the children of Israel had sinned against the LORD their God, which had brought them up out of the land of Egypt, from under the hand of Pharaoh king of Egypt, and had feared other gods:

8 And walked in the statutes of the heathen i (whom the LORD had cast out from before the children of Israel) and of the kings of Israel, which they had made k.

i i.e. According to the Laws and Customs of the Heathen, in the Worship of their Baals, and other of their sins. k i.e. Which the Kings of Israel had ordained concerning the Worship of the Calves, and against their going up to Jerusalem to worship.

9 And the children of Israel did secretly those things that were not right, against the LORD their God, and they built them high places in all their cities, from the tower of the watchmen, to the fenced city m.

l This belongs, either, 1. To their gross Idolatries, and other abominable Practices, which they were allured to use before others; Compare Ezek. 8. 12. Or, 2. to the Worship of Calves: And for the Words are otherwise rendered, and that agreeably to the Hebrew Text; they cloaked, or disguised, or covered things that were not right against, or before, or towards the Lord: i.e. They covered their Idolatrous Worship of the Calves, with fair Pretences of necessity, the two Kingdoms being now divided, and at enmity; and of their honest intention of serving the True God, and retaining the substance of the Jewish Religion, from which they alledged, that they differed only in Circumstances of Worship. m In all parts and places, both in Cities, and in the Country; yea, in the most uninhabited and neglected parts, where few or none dwell, beside the Watchmen, who are left there in Towers, to preserve the Cattel and Fruits of the Earth, or to give notice of the approach of Enemies.

d Judah's Idolatry and Wickedneſs is here remembred, as an aggravation of the ſin of the Iſraelites, which was not only evil in it ſelf, but ſcandalous, and miſchievous to their Neighbour, who by their Examples were inſtructed in their wicked Arts, and provoked to an Imitation of them; See Hoſea 4. 15. and compare Matth. 18. 7.

* 1 Kings 11. 31. * 2 Kings 12. 27, 28.

21 For * he rent Iſrael from the houſe of David, and they made Jeroboam the ſon of Nebat king f, and Jeroboam drave Iſrael from following the LORD g, and made them ſin a great ſin h.

f Which Action is here aſcribed to the People, becauſe they would not tarry till God, by his Providence, had inveſted Jeroboam with the Kingdom which he had promiſed him; but raſhly, and unthankfully, and rebelliouſly, roſe up againſt the Houſe of David, to which they had ſuch great Obligations; and ſet him upon the Throne without God's leave or advice. g He not only diſſwaded, but kept them by force from God's Worſhip at Jeruſalem, the only place appointed for it. h So the Worſhip of the Calves is called, to meet with that idle Conceit of the Iſraelites, who eſteemed it a ſmall ſin, eſpecially when they were forced to it by ſevere Penalties; which yet he ſhews did not excuſe it from being a ſin, and a great ſin too.

22 For the children of Iſrael walked in all the ſins of Jeroboam which he did, they departed not from them i:

i But willingly and reſolutely followed the wicked Examples and Commands of their Kings, though contrary to God's expreſs Commands.

23 Until the LORD removed Iſrael out of his ſight k, as he had ſaid by all his ſervants the prophets. So was Iſrael carried away out of their own land to Aſſyria, unto this day.

k They continued to the laſt, obſtinate and incorrigible under all the Inſtructions and Corrections which God ſent to them; and therefore were moſt juſtly given up by God into this dreadful Captivity; which all this foregoing Diſcourſe was deſigned to prove.

24 ¶ And the king of Aſſyria l brought men from Babylon m, and from Cuthah, and from Ana, and from Hamath, and from Sepharvaim n, and placed them in the cities of Samaria, inſtead of the children of Iſrael; and they poſſeſſed Samaria, and dwelt in the cities thereof.

l Either Shalmaneſer, or rather his Son and Succeſſor, Eſarhaddon, Ezra 4. 2. becauſe this was a work of ſome time; and as his Father had projected, and paſſibly began this; ſo he executed or finiſhed it: whence it is aſcribed to him, rather than to his Father. m Which then was ſubject to the Aſſyrian Monarch; but a few years after revolted from him, and ſet up another King; as appears both from Sacred and Profane Hiſtories. n Several places then in his Dominion.

25 And ſo it was at the beginning of their dwelling there, that they feared not the LORD ‖; therefore o the LORD ſent lions among them, which ſlew ſome of them.

‖ They did not acknowledge, nor worſhip God in any ſort. o For this groſs Neglect, and contempt of God, which was contrary to the Principles and Practices of the Heathens, who uſed to worſhip the Gods of the Nations where they lived, and gave that honour to their falſe gods, which here they denied to the true. Hereby alſo God aſſerted his own Right and Soveraignty over that Land, and made them to underſtand, that neither the Iſraelites were caſt out, nor they brought into that Land by their Valour, or Strength, but by God's Providence, who as he had caſt the Iſraelites out for their neglect of God's ſervice; ſo both could, and would in his due time, turn them out alſo, if they were guilty of the ſame ſins.

26 Wherefore they ſpake p to the king of Aſſyria, ſaying, The nations which thou haſt removed, and placed in the cities of Samaria, know not the manner of the God of the land q: therefore he hath ſent lions among them, and behold, they ſlay them, becauſe they know not the manner of the God of the land.

p i. e. They wrote, or ſent Meſſengers to him for relief. q They ſuppoſed the true God to be like one of their Topical Deities, who had their particular Countries and Provinces allotted to them.

27 Then the king of Aſſyria commanded, ſaying, Carry thither one of the prieſts r, whom ye brought from thence, and let them go and dwell there, and let him teach them the manner of the God of the land.

r i. e. One of the chief of the Prieſts, with others, to be under his Inſpection and Direction; as may be gathered from the following Words; where it is ſaid of the ſame Perſon, or Perſons, let them go, &c. and then, let him teach, &c. Nor is it probable, that one Prieſt could ſuffice for the inſtruction of the Inhabitants of ſo many and diſtant parts.

28 Then one of the prieſts whom they had carried away from Samaria, came and dwelt in Bethel, and taught them how they ſhould fear the LORD ſ.

ſ i. e. The manner of God's Worſhip, as it was practiſed in Iſrael; as may be gathered both from the Quality of this Perſon, who was an Iſraelitiſh Prieſt; and from the place of his Reſidence, Bethel, a place infamous for the Worſhip of the Calves, and from the manner of their making Prieſts by this man's Direction, ver. 32.

29 Howbeit, every nation made gods of their own t, and put them in the houſes of the high places, which the Samaritans u had made, every nation in their cities wherein they dwelt.

t Or, worſhipped (as that Verb is ſometimes uſed: of which, ſee Exod. 32. 35.) i. e. thoſe whom they worſhipped in the places from whence they came, whoſe names here follow. u i. e. The former People, or Inhabitants, not of the City, but of the Kingdom of Samaria.

30 And the men of Babylon made Succoth-benoth, and the men of Cuth made Nergal, and the men of Hamath made Aſhima.

31 And the Avites made Nibhaz, and Tartak, and the Sepharvites burnt their children in fire to Adrammelech, and Anammelech, the gods of Sepharvaim.

32 So they feared the LORD, and made unto themſelves of the loweſt of them prieſts of the high places x, which ſacrificed for them y in the houſes of the high places.

x See the Notes on 1 Kings 12. 31. y To wit, unto the true God: For as to the Worſhip of their own Gods, they needed no inſtruction, and would not permit a Perſon of another Religion to miniſter therein.

33 * They feared the LORD z, and ſerved their † own gods, after the manner of the nations ‖ whom they carried away from thence a.

† They ſerved

† They worſhipped God externally in that way which the Iſraelites uſed. a Theſe words belong, either, 1. To both the foregoing Branches, and to the Iſraelites; and then the ſenſe is, They trod in the ſteps of their Predeceſſors, the Iſraelites (who, in regard of their ſeveral Tribes, are both here, and elſewhere, called Nations) who did, many of them, worſhip both God in their Calves, and Baal too. Or, 2. To the laſt branch only: but then the Words muſt be otherwiſe rendred; they ſerved their own Gods, after the manner of the Nations from which they brought, or carried them, or from whence they (theſe new Inhabitants) were brought; i. e. each of them ſerved the God of the Country or Place whence he was brought, as is related above, ver. 30, 31. But theſe Nations could not ſo properly be ſaid to be carried away, or to be carried away captive (as this Hebrew word ſignifies) as the Iſraelites; and therefore the former Interpretation ſeems more proper.

34 Unto this day they b do after the former manners: they fear not the LORD c, neither do they after their ſtatutes d, or after their ordinances, or after the law and commandment which the LORD commanded the children of Jacob e, * whom he named Iſrael f.

Gen. 32. 28.

b Either, 1. the Samaritans, whoſe Religion he hath hitherto been deſcribing, and to the deſcription whereof he returns, ver. 41. So the following Verſes are a Deſcription, wherein he deſigns only to take an occaſion to compare them with the Iſraelites, and to aggravate the ſins of the Iſraelites above theirs, which he doth, ver. 35, &c. and then returns to the former Deſcription, ver. 41. Or rather, 2. The Iſraelites, who are the principal Subjects of this whole Diſcourſe; and of whom he unqueſtionably ſpeaks, ver. 35. and thence to ver. 41. of whom alſo the laſt words of ver. 33. are to be underſtood; and from thence he takes an occaſion to return to his main buſineſs, to relate, and aggravate the ſins of Iſrael; and thereby to juſtifie his ſevere proceedings againſt them, to all the World. So the ſenſe of the place is this; As the Iſraelites before their Captivity, gave theſe Nations an ill Example, in ſerving the Lord, and Baal together; ſo, or after their former manner, they do unto this day, in the Land of their Captivity. c Though they pretended to fear, and ſerve both the Lord and Idols, yet in truth they did not, and do not fear or worſhip the Lord, but their own Calves, or other vain Inventions: And God will not accept that mongrel and falſe Worſhip, which they pretend to give to the true God. Or, this may intimate, that the Iſraelites were worſe than their Succeſſors, becauſe theſe feared the Lord, and Idols too; but they did quite caſt off the Fear and Worſhip of God in their Captivity, and wholly degenerated into Heatheniſh Idolatry. d i. e. God's Iſrael. 119. 111. This is alledged as an Evidence, that they did not fear ſtuat Breach of his ſtatutes. e i. e. Themſelves; the Noun put for the Pronoun; which is uſual among the Hebrews. f A Name, ſignifying his ſpecial Intereſt in God, and Power with him, which was given to him, not only for himſelf, but for his Poſterity alſo, whom God frequently honours with that Name. And by this great favour he aggravates their ſin.

Heb. 6.

35 With whom the LORD had made a covenant g, and charged them, ſaying, * Ye ſhall not fear other gods, nor bow your ſelves to them, nor ſerve them, nor ſacrifice to them:

g Containing many precious Promiſes, upon the Condition here following: ſee Gen. 17. 7. Exod. 19. 4. and 24. 7.

36 But the LORD, who brought you up out of the land of Egypt, with great power, and a ſtretched-out arm, him ſhall ye fear, him ſhall ye worſhip, and to him ſhall ye do ſacrifice.

37 And the ſtatutes, and the ordinances, and the law, and the commandment which he wrote for you, ye ſhall obſerve to do for evermore, and ye ſhall not fear other gods:

38 And the covenant that I have made with you, ye ſhall not forget, neither ſhall ye fear other gods.

39 But the LORD your God h ye ſhall fear, and he ſhall deliver you out of the hand of all your enemies i.

h i. e. God alone, as the whole Context ſhews. i And therefore you have no pretence of need to go to other gods for relief.

40 Howbeit, they did not hearken, but they did after their former manner.

41 So k theſe nations l feared the LORD, and ſerved their graven images, both their children, and their children's children: as did their fathers, ſo do they unto this day.

k i. e. In like manner, and after their Example. l Who came in their ſtead.

CHAP. XVIII.

Hezekiah King over Judah his good Reign: He is not afraid of the King of Aſſyria: and overcometh the Philiſtines, 1—8. Samaria is carried away Captive by Salmanaſſer King of Aſſyria: for their ſins, 9—12. Sennacherib invadeth Judah: and Hezekiah payeth him Tribute, 13—16. Rabſhakeh ſent by Sennacherib, revileth Hezekiah the King, 17—37.

Chron. 27. & 29. 1. Ezra. 2. 1. Chron. 3. 13.

NOw it came to paſs in the third year a of Hoſhea ſon of Elah king of Iſrael, that * Hezekiah the ſon of Ahaz king of Judah began to reign.

a In the third of thoſe nine years mentioned, chap. 17. 1. of which ſee there. See below ver. 10.

2 Twenty and five years old was he when he began to reign b, and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jeruſalem: his mothers name alſo was Abi c, the daughter of Zachariah.

b How is this credible? For then Ahaz, who lived but Six and Thirty Years, chap. 16. 2. muſt beget Hezekiah at the Eleventh Year of his Age. Anſ. 1. There are ſome like Inſtances mentioned by credible Authors; which theſe very Men will not deny, who are ſo ready to confeſſed Cuſtom of Sacred, and other Writers, in the numbring of Years, ſometimes to omit, and ſometimes to add thoſe which are imperfect, or unfiniſhed: And ſo Ahaz might be near One and Twenty Years old when he began to Reign, and near Seventeen Years old when he died: And on the other ſide, Hezekiah, when he began to Reign, might be only Four and Twenty years old compleat, and not entred into his Five and Twentieth Year. —— And thus Ahaz might be between Thirteen and Fourteen Years old, when he got Hezekiah; which is not at all ſtrange, eſpecially in that Nation to which God had promiſed a ſingular degree of Fruitfulneſs, and in that Houſe of David to which God had made ſo many, and ſuch great Promiſes. 2. It is not certain that Ahaz lived only Thirty ſix Years, for thoſe ſixteen Years which he Reigned, Chap. 16. 2. may be computed, not from the firſt beginning of his Reign, when he Reigned with his Father; for which, ſee the Notes on Chap. 16. 20.) which was at the Twentieth Year of his Age, but from the beginning of his Reign alone. 4. Some affirm, That Hezekiah was not the Natural, but only the Legal Son and Succeſſor of Ahaz; for the name of Son is given in Scripture to ſuch Perſons; as 1 Chron. 3. 16. comp. with 2 Kyng. 24. 17. Matth. 1. 12. And to Sons in Law, 1 Sam. 24. 16. and 26. 17. Luk. 3. 23. Any of theſe Solutions are far more credible to any Man of common Prudence, than that theſe Sacred Books, whoſe Divine Original hath been ſo fully evidenced both by God and Men, are but the Fictions and Contrivances of a baſe Impoſtor. And if none of theſe Solutions were ſufficient, it is abſurd to conclude, That a true Reſolution cannot be found, becauſe it is not yet found; becauſe it is manifeſt, That many difficulties both in Scripture, and in the Arts, which were formerly judged inſoluble, have been cleared in later Times: and therefore we may juſtly expect the Reſolution of other Difficulties, which may be thought not yet fully explained. c Or, Abiah, 2 Chron. 29. 1.

3 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the LORD, according to all that which David his father did.

4 * ¶ He removed the high places d, and brake the * 2 Chro. † images, and cut down the groves, and brake in pieces † Heb. the * brazen ſerpent that Moſes had made e: for unto Statues. those days the children of Iſrael did burn incenſe to it f. * Numb. 21. 9.

d i. e. The moſt of them, or ſuch as the People moſt frequented: for all were not taken away, Chap. 23. 13, 14. And this he attempted but with, notwithſtanding the People's great and conſtant Affection to them; partly, becauſe he had more Zeal and Courage than his Predeceſſors: and partly, becauſe the dreadful Judgments of God upon the Kingdom of Iſrael for their Superſtition and Idolatry, had made the People of Judah more pliable to the Commands of God, and of their good King. e By God's Command to be an Ordinance or Mean for the conveyance of God's Bleſſing to the People: which therefore had been hitherto kept as a Memorial of God's Mercy; but being now commonly abuſed to Superſtition, was deſtroyed. f Not doubtleſs as to a God, but only as to an Inſtrument and Token of God's Mercy, by and through which, their Adoration was directed to God, and given to that only for God's ſake. g i. e. He ſaid, This Serpent, how'ever formerly honoured, and uſed by God as a ſign of his Grace, yet now it is nothing but a piece of Braſs, which can do you neither Good nor Hurt; and therefore is no fit Object for your Worſhip.

5 He truſted in the LORD God of Iſrael h, ſo that after him was none like him among all the kings of Judah, nor any that were before him i.

h Without calling in Foreign and Heatheniſh Succours to ſtabliſh or help him; which his Father Ahaz did; Chap. 16. 7. and Iſa. 7. and before him Aſa, 1 Kings 15. 18, 19. with reflection upon whom this ſeems to be noted. † To wit, of the Kings of Judah only; for David and Solomon were Kings of all Iſrael. Object. The like is ſaid of Joſiah, Chap. 23. 25. Anſw. Each of them excelled the other in ſeveral qualities or actions: Hezekiah in this, That he fell upon this Work with great Expedition, even in the beginning of his Reign, which Joſiah did not, Chap. 23. and with no leſs Reſolution, undertaking to do that which none of his Predeceſſors durſt do, even to remove the High Places, wherein Joſiah did only follow his Example; Chap. 22. 1, 3.

6 For he clave to the LORD, and departed not † from following him k, but kept his commandments from after which the LORD commanded Moſes. † Heb. him.

i In the general Courſe of his Life, and eſpecially in the matters of God's Worſhip.

7 And the LORD was with him, and he proſpered whitherſoever he went forth: and he rebelled againſt the king of Aſſyria l, and ſerved him not.

l He ſhook off that Yoke of Subjection and Tribute, to which his Father had wickedly ſubmitted, Chap. 16. 7. and reaſſumed that full and independent Soveraignty which God had ſetled in the Houſe of David, which Ahaz could not alienate further, than for his own time. And Hezekiah's Caſe differs much from that of Zedekiah, who is blamed for Rebellion againſt the King of Babylon, both becauſe he had ingaged himſelf to him by a ſolemn Oath and Covenant, which we do not read of Ahaz; and becauſe he broke the Covenant which he himſelf had made: and becauſe God had actually given the Dominion of his own Land and People to the King of Babylon, and commanded both Zedekiah and his People to ſubmit to him. And whereas Hezekiah is here ſaid to Rebel; that Word implies, only a defection from that Subjection on which had been profeſſed and performed to another; which ſometimes may be juſtly done, and ſometimes may not: and therefore that Word doth not neceſſarily prove this Action to be a Sin. And theſe Words, he rebelled, &c. are explained by the next following Words, and he ſerved him not. And that it was not a Sin to him, ſeems moſt probable, becauſe God did own, and aſſiſt him in it; and did not at all

all reprove him for it, in that Message which he sent to him by Isaiah about this matter, Chap. 19. 20, &c. nor afterwards, though he did about this matter, Chap. 19. 20, &c. nor afterwards, though he did particularly reprove him for that which might seem a less Fault, for his Vain-glory, and Ostentation, 2 Chron. 32. 25, 26. 13 ¶ Now * in the fourteenth year of king Hezekiah did † Sennacherib king of Assyria s come up against all the fenced cities of Judah, and took them t.

s The Son or Successor of Salmanasser, i. e. Against many of them; universal Particles being frequently so used both in Scripture, and other Authors; for that all were not taken, appears from Chap. 19. 8. And this Success God gave him; partly, to lift him up to his own greater and more shameful Destruction: partly, to humble and chastise his own People for their manifold sins, and afterwards to raise them up with more comfort, and glory: and partly, to gain an eminent opportunity to advance his own Honour and Service, by that miraculous Deliverance which he designed for his People.

14 And Hezekiah king of Judah sent to the king of Assyria to Lachish, saying, I have offended u, return from me: that which thou puttest on me, will I bear. And the king of Assyria appointed unto Hezekiah king of Judah, three hundred talents of silver, and thirty talents of gold.

t To wit, against thee; i. e. I have given the occasion of Warring against me, whereof I now repent. Or, his ill Success might make him think that he had sinned against God in this Action, and might make him willing to submit to him, though God graciously prevented it. u Of which see on Exod. 25. 39.

15 And Hezekiah gave him all the silver that was found in the house of the LORD, and in the treasures of the kings house.

19 And Rabshakeh said unto them, Speak ye now to Hezekiah, Thus saith the great king, the king of Assyria, What confidence is this wherein thou trustest?

20 Thou ‖ sayest d (but e they are but † vain words f) I have counsel and strength for the war g: now on whom dost thou trust h, that thou rebellest against me?

d Either to thy People, to encourage them: or rather, within thy self. e Or, surely: or, onely. f Words of the Lips, i. e. vain, unprofitable, idle talk without any effect; or they come not from thy heart; thou speakest this against thy own knowledge. g Counsel to contrive, strength or courage to execute: which two things are of greatest necessity and use for War. But the words are, and may be rendred otherwise; either thus, thou speakest surely words of the lips; i. e. Thou encouragest thy self, and thy people with talk, and words; but counsel and strength are for War, are necessary for thy Defence: neither of which thou hast within thy self, but must seek them from others: and where wilt thou find them? on whom (as it follows) dost thou trust? Or thus, thou sayest, I have the word of my lips. (Father, 1. Words wherewith to pray to God for help. Or, 2. Eloquence, to encourage my Soldiers and People) counsel and strength for war; i. e. I am furnished with all things necessary for my Defence. h Seeing it is apparent thou hast not strength of thy own, from whom dost thou expect succours?

21 Now behold, thou † trustest upon the staff of this † Heb. bruised reed i, even upon Egypt, on which if a man lean, it will go into his hand, and pierce it k: so is Pharaoh king of Egypt unto all that trust on him l.

i He calls Egypt a Reed, with allusion to the Reeds wherewith the Banks of Nilus were full; and bruised, to note their weakness and insufficiency to support him. Comp. Ezek. 29. 6, 7. k By some of the Ægyptians into which it will be broken. l Doing them no good, but much hurt.

22 But if ye say unto me, We trust in the LORD our God; is not that he whose high places, and whose altars Hezekiah hath taken away m, and hath said to Judah and Jerusalem, Ye shall worship before this altar in Jerusalem?

m Thereby robbing him of that Worship and Service which he had in those places. Thus boldly he speaks of these things which he understood not, judging of the great God, by their false and petty Gods; and judging of God's Worship according to the vain fancies of the Heathens, who measured Piety by the multitude of Altars.

23 Now therefore, I pray thee, give ‖ pledges to my lord n the king of Assyria, and I will deliver thee two thousand horses, if thou be able on thy part to set riders upon them.

‖ Or, Hostages.

n i. e. Give him Hostages to secure him from thy future Rebellion, and I will depart from thee. Or rather, contend with my Lord in hand: Seeing thou hast counsel and strength for War, do not lie lurking in thy strong hold, but come out into the open field, and let us try for Mastery; and whereas thou may'st pretend thou wantest Horses to fight with me, if thou wilt accept of my Challenge, I will furnish thee with 2000 Horses, if thou hast Riders for them; as it here follows.

24 How then wilt thou turn away the face of one captain o of the least of my masters servants, and put thy trust on Egypt for chariots and for horsemen?

o How wilest thou force him to turn his back to thee, and flee away from thee?

25 Am I now come up without the LORD p against this place to destroy it? The LORD said unto me q, Go up against this land, and destroy it.

p Without his consent and Commission? q To wit, by secret Inspiration; or, by his Providence. But indeed, he neither owned God's Word, nor regarded his Providence; but he forged this, to strike a terror into Hezekiah and the People.

26 Then said Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, and Shebna, and Joah, unto Rabshakeh, Speak, I pray thee, to thy servants in the Syrian language, (for we understand it) and talk not with us in the Jews language, in the ears of the people that are on the wall r.

r Upon which these Officers stood; not being willing to put themselves into the power of such a Barbarous and Perfidious Enemy, by going out of the City.

27 But Rabshakeh said unto them, Hath my master sent me to thy master, and to thee, to speak these words? Hath he not sent me to the men which sit on the wall, that they may eat their own dung, and drink † their own † Heb. the water of their pits s with you?

s To tell them to what Extremities and Miseries he will force them, of this and the following Verse.

28 Then Rabshakeh stood and cried with a loud voice in the Jews language t, and spake, saying, Hear the word of the great king, the king of Assyria.

t That he might affright the People into a compliance with him, which he perceived Eliakim and his Brethren endeavour to prevent.

29 Thus saith the king, Let not Hezekiah deceive you, for he shall not be able to deliver you out of his hand:

30 Neither let Hezekiah make you trust in the LORD, saying, The LORD will surely deliver us, and this city shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.

31 Hearken not unto Hezekiah: for thus saith the king of Assyria, ‖ † Make an agreement with me by a present, and come out to me, and then eat ye every man of his own vine x, and every one of his fig-tree, and drink ye every one the waters of his ‖ cistern:

‖ Or, Seek my favour. † Heb. Make a blessing with me.

u To redeem your selves from all the Calamities of a close Siege, and that Death which certainly will follow on them. Or, procure, or purchase a blessing from me; i. e. a blessed Peace; whereby you may be delivered out of your distressed and cursed condition, and receive from me the Blessings of Protection and Provition, which your King cannot give you. x Upon these terms, I will give you no disturbance; but quietly suffer each of you to enjoy his own Possessions.

32 Until I come and take you away to a land like your own own land y, a land of corn and wine, a land of bread and vineyards, a land of oil-olive, and of honey, that ye may live and not die: and hearken not unto Hezekiah, when he ‖ perswadeth you, saying, The LORD will deliver us.

y i. e. A fruitful and pleasant Land. Because he could not conceal from them his intentions of transplanting them into another Land, which he had already discovered in his dealing with the Israelites, and other Nations; he assures them, they shall be no losers by it; and shall onely change their place, but not their condition and comforts; which they should enjoy in that land, no less than in their own.

33 * Hath any of the gods of the nations delivered at all his land out of the hand of the king of Assyria?

* Isa. 10. 10.

34 Where are the gods of Hamath, and of Arpad z? where are the gods of Sepharvaim a, Hena, and Ivah b? have they e delivered Samaria out of mine hand?

z Of which see Chap. 17. 24. a Of which see Chap. 17. 24. b The names, either 1. of Idol-gods. But why should only these two be named, and not the Gods of the other places here mentioned? Or rather, 2. of Cities or Countries, as is manifest from Chap. 19. 13, where these words are repeated among other places, whose Kings are there mentioned, and where they are rendred, of Henah and Ivah, as they should be here also, the words in the Hebrew being the very same. c i. e. Either the Gods here mentioned, which together with other Idols, were Worshipped in Samaria. Or, 2. Their gods; which is easily understood from the foregoing words.

35 Who are they among all the gods of the countries, that have delivered their Countrey out of mine hand, that the LORD should deliver Jerusalem out of mine hand?

36 But the people d held their peace, and answered him not a word: for the king's commandment was, saying, Answer him not e.

d i. e. Either these Three Men, this Word being sometimes used of more than two men, as 1 Sam. 9. 24. Or rather, the people that were then upon the wall, ver. 26. to whom he spake, and from whom he expected an answer. e Which was wisely ordered; partly, left by their words they should either betray their Fears, or provoke their Enemies to greater Injuries or Blasphemies; or give them some advantage or direction for their further Proceedings: and partly, that by this Instance of Obedience and Calmness, he might see the resolution of the People to cleave unto their King; and the vanity of his Attempts to induce them to a defection from him.

37 Then came Eliakim the son of Hilkiah, which was over the houshold, and Shebna the scribe, and Joah the son of Asaph the recorder, to Hezekiah * with their clothes rent, and told him the words of Rabshakeh.

* Job. 2. 12. Isa. 36. 22.

CHAP. XIX.

Hezekiah acquainteth Isaiah the Prophet with the Blasphemies of Rabshakeh: he promiseth deliverance from the Lord, 1——7. Sennacherib is forced to war against the Moors: sendeth blasphemous Letters to Hezekiah, 8——13. Hezekiah prayeth, 14——19. Isaiah prophesieth the Destruction of Sennacherib and good of Zion, 20——34. The same night an Angel slay'th the Assyrians: Sennacherib is murdered at Nineveh by his own Sons, 35——37.

AND * it came to pass, when king Hezekiah heard it, that he rent his clothes, and covered himself with sackcloth, and went into the house of the LORD.

* Heb. 2. 4. called Epaphras.

2 And he sent Eliakim, which was over the houshold, and Shebna the scribe, and the elders of the priests covered with sackcloth, to * Isaiah the prophet, the son of Amos.

* Or, Jesaiah.

3 And they said unto him, Thus saith Hezekiah, This day is a day of trouble, and of rebuke a, and ‖ blasphemy: for the children are come to the birth, and there is not strength to bring forth b.

‖ Or, reproach.

a Either, 1. From God, wherein God rebukes and chastens us foreher. Or rather, 2. From the Assyrian, who reviles and Reproacheth us: for his business here is to complain, not of God, but of the Assyrian. b We are like a poor Travelling Woman in great Extremity, and having no strength left to help her self, and to bring forth her Infant into the World. We have attempted to deliver our selves from the Assyrian Yoke; and had carried on that work to some maturity, and as we thought, brought it to the Birth; but now we have no might to finish, unless thou assist us. We have begun an happy Reformation, and are hindred by this insolent Assyrian, from bringing it to perfection. See 2 Chron. 32. 1.

4 It may be c the LORD thy God d will hear e all the words of Rabshakeh, whom the king of Assyria his master hath sent to reproach the living God, and will reprove the words f which the LORD thy God hath heard: wherefore lift up thy prayer for the remnant g that are † left.

c He speaks doubtfully, because he knew not whether God would not deliver them all up into the Assyrians hand, as he, and his people deserved. But sometimes this is not a word of doubt, but of good hope; as Numb. 22. 33. Josh. 14. 12. d To whom thou art dear and precious. He faith not our God, because he seemed to have forsaken and rejected them; and they, by their Designs had forfeited all their interest in him. e i. e. Will shew by his Actions, that he hath heard them with just Indignation. f Or rather, will reprove him, (an Ellipsis of the Preposition Beth is oft used, as Judg. 9. 23. 1 Sam. 16. 14, 23. 1 King. 22. 23) as it is also given to Man's Soul, Job 12. 10. Ecclef. 12. 7. which is a Spiritual Substance, as the Angels are. And this Interpretation seems most agreeable to the design of this Verse, which is in brief to repeat all the Judgments of God which were to befall him, and which are related in the following History: and therefore all the other Particulars being contained in the following Branches of this Verse; the tidings of Hezekiah, ver. 9. in these words, he shall hear a rumour; his retaining to his own Land, and being slain there, ver. 36, 37. in the next words, it seems most probable, That the chief of all the Judgments, to wit, the Destruction of 185 thousand Soldiers in one night, ver. 35. is not omitted here, but expressed in the first branch of the Verse: and the Spirit here is the same thing, which is there called an Angel: this latter Word being there used, to limit and explain the former, which otherwise was of a doubtful signification.

8 ¶ So Rabshakeh returned i, and found the king of Assyria warring against Libnah: for he had heard that he was departed from Lachish k.

i To the King, to give him an account of the Treaty, and to advise with him what was further to be done: leaving behind him the Army under the other Commanders mentioned, Chap. 18. 17. as is most probable from the other Encamping Message here following: which would have been very unfitable, if his Siege had been raised. k Not being able to take it.

9 And when he heard say of Tirhakah king of Ethiopia l, Behold, he is come out to fight against thee: he sent messengers again unto Hezekiah, saying,

l Heb. of Cush, i. e. Either, 1. of Arabia, as that Word is most commonly meant; of which see the notes, and especially my Latin Synopsis, upon Numb. 12. 1. Or rather, 2. Of Ethiopia beyond Ægypt. Nor was there any need, that he should force his passage through Egypt, which is objected against this Opinion by a very learned Man; because the Egyptians (against whom this Sennacherib Warred, as to the Historians, Herodotus and Berosus, relate) and the Ethiopians were Confederates in this Expedition, as Josephus expressly affirms; who he yet above 1600 Years nearer the time when this was done, than we: and therefore was more likely to understand it.

10 Thus shall ye speak to Hezekiah king of Judah, saying, Let not thy God in whom thou trustest deceive thee, saying, Jerusalem shall not be delivered into the hand of the king of Assyria.

11 Behold, thou hast heard what the kings of Assyria have done to all lands, by destroying them utterly: and shalt thou be delivered m?

m No certainly, never expect it: such questions oft imply a denial; as Gen. 18. 17.

12 Have the gods of the nations delivered them which my fathers have destroyed; as Gozan, and Haran, and Rezeph, and the children of Eden which were in Thelasar n?

n Several places about, or beyond Euphrates. See Gen. 11. 31. Ezek. 27. 23.

13 Where is the king o of Hamath, and the king of Arpad, and the king of the city of Sepharvaim, of Hena, and Ivah p?

o Either, 1. Their god, whom he here calls their King: because they looked upon him as their Protector and Governour: which Kings are, or should be to their People. Or rather, 2. Their King properly so called. And as before he compared their gods with the God of Jerusalem; so now he compares their Kings with King Hezekiah: and by both intends to perswade them, that neither their God, nor their King, was able to save them out of his Hand. p Of which see the notes on Chap. 18. 34.

14 ¶ And Hezekiah received the letter of the hand of the messengers, and read it: and Hezekiah went up into the house of the LORD q, and spread it before the LORD r.

q i. e. Into the Court of the Temple: for further he might not enter. r i. e. Before the Ark, or Temple: which he did, not to acquaint God, but to strengthen his own Faith, and quicken himself to Prayer.

15 And Hezekiah prayed before the LORD, and said, O LORD God of Israel, * which dwellest between the cherubims, thou art the God, even thou alone of all the kingdoms of the earth, thou hast made heaven and earth:

* 1 Sam. 4. 4. Psal. 80. 1. Isa. 37. 16.

16 LORD, bow down thine ear, and hear: open, LORD thine eyes, and see; and hear the words of Sennacherib, which hath sent him s to reproach the living God.

s i.e. The messenger who brought this railing Letter, ver. 14. Or Rabshakeh, who was eafily underſtood out of the former Chapter, although he would not do him the honour to name him; or, ſent it; to wit, This Letter.

17 Of a truth, LORD, the kings of Aſſyria have deſtroyed the nations, and their lands.

18 And have † caſt their gods into the fire: for they were no Gods, but the work of mens hands, wood and ſtone: therefore they have deſtroyed them.

19 Now therefore, O LORD our God, I beſeech thee ſave thou us out of his hand, that all the kingdoms of the earth may know that thou art the LORD God, even thou onely.

20 ¶ Then Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz ſent to Hezekiah, ſaying, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, That which thou haſt prayed to me againſt Sennacherib king of Aſſyria, I have heard t.

t i.e. Accepted it, and will anſwer it: A common Synecdoche.

21 This is the word that the LORD hath ſpoken concerning him, The virgin u, the daughter of Zion x hath deſpiſed thee, and laughed thee to ſcorn; the daughter of Jeruſalem hath ſhaken her head at thee y.

u So he calls Zion, or Jeruſalem; partly, becauſe ſhe was pure in good meaſure from that groſs Idolatry wherewith other people were diſtained, whic is called ſpiritual Whoredom: partly, to ſignifie, that God would likewiſe her from that Rape which Sennacherib intended to commit upon her, with no leſs Care and Zeal, than Parents do their Virgin Daughters: as thoſe who ſeek to Force and Deflour them: and partly, to intimate, that as ſhe had not yet been Forced, and taken by her Barbarous Enemies, ſo ſhe ſhould ſtill retain her Virginity, in ſpight of his Attempts againſt her. x i.e. The People of Zion; i.e. as it follows, of Jeruſalem: ſo called Synecdochically from the Mountain and City of Zion, which was an Eminent part of it. Cities and Countries are oft called Mothers, as 2 Sam. 20. 19. and their Inhabitants Daughters: as Numb. 21. 25. Joſh. 17. 16. Judg. 1. 27. Pſal. 45. 13. and 137. 8. y Laughed at all thy proud and impotent Threatnings. This is a Geſture of Contempt and Deriſion: of which, ſee Iſai. 22. 7. and 44. 13. Jer. 18. 16. Matt. 27. 29.

22 Whom haſt thou reproached and blaſphemed? and againſt whom haſt thou exalted thy voice z, and lift up thine eyes on high a? even againſt the holy One of Iſrael b.

z By Rabſhakeh, who cryed with a loud voice, Chap. 18. 28. a A Geſture of Pride, and Sconfulneſs, Prov. 21. 4. b Not againſt Man, but againſt the Holy God, who will not ſuffer thy Impious Blaſphemies to go unpunniſhed; and againſt the holy one of Iſrael, who hath a ſpecial relation and kindneis to Iſrael, having as it were let himſelf apart for them, and ſet them apart for himſelf, as being at this time the God of the Jews onely, and not the God of the Gentiles; whom, as yet, he ſuffered to walk in their own evil ways, Act. 14. 16. And therefore he will Plead their Cauſe againſt thee.

† Heb. By the hand of, &c.

23 By † thy meſſengers c thou haſt reproached the LORD, and haſt ſaid, With the multitude of my chariots I am come up to the height of the mountains d, to the ſides of Lebanon e, and will cut down † the tall cedars thereof, and the choice fir-trees thereof f: and I will enter into the lodgings of his borders g, and into the || foreſt of his Carmel h.

† Heb. the tallneſs, &c.

c So thou haſt advanced thy very Servants above me. d I have brought up my very Chariots to thoſe Mountains which were thought inacceſſible by my Army. e An high Hill, famous for Cedars and Fir-trees, here following. This may be underſtood, either, 1. Miſtically, I will deſtroy the Princes and nobleſt of Judah, (which are ſometimes compared to cedars, &c.) Or, their ſtrongeſt Cities. Or rather, 2. Literally, I will cut down the Trees that hinder my March, and plain and prepare the way for all my numerous Army and Chariots. And by this one Inſtance, he intimates, that nothing ſhould ſtand in his way: no not the higheſt and ſtrongeſt Places. g i.e. Thoſe Towns and Cities (which he calls Lodgings in way of Contempt) which are in his utmoſt Borders, and moſt remote from me. I am come into the Land of Canaan at one Border Lebanon, and I will paſs to march on to the other extreme Border, and ſo to deſtroy the whole Country, from one border to another: the borders of a Land being oft put for the whole Land within its Borders; as Exod. 8. 2. Pſal. 74. 17. and 147. 13. Iſa. 54. 12. Or, as it is in the Hebrew, into the Lodging of his border; for which, in the Parallel place, Iſa. 37. 24. it is, into the height of his border. And ſo this may be underſtood of Jeruſalem; which it is not probable, that in all his brags he would omit; and againſt which, his chief Deſign now lay, which he here calleth a lodging, for its contemptible ſmallneſs, if compared with his groſs and vaſt Cry of Numbers; or, as it is in Iſa. 37. the height, for its two famous Mountains, Zion and Moriah; or for the Mountains which were round about Jeruſalem: Pſal. 125. 2. and he adds, of his border, becauſe this City was in the border of Judah; as being part of it in the Tribe of Benjamin, and near the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes, which was now in the Aſſyrians hands. h i.e. The foreſt of Mount Carmel, which may ſeem to be another inacceſſible Place, like Lebanon. Or, mine high foreſt, and his fruitful field. For Carmel, though properly it was a pleaſant and fruitful Mountain in the Tribe of Aſſaher, of which Joſh. 19. 26. yet it is oft uſed to ſignifie, any fruitful place, as is manifeſt from Iſa. 10. 18. and 16. 10. Jer. 2. 7. And thus all the parts of the Land are here enumerated: the Mountains, the Cities, the Woods, and the Fruitful Fields. Or, his fruitful foreſt; to wit, Jeruſalem: which is thought by many Interpreters, to be called a Foreſt, Jer. 21. 14. Ezek. 20. 46. a name which agrees well enough to Cities, where Buildings are very numerous, and cloſe, and high, like Trees in a Foreſt. And if Jeruſalem might be called a foreſt, it might well be called Hezekiah's Carmel; or, Fruitful Place: becauſe his chief Strength, and Treaſure, and Fruit was now in it: and this laſt Word may ſeem to be added here, to intimate, that this was not like other Foreſts, unfruitful, and barren. And ſo both this, and the foregoing words are underſtood of the ſame place, even of Jeruſalem; the laſt Branch being joined to the former by way of Apoſition; into the lodging of his border, the foreſt of his Carmel; or, his fruitful Foreſt; there being no more words in the Hebrew Text.

24 I have digged and drank ſtrange waters i, and *with the ſole of my feet have I dried up all the rivers of || beſieged places k.

* Deut. 11. 10.

i Such as were never diſcovered nor uſed by others. And therefore I, or, all thy endeavours to deprive me of Water for my Army, 2 Chron. 32. 3. are idle and Fruitleſs. k And as I can furniſh my Army with Water digged out of the Earth, by their Labour, and my Art; ſo I can deprive my Enemies of their Water, and can dry up their rivers, and that with the ſole of my feet; i. e. With the March of my vaſt and numerous Army, who will eaſily do this, either by marching through them, and each carrying part away with them: or by drinking every one a little of them: or by their pains, making many new Channels, and deriving the Waters of the River into them, as Cyrus dried up Euphrates, and thereby took Babylon.

25 ‖ Haſt thou not heard long ago, how I have done it, and of ancient times that I have formed it l? now have I brought it to paſs, that thou ſhouldeſt be to lay waſte fenced cities into ruinous heaps m.

‖ Heb. from afar off.

l Haſt thou not long ſince learned, that which ſome of thy Philoſophers could, and did teach thee; that there is a Supreme and Powerful God, by whoſe Decree and Providence all theſe Wars and Calamities are were ſent, and ordered; whoſe meer Inſtrument thou art, ſo that thou haſt no cauſe for theſe vain Boaſtings? This work is mine, more than thine. Or, as it is in the Margent of our Bibles, Haſt thou not heard it, that (a Particle oft underſtood) I have made (i. e. Conſtituted, or Purpoſed, or Ordained, for all theſe ways in this Hebrew Verb uſed) it (viz. it to be) Jeruſalem, which he now threatned; or rather, the Temple, Canaan, which he endeavoured to Root out: the Relative Pronoun, being put ſometimes without the Antecedent, which is to be gathered out of the Context, of which I have formerly given inſtances) long ago, and formed it of remote ancient times? i. e. Diſdſt thou not hear what I did for this People many Ages ſince, that I carried them out of Egypt in ſpight of Pharaoh and all his Hoſt; and through the Red-ſea, where I overthrew the Egyptians; and through the vaſt howling Wilderneſs; and then brought them into this Land, by a ſtrong hand, by which I deſtroyed all their Enemies, and planted them in their ſtead? By which thou mayeſt underſtand how dear this People are to me, and how eaſily I could deſtroy thee before them, If I ſaw it fit; and that the Places which thou haſt taken, and the Conqueſts which thou haſt made here, are not to be imputed to thy Valour, or Numbers, but unto my Providence, who for wiſe and juſt Reaſons, have given them up into thy hands, as it here follows. This may ſeem to be the truceſt ſence, becauſe that hitherto Prince and People were much more likely to hear the tidings of what God did for the Iſraelites in Egypt, and at the Red-ſea, and in Canaan; the fame of which was ſpread in all thoſe parts; than to hear of, or be inſtructed in the Doctrine of God's particular Providence in the Government of ſeveral Nations, and all their Counſels, and actions of State, and War. For, though the Aſſyrian was indeed the Rod in God's hand, &c. Iſa. 10. 5. yet he did not underſtand it, nor was God in all his thoughts, but he minded only the enlargement of his own Empire, by the Deſtruction of other Kingdoms, as it there follows, ver. 7, 13, 14, 15. m This Tranſlation ſeems better to agree both with the foregoing Branch of this Verſe, and with the following Verſe, than the other Interrogative Tranſlation in the Margent; and the plain ſenſe ſeems to be this, Great Things I have done for this People, which thou canſt not be ignorant of; but now I have changed my courſe towards them, reſolved to Punith them ſeverely for their Sins: and therefore, now I have brought it to paſs, i. e. I have ſo diſpoſed of things by my Providence, that thou ſhouldeſt be a Great and Victorious Prince, and that thou ſhouldeſt imploy thy Forces againſt them, to do my work upon them, that thou ſhouldeſt be (to wit, a perſon raiſed up, and fitted, and ſtrengthened for this very purpoſe) to lay waſte fenced cities (and to turn them) into ruinous heaps; i. e. That thou ſhouldeſt be ſo ſucceſsful as thou haſt hitherto been, firſt againſt the Kingdom of Iſrael, and now againſt Judah.

26 Therefore n their inhabitants o were † of ſmall power, they were diſmayed and confounded, they were as the graſs of the field p, and as the green herb, as * the graſs on the houſe tops, and as corn blaſted before it be grown up q.

For the Phraſe, Compare Deut. 31. 2. Iſa. 37. 28. s i. e. Againſt my ſervant Hezekiah, and my People, againſt whom he was engaged, becauſe they would not deliver up Jeruſalem to him, which he demanded. Things are frequently ſaid to be done againſt God, which are only done againſt his People, becauſe of that neer Union and Relation which is between them. See Zech. 2. 8. Acts 9, 4, 5. But the Words may well be rendred, and thy rage is even me, or before me, as the Syriack hath it; or, is manifeſt to me; as the Chaldee renders it. 29 And this ſhall be a ſign unto thee y, Ye ſhall eat this year ſuch things as grow of themſelves, and in the ſecond year, that which ſpringeth of the ſame, and in the third year ſow ye, and reap, and plant vineyards, and eat the fruits thereof a.

y To wit, of the certain accompliſhment of the Promiſes here made to thee: That Zion ſhould triumph over this inſulting Enemy, ver. 21. That God would not only preſerve the City from his preſent Fury, ver. 34. but alſo, That God would bleſs his People with a durable Proſperity, and an happy Increaſe, ver. 30, 31. And thus, it is not only a ſign of a ſhort Deliverance, which would be paſt before this Sign was fulfilled, (though there are Inſtances of ſuch Signs as followed the thing done; as Exod. 3. 12. Iſa. 7. 14.) but of a future Mercy, which was to continue long after that Sign. And this Sign was the more neceſſary, becauſe otherwiſe Hezekiah and his People had cauſe to fear, That the Aſſyrians would be greatly enraged for their ſhameful Repulſe, and the Deſtruction of their Army, and would quickly recruit their Army, and return againſt them with far greater Force and Violence. But ſome affirm, That Sennacherib when he heard of Tirhakah's March againſt him, of which, ver. 9. went with his Army to meet him, and overthrew him, and the Egyptian who was joined with him, as was noted before; and proſecuted his Victory, by following them into Egypt, and Ethiopia: in the courſe of which, he ſpent two years: in which ſpace, the People did eat ſuch things as grew of themſelves: and in the third year returned to Jeruſalem, intending to Beſiege it. It is true, it is ſaid, and ſo the Sign went before the thing, (which may be objected againſt the Truth of this Relation) ver. 9. That when he heard of Tirhakah, he ſent Meſſengers to Hezekiah, pretending as if he would fortifie it even againſt him; but it is not ſaid, that he did ſo: nor is it fer down what he did with Tirhakah, becauſe the Deſign of the Sacred Writer, was only to write the Hiſtory of the Jewiſh Nation; not of others, but only with reſpect to them. 2 This was an extraordinary Sign, for it was miraculous; eſpecially, conſidering the waſte and havock which the Aſſyrians had made in the Land; and that the Jews had been forced to retire into their ſtrong hold, and conſequently to neglect their Tilling, and Sowing, and Reaping; and yet this Year they ſhould have ſufficient Proviſion from thoſe Fruits of the Earth which the Aſſyrian left; and the Second Year, which probably was the Year of Releaſe, in which they might neither Sow, nor Reap, from ſuch Fruits as the Earth brought forth of its own accord; and ſo in the Third Year. a You ſhall not Sow, and another Reap, as lately you did; but you ſhall enjoy the Fruit of your own Labours.

† Heb. the eſcaping.

c That handful of Jews who now were gathered together, and ſhut up in Jeruſalem, ſhall go out to their ſeveral Habitations, and by my ſingular Bleſſing increaſe exceedingly. d The ſame thing expreſſed in other words, which is uſual in the Hebrew Language. ∴ Although when you reflect upon your ſelves, and conſider either your preſent ſewneſs, and weakneſs, or your great unworthineſs, this may ſeem too great a Bleſſing for you to expect, or believe; yet God will do it from the Zeal which he hath, both for his own Name, to vindicate it from the Blaſphemous Reproaches of the Aſſyrians, and for the good of his undeſerving People.

32 Therefore thus ſaith the LORD concerning the king of Aſſyria, He ſhall not come into this city, nor ſhoot an arrow there, nor come before it with ſhield, nor caſt a bank againſt it e.

e Which was true, though he ſent Rabſhakeh, and others, with a great Hoſt againſt Jeruſalem, Chap. 18. 17. Either becauſe that Hoſt went away with Rabſhakeh to Libnah; above ver. 8. or rather, becauſe that Army did not form a cloſe Siege againſt it, but only marched towards it, and diſpoſed themſelves ſo as to block it up at ſome diſtance; poſſibly waiting till the King of Aſſyria had taken Libnah and Lachiſh, (which they preſumed he would ſpeedily do) and ſhould come up with the reſt of his Forces, when they intended to fall more vigorously to their Work.

33 By the way that he came, by the ſame ſhall he return f, and ſhall not come into the city, ſaith the LORD.

f Whereas he expected to devour the Kingdom of Judah at one Morſel, and then to proceed further, and to conquer Egypt, or other Neighbouring Countries; and, as it is faid of him, and concerning this very time, and deſign, Iſa. 10. 7. To cut off Nations not a few; he ſhall meet with ſo fad a diſappointment and rebuke here, that he ſhall make haſte to return with ſhame to his own Country.

34 For † I will defend this city to ſave it, for mine own ſake, and * for my ſervant David's ſake g.

† Or, I will protect.

* Or, for the ſake of my Promiſe and Covenant's ſake made with David, concerning the Stability and Eternity of his Kingdom. See 1 King. 11. 12, 13.

35 ¶ And * it came to paſs that night h, that the angel of the LORD went out, and ſmote i in the camp of the Aſſyrians k an hundred fourſcore and five thouſand: and when they roſe early in the morning, behold, they were all dead corpſes.

* Ecclus. 48. 21.

g For my Promiſe and Covenant's ſake made with David, and his Houſe, and will make it good in thy Perſon. i Which ſhews that the Cure was miraculous.

h Either, 1. In the Night following this Meſſage of the Prophet to Hezekiah: Or, 2. In that famous Night when God deſtroyed the Scythians, it was done in this manner. For ſuch Expreſſions are oft uſed of an indefinite and uncertain time, as that day is frequently taken, as Iſa. 4. 1. and 26. 1. and 27. 1. &c. i With Peſtilence, or ſome other ſudden and mortal ſtroke. k Either before Libnah; or, in ſome other place near Jeruſalem, where they were Encamped.

36 So Sennacherib king of Aſſyria departed l, and went and returned, and dwelt at Nineveh.

l Whom God ſpared, not in Mercy, but in Wrath; reſerving him to a more dreadful and ſhameful Death, by the Hands of his own Children.

37 And it came to paſs, as he was worſhipping in the houſe of Niſroch his god, that Adrammelech and Sharezer his ſons ſmote him with the ſword: and they eſcaped into the land of † Armenia m, and * Eſarhaddon n † Heb. Ararat. his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

CHAP. XX.

Hezekiah receiving a Meſſage of Death: by Prayer hath his life lengthened: for a Sign the Sun goeth backward. 1——11. He ſhews all Babylon's Ambaſſadors come to Hezekiah: with Iſaiah's Prophecy thereupon that all his Treaſures, 12——15. Whereupon Iſaiah foretelleth the Babyloniſh Captivity: He dieth: and Manaſſeh is K. 16——21.

IN * thoſe days a was Hezekiah ſick unto death: and the prophet Iſaiah the ſon of Amoz came to him, and ſaid unto him, Thus ſaith the LORD, † Set thine b houſe in order b: for thou ſhalt die, and not live c.

* 2 Ch. 32. 24. Iſa. 38.

† Heb. Give charge concerning thine houſe.

a i.e. In that Year of the Aſſyrian Invaſion, as is manifeſt from chronology, that was in Hezekiah's 14th Year, chap. 18. 13. and God conſented only 29 Years in all, chap. 18. 2. And this happened, either, Firſt, before the deſtruction of Sennacherib's Army. Or, Secondly, before it, as may be thought from ver. 6. where he ſpeaks of his Deliverance from the King of Aſſyria, as a future thing. It is true, that when Hezekiah received that inſolent Meſſage from the Aſſyrian, he was in Health, and went into the Temple to pray, ch. 19. 14. but there might be time more than enough for this Sickneſs and Recovery, between that Threatning, and this Deſtruction of the Aſſyrian. b Take care to make thy Will, and to ſettle the Affairs of thy Family and Kingdom: which he the rather preſſeth upon him, becauſe the ſtate of his Kingdom required it: for it is plain, that Hezekiah had not as yet any Son, Manaſſeh his Heir and Succeſſor not being born till three years after this time, by comparing this chap. 20. 6. with chap. 21. 1. c According to the Courſe of Nature, and of thy Diſeaſe, which is mortal in its kind, and will be ſo in effect, if God doth not miraculouſly prevent it. Such Threatnings, though abſolutely expreſſed, have oftentimes ſecret Conditions, which God reſerves in his own breaſt. See Jonah 3. 4.

2 Then he turned his face to the wall d, and prayed unto the LORD, ſaying, d Either, becauſe the Temple lay that way: or rather, that by turning his Face from the Company, he might intimate his deſire of Privacy, and ſo might with more Freedom and Fervency pour out his Soul to God.

3 I beſeech thee, O Lord, remember now how I have walked before thee in truth e, and with a perfect heart, and have done that which is good in thy ſight: and Hezekiah wept † ſore f.

† Heb. with a great weeping.

e i.e. Sincerely, with an honeſt Mind, as the following Words explain it. I have in ſome meaſure (humane frailty excepted) kept the Condition which thou didſt require, 1 King. 8. 25. and therefore do humbly beg of thee, that the Promiſe made to David and to his Poſterity upon that condition, may not fail in my Perſon, for as yet thou haſt not given me a Son. See on ver. 1. I am not conſcious to my ſelf of any groſs Exorbitances in the Courſe of my Life, for which thou oweſt to ſhorten Mens Days, and cut off my Life in thy Diſpleature, which by this ſharp Meſſage thou threatneſt to do. f Partly, for that Horror of Death which is and was common to Men, eſpecially, in the times of the Old Teſtament, when the Grace of God in Chriſt was not ſo fully manifeſted, as now it is: and principally, for the diſtracted and miſerable Condition in which the Church and State were then likely to be left, through the uncertainty of the Succeſſion to the Crown, and the great Proneneſs of the People to backſlide to their falſe Worſhip, and evil Practices; which he eaſily perceived, and which he knew would bring for worſe Calamities upon them, if he were removed: as afterwards it came to paſs.

4 And it came to paſs, afore Iſaiah was gone out into the middle || court g, that the word of the LORD came to him, ſaying,

g To wit, of the King's Palace; of which ſee on 1 King. 7. 8. Or, into the middle city, as it is in the Hebrew. For ſome obſerve, that there were three Cities, or three parts of this City: one called the City of David in Sion; another called Zion, or Sion; and a third, which was betwixt theſe two parts, and united them all into one City, called Jeruſalem. This is noted to ſhew God's great readineſs to hear the ſincere and fervent Prayers of his Children.

5 Turn again, and tell Hezekiah the captain of my people, Thus ſaith the LORD, the God of David thy father h, I have heard thy prayer, I have ſeen thy tears: behold, I will heal thee; on the third day i thou ſhalt go up into the houſe of the LORD k.

h I am mindful of my Promiſe made to David and his Houſe, and will make it good in thy Perſon. i Which ſhews that the Cure was miraculous. k To give me Solemn Praise for this Mercy. Which proves the Perfection of the Cure.

6 And I will add unto thy days fifteen years l, and I will deliver thee and this city out of the hand of the king of Assyria m: and * I will defend this city for mine own sake n, and for my servant Davids sake.

* Chap. 19. 34.

l Beyond what thou doſt expect, and beyond what thou wouldſt do if I ſhould leave thee to the force of thy Diſeaſe. m This is added, either, firſt, Becauſe he might otherwiſe fear the Aſſyrians return to this City from which he was ſo ſhamefully repulſed. Or, Secondly, Becauſe this Sickneſs happened before that great ſlaughter, chap. 19. 25. Of which ſee the Notes on ver. 1. n To vindicate my Glory againſt that inſolent Blaſphemer.

7 And Iſaiah ſaid, Take a lump of figs o. And they took and laid it on the boil ∴, and he recovered.

o Though the deliverance was certainly promiſed, yet means muſt be uſed, and thoſe ſuitable: for this hath naturally a power of ripening and ſoftning Boils or Sores; though that Power was altogether inſufficient to produce ſo ſudden and ſo compleat a Cure. ∴ Which ſeems to have been a Plague-ſore.

8 ¶ And Hezekiah ſaid p unto Iſaiah, What ſhall be the ſign q that the LORD will heal me, and that I ſhall go up into the houſe of the LORD the third day?

p Or rather, had ſaid: for it is evident this was ſaid before his recovery, though his recovery be mentioned before it; ſuch tranſpoſitions being frequent in Scripture. q He asketh a Sign, not becauſe he diſtruſted it; but for the ſtrengthning of his Faith, which otherwiſe might be ſhaken by the greatneſs of his danger, and by the contradiction between this and his former Meſſage. Compare Judg. 6. 17,37,39. Iſa. 7. 11.

9 And Iſaiah ſaid, This ſign ſhalt thou have of the LORD, that the LORD will do the thing that he hath ſpoken: ſhall the ſhadow go forward ten degrees, or go back ten degrees?

10 And Hezekiah anſwered, It is a light thing for the ſhadow to go down ten degrees r: nay, but let the ſhadow return backward ten degrees.

r To wit, in an inſtant: for that Courſe or Motion of the Sun is natural for the kind of it, though miraculous for the ſwiftneſs of it; but the other would be both ways miraculous.

11 And Iſaiah the prophet cried unto the LORD ſ, and * he brought the ſhadow ten degrees backward t, by which it had gone down in the † dial of Ahaz u.

* Iſa. 38. 8.

ſ Being moved by God's Spirit firſt to offer him this Sign, and then to pray for it. t Queſt. 1. What were theſe degrees? Anſw. Lines in the Dial: but whether each of theſe Lines or Degrees noted an hour, or half an hour, or a quarter of an hour, is uncertain, and not very conſiderable in this caſe. Queſt. 2. What was it that went down? Anſw. Either, Firſt, The Shadow alone went back without the Sun. For God could ſo diſpoſe of the Light of the Sun, by interpoſing Clouds, or other things, ſo that the Shadow ſhould fall only upon thoſe Lines, and in that manner as God directed it. And whereas the Sun is ſaid to have gone down, that may be ſpoken according to appearance, as other Paſſages of Scripture are underſtood, as when the Moon is called one of the great Lights, Gen. 1. though it be leſs than ſome of the Stars: and when the Sun is ſaid to go down, Jer. 15. 9. and to be turned into darkneſs, Joel 2. 31. Or, Secondly, The Sun it ſelf went back, and the Shadow with it. This may ſeem moſt probable: Firſt, By comparing this with Joſh. 10. 13. where the Sun is ſaid to ſtand ſtill. Secondly, Becauſe it is ſaid, the Sun it ſelf returned, Iſa. 38. 8. for which he here mentions the Shadow only, becauſe the Miracle was not ſo eaſily diſcovered in the Sun, as in the Shadow of a Dial. And though the Sun may be elſewhere taken improperly, yet where the improper ſignification is unneceſſary, the proper is and ought to be preferred before it. Thirdly, Becauſe this Miracle was noted by the Babylonians, who, having underſtood that it was done for a Sign in his ſake, ſent to enquire into the truth and manner of it, 2 Chron. 32. 24,31. Obj. If this had been done, the Heathen Hiſtorians and Aſtronomers would have taken notice of it, which we do not find they have. Anſw. So it is moſt probable they did: although thoſe Books be not now extant: which is not ſtrange; this being conteſted and bewailed, that ſo very few of the firſt and ancient Writers are now left. Herodotus himſelf, the firſt, and Father of the ancient Hiſtorians, being long after this time. And yet it is obſerved, that there are ſome lineaments of theſe things left, though mixed with Fables, as many true Hiſtories were; as what the Poets fabled of Jupiter's making the Night twice as long as it ſhould have been, that he might enjoy Alcmena longer. Whether the Sun or Shadow went backward ſuddenly, or leiſurely, and in the ſame time in which it had gone down, is a Queſtion of no great moment, the Miracle being evident either way. u Which Ahaz had made in the King's Palace. This Dial he mentions, becauſe the truth of the Miracle might be beſt and ſooneſt diſcovered there: this Dial poſſibly being viſible out of the King's Chamber, or at leaſt being near to it, and the Degrees being moſt diſtinct and conſpicuous in this Dial; but the ſame thing was diſcerned by all other Dials.

* Iſa. 39. 1. 12 ¶ * At that time Berodach-baladan x the ſon of Baladan king of Babylon, ſent letters and a preſent unto Hezekiah: for he had heard that Hezekiah had been ſick.

x Called Merodach-Baladan, Iſa. 39. 1. whoſe Name Joſephus found in that famous Chaldean Hiſtorian, Beroſus. He ſeems to have been the King of Aſſyria's Vice-Roy in Babylon, and upon that terrible ſlaughter of 185 thouſand in the Aſſyrian Hoſt, and the Death of Sennacherib, and the differences among his Sons, to have uſurped and abſolute Sovereignty over Babylon; and either himſelf or his Son deſtroyed the Aſſyrian Monarchy, and tranſlated the Empire to Babylon. y Partly, for the Reaſons mentioned, 2 Chron. 32. 31. and partly, to aſſure himſelf of the Friendſhip and Aſſiſtance of Hezekiah againſt the Aſſyrians, their common, and as yet powerful Enemy.

13 And Hezekiah hearkned unto them z, and ſhewed them all the houſe of his ‖ precious things, the ſilver, and ‖ Heb. the gold, and the ſpices, and the precious ointment, and the houſe of his ‖ † armour, and all that was found in his treaſures a: there was nothing in his houſe, nor in all his dominion, that Hezekiah ſhewed them not b.

z i.e. Granted their Deſires of a League and Amity with them. a For though his Country had lately been haraſſed by the Aſſyrians, yet he had reſerved all his Treaſures and precious things, which he and his Fathers had gathered in Jeruſalem. Beſides, he had conſiderable Spoils out of the Aſſyrian Camp. Alſo he had many Preſents ſent to him, 2 Chr. 32. 23. which doubtleſs were things of conſiderable Worth. b Which he did through vain Oſtentation and pride of heart, 2 Chron. 32. 25, 26. being lifted up by the great Honour which God had done him, in working ſuch glorious Miracles for his ſake, and by the great reſpects and Preſents rendred to him from divers Princes and People, and now by this great Babylonian Monarch. So hard a matter is it even for a good man to be high and humble.

14 ¶ Then came Iſaiah the prophet unto king Hezekiah, and ſaid unto him, What ſaid theſe men, and from whence came they unto thee? And Hezekiah ſaid, They are come from a far country c, even from Babylon d.

c A vain-glorious Expreſſion, intimating the great Honour which he had from all parts both far and near. d That great and potent Monarchy: which he ſpeaks to magnifie his own Honour and Happineſs.

15 And he ſaid, What have they ſeen in thine houſe? and Hezekiah anſwered, All the things that are in mine houſe have they ſeen: there is nothing among my treaſure that I have not ſhewed them.

e He asketh, not that he was ignorant of it, but that from his Anſwer he might take the occaſion of delivering God's meſſage to him.

16 And Iſaiah ſaid unto Hezekiah, Hear the word of the LORD.

17 Behold, the days come, that all that is in thine houſe, and that which thy fathers have laid up in ſtore unto this day, * ſhall be carried into Babylon f: nothing ſhall be left, ſaith the LORD. * Chap. 24. 13. Jer. 27. 21, 22.

f This Judgment is denounced againſt him for his Pride, which God exceedingly abhors: and for his Ingratitude, whereby he took that Honour to himſelf which he ſhould have given entirely to God; and abuſed God's Gifts and Favours to the Gratification of his own Luſts: Of both which ſee 2 Chron. 32. 25, 26. and for his carnal Confidence in that League which he had now made with the King of Babylon, by which, it is probable, he thought his Mountain to be ſo ſtrong, that it could not be removed.

18 And of thy ſons that ſhall iſſue from thee, which thou ſhalt beget g, ſhall they take away, and they ſhall be eunuchs in the palace of the king of Babylon h.

g i.e. Of thy Grand-Children, who are oft called Sons. h They ſhall be Servants to that Heathen Monarch, whereby both their Bodies will be ſubject to Slavery, and the Luſts of their Lords, and their Souls expoſed to the peril of Idolatry, and all ſorts of Wickedneſs; which muſt needs be very grievous to ſo good a Man as Hezekiah, and was indeed a very ſore Judgment. Whereby God would teach the World the great Evil of Sin, yea even of thoſe Sins which are generally eſteemed but ſmall and venial; for ſuch were thoſe Sins of Hezekiah noted upon v. 17.

19 Then ſaid Hezekiah unto Iſaiah, Good is the word of the LORD i, which thou haſt ſpoken. And he ſaid, ‖ Is it not good, if peace and truth be in my days k? ‖ Or, Shall there not be?

i I heartily ſubmit to this Sentence, as being both juſt, becauſe deſerved and procured by mine and my Peoples ſins; and merciful, becauſe the ſentence is leſs than I have deſerved. k Which ſpeaks it not as if he were careleſs and unconcerned for his Poſterity, (which neither the common Inclinations and Affections of Nature in all Men, nor that ſingular Piety and Charity which was eminent and manifeſt in Hezekiah, can ſuffer us to believe) or for the Church and People of God, for whoſe Welfare he was ſo ſolicitous and induſtrious in the whole Courſe of his Life; but becauſe it was a ſingular favour that this Judgment did not immediately follow his Sin, the Cauſe of it, but was ſuſpended for a longer time.

20 ¶ And the reſt of the acts of Hezekiah, and all his might, and how he made a pool, and a conduit, and brought Water into the city, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

21 And Hezekiah ſlept with his fathers: and Manaſſeh his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

5 And he built altars for all the hoſt of heaven, in the two courts f of the houſe of the LORD.

k They ſhall no more be carried Captives into a ſtrange Land, as it had happened before.

9 But they hearkened not: and Manaſſeh ſeduced them to do more evil than did the nations whom the LORD deſtroyed before the children of Iſrael l.

l Partly, becauſe they were not contented with thoſe Idols which the Canaanites worſhipped, but either themſelves invented, or they borrowed from other Nations many new Idols and kinds of Idolatry; and partly, becauſe as their light was far more clear, their obligations to God infinitely higher, and their helps and antidotes againſt Idolatry much ſtronger than the Canaanites had; ſo their ſins, though the ſame in kind, were unſpeakably worſe in reſpect of theſe dreadful aggravations.

10 ¶ and the LORD ſpake by his ſervants the prophets, ſaying, ſ This ſore Judgment, though it was chiefly inflicted for the ſins of Manaſſeh and his Generation, yet had a reſpect unto all their former ſins, the guilt whereof, was upon this occaſion revived. See Exod. 32. 34.

16 Moreover, Manaſſeh ſhed innocent blood t very † much, till he had filled Jeruſalem † from one end to another, beſide his ſin u wherewith he made Judah to ſin, in doing that which was evil in the ſight of the LORD. t Heb. from mouth to mouth.

t The Blood of thoſe Prophets and Righteous Men who either reproved his ſinful practices, or refuſed to comply with his wicked commands and worſhip. u i.e. His Idolatry, which is elſewhere called evil and corruption, and here ſin, by way of eminency: which is the more conſiderable, becauſe it is here compared with hor id cruelty, and implied to be worſe than that, and more abominable in God's ſight, becauſe it doth more directly and immediately ſtrike at the Glory and purity of the Divine Majeſty, by reſpect unto which all ſins are to be meaſured. And this expreſſion God here uſeth in oppoſition to the groſs error of moſt men, who look upon Idolatry as a ſmall ſin, as a meer miſtake of the mind, as the fruit of a good intention, and as an exceſs proceeding from Zeal in Religion.

17 ¶ Now the reſt of the acts of Manaſſeh, and all that he did, and his ſin that he ſinned, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

18 And * Manaſſeh ſlept with his fathers, and was buried in the garden of his own houſe x, in the garden of Uzza: and Amon his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * 2 Chron. 33. 20.

x Not in the Sepulchre of the Kings; either, by the people's deſignation, who judged him unworthy of that honour; or rather, by his own choice and command, as a laſting teſtimony of his ſincere Repentance and Abhorrency of himſelf for his former Crimes. y Or, of King Uzzah, who poſſibly planted or enlarged it.

19 ¶ Amon was twenty and two years old when he began to reign, and he reigned two years in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Meſhullemeth, the daughter of Haruz of Jotbah.

20 And he did that which was evil in the ſight of the LORD, as his father Manaſſeh did.

21 And he walked in the way that his father walked in, and ſerved the Idols that his father ſerved, and worſhipped them:

22 And he forſook the LORD God of his fathers, and walked not in the way of the LORD.

23 ¶ And the ſervants of Amon conſpired againſt him, and ſlew the king in his own houſe.

24 And the people of the land ſlew all them that had conſpired againſt King Amon, and the people of the land made Joſiah his ſon king in his ſtead.

25 Now the reſt of the acts of Amon which he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

26 And he was buried in the ſepulchre, in the garden of Uzza: And * Joſiah his ſon reigned in his ſtead. * Matth. 1. 10. Called, Joſias.

CHAP. XXII.

Joſiah's good reign: His care for the repair of the Temple, 1——7. Hilkiah found a Book of the Law: The King by it underſtandeth God's Threatnings againſt Backſliders, and by Huldah the Propheteſs enquireth of the Lord, 8——14. She propheſieth the deſtruction of Jeruſalem: but not in Joſiah's time, 15——20.

JOſiah * was eight years old when he began to reign, and he reigned thirty and one years in Jeruſalem: and his mothers name was Jedidah the daughter of Adajah of Boſcath. * 2 Chr. 34. 1.

2 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the LORD, and walked in all the way of David his father, and turned not aſide to the right hand or to the left.

3 ¶ And it came to paſs in the eighteenth year a of king Joſiah, that the king ſent Shaphan the ſon of Azaliah, the ſon of Meſhullam the ſcribe b, to the houſe of the LORD, ſaying, a Not of his Life, but of his reign, as it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 34. 3, 8. What he did before this time, ſee 2 Chron. 34. 3, &c. b The Kings Secretary.

4 Go up to Hilkiah the high prieſt, that he may ſum the ſilver c which is * brought into the houſe of the LORD, which the keepers of the † door d have gathered of the people: * Chap. 12. 4. † Heb. threſhold.

c i.e. Take an exact account how much it is, and then diſpoſe it in manner following. d Who were Prieſts or Levites, as appears from chap. 12. 9. 2 Chron. 8. 14. and 23. 4. and 34. 9.

5 And let them deliver it into the hand of the doers of the work, that have the overſight of the houſe of the LORD e: and let them give it to the doers of the work, which is in the houſe of the LORD, to repair the breaches of the houſe.

e i.e. The care and overſight of the workmen; which alſo were Levites, 2 Chron. 34. 12.

6 Unto

6 Unto carpenters, and builders, and masons, and to buy timber, and hewen ſtone f, to repair the houſe.

f Either, hewed or cut out of the Quarries; or, to be hewed and fitted to the Building.

7 Howbeit, there was no reckoning made with them of the money that was delivered into their hand, becauſe they dealt faithfully g.

g i. e. Becauſe it was found by experience that they dealt faithfully. Verbs ſignifying the being of a thing, are oft put for the manifeſtation of it.

8 ¶ And Hilkiah the high prieſt ſaid unto Shaphan the ſcribe, I have found the book of the law h in the houſe of the LORD: and Hilkiah gave the book to Shaphan, and he read it.

h That original book of the law of the Lord, given or written by the hand of Moſes, as it is expreſſed, 2 Chron. 34. 14. which by God's Command was put beſide the Ark, Deut. 31. 26. and probably taken from thence and hid, by the care of ſome godly Prieſt, when ſome of the Idolatrous Kings of Judah perfecuted the true Religion, and defaced the Temple, and (which the Jewiſh Writers affirm) burnt all the Copies of God's Law which they could find, and now found among the Rubbiſh, or in ſome ſecret place.

9 And Shaphan the ſcribe came to the king, and brought the king word again, and ſaid, Thy ſervants have † gathered the money that was found in the houſe, and have delivered it into the hand of them that do the work, that have the overſight of the houſe of the LORD.

† Heb. melted.

10 And Shaphan the ſcribe ſhewed the king, ſaying, Hilkiah the prieſt hath delivered me a book: And Shaphan read it before the king.

11 And it came to paſs when the king had heard the words of the book of the law i, that he rent his clothes.

i i.e. The dreadful Commnations againſt them for the ſins ſtill reigning among the people. Queſt. Did Joſiah never ſee and read a Copy of this book before this time? If he did not, how could he do ſo much towards the Reformation of Religion, as he did before? If he did, why was he not ſooner convinced and humbled by it? Anſw. If Joſiah had not yet ſeen a Copy of this Book (which is not impoſſible) yet there was ſo much of the Law left in the minds and memories of many of the People, as might eaſily perſuade and direct him to all that he did till this time: or, if Joſiah had ſeen and read it before, which ſeems more probable, yet the great Reverence which he juſtly bare to the Original book, as the ſtrange, and remarkable, and ſeaſonable ſin-ſting of it, had very much awakened and quickened him to a more ſerious and diligent reading, and attentive conſideration of all the paſſages contained in it, than he uſed before.

12 And the king commanded Hilkiah the prieſt, and Ahikam the ſon of Shaphan, and Achbor the ſon of Micaiah, and Shaphan the ſcribe, and Aſahiah a ſervant of the kings k, ſaying, k Who moſt conſtantly waited upon the King's Perſon: otherwiſe all of them were the King's ſervants.

13 Go ye, enquire of the LORD l for me, and for the people, and for all Judah, concerning the words of this book m that is found: for great is the wrath of the LORD that is kindled againſt us, becauſe our fathers have not hearkened unto the words of this book, to do according unto all that which is written concerning us.

l Either, what he intends to do with us: or, what we ſhall do to him, to appeaſe his wrath. m Whether the Curſes here threatned muſt come upon us without remedy, or whether there be hope in Iſrael concerning the prevention of them.

14 So Hilkiah the prieſt, and Ahikam, and Achbor, and Shaphan, and Aſahiah went unto Huldah the prophetеſs n, the wife of Shallum, the ſon of Tikvah, the ſon of Harhas, keeper of the † wardrobe, (now ſhe dwelt in Jeruſalem in ‖ the colledge o) and they communed with her.

† Heb. garments. ‖ Or, in the ſecond part.

n For we read of Women Prophetеſſes, both in the Old and New Teſtament, as Miriam, Exod. 15. 20. Deborah, Judg. 4. 4. Hannah, 1 Sam. 2. Elizabeth, and the Bleſſed Virgin, Luk. 1. and Philip's Daughters, Act. 21. 9. Queſt. But why did he ſend to this Woman, and not rather to Zephaniah, or Jeremiah, who were Prophets in Joſiah's days? Anſw. Either, Firſt, Becauſe the King's earneſt affection in this buſineſs required great haſte; and ſhe was in Jeruſalem, which is therefore noted in the following part of the Verſe, when Jeremiah might at this time be at Anathoth, or in ſome more remote part of the Kingdom; and the like may be ſaid of Zephaniah, who alſo might not be a Prophet at this time, though he was afterward, in the days of Joſiah, which is all that is affirmed of him, Zeph. 1. 10. Or, 2. Becauſe the King or his Courtiers had longer and greater experience of the eminency of her Prophetical Gifts, than of Jeremiah's, who began not to prophecy till the thirteenth Year of Joſiah, Jer. 1. 2. and being well aſſured of her Fidelity in delivering the Mind and Counſel of God, to thoſe that enquired of her, they rightly concluded, that it was much more conſiderable what meſſage God ſent, than by whom it was conveyed to them. o Where the Sons of the Prophets, or others, who devoted themſelves to the ſtudy of God's Word, uſed to meet and diſcourſe of the things of God, and receive the inſtructions of their Teachers. Others both Ancient and Modern render it, in another or the ſecond part, to wit, of the City, i. e. in the ſuburbs, which alſo were Fortified and Walled about by Hezekiah, 2 Chron. 32. 5.

15 ¶ And ſhe ſaid unto them, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, tell the man that ſent you to me,

16 Thus ſaith the LORD, Behold, I will bring evil upon this place, and upon the inhabitants thereof, even all the words of the book which the king of Judah hath read;

17 Becauſe they have forſaken me, and have burnt incenſe unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands p: therefore my wrath ſhall be kindled againſt this place, and ſhall not be quenched.

p Gods made with hands. This ſhe adds to aggravate their folly and contempt of God, in preferring ſuch vain and idle things before him.

18 But to the king of Judah, which ſent you to enquire of the LORD, thus ſhall ye ſay to him, Thus ſaith the LORD God of Iſrael, As touching the words which thou haſt heard;

19 Becauſe thine heart was tender, and thou haſt humbled thy ſelf before the LORD, when thou heardſt what I ſpake againſt this place, and againſt the inhabitants thereof, that they ſhould become a deſolation and a curſe, and haſt rent thy clothes, and wept before me: I alſo have heard thee, ſaith the LORD.

20 Behold therefore, I will gather thee unto thy fathers, and thou ſhalt be gathered into thy grave in peace q, and thine eyes ſhall not ſee all the evil which I will bring upon this place. And they brought the king word again.

q i. e. In a time of publick Peace, and the Tranquility of thy Kingdom; or ſo as thou ſhalt not ſee all the evil which I will bring upon this place, as the following words explain it: for otherwiſe he died in Battel, chap. 23. 29. Beſides, he died in peace with God, and was by death tranſlated to everlaſting Peace.

CHAP. XXIII.

Joſiah cauſeth the Law to be read in a ſolemn aſſembly: Renewеth the Covenant of the Lord: Deſtroyeth Idolatry, ——14. Breaketh down the altar at Bethel; and burneth thereon dead mens bones, 15——20. 2 And the king went up into the houſe of the LORD, and all the men of Judah, and all the inhabitants of Jeruſalem with him, and the prieſts, and the prophets b, and all the people † both ſmall and great: and he read † Heb. from even to even c in their ears all the words of the book of the covenant, which was found in the houſe of the LORD.

b Either Jeremiah, Zephaniah, Urijah: or, the Sons or Diſciples of the Prophets. c He cauſed to be read.

3 ¶ And the king ſtood by the pillar d, and made a covenant before the LORD, to walk after the LORD, and to keep his commandments, and his teſtimonies, and his ſtatutes, with all their heart, and all their ſoul, to perform the words of this covenant, that were written in this book: and all the people ſtood to the covenant e.

4 And the king commanded Hilkiah the high prieſt, and the prieſts of the ſecond order f, and the keepers of the door g, to bring forth h out of the temple of the LORD all the veſſels that were made for Baal, and for the grove i, and for all the hoſt of heaven: and he burnt them without Jeruſalem in the fields of Kidron k, and carried the aſhes of them unto Beth-el l.

5 And he † put down the † idolatrous prieſts m whom the kings of Judah had ordained to burn incenſe in the high places, in the cities of Judah, and in the places round about Jeruſalem, them alſo that burn incenſe unto Baal n, to the ſun, and to the moon, and to the ‖ planets, and to all the hoſt of heaven. † Heb. cauſed to ceaſe. ‖ Or, Conſtellations.

Or, of Baſtards, who are oft called the children of the people: who as they had this brand of Infamy laid upon them, that they might not enter into the congregation of the Lord, Deut. 23. 2. ſo poſſibly they were expoſed to this further Ignominy, to be buried in a peculiar, and in the moſt infamous place. Or rather, as it is in the Hebrew, of that people, i. e. thoſe Idolatrous people, as it is explained, 2 Chr. 34. 4. and here ſufficiently implied in this and the foregoing Verſe.

q Wherein ſome Males proſtituted their Bodies to the Luſts of others: which abominable practice was both a puniſhment of Idolatry, Rom. 1. 23. 24, 27. and a part of Idol-worſhip, this being done to the honour of ſome of their Idols, and by the appointment and inſtigation of thoſe impure and diabolical Spirits, which were worſhipped in their Idols. See 1 King. 14. 24. and 15. 12. and 22. 46. r Or, curtains, either to draw before the Idol or Idols which were worſhipped in the Grove, to preſerve them from deſilement, or to gain more reverence for them; or which were ſet up in the Grove, that the abominable filthineſs laſt mentioned, might be committed within them. 8 And he brought all the Prieſts t out of the cities of Judah, and defiled the high places u where the prieſts had burnt incenſe, from Geba x to Beerſheba y, and brake down the high places of the gates z that were in the entring in of the gate of Joſhua the governour of the city a, which were on a mans left hand at the gate of the city.

Thus their Spiritual blemiſh puts them into the very ſame ſtate which corporal blemiſhes brought them, Lev. 21. 17, &c. And thus he mitigates their puniſhment: he ſhuts them out from Spiritual Services, but allows them natural and neceſſary Proviſions.

Or, Secondly, He did this by vertue of that ancient right which David and his Poſterity had to the Kingdom of Iſrael, which though ſuſpended for a time by God's grant of the Ten Tribes to Jeroboam, and the ſucceeding Kings of Iſrael: yet theſe being all extinct, it might ſeem to return to him, at leaſt ſo far as to pluck up Idolatry out of the Land of Iſrael, as he had oppoſitunity, and eſpecially out of thoſe parts of it which bordered upon Judah. Or, Thirdly, The King of Babylon having ingaged in a War with the Aſſyrian, Hezekiah's great Enemy, and having thereupon occaſion for Hezekiah's friendſhip, did (as ſome ſuppoſe) enlarge his Dominion, and give him ſome power over the Kingdom of Iſrael, at leaſt as to matters of Religion: Which may ſeem not improbable from 2 Chron. 30. 1, 4, 5, 6. And the ſame power ſeems to have been continued, and ſome kind of League made between the King of Babylon and Manaſſeh (who thereupon was reſtored to his Kingdom, 2 Chron. 33. 13.) and after him Joſiah, who therefore was ſo zealous in his quarrel againſt the King of Egypt, 2 Chron. 35. 20, &c. Or, Fourthly, He did it in purſuance of God's prediction concerning this Action, 1 King. 13. 2. which (in a matter ſo good, and ſo agreeable to Joſiah's will and word, as the extirpation of Idolatry unqueſtionably was) had the force of a Warrant or command upon him to do it, as God's prediction of the Converſion of the Gentiles by the Meſſias, was a command to his Apoſtles to Preach to them, Act. 13. 47. z Which ſeems to have been ſome little Temple or Houſe erected for that Worſhip, or for the Prieſts attending upon it.

16 And as Joſiah turned himſelf a, he ſpied the ſepulchres that were there in the mount, and ſent and took the bones out of the ſepulchres, and burnt them upon the altar, and polluted it, according to the * word of the LORD, * 1 King. 13. 2. which the man of God proclaimed, who proclaimed theſe words b.

a Joſiah's care and zeal was ſo great, that he would not truſt his Officers with theſe things, but would ſee them done with his own Eyes. b 300 years before it was done.

17 Then he ſaid, What title is that that I ſee c? And the men of the city told him, It is the ſepulchre of * the man of God, which came from Judah, and proclaimed theſe things that thou haſt done againſt the altar of Beth-el. * 1 King. 13. 30

c It was the manner then, as now it is, to set up little Pillars or Stones, by, or upon the Graves of the higher fort of Men, upon which the name of the Person, and some Remarkable passages relating to him, were Engraven.

18 And he said, let him alone: let no man move his † Heb. o- bones: so they let his Bones † alone with the bones of * the prophet that came d out of Samaria e.

* 1 King. 13. 11. d Which were now mixed together. e The place of his Birth or former abode, though now he were in Bethel, 1 Sam. 13. 11.

19 And all the Houses also of the high places that were in the Cities of Samaria f, which the kings of Israel had made to provoke the LORD to anger, Josiah took away, and did to them according to all the acts that he had done in Bethel.

f By what Authority he did this, see on ver. 15.

‖ Or, destroyed. 20. And he ‖ * slew all the Priests of the high places g, that were there upon the Altars h, and burnt mens bones upon them, and returned to Jerusalem.

* Exod. 22. 20. Chap. 21. 6. g Either, 1. The Priests which Jeroboam had made of the meanest of the People, whom he slew, both for their Presumptuous Usurpation of that sacred Office, which of it self was Punishable with Death by God's Law, Numb. 3. 10. and for their Idolatry. Or rather, 2. The Priests of Baalim; by comparing this Verse with the former, where speaking of the same High Places, he doth not say, which Jeroboam made; as is usual when he speaks of the High Places of the Calves; but which the other kings of Israel made, who were divers of them Worshippers of Baal; and by considering the Parallel place, 2 Chron. 34. 4. where it is said, they brake down the altars of Baalim, &c. By this Relation it appears, and from the nature of the thing, and common practice in like cases, it is more than probable, that after the departure of the King of Assyria, divers of the Israelites who had retired to other parts, and kept themselves out of the Conquerours hands, returned together with their Priests to their own Land, and to their old trade of Worshipping Idols; to whom, peradventure, they ascribed this their Deliverance from that Judgment which Jehovah had brought upon them. h According to that Famous Prophecy, 1 King. 13. 1, 2.

21 ¶ And the King commanded all the People, saying, * 2 Chro. 35. 1. * Keep the Passover i unto the LORD your God, * as it is written in this book of the covenant k.

Exod. 12. 3. Lev. 23. 5. Numb. 9. 2. Deut. 16. 2. i Having abolished false Worship, he now endeavours to set up the True Worship of the True God. k In this Book which I have found; wherein is contained the Covenant made between God and Israel, and the terms of it.

22 Surely there was not holden such a passover l, from the days of the judges m that judged Israel, nor in all the days of the Kings of Israel, nor of the Kings of Judah:

l i. e. Celebrated with such Solemn care, and great preparation, and numerous Sacrifices, 2 Chron. 35. 7, 8, 9. and universal joy of all good men; which was much the greater, because of their remembrance of the former wicked and miserable times under Manasseh, and Amon; and the good hopes they now had of the happy Establishment of their Nation, and the True Religion; and of the prevention of God's Judgments denounced against them. m Or, from the days of Samuel, the last of the Judges; as it is expressed 2 Chron. 35. 18. None of the Kings had taken such care to prepare themselves, the Priests, and People, and accurately to observe all the Rites, and diligently to purge out all uncleanness, and to renew their Covenant with God, so solemnly as Josiah now did.

23 But in the eighteenth year of king Josiah, wherein this passover was holden to the LORD in Jerusalem.

‖ Or, Teraphim. 24 ¶ Moreover, the workers with familiar spirits, and the wizards n, and the ‖ images, and the idols, and all the abominations o that were spied p in the land of Judah, and in Jerusalem, did Josiah put away, that he might per- * Lev. 20. 27. Deut. 18. 11. form the words of * the law, which were written in the book that Hilkiah the priest found in the house of the LORD.

n Of which see on Levit. 19. 31. and 20. 27. Numb. 22. 5. Deut. 18. 11. o Three words noting the same thing, to shew, That all the Instruments and Monuments of Idolatry were Destroyed, as God had Commanded. p i. e. All that were discovered; not only such as were in the place and state of Worship, but such as their Priests or Zealots had removed, and indeavoured to hide and secure.

* Chap. 18. 5. 25 And * like unto him was there no king before him q, that turned to the LORD with all his heart, and with all his soul, and with all his might, according to all the law of Moses, neither after him arose there any like him.

q To wit, for his diligent Study in God's Law, and his exact care, and unwearied Industry, and fervent Zeal, in rooting out of Idolaters, and all kinds and appearances of Idolatry, not only in Judah, but in Israel also; and in the Establishment of the True Religion in all his Dominions, and in the conforming of his own Life, and his Peoples too, (as far as he could) to the holy Law of God: though Hezekiah might excel him in some other particulars; of whom therefore the like is said above, Chap. 18. 5.

26 ¶ Notwithstanding, the LORD turned not from the fierceness of his great wrath, wherewith his anger was * Jer. 15. 4. kindled against Judah r, * because of all the † provocations that Manasseh had provoked him withal s.

† Heb. anGers. r Because though the King was most hearty in his Repentance, and acceptable to God, as was said before, and therefore the Judgment was delayed for his time; yet the People were generally corrupt, and fecretly averse from Josiah's pious and excellent Reformation, and inclined to their old Lusts and Idols; as appears from the Complaints of the Prophets, especially Jeremiah and Zephaniah, against them: and by the following History, wherein we see, that as soon as ever Josiah was gone, his Children, and the Princes, and the People, suddenly and greedily returned to their former Abominations. s The sins of Manasseh, and of the Men of his Generation; who complyed and concurred with him in his Idolatrous and cruel practices, Chap. 24. 3, 4. are justly punished in this Generation: partly, because of God's Soveraign Right of punishing Sinners (such as these unquestionably were) when, and upon what occasion he fees fit: partly, because of the publick Warning and Declaration of God, That he would visit the Iniquity of the Fathers upon the Children: and principally, because these Men had never sincerely Repented of their own, nor of their Fathers Sins; but their hearts still hankered after them; which, though not yet seen by Men, was manifest to God, who therefore pronounced this Terrible Sentence against them.

27 And the LORD said, I will remove Judah also out of my sight, as I have removed Israel; and will cast off this City Jerusalem, which I have chosen, and the house of which I said t, * My Name shall be there. * 1 King. 8. 29.

t To wit, upon the conditions in sundry places expressed, which they broke, and therefore God justly made them to know his breach of promise, as he threatens, Numb. 14. 34.

28 Now the rest of the acts of Josiah, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

29 ¶ * In his days Pharaoh-necho u king of Egypt * 2 Chron. went up against the king of Assyria x to the River Eu- 35. 20. phrates y: and king Josiah went against him z; and he slew him a at * Megiddo, when he had seen him b. * Heb.

Or because, Jehoahaz was the more Stout and Warlike Prince; whence he is called a Lion, Ezek. 19. 3. though indeed he shewed his Courage more against his People, than his Enemies: but they judged, that he was most able and willing to defend them against the Conquering Arm. e As they used to do in such Extraordinary Cases, because this was a Troublesome time, and he was not the right Heir to the Crown, and therefore needed this Solemn Rite of Confirmation, which Solomon had in the same Circumstances.

31 ¶ Jehoahaz was twenty and three years old when he began to reign, and he reigned three months in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was * Hamutal, the * Chap. daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah. 24. 18.

32 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his fathers f had done.

He reformed that Idolatry which his Father had destroyed; partly, to gratifie the generality of the People, who had made him King, and who were inclined to their old Superstitions, even in Josiah's time, as was observed before, though restrained from the outward acts, by fear: and partly, to tweeten the King of Egypt, who possibly was a Zealous Idolater, by his compliance with him in the Worship of Idols.

33 And Pharaoh-nechoh put him in bands g at Riblah h, in the land of Hamath ‖ that he might not reign i in Jerusalem, and † put the land to a tribute k of an hundred talents of silver, and a talent of gold.

34 And Pharaoh-nechoh made Eliakim the son of Josiah l king, in the room of Josiah his father, and turned his name to * Jehoiakim m, and took Jehoahaz away n: and * Heb. he came to Egypt, and died there. Jehoiakim.

CHAP. XXIV.

Jehoiakim first subdued by Nebuchadnezzar, Rebelleth against him, to his own Ruine: Jehoiachin his Son is King in his stead, 1—6. His Evil Reign: Jerusalem spoiled and made Captive by the King of Babylon, 8— 16. He maketh Zedekiah King: he reigneth ill, unto the utter Destruction of Judah, 17—20.

1 IN * his days a Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon b came up c, and Jehoiakim became his servant three years: then he turned and rebelled against him d. * Jer. 46. 2.

a i. e. In Jehoiakim's Reign, in the end of his third Year, Dan. 1. 1. or, the beginning of his Fourth, Jer. 25. 1. b The Son of Nabopolassar, who quite subdued the Assyrian, first his Lord, and then his Competitor, and made himself Absolute Monarch of all those parts of the World. c To wit, against Jehoiakim, as the Friend and Confederate of Pharaoh, whose Forces he had lately Conquered. Jer. 46. 2. d By the instigation of the Egyptian, who threatned him if he did not Rebel, and promised him his utmost Affistance if he did.

2 And the LORD sent against him bands of the Chaldees, and bands of the Syrians, and bands of the Moabites, and bands of the Children of Ammon e, and sent them against Judah to destroy it, * according to the * Chap. word of the LORD, which he spake † by his servants 23. 27. the prophets. † Heb. by the hand of.

e For Nebuchadnezzar's Army was made up of several Nations, who were willing to Fight under the Banner of such a Puissant and Victorious Emperor.

3 Surely at the commandment of the LORD came * Chap. this upon Judah, to remove them out of his sight, for 23. 26. and * the sins of Manasseh f, according to all that he did. 24. 20.

f Properly and directly for their own sins, and occationally for the sins of Manasseh, which had never been charged upon them, if they had not made them their own by their impenitency for them, and repetition of them.

4 And also for * the innocent blood g that he shed, * Chap. (for he filled Jerusalem with innocent blood) † which 21. 16. the LORD would not pardon. † Heb. And God would not pardon:

g To wit, of those Prophets and Saints, who either reproved, or would not comply with his Idolatrous Worship.

5 ¶ Now the rest of the acts of Jehoiakim, and all that he did, are they not written in the book of the chronicles of the kings of Judah?

6 So Jehoiakim slept with his Fathers: and Jehoiachin h his son reigned in his stead.

h Called also Jechoniah, 1 Chron. 3. 16. (as Jehoiakim also was, by comparing this with Matt. 1. 11.) and in way of contempt, Choniah, Jer. 22. 24.

7 And the King of Egypt came not again any more out of his land i: for * the king of Babylon had taken from the river of Egypt unto the river Euphrates, all that pertained to the king of Egypt.

i To wit, in this Kings days; nor until Zedekiah's time, Jer. 37. 5, 7. nor to any purpose. He could not now come out to Protect the King of Judah, being scarce able to defend his own Kingdom.

8 ¶ Jehoiachin was eighteen years old when he began to reign k, and he reigned in Jerusalem three months l: and his mothers name was Nehushta, the daughter of Elnathan of Jerusalem.

k Object. He was then but Eight years old, 2 Chron. 36. 9. Answ. 1. Both are true; in his Eighth Year he began to Reign with his Father, who made him King with him, as divers other Kings of Israel and Judah had done in the like times of trouble; and in his Eighteenth Year he reigned alone. 2. He is called a son of eight years when he began to reign, 2 Chron. 36. 9. because this was the Eighth Year, not of his Age, but of the Babylonish Captivity, or Bondage; under which, both he, and his Father had been just so long; for it began in the Fourth Year of Jehoiakim, as it is affirmed, Jer. 25. 1. and continued all his Reign, which lasted Eleven Years, Chap. 23. 36. and so the first Year of Jehoiakim was precisely the Eighth Year of that Captivity. And this is certain, That the Years of Kings mentioned in Scripture, are not always accounted from the beginning of their Age, but from some other Remarkable Time or Thing; thus Saul, when at Man's Estate, is called, the son of one year, 1 Sam. 13. 1. of which see my notes there; and Abaziah, (whose Father lived only Forty Years, 2 Chron. 21. 20.) is called a son of forty and two years when he began to reign, 2 Chron. 22. 2. because that was the Forty and second Year of the Reign of Omri's Family, as moft think. And therefore it cannot seem strange, if the Years of this King be computed, not from his Birth, but from the beginning of so great and famous a Change of the Jewish Affairs, as this Captivity made; this being the usual way of the Romans and Greeks, and other more Ancient and Eastern Nations, to compute the times from the great Changes and Revolutions happening among them. And that this was the practice of the Jews in the Computation of their very times, is evident from the use of it in the Prophecy of Ezekiel, Chap. 1. 2. which was the fifth year of Jehoiakim's captivity; and Chap. 33. 21. in the Twelfth year of our Captivity; and Chap. 40. 1. in the Twenty fifth year of our captivity. To all this might be added, That some here acknowledge an Error of the Scribe, and affirm, That in the first and best Copies, in 2 Chron. 36. 9. it was not eight, but eighteen; which they gather from hence, because those two Ancient and Venerable Translators, the Syriack and Arabick, read there, as it is here, was eighteen years old; which they say, they would never have presumed to do, if they had not so read it in those Hebrew Copies, out of which they drew their Translation; or in some of them. l And ten days, which are added, 2 Chron. 36. 9. But such small sums are frequently omitted in great Numbers. See on Gen. 15. 13. 1 King. 16. 8.

9 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that his father had done.

10 ¶ * At that time the servants of Nebuchadnezzar * Dan. 1. 1. king of Babylon came up against Jerusalem m, and the city † Heb. came into the siege. was besieged.

m Either, 1. Because the People had made Jehoiachin King without his consent. Or, 2. Because he had some notice, or at least a suspition of his intentions to Rebel against him, and to joyn with Egypt against him, as Zedekiah his Successor did. But whatsoever was the Second and Immediate cause of it, the chief cause was God's Commandment, or the direction of his Providence, as it was said, ver. 3.

11 And Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon came against the city, and his servants did besiege it.

12. And Jehoiachin the king of Judah went out to the king of Babylon n, he, and his mother, and his servants, and his princes, and his ‖ officers, and the king of Ba- ‖ Or, Eubylon took him in the eighth year of his reign o. nuchs.

n i. e. Yielded up himself and the City into his hands; and this by the Counsel of Jeremiah, and to his own good. o i. e. Of Nebuchadnezzar's Reign; as appears by comparing this with Chap. 25. 8. and because Jehoiachin Reigned not half a Year.

13 * And he carried out thence all the treasures of * Chap. the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the kings 20. 17. Isa. house, and cut in pieces p all the vessels of gold q which 39. 6. Solomon king of Israel had made r in the temple of the LORD, as the LORD had said.

p Or rather, took away, as this word elsewhere signifies; or cut off, to wit, from the Temple. For why should they cut in pieces those Vessels which might conveniently be carried away? And that they were not cut in pieces, but reserved whole, is manifest from Ezra 1. 7. and Dan. 5. 2, 3. q i. e. The most and choicest of them, by comparing this with ch. 25. 14, 15. r So he expresseth it, either First, because these Vessels were made by the godly Kings of Judah, instead of those which Solomon made, and so they go by his Name; as the Ship of the Argonauts was still reputed the same Ship, though it was from time to time recruited with new materials, until nothing of the old was left. Or, Secondly, Because though the City and Temple had been rifled more than once both by the Kings of Egypt and Israel, and by the wicked Kings of Judah: yet these Golden Vessels were preserved from them, either by the care of the Priests, who hid them out of the way; or by the clemency of the Conquerors, and the reverence which they bare to such facred Instruments; or by the special providence of God, disposing their hearts to save them. Or, if they had been taken away by any of these Kings, they might afterwards be recovered by the intreaty, or at the Cost of the godly Kings of Judah.

14. And he carried away all Jerusalem s, and * all * Jer. 24. the Princes, and all the mighty men of valour, even 1. ten thousand t captives, and all the craftsmen and smiths u: none remained save the poorest sort of the people of the land.

15 And * he carried away Jehoiachin to Babylon, and * 2 Chron. the King's mother, and the King's wives, and his ‖ offi- 36. 10. cers, and the mighty of the land, those carried he into Esth. 2. 6. captivity, from Jerusalem to Babylon. ‖ Or, Eunuchs.

16 And all the men of might, even seven thousand, and craftsmen, and smiths a thousand, all that were strong and apt for war, even them the king of Babylon brought captive to Babylon.

17 ¶ And * the king of Babylon made Mattaniah * Jer. 37. 1. his fathers brother king in his stead, and changed his * 1 Chr. name to Zedekiah x. 3. 15.

x That he might admonish him of (what this Name signifies) the justice of God, which had so severely Punished Jehoiakim for his Rebellion;

18 * Zedekiah was twenty and one years old when he began to reign, and he reigned eleven years in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was * Hamutal, the daughter of Jeremiah of Libnah.

19 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD, according to all that Jehoiakim had done.

20 For through the anger of the LORD it came to pass in Jerusalem and Judah, until he had cast them out from his presence, that Zedekiah rebelled against the king of Babylon y.

y Thus the Peoples Sins were the true Cause why God gave them wicked Kings, whom he suffer'd to do wickedly, that they might bring the long-deserved, and threatned Punishments upon themselves and their People.

3 And on the ninth day of the * fourth month c the famine prevailed in the city, and there was no bread for the people of the land d.

a To chastise Zedekiah for his Rebellion and Perjury, 2 Chron. 36. 13.

b Partly to keep all Supplies of Men or Provisions from entring into the City: And partly, that from thence they might shoot Darts, or Arrows, or Stones into the City. See Jer. 52. 4. Ezek. 4. 2. and 17. 17.

c Which Word is easily understood, by comparing this and the first verse, and Jer. 39. 2. and 52. 6. where it is expressed. d i. e. For the common sort of People, who flock'd thither from all parts, upon the Approach of the Babylonian Army; but only for the great Men and Soldiers. See of the grievousness of this Famine, Lam. 4. 10. and Ezek. 5. 10, 12.

4 ¶ And the city was broken up e, and all the men of war fled † by night, by the way of the gate, between two walls g, which is by the king's garden, (now the Caldees were against the city round about) and the king h went the way toward the plain i.

† Heb. by the way of the gate.

e By the Chaldeans, who broke and entred the Gate, Jer. 39. 3.

f Which word is fitly supplied out of the parallel place, Jer. 39. 4. or out of the following Verb, went away. g Between the outward and inward Wall of the City, by a private way, having the advantage of the darkness of the night, and possibly of some Vault under the ground. h This word also is necessarily to be understood; partly, by its singular, which agrees not with the men of war; and partly out of the next verse, where it is expressed. i Of Jericho, as it follows.

5 And the army of the Caldees pursued after the king, and overtook him in the plains of Jericho: and all his army was scattered from him.

† Heb. spoke with him.

6 So they took the king, and brought him up to the king of Babylon, to Riblah k, and they † gave judgment upon him l.

k Of which see above, 23. 33. and below v. 21. where Nebuchadnezzar fixed, that he might both supply the Besiegers with more Men, and Military Provisions, as their occasions required; and have an eye to Chaldea, to prevent or suppress any Commotions which might happen there in the time of his absence. l The King's Officers appointed thereunto, examined his Cause, and passed the following Sentence against him.

† Heb. made Blind.

7 And they slew the sons of Zedekiah before his eyes, and † put out the eyes of Zedekiah, and bound him with fetters of brass, and carried him to Babylon m.

m Thus two Prophecies were fulfilled, which seemed contrary one to the other, that he should go to Babylon, Jer. 32. 5. and 34. 3. and that he should never see Babylon: Which seeming Contradiction, because Zedekiah the false Prophet could not reconcile, he concluded both were false, and that Jeremy was a false Prophet; and it seems Zedekiah the King might stumble at this difficulty.

*See Chap. 24. 12. & Ver. 27. † Or, chief Marshal.

8 ¶ And in the fifth month, on the seventh day of the month n, (which is * the nineteenth year of king Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon) came Nebuzar-adan ‖ captain of the guard, a servant of the king of Babylon, unto Jerusalem:

n Quest. How doth this agree with Jer. 52. 12. where he is said to come thither on the tenth day? Answ. Either he came to Jerusalem on the seventh Day, and burnt the Temple on the tenth Day: Or this Sacred Writer speaks of the day of his Departure from Riblah towards Jerusalem, and Jeremiah speaks of his coming to Jerusalem, which was about three days Journey from Riblah.

9 And he burnt the house of the LORD o, and the kings house, and all the houses of Jerusalem, and every great man's house burnt he with fire.

o Which had now stood about 450 Years.

10 And all the army of the Caldees that were with the captain of the guard, brake down the walls of Jerusalem round about.

11 Now the rest of the people that were left in the city p, and the † fugitives that fell away to the king of Babylon, with the remnant of the multitude q, did Nebuzar-adan the captain of the guard carry away.

p Whom neither the Sword nor Famine had destroyed, who were 832 Persons, Jer. 52. 29. being Members and Traders of that City: For it is likely that there were very many more of the Country People who were fled thither, who were left with others of their Brethren to manure the Land, as it here follows. q To wit, of the Inhabitants of the Country.

12 But the captain of the guard left of † the poor of the land, to be vine-dressers and husbandmen.

† Heb. of.

13 And * the * pillars of brass r that were in the house of the LORD, and the * bases, and the * brasen sea that was in the house of the LORD, did the Caldees break in pieces, and carried the brass of them to Babylon.

* 1 King. 7. 15. * 1 King. 7. 27. * 1 King. 7. 23.

r The Carriage whereof to Babylon was foretold, Jer. 27. 21, 22.

14 And the * pots, and the shovels s, and the snuffers, and the spoons, and all the vessels of brass wherewith they ministred, took they away.

* 2 Chr. 4. 11. * 1 King. 7. 45.

s Of these and the following words, see on Exod. 27. and 1 King. 5. 7. and 7.

15 And the fire-pans, and the bowls, and such things as were of gold, in gold, and of silver, in silver, the captain of the guard took away.

16 The two pillars, † one sea, and the bases which Solomon had made for the house of the LORD, * the brass of all these vessels was without weight.

† Heb. a sea. * 1 King. 7. 47.

17 * The height of the one pillar was eighteen cubits, and the chapiter upon it was brass: and the height of the chapiter three cubits: and the wreathen-work, and pomegranates upon the chapiter round about, all of brass: and like unto these had the second pillar with wreathen work.

* 1 King. 7. 16. * Jer. 52. 20.

18 ¶ And the captain of the guard took Seraiah the chief priest t, and * Zephaniah the second priest u, and the three keepers of the † door.

t The High-Priest, Grandson of that Hilkiah, of whom ch. 22. 4. and Father of Jehozadack, who, as it seems, was taken with his Father; and when his Father was slain, v. 21. he was carried away to Babylon, as it is noted, 1 Chron. 6. 13, 14. u Who was the High-Priests Deputy, when he was hindred from the execution of his Office, see on Numb. 3. 32. 2 Sam. 8. 17. 2 King. 23. 4.

19 And out of the city he took an ‖ officer, that was set over the men of war, and five men of them that † were in the kings presence x, which were found in the city, and the ‖ principal scribe of the host, which mustered the people of the land, and threescore men of the people of the land y that were found in the city.

‖ Or, Eunuch. † Heb. saw the face of the King.

x i. e. Of them who constantly attended upon the King's Person, see 1 King. 10. 8. Esth. 1. 14. Obj. These were seven, Jer. 52. 25. Answ. Either five were first taken, and two after them: Or two of the seven were of an inferior rank, who therefore are here omitted. y Who had been most forward or active in the Rebellion.

20 And Nebuzar-adan captain of the guard, took these, and brought them to the king of Babylon, to Riblah.

21 And the king of Babylon smote them, and slew them at Riblah in the land of Hamath. So Judah was carried away out of their land.

22 ¶ * And as for the people that remained in the land of Judah, whom Nebuchadnezzar king of Babylon had left, even over them he made Gedaliah the son of Ahikam, the son of Shaphan z, ruler.

* Jer. 40. 5, 6, 7.

z A righteous and good Man, and a Friend to the Prophet Jeremiah, Jer. 26. 24.

23 And when all the * captains of the armies a, they and their men, heard that the king of Babylon had made Gedaliah governour, there came to Gedaliah to Mizpah, even Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, and Johanan the son of Careah, and Seraiah the son of Tanhumeth the Netophathite, and Jaazaniah the son of a Maachathite, they, and their men.

* Jer. 40. 7, 8. Or, Dijs. a Which escaped away when Zedekiah was taken. See above, v. 4, 5.

24 And Gedaliah sware to them, and to their men b, and said unto them, Fear not to be the servants of the Caldees: dwell in the land, and serve the king of Babylon, and it shall be well with you.

b Assured them by his Promise and Oath, that they doing what he required, should be kept from the Evils which they feared. This he might safely swear, because he had not only the King of Babylon's Promise and Interest too, but also God's Promise for their Independity, deliver'd by Jeremiah.

25 But it came to pass in the seventh month, that Ishmael the son of Nethaniah, the son of Elishama, of the seed † royal c, came, and ten men d with him, and * smote Gedaliah, that he died, and the Jews and the Caldees that were with him at Mizpah.

† Heb. of the King. * Jer. 41. 2.

And

c And therefore moved with Envy to see so mean a Person advanced into their place. See this History more fully described Jer. 41. d To wit, Ten Captains or Officers, and under each of them many Soldiers, otherwise the Attempt was ridiculous.

26 And all the people both small and great, and the captains of the armies arose, and * came to Egypt: for they were afraid of the Caldees.

* Jer. 43. 4, 5, 6, 7.

27 ¶ And it came to pass in the seven and thirtieth year of the captivity of Jehoiachin king of Judah, in the twelfth month, on the seven and twentieth day e of the month, that Evil-merodach king of Babylon, in the year that he began to reign, did lift up the head of Jehoiachin king of Judah out of prison.

e Or, on the 25th day, as it is Jer. 52. 31. for then the Decree was made, which was executed upon the 27th day.

28 And he spake † kindly to him, and set his throne * above the throne of the kings that were with him in Babylon f.

† Heb. good things with him. * Jer. 52. 32.

f It seems though the Power of these Kings was taken away, yet some Honour and Respect was given to them, even in the place of their Captivity, and to Jehoiachin more than to any of the rest.

29 And changed his prison-garments: and he did eat bread continually before him g all the days of his life.

g i. e. In his Presence, and at his Table, the following Allowance being given to him for the maintenance of his Family and Royal Dignity. Compare 2 Sam. 9. 10.

30 And his allowance was a continual allowance given him of the king, a daily rate for every day, all the days of his life.

I. CHRONICLES.

These Books of the Chronicles are not the same which are so called 1 King. 14. 19. and elsewhere, (because some Passages said to be there mentioned, are not found here) but other Books, and written by other Persons, and for other Ends. Yet this same Writer took out of those Books such Historical Passages as were most useful or necessary. They were written after the Babylonish Captivity, as appears from 2 Chron. 36. 20, &c. by Ezra, as may be gathered not only from the same Words used in the place now quoted, and in the beginning of that Book which goeth under the name of Ezra, but also from some other Passages, which we may observe hereafter, and from the Exactness and Diligence here used in making Catalogues of Persons and Families, which also is used in the Book of Ezra. If one or two Passages seem to be of a later Date, those were added by some other Prophets; there being some few such Additional Passages in the Books of Moses. The chief Design of these Books is, to compleat the History of the Kings of Judah, and to gather up the Fragments of Sacred History, which were omitted in the Books of Samuel and Kings, and to explain some Passages there mentioned, and to give an exact Account of the Genealogies: Which (though ignorant or inconsiderate Persons may think trivial and useless) was a Work of great Necessity, to preserve the Distinction of the Tribes and Families; that so it might appear that Christ came of that Nation, and Tribe, and Family, of which he was to be born. And this Account having been hitherto neglected, is most seasonably mentioned in these Books, because this was to be in a manner the last part of the Sacred and Canonical History of the Old Testament, and therefore the fittest place to Record those Genealogies, upon which the Truth and Authority of the New Testament in some sort depends. And whereas many things in these Genealogies to us are obscure and doubtful, they were not so to the Hebrews; and all the Persons here named, were known to them by those very particular and exact Genealogies, which they kept in their several Families and in publick Registers; from whence this Sacred Pen-man, by the Direction of God's Spirit, took those Things which were of most Importance.

CHAP. I.

Adam's Line to Noah, 1——4. Noah's Posterity by Japheth, 5——7. By Ham, 8——16. By Shem to Abraham, 17——27. His Posterity: by Ishmael, 28——31. By Keturah; and Isaac, 32——34. His Posterity: by Esau: the Kings and Dukes of Edom, 35——54.

ADam, * Sheth a, Enosh,

* Gen. 5. 3. a i. e. Adam begat Sheth: And so in the following Particulars. For brevity sake he only mentions their Names: but the rest is easily understood out of the former Books, and from the nature of the thing; and from some following Passages where the Sence is compleated.

2 Kenan, Mahalaleel, Jered,

3 Henoch, Methushelah, Lamech,

4 Noah, Shem, Ham, and Japheth b.

b Formerly he mentions only one Son, but here he names and treats of Noah's three Sons, partly because they were all the Founders of the New World; and partly because the Accomplishment of Noah's Famous Prophecy, Gen. 9. 25, 26, 27. could not otherwise appear, but by the account of their several Posterities.

Gen. 10.

5 * The sons of Japheth; Gomer, and Magog, and Madai, and Javan, and Tubal, and Meshech, and Tiras.

Or, Dijs.

6 And the sons of Gomer; Ashchenaz, and ‖ Riphath, c, and Togarmah.

‖ Or, Diphath.

c Or, Diphath: For those two Hebrew Letters which answer to our D and R, being very like, are oft confounded and exchanged, as v. 7, 41, 46, 50.

7 And the sons of Javan; Elishah, and Tarshish, Kittim, and ‖ Dodanim.

Or, Rodanim.

8 The sons of Ham; Cush, and Mizraim, Put, and Canaan.

Gen. 10.

9 And the sons of Cush; Seba, and Havilah, and Sabta, and Raama, and Sabtecha: and the sons of Raamah; Sheba and Dedan.

Gen. 10.

10 And Cush * begat Nimrod: he began to be mighty upon the earth.

11 And Mizraim begat Ludim, and Anamim, and Lehabim, and Naphtuhim, 12 And Pathrusim, and Casluim, (of whom came the Philistines d,) and * Caphthorim.

Deut. 2. d Of which see the Notes on Gen. 10. 14.

13 And * Canaan begat Zidon his first-born, and Heth,

Gen. 10.

14 The Jebusite e also, and the Amorite, and the Girgasite, e The People so called. So the Names which follow until v. 17. are not the Names of particular Persons, but of People or Nations. And all these descended from Canaan, though some of them were afterwards extinct or confounded with others of their Brethren by Cohabitation or mutual Marriages, whereby they lost their Names: Which is the Reason why they are no more mentioned, at least under these Names.

15 And the Hivite, and the Archite, and the Sinite,

16 And the Arvadite, and the Zemarite, and the Hamathite.

17 The sons of * Shem f; Elam, and Ashur, and Arphaxad, and Lud, and Aram, and Uz, and Hul, and Gether, and ‖ Meshech.

* Gen. 10. 22. & 11. 10. ‖ Or, Mash. Gen. 10.

f Either the Name of Sons is so taken here as to include Grandsons, who are called Sons, Gen. 29. 5. 2 Sam. 19. 24. Or, these Words, The Children of Aram, are understood and inserted before Uz, out of Gen. 10. 23. where they are expressed.

† 10, to 17. Or, Jetur, Gen. 22.

18 And Arphaxad begat Shelah g, and Shelah begat Eber.

g Either Immediately, or Mediately by his Son Cainan, who is expressed, Luke 3. 35. of which, God assisting, I shall speak in its proper place.

19 And unto Eber were born two sons: the name of the one was ‖ Peleg, (because in his days the earth was divided h,) and his brothers name was Joktan.

‖ That is, Division.

h In their Languages and Habitations: Of which see Gen. 11. 7.

20 And * Joktan begat Almodad, and Sheleph, and Hazarmaveth, and Jerah.

* Gen. 10. 25.

21 Hadoram also, and Uzal, and Diklah,

22 And Ebal i, and Abimael, and Sheba,

i Or, Obal, as it is Gen. 10. 28. Such proper Names being oft differently written, according to the difference of Times, and People, and Writers.

23 And Ophir, and Havilah, and Jobab: all these were the sons of Joktan.

24 * Shem, Arphaxad k, Shelah,

* Gen. 11.

k Having given a brief and general Account of the Original of the World and the People in it, he now returns to a more large and particular Account of the Genealogy of Shem, from whom the Jews were descended.

* Gen. 11. 10. Luke 3. 36.

25 * Eber, Peleg, Reu,

* Gen. 11. 15.

26 Serug, Nahor, Terah,

* Gen. 11. 17.

27 * Abram, the same is Abraham.

* Gen. 21. 2, 3.

28 The sons of Abraham; * Isaac, and * Ishmael.

29 These are their generations: The * first-born of Ishmael, Nebajoth: then Kedar, and Adbeel, and Mibsam,

* Gen. 16. 15.

30 Mishma, and Dumah, Massa, ‖ Hadad, and Tema,

* Gen. 25. 13.

31 Jetur, Naphish, and Kedemah. These are the sons of Ishmael.

‖ Or, Hezdad, Gen. 36.

32 Now * the sons of Keturah, Abraham's concubine: she bare Zimran, and Jokshan, and Medan, and Midian, and Ishbak, and Shuah. And the sons of Jokshan; Sheba, and Dedan.

* Gen. 25. 1, 2.

33 And the sons of Midian; Ephah, and Epher, and Henoch, and Abida, and Eldaah. All these are the sons of Keturah.

34 And * Abraham begat Isaac. * The sons of Isaac; Esau, and Israel.

35 The sons of * Esau; Eliphaz, Reuel, and Jeush, and Jaalam, and Korah.

36 The sons of Eliphaz; Teman, and Omar, || Zephi, and Gatam, Kenaz, and Timna l, and Amalek.

l There is another Timna, the Concubine of Eliphaz. Gen. 36. 12. but this was one of his Sons, though called by the same name; there being some Names common both to Men and Women in the Hebrew and in other Languages.

37 The sons of Reuel; Nahath, Zerah, Shammah, and Mizzah.

38 And the sons of Seir m; Lotan, and Shobal, and Zibeon, and Anah, and Dishon, and Ezer, and Dishan.

m One of another Nation, Prince of the Horims; whose Genealogy is here described, because of that affinity which was contracted between his and Esau's Posterity; and those who were not united and incorporated with them, were destroyed by them. See Deut. 2. 12.

39 And the sons of Lotan; Hori, and || Homam: and Timna was Lotans sister.

40 The sons of Shobal; || Alian, and Manahath, and Ebal, || Shephi, and Onam. And the sons of Zibeon; Ajah, and Anah.

41 The sons of Anah; * Dishon. And the sons of Dishon, || Amram, and Eshban, and Ithran, and Cheran.

42 The sons of Ezer; Bilhan, and Zavan, and || Jakan. The sons of Dishan; Uz, and Aran.

43 Now these are the * Kings that reigned in the land of Edom n, before any King reigned over the Children of Israel; Bela the son of Beor: and the name of his city was Dinhabah.

n Of this and the following Verses see on Gen. 36. 31, &c. whence this whole Relation is taken.

44 And when Bela was dead, Jobab the son of Zerah of Bozrah reigned in his stead.

45 And When Jobab was dead, Husham of the land of the Temanite, reigned in his stead.

46 And when Husham was dead, Hadad the son of Bedad (which smote Midian in the field of Moab) reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was Avith.

47 And when Hadad was dead, Samlah, of Masrekah reigned in his stead.

48 * And when Samlah was dead, Shaul of Rehoboth by the river, reigned in his stead.

49 And when Shaul was dead, Baal-hanan the son of Achbor reigned in his stead.

50 And when Baal-hanan was dead, || Hadad reigned in his stead: and the name of his city was || Pai: and his wives name was Mehetabel the daughter of Matred, the daughter of Mezahab.

51 Hadad died also. And the * Dukes of Edom were, Duke Timna, Duke Aliah, Duke Jetheth, 52 Duke Aholibamah, Duke Elah, Duke Pinon,

53 Duke Kenaz, Duke Teman, Duke Mibzar,

54 Duke Magdiel, Duke Iram. These are the Dukes of Edom.

CHAP. II.

The Sons of Israel: Of Judah by Tamar: The Children of Jesse, 1——17. Of Caleb the Son of Hezron: Of him by the Daughter of Machir, 18——24. And by Jerahmeel, 25——33. Of Sheshan, 34——41. Another Branch of Caleb's Posterity, 42——49. Of Caleb the Son of Jephunneh, 50——55.

THese are the sons of || Israel; * Reuben, Simeon, Levi, and Judah, Issachar, and Zebulun,

2 Dan, Joseph, and Benjamin, Naphtali, Gad and Asher.

3 The sons of * Judah a, Er, and Onan, and Shelah: which three were born unto him of the daughter of * Shua the Canaanitess. And Er the first-born of Judah, was evil in the sight of the LORD, and he slew him.

a Whom he puts first, because the best part of the right of the First-born, to wit, the Dominion, was conferred upon him, Gen. 49. 8. and because the Messiah was to come out of his Loyns.

4 And * Tamar his daughter in law, bare him Pharez, and Zerah. All the sons of Judah were five.

5 The Sons of * Pharez; Hezron, and Hamul.

6 And the Sons of Zerah; || Zimri, * and Ethan, and Heman, and Calcol, and || Dara b: five of them in all.

b If these be the same who are mentioned as the sons of Machol, 1 King. 4. 31. Either the same Man had two Names, Zerah and Machol, as was usual among the Hebrews: or, one of these was their immediate Father, and the other their Grandfather,

7 And the sons of Carmi c: || Achar d, the troubler of Israel, who transgressed in the thing * accursed.

c Who is here mentioned, because he was the son of Zimri, who is also called Zabdi, Jos. 7. 1. d Called Achan, Jos. 7. 1. and here Achar, with a little variation for greater significancy: For Achar signifies a Troubler.

8 And the sons of Ethan; Azariah.

9 The sons also of Hezron that were born unto him; Jerahmeel, and || Ram, and || Chelubai.

10 And Ram * begat Aminadab, and Aminadab begat Nahshon, prince of the children of Judah.

11 And Nahshon begat Salma, and Salma begat Boaz.

12 And Boaz begat Obed, and Obed begat Jesse,

13 * And Jesse begat his first-born Eliab e, and Abinadab the second, and || Shimma the third,

14 Nethaneel the fourth, Raddai the fifth,

15 Ozem the sixth, David the seventh f:

e Called also Eliha, 1 Chron. 27. 18. unless that was another person, and the word Brother be taken more largely for a Kinsman, as it is frequently used.

f for though he had eight Sons, 1 Sam. 16. 10. one of them either died presently after that time, or is neglected for some reason now unknown, as others are. See the Notes on Mat. 1. 8, 9.

16 Whose sisters were Zerujah, and Abigail. And * the sons of Zerujah; Abishai, and Joab, and Asahel, was three.

17 And Abigail bare Amasa; and the father of Amasa was Jether the Ishmeelite g.

g By Birth or Habitation, but by profession an Israelite, 2 Sam. 17. 25. where see my Notes.

18 And Caleb the son of Hezron h † begat children of Azubah his wife, and of Jerioth: her sons i are these, Jesher, and Shobab, and Ardon.

h Not that Caleb, Numb. 13. 6. for he was the Son of Jephunneh, but of whom he speaks Ch. 4. 15. but another Caleb. i i.e. The Sons, either 1 of Jerioth, the being left mentioned: or, rather 2. of Azubah, who is by way of distinction called his Wife, when Jerioth probably was onely his Concubine, and, as it may seem, barren: and therefore upon Azubah's death he married another Wife, v. 19. And those other Sons of this Caleb mentioned below, v. 42. are his Sons by some other Wife distinct from all these.

19 And when Azubah was dead, Caleb took unto him Ephrath, which bare him Hur.

20 And Hur begat Uri, and Uri begat * Bezaleel.

21 And afterward Hezron went in k to the daughter of * Machir, the father of Gilead l, whom he † married m when he was n threescore years old, and she bare him Segub.

k i.e. Lay with her, as that Phrase is commonly used, as Gen. 4. 1. and 6. 4. l Of a man so called. Or, if Gilead be the Name of that known Countrey, Father is put for Head or Governour, as it is also, 1 Sam. 24. 11. 2 King. 5. 13. and 16. 7. Isa. 22. 21. Or, for Protection, or Curatour, as Father is used Job. 29. 16. Jer. 2. 27. Lam. 5. 3. This Man being a Man of noted Valour, and the great Champion in those Parts. m Heb. And he took her, to wit, to wife. Or, After he had taken her, for to the Particle ux is used, as hath been formerly noted. n Heb. And he was, to wit, when he went in unto her, Or, when he married her.

22 And Segub begat Jair, who had three and twenty cities in the land of Gilead o.

o Which he had, though he was of the Tribe of Judah, as here we see, because he married a Daughter of Manasseh, Numb. 26. 29. who he is called a Son of Manasseh, Numb. 32. 41. Deut. 3. 14. And because, being a Man of great Courage, he joyned himself with that half Tribe in subduing Gilead, wherein he acted so valiantly and successfully, that he had 23 Cities or great Towns given to him to possess or dispose of: or, rather to Rule over them, and have some advantage from them; As a king is said to have his Kingdom, although he hath not the propriety of all the Lands and Houses in it.

23 * And he took p Geshur and Aram q, with the * Neh towns of Jair r, from them s, with Kenath t, and the 23. towns thereof, even threescore cities: all these belonged to the sons of Machir u, the father of Gilead.

p Or, For he had taken. So this is the Reason why he had so great a Territory and Jurisdiction given to him. q Two Cities or great Towns so called. r i.e. With those 23. Cities which he is said to have. 22. s i.e. from the former Inhabitants, which is easily understood. t Which was taken by Nobah, one of Jairs Commanders sent by him to take it, as may be gathered from Numb. 32. 41, 42. a Parley to his own Sons, and partly to his Son-in-law Jair, who by reason of that dear Affection which was betwixt them, and his so taking his own Tribe and Kindred to fight for them and to dwell with them, is here reckoned as his own Son.

24 And after that Hezron was dead in Caleb-ephratah x, then Abiah Hezrons wife bare him Ashur y the father of Tekoa z.

x A place then so called by a Conjunction of the Names of the Man and his Wife; afterwards supposed to be called Bethlehem-Ephratah. Others translate the words thus, When Caleb took Ephratah. So it is an Ellipsis of the Verb which is here to be understood out of v. 19. where it is expressed. y After the father's death. z A known place, 2 Sam. 14. 2, 4. Jer. 6. 1. Amos 1. 1. Whose Father he is called, because he was either the Progenitour of the People inhabiting there: Or, their Prince and Ruler: Or, the Builder of the City.

25 And the sons of Jerahmeel the first-born of Hezron were, Ram the first-born, and Bunah, and Oren, and Ozem, and Ahijah a.

a Or, of (the prefix, soon being oft understood) Abijah, his Wife so called, as may seem probable from the next Verse, where he mentions another Wife.

26 Jerahmeel had also another wife whose name was Atarah, she was the mother of Onam.

27 And

27 And the sons of Ram the first-born of Jerahmeel were Maaz, and Jamin, and Eker.

28 And the sons of Onam were, Shammai, and Jada. And the sons of Shammai; Nadab, and Abishur.

29 And the name of the wife of Abishur was Abihail, and she bare him Ahban, and Molid.

30 And the sons of Nadab, Seled, and Appaim: but Seled died without children.

31 And the sons b of Appaim; Ishi. And the sons of Ishi; Sheshan. And * the children of Sheshan; Ahlai.

b An Expression oft used both afterwards in this Verse, and elsewhere, and in prophane Authors too, where there is but one Son. It is an Enallage of the Number, which is frequent in the Hebrew.

32 And the sons of Jada the brother of Shammai; Jether, and Jonathan: and Jether died without children.

33 And the sons of Jonathan; Peleth, and Zaza. These were the sons of Jerahmeel.

34 Now Sheshan had no sons c, but daughters: and Sheshan had a servant, an Egyptian, whose name was Jarha.

c To wit, living when he died, his Son Ahlai, v. 31. dying before him: unless Ahlai was the Name of a Daughter.

35 And Sheshan gave his daughter to Jarha his Servant to wife, and she bare him Attai.

36 And Attai begat Nathan, and Nathan begat * Zabad, 37 And Zabad begat Ephlal, and Ephlal begat Obed,

38 And Obed begat Jehu, and Jehu begat Azariah,

39 And Azariah begat Helez, and Helez begat Eleasah, 40 And Eleasah begat Sisamai, and Sisamai begat Shallum, 41 And Shallum begat Jekamiah, and Jekamiah begat Elishama.

42 Now the sons of Caleb the brother of Jerahmeel d were, Mesha his first-born, which was the father of Ziph e: and the sons of Mareshah the father of Hebron f.

d To wit, of that Caleb mentioned v. 18. as appears by comparing that Verse with v. 25. And these are his Sons by another and his third Wife. See on v. 18. e The Name either of a Man: or of a Place, of which see Jos. 15. 24, 55. And then Father is to be underflood here as v. 23, and 24. f Not the place so called, but a Man, as is evident because his Sons here follow.

43 And the sons of Hebron; Korah, and Tappuah, and Rekem, and Shema.

44 And Shema begat Raham the father of Jorkoam: and Rekem begat Shammai.

45 And the son of Shammai was Maon: and Maon was the father of Beth-zur g.

g A Place in Judah, Jos. 15. 58. See on v. 23.

46 And Ephah Calebs Concubine bare Haran, and Moza, and Gazez: and Haran begat Gazez.

47 And the sons of Jahdai h; Regem, and Jotham, and Geshan, and Pelet, and Epha, and Shaaph.

h The Son of Gazez last mentioned: which is implied because he follows next after him in the Genealogy. Or, the Sons of Moza: whose name might be changed into Jahdai for some reason now unknown.

48 Maachah Calebs Concubine bare Sheber and Tirhanah.

49 She bare also Shaaph the father of Madmannah i, Sheva the father of Machbenah, and the father of Gibea: and the daughter of Caleb was * Achsah.

i This, and divers other following Names are the Names of Places in Judah, and Father is meant as v. 32, 24.

50 These were the sons of Caleb the son of Hur, the first-born of Ephratah; Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim.

51 Salma the father of Beth-lehem k, Hareph the father of Beth-gader l.

k To wit, in part: For Boaz descended from another Salmon, who was the Son of Naasson, v. 11. l Called also Penuel the father of Gedor, chap. 4. 4.

52 And Shobal the father of Kirjath-jearim, had sons; Haroeh m, and || half of the Manahethites.

m Which may signifie an Overseer, a Prophet, or Teacher, or Rusher, but here is a proper Name, as appears from chap. 4. 2. where he is called Reaiah with no great variation in the Hebrew.

53 And the families of Kirjath-jearim n; the Ithrite, and the Puhite, and the Shumathite, and the Mishraite: of them o came the Zareathite, and the Eshtaulite p.

n Or, In Kirjath-jearim, all which descended from Shobal, v. 51. o i.e. Of the Family of the Mishraites, last mentioned. p The Inhabitants of two places called Zoreah and Eshtaol, Jos. 15. 33.

54 The sons of Salma q; Bethlehem r, and the Netophathite, || Ataroth s, the house of Joab t, and half of the Manahethites u, the Zorites x.

q Of that Salma mentioned, v. 51. r i.e. The inhabitants of Bethlehem. s The name of a Person, or People. t The Progenitors of Joab's Family. u The other half being mentioned v. 52. x For, to wit, the Zorites.

55 And the families of the Scribes y which dwelt z at Jabez ||; the Tirathites, the Shimeathites, and Suchathites. These are the * Kenites that came of Hemath † the father of the house of * Rechab.

y Either Civil, who were Public Notaries, who wrote and figned Legal Instruments: Or Ecclesiastical. And these either Levites, or Simeonites, or rather Kenites, and are here mentioned not as if they were of the Tribe of Judah, but because they dwelt among them, and probably were allied to them by Marriages, and so in a manner Incorporated with them. z Or, rather dwelt: Heb. Were Dwellers. For the other translation, which dwelt, may seem to insinuate that there were Descendants of Judah, which they were not; but this Translation or ' signifies their Cohabitation with them, for which cause they are here named with them. || A Place in Judah, so named probably from that famous Jabez of that Tribe, chap. 4. 9. † Who dwelt in Judah, Judg. 1. 11. Thus they are distinguished from the other Branch of the Kenites, who dwelt in the Tribe of Manasseh, Judg. 4. 11.

CHAP. III.

The Sons of David, 1——9. His Line to Zedekiah, 10——16. The Successors of Jeconia, 17——24.

NOw these were the sons of David, which were born unto him in Hebron: the first-born * Amnon, of Ahinoam the * Jezreelitess a: the second || Daniel, of Abigal the Carmelitess b:

a Of that Jezreel in Judah, Jos. 15. 56. not of that in Manasseh, Jos. 17. 16. b So called, because she was the Wife of Nabal who Jab, dwelt in Carmel, 1 Sam. 25. 2. which was in Judah, Jos. 15. 55.

2 The third, Absalom the son of Maachah, the daughter of Talmai King of Geshur: the fourth, Adonijah the son of Haggith:

3 The fifth, Shephatiah of Abital: the sixth, Ithream by * Eglah his wife c.

c Which Title belongs either to all the foregoing Women, or rather, as the singular numb. the weeth, to Eglah onely, last mentioned: who possibly may be so called because she was his first, and therefore most proper Wife, though her son was born after all the rest before-mentioned, and therefore both the and her Son are put in the sixth Place, the Wives being here named onely for the Sons sakes. See more on 2 Sam. 3. 5.

4 These six were born unto him in Hebron, and * there he reigned seven years and six months: and * in Jerusalem he reigned thirty and three years.

5 * And these were born unto him in Jerusalem, || Shimea, and Shobab, and Nathan, and * Solomon, four d, of || Bathshua the daughter of || Ammiel e:

d All David's Children by her, as the Text positively affirms: and therefore Solomon is called her onely Son, Prov. 4. because she loved him as if he had been so. e Called also Eliam, 2 Sam. 11. 3. See on 2 Sam. 11. 3.

6 Ibhar, also, and || Elishama, and Eliphelet f, f And he had two other Sons called by the same Names, v. 8. but they were by differing Wives: and probably they were then distinguished by some additional Clause or Title, which is here omitted, because it was now needless for us to know it: Or, the two first were dead before the two second were born, and therefore the Names of the deceased were given to these to preserve their Memory.

7 And Nogah, and Nepheg, and Japhia,

8 And Elishama, and || Eliada, and Eliphelet, nine g.

g Obj. There are but seven mentioned, 2 Sam. 5. 14, &c. Ans. Two of them are omitted there, because they died very early, or were Inglorious, or died without issue: And here we have all the sons of David, as it here follows v. 9. which Clause is not added 2 Sam. 5.

9 These were all the sons of David, besides the sons of the concubines, and * Tamar their sister.

10 And Solomons son was * Rehoboam, || Abia his son, Asa his son, Jehoshaphat his son,

11 Joram his son, || Ahaziah his son, Joash his son,

12 Amaziah his son, || Azariah his son, Jotham his son,

13 Ahaz his son, Hezekiah his son, Manasseh his son, 14 Amon his son, Josiah his son.

15 And the sons of Josiah were, the first-born || Johanan, the second || Jehoiakim, the third || Zedekiah, the fourth Shallum h.

h Of whom, at least under that Name, there is no mention in the History of the Reign of Josiah's Sons, 2 King. 23, & 24. But in Jerem. 22. 11. there is mention of Shallum the Son of Josiah King of Judah, which reigned instead of Jehoiakim his Father. Which moft conceive to be the same who is otherwise called Jehoahaz, 2 King. 23. And this seems moft probable, 1. From that Phrase, he reigned instead of Josiah: which implies that he immediately succeeded his Father; otherwise he would not have been said to have reigned instead of his Brother, as Zedekiah is said to reign instead of Jehoiachin, 2 King. 24. 17. because he was his next Successor. 2. From the Order of that Sermon or Discourse of Jeremiah, which was directed to Zedekiah, and his Servants, and People, as appears by Jer. 21. 1, 2, 11. and 22. 1, 2. whom he admonisheth by the Examples of the Kings his Predecessors, and of the Sentence of God concerning each of them, and that in order as they reigned; 1. Of Shallum, v. 11. &c. 2. Of Jehoiakim, v. 13, &c. 3. Of Jechoniah, &c. Therefore Shallum is the same with Jehoahaz, who was the first King after Josiah, 2 King. 23. 31. 3. From the nature of that Prophecy, Jer. 22. 11. 12. which best agrees to Jehoahaz, who was carried captive not so far as Babylon, but only to Egypt a very near Countrey, whence the People hoped that he would speedily and easily return, or be re-established in his throne by the King of Egypt, his

in opposition to the King of Babylon. 4. Because Jehoahaz was one of Josiah's younger Sons, as appears by comparing 2 King. 23. 31. 36. And this Shallum is here called his fourth Son.

16 And the sons of Jehojakim, ‖ Jeconiah his son, Zedekiah his son i.

‖ Or, Jeconiah his son, 2 Kings 24. 6. Or, Coniah, Jer. 22. 24.

i Not his Natural Son, for he was his Uncle, 2 Kings 24. 17. but his Legal Son, or his Successor, upon whom the Son's Right was devolved by virtue of that Law, Numb. 27. 8, 9, 10. and therefore it is not strange if he have the Name of Son with it. See the Notes on Luke 3. Or this was another Zedekiah; because it is improbable and without Example, that one and the same Man should be twice mentioned in the same Genealogy as the Son of two several Parents.

† Heb. Shealtiel. * Mat. 1. 12.

17 And the sons of Jeconiah; Assir k, † Salathiel * his son l.

k Or, of Jechoniah the Captive, or Prisoner: which is added to shew that he begat his Son when he was Captive in Babylon, as it is noted, Mat. 1. 12. whither he was carried Captive, 2 King. 24. 17. Obj. It is said of this Jechonias, Jer. 22. 30. Write this Man childless. Answ. So he is called, because he was an Unhappy Prince, and had no Son that succeeded him in the Throne, as the next Words explain it. See more on that Place. l Either his Legal, or his Natural Son: of which see the Notes on Jer. 22. 30. and Mat. 1. 12. and Luke 3. 27.

18 Malchiram also, and Pedajah m, and Shenazar, Jecamiah, Hoshama, and Nedabiah.

m The sentence seems to be short and imperfect, as is frequent in the Hebrew Language, and something is here understood, as, The Sons also of Salathiel were Malchiram and Pedajah, &c. as they gather from hence that the same Zerubbabel is called the Son of Pedajah, v. 19. and the son (i. e. the Grandson) of Salathiel, Mat. 1. 12. Or, Malchiram and the rest here named were the Sons of Jechoniah; and they are differing Zerubbabels, which are mentioned here v. 19. and Mat. 1. 12. and Luk. 3. 27. of which see the Notes on those places.

19 And the sons of Pedajah were, Zerubbabel, and Shimei; and the sons of Zerubbabel; Meshullam, and Hananiah, and Shelomith their sister n:

n i. e. Sister to the two last named Sons of Zerubbabel, to wit, by both Parents; and therefore named before the other five, v. 20. who were her Brethren by the Father, but not by the Mother.

20 And Hashubah, and Ohel, and Berechiah, and Hazadiah, Jushab-hesed, five o.

o Either of Zerubbabel's or of Meshullam, as is gathered from hence that the Sons of Hananiah (Brother to Meshullam, v. 19.) are named v. 21. and therefore those v. 20. are presumed to be the Sons of Meshullam. But that is no necessary Inference, for Meshullam possibly had no Sons, and therefore he passeth from him to Hananiah, v. 21.

21 And the sons of Hananiah, Pelatiah, and Jesajah: the sons of Rephajah, the sons of Arnan, the sons of Obadiah, the sons of Shekaniah p.

p. All these Men, both Parents and their Sons here blended together, are mentioned as the Sons of Hananiah, and Branches of the Royal Stock.

22 And the sons of Shechaniah; Shemajah: and the Ezra 8.2. sons of Shemajah; * Hattush, and Igeal, and Bariah, and Neariah, and Shaphat, six q.

q To wit, including the Father. But the Hebrew word, Shifhi, which is rendred six, may be the proper Name of one of the Sons of Shemajah, who may be so called, because he was the sixth Son.

† Heb. Hizkijah. 23 And the sons of Neariah r; Elioenai, and † Hezekiah, and Azrikam, three.

r Who alone is here mentioned, because his Elder Brethren probably died without Issue.

24 And the sons of Elioenai were, Hodajah, and Eliashib, and Pelajah, and Akkub, and Johanan, and Dalajah, and Anani, seven.

CHAP. IV.

The Posterity of Judah by Caleb the Son of Hur, 1——4. by Ashur, 5——8. by Jabez; His Prayer, 9——20. The Posterity of Shelah, 21——23. The Posterity, and Cities of Simeon: Their Conquest of Gedor: And of the Amalekites in Mount Seir, 24——43.

* Gen. 38. 29. & 46. 12. ‖ Or, Chelubai, Ch. 2. 9. † Heb. Hur, Ch. 2. 19. ‖ Or, Hu. Ch. 2. 50. Ch. 2. 24.

THE sons a of Judah; * Pharez, Hezron, and ‖ Carmi, and Hur, and Shobal.

a i. e. The Posterity: For onely Pharez was his immediate Son. But they are all mentioned here only to shew Shobal's Descent from Judah, Hur, Ch. of whom he intended to speak more particularly.

2 And ‖ Reajah b the son of Shobal, begat Jahath, and Jahath begat Ahumai, and Lahad. These are the families of the Zorathite c.

b Called Haroeh, ch. 2. 52. of whom see there. c Of whom see on Ch. 2. 52. ch. 2. 53.

3 And these were of the father of Etam d; Jezreel, and Ishma, and Idbash: and the name of their sister was Hazelelponi.

d Etam is the Name either of a Man, or of a Place: of which see below, v. 32. and 2 Chron. 11. 6. Whose Inhabitants descended from him. The Name of his Father is not here expressed.

4 And Penuel the father of Gedor, and Ezer the father of Hushah. These are the sons of Hur, the firstborn of Ephratah e, the father of Beth-lehem f.

e Either they are other Sons besides those mentioned ch. 2. or there is some variation in their Names, which is most frequent among the Hebrews, as hath been oft proved. f This Title is here given to the Father, and ch. 2. 51. to Salma, his Son, who had it either with, or after his Father. See the Notes on ch. 2. 51, 52.

Ch. 2. 24. 5 And * Ashur the father of Tekoa, had two wives, Helah, and Naarah.

6 And Naarah bare him Ahuzam, and Hepher, and Temeni, and Haahashtari. These were the sons of Naarah.

7 And the sons of Helah were, Zereth, and Jezoar, and Ethnan g.

g Underſtand here, and Coz, out of the beginning of the following Verſe. The like Ellipſes we have in the end of v. 13. and of ch. 7. v. 18.

8 And Coz begat Anub, and Zobebah, and the families of Aharhel, the son of Harum.

9 And Jabez h was more honourable than his brethren: and his mother called his name ‖ Jabez, saying, Because † Heb. Jaatzeg. I bare him with sorrow.

h One of the Fathers of the Families of Aharhel laſt mentioned. i For Courage, and eſpecially for true and fervent Piety expreſſed in the following Petition.

10 And Jabez called on the God of Israel k, saying, † Oh that thou wouldest bleſs me indeed l, and enlarge † Heb. if my coaſt m, and that thine hand might be with me n, and that thou wouldest † keep me from evil o, that it may † Heb. that it. not grieve me p. And God granted him that which he requested.

k When he was undertaking ſome great and dangerous Service. l I truſt not to my own or Peoples Valour, but only to thy Bleſſing and Help. m Drive out theſe wicked and curſed Canaanites, whom thou haſt commanded us to root out, and therefore I juſtly beg and expect thy bleſſing in the Execution of thy Command. n To proteſt and ſtrengthen me againſt my Adverſaries. o Or, work with (for ſo the Hebrew Prefix Meen is ſometimes uſed, as Cant. 1. 2. & 3. 9. Iſa. 5. 7. 8.) evil, i. e. ſo reſtrain and govern it. p That it may not oppreſs and overcome me, which will be very grievous to me. The conſequent put for the antecedent; and more is underſtood than is expreſſed. He uſeth this expreſſion in alluſion to his Name, which ſignifies grief, q. d. Lord, let me not have that Grief which my Name implies, and which my Sin deſerves.

11 And Chelub the brother of Shuah, begat Mehir, which was the father of Eshton.

12 And Eshton begat Beth-rapha, and Paseah, and Tehinnah the father of ‖ Irnahash. These are the men of Rechah q. ‖ Or, Ir-nahash, Ch. 2. 55.

q From theſe are ſpring the preſent Inhabitants of Rechab, a Town elſewhere mentioned.

13 And the sons of Kenaz r; Othniel, and Serajah: and the sons of Othniel; ‖ Hathath s. ‖ Or, begat

r The Son either of Chelub, v. 11. or of his Son Eſhton, v. 12. and the Father of Beth-rapha, and conſequently Caleb's Grandfather, v. 15. Whence Caleb is called a Kenezite, Numb. 32. 12. s Underſtand, and Meonothai, out of v. 14. See above on v. 7.

14 And Meonothai begat Ophrah: and Serajah: begat Joab, the father * of the ‖ valley t of † Charashim, * Nehem. 11. 35. for they were Craftſmen. ‖ Or, Gai t i. e. Of the Inhabitants of the Valley. † Or, Artificers

15 And the sons of Caleb the son of Jephunneh; Iru, Elah, and Naam: and the sons of Elah; ‖ even Kenaz u. ‖ That is u Another Kenaz differing from that Kenaz, v. 13. Or, his Name might be Uknaz. Critics.

16 And the sons of Jehaleleel x; Ziph, and Ziphah, Tiria, and Azareel.

x The Son of Kenaz, or Uknaz laſt mentioned.

17 And the sons of Ezra y were, Jether, and Mered, and Epher, and Jalon: and she bare Miriam, and Shamma, and Ishbah the father of Eshtemoa.

y The Son of Azareel laſt named. z She, i. e. Bithiah, bare unto Mered, As may ſeem by comparing this with v. 18.

18 And his wife a ‖ Jehudijah b bare Jered the father g Or, the of Gedor, and Heber the father of Zocho and Jekuthi- Iewiſh el the father of Zanoah. And these c are the sons of Bithiah the daughter of Pharaoh d, which Mered took.

a Either Ezra's Wife, or rather, another Wife of Mered. b Or, the Ieweſs, ſo called to diſtinguiſh her from his Egyptian Wife here following. c To wit, Miriam, and the reſt following, v. 17. d Either 1. of Pharaoh King of Egypt: For Mered might be a Perſon of great Eſtate and Quality: Or this might be only Pharaoh's Illegitimate Daughter. 19 And the sons of his wife ‖ Hodiah e, the sister of ‖ Or, Iehudijah, mentioned before. Naham, the father of Keilah the Garmite, and Eshtemoa the Maachathite.

e His third Wife.

20 And the sons of Shimon f were, Amnon, and Rinnah, Ben-hanan, and Tilon. And the sons of Ishi g were Zoheth, and Ben-zoheth.

f Another Son of the Father of Keilah, mentioned v. 19. g Son of Tilon laſt mentioned.

21 The sons of Shelah h * the son of Judah were, Er, * Gen. 38. the father of Lecah, and Laadah the father of Mareshah, and the families of the house of them that wrought fine linen, of the house of Ashbea.

h Having treated of the Poſterity of Judah by Pharez, and by Zare, he now comes to his Progeny by Shelah, of whom ſee Gen. 38.

22 And Jokim, and the men of Chozeba, and Joash, and and Saraph, who had the dominion in Moab i, and Jashubi-lehem. And, ‖ these are ancient things k. Or, But i Which they ruled in the name and for the uſe and ſervice of the Kings of Judah, to whom Moab was Subject from David's Time. Or, who had Poſſeſſions in Moab: or, who married A Wives in Moab. k The Senſe is either, 1. Theſe Perſons and things were in Ancient times; and therefore it is not ſtrange if now they be ſo little known. But that might have been with equal Truth ſaid of divers other parts of this Account. Or, rather, 2. But thoſe bleſſed times and Things are long ſince paſt and gone. Our Anceſtors then had the Dominion over the Heathen, but their degenerate Poſterity are now ſlaves to them in Chaldea, Perſia, &c. where they are employed as Potters or Gardiners, or in other Servile Works.

23 These were l the Potters, and those that dwelt among plants and Hedges: there they dwelt m with the King n for his work.

l Or rather, theſe are: for he ſeems to oppoſe their preſent Servitude to their former Glory, and to ſhew their low and mean Spirits that had rather tarry among the Heathen to do their Drudgery, than return to Jeruſalem to ſerve God and enjoy their Freedom. m Or, married, Or, now dwell; when their Brethren are returned. n Of Babylon or Perſia: Eſteeming it a greater Honour and Happineſs to ſerve that Earthly Monarch in the meaneſt Employments, than to ſerve the King of Kings in his Temple, and in his moſt Noble and Heavenly Work.

24 The sons of Simeon o were ‖ Nemuel, and Jammi, Jarib, Zerah, and Shaul: Or, Iemuel, Gen. 46. 10. Exod. 6. 15.

o Theſe are here joyned with Judah, becauſe their Poſſeſſion was taken out of Judah's Portion, Joſ. 19. 1. This Account ſeems to differ from that, Gen. 46. both in the Number and Names of the Perſons, which is not ſtrange, conſidering how Cuſtomary it was amongſt the Hebrews for one Perſon to have 2, or 3 Names given to him upon ſeveral occaſions. And for Obad, Gen. 46. 10. he may be omitted here, becauſe he left no Poſterity or Family after him, as the reſt did.

25 Shallum his son p, Mibsam his son, Mishma his son.

p i. e. Son of Saul laſt mentioned.

26 And the sons of Mishma; Hamuel his son, Zacchur his son, Shimei his son.

27 And Shimei had sixteen sons, and six daughters: but his brethren had not many children, neither did all their Family multiply, † like to the children of Judah q. † Heb. not.

q The Tribe of Simeon did not increaſe proportionably to the Tribe of Judah in which they dwelt; as appears by thoſe two Catalogues, Numb. 1. 22, & 26. 14. Which is to be aſcribed to Gods Curſe upon them delivered by the Mouth of Holy Jacob, Gen. 49. and ſignified by Moſes his neglect of them when he bleſſed all the other Tribes.

28 And they dwelt at * Beersheba r, and Moladah, * Joſh. 19. 2.

r This, and the following Cities are mentioned, Joſ. 19. 2. &c. with no great Alterations.

29 And at ‖ Bilhah, and at Ezem, and at ‖ Tolad, ‖ Or, Balah, Joſh. 19. 3. ‖ Or, Eltolad, Joſh. 15. 30. & 19. 4.

30 And at Bethuel, and at Hormah, and at Ziklag, 31 And at Beth-marcaboth, and ‖ Hazar-susim, and at Beth-birei, and at Shaaraim. These were their cities unto the reign of David e. ‖ Or, Hazar-Sual, Joſh. 19. 3. Hazar-Susah, Joſh. 19. 5.

e Either 1. of David's Poſterity; i. e. as long as the Kingdom of Judah laſted, or until the Captivity of Babylon. But this ſeems not to be true; for Simeon was gone into Captivity with the reſt of the Ten Tribes long before that time. Or rather 2. of David himſelf. And this may ſeem to be added, becauſe ſome of theſe Cities though given to Simeon by Joſhua, yet through the Sloth or Cowardice of that Tribe, were not taken from the Philiſtims, until David's time, who took ſome of them: and the Simeonites having juſtly forfeited their Right to them by their neglect, gave them to his Son Solomon, For it is evident concerning Ziklag, one of them, that it was in the Philiſtim Hands in David's time, and by them given to him, and by him annexed to the Tribe of Judah, 1 Sam. 27. 6.

32 And their Villages were, ‖ Etam, and Ain, Rimmon, and Tochen, and Ashan, five Cities. Or, Ether, Joſh. 19. 7.

33 And all their Villages that were round about the same cities unto ‖ Baal. These were their habitations, and † their genealogy. ‖ Or, Baalath, Joſh. 19. 8. † Or, they of Amaziah.

34 And Meshobab, and Jamlech d, and Joshah, the son of Amaziah.

d These and the reſt here following are particularly mentioned for their Valiant and Succeſsful Atchievements related v. 39, &c.

35 And Joel, and Jehu the son of Josibiah, the son of Seraiah, the son of Asiel.

36 And Elioenai, and Jaakobah, and Jeshohaiah, and Asaiah, and Adiel, and Jesimiel, and Benaiah, 37 And Ziza the son of Shiphi, the son of Allon, the son of Jedajah, the son of Shimri, the son of Shemaiah.

38 These e † mentioned by their names, were princes in their families: and the house of their fathers † increased greatly f. † Heb. they were a great multitude.

e Named v. 34, 35, 36, 37. f Which forced them to ſeek for new and larger Habitations.

39 And they went to the entrance of Gedor g, even unto the east side of the valley h, to seek pasture for their flocks.

g To that Country that belongs to Gedor, or borders upon it: either that Gedor, Joſ. 15. 58. or that called Gederah, Joſ. 15. 36. h Of which ſee on 1 Sam. 17. 13, 52.

40 And they found fat pasture and good, and the land was wide, and quiet, and peaceable: for they of Ham i had dwelt there of old k.

i i. e. The Poſterity of that curſed Ham, either the Arabians: or the Canaanites, or Philiſtins, who deſcended from Ham, Gen. 10. 6. Or, dwelt there before, i. e. before they came and caſt them out of their Poſſeſſions.

41 And these written by name, came in the days of Hezekiah king of Judah l, and smote their tents m, and the habitations that were found there, and destroyed them utterly unto this day n, and dwelt in their rooms: because there was pasture there for their flocks.

l But a little before their Captivity, which was in the ſixth year of Hezekiah, 2 Kings 17. 42 And some of them, even of the sons of Simeon, five hundred men, went to mount Seir o, having † for their captains Pelatiah, and Neariah, and Rephajah, and Uzziel † Heb. in the head of them, Deut. 20. 9.

o Probably about the ſame time.

43 And they smote * the rest of the Amalekites p that were escaped, and dwelt there unto this day q. * See 1 Sam. 15.

p Not deſtroyed by Saul, or David, or his Succeſſors. q Either 1. 8. & 30. until the Captivity of the Ten Tribes. But that happening ſo ſpeedily after this time, this Expreſſion may ſeem to be very improper and insignificant here. Or rather 2. until the Babyloniſh Captivity, or the time next after it, when theſe books were written. For although the main body of that Tribe dwelling in Canaan were carried into Captivity, yet this ſmall Remnant of them having removed their Dwelling, and being planted in Mount Seir, which lay Southward from Judah, might poſſibly be continued and preſerved in thoſe Parts, when their Brethren were gone into Captivity.

And it is Joſeph's Poſterity which is here conſidered. c Ephraim and Manaſſeh, each having a diſtinct Portion. d This is added emphatically, becauſe they were reputed and treated as if they had been the immediate Sons of Jacob: of which ſee Gen. 48. 5. e This is the ſecond Reaſon, which ſheweth both why Reuben's Genealogy was not firſt mentioned; and if another Tribe was to be ranked before it, that was Judah, and not Joſeph, as it might ſeem moſt fit for the former Reaſon; becauſe, ſaith he, the Order of their Genealogy was not to be ruled by the Birth-right, but by an higher Priviledge, which was given to Judah, and which here follows.

f Not the Perſon (for ſo Joſeph prevailed) but the Tribe of Judah. g Excelled the other Tribes in Number and Power, and eſpecially in the following Priviledge. h Or, for, as the Hebrew van is oft uſed: This being a Reaſon of the foregoing Aſſertion, or a Declaration wherein he did prevail. i The Government was by Gods Promiſe and Appointment to be eſtated chiefly and moſt durably in that Tribe, firſt in David and his Succeſſors, and then in the Meſſiah, who ſprung out of Judah, Heb. 7. 14. which was a far greater Priviledge than the Birth-right. Or, as to the Ruler, (i. e. as to the Point of Dominion) he was more than he, or preferred before him, i. e. before Joſeph, who is named in the very next clauſe, the pronoun being referred unto the following noun, which is frequent among the Hebrews, as Pſal. 87. 1. & 105. 19. k Or, although, as vau is oft uſed: ſo this prevents or removes an Objection againſt Judah's Precedency taken from his Birth-right.

And thus both Bashan and Gilead are used for parts of them, Jos. 17. 1. where it is said of Machir a Manassite, that he had Gilead and Bashan. And as it is unquestionably true that Gilead is taken sometimes more largely for all the Land of the Israelites beyond Jordan, sometimes more strictly for that part of it which Borders upon Mount Gilead; of which see my notes on Jos. 17. 1. The like may be presumed concerning Bashan; and so in its strictest sense it might be all given to the Manassites, and yet in its largest Sence might comprehend a Part of the Land belonging to the Gadites. f i. e. To wit, of Gilead and Bashan. For Gilead, properly so called, or the greateft part of it, belonged to the Reubenites; and Bashan, or the greateft part of it, to the Manassites; and so the Gadites (whose Habitation was between the Reubenites and Manassites) had those Parts of both their Countries which were towards their Borders. Or, unto their borders, i. e. as far as the Suburbs or Fields of Sharon, which were laft mentioned, were extended.

49 But a Aaron and his sons offered * upon the altar of the burnt-offering, and * on the altar of incense, and * were appointed for all the work of the place most holy, and to make an atonement for Israel, according to all that Moses the servant of God had commanded.

* Lev. 1. 5. * Exod. 30. 7.

a Having mentioned the Work and Employment of the High Priests, he briefly rehearseth the Names of the Persons who successively performed it.

50 And these are the sons of Aaron: Eleazar his son, Phinehas his son, Abishua his son, 54 ✠ Now these are their dwelling places throughout their castles in their coasts, of the sons of Aaron, of the families of the Kohathite: for theirs was the lot b.

b Or, this Lot or Portion which here follows. Or, the first Lot as appears by the sequel.

55 And they gave them Hebron in the land of Judah, and the suburbs thereof round about it.

56 But the fields of the city, and the villages thereof, they gave to Caleb the son of Jephunneh.

57 And to the Sons of Aaron they gave the cities c of Judah, namely, Hebron the city of refuge, and Libna with her suburbs, and Jattir, and Eshtemoa, with their suburbs.

‖ Or, Almon, Josh. 21. 18.

d Whereof 11 are here numbred, and two more added to them, Jos. 21. 13.

61 And unto the sons of Kohath, which were left e of the family of that tribe, were cities given out of the half tribe, namely, out of the half tribe of Manasseh, * by lot, ten cities f.

* Josh. 21. 5.

e Over and above the Priests who were of the same Family of Kohath and Tribe of Levi. ✠ Or, by lot. (with a full Point, for there the Sense ends.) All their Cities were ten Cities, as it is expressly said, Jos. 21. 26. Those words, all their Cities more, are to be understood out of the former Verse; which is not unusual in the Holy Scripture. And so this sacred Writer explains himself, v. 66, &c. where eight of their Cities are named, whereof only two are taken out of this half Tribe of Manasseh, v. 70. the other two being named, Jos. 21. 21, &c. where these things are more plainly and fully declared.

62 And to the sons of Gershom g throughout their families, out of the tribe of Issachar, and out of the tribe of Asher, and out of the tribe of Naphtali, and out of the tribe of Manasseh in Bashan, thirteen cities.

g Understand here, cities were given, which is also understood, v. 61, and expressed, v. 63.

63 Unto the sons of Merari were given by lot throughout their families, out of the tribe of Reuben, and out of the tribe of Gad, and out of the tribe of Zebulun, * twelve cities.

* Josh. 21. 7.

64 And the children of Israel gave to the Levites h these cities i with their suburbs.

h i. e. To the Tribe of Levi, consisting of Priests and other Levites. i Which are numbred or named in this Chapter.

65 And they gave k by lot out of the tribe of the children of Judah, and out of the tribe of the children of Simeon, and out of the tribe of the children of Benjamin, these cities which are called by their names l.

k Or, by Lot. l Or, by their names.

k To wit, to those Levites of the Family of Kohath who were Priests, as appears both by v. 57, &c. where the Cities given to the Aaronites are said to be taken out of the Tribes here named, even out of Judah, (under which Simeon is comprehended, because his Lot lay within that of Judah) and Benjamin; and by the next Verse where the other Kohathites who were not Priests are called, the residue of the Families of the Sons of Kohath, by way of distinction from those of them to whom this v. 61. relates. l Which are expressed by their Names afterwards, v. 57, &c.

66 And the residue of the families of the sons of Kohath, had cities of their coasts m out of the tribe of Ephraim.

m Or, of their borders, i. e. of their Country contained within its borders, as that word is often used, as hath been noted before.

67 * And they n gave unto them o of the cities of re- * Josh. 21. fuge p, Shechem in mount Ephraim with her suburbs: they gave also Gezer with her suburbs.

n Either the Ephraimites: or rather the Children of Israel, as it is expressed v. 64. who gave part out of Ephraim, and part out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, as it here follows. But the Ephraimites could not give away any Cities belonging to the Manassites, v. i. c. To the residue of the Kohathites last mentioned. p Or, the cities (i. e. the City: the plural number used of one; of which frequent Examples have been given before, see ch. 7. 3. 12, 13.) of refuge. Or, cities, (the construct form being put for the absolute, of which there wants not Examples in the Hebrew Language) the City of refuge. As to the Names of these Cities, divers of them are differing from those Names which were given to them, Josh. 21. 15. Nor is it at all strange that the Names of Places should be changed in so many hundreds of years as were between Joshua and this time. And to the Cities themselves, this is further to be observed, that they are dispersed among all the Tribes, partly that Jacob's Prophecy might be fulfilled concerning the scattering of Levi, Gen. 49. 7. and partly that every Tribe might have Teachers among them by whom they might be directed in, and quickened to the observation of God's Laws, upon which their safety and happiness wholly depended.

* See Josh. 21. 22, 24, 35. where many of these Cities know other names.

68 And * Jokmeam with her suburbs, and Beth-horon with her suburbs, 69 And Ajalon with her suburbs, and Gath-rimmon with her suburbs.

70 And out of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Aner with her suburbs, and Bileam with her Suburbs, for the family of the remnant of the Sons of Kohath.

71 Unto the Sons of Gershom were given out of the family of the half-tribe of Manasseh, Golan in Bashan with her suburbs, and Ashtaroth with her Suburbs.

72 And out of the tribe of Issachar, Kadesh with her suburbs, Daberath with her Suburbs, 73 And Ramoth with her suburbs, and Anem with her suburbs.

74 And out of the tribe of Asher, Mashal with her suburbs, and Abdon with her suburbs, 75 And Hukok with her suburbs, and Rehob with her suburbs.

76 And out of the tribe of Naphthali, Kedesh in Galilee with her suburbs, and Hammon with her suburbs, and Kirjathaim with her suburbs.

77 Unto the rest of the children of Merari, were given out of the tribe of Zebulun, Rimmon with her suburbs, Tabor with her suburbs.

78 And on the other side Jordan by Jericho, on the east-side of Jordan were given them out of the tribe of Reuben, Bezer in the wilderness with her suburbs, and Jahzah with her suburbs, 79 Kedemoth also with her suburbs, and Mephaath with her suburbs.

80 And out of the tribe of Gad, Ramoth in Gilead with her suburbs, and Mahanaim with her suburbs, 81 And Heshbon with her suburbs, and Jazer with her suburbs.

The Sons of Issachar, 1——5. Of Benjamin, 6——12. Of Naphtali, 13. Of Manasseh, 14——19. Of Ephraim: Their Calamity: and Habitations, 20——29. Of Asher, 30——40.

NOw the sons of Issachar were, * Tola, and ‖ Puah, Jashub a, and Shimron, four.

a called by way of contradiction, Job, Gen. 46. 13.

2 And the sons of Tola; Uzzi, and Rephaiah, and Jeriel, and Jahmai, Jibsam, and Shemuel, heads of their fathers house, to wit, of Tola: they were valiant men of

* 2 Sam. 24. 1, 2. might in their generations, * whose number was in the days of David b, two and twenty thousand and six hundred.

b When he numbered the People, 2 Sam. 24. 1, &c.

3 And the sons c of Uzzi, Izrahiah: and the sons of Izrahiah; Michael, and Obadiah, and Joel, Ishiah, five d: all of them chief men.

c For, the son: for he names but one Son. d Including their Father Izrahiah.

4 And with them by their generations, after the house of their fathers were bands of souldiers for war, six and thirty thousand men e: for they had many Wives and sons.

e To wit, of the Posterity of Uzzi, as the other 22600, v. 2. were the Posterity of Tobah.

5 And their brethren among all the families of Issachar, were men of might, reckoned in all by their genealogies four score and seven thousand.

6 The sons of * Benjamin; Bela, and Becher, and * Gen. 46. Jediael, three f. 21.

f They were Ten, Gen. 46. 21. and five of them are named, ch. 8. 1. but here only three are mentioned, either because these were most Eminent for Courage or Fruitfulness; or because the other Families were now extinct.

7 And the sons of Bela; Ezbon, and Uzzi, and Uzziel, and Jerimoth, and Iri, five; heads of the house of their fathers g, mighty men of valour, and were reckoned by their genealogies, twenty and two thousand and thirty and four.

g Each of them Head, or Chief, or Commander of that House or Family from which he was descended, or to which he belonged. For it may seem by comparing this with ch. 8. 3, &c. that these were not the immediate sons of Bela, but his Grandchildren descended each from a several Father; and their Fathers are here omitted, peradventure because they were obscure persons, as their Sons are mentioned for their Eminency.

8 And the sons of Becher; Zemira, and Joash, and Eliezer, and Elioenai, and Omri, and Jerimoth, and Abiah, and Anathoth, and Alameth. All these are the sons of Becher.

9 And the number of them after their genealogy by their generations, heads of the house of their fathers, mighty men of valour, was twenty thousand and two hundred.

10 The sons also of Jediael, Bilhan: and the sons of Bilhan, Jeush, and Benjamin, and Ehud, and Chenaanah, and Zethan, and Tarshish, and Ahishahar.

11 All these the sons of Jediael, by the heads of their fathers, mighty men of valour, were seventeen thousand and two hundred souldiers fit to go out for war and battel.

12 Shuppim also and Huppim h, the children of ‖ Ir, ‖ Or, and Hushim, the sons of ‖ Aher i. Hir. ‖ Or, Ahir.

h Called Muppim and Huppim, Gen. 46. 21. also Hupham and Mupham, Numb. 26. 39. i But divers take the Hebrew word Aher for a Common, not Proper Name, and render the words thus, another son, or the son of another Family or Tribe, to wit, of Dan, as may be gathered, 1. from Gen. 46. 23. where Hushim is mentioned as the only son of Dan, where also the word son is used of that one Man, as it is here. 2. From the Clause of the next Verse, the sons of Bilhah, who was Mother both to Dan and Naphtali. 3. Because otherwise the Genealogy of Dan is quite left out. 4. From the word another, which is used in the Hebrew Writers to design an Abominable thing which the Writer disdained to mention; whence they call a Swine, which to them was a very unclean and loathsome Creature, another thing. And it must be remembred that the Tribe of Dan had made themselves and their Memory Infamous and Detestable by that grosse Idolatry, which began first and continued longest in that Tribe, Judg. 18. For which reason many Interpreters conceive this Tribe is omitted in the numbering of the sealed Persons, Rev. 7.

13 The sons of Naphtali; Jahziel, and Guni, and Jezer, and * Shallum, the sons k of Bilhah. * Gen. 46. 24.

k i. e. The Grandchildren: for Bilhah was Jacob's Concubine, and 24. Mother both to Naphtali, the Father of these last named Persons, and Lor. to Dan. See on v. 12.

14 The sons l of Manasseh; Asriel, whom she bare m, (but his concubine the Aramitesse bare Machir the father of Gilead n.

l i. e. Grandchildren, as v. 13. For both Asriel and Zelophehad were the Grandchildren of Machir Son of Manasseh, Numb. 26. 29, &c. and 27. 1. m To wit, his Wife, as may be thought, because his Concubine is here opposed to her. Or, whom he got; for the Hebrew Word yalad is sometimes used of Mens begetting, as Gen. 4. 18, &c. Compare Psal. 2. 7. But these and the following words may be otherwise rendred according to the Hebrew Text, whom his Concubine the Aramitesse bare, who bare him (which Ellipses are very frequent in the Hebrew) for meerly, of, or by Machir: So this was a differing Asriel from him named Numb. 26. 31. for that was Gilead's Son, and this his Brother. n A Person so called, as is manifest from v. 17. and Numb. 26. 29.

15 And Machir took to wife the Sister o of Huppim, and Shuppim, whose sisters name was Maacah) and the name of the second p was Zelophehad: and Zelophehad had daughters q.

o Which Word is here fitly understood out of the following Clause, where it is expressed, and she is called Maacah, who also is called the wife of Machir, v. 16. p Of the second Son or Grandson of Machir; for so Zelophehad was, Numb. 26. 29, &c. Or, Zelophehad is here called the second, because he was the younger Brother of Asriel, who was the eldest son of Hepher, the Son of Gilead, the Son of Machir. q i. e. Onely Daughters, and no Sons.

16 And Maacah the wife of Machir bare a son, and she called his name Peresh, and the name of his brother was Sheresh, and his sons were Ulam and Rakem.

17 And the sons of Ulam, * Bedan. These r were the sons of Gilead, the son of Machir, the son of Manasseh. * 1 Sam. 12. 11.

r To wit, Asriel and Zelophehad, named, v. 14, 15. the Relative being here referred to the remoter Antecedent; as is frequent in the Hebrew.

18 And his sister s Hammoleketh bare Ishod, and Abiezer, and Mahalah t.

s i. e. Gilead's

s i. e. Gilead's Sister. t Understand, and Shemida, out of the next Verse.

19 And the sons of Shemida were Ahian, and Shechem, and Likhi, and Aniam.

20 And the sons of Ephraim; Shuthelah, and Bered his son u, and Tahath his son, and Eladah his son, and Tahath his son, u Either, 1. the Son of Shuthelah; and so Tahath the son of Bered; and so the rest, which make up seven succeeding Generations. Or, 2. the son of Ephraim, and so Tahath is the son not of Bered, but of Ephraim, and so forward. And thus all these were Brethren, and Sons or Grandchildren of Ephraim living together at one time with their Father. Obj. This cannot be, because then Ephraim had two Sons called Shuthelah, and two called Tahath. Answ. That might easily happen; either because the first Shuthelah and Tahath were dead before the other two of those Names were born: or because two of them were Ephraim's Sons, and two of them his Grandchildren called after their Uncles Names. For this is certain, the Name of Sons is promiscuously used concerning immediate Children, and Grandchildren, and Great Grandchildren.

21 And Zabad his son, and Shutelah his son, and Ezer, and Elead, whom the men of Gath that were born in that land, slew x, because they came down to take away their cattel.

x This History is not recorded elsewhere in Scripture, but it is in the ancient Hebrew Writers, though mixed with many Fables. The Philistins (one of whose Cities this Gath was) and the Egyptians were next Neighbours; and in those Ancient Times it was usual for such to make Inroads one into anothers Country, and to carry thence what they could take; as we find both in Scripture and in profane Writers. And as the Philistins had probably made such Inroads formerly into Egypt, and particularly into the Land of Goshen, which was the utmost part of Egypt bordering upon the Philistins Land; so the Israelites might require them in the like kind: and particularly the Children of Ephraim, either presuming upon their Numbers and Strength; or having possibly received the greatest Injury from the Philistins in their last Invasion, might make an Attempt upon the Philistins to their own great loss; as is here related. And this seems to have happened a little before the Egyptian Perfection, and before the Reign of that new King mentioned, Exod. 1. 8. The Philistins are here called the men of Gath, either because they were subject to the King of Gath, as afterwards that People were; or because they lived about Gath. And this Clause, that were born in that land, may be added emphatically, as the Motive which made them more resolute and furious in their Fight with the Ephraimites, because they fought in, and for their own Land, wherein all their Wealth and Concerns lay, and against those that unjustly endeavoured to turn them out of their Native Country.

22 And Ephraim their father y mourned many days, and his brethren z came to comfort him.

y Either, 1. That Ephraim of whom he speaks, v. 20. whose Sons are here named. But that so many seems hard, especially if these several Sons named, v. 20, 21. be understood successively so as each Man be the son of him who is named next and immediately before him, which seems most probable; for so here are Seven Successive Generations of Ephraim, which it is not likely that Ephraim lived to see; for then he must have been near 200 years old. Although it is not necessary that the Persons here said to be slain, should be that Generation which was last mentioned; but the Particle whom may belong to the other Sons of Ephraim of the fourth, or fifth, or sixth Generation. Nor is the word, whom, in the Hebrew Text, which runs thus, and the men of Gath——slew them, i. e. the Sons of Ephraim in the general, as they are expressed in the beginning of v. 20. without respect to this or that particular Generation. And the relative Particle, them, may be referred not unto the Persons last named, but unto some of the other and more remote Persons: this being a common Observation of Hebricians, that the Relative often belongs to the remoter Antecedent. Or, 2. Zabad the Father of the three Persons and Families last named, who might possibly have two Names, and be called both Zabad and Ephraim. Or rather the Name of Ephraim may be put patronymically (as the Learned speak) for the Son and Successor of Ephraim; meaning now in Ephraim's stead, the Head of the Tribe, as old Ephraim was in his time, might well be called by the same name. Thus Isaac is put for his Son Jacob or Israel, Amos 7. 9. and Moses for the Sons of Moses, Psal. 90. Title, and David for his Son Rehoboam, 1 King. 12. 16. and for Christ, Jer. 30. 9. Ezek. 34. 23. and (as many think) Abraham for Jacob, Abraham's Grandchild, Acts 7. 16. And these words, their Father, seem to be added by way of distinction, to shew that he meant not this of the old Ephraim, but of another, who was Father to the three Persons said to be slain, v. 21. For if he had understood this of the first Ephraim, having called these the Sons of Ephraim, it might seem superfluous and tautological to tell us that Ephraim was their father. z i. e. His Kinsman, as that Word is frequently used.

23 And when he went into his wife, she conceived and bare a son, and he called his name Beriah, because it went evil with his house.

24 (And his daughter a was Sherah, who built b Beth-horon the nether, and the upper, and Uzzen-sherah.)

Or rather Azzah, as it is in the Margent of our Bible; the Particle, ai, here rendred unto, being a part of the Name; for why should unto be put to this Town, which is not put to any of the other?

The Sons and Chief Men of Benjamin, 1——34. The Stock of Saul and Jonathan, 35——40.

1 NOw Benjamin a begat * Bela b his first-born, Ash- * Gen. 46. bel the second, and Aharah the third, 21. Numb. 26. 38.

a He had spoken something of this Tribe before, ch. 7. 6. but now he treats of it again, and that more fully and exactly; partly for Saul's sake, who was of this Tribe; and partly, because this Tribe adhered to David and the Kingdom of Judah, and went with Judah into Babylon; and now were returned from thence in greater Numbers than the other Tribes, except Judah. b So called by Moses: but the Names of the reft vary from those in Moses: either because the same Person had two several Names, as hath been often noted: or because these were not the immediate sons of Benjamin, but his Grandchildren here mentioned in their Parents stead, possibly because they were more eminent than their Parents.

2 Nohah the fourth, and Rapha the fifth.

3 And the sons of Bela, were ‖ Addar, and Gera, and ‖ Or, Ard. Abihud, Gen. 46.

4 And Abishua, and Naaman, and Ahoah, 21.

5 And Gera, and ‖ Shephuphan, and Huram. ‖ Or, Shupham, Numb. 26. 39.

6 And these c are the sons of Ehud: these are the heads of the fathers of the Inhabitants of Geba d, and they removed them e to * Manahath: * Ch. 2. 52

c Either those three last mentioned: or rather those following, v. 7. because he here speaks of them who were removed, and they are said to be removed, v. 7. He describes the Sons of Benjamin by the Places of their Habitation, without an exact Account of their Parents: because their Genealogies were broken by that almost total Extirpation of this Tribe, Judg. 20. e Either their Fathers, or their Heads or Superiours removed them: or they removed themselves; either because they were too numerous for that place: or because they desired to change their Habitation, and hoped it would be for the better, and judged Manahath a more convenient Place.

7 And Naaman, and Ahiah, and Gera, he f removed them, and begat Uzza, and Ahihud g.

f Either, 1. Their Father: Or, 2. Gera last mentioned, who, it seems, was the Chief Councellor or Promoter of this Work. g Whom he was feated in Manahath.

8 And Shaharaim begat children in the country of Moab h, after he i had sent them away. Hushim and Baara were his wives k.

h Whither he had removed himself either at the same time when Elimelech died, Ruth 1. 1, &c. or upon the same or like occasion. i Dead or Gera last mentioned. k Others joyn these Words with the former, and render the place thus, after he had sent them (to wit, his Sons) away with Hushim and Baara his wives, i. e. as he also sent his Wives away him. Which may be here mentioned as a Brand upon him, to shew that he was without natural Affection to his Wives and Children. And it seems the more probable that he divorced them, because we find him married to another Wife, v. 9.

9 And he begat of Hodesh his wife, Jobab, and Zibia, and Mesha, and Malcham, 10 And Jeuz, and Shachiah, and Mirma. These were his sons, heads of the fathers.

11 And of Hushim he begat Ahitub, and Elpaal.

12 The sons of Elpaal; Eber, and Misham, and Shamed, who built Ono, and Lod l with the towns thereof.

l Of which see Ezr. 2. 33. Nehem. 7. 37. and 11. 35.

13 Beriah also and Shema, who were heads of the fathers of the inhabitants of Ajalon m, who drove away the inhabitants of Gath n.

m A Place formerly belonging to the Tribe of Dan, Jos. 19. 42. but after the return from Babylon possessed by the Benjamites, because both Dan and the rest of the ten Tribes were yet for the generality of them in Captivity, and but few of them returned. n Either, 1. At that time when they made such a slaughter among Ephraims Children, ch. 7. 21. and were possibly pursuing their Victory, till they were driven back by their Benjamites who came to the Succour of their Brethren. Or, 2. Now when they were returned from the Captivity, and found the Men of Gath possessed of Ajalon. Or, 3. At some other time not mentioned in Scripture.

14 And Ahio, Shashak, and Jerimoth, 15 And Zebediah, and Arad, and Ader,

16 And Michael, and Ispah, and Joha, the sons of Beriah,

17 And Zebadiah, and Meshullam, and Hezeki, and Heber, 18 Ishmerai also, and Jezliah, and Jobab, the sons of Elpaal.

19 And Jakim, and Zichri, and Zabdi,

20 And Elionai, and Zilthai, and Eliel,

21 And Adajah, and Berajah, and Shimrath, the sons of Shimhi.

‖ Or, Shc-muel, v. 13.

22 And Ishpan, and Heber, and Eliel,

23 And Abdon, and Zichri, and Hanan,

24 And Hananiah, and Elam, and Antothijah,

25 And Iphedeiah, and Penuel, the sons of Shashak.

26 And Shamsherai, and Shehariah, and Athaliah,

27 And Jaresiah, and Eliah, and Zichri, the sons of Jeroham.

28 These were heads of the fathers by their generations, chief men. These o dwelt in Jerusalem.

o All these named from v. 12. to this place.

‖ Called Ezbiel, ch. 9. 35.

29 And at Gibeon dwelt the ‖ father of Gibeon p (whose * wives name was Maacha:)

p i. e. The Chief or Ruler of the Benjamites dwelling there.

* Chap. 9. 35.

30 And his first-born son Abdon, and Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Nadab, 31 And Gedor, and Ahio, and ‖ Zacher.

‖ Or, Zechariah, Ch. 9. 37.

32 And Mikloth begat ‖ Shimeah. And these also dwelt with their brethren q in Jerusalem, over against them r.

‖ Or, Shimeam, Ch. 9. 38.

q i.e. With those other Benjamites spoken of v. 28. r In some Street or part of Jerusalem, which was over against that where their Brethren dwelt.

* 1 Sam. 14. 51.

33 And * Ner begat Kish, and Kish begat Saul, and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchishuah, and Abinadab, ‖ Or, Ish-bosheth, 2 Sam. 2. 8.

and ‖ Eshbaal.

34 And the son of Jonathan, was ‖ Merib-baal, and Merib-baal begat * Micah.

‖ Or, Mephibosheth, 2 Sam. 4. 4 and 9. 12.

35 And the sons of Micah, were Pithon, and Melech, and ‖ Tarea, and Ahaz.

‖ Or, Tahrea, Ch. 9. 41.

36 And Ahaz begat Jehoada, and Jehoada begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri, and Zimri begat Moza, 37 And Moza begat Binea: Rapha was his son, Eleasa his son, Azel his son, 38 And Azel had six sons, whose names are these, Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ishmael, and Sheraiah, and Obadiah, and Hanan. All these were the sons of Azel.

39 And the sons of Eshak his brother, were Ulam his first-born, Jehush the second, and Eliphelet the third.

40 And the sons of Ulam were mighty men of valour, archers s, and had many sons, and sons sons, an hundred and fifty. All these are of the sons of Benjamin.

s Heb. That tread the bow: For the Bows of Steel, which these used, required great Strength to bend them; which therefore they did by treading the Bow with their Feet, and pulling the String with both their Hands.

CHAP. IX.

The Chief of the Tribe of Judah, Benjamin, Ephraim, and Manasseh, who returned from Captivity, and dwelt at Jerusalem, 1——9. Also the Priests and Levites, and how they executed their Office in the Temple at Jerusalem, 10——34. The Family of Saul, 35——44.

1 SO all Israel were reckoned by genealogies: and behold, they were written in the book of the kings of Israel and Judah a, who b were carried away to Babylon for their transgression.

a Not in that Sacred and Canonical Book so called, but (as hath been oft observed before) in the Publick Records, wherein there was an Account of that Kingdom, and of the several Families in it, according to their Genealogies. b i.e. Which Tribe or People of Judah last mentioned.

2 Now the first inhabitants c that dwelt in their possessions, in their cities d, were the Israelites e, the priests, Levites f, and the Nethinims g.

c The first after the Return from Babylon. d i.e. That took possession of their own Lands and Cities, which had been for merly allotted to them; but of late years had been taken from them for their Sins, and possessed by other People. e i.e. The common People of Judah and Israel, called here by the general Name of Israelites, which was given to them before that unhappy Division of the two Kingdoms, and now is reffored to them when the Israelites are united with the Jews in one and the same Commonwealth, that so all the Names and Signs of their former Division might be blotted out. And although the generality of the ten Tribes were yet in Captivity, yet divers of them were now returned, either such as had long before the Captivity fled to Jerusalem to Worship God, and joined themselves with Judah, as those 2 Chron. 11. 16. and others. Or such as, upon Cyrus his general Proclamation, associated themselves, and returned with those of Judah and Benjamin. f These took possession of the Cities or Places belonging to them, as they had need and opportunity. g A certain Order of Men, either Gibeonites, or others joyned with them, devoted to the Service of God, and of his House, and of the Priests and Levites; who, that they might attend upon their Work without Distraction, had certain Places and Possessions given to them; which they are now said to repossess.

3 And in * Jerusalem dwelt of the children of Judah and of the children of Benjamin, and of the children of Ephraim, and Manasseh h.

h i.e. Some of each of these Tribes; either such as offered themselves; or such as were chosen by Lot: See Nehem. 11. 1, 2.

4 Uthai, the son of Ammihud i, the son of Omri, the son of Imri, the son of Bani, of the children of Pharez the son of Judah.

i That there is so great a Diversity of Names between this Catalogue and that Nehem. 11. may be ascribed to two Causes: 1. To the Custom of the Hebrews, who used very frequently to give two or three several Names to one Person: And, 2. To the change of Times: for here they are named who came up at the first Return; but many of those in Nehemiah might be such as returned afterward, and came and dwelt either in stead of the Persons here named, who might be then dead, or gone from Jerusalem, or with them.

5 And of the Shilonites k, Asajah l the first-born, and his sons.

k Or, Shelanites, as they are called from Shelah, Numb. 26. 20. l Called also Maaseiah, Nehem. 11. 5.

6 And of the sons of Zerah; Jeuel, and their brethren, six hundred and ninety.

7 And of the sons of Benjamin; Sallu the son of Meshullam m, the son of Hodaviah, the son of Hasenuah.

m Who is mentioned, but described by other Parents, Neh. 11. 7. or at least by Persons under other Names. Possibly these were his more immediate, and those his more remote Parents: or he might be born of one, and adopted by another. For this is certain, Men are sometimes in Scripture called the Sons of those who adopted them, or whose Right of Inheritance fell to them.

8 And Ibnejah the son of Jeroham, and Elah the son of Uzzi, the son of Michri, and Meshullam the son of Shophatiah, the son of Reuel, the son of Ibnijah;

9 And their brethren according to their generations, nine hundred and fifty six o. All these men were chief of the fathers in the house of their fathers.

o They are reckoned but 928. in Neh. 11. 8. either because there he mentions only those that were by Lot determined to dwell at Jerusalem, to whom he here adds those who freely offered themselves to it: See Neh. 11. 1, 2. because some of the Persons and Families first placed there were dead or extinguished, or else removed from Jerusalem upon some emergent occasion.

10 And of the priests; Jedajah, and Jehojarib, and Jachin, 11 And Azariah p the son of Hilkiah q, the son of Meshullam, the son of Zadok, the son of Meraioth, the son of Ahitub, the ruler of the house of God r.

p The same called Seraiah, Nehem. 11. 11. q Either of him in Josiah's time, 2 King. 22. 8. or rather another of the same name. r Or, a ruler in the house of God: Not the High-Priest, who was Eyri, Ezr. 3. 8. but a Chief Ruler under him; either the second Priest, as such are called, Numb. 3. 32. or the Head of one of the 24 Families or Courses of the Priests.

12 And Adaiah the son of Jeroham, the son of Pashur s, the son of Malchijah, and Maasai the son of Adiel, the son of Jahzerah, the son of Meshullam, the son of Meshillemith, the son of Immer.

s i.e. His Great Grandson, as appears from Neh. 11. 12, 13.

13 And their brethren, heads of the house of their fathers, a thousand and seven hundred and threescore, † very able men t for the work of the service of the house of God.

† Heb. mighty men of valour

t Heb. mighty men of valour: Which is here noted as an excellent Qualification for their Place: because the Priests might meet with great Opposition and Difficulty in the faithful Discharge of their Office, in the Execution of the Censures upon all Impure Persons without Exception, and in preserving Sacred things from Violation by the Touch of Forbidden Hands. Of which see an eminent Instance in Azariah, 2 Chron. 26. 17, &c.

14 And of the Levites; Shemajah the son of Hashub, the son of Azrikam, the son of Hashabiah, of the sons of Merari.

15 And Bakbakkar, Heresh, and Galal: and Mattaniah the son of Micah, the son of Zichri, the son of Asaph.

16 And Obadiah the son of Shemajah, the son of Galal, the son of Jeduthun: and Berechiah the son of Asa, the son of Elkanah, that dwelt in the villages of the Netophathite u.

u Or, Netophathites; which were in Judah, ch. 2. 54. Here they now dwelt, either because their proper Cities were not yet built: or because they were not yet numerous enough to replenish them.

17 And the porters x were Shallum, and Akkub, and Talmon, and Ahiman, and their brethren. Shallum was the chief.

x Whose Office it was to keep all the Gates of the Temple, that no unclean Person or Thing might enter into it.

18 (Who hitherto waited in the kings gate y eastward) They were porters in the companies z of the children of Levi.

y In the East-gate of the Temple, which was so called, either because it was the Chief and most Magnificent of all the Gates: or because the Kings of Judah used to go to the Temple through that Gate, 2 King. 16. 18. Compare Ezek. 44. 1, 2. Under this Gate he comprehends all the rest, which also were guarded by these Porters. z Or, according to the companies, or orders, or courses, i.e. They kept the Gates successively, according to that Method into which themselves and the rest of their Brethren the Levites were distributed, for the more convenient management of their several Offices; among which this of the Porters was one.

19 And Shallum the son of Kore, the son of Ebiasaph, the son of Korah, and his brethren (of the house of his father) the Korhites were over the work of the service, keepers of the † gates of the tabernacle a: and their fathers b being over the host of the LORD c, were keepers of the entry d.

a Or, who were, to wit, in time past, which is expressed in a like case, v. 20. when the Tabernacle was standing, before the Temple was built. b The Korhathites, of whom see on Numb. 4. 4. c Or, with (as this Hebrew Particle is oft used) the host, &c. i. e. When the Israelites were in the Wilderness, encamped in a military manner round about the Tabernacle, with, or among whom these were then placed. d i.e. Of the Vail by which they entred into the Tabernacle; which he calls the entry distinctively, because then there were no Gates. The meaning is, That all things were now reffored to their Primitive Order and Institution; and the several Persons took those Places and Offices upon them, which their Ancestors had before them.

* Num. 31. 6.

20 And * Phineas the son of Eleazar was the ruler over them e in time past, and the LORD was with him f.

e i.e. Over all the Porters, and other Levites and Priests before mentioned. f To direct, and assist, and bless him in the discharge of his Place. Which seems here related to encourage his Successor, and consequently all the Priests and Levites of this time to go on courageously and resolutely in their Work, not doubting but God will stand by them as he had done by their Fathers.

21 And Zechariah the son of Meshelemiah, was g porter h of the door of the tabernacle i of the congregation.

g To wit, in the time of David, as the following Verse sheweth. See ch. 26. 1, 2. and 27. 2. h i.e. Chief Porter. i i. e. Of the Door which led out of the Priests Court into the Tabernacle, in which the Ark was placed, 2 Kohan. 6. 17.

22 All these which were chosen to be porters in the gates, were two hundred and twelve. These were reckoned by their genealogy in their villages k: whom * David and Samuel the * seer † did ordain l in their ‖ set office m.

* Ch. 26. 1, 2. * 1 Sam. 9. 9. † Heb. founded. ‖ Or, trust.

k Where their usual Residence was, and whence they came to Jerusalem in their Courses. l In the times of the Judges there was much Disorder and Confusion both in the Jewish State and Church, and the Levites came to the Tabernacle promiscuously, and as their Inclinations or Occasions brought them. But Samuel the best of Judges, having some prospect and good hopes of deliverance from their Enemies, and of an happy Settlement of the Israelitish Church and Nation; and observing that the Levites were greatly increased, he began to think of establishing some Order among the Levites in their Ministration about the Tabernacle. And these Intentions of his probably were communicated by him to David, who after Samuel's Death, and his own peaceable Settlement in his Throne, revived and perfected Samuel's Delign, and took care to put it in Execution. m Heb. in their faith, or faithfulness, this is required in that Office. Or, 2. In the Faithful Discharge of their Duty, and in obedience to the Will of God, signified to them by Revelation, or by the spirit, as it is said of David, 1 Chron. 28. 12. which they received by Faith, and accordingly designed, and David executed it. And so this is added to shew, that this was no Humane Invention, as some might conceive, but a Divine Appointment, to which all ought to submit.

23 So they and their children had the oversight n of the gates of the house of the LORD, namely, the house of the tabernacle o, by wards p.

n To wit, in David's time. o This is added to explain what he means by the House of the Lord, not that Tabernacle which David had set up for the Ark; but that more solemn Tabernacle, which Moses had made by God's express Command and most particular Direction; which in David's time was at Gibeon; in which God was, and &c. 2 Chron. 1. 3, 5, &c. p i. e. By Turns or Courses, each of them at his Gate, and in his appointed time.

24 In four quarters were the porters q: toward the east, west, north, and south.

q i.e. The Chief Porters, as this is explained, v. 26.

25 And their brethren which were in their villages, were to come r after seven days s, from time to time with them t.

r From their several Villages to the Place of Worship. s Every Sabbath or Seventh Day the Courses were changed, and the New Comers were to tarry till the the next Sabbath-day. See 2 King. 11. 5, 7. t i.e. To be with them, i.e. with the Chief Porters, who always abode in the Place of God's Worship, and to minister to them.

26 For these Levites, the four chief porters, were in their ‖ set office u; and were over the ‖ chambers and treasuries x of the house of God.

‖ Or, trust. ‖ Or, there.

u i.e. These were constantly upon the place, and in the execution of their Office, that so they might more exactly observe and direct the inferiour Porters in their Work. Or, as others render the Words, agreeably to the Hebrew Text, For these (i.e. their Brethren, v. 25.) were set to the charge, or committed to the truft of the four chief porters, who also were Levites, as their Brethren were: whereas the Chief of all of them was a Priest. Either way these Words contain a Reason of what was said, v. 25. why the rest were to come to these, and to be with them. x In which the Sacred Utensils, and other Treasures belonging to the Temple, were kept.

27 And they lodged round about the house of God y, because the charge was upon them, and † the opening thereof every morning pertained to them.

† Heb. was the key. S. over y Therefore they were obliged to constant Residence in the Place: Gr. and were not permitted to dwell in the Villages, as their Brethren were.

28 And certain of them had the charge of the ministring vessels, that they should † bring them in and out by tale.

† Heb. bring them in and carry them out by tale.

‖ Or, stuff.

30 And ‖ some of the sons of the priests made * the ointment of the spices z.

‖ Or, But * Exod. 30. 23.

z This is added to prevent a Mistake, and to shew, that although the Levites were intrusted with the keeping of this Ointment, yet none but the Priests could make it. See Exod. 30. 22, &c.

31 And Mattithiah, one of the Levites (who was the first-born of Shallum the Korhite) had the ‖ set office over the things that were made ‖ in the pans a.

‖ Or, trust. ‖ Or, on a i.e. Was to take care that Fine Flour might be provided and kept safely and well, that when occasion required they might make Cakes in Pans to be offered to the Lord: of which see on Levi. 2. 5. or, fluices.

32 And other of their brethren of the sons of the Kohathites, were over the † shew-bread b to prepare it every sabbath.

† Heb. bread of ordering.

b Of which see Exod. 35. 13.

33 And these c are d * the singers, chief of the fathers of the Levites, who remaining in the chambers e, were free f: for † they were employed in that work g day and night h.

* Ch. 6. 31, 32, 25. † Heb. upon them.

c i.e. Others of the Levites; of whose several Offices he had spoken before. d Or rather, were: which is understood, and all along in the foregoing and following Verses, and again in this very Verse. e Where they waited, that they might be ready to come whensoever they were called to the Service of God in the Tabernacle. f From all Trouble and Employment, that they might wholly attend upon the proper Work. g Either composing or ordering Sacred Songs: or actually singing; or teaching others to sing them. h i. e. Continually, and particularly in the Morning and Evening, the two times appointed for solemn Service and Offerings.

34 These chief fathers of the Levites, were chief throughout their generations: these dwelt at Jerusalem i.

i Upon their return from Babylon they were not suffered to chuse their Habitations in the Country, as others were, but were obliged to settle themselves at Jerusalem, that they might constantly attend upon God's Service there, and be ready to instruct the younger Levites in their Office, as they needed or desired it.

35 And in Gibeon dwelt the father of Gibeon, Jehiel † whose wifes name was Maacha k:

† Heb. whose father's name was

k In this and the following verses to the end of this Chapter he repeats what he said before, ch. 8. 29. &c. concerning Saul's Genealogy, that he might make way for the following History. Which is a figure called Epanalepsis, which is frequent both in Sacred and Profane Writers.

36 And his first-born son Abdon, then Zur, and Kish, and Baal, and Ner, and Nadab, 37 And Gedor, and Ahio, and Zechariah, and Mikloth.

38 And Mikloth begat Shimeam, and they also dwelt with their brethren at Jerusalem over against their brethren.

39 * And Ner begat Kish, and Kish begat Saul, and Saul begat Jonathan, and Malchi-shua, and Abinadab, and Eshbaal. * Ch. 8. 33.

40 And

40 And the son of Jonathan was Merib-baal: and Merib-baal begat Micah.

41 And the sons of Micah were Pithon, and Melech, and Tahrea, * and Ahaz.

42 And Ahaz begat Jarah, and Jarah begat Alemeth, and Azmaveth, and Zimri: and Zimri begat Moza.

43 And Moza begat Binea: and Rephaiah his son, Eleasah his son, Azel his son.

44 And Azel had six sons, whose names are these: Azrikam, Bocheru, and Ishmael, and Sheariah, and Obadiah, and Hanan. These were the sons of Azel.

CHAP. X.

Saul's Overthrow and Death, 1——7. The Philistines triumph over Saul, 8——10. The Kindness of Jabesh-Gilead towards Saul and his Sons: His Sin, 11——14.

1 NOW * the Philistins fought against Israel a, and the men of Israel fled from before the Philistins, and fell down ‖ slain in mount Gilboa.

2 Of this and the following Verses till v. 13. see my Notes on 1 Sam. 31. where we have the same thing expressed almost in the same words.

2 And the Philistins followed hard after Saul, and after his sons, and the Philistins slew Jonathan, and ‖ Abinadab, and Malchi-shua, the sons of Saul.

3 And the battel went fore against Saul, and the † archers † hit him: and he was wounded of the archers.

4 Then said Saul to his armour-bearer, Draw thy sword, and thrust me through therewith, lest these uncircumcised come, and ‖ abuse me: but his armour-bearer would not, for he was sore afraid. So Saul took a sword, and fell upon it.

5 And when his armour-bearer saw that Saul was dead, he fell likewise on the sword, and died.

6 So Saul died, and his three sons, and all his house b died together.

b i. e. All his Children, to wit, then present with him, namely, his three sons, as it is expressed, 1 Sam. 31. 6. For it is evident that Ishbosheth and Mephibosheth were not slain. But nothing is more common in Scripture and all Authors, than to understand all of a great and most considerable part.

7 And when all the men of Israel that were in the valley c, saw that they fled, and that Saul and his sons were dead, then they forsook their cities, and fled, and the Philistins came and dwelt in them.

c Which was beneath Mount Gilboa, where the Fight was, v. 1.

8 And it came to pass on the morrow, when the Philistins came to strip the slain, that they found Saul and his sons fallen in mount Gilboa.

9 And when they had stripped him, they took his head, and his armour, and sent into the land of the Philistins round about, to carry tidings unto their idols, and to the people.

10 And they put his armour in the house of their gods, and fastened his head in the † temple of Dagon d.

d And his Body severed from his Head to the Wall of Bethshan, 1 Sam. 31. 10.

11 And when all Jabesh-gilead heard all that the Philistins had done to Saul:

12 They arose, all the valiant men, and took away the body of Saul, and the bodies of his sons, and brought them to Jabesh, and buried their bones under the oak in Jabesh, and fasted seven days e.

e To wit, every Day till Evening, after the manner of the Jewish Fasts.

13 So Saul died for his transgression f which he † committed against the LORD, * even against the word of the LORD g, which he kept not; and also for asking counsel of one that had a familiar spirit h, * to enquire of it:

f The Sense is, Wonder not that Saul fell by the Hands of the Philistins, who were armed against him by his own Sin, and by God's Vengeance for it. g Against God's express, and plain, and positive Command: which is a great Aggravation of any Sin. h Which also was contrary to a manifest Command, Levit. 19. 31. and moreover, contrary to his own Conscience, which was so fully convinced hereof, that he had encavoured the utter Extirpation of all such Persons, in pursuance of God's Law. See 1 Sam. 28. 9. i Concerning the Event of the approaching Battel.

14 And enquired not of the LORD k: therefore he slew him, and turned the kingdom unto David the son of Jesse.

k Why, Saul enquired of the Lord, 1 Sam. 28. 6. Ans. He did so, but not in a right manner, nor humbly and penitently, nor diligently and importunately, nor patiently and perseveringly: but when God would not answer him speedily, he gives it over, and goes from God to the Devil. Compare 1 Sam. 14. 18, 19. Such an inconsiderable and trifling Inquiry as Saul made, is justly accounted to be no Enquiry at all. As they are said not to eat the Lord's Supper, 1 Cor. 11. 20. who did eat it in a sinful and irregular manner.

CHAP. XI.

David made King at Hebron: by Joab's valour winneth the Castle of Zion from the Jebusites: repaireth the City of Jerusalem, 1——9. A Catalogue of his mighty men, 10——47.

THen * all Israel a gathered themselves to David unto Hebron, saying, Behold, we are thy bone and thy flesh.

a i. e. All the Tribes of Israel, as it is expressed, 2 Sam. 5. 1. i. e. their Elders, as it is here said v. 3. and Officers, and a great multitude of the Soldiers and People.

2 And moreover, † in time past, even when Saul was king, thou wast he that leddest out, and broughtest in Israel: and the LORD thy God said unto thee b, Thou shalt ‖ feed my People Israel, and thou shalt be ruler over my people Israel.

b Or, concerning thee: for it is apparent that they knew of it; and therefore many of them opposed David hitherto against their own Consciences.

3 Therefore came all the elders of Israel to the king to Hebron, and David made a covenant with them in Hebron before the LORD, and they anointed David king over Israel, according to the word of the LORD † by * Samuel.

4 And David and all Israel * went out to Jerusalem c, which is Jebus, where the Jebusites were, the inhabitants of the land.

c Of this and the three following Verses see the Notes on 2 Sam. 5, 6, &c.

5 And the inhabitants of Jebus said to David, Thou shalt not come hither. Nevertheless David took the castle of Zion, which is the city of David.

6 And David said, whosoever smiteth the Jebusite first, shall be † chief and captain. So Joab the son of Zerujah went first up, and was chief d.

d Before this he was one of David's Chief Captains, 2 Sam. 2. 22, 23. and General of the Forces of Judah; but now he is made Captain-General of all the Forces of Israel and Judah.

7 And David dwelt in the castle: therefore they called ‖ it, The city of David.

8 And he built the city round about: even from Millo round about: and Joab † repaired the rest of the city.

9 So David † waxed greater and greater: for the LORD of hosts was with him.

10 * These also are the chief of the mighty men whom David had, (who ‖ strengthned themselves with him in his kingdom e, and with all Israel f, to make him king, according to the word of the LORD concerning Israel.

e Who helped him with all their Might to settle him in his Kingdom. f In conjunction with all those Loyal Israelites who joined with David; of whom see the next Chapter.

11 And this is the number of the mighty men, whom David had: ) Jashobeam ‖ an Hachmonite g the chief of the captains: he lift up his spear against three hundred, whom he slain by him at one time.

g Called the Tachmonite and Adino the Eznite, 2 Sam. 23. 8. b To wit, by his own Hand, 300 more being slain by others then joyning with him, who purfued the Victory that he alone got, and in the purfue slaughter of all which is justly ascribed to him, because it was the Effect of his Valour. But concerning that and other Differences about these Persons or Things, see my Notes on 2 Sam. 23.

12 And after him was Eleazar the son of Dodo the Ahohite, who was one of the three mighties.

13 He was with David at ‖ Pasdammim, and there the Philistins were gathered together to battel, where was a parcel of ground full of Barley, and the people fled from before the Philistins.

14 And they ‖ set themselves in the midst of that parcel, and delivered it, and slew the Philistins, and the LORD saved them by a great ‖ deliverance.

15 Now ‖ three of the thirty captains * went down to the rock to David, into the cave of Adullam, and the host of the Philistins encamped in the valley of Rephaim.

16 And David was then in the hold, and the Philistins ‖ garrison was then at Beth-lehem.

17 And David longed and said, O that one would give me drink of the water of the well of Beth-lehem, that is at the gate.

18 And the three brake through the host of the Philistins, and drew water out of the well of Bethlehem, that was by the gate, and took it, and brought it to David. But David would not drink of it, but poured it out to the LORD,

19 And said, My God forbid it me, that I should do this thing: shall I drink the blood of these men, † that have put their lives in jeopardy? for with the jeopardy of their lives they brought it: therefore he would not drink it. These things did these three mightiest i.

i Heb. these three mighties, to wit, last mentioned, whereof one was Abishai, v. 20. For the Acts of two of the first three are here passed over, being recorded 2 Sam. 23.

20 And Abishai the brother of Joab, he was chief of the three: for lifting up his spear against three hundred, he slew them k, and had a name among the three.

k He vanquished them all, and slew a great number of them; tho' it be not said that he slew them all at one time, as it is said of Jashobeam above v. 11.

21 * Of the three he was more honourable than the two, for he was their captain, howbeit he attained not unto the first three l.

l He did not equal them in Valiant Exploits.

22 Benajah the son of Jehojada, the son of a valiant man of Kabzeel, † who had done many acts: he slew two lion-like men of Moab: also he went down, and slew a lion in a pit in a snowy day.

23 And he slew an Egyptian, † a man of great stature, five cubits high, and in the Egyptians hand was a spear like a weavers beam, and he went down to him with a staff, and pluckt the spear out of the Egyptians hand, and slew him with his own spear.

24 These things did Benajah the son of Jehojada, and had the name m among the three mighties.

m Or, had a name, i. e. was greatly reputed: For though he did not equal Abishai, one of these three, as appears by v. 20, 21. yet he did excel the third of them, and all the thirty here following.

25 Behold, he was honourable among the thirty, but attained not to the first three; and David set him over his ‖ guard n.

n Heb. his hearing or obedience, i. e. those that were always ready to hear and obey or execute his Commands, to wit, the Guards of his Body.

26 Also the valiant men of the armies, were Asahel the brother of Joab, Elhanan the son of Dodo of Bethlehem:

27 Shammoth the ‖ Hararite, Helez, the Pelonite,

28 Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite, Abiezer the Anethothite,

29 Sibbecai the Hushathite, Ilai the Ahohite,

30 Maharai the Netophathite, Heled the son of Baanah the Netophathite,

31 Ithai the son of Ribai of Gibeah, that pertained to the children of Benjamin, Benajah the Pirathonite, 32 Hurai of the brooks o of Gaash, Abiel the Arbathite, o Or, of the valleys, i. e. of one of them: the Plural Number for the Singular: so called because he was born or bred there.

33 Azmaveth the Baharumite, Eliahba the Shaalbonite, 34 The sons of Hashem p the Gizonite, Jonathan the son of Shage the Hararite, p Or, or Jeshem, to wit, Jonathan here following, and Shammah here omitted, but expressed, 2 Sam. 23. 32, 33.

35 Ahiam the son of Sacar the Hararite, Eliphal the son of Ur, 36 Hepher the Mecherathite, Ahijah the Pelonite,

37 Hezro the Carmelite, Naari the son of Ezbai,

38 Joel the brother of Nathan h, Mibhar ‖ the son of Haggeri, q Either, 1. The same who is called Ivar the son of Nathan of Zobah, being possibly his Brother by Birth and Nature, and called his Son by Adoption, or right of Succession to his Estate: or called his Brother at large for his near Kinsman, and his Son for his Nephew: Or, 2. Another, who, upon the Death of the former, was put in his stead.

39 Zelek the Ammonite, Naharai the Berothite, the armour-bearer of Joab the son of Zerujah, 40 Ira the Ithrite, Gareb the Ithrite,

41 Uriah the Hittite r, Zabad the son of Ahlai, r The last of that Catalogue in 2 Sam. 23. 39. But here some others are added to the Number, because though they were not of the Thirty, yet they were Men of great Valour and Renown amongst David's Commanders.

42 Adina the son of Shiza, the Reubenite, a captain of the Reubenites, and thirty s with him.

s Thirty Captains who were under him as their Colonel.

43 Hanan the son of Maacah, and Jehoshaphat the Mithnite, 44 Uzziah the Ashterathite, Shama and Jehiel the sons of Hothan the Aroerite t, t So called possibly because his Station and Quarters were upon the River Arnon beyond Jordan, being placed there for the Defence of those Parts.

45 Jediael the ‖ son of Shimri, and Joha his brother, the Tirzite, 46 Eliel the Mahavite, and Jerimai, and Joshaviah, the sons of Elnaam, and Ithmah the Moabite u.

u So called, either because he was by Birth a Moabite, though now profelyted to the True Religion: or from some eminent Service done by him against the Moabites, as among the Romans Scipio was called Africk and African, because of his great Atchievements and Victories over those Parts and People.

47 Eliel, and Obed, and Jaasiel the Mesobaite.

CHAP. XII.

The Companies that came to David at Ziklag, when pursued by Saul: Some of Saul's own Family: Some of the Tribe of Gad: of Benjamin: and Judah: and Manasseh: 1——22. The Armies that came to him at Hebron: their Feast, 23——40.

1 NOw * these are they that came to David to Ziklag, * 1 Sam. † while he yet kept himself close a, because of Saul the son of Kish: and they were among the mighty men, helpers of the war.

a Or, was shut up, or shut out, from his own Land and People: for he speaks not of that time when he was shut up, and hid himself in Caves in the Land of Judah, but when he was at Ziklag.

2 They were armed with bows, and could use both the right hand and the left b, in hurling stones and shooting arrows out of a bow, even of Sauls brethren of Benjamin c.

b With like nimbleness and certainty. Compare Judges 3. 15. and 20. 16. c i. e. Of Saul's own Tribe: who were moved hereunto by God's Spirit, and by the Conscience of their Duty to David, to whom God had given the Crown in reversion; and by their Observation of God's departure from Saul, and of his special Presence with David, and his gracious Providence for him.

3 The chief was Ahiezer, then Joash, the sons of ‖ Shemaah the Gibeathite, and Jeziel, and Pelet, the sons of Azmaveth, and Berachah, and Jehu the Antothite,

4 And Ismaiah the Gibeonite, a mighty man among the thirty, and over the thirty d, and Jeremiah, and Jahaziel, and Johanan, and Josabad the Gederathite, d i. e. Who came attended with 30 valiant Benjamites, and was their Leader and Commander.

5 Eluzai and Jerimoth, and Bealiah, and Shemariah, and Shephatiah the Haruphite, 6 Elkanah, and Jesiah, and Azareel, and Joezer and Jashobeam the Korhites.

7 And Joelah, and Zebadiah the sons of Jeroham of Gedor.

8 And of the Gadite there separated themselves e unto David into the hold to the wilderness f, men of might, and men † of war, fit for the battel, that could handle shield and buckler: whose faces were like the faces of lions g, and were † as swift as the roes upon the mountains h.

e From Saul, to whom they had hitherto adhered; and from their countrymen, Brethren of their own Tribe, who yet maintained Saul's Cause; and to make from their Families, and the places where they lived, from whom they left. went to David. f Or, into the hold of the wilderness: i. e. Either to the Cave of Adullam or Engedi: or rather to Ziklag, as appears from v. 1. which was in the Wilderness of Judah, which is here called the hold, or the fortress, which name is also given to the City of David, 1 Chron. 11. 7. the Hebrew Word being the same both here and there. g Who were full of Courage, and by the Majesty and Fiercenes of their Countenances terrified their Adversaries. h As their very Looks daunted their Enemies, and put them to flight, so they could easily purfue and overtake and destroy them in their Flight.

9 Ezer the first, Obadiah the second, Eliab the third,

10 Mishmannah the fourth, Jeremiah the fifth,

11 Attai the sixth, Eliel the seventh,

12 Johanan the eighth, Elzabuh the ninth,

13 Jeremiah the tenth, Machbanai the eleventh.

14 These were the sons of Gad, captains of the Host: † one of the least was over an hundred, and the greatest over a thousand i.

i Not that they brought now so many Men with them, but either, could re- 1. They had hitherto been Captains or Colonels under Saul, or in the established Militia or Bands of their Tribe. Or, 2. They were so afterwards under David, who for their Valour and Fidelity thus advanced them.

15 These are they that went over Jordan k in the first month, when it had † overflown all his banks l, and they put put to fight all them of the vallies. m, both toward the east, and toward the west n.

l To wit, in Saul's time, when it seems, the Enemies of the Israelites had made an Inroad, and done some Mischiefs to the Israelites beyond Jordan, to whose Help these then came. l As commonly did about that time. See Judg. 2. 15, & 4. 18. Jer. 49. 19. This is noted either as a Description of the Time when this was done, it being usual with Historians to note the Circumstances of great Actions: or as an aggravation of the Fact. And possibly these being Men of great Nimbleness and Dexterity, did swim over Jordan, through their ardent Desire to help their Brethren, and to fight with their Enemies. m i. e. The People that lived in the Valleys or Desarts beyond Jordan, who, as it seems, when Saul was engaged against the Philistins, took that advantage to fall upon the Israelites beyond Jordan. n Either, 1. the People that lived more Eastward and remote from Jordan, and those who lived more Westward or nearer to it. Or, 2. them made they fly several ways, some Eastward, some Westward, as they saw the way open for them. See Deut. 28. 7, 25.

‖ Some.

16 And there came ‖ of the children of Benjamin and Judah to the hold o unto David.

o To the same Hold mentioned v. 8. where see the Notes.

† Heb. before them. ‖ Heb he is not. ‖ Or, there is no wrong.

17 And David went out † to meet them, and answered p and said unto them, If ye be come peaceably unto me to help me, mine heart shall † be knit unto you q: but if ye be come to betray me to mine enemies r, seeing there is no ‖ wrong in mine hands s, the God of our fathers look thereon, and rebuke it t.

p i. e. Spake; as that word is oft used in Scripture even of him that speaketh first. q I shall ever esteem and love you, and shew this by my Actions to you hereafter. r Which your Number, and Quality, and near Relation to Saul gives me some cause to suspect. s I have done no Injury to Saul, nor to you; but have spared him and you when it was in my Power to have destroyed you. t To wit, by his Hand and Power manifested for me and against you for your Perfidiousness.

† Heb. the spirit clothed.

18 Then † the spirit came upon Amasai u, who was chief of the captains, and he said, Thine are we, David, and on thy side, thou son of Jesse; peace, peace be unto thee, and peace be to thine helpers, for thy God helpeth thee x. Then David received them: and made them captains of the band y.

u Not only saving Graces, but other Heroical and generous Motions are ascribed to God's Spirit, which here stirred up in him a more than ordinary greatness and presentness of Mind and Resolution. x We have observed God's singular and gracious Care of thee, and Kindness to thee, and if we should oppose thee, we should be Fighters against God and his Word and Providence. y i. e. Of those Forces which they brought with them. Or, he put them among the heads or officers of his band; i. e. He gave them Commands either now in his small Army, each according to his Quality: Or afterwards when he was advanced to the Kingdom: for it is not here expressed when he did this.

19 And there fell some of Manasseh to David (when he came with the Philistins against Saul to battel, but they helped them not z: for the lords of the Philistins, upon advisement, sent him away, saying, * He will fall to his master Saul, † to the ‖ jeopardy of our heads.)

b i. e. Against the Amalekites who had taken and burnt Ziklag, whom David and his 600 Men were now pursuing, whom these accompanied in that Expedition. Or, with a band or troop of Souldiers, which they brought along with them to David's Assistance. c Therefore they readily came to David's help. d Therefore they brought others along with them.

22 For at that time e day by day, there came to David to help him, until it was a great host, like the host of God f.

e i. e. While he was at Ziklag, and in his March to Hebron, and principally at Hebron, as the next Verse explains it. f i. e. Innumerable like the Stars or Angels, both which are called God's hosts. Or, like the host of God, i. e. a very great Host, great things being so called, as Cedars, Mountains, &c. of God. But the particle of likeness here added excludes this sense, for it had been very improper to say, a great host like a great host, i. e. like it self.

32 And of the children of Issachar, which were men that had understanding of the times p, to know what Israel ought to do: the heads of them were two hundred, and all their brethren were at their commandment.

p Either, 1. skill in the Stars, and several Seasons and Changes of the Air; which might be of good use in Husbandry, to which this Tribe was addicted, Gen. 49. 14. Deut. 33. 18. Or rather, 2. Political Prudence to discern and embrace the fit Seasons for all Actions, as appears, 1. from the following words, to know what not only their own Tribe but all Israel ought to do. 2. By the great Authority and Command which they had over all their Brethren upon this account, as it here follows. 3. Because this is so considerable a circumstance in all Humane, and especially in publick Affairs, that the Success or Disappointment of them depends very much upon the right or wrong Timing of them, and therefore this is a very fit exception to signifie their great Prudence. And particularly they shewed this point of their Wisdom at this time; for as they had adhered to Saul whilst he lived, as knowing the time was not yet come for David to take Possession of the Kingdom: and as they could not join themselves to David, whilst Abner lived, and was potent, and had the Command of the other Tribes wherewith they were encompassed, so as soon as he was dead, and they had opportunity to declare themselves, they owned David for their King. 4. Or, 2. To the same particular persons, they were each of them sincerely Loyal to David, and did not dissemble with David, pretending to be for him, whilst in their hearts they favoured Saul's family; which possibly some of those who came to Hebron, did. Or this is particularly noted of this Tribe, because they lay under some suspicion in this matter; as also some of the other Tribes did; and therefore the like testimony is given to all of them, v. 38.

34 And of Naphtali a thousand captains, and with them, with shield and spear, thirty and seven thousand.

35 And of the Danites, expert in war, twenty and eight thousand and six hundred.

36 And of Asher, such as went forth to battel, ‖ expert in war, forty thousand.

‖ Or, exercised.

37 And on the other side of Jordan, of the Reubenite, and and the Gadite, and of the half-tribe of Manasseh, with all manner of Instruments of War for the battel, an hundred and twenty thousand.

38 All these men of war, that could keep rank, came with a perfect heart to Hebron, to make David king over all Israel: and all the rest also of Israel were of one heart t to make David King.

t To wit, after the death of Abner and Ishbosheth.

39 And there they were with David, three days, eating and drinking: for their brethren had prepared for them.

40 Moreover, they that were nigh them u, even unto Issachar, and Zebulun, and Naphtali x, brought bread on asles, and on camels, and on mules, and on oxen y, and ‖ meat, meal, cakes of figs, and bunches of raisins, and wine, and oil, and oxen, and sheep abundantly: for there was joy in Israel z.

u That lived not far from Hebron, the place where they now were. x This is added by way of amplification and explication, to shew that he did not understand this of those Israelites only who lived in the Neighbourhood of Hebron, but of those that lived at some distance, yet were nearer to Hebron, than some of the other Tribes here named. y Which, though not commonly used in this manner, nor fit for such purposes, now they so used, because the quantity of Provisions which they brought was very great, as the Numbers of the People at Hebron were, and Horses they had few in Israel, and most of their Asses, and Camels, and Mules here mentioned probably were used to carry divers Men, or Women and Children, to this great, and publick, and happy Solemnity. z Partly because their Civil Wars were wholly ended, and they were all united under one King: and partly because they had now a King of Eminent Valour, and Piety, and Iudicity, and therefore expected to be saved from all their Enemies and Calamities, as they were.

b i. e. Unto all the People then assembled with him at Hebron. This Story is mentioned in another place in 2 Sam. 5. & 6. even after the taking of Jerusalem also: but the two first Fights with the Philistins, whereas here it is placed before the latter, and there is no mention here of the former. The matter may be thus concerned: There being now a great and general concourse of all Israel, and David being now Established in his Throne with universal consent and applause, he begins with God, and his first Thoughts and Cares are about Religion and the Ark, then the great Instrument and Ornament of it, and takes the Opportunity of this Assembly to desire their Advice and concurrence with him in it, that the Ark might be brought either to Hebron, which then was the Royal City; or to Jerusalem, which as probably he told them, he was resolved to Besiege, and doubted not, by God's Help, to take. After this was promised by the King and accepted by the People, this great Assembly was dismissed, only some of them David referred to go with him against Jerusalem, which accordingly he did, and succeeded in his Enterprize, as is related, 1 Sam. 5. But before this Resolution could be executed, the Philistines came and fought † ice with David, as is related 1 Sam. 5. 17, &c. and here ch. 14. 8, &c. And after they were repulsed with great loss and shame, David sets upon the Execution of that which before he had resolved, and in order to it calls another General Assembly of the People. c i. e. If this Translation of the Ark be pleasing to God, which I purpose to enquire by the Urim after the manner, and to act accordingly. d Heb. let us break out and send, i. e. let us send Messengers lucidly and universally to the several Tribes. We are now in some fort pent up in a Corner of the Land in Hebron, but let us break up the Assembly and dispatch our selves, and send far and near about this Work. It is a Metaphor from the Sea or Rivers, which when the Banks are Broken, do suddenly overflow the whole adjoyning Country. e By which word he minds them of the great Desolations and Destructions which God for their sins had hitherto made among them: and therefore adviseth that Remnant whom God had so graciously saved in and from those dreadful Ruines, that they would more seriously set themselves to seek God than they had formerly done.

† Heb. to make.

3 And let us † bring again the Ark of our God to us: for we enquired not at it f in the days of Saul g.

† Heb. bring about.

f The Ark was then neglected: and the generality of the People either lived in the gross neglect of the solemn worship of God; or contented themselves with going to Gibeon and offering Sacrifices there, not caring, though the Ark, the Soul of the Tabernacle, was in another place. g So it was in the days of Samuel; but it is rather charged upon Saul than him: partly because Samuel was exercised with continual Wars or expectation of Wars with the Philistins all the time of his Regency, and therefore wanted the Opportunity to bring back the Ark, which Saul had and neglected: partly because Samuel took care to stir up and maintain Religion among them by other Means and in an extraordinary manner: whereas this was but one Branch of Saul's Impiety, and was joyned with a contempt of all Religion, as the History of his Life shews: and partly because it was more proper to accuse himself and the present Generation who were guilty of this neglect, than to rake into the Ashes of their deceased Progenitors, and lay his Charge against those who were dead and gone some good while since.

4 And all the congregation said that they would do so: for the thing was right in the eyes of all the people h.

h Their Consciences smiting them for their former negligence, and being fully convinced of the Piety and Reasonableness of the Proposition.

5 So * David gathered all Israel i together, from Shihor of Egypt k, even unto the entring of Hemath, to bring the ark of God from Kirjath-jearim.

* 1 Sam. 7. 2 Sam. 6. 1.

i i. e. All the chosen Men of Israel, as it is phrased, 2 Sam. 6. 1. their Elders and Representatives. † Of which see Numb. 33. 5. Jos. 13. 3. 1 Chron. 13. 5.

† Heb. Baalah.

6 And David went up, and all Israel to * Baalah, that is, to Kirjath-jearim l, which belonged to Judah, to bring up thence the ark of God the LORD, that dwelleth between the cherubims, whose Name is called on it m.

* Josh. 15. 9.

l Which Explication is justified by Jos. 15. 9. 60. where the same City is called by both Names. Ibi. They are said to go from this Baale, 2 Sam. 6. 2. Anf. 1. Some Learned Men render that Place also to Baale, the particle Men being sometimes used for to amongst the Hebrews, and especially amongst the Arabians. 2. Both were true: they first went to Baale for the Ark, as is here said, and then went from Baale to bring or to carry for the word signifies either bringing from thence the Ark of God, as is there related. But of this and other difficulties or differences between these two Relations, see the Notes on 2 Sam. 6.

‖ Heb. make the ark to ride.

7 And they † carried the ark of God in a new cart out of the House of Abinadab, and Uzza and Ahio drave ‖ the cart.

† Heb. made.

8 And David and all Israel played before God with all their might, and with † singing with harps, and with psalteries, and with timbrels, and with cymbals, ‖ and with trumpets.

† Heb. with songs. ‖ Or, sounding.

9 And when they came to the threshing-floor of ‖ Chidon, Uzza put forth his hand to hold the ark, for the oxen ‖ stumbled.

‖ Called Nachin, 2 Sam. 6. 6.

10 And the anger of the LORD was kindled against Uzza, and he smote him, * because he put his hand to the Ark: and there he died before God.

‖ Or, strove.

* Numb. 4. 15.

11 And David was displeased, because the LORD had made a breach upon Uzza: wherefore that place is called ‖ Perez-uzza, to this day.

‖ That is, Breach of Uzza.

12 And David was afraid of God that day, saying, How shall I bring the ark of God home to me?

13 So David † brought not the ark home to himself to the city of David, but carried it aside into the house of Obed-edom the Gittite.

† Heb. removed.

14 And the ark of God remained with the family of Obed-edom in his house three Months. And the LORD blessed * the house of Obed-edom, and all that he had.

anointed King over all Israel, all the Philistins went up to seek David, and David heard of it, and went out against them.

9 And the Philistins came and spread themselves in the valley of Rephaim.

10 And David enquired of God, saying, Shall I go up against the Philistins? and wilt thou deliver them into mine hand? and the Lord said unto him, Go up, for I will deliver them into thine hand.

11 So they came up to Baal-perazim, and David smote them there. Then David said, God hath broken in upon mine Enemies by mine hand, like the breaking forth of waters: therefore they called the name of that place ‖ Baal-perazim.

‖ That is, a place of breaches.

12 And when they had left their gods there, David gave a commandment, and they were burnt with fire.

13 And the Philistins yet again spread themselves abroad in the ‖ valley ‖.

‖ Or, that. ‖ Or, of Rephaim.

14 Therefore David enquired again of God, and God said unto him, Go not up after them: turn away from them, * and come upon them, over against the mulberry trees.

* 2 Sam. 5. 23.

15 And it shall be, when thou shalt hear a sound of going in the tops of the mulberry-trees, that then thou shalt go out to battel: for God is gone forth before thee, to smite the host of the Philistins.

16 David therefore did as God had commanded him: and they smote the host of the Philistins from Gibeon even to Gazer.

17 And the fame of David went out into all lands b, and the LORD brought the fear of him upon all nations.

b i. e. Into all the neighbouring Countries.

CHAP. XV.

David having prepared a place for the Ark, ordereth the Priests and Levites to bring it from Obed-Edom, 1——24. He performeth the solemnity thereof with great joy, 25——28. Michal despiseth him, 29.

1 AND David made him houses a in the city of David, and prepared a place for the ark of God, and pitched for it a tent b.

a A Palace consisting of many Houses or Apartments for his several Wives and Children. b Q*e*. Why did he not first fetch the tabernacle of Moses from Gibeon, where it now was, that so he might put the Ark into its proper place? Ans. Partly because he had no motion or direction from God concerning the tabernacle, as he had concerning the Ark: and partly because he thought the tabernacle was not so necessary for that end as some by, seeing he intended forthwith to set upon the building of the Temple, as appears from chap. 17.

† Heb. it is not to carry the ark of God but the Levites.

2 Then David said, † None ought to carry the * ark of God but the Levites c: for them the LORD hath chosen to carry the ark of God, and to minister unto him for ever d.

* Numb. 4. 15. Deut. 31. 9

c And that upon their Shoulders: of which see Numb. 4. 15 and 7. 9. and not in a Cart, as it was before to our great grief and loss. d i. e. So long as the Ark is to be removed, and as that Worship continues.

3 And David gathered all Israel together to Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the LORD unto his place which he had prepared for it.

4 And David assembled the children of Aaron, and the Levites.

5 Of the sons of Kohath e; Uriel the chief, and his ‖ brethren an hundred and twenty.

e To wit, of Aaron or Ithar, Kohath's Sons, Numb. 3. 27. Otherwise Elizaphan, v. 8. and Hebron, v. 9. and Uzziel, v. 10. were Kohath's Children; of which see Exod. 6. 17, 18, 22.

6 Of the sons of Merari; Asaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred and twenty.

7 Of the sons of Gershom; Joel the chief, and his brethren an hundred and thirty.

8 Of the sons of Elizaphan; Shemaiah the chief, and his brethren two hundred.

9 Of the sons of Hebron; Eliel the chief, and his brethren fourscore.

10 Of the sons of Uzziel; Amminadab the chief, and his brethren an hundred and twelve.

11 And David called for Zadok, and Abiathar the priests f, and for the Levites, for Uriel, Asaiah, and Joel, Shemaiah, and Eliel, and Amminadab;

f i. e. The Chief Priests, Abiathar the High-Priest, and Zadok the second Priest, see Numb. 3. 32.

12 And said unto them, Ye are the chief of the fathers of the Levites: sanctifie your selves g, both ye and your brethren, that ye may bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel unto the place that I have prepared for it.

g By solemn Purification and Preparation of your selves, both in Soul and Body. See on Exod. 19. 10. 15.

13 For * because ye did it not at the first h, the LORD our God made a breach upon us, for that we sought him not after the due order k.

* 2 Sam. 6. 3, 7.

h Because you did not sanctifie and prepare your selves by solemn Prayer, and seeking Counsel from God, and by a serious consideration of God's Will as to the Manner of carrying it: which it was your Duty more than others to observe and see it executed. i He takes a part of the guilt to himself, because it was his Duty, as well as theirs, diligently to read the Law and word of God, and to see it executed, and their oversight did not excuse his. k According to the Rules which he appointed.

14 So the Priests and the Levites sanctified themselves, to bring up the ark of the LORD God of Israel.

15 And the children of the Levites l bare the ark of God upon their shoulders, with the staves thereon, as * Moses commanded, according to the word of the LORD.

* Exod. 25. 14. Num. 4. 15. & 7. 9.

16 And David spake to the chief of the Levites, to appoint their brethren to be the singers, with instruments of musick, psalteries, and harps, and cymbals, † sounding, by lifting up the voice with joy.

† Heb. raising.

17 So the Levites appointed * Heman the son of Joel: and of his brethren, * and Asaph the son of Berechiah, and of the sons of Merari their brethren, * Ethan the son of Kushajah.

* 1 Chron. 6. 33. * 1 Chron. 6. 39. * 1 Chron. 6. 44.

18 And with them their brethren of the second degree m, Zechariah, Ben, and Jaaziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, Eliab, and Benaiah, and Maasiah, and Mattithiah, and Eliphalet, and Mikniah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel the porters n.

m The first rank or degree of Sacred Musicians being those three famous Persons named v. 17. next unto whom were the 6 here named. n Who were to keep the Doors of the Tabernacle and Courts, but withal were instructed in Musick and singing, that when they were free from Attendance upon their proper Office, they might not be idle nor unprofitable persons in God's House.

19 So the singers, Heman, Asaph, and Ethan, were appointed to sound with cymbals of brass.

20 And Zechariah o, and Aziel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Unni, and Eliab, and Maasiah, and Benaiah, with psalteries on Alamoth p.

o In this Catalogue Ben is omitted, who was mentioned v. 18. Yet others think him to be the same who is called Asariah, v. 24. But Ben might be some other person, who was indeed appointed for this Work, as is related, v. 17, 18. and yet he might be taken off by death or sickness, or some sudden and extraordinary Accident which hindred his Execution of the Place and Work allotted for him, which might force the chief of the Levites to appoint some other in his stead, when they came to put their Institution in practice, as here they did. p Or, with (as that particle is elsewhere used) Aiemoth which is thought to be the name of an Instrument of Musick; or of a certain Tune, or Note, or part in Musick. The certain signification of it is not now known, nor is it necessary for us to know it. And the like may be said of Sheminith, v. 21.

21 And Mattithiah, and Eliphaleh, and Mikneiah, and Obed-edom, and Jeiel, and Azaziah, with harps ‖ on the Sheminith q to excel r.

‖ Or, to

q See on v. 20. r Which word may be here added to note the Excellency of that Instrument, or Note, or part of Musick; or that there was a greater Extension or Elevation of the Voice than in the former.

22 And Chenaniah chief of the Levites ‖ was for † the song s: he instructed about the song, because he was skilful.

‖ Or, to † Or, to lift up.

s Heb. Was for lifting up, either, 1. of the Ark: he was for carriage of the Ark, being appointed to instruct or direct the time and manner of carrying the Ark, and when they should make a stand or a change in the Bearers. Or rather, 2. of the Voice: he was the Moderator of the Musick, instructing them when and how it was fit to lift up Voices, or change their Notes, or make the Stops, which best agrees with the following Reason. For he was skilful: for this required far more Skill than the carriage of the Ark; which any man of common discretion could easily govern; and with v. 27. which this same Chenaniah is joined with the Singers.

23 And Berechiah, and Elkanah were door-keepers for the ark t.

t They were appointed to keep the Door of the Tent in which the Ark was to be put and kept, that no unallowed Person might press in and touch it; and in like manner they were to attend upon the Ark in the Way, and to guard it from the press and touch of prophane Hands; for which end these two went before the Ark, as those other two Brethren mentioned in the close of v. 24. came after it, that so it might be Guarded on all sides; which, how necessary it was to be done, sufficiently appears from the danger of coming too near the Ark, or to look into it, which was exemplified in the Bethshemites, 1 Sam. 6. 19.

24 And Shebaniah, and Jehoshaphat, and Nathaneel, and Amasai, and Zechariah, and Benaiah, and Eliezer the Priests * did blow with the trumpets before the ark of God: and Obed-edom and Jehiah were door-keepers for the ark.

* Numb. 10. 8.

25 So * David and the elders of Israel, and the captains over thousands, went to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD, out of the house of Obed-edom with joy.

* 2 Sam. 6. 12, 13, &c.

26 And it came to pass when God helped the Levites u that bare the ark of the covenant of the LORD, that they offered seven Bullocks, and seven rams.

u Either, 1. by giving them strength to carry their Burden: or rather, 2. by encouraging them in their Work with some comfortable Sign of his Presence with them, and approbation of their work and manner of carrying the Ark. When they saw that he did not cut off any of the persons employed, as he had done before, but spared and favoured them; which they perceived when they had gone six paces, as appears by 2 Sam. 6. 13.

27 And David was clothed with a robe of fine linen x, and all the Levites that bare the ark, and the singers, and Chenaniah the master of the † song with the singers. David also had upon him an ephod of linen.

† i. e. of the song.

x i. e. With a Linen Ephod, as it is explained in the close of this verse, where this circumstance is repeated, because it was a notable and unusual thing for David, who was no Levite, to wear a Levitical Garment. See of this and the following verses the Notes on 2 Sam. 6, 14, 15, 16.

28 Thus all Israel brought up the ark of the covenant of the LORD with shouting, and with sound of the cornet, and with trumpets, and with cymbals, making a noise with psalteries, and harps.

29 And it came to pass as the ark of the covenant of the LORD came to the city of David, that Michal the daughter of Saul, looking out at a window, saw king David dancing and playing, and she despised him in her heart.

CHAP. XVI.

David's Festival Sacrifice and Alms. The Psalm of Thanksgiving, sung by a Quire, and the People said Amen, 1——36. Ministers, Porters, Priests, and Musicians appointed to attend the Ark continually, 37——43.

1 SO * they brought back the Ark of God a, and set it in the midst of the tent that David had pitched for it: and they offered burnt-sacrifices and peace-offerings before God.

* 2 Sam. 6. 17.

a Of these three first Verses see on 2 Sam. 6. 17, 18, 19.

2 And when David had made an end of offering the burnt-offerings, and the peace-offerings, he blessed the people in the name of the LORD.

3 And he dealt to every one of Israel, both man and woman, to every one a loaf of bread, and a good piece of flesh, and a flagon of wine.

4 And he appointed certain of the Levites to minister before the ark of the LORD, and to record, and to thank, and praise the LORD God of Israel:

5 Asaph the chief, and next to him Zechariah, Jeiel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehiel, and Mattithiah, and Eliab, and Benajah, and Obed-edom, and Jiel † with psalteries and with harps: but Asaph made a sound with cymbals.

† Heb. with psalteries, harps, and cymbals.

6 Benajah also and Jahaziel the priests, with trumpets continually before the ark of the covenant of God.

7 Then on that day David ‖ delivered first this psalm b to thank the LORD into the hand of Asaph and his brethren:

‖ Or, appointed to give thanks to the LORD by the hand of Asaph and his brethren.

b Wherehy it is implied, that after this he delivered many other Psalms successively into their Hands, to be sung by them to the praise of God in his publick Service. See 2 Sam. 23. 1. 2 Chron. 29. 30. As for the matter of this Psalm, I shall defer the Explication of it till I come to the Book of Psalms, where we shall find it in the same words, in Psal. 96. and 105.

8 * Give thanks unto the LORD, call upon his name: make known his deeds among the people.

* Psal. 105. 1.

9 Sing unto him, sing psalms unto him, talk ye of all his wondrous works.

10 Glory ye in his holy Name, let the heart of them rejoyce that seek the LORD.

11 Seek the LORD and his strength, seek his face continually.

12 Remember his marvellous works that he hath done, his wonders, and the judgments of his mouth.

13 O ye seed of Israel his servant, ye children of Jacob his chosen ones.

30 Fear before him, all the earth: the world also shall be stable, that it be not moved.

31 Let the heavens be glad, and let the earth rejoice: and let men say among the nations, The LORD reigneth.

32 Let the sea roar, and the fulness thereof: let the fields rejoyce, and all that is therein.

33 Then shall the trees of the wood sing out at the presence of the LORD, because he cometh to judge the earth.

34 * O give thanks to the LORD, for he is good: for his mercy endureth for ever.

* Psal. 107. 1. & 118. 1. & 136. 1.

35 And say ye, Save us, O God of our salvation, and gather us together, and deliver us from the heathen c, that we may give thanks to thy holy name, and glory in thy praise.

c This might seem an improper and unseasonable Prayer for David's time, when the Israelites were not yet scattered amongst the Heathen, but indeed it was not so; partly because they had already been sadly divided by a Civil War among themselves, and though they were now externally and visibly united under David, yet he might justly think that there were some who yet retained in their Hearts their old Leaven, their Hatred of him, and their affection to Saul, which might hereafter break forth when occasion was offer'd, as it did, 2 Sam. 18. 8. and therefore he justly prays, that they may be gathered and united together in hearty Love as well as in outward Show: and partly, because this Psalm or Prayer was made by David for the use of the Church, not only in that present time, but in future Ages, in which David foresaw by the Spirit of Prophecy, or by consideration of those Ancient and Sacred Predictions, Deut. 32. and 32. that the Israelites would one time or other forsake God, and for their Apostacy be dispersed among the Heathens, when they should have great and particular need of this Prayer.

36 Blessed be the LORD God of Israel for ever and ever: and all * the people said, Amen, and praised the LORD.

* Deut. 27. 15.

37 So he left there d, before the ark of the covenant of the LORD, Asaph and his brethren, to minister before the ark continually, as every days work required:

40 To offer burnt-offerings unto the LORD upon the altar of the burnt-offering continually * ‖ morning and evening, and to do according to all that is written in the law of the LORD, which he commanded Israel:

41 And with them Heman and Jeduthun, and the rest that were chosen, who were expressed by name g, to give thanks to the LORD, because his mercy endureth for ever:

g So exceeding careful was this good King of God's Worship, that he would have no person employed in it, but such as he appointed to it, and were fit for it.

42 And with them Heman and Jeduthun with trumpets and cymbals, for those that should make a sound, and with musical instruments of God h: and the sons of Jeduthun were † porters.

David designing to build God an House: Nathan at first approveth of it: After by the Word of God forbiddeth him, 1——15. Presenting him Blessings and Benefits in his Seed, 11——15. David's Prayer and Thanksgiving, 16——22.

NOw * it came to pass a as David sat in his house, that David said to Nathan the prophet, Lo, I dwell in an house of cedars, but the ark of the covenant of the LORD remaineth under curtains.

a This whole Chapter is explained, 2 Sam. 7. where the same things are recorded with very little variation of the Words: which also hath been considered in my Notes upon that Chapter; to which I refer the Reader, taking notice here but of some very few things.

2 Then Nathan said unto David, Do all that is in thine heart, for God is with thee.

3 And it came to pass the same night, that the word of God came to Nathan, saying,

4 Go and tell David my servant, Thus saith the LORD, Thou shalt not build me an house to dwell in.

5 For I have not dwelt in an house since the day that I brought up Israel, unto this day, but † have gone from tent to tent, and from one tabernacle to another.

6 Wheresoever I have walked with all Israel, spake I a word to any of the judges of Israel (whom I commanded to feed my people) saying, Why have ye not built me an house of cedars?

7 Now therefore thus shalt thou say unto my servant David, Thus saith the LORD of hosts, I took thee from the sheep-cote, even † from following the sheep, that thou shouldest be ruler over my people Israel:

8 And I have been with thee whithersoever thou hast walked, and have cut off all thine enemies from before thee, and have made thee a name like the name of the great men that are in the earth.

9 Also I will ordain a place for my people Israel, and will plant them, and they shall dwell in their place, and shall be moved no more, neither shall the children of wickedness b waste them any more: (as at the beginning, b Such as are devoted and wholly given up to Wickedness; elsewhere called Children of Belial.

10 And ‖ since the time that I commanded judges to be over my people Israel) moreover, I will subdue all thine enemies. Furthermore, I tell thee, that the LORD will build thee an house.

11 And it shall come to pass, when thy days be expired, that thou must go to be with thy fathers, that I will raise up thy seed after thee, which shall be of thy sons, and I will establish his kingdom.

12 He shall build me an house, and I will establish his throne for ever.

13 * I will be his father, and he shall be my son, and I will not take my mercy away from him, as I took it from him that was before thee.

14 But I will settle him in mine house c, and in my kingdom d for ever, and his throne shall be established for evermore.

c In my Dwelling-place, either, 1. In Jerusalem, the place where God had put his Name for ever, 2 Kings 21. 4, 7. 2 Chron. 6. 5, 6. Compare 1 King. 11. 36. and 15. 4. Or, 2. In the Temple, which is more properly and constantly called God's House; and to this Expression agrees but very imperfectly with Solomon, or his Successors, who might be said to be settled in God's House, because they were settled near it, and in some sort set over it, because they were to take care that the Priests and others should perform their Offices and God's Service in it; but fruitfully and properly agrees only to Christ, to whom alone that Promise also of an Everlasting Establishment in this Kingdom belongs, was noted on 2 Sam. 7. And this Expression seems to be most emphatically added, to signifie, that that Person in whom all those Promises should be fully and perfectly accomplished, to wit, the Messias, should be settled not only in the King's Thone, as others or David's Successors were, but also in God's House or Temple; and consequently, that he should be a Priest as well as a King; which Mystery was more clearly revealed to David, Psal. 110. 1, 2, 4. and may be justified, though obscurely (as was fit and usual in that state of the Church) in these Words. d Either, 1. In the Kingdom of Israel, which God calls his Kingdom, because he was in a special manner their King and Governour, having raised them up and formed them into a Kingdom, and given them that Protection and Assistance which Kings owe to their Kingdoms; and because he expected and required from them, what Kings do from their People, that they should be wholly governed by his Laws, and devoted to his Service. Or, 2. In God's Kingdom in a more large and general Sence. And this, as well as the former Phrase, may seem singularly to belong to the Messiah, who was not only to be the King of Israel, but also of all Nations, as was foretold even in the Old Testament, as Psal. 2. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12. and 22. 27, 28. and 72. 11. Isa. 2. 4. compare 2. 7. and so this may be an Intimation of that great Mystery which is more fully revealed in the New Testament, to wit, that Christ is the Head, or King, or Governour of all God's Church, consisting of Jews and Gentiles, and of all Nations, and indeed of all Creatures, the Angels not excepted: all which is God's Kingdom, and by him given to his Son our Blessed Lord Christ. And for the signification of these great things there is to great and remarkable an Alteration of the Phrase here from what it is in 2 Sam. 7. where speaking to David, he constantly calls it his (i. e. David's) Kingdom, and his House, v. 12, 13, 16, 19, 25, 27. for which he here saith my House, and my Kingdom, which also he distinguisheth from his Throne, which is mentioned in the next Clause of this Verse, and in v. 11, 12. But these things I submit to the Judicious Reader.

15 According to all these words, and according to all this vision, so did Nathan speak unto David.

16 And David the king came, and sat e before the LORD, and said, Who am I, O LORD God, and what is mine house, that thou hast brought me hitherto?

e Which may note either his Gesture; or his Continuance there till he had finished this following Prayer.

17 And yet this was a small thing in thine eyes, O God, for thou hast also spoken of thy servants house for a great while to come, and hast regarded me according to the estate of a man of high degree, O LORD God f.

f i. e. Thou hast treated me as if I had been born the Son of a great Monarch, and not a poor Shepherd, as indeed I was, O Lord God. Oth. Thus, Thou hast regarded or respected me as the type or figure, or according to the Rank or Order of that excellent Man, or Man of high Degree, who is also the Lord God, i. e. of the Messiah, who is God-Man. i. e. Thou hast given to me and my House an Everlasting Kingdom, which is the peculiar Priviledge of that great Person the Messiah, Dan. 2. 44. and 7. 13, 14.

18 What can David † speak more to thee for the honour of thy servant? for thou knowest thy servant.

19 O LORD for thy servants sake g, and according to thine own heart hast thou done all this greatness, in making known all these † great things.

g In 2 Sam. 7. 21. it is, for thy words sake, i. e. for the sake of thy gracious Word and Promise made to thy Servant; as that Phrase, for David's sake, is oft thus understood, for God's Covenants sake made with David.

20 O LORD, there is none like thee, neither is there any God besides thee, according to all that we have heard with our ears.

21 And what one nation in the earth is like thy people Israel, whom God went to redeem to be his own people, to make thee a name of † greatness and terribleness, by driving out Nations from before thy people, whom thou hast redeemed out of Egypt?

22 For thy people Israel didst thou make thine own people for ever, and thou LORD, becamest their God.

23 Therefore now LORD, let the thing that thou hast spoken concerning thy servant, and concerning his house, be established for ever, and do, as thou hast said.

24 Let it even be established, that thy name may be magnified for ever, saying, The LORD of hosts is the God of Israel, even a God to Israel h, and let the house of David thy servant be established before thee.

h Or, The Lord of Hosts, the God of Israel, is a God to Israel, i. e. He is really to his People that which he hath stiled himself, their God, having taken such care of them, and shewed such Mercy and Truth to them, as did fully answer that Title.

25 For thou, O my God, † hast told thy servant that thou wilt build him an house: therefore thy servant hath found in his heart to pray before thee.

26 And now, LORD, (thou art God, and hast promised this goodness unto thy servant.)

27 Now therefore ‖ let it please thee to bless the house of thy servant, that it may be before thee for ever: for thou blessest, O LORD, and it shall be blessed for ever.

CHAP. XVIII.

CHAP. XVIII.

David subdueth the Philistines and the Moabites: smiteth Hadarezer and the Syrians, 1——8. Tou sendeth Hadoram with presents to bless David: the presents and spoil David dedicated to God, 9——12. he putteth garisons in Edom, 13. David's Officers, 14——17.

NOw after this * it came to pass, that David smote the Philistins a, and subdued them, and took Gath and her † towns out of the hands of the Philistins.

a All this Chapter is explained on 2 Sam. 8.

2 And he smote Moab: and the Moabites became Davids servants, and brought gifts.

3 And David smote ‖ Hadarezer king of Zobah unto Humath, as he went to establish his † dominion by the river Euphrates.

4 And David took from him a thousand chariots, and seven thousand horsemen, and twenty thousand footmen: David also houghed all the chariot horses, but reserved of them an hundred chariots.

5 And when the Syrians of † Damascus came to Hadarezar king of Zobah, David slew of the Syrians two and twenty thousand men.

6 Then David put garisons in Syria-damascus, and the Syrians became Davids servants, and brought gifts. Thus the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went.

7 And David took the shields of gold that were on the servants of Hadarezer, and brought them to Jerusalem.

8 Likewise from ‖ Tibhath, and from Chun b, cities of Hadarezer, brought David very much brass, wherewith * Solomon made the brazen sea, and the pillars, and the vessels of brass.

b For which 2 Sam. 8. Betah and Berothai are mentioned. Either therefore they were the same places called by several names, as is usual: Or they were four neighbouring places, out of all which the brass was taken, whereof two places having been named there, and omitted here, and the other two places there omitted are here remembred.

9 Now when ‖ Tou king of Hamath heard how David had smitten all the host of Hadarezer king of Zobah:

10 He sent Hadoram his son to king David, ‖ to enquire of his welfare, and ‖ to congratulate him, because he had fought against Hadarezer, and smitten him, (for Hadarezer † had warred with Tou) and with him all manner of vessels of gold, and silver, and brass.

11 Them also king David dedicated unto the LORD, with the silver and the gold that he brought from all these nations; from Edom, and from Moab, and from the children of Ammon, and from the Philistins, and from Amalek.

12 Moreover, Abishai the son of Zerujah slew of the Edomites in the valley of salt, eighteen thousand.

13 And he put garisons in Edom, and all the Edomites became Davids servants. Thus the LORD preserved David whithersoever he went.

14 So David reigned over all Israel, and executed judgment and justice among all his people.

15 And Joab the son of Zerujah was over the host, and Jehoshaphat the son of Ahilud, ‖ recorder.

16 And Zadok the son of Ahitub, and ‖ Abimelech the son of Abiathar, were the priests, and ‖ Shausha was scribe.

17 And Benajah the son of Jehojada was over the Cherethite, and the Pelethite: and the sons of David were chief † about the king.

CHAP. XIX.

David's Messengers to Hanun are willfully intreated, 1——5. The Ammonites and Syrians are overcome by Joab and Abishai, 6——15. By David himself, 16——19.

NOw * it came to pass after this, that Nahash the king of the children of Ammon died a, and his son reigned in his stead.

a Of all the Contents of this Chapter see the notes on 2 Sam. 10. where we have the same things, and almost the very same words.

2 And David said, I will shew kindness unto Hanun the son of Nahash, because his father shewed kindness to me. And David sent messengers to comfort him concerning his father: so the servants of David came into the land of the children of Ammon, to Hanun, to comfort him.

3 But the princes of the children of Ammon said to Hanun, † Thinkest thou that David doth honour thy father that he hath sent comforters unto thee? are not his servants come unto thee for to search, and to overthrow, and to spie out the land.

4 Wherefore Hanun took Davids servants, and shaved them, and cut off their garments in the midst hard by their buttocks, and sent them away.

5 Then there went certain, and told David how the men were served. And he sent to meet them (for the men were greatly ashamed) and the king said, tarry at Jericho until your beards be grown, and then return.

6 And when the children of Ammon saw that they had made themselves † odious to David, Hanun and the children of Ammon sent a thousand talents of silver to hire them chariots and horsemen out of Mesopotamia, and out of Syria-maachah, and out of Zobah.

7 So they hired thirty and two thousand chariots b, and the king of Maachah and his people, who came and pitched before Medeba. And the children of Ammon gathered themselves together from their cities, and came to battel.

b i. e. 32000 Men fighting from or with Chariots, as that word is elsewhere used: of which see my Notes on 1 Sam. 13. 5. And this Interpretation seems the more probable by comparing this place with 2 Sam. 10. 6. where this Army is said to consist of 20000 footmen, and 12000 men of Ishtob; which make up these 32000 men, who fought partly from Chariots, and partly on foot with Chariots, or attending upon the Chariots, as the ancient manner of fighting was. And here v. 6. this Army is made up of Chariots and Horsemen; where, except the chariots be understood of footmen, there were no footmen in the Army, which is unusual and incredible.

8 And when David heard of it, he sent Joab, and all the host of the mighty men.

9 And the children of Ammon came out, and put the battel in aray before the gate of the city: and the kings that were come, were by themselves in the field.

10 Now when Joab saw that † the battel was set against him, before and behind, he chose out of all the choice of Israel, and put them in aray against the Syrians.

11 And the rest of the people he delivered unto the hand of † Abishai his brother, and they set themselves in aray against the children of Ammon.

12 And he said, If the Syrians bee too strong for me, then thou shalt help me: but if the children of Ammon be too strong for thee, then I will help thee.

13 Be of good courage, and let us behave our selves valiantly for our people, and for the cities of our God: and let the LORD do that which is good in his sight.

14 So Joab and the people that were with him, drew nigh before the Syrians, unto the battel; and they fled before him.

15 And when the children of Ammon saw that the Syrians were fled, they likewise fled before Abishai his brother, and entred into the city. Then Joab came to Jerusalem.

16 And when the Syrians saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they sent messengers and drew forth the Syrians that were beyond the ‖ river: and Shophach, the captain of the host of Hadarezer, went before them.

17 And it was told David, and he gathered all Israel, and passed over Jordan, and came upon them, and set the battel in aray against them. So when David had put the battel in aray against the Syrians, they fought with him.

18 But the Syrians fled before Israel, and David slew of the Syrians seven thousand men, which fought in chariots, and forty thousand footmen c, and killed Shophach the captain of the host.

c How this agrees with 2 Sam. 10. 18. see in the Notes on that place.

19 And when the servants of Hadarezer saw that they were put to the worse before Israel, they made peace with David, and became his servants: neither would the Syrians help the children of Ammon any more.

CHAP. XX.

Rabbah besieged, spoiled, and tortured by David, 1——3. Three Gigants slain, 4——8.

AND * it came to pass, that † after the year was expired, at the time that kings go out to battel, Joab led forth the power of the army, and wasted the country of the children of Ammon a, and came and besieged Rabbah, (but David tarried at Jerusalem) and Joab smote Rabbah, and destroyed it.

a Of this first verse see my Notes on 2 Sam. 11. 1. and of v. 2, 3. on 2 Sam. 12. 30, 31. and of the rest of this Chapter on 2 Sam. 21. 18, &c. where also an account is given of the seeming differences between this and that Relation.

2 And David * took the crown of their king from off his head, and found it † to weigh a talent of gold, and there were precious stones in it, and it was set upon Davids

Davids head; and he brought also exceeding much spoil out of the city.

3 And he brought out the people that were in it, and cut them with saws and with harrows of iron, and with axes: even so dealt David with all the cities of the children of Ammon. And David and all the people returned to Jerusalem.

4 And it came to pass after this, * that there ‖ arose war at Gezer with the Philistins; at which time Sibbechai the Hushathite slew ‖ Sippai that was of the children of ‖ the giant, and they were subdued.

5 And there was war again with the Philistins, and Elhanan the son of ‖ Jair slew Lahmi the brother of Goliah the Gittite, whose spear-staff was like a weavers beam.

6 And yet again * there was war at Gath, where was † a man of great stature, whose fingers and toes were four and twenty, six on each hand, and six on each foot: and he also was † the son of the giant.

7 But when he ‖ defied Israel, Jonathan the son of ‖ Shimea, Davids brother slew him.

8 These were born unto the giant in Gath: and they fell by the hand of David, and by the hand of his servants.

CHAP. XXI.

David combineth the people, 1——5. He repenteth: of three Judgments propounded, he chuseth the Pestilence: and why. 7——13. Having by God's direction, builded an Altar, and sacrificeth: the Plague is stayed, 14——30.

AND * ‖ Satan stood up a against Israel, and provoked David to number Israel.

a Heb. lood, to wit, before the Lord and his Tribunal to accuse David and Israel, and to beg God's permission to tempt David to number the People. Standing is the Accusers posture before Mens Tribunals; and consequently the Holy Scripture (which useth to speak of God, and of the things of God, after the manner of Men, to bring them down to our Capacities) elsewhere represents Satan in this posture, as 1 Kings 22. 21. Zech. 3. 1. Rev. 12. 10. and Chap. 24. 1. where the Lord is said to move David, i. e. to give Satan Commission or Permission to move him; for otherwise God tempteth no man, James 1. 13. But of this, and of this whole Chapter, and of the Variations and seeming Contradictions between this Narrative and that in Samuel, see my Notes on 2 Sam. 24.

2 And David said to Joab, and to the rulers of the people, Go, number Israel, from Beersheba even to Dan; and bring the number of them to me, that I may know it.

3 And Joab answered, The LORD make his people an hundred times as many mo as they be: but my lord the king, are they not all my lords servants, why then doth my lord require this thing? why will he be a cause of trespass to Israel b.

b Or, why will he be, or, why should this be a trespass, or a cause of trespass, or an occasion of punishment, (for Hebrew words signifying sin are often used to note the punishment of sin) or a desolation, or a cause of desolation or destruction (for the verb whence this noun proceeds is often used in that sense) to or against Israel? Why will thou provoke God by this sin to punish Israel? Thus he speaks, because God commonly punisheth the People for the sins of their Rulers, because they are for the most part guilty of their sins in one kind or other; or at least God takes this occasion to punish People for all their sins.

4 Nevertheless, the kings word prevailed against Joab: wherefore Joab departed, and went throughout all Israel, and came to Jerusalem.

5 And Joab gave the sum of the number of the people unto David. And all they of Israel were a thousand thousand and one hundred thousand men that drew sword: and Judah was four hundred threescore and ten thousand men that drew sword.

6 But Levi and Benjamin counted he not among them c; for the kings word was abominable to Joab.

c Partly for the following reason; and principally by Gods special and gracious Providence to these two Tribes, to Levi, because they were devoted to his Service; and to Benjamin, because they were the least of all the Tribes, having been almost extinct, Judg. 21. and because God foresaw that they would be faithful to the House of David in the division of the Tribes, and therefore he would not have them diminished. And Joab presumed to leave these two Tribes unnumbred, because he had specious pretences for it; for Levi, because they were no Warriors, and the Kings Command reached only to those that drew sword, as appears from v. 5. And for Benjamin, because they, being so small a Tribe, and bordering upon Jerusalem their chief City, might easily be numbred afterward.

† Heb. and it was evil in the eyes of the LORD concerning this thing. * 2 Sam. 24. 10. 1 Chron. 21. 8. 2 Sam. 12. 13.

7 † And God was displeased with this thing d, therefore he smote Israel e.

d Because this was done without any colour of necessity, and out of meer Curiosity, and Ostentation, and carnal Confidence, as Davids own Conscience told him, which therefore smote him, as it is related, 2 Sam. 24. 10. e Which is particularly related in the following verses.

8 And David said unto God, * I have sinned greatly, because I have done this thing; * but now I beseech thee, do away the iniquity of thy servant, for I have done very foolishly.

9 And the LORD spake unto Gad, Davids seer, saying,

10 Go, and tell David, saying, Thus saith the LORD, I † offer thee three things, chuse thee one of them that I may do it unto thee.

11 So Gad came to David, and said unto him, Thus saith the LORD, † chuse thee, 12 Either three years famine, or three months to be destroyed before thy foes, (while that the sword of thine enemies overtaketh thee) or else three days the sword of the LORD, even the pestilence in the land, and the angel of the LORD destroying throughout all the coasts of Israel. Now therefore advise thy self, what word I shall bring again to him that sent me.

13 And David said unto Gad, I am in a great strait: let me fall now into the hand of the LORD, (for very ‖ great are his mercies) but let me not fall into the hand of man.

14 So the LORD sent pestilence upon Israel; and there fell of Israel seventy thousand men.

15 And God sent an * angel unto Jerusalem to destroy it: and as he was destroying, the LORD beheld, and he repented him of the evil, and said to the angel that destroyed, It is enough, stay now thine hand. And the Angel of the LORD stood by the threshing-floor of ‖ Ornan the Jebusite.

16 And David lift up his eyes, and saw the angel of the LORD stand between the earth and the heaven, having a drawn sword in his hand stretched out over Jerusalem: then David and the elders of Israel, who were clothed in sackcloth f, fell upon their faces.

f i. e. In mourning Garments, humbling themselves before God for their sins, and deprecating his Wrath against the People.

17 And David said unto God, Is it not I that commanded the people to be numbred? even I it is that have sinned and done evil indeed; but as for these sheep what have they done? let thine hand, I pray thee, O LORD my God, be on me, and on my fathers house, but not on thy people, that they should be plagued.

18 Then † the * angel of the LORD commanded Gad to say to David, that David should go up and set up an altar unto the LORD, in the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite.

19 And David went up at the saying of Gad, which he spake in the name of the LORD.

20 ‖ And Ornan turned back, and saw the Angel; and his four sons with him hid themselves g. Now Ornan was threshing wheat.

g Or, And Ornan turned back (i.e. turned his face from the Angel) and saw the angel, and (so did) his four sons with him hiding themselves partly for fear of the Glory and Majesty in which the Angel appeared, by which means weak and sinful natures are not able to bear; and partly for fear of the Angel, from the fear of Gods Vengeance which was at this time riding circuit in the Land, and now seemed to be coming to their Family.

21 And as David came to Ornan, Ornan looked and saw David, and went out of the threshing-floor, and bowed himself to David with his face to the ground.

22 Then David said to Ornan, † Grant me the place of this threshing-floor, that I may build an altar therein unto the Lord: thou shalt grant it me for the full price, that the plague may be stayed from the people.

23 And Ornan said unto David, Take it to thee, and let my Lord the King do that which is good in his eyes: lo, I give thee the oxen also for burnt-offerings, and the threshing-instruments for wood, and the wheat for the meat-offering, I give it all.

24 And king David said to Ornan, Nay, but I will verily buy it for the full price: for I will not take that which is thine for the LOLD, nor offer burnt-offerings without cost.

25 So * David gave to Ornan for the place, six hundred Shekels of Gold by weight.

26 And David built there an Altar unto the LORD, and offered burnt-offerings and peace-offerings, and called upon the LORD; and he answered him from Heaven by fire ‖ upon the Altar of burnt-offering.

h Heb. by fire sent from Heaven: which was the sign of Gods acceptance. See Levit. 9. 24. 1 King 18. 24, 38. 2 Chron. 7. 1.

27 And the LORD commanded the Angel, and he put up his sword again into the sheat thereof.

28 At that time, when David saw that the LORD had answered him in the threshing-floor of Ornan the Jebusite, then he sacrificed there i.

i When he perceived that his Sacrifice there offered was acceptable to God, he proceeded to offer more Sacrifices in that place, and did not go to Gibeon, as otherwise he should have done.

29 For the Tabernacle of the LORD which Moses made in the Wilderness, and the altar of the burnt-offering were at that season in the high place at * Gibeon.

30 But David could not k go before it † to enquire of God m; for he was afraid because of the sword of the angel of the LORD n.

k i. e. Durst not. l i. e. Before the Tabernacle, where the Altar stood. m Heb. to seek, God, i. e. humbly to beg his Favour by Prayer and Sacrifice. n i. e. When he saw the Angel stand with his drawn sword over Jerusalem, as is related above, v. 15, 16. he durst not go away thence to Gibeon, least the Angel in the mean time should destroy Jerusalem; for the prevention whereof he thought it most proper to continue to worship God in that place, which he had consecrated by his special Presence and gracious acceptance.

CHAP. XXII.

David prepareth for the Building of the Temple, 1——5. Instructeth Solomon in Gods Promises and his Duty, 6——16. he chargeth the Princes to assist his Son, 17——19.

THEN David said a, * This is the house of the LORD God b, and this is the altar of burnt-offering for Israel.

a Partly by his observation of this gracious and glorious Appearance of God, and his command to erect an Altar and his Acceptance of a Sacrifice offered in this place: and partly by the instinct and Direction of Gods Spirit, by which as he is said to have had the pattern of the house, porch, Altar, &c. 1 Chron. 28. 11, 12, 19. So doubtless he was also instructed as to the place where the House should be built. b This is the place appointed by God for the building of his Temple and Altar.

2 And David commanded to gather together the strangers that were in the Land of Israel c, and he set masons to hew wrought stones d, to build the house of God.

c The same persons whom Solomon afterwards employed in the same Work: of which see 1 Kings 5. 15. compared with 1 Kings 9. 20, 21. d Wherein he could not do much, being prevented by death: but Solomon carried on and perfected what David had begun.

3 And David prepared iron in abundance for the nails for the doors of the gates, and for the joynings e; and brass in abundance without weight.

e To be used together with melted Lead, for the joyning of those great and square Stones together.

4 Also cedar-trees in abundance: for the Zidonians, and they of Tyre, brought much cedar-wood to David.

5 And David said f, * Solomon my Son is young and tender g, and the house that is to be built for the LORD, must be exceeding magnifical, of fame and of glory throughout all countries: I will therefore now make preparation for it. So David prepared abundantly before his death.

f Within himself, or in his own thoughts. g And therefore through youthful vanity and folly, and unsettledness, may not use that Care, and Consideration, and Diligence in making such Provisions as this great Work requires. Of Solomons Age, see 1 Kings 3. 7.

6 Then he called for Solomon his Son, and charged him to build an house for the LORD God of Israel.

7 And David said to Solomon, My Son, as for me, * it was in my mind to build an house † unto the name of the LORD my God.

8 But the word of the LORD came to me, saying, * Thou hast shed blood abundantly, and hast made great wars: thou shalt not build an house unto my name, because thou hast shed much blood upon the Earth h in my sight i.

h Not that Wars either now are or then were simply Unlawful, or that David sinned in shedding the Blood of War; for it is manifest, that Davids Wars were undertaken by Gods command, or with his Leave, and were attended with his Blessing; but partly because Davids Military Employments did for a good while fill his Head and Hands, and gave him no leisure for Temple-work: and principally for mystical Signification, to teach us that the Church (whereof the Temple was a manifest and illustrious Type) should be built by Christ, the Prince of Peace, Isa. 9. 6. and that it should be gathered and built up, not by might or power, or by force of Arms, but by Gods Spirit, Zech. 4. 6. and by the preaching the Gospel of Peace. i Which I have taken particular notice of. And this expression may possibly be added in reference to Uriah and the rest of the Israelites, who were slain at the Siege of Rabbah by Davids contrivance; which peradventure David had in his Eye, Psal. 51. 4. where David confessing this Sin, useth this very Expression, I have done this Evil in thy sight.

9 Behold, a son shall be born to thee, who shall be a Man of rest, and I will give him rest from all his enemies round about: for his name shall be ‖ Solomon, and I will give peace and quietness unto Israel in his days.

10 * He shall build an house for my name, and he shall be my son, and I will be his Father, and I will establish the throne of his Kingdom over Israel for ever k.

k Of this see my Notes on 2 Sam. 7. 13.

11 Now my Son, the LOBD be with thee, and prosper thou l, and build the house of the LORD thy God, as he hath said of thee.

l Go on prosperously in carrying on this Work. Or, the Lord give thee that Rest and Prosperity which is necessary for it.

12 Only the LORD give thee wisdom and understanding; and give thee charge concerning Israel m, that thou mayest keep the Law of the Lord thy God.

m i.e. Give thee Instructions or Direction rightly to manage and rule his People Israel. Or, and set thee over Israel, as the Syriack renders it, whom the Arabick follows: Or when (as the Hebrew vau is often used) he shall set thee over Israel, i.e. when thou shalt be King; for then Solomon would need this Wisdom, for which therefore he Prayeth, 1 King. 3. 9.

13 Then shalt thou prosper, if thou takest heed to fulfil the statutes and judgments which the LORD charged Moses with concerning Israel. Be strong, and of good courage, dread not, nor be dismayed.

14 Now behold, ‖ in my trouble n I have prepared for the house of the LORD, an hundred thousand talents of Gold o, and a thousand thousand talents of Silver p; and of brass, and iron, without † weight: (for it is in abundance) timber also and stone have I prepared, and thou mayest add thereto.

n This he allegeth as a reason why he could do no more, because of the many Troubles and Wars both Foreign and Civil, whereby much of his Treasures was exhausted. o A Talent of Gold in the first constitution was 3000 Shekels, as may be gathered from Exod. 38. 24, 25, 26. and so this amounts to a very vast Sum, yet not impossible for David to get, considering how many and great Conquests he made, and what vast Spoils and Presents he got; and that he endeavoured by all just and honourable ways to get as much as he could, not out of Covetousness, or for his own Ends, but meerly out of Zeal for Gods house. And whereas some object, that this quantity of Gold and Silver was sufficient, tho the whole Fabrick of the Temple had consisted of Mally Gold and Silver: it is to be considered, that all this Treasure was not spent upon the Materials of the Temple, but a very great part of it upon the Workmen, which were nigh 200000, whereof a great number were Officers, which being employed for so long time together, would exhaust a considerable part of it; and what was not employed in the building of the Temple, was laid up in the Sacred Treasures for future occasions, there being mention of the great Treasures left by David, even in other Authors. But some Learned Men make these Talents far less than those in Moses his time; and they conceive, that as there were two sorts of Shekels both of Gold and Silver, the common and the sacred Shekel, whereof the latter is commonly thought to be double to the former, so also there were Talents of divers kinds and values. For the Hebrew word Cicker, which is rendred a Talent, properly signifies only a Mass or a Piece, as it is used. Exod. 25. 39. 1 Sam. 2. 36. Zech. 5. 7. So it may indifferently denote either a greater or a lesser piece. And this is certain, and observed by two Ancient and most Learned Writers, Varro and Pollux, and by others, that a Talent among the Greeks and Romans sometimes notes but a small quantity: and that a Talent of Gold contains only six drams. And Homer in his Iliads, among other things of no great value, which are propounded as Rewards to the Conqueror at a solemn and publick Exercise, a Bondwoman, an Hoye and a Pot, mentions two Talents of Gold; which plainly shews that in his Time (which was after the Building of this Temple) Talents of Gold were very far inferior in quantity and price to what they had been in former Ages. And Josephus a Jew, and therefore the more competent judge of these things, speaking of this very thing for reasons Talents of Gold here mentioned, he puts 100000, and for reasons Talents of Silver he puts 100000; either because the Talents in Moses his time were of ten times more bulk and price than in Davids and Solomons time, and therefore these Talents reduced to them amounted to no greater Sum; or because he read so in his Copy of the Hebrew Bible. And certainly it is infinitely more tolerable, and reasonable to suppose, that there is a mistake here in the generality of the present Copies of the Hebrew Bible, through the Errour of the Scribe, (which being only in a Numeral and Historical Passage, might happen without Impeachment to the Care of Gods Providence, which hath so miraculously preserved all the most Important and Substantial parts of Scripture, as hath been formerly said) than upon such Pretences to deny the Truth and Divine Original and Authority of the Holy Scriptures. Add to this, that all the Gold then used was not of equal worth and purity; as appears both by the special Commendation given to some forts of Gold in divers parts of Scripture, and particularly by the difference observed in this very History between the Gold and Gold which David gave for this use; whereof one little part being distinctively called pure Gold and refined Gold, 1 Chron. 28. 17, 18. it is sufficiently implied, that all the rest of the Gold was not refined nor pure, which might greatly diminish the Worth of it; for in what degree it was impure or allayed with other things in those Times and Places we cannot know at this Distance: and therefore we cannot make a true Estimate what those Talents of Gold did amount to in our Value. p Just as much in Silver as in Gold; for this is known and agreed, that the Proportion of Gold to Silver is Ten to One.

15 Moreover, there are Workmen with thee in abundance, hewers, and ‖ workers of stone and timber, and all manner of cunning Men for every manner of work.

16 Of the gold, the silver and the brass, and the iron there is no number. Arise therefore, and be doing, and the LORD be with thee.

17 David also commanded all the princes of Israel to help Solomon his Son, saying,

18 Is not the LORD your God with you? and hath he not given you rest on every side? for he hath given the Inhabitants of the land into mine hand, and the land is subdued before the LORD, and before his people r.

r Either 1. It is brought under the command of God and of you his people, all the enemies of God and of Israel, in it or near it, being now perfectly subdued. Or, 2 It is really subdued, whereof both God and your own Eyes are Witnesses.

19 Now fet your heart and your foul to ſeek the LORD your God: arife therefore, and build ye the ſanctuary of the LORD God, to bring the Ark of the covenant of the LORD, and the holy veſſels of God, into the houſe that is to be built to the name of the LORD.

CHAP. XXIII.

David maketh Solomon King, 1. The number and diſtribution of the Levites, according to their families, 2——23. Their Office, 24——32.

SO when David was old and full of days, he made * Solomon his ſon king over Iſrael a.

* 1 Kings. 1. 33. 35. Ch. 28. 5.

a Not that he did reſign the kingdom to him, but that he declared his mind concerning his Succeſſion into the Throne after his death. As David himſelf is called King, 1 Sam. 16. 1. becauſe he was appointed and anointed to be king after Saul's death, though till then he was only a Subject.

2 And he gathered together all the princes of Iſrael, with the Prieſts and the Levites b.

b Partly to declare God's Mind and his own Will, that Solomon ſhould be his Succeſſor; and ſo to cut off the claims and pretences which others of his Sons might make to the Crown: and partly to acquaint them with thoſe Directions which he had received from God by the Spirit, as appears from ch. 28. 11. &c. concerning the Eſtabliſhment of a new order and method in the Miniſtration of the Prieſts and Levites in the Temple.

3 Now the Levites were numbered from the age of * thirty years and upward c: and their numbers by their polls, man by man, was thirty and eight thouſand.

* Numb. 4.

c Not only till fifty, as it was appointed, Numb. 4. 2, 3. but even till their death: For that was but a Temporary Law grounded upon a ſpecial reaſon, becauſe the Levites were employed in carrying the Tabernacle and Sacred veſſels from place to place; and therefore God would have them freed from thoſe burdens when they came to feel the infirmities of Age: Which Reaſon wholly ceaſing upon the building of the Temple, and their Work being far eaſier than it had been, and their Service being more a Privilege than a Burden, their time of Service is juſtly and nobly prolonged.

4 Of which, twenty and four thouſand were ‖ to ſet forward the work of the houſe of the LORD d: and ſix thouſand were † officers and judges e.

d Viz. To take care that all the Work of the Temple about Sacrifices and other parts or means of Gods Service ſhould be punctually and diligently performed, either by themſelves or others: Which they were not to do all at once, but by courſes, 1000 at a time, as is ſhall ſhortly ſee. ‖ Whoſe Work it ſeems to have been to judge of, and determine all difficult Caſes or differences which might ariſe either among the inferior Prieſts or Levites about their Sacred Adminiſtrations; or among the People, which being governed in all their Concerns only by the Laws of Moſes, it was fit and neceſſary, that the Prieſts and Levites ſhould be conſulted and concerned in their matters.

5 Moreover, four thouſand were porters f, and four thouſand praiſed the LORD with inſtruments g which I made (ſaid David) to praiſe therewith.

f Whoſe Office was to take the Charge of all the Gates of the Temple and its Courts, that no forbidden or unclean Perſon might enter there, and of the Courts themſelves, and of ſeveral Chambers or Buildings belonging to the Temple and the Service thereof. Theſe alſo were to do their Work by turns. g Whereof 288 were Perſons of greater skill than their Brethren, and did inſtruct them, and had ſome Authority over them.

6 And * David divided them into † courſes h among the ſons of Levi, namely, Gerſhon, Kohath, and Merari.

* 1 Chron. 24. 1. Ch. 25. 1. 2 Chr. 8. 14. † Or, ſtations.

h Which he did not by his own Invention, but as a Man of God, and by the command of God, and with the Advice and Concurrence of Gad and Nathan the Prophets, as is manifeſt from 2 Chron. 8. 14. and 29. 25, 26.

7 Of the * Gerſhonites were ‖ Laadan and Shimei.

* Ch. 26. 21.

8 The ſons i of Laadan, the chief was Jehiel, and Zetham, and Joel, three.

i i. e. His Poſterity: and ſo in the following verſes: for theſe could not be their immediate Sons.

9 The ſons of Shimei; Shelomith, and Haziel, and Haran three. Theſe were the chief of the fathers of Laadan.

10 And the Sons of Shimei k were, Jahath, ‖ Zina, and Jeuſh, and Beriah: Theſe four were the ſons of Shimei.

* Ch. 24. 22.

k Not that Shimei named v. 9. but another, and poſſibly the Son or Grandſon of that Shimei.

11. And Jahath was the chief, and Zizah the ſecond: but Jeuſh and Beriah † had not many ſons; therefore they were in one reckoning, according to their fathers houſe l.

† Or, ſtood.

l They were reckoned together as one Family, and were not called by the name of their two immediate Parents, but by the name of their Grandfather Shimei.

12 The ſons of Kohath; Amram, Izhar, Hebron, and Uzziel, four.

13 The ſon of * Amram; Aaron and Moſes: and † Aaron was ſeparated, ‖ that he ſhould ſanctifie the moſt holy things m, he and his ſons n for ever, to burn incenſe before the LORD, to miniſter unto him, and to * bleſs in his name for ever.

* Exod. 6. 20. † Or, ſeparated him.

m Not poſitively; for ſo he could not ſanctifie them, they being already ſanctified by God in the higheſt degree; but in order to it, that he might keep them from Pollution: For theſe moſt holy things were polluted when they were touched by any other perſon. n Not all only his eldeſt Sons the High-prieſts ſucceſſively, but all his Poſterity or all the Prieſts; for the Works here following were not peculiar to the High-prieſt, but common to all the Prieſts, who might offer Incenſe, 2 Chron. 29. 11. Luke 1. 9. and to miniſter in the Temple, and to bleſs the People in Gods name, Numb. 6. 23. Deut. 10. 8.

14 Now concerning Moſes the man of God, his ſons were named of the Tribe of Levi o.

o i. e. They were accounted only as common Levites, and were not Prieſts: which is mentioned partly to ſecure the Prieſthood within the bounds to which God had confined it, leſt they ſhould preſume to invade it upon a confidence in the Nobleneſs of their Extraction: and partly for the honour of Moſes, and the demonſtration of his eminent Piety and Self-denial, who willingly left the Government to Joſhua, and the Prieſthood to Aaron, and was content to have his Poſterity reduced to a very private and mean condition.

15 * The ſons of Moſes were, Gerſhom and Eliezer.

* Exod. 2. 22. Ch. 18. 3.

16 Of the ſons of Gerſhom, ‖ Shebuel was the chief.

17 And the ſons o of Eliezer were, * Rehabiah the ‖ chief p. And Eliezer had none other ſons, but the ſons of Rehabiah † were very many.

* Ch. 24. 21. † Or, increaſed.

o For, the ſon: the plural number for the ſingular, as ſons, v. 23. 1 Chron. 2. 8, 31. and oft elſewhere. p Heb. the head, i. e. the firſt-born. He is ſo called, not becauſe others were born after him, but becauſe none were born before him. See on Mat. 1. 23.

18 Of the ſons of Izhar ‖ Shelomith the chief.

19 Of the ſons of Hebron; Jeriah the firſt, Amariah the ſecond, Jahaziel the third, and Jekameam the fourth.

20 Of the ſons of Uzziel; Micah the firſt, and Jeſhiah the ſecond.

21 The ſons of Merari; Mahli, and Muſhi: the ſons of Mahli; Eleazar, and Kiſh.

22 And Eleazar died, and * had no ſons, but daughters: and their ‖ brethren the ſons of Kiſh took them.

* Ch. 24. 28.

23 The ſons of Muſhi, Mahli, and Eder, and Jeremoth, three.

24 Theſe were the ſons of * Levi, after the houſe of their fathers; even the chief of the fathers, as they were counted by number of names by their polls, that did the work for the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD, from the age of * twenty years q and upward.

* Numb. 4. 3. 23. 30. 35. 39. 43. 47.

q As the Levites were anciently numbred from two ſeveral times, from the 25th year of their Age, and from the 30th Numb. 4. 3. & 8. 24. In like manner and for the ſame Reaſons they are here numbred both from their 20th year, as here, when they were more ſolemnly prepared for, and inſtructed, and by degrees exerciſed in ſome parts of their Work; and from their 30th year, above ſaid, when they were admitted to the full and compleat Exerciſe of all the Parts and Works of their Office. And the reaſon why they were now ſooner admitted to Service than they had been formerly by the Conſtitution of Moſes, is given in the next verſes, becauſe now their Work was more eaſie, they being wholly diſcharged from that burdenſome Work of carrying the Tabernacle and its Utenſils, which was too heavy for young and tender Shoulders. To which may be added, that the number of the Iſraelites were greatly increaſed, and conſequently the Services which were to be performed by the Levites on their behalf were multiplied, and the Work of the Temple was much greater than that of the Tabernacle, and therefore more of the Levites were to be employed, and conſequently they were to be ſooner taken into Service.

25 For David ſaid, the LORD God of Iſrael hath given reſt unto his People ‖ that they may dwell in Jeruſalem for ever.

26 And alſo unto the Levites r, they ſhall no more carry the Tabernacle, nor any veſſels of it for the ſervice thereof.

r Or rather, as concerning the Levites, of whom he is here ſpeaking.

27 For by the laſt words of David s, the Levites were † numbred from twenty years old and above.

s By his laſt Order and Conſtitution made by Gods direction and by the Spirit, as hath been once and again noted and proved before. This is here added to ſignifie, that this great Affair was thus ſettled by David, not in his younger years, when it might have been thought to have the effect of youthful Heat, and Confidence, and Preſumption, and Raſhneſs, but when he was come to the greateſt Maturity, when he was old and near his death, and going to give up his Account to his Lord and Maker, of all his Actions, and particularly of the Alterations which he made in the Service of God; which he declared was done by the Spirit of God. Theſe were in a manner his dying words, which uſually make the deepeſt impreſſions.

† Or, were numbred.

28 Becauſe † their office was to wait on the ſons of Aaron, for the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD, in the courts, and in the chambers, and in the purifying of all holy things t, and the work of the ſervice of the houſe of God.

† i. e. Holy Places, and Garments, and Veſſels, and Sacrifices, which were to be waſhed and cleanſed from any Filthineſs which poſſibly might cleave to them.

29 Both for the ſhew-bread, and for * the fine flour for meat offering, and for the unleavened cake and for that which is baked in the ‖ pan, and for that which is fryed, and for all manner of meaſure and ſize u.

* Exod. 29. 2. Levit. 2. 1. ‖ Or, plate.

u This is to be underſtood either, 1 particularly of the Meaſure or Quantity of fine Flour, and Wine, and Oil, which was fixed by Gods Law. Or generally of all Meaſures uſed either in Sacred or Civil Things, the publick Standards whereof were kept in the Sanctuary or Temple; of which ſee on Exod. 30. 13. and therefore the care of keeping them inviolable and producing them upon Occaſion, muſt needs belong to the Prieſts, and under them to the Levites, who were to examine other Meaſures and all things by them, as oft as occaſion required; that ſo the Prieſts might be at more leiſure for their higher and greater Employments.

30 And to ſtand every morning x to thank and praiſe the LORD, and likewiſe at even x:

x The two Solemn Times of offering Sacrifices: which Work was attended with Publick Prayer and Thankſgiving.

31 And to offer all burnt-ſacrifices unto the LORD in the ſabbaths, in the new moons, and on the ſet feaſts, by number, according to the order commanded unto them y continually before the LORD:

y i. e. Unto thoſe Perſons, the Levites, of whom he ſpeaks. Or, concerning them, i. e. about thoſe things.

32 And that they ſhould keep the charge of the tabernacle of the congregation, and the charge of the holy place, and the charge of the ſons of Aaron z their brethren, in the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD.

z i. e. What the Prieſts ſhould commit to their charge, or command them to do.

CHAP. XXIV.

The Prieſts are diviſed by lot into 24 Orders. 1——19. Miniſters aſſiſted them out of the Levites, out of the Tribe of the Kohathites and Merarites, 20——31.

NOw theſe are the diviſions a of the ſons of Aaron: * The ſons of Aaron; Nadab and Abihu, Eleazar and Ithamar.

* Exod. 6. 23. Numb. 3. 2. 4. 26. 61.

a i. e. The ſeveral Branches into which that Family was divided or diſtributed.

2 But * Nadab and Abihu died before their father, and had no children: therefore Eleazar and Ithamar executed the prieſts office b.

* Levit. 10. 1. Numb. 3. 4. 26. 61.

b i. e. Were the only perſons to whom and to whoſe Families the Execution of that Office was committed.

3 And David diſtributed them, † both Zadok of the ſons of Eleazar, and Ahimelech of the ſons of Ithamar, according to their Offices c in their ſervice.

† Or, together: or, preſidentes, i. e. Allotting to each of them ſeveral times when in they or their ſhould by turns have the Government of Holy Miniſtrations in the Temple Service.

4 And there were more chief men found of the ſons of Eleazar, than of the ſons of Ithamar, and thus were they divided. Among the ſons of Eleazar there were ſixteen chief men of the houſe of their fathers, and eight among the ſons of Ithamar, according to the houſe of their fathers.

5 Thus were they divided by lot d, one ſort with another; for † the governours of the ſanctuary, and governours of the houſe of God e, were of the ſons of Eleazar, and of the ſons of Ithamar.

† Partly to prevent that Envy or Emulation which otherwiſe might ariſe among them: and partly that all mens minds and Conſciences might be fully ſatisfied in the Order now eſtabliſhed by this Divine way of Deciſion. e But that is no other than the Sanctuary, and ſo it may ſeem to make this Diviſion improper and irregular, the ſeveral Members of it being altogether the ſame. Or rather, of the things of God, i. e. of all perſons miniſtring in the Sanctuary, and of all Holy Miniſtrations done in it, and of all other matters of the Lord, as they are called by way of diſtinction from the kings matters, 2 Chron. 19. 11.

6 And Shemajah the ſon of Nathaneel the ſcribe, one of the Levites, wrote them before the king, and the princes, and Zadok the prieſt, and Ahimelech the ſon of Abiathar, and before the chief of the fathers of the Prieſts and Levites: one † principal houſhold being taken for Eleazar, and one taken for Ithamar f.

† Heb. houſe of the fathers.

f Or, the Chief (which word is eaſily ſupplied out of the context) of one houſe of the Fathers was taken (to wit, by Lot) for Eleazar, i. e. out of his family) and that which was taken after it was taken for Ithamar, i. e. out of his Family. The meaning is, that the firſt Lot fell to Eleazar, and the ſecond to Ithamar: and the third to Eleazar, and the fourth to Ithamar; and ſo ſucceſſively, until all the families of Ithamar had received their Lots: And afterwards all the Lots came forth to the reſt of Eleazars Families, which were double in number to thoſe of Ithamar, as was ſaid 5. 4.

7 Now the firſt lot came forth g to Jehoiarib, the ſecond to Jedajah, g To wit, out of the Veſſel in which all the Lots were promiſcuouſly put together, and out of which they were ſeverally taken.

8 The third to Harim, the fourth to Seorim,

9 The fifth to Malchijah, the ſixth to Mijamin,

10 The ſeventh to Hakkoz, the eighth to * Abijah,

* Neh. 12. 4. 17.

11 The ninth to Jeſhua, the tenth to Shecaniah,

12 The eleventh to Eliaſhib, the twelfth to Jakim,

13 The thirteenth to Huppah, the fourteenth to Jeſhebeab,

14 The fifteenth to Bilgah, the ſixteenth to Immer,

15 The ſeventeenth to Hezir, the eighteenth to Aphſes.

16 The nineteenth to Pethahiah, the twentieth to Jehezekel,

17 The one and twentieth to Jachin, the two and twentieth to Gamul, 18 The three and twentieth to Delajah, the four and twentieth to Maaziah.

19 Theſe were the ordainings of them in their ſervice h, to come into the houſe of the LORD, according to their manner i, under Aaron their father k, as the LORD God of Iſrael had commanded him.

h In this order and moſt of the reſt were to come to perform the Offices of the Temple. i i. e. To come into the Temple every Sabbath-day, and to continue there all that Week long, until the next Sabbath, when they were relieved by others, as the manner was. See 2 Kings 11. 5. 1 Chron. 9. 25. k Or, Under the inſpection and direction of the High-prieſt, whom he calls Aaron, becauſe he repreſented his Perſon, and executed his Office, and alſo came out of his Loins, and their father, becauſe of the authority which by Gods appointment he had over them, and that love, reverence, and obedience which they owed to him.

20 And the reſt of the ſons of Levi l were theſe. Of the ſons of Amram, * Shubael: of the ſons of Shubael; Jehdeiah m.

23 And the ſons of * Hebron; Jeriah the firſt, Amariah the ſecond, Jahaziel the third, Jekameam the fourth.

* Ch. 23. 19.

q Which word is eaſily ſupplied both out of the reſt of this verſe (the ſecond, third, and fourth) having a manifeſt reference to the firſt and out of 1 Chron. 23. 19. and 26. 31. where it is expreſſed.

24 Of the ſons of Uzziel; Michah: of the ſons of Michah; Shamir.

25 The brother of Michah was Iſhiah: of the ſons of Iſhiah: Zechariah.

26 The ſons of Merari were, Mahli and Muſhi: the ſons of Jaaziah r; Beno.

r The ſon either of Mahli: or rather of Merari laſt named: for Mahli's Poſterity comes 1. 28.

27 The ſons of Merari by Jaaziah; Beno s; and Shoham, and Zaccur, and Ibri.

s Whoſe name is here repeated with his Brethren, becauſe he was the firſt-born and Head of the reſt, who were all reckoned with and under his Family, as if they had been Branches of it.

28 Of Mahli came Eleazar, * who had no ſons.

29 Concerning Kiſh t: the ſon of Kiſh was Jerahmeel.

t Another of Mahli's Sons, as appears from 1 Chron. 23. 21.

30 The ſons alſo of Muſhi; Mahli, and Eder, and Jerimoth. Theſe were the ſons of the Levites, after the houſe of their fathers.

31 Theſe likewiſe caſt lots over againſt their brethren the ſons of Aaron u, in the preſence of David the king, and Zadok and Ahimelech, and the chief of the fathers of the Prieſts and Levites, even the principal fathers over against their younger brethren x.

u i.e. Answerable for Number and Order to those of the Priests, so as there should be a several course of the Levites for each course of the Priests. This is expressed concerning the Singers, ch.25. and the like is implied concerning the Porters, ch.26. and is here sufficiently intimated concerning those Levites which were employed in other Sacred Ministrations. x The Lots of the elder and younger Brethren were promiscuously put together, and the order was settled as the Lots came forth, without any regard to the Age or Dignity or Number of the Persons or Families, the youngest Family having the first Course if they had the first Lot, &c.

MOreover, David and the captains of the host a separated b to the service of the sons of * Asaph, and of * Heman, and of * Jeduthun c, who should prophecy d with harps, with psalteries, and with cymbals; and the number of the workmen e, according to their service, was;

a Both of the Civil and Sacred Hoft: to wit, all the Princes of Israel, with the Priests and the Levites, whom David gathered together, ch.23.2. for this very end, that in their Presence and with their Approbation and Consent, all these things might be eftablished; who are here fitly called the Captains of the Hoft; for the Princes were, under David, the chief Captains or Commanders of the Militia or Trained Bands of the Kingdom; and as the Levites are called an Hoft, and the Lords Hoft, *Numb.*4.23. and elsewhere because of their Number and Order in Holy Miniftrations; so these Priests and Levites were the Captains and Governours of the reft. b i.e. Diftributed them into their several Ranks and Orders: Which, though chiefly done by David as a Prophet, and by Divine direction, as hath been oft observed, yet is here imputed in part to the Captains of the Hoft, because it was done with their Concurrence and Approbation. c i.e. To the Service of God under the Conduct and Command of these Persons. d i.e. Praise God by singing the Pfalms of David, (of which see on ch.16.7.) and other Sacred Songs made by themselves, who were Prophets in some sort, or by other Prophets or Holy Men of God. Or this Action of theirs is called prophecying, because it had been formerly performed by the Prophets and the sons of the Prophets: of which see 1 *Sam.*10.5. & 19.20. 2 Kings 3.15. 1 Chron. 15.19. e Of the Persons employed in this Sacred Work.

f i.e. Under his overfight and direction. g In such manner and order as David appointed.

3 Of Jeduthun: the sons of Jeduthun h; Gedaliah, and ‖ Zeri, and Jeshajah, Hashabiah, and Mattithiah, ‖ fix, under the hands of their father Jeduthun, who prophesied with a harp to give thanks and to praise the LORD.

h Or, his sons, (the construct form being used before the absolute, of which there are Examples in Scripture) Jeduthun, called by his Fathers name: otherwife they are not fix; unless either Jeduthun their Father be included in that number: or Shimei mentioned v. 17. be one of them, as many Learned Men think. See the like, 1 Chron. 24.23.

‖ Or, Jesaiah, ver. 31.
‖ Or, Shubael, v. 20.

4 Of Heman: the sons of Heman; Bukkiah, Mattaniah, ‖ Uzziel, ‖ Shebuel, and Jerimoth, Hananiah, ‖ Hanani, Eliathah, Giddalti and Romamtiezer, Joshbekashah, Mallothi, Hothir, and Mahazioth.

‖ Or, matters.

5 All these were the sons of Heman the kings seer in the ‖ words of God k, to lift up the horn l. And God gave to Heman fourteen sons, and three daughters.

i Or, Prophet, which is the same thing, 1 *Sam.*9.9. Either he was a Prophet as well as a Singer; or he is thus called because he prophesied in the fence defigned, v.1. And he is called the kings seer, either because the king took special delight in him; or because he frequently attended upon the king in his Palace, executing his Sacred Office there, while the reft were constantly employed in the Tabernacle. k i.e. To sing such Divine Songs as were inspired by God to the Prophets or Holy Men of God. l Either 1. Metaphorically, to extol and praise God for exalting the horn (i.e. the Power and Kingdom) of David; of which Phrase see *Pfal.*92.10. & 132.17. Or rather 2. Properly, to praise God with the sound of a Trumpet (as was usual, as 2 *Chron.*5.12. & 13.12.) or some other Musical Instrument made of Horn, which being a Martial kind of Mufick, might be most grateful to Davids Martial Spirit: though he was alfo skilful in other Inftruments of Mufick which he used in the House of God, as is expressed in the next Verse.

6 All these were under the hands m of their father for song in the house of God, with cymbals, psalteries and harps, for the service of the house of God, † according to the kings order, to Asaph, Jeduthun, and Heman n.

CHAP. XXVI.

The Division of the Porters, 1——12. The Gates assigned by Lot, 13——19. The Levites have charge of the Treasures of the Temple, 20——28. Officers and Judges, 29——32.

COncerning the divisions of the porters ‖: Of the Korhites was ‖ Meshelemiah the son of Kore, of the sons of ‖ Asaph a.

‖ Or, as for the porters, of the Korhites was Meshelemiah &c.

a Not that famous Asaph the Singer, but another Asaph called also Ebiasaph, ch. 6. 37.

2 And the sons of Meshelemiah were, Zechariah the first-born, Jediael the second, Zebadiah the third, Jathniel the fourth,

3 Elam the fifth, Jehohanan the sixth, Elioenai the seventh;

4 Moreover, the sons of Obed-edom were, Shemaiah the first-born, Jehozabad the second, Joah the third, and Sacar the fourth, and Nethaneel the fifth:

5 Ammiel the fifth, Issachar the seventh, Peulthai the eighth: for God blessed ‖ him b.

‖ To wit, with a numerous Posterity and other Blessings, for his Respect and Affection to the Ark. See 2 Sam. 6. 11.

6 Also unto Shemaiah his son were two sons born, that ruled throughout the house of their fatherse: for they were mighty men of valour d.

c That

c That had the command of their Brethren and Families, being, as some say, Captains of Hundreds or of thousands: of which see Exod. 18. 25. 2 King. 11. 9. d This clause is divers times mentioned, because their Office required both Strength and Courage: for they were to shut the Doors of the Temple, one whereof was for great and weighty, that in the second Temple it required the help of twenty Men to open and shut it, as Josephus an Eye-witness reports. They were also to keep the Guard, and to keep out all unclean or forbidden Persons who might sometimes presumptuously attempt to enter into the Temple, as Uzziah did, and to prevent or suppress any Tumults or Disorders which might happen in the Temple or in its Courts, and to keep the Treasures of the Temple, v. 20, 22, 24, 26. and to be Officers and Judges over Israel, v. 29. and to manage every matter pertaining to God, and the affairs of the King, v. 32.

7 The sons of Shemajah; Othni, and Rephael, and Obed, Elzabad, whose brethren were † strong men; Elihu and Semachiah.

† Heb. sons of strength.

8 All these of the sons of Obed-edom: they, and their sons and their brethren, able men for strength for the service, were threescore and two of Obed-edom.

9 And Meshelemiah had sons and brethren, strong men, eighteen.

10 Also * Hosah of the children of Merari, had sons; Simri the chief, (for though he was not the first-born, yet his Father made him the chief.)

* Ch. 16.38.

e Taking away the Birth-right from the First-born, either absolutely for some gross Miscarriage, as Gen. 49. 4. or only in this respect, because he wanted either Strength or valour, or some other qualification more fitty for his Office.

11 Hilkiah the second, Tebaliah the third, Zechariah the fourth: all the sons and brethren of Hosah were thirteen.

12 Among these were the divisions of the porters, even among the chief men, having wards one against another f, to minister in the house of the LORD.

f Heb. having wards against or answerably to their Brethren, to wit, the other Levites, who were divided into 24 Courses, as the Priests also were, and so, it seems were the Porters.

13 And they cast lots ‖ as well the small as the great g, according to the house of their fathers h, for every gate i.

‖ otherwise called Zechariah his son (a wife counseller k) they cast lots, and his lot came out northward.

g Determining the times and places of their Service not by Age or Dignity but meerly by Lot. h A several Lot being allowed for each several house. i That it might be known to whom the Care of each Gate was more especially committed.

14 And the lot Eastward fell to ‖ Shelemiah; then for Zechariah his son k Which is noted as an excellent and useful accomplishment for his Office, in which there was need of Wisdom as well as Courage, as may appear by the description of their Work, v. 20. &c. See the Note on v. 6.

‖ Or, Meshelemiah

15 To Obed-edom southward, and to his sons, the house of † Asuppim l.

† Heb. the gathrings.

l A Place so called: or of gatherings, so named either from the Assembly of the elders, who met there to consult about the Affairs of the Temple: or from the People who were there gathered together, to hear the Discourses and Debates of the Teachers of the Law: or because the Gifts of the People towards the House and Worship of God were kept there. See 2 Kings 22. 4. 2 *Chr.*25. 24.

16 To Shuppim and Hosah m, the lot came forth westward, with ‖ the gate Shallecheth n, by the causey of the going ‖ up o, ward against ward p.

‖ Or, at that Gate.

m Who for some reason were joyned together in the Custody of this Gate. n A Gate of the Court so called, as some think, because the Ashes and filth of the Temple were cast out on that side, which was the most convenient Gate for that purpose, because that was a private Quarter, the great Ways to the Temple lying on the other sides. o By which Causey they went up towards the Temple. p Which may respect either 1. The time of their Watching, that when one Guard went off, another came on. Or rather, 2. the place of their Guard: and so this may be underftood, either 1. of this Western Quarter, where there was a double Guard, either because there were two gates there, as some think, or for some other safe now unknown. Or rather, 2. of all the Quarters compared together; of all which having spoken, he adds this, That as one gate was overagainft another, the West against the East, and North against the South, so one Ward was over against another.

17 Eastward were six Levites q, north-ward four a day, southward four a day, and toward Assuppim two and two.

q For that being the chief Gate of the Temple required a better Guard. r i.e. The house of Assuppim, as it is called v. 15. where also it is said to be on the South-side; on which there seems to have been a double Guard both belonging to Obed-edom, v. 15. one at the South-gate, and the other at Assuppim; where possibly the Sacred Treasures mentioned v. 20. &c. were layd up, and therefore a particular Guard was necessary. See on v. 15.

18 At Parbar r westward, four at the causey s, and two at Parbar u.

r Or, As concerning Parbar, which was another Gate, or some building on the Western Quarter of the Temple. s Which led to Parbar. u at the Gate or House it self; by which it may seem, that this was a place of some importance, either the vessels of the Temple, or some part of the Treasures of God's House, being kept here.

19 These are the divisions of the porters among the sons of Kore, and among the sons of Merari.

20 And of the Levites, Ahijah was over * the treasures of the house of God, and over the treasures of the † dedicate things x.

* Mal. 3. 10.

† Heb. holy things.

x Either these are the same kind of Treasures, the latter phrase things, only explaining the former, the particle and being used for that is: or rather they are two different kinds of Treasures, the former containing the Sacred Vessels and other Treasures, which by God's Command were appropriated to the Maintenance of the House and Worship, and Miniters of God, as Tithes and First-fruits, and other things; and the latter only those things which had been freely given or dedicated to God for those Ends; of which see v. 26, 27.

21 As concerning the sons of ‖ Laadan: the sons of the Gershonite Laadan, chief fathers y, even of Laadan the Gershonite were, ‖ Jehieli z.

‖ Or, Libni, Ch. 6. 17. ‖ Or Jehiel, Ch. 23. 8.

y i.e. Which sons were Chief Fathers, or Heads of the Houses of their Fathers. z Understand here, and his sons, which here follow.

22 The sons of Jehieli; Zetham, and Joel his brother, which were over the treasures of the house of the LORD a.

a As Shelomith and his Brethren were over the Treasures of the dedicated things, v. 20. But both may seem to have been subject and accountable to Ahijah, who was over both these kinds of Treasures, v. 20. Or Ahijah might have a general oversight into the Management of these Treasures as an Auditour of the Accounts, although the others had more dignity and power in the disposal of them.

23 Of the Amramite, and the Izharite, the Hebronite, and the Uzzielite b b Or, As concerning the Amramite, &c. The meaning is, The persons here following were of these, or the most of these Families. Only here is none of the Family of the Uzzielites; either because that Family was now extinct; whence it is that we read no more of them in the Scripture, but only in this place, and Numb. 3. 27. or because there was none of them fit to be employ'd and trained in these Matters.

24 And ‖ Shebuel the son of Gershom, the son of Moses, was ruler of the treasures c.

‖ Or, Sebuel Ch. 23. 16.

c The Prince or Chief over all the Treasures, and Treasures mentioned either before or afterward, as his very Title shews, which is peculiarly given to him and to none of the reft.

25 And his brethren by Eliezer d; Rehabiah his son, and Jeshajah his son, and Joram his son, and Zichri his son, and * Shelomith his son:

* Ch. 23. 18

d Another Son of Moses, Exod. 18. 4.

26 Which Shelomith and his brethren, were over all the treasures of the dedicate things, which David the king, and the chief fathers, the Captains over thousands and hundreds, and the Captains of the host had dedicated.

27 † Out of the spoils won in battels, did they dedicate to † maintain e the house of the LORD.

† Heb. out of the battels.

† Heb. to strengthen

e Heb. To strengthen it, either to make that building strong and safe, and substantial by these and other charges: or rather to repair it when it should be built, for which they might the rather take particular Care, because it was likely, that every one would contribute to the strengthening of the Temple, and there would be no want for that use; but few would provide for the Repairs of it, when by the Injury of Men or time, it should receive any damage.

28 And all that Samuel the * seer, and Saul the son of Kish, and Abner the son of Ner, and Joab the son of Zeruiah had dedicated, and whosoever had dedicated any thing, it was under the hand of Shelomith, and of his brethren.

* 1 Sam. 9

f Who is particularly named here, and v. 26. because they were chiefly committed to his Truft, he being, it seems, a Person of Eminent Wisdom and Faithfulness.

29 Of the Izharite, Chenaniah and his sons g were for the outward business h over Israel i for Officers and judges k.

g Who are probably thought to have been 1600, for that Sum added to the 1700, v. 30. and the 2700, v. 32. make up those 6000 Levites which were Officers and Judges, 1 Chron. 23. 4. h For that business of the Lord and of the King (as it is explained here, v. 30, 32.) which was to be done without the Temple and without Jerusalem; for what was to be done within them was committed to other hands, as we have seen. i Synecdochically, i.e. over part of Israel, even over the Midland part, and that which lay upon the Sea-Coast: for the other parts of the Land on both sides of Jordan are here committed to others, v. 30, 31, 32. k Who shall be Officers and Judges over the People, in the several Cities and Towns of Parts of the Land, to determine Questions and Controversies which might arise among them. And the reason why the Levites were intrusted with these matters was, because the Common or Municipal Law of Israel, by which they had and held all their Rights, was no other than the Law of God, whereof the Priests and Levites being the best and eftablished Interpreters, must needs therefore be the most proper Judges of things depending thereupon.

30 And of the Hebronite, Hashabiah and his brethren, men of valour, a thousand and seven hundred were † officers, among them of Israel on this side the charge.

† Heb. over-seers.

side Jordan westward, in all business of the LORD m, and in the service of the king n.

l In those parts of the Land of Canaan which border upon Jordan, or are not very remote from it. m i. e. In all things which did or should concern the House or Worship of God; partly to take care that such Monies as were either imposed by a Tax or freely given by the People, towards the building or repairing of the Temple, or towards the Sacrifices and other Holy Ministrations should be gathered and received, and faithfully sent up to Jerusalem to be employed in that Work; partly to see to the Execution of all the Laws of God among the People, and to restrain or punish wilful Offenders against it. n Not that all the Kings Businesses were managed by them; for it is apparent, both from the nature of the thing and from Scripture, that the King's Military Affairs were managed by his Captains, and his Political or Civil Affairs were managed by the Princes and Judges, and Officers of other Tribes: but because they served the King in the Execution of his Decrees, made pursuantly to the Laws of God, by which the several Rights of King and People were established, and all things both in Church and Commonwealth were to be ordered. Now as the King was the Principal Person intrusted with the Execution of Gods Laws, to these Levites chiefly were his Eyes by which he saw his Peoples Transgressions, and his Hands by which he inflicted due and deserved Censures upon them for their Miscarriages. And the doing of this was very much for the service of the King, whose Throne was established and secured by such Righteous Administrations. Besides, they were to take care by their Counsel and Authority to keep the People in Obedience to their King; which the Levites were most obliged and best obliged to do.

* Ch. 23. 19.

31 Among the Hebronites was * Jerijah the chief, even among the Hebronites, according to the generations of his fathers. In the fortieth year o of the reign of David, they were sought for, and there were found among them mighty men of valour, at Jazer of Gilead o.

n Which was his last year, in which he made all the Orders and distributions of Families and Offices recorded in these Chapters. o Which place is here named, either because they were seated in or near that place, but for what cause it is now unknown: or because they were numbred there by some Person sent by David to that purpose.

32 And his brethren men of valour, were two thousand and seven hundred p chief fathers, whom king David made rulers over the Reubenite, the Gadite, and the half tribe of Manasseh, for every matter pertaining to God, and † affairs of the king.

† Heb. things. 2 Chr. 19. 11.

p Which is a very great number to be employed about two Tribes and an half; when all the rest of the Tribes had only 1700. v. 30. besides those under Chenaniah; of whom see on v. 29. But the reason hereof is plain, because the Tribes without Jordan being more remote from the Kings Court, and from the place of publick and solemn Worship, needed more than ordinary help to instruct and keep them in the Profession of the True Religion and the Worship of God, and in Obedience to their King.

CHAP. XXVII.

The 12 Captains for every several Month, 1——15. The Princes of the 12 Tribes, 16——22. The chief keepers of David's Treasures, 25——31. His Counsellors and Friends, 32——34.

NOW the Children of Israel after their number, to wit, the chief fathers and captains of thousands and hundreds, and their officers a that served the king in any matter of the courses b, which came in and went out c month by month d, throughout all the months of the year, of every course were twenty and four thousand.

a The standing Force or Militia of Israel as it was settled under their several Officers, as it here follows. b i. e. In all the business wherein the King had occasion for these Persons who were to attend upon him or his Commands, by courses or by turns. Or, according to all the order or Duty of the divisions, or, about the Companies or Courses into which they were distributed. c i. e. Executed their Office: which is commonly signified by this Phrase, as Numb. 27. 17. and elsewhere. d Who were to be Armed and Mustered, and to wait upon the King, either at Jerusalem or in other places, as the King should see fit. By this order near 300000 of his People were Instructed and Exercised in the use of their Arms, and fitted for the defence of their King and Kingdom when it should be needful, and in the mean time sufficient Provision was made against any sudden Tumults or Irruptions of Enemies. And this monthly Course was contrived that the Burden of it might be easily and equally distributed among the People.

2 Over the first course for the first month, was Jashobeam e the son of Zabdiel: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

e Of whom see 2 Sam. 23. 8. and 1 Chron. 11. 11.

3 Of the children of Perez f, was the chief of all the Captains of the Host for the first month.

f Or, of Pharez, of the posterity of Judah, Gen. 46. 12. This seems to be underlined: of Jashobeam, and to be mentioned as a reason why he was the chief, &c. and the verse may be rendered thus, He was (which is easily understood out of the foregoing words) of the children of Perez (and consequently of the Tribe of Judah, to which the pre-eminence belonged, and of which Judah was) and he was (or, therefore he was) the chief, (to wit, in Dignity and Precedency, though not in Power and Authority, for these Captains were equal in Power, and Joab was their General) of all the Captains of the Host (whose several Names here follow) and was for the first month; therefore he was first in Order, and was Captain for the first month.

4 And over the course of the second month, was ‖ Dodai an Ahohite, and of his course was Mikloth also the ruler g: in his course likewise were twenty and four thousand.

g Who was either 1. the Captain of this Course after the death of this Dodai, as Zebadiah was after Asahel, v. 7. But the differing Phrase there and here sufficiently intimates, that the same thing is not meant in both places. Or, 2. His Lieutenant or Deputy in case of his necessary Absence. But why should such an one be named here and not in the rest of the Courses? Or rather 3. One of the Officers of his Course; who seems here particularly to be named as a Person then of great Note and Eminency.

5 The third captain of the host for the third month, was Benaiah the son of Jehojada a ‖ chief priest h: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

h Or, The chief Priest. Or rather, a chief Prince, as this Hebrew Word is oft used, as Gen. 41. 45. & 47. 22. 2 Sam. 8. 18. & 20. 25. 1 King. 4. 5. 2 King. 10. 11. and elsewhere. Probably he was not only a Captain of this Course, but a great Officer in the Court and State. For although the Priests might take up Arms in some special Cases; yet it is not likely, that such were constant Officers in the Kings Army, especially seeing the rest of the Captains here named, were of other Tribes. Besides, neither Benaiah nor Jehojadah was High-Priest at that time, but Zadok or Abiathar, and before them Abimelech, in whom the Priesthood had been for a long time together, even in the days of Samuel and Saul, and David, and Solomon.

6 This is that Benajah, who was * mighty among the thirty, and above the thirty: and in his course was Ammizabad his son i.

* Ch. 11.

i Who seems to have been his Fathers Lieutenant, because his Father was Captain of the Kings Guard, 2 Sam. 8. 18. and therefore needed a Deputy in the one or in the other place.

7 The fourth captain for the fourth month, was * Asahel the brother of Joab k, and Zebadiah his son after him l: and in his m course were twenty and four thousand.

* Ch. 2. 16. & 11. 26.

k By which, it seems, the Foundation of this Project was laid whilst David was in Hebron, during which time Asahel was Slain, and Davids Forces were then divided into 24 Courses under 24 Chief Commanders, whereof Asahel was one; only it is probable that the number of their Forces was much less than that which is here mentioned: But when David was fully settled in his whole Kingdom, the design was perfected, and the numbers of their Souldiers increased to this Number. l i. e. After: his death; of which see 2 Sam. 2. 23. m Not Asahel's, for in his time they were not so numerous, but Zebadiah his Son.

8 The fifth captain for the fifth month, was Shamhuth n the Izrahite: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

n Supposed to be the same called Shammah, 2 Sam. 23. 11. and Shammoth, 1 Chron. 11. 27.

9 The sixth captain for the sixth month, was * Ira the son of Ikkesh the Tekoite: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

* Ch. 11. 28.

10 The seventh captain for the seventh month, was Helez the Pelonite o, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

o So called also 1 Chron. 11. 27. and the Paltite, 2. Sam. 23. 26.

11 The eighth captain for the eighth month, was * Sibbecai the Hushathite, of the Zarhites p: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

* Ch. 11. 29.

p Of the Family of the Zarhites.

12 The ninth captain for the ninth month, was Abiezer the Anetothite, of the Benjamites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

13 The tenth captain for the tenth month, was Maharai the Netophathite, of the Zarhites: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

14 The eleventh captain for the eleventh month, was Benajah the Pirathonite, of the children of Ephraim: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

15 The twelfth captain for the twelfth month, was ‖ Heldai the Netophathite of Othniel: and in his course were twenty and four thousand.

16 Furthermore, over the children of Israel q the ruler of the Reubenites was Eliezer the son of Zichri: of the Simeonites, Shephatiah the son of Maacha.

q i. e. These were the Princes of the Tribes, as they are called below, v. 22. who were the most ancient and constant Rulers of the Tribes at all times, whether of War or Peace; who seem to have had a superiour Power to these 24 Captains, and therefore are named before them, ch. 28. 1. being probably the King, chief Counsellors and Affistants in the great Affairs of his Kingdom.

17 Of the Levites, * Hashabiah the son of Kemuel: † of the Aaronites, Zadok:

18 Of

18 Of Judah, Elihu r, one of the brethren of David: of Issachar, Omri the son of Michael:

r Called also Elihab, 1 Sam. 16. 6.

19 Of Zebulun, Ishmajah the son of Obadiah: of Naphtali, Jerimoth, the son of Azriel:

20 Of the children of Ephraim, Hathea the son of Azaziah: of the half tribe of Manasseh, Joel the son of Pedajah:

21 Of the half-tribe of Manasseh in Gilead, Iddo the son of Zechariah: of Benjamin, Jaasiel the son of Abner:

22 Of Dan, Azareel the son of Jeroham. These were the princes of the Tribes s of Israel.

s Of the most of the Tribes, not of all: for Gad is omitted, probably because that Tribe was joyned with the Reubenites under one Prince; and Asher, for some such reason; or for some other Causes now unknown, and not worth our Enquiry.

23 But David took not the number of them from twenty years old and under t: because * the LORD had said, he would increase Israel like to the stars of the Heavens u.

Gen. 15. 5.

t The meaning is, David when he desired to number the People, he designed to number only those who were from twenty years old and upward, or (which is the same thing) those that drew sword, 1 Chron. 21. 5. and not those who were from twenty years old and under. u And therefore to number them all both above and under twenty years old, had been both an infinite trouble and a tempting of God, or a questioning of the Truth of his Promises. And possibly this Circumstance might in part deceive or quiet David's Conscience, that his desire of knowing the number of his People, did not proceed from distrust of God's Promise or Providence, but from a Prudent Care to know the true State and Strength of his Kingdom.

24 Joab the son of Zerujah began to number x, but he finished not y, because * there fell wrath for it against Israel z, neither † was the number put in the account of the Chronicles of king David a.

* Sam. 24. 1. † Ch. 21. 6. Heb. of.

x To wit, All from twenty years old and upward, as David commanded him. y For Levi and Benjamin he counted not, 1 Chron. 21. 6. z Whilst he was doing the Work; which was one reason which made him to cease. Heb. And there fell, &c. Though David numbred them with Caution and Limitation, as was noted before, yet this did not hinder God's Wrath from falling upon Israel for this Sin. a The sence is either 1. That the full number was not Registred, because Levi and Benjamin were not counted by Joab. Or rather 2. That David being sensible of and smarting for his Sin, would not have the number brought in by Joab to him, put into the publick Register, though God would have it recorded in Scripture for the instruction of succeeding Ages. For he speaks not here of the Account given in to the King, which was done, and was Joabs Act; but of the putting of the Account into the publick Records, which was not done, and which could not be done but by David's Command or Permission.

25 And over the kings treasures b was Azmaveth the son of Adiel: and over the store-houses c in the fields, in the cities, and in the villages; and in the castles, was Jehonathan the son of Uzziah.

b Of Gold or Silver, or other things of great price, which for greater security were kept in Jerusalem and in the Kings Palace: and thither the Tribute-money also was sent and committed to his Care. c Of the Fruits of the Earth, or that Share of them which belonged to the King, which were laid up in the Fields, or Cities, or Villages, or Castles, as there was conveniency and occasion.

26 And over them that did the work of the field d for tillage of the ground, was Ezri the son of Chelub.

d Over the King's Husbandry.

27 And over the vineyards e was Shimei the Ramathite: † over the increase of the vineyards for the wine cellars, was Zabdi the Shiphmite.

Heb. may the encrease of the Vineyards.

e i. e. Over the Workmen and Labourers in the Vineyards; as the next Officer is over the Fruit of the Vineyards. In like manner, one Man was over the Labourers in the fields, v. 26. and another over the Fruits of the Fields put into Stores after the manner, v. 25.

28 And over the olive-trees, and the sycamore-trees that were in the low plains, was Baal-hanan the Gederite: and over the cellars of oil was Joash.

29 And over the herds that fed in Sharon f, was Shitrai the Sharonite, and over the herds that were in the valleys was Shaphat the son of Adlai.

f A place famous for its Fruitfulness. See Isa. 33. 9. & 35. 2.

30 Over the camels also, was Obil the Ishmelite g: and over the Asses, was Jehdeja the Meronothite.

g So called, either because he was born of that People, or had lived among them; or from some notable Exploit which he did against them.

31 And over the flocks, was Jaziz the Hegerite. All these were the rulers of the substance which was king Davids.

Or, Store-keeper. Or, Hachmonite.

CHAP. XXVIII.

David in a solemn Assembly declareth Gods favour to him, and promise to his son Solomon: exhorteth them to fear God, and encourageth Solomon to build the Temple, 1——10. Giveth him a pattern for the form, and Gold and Silver for the materials, 11——21.

AND David assembled a all the * princes of Israel, the princes of the tribes, and * the captains of the companies that ministred to the kingly course, and the captains over the thousands, and captains over the hundreds, and the * stewards over all the substance and ‖ possession of the king, and of his sons, with the ‖ officers, and with * the mighty men, and with all the valiant men unto Jerusalem.

* Ch. 27. 16. * Ch. 27. 1, 2. * Ch. 27. 25. ‖ Or, cattel. * Ch. 11. 10.

a This Assembly seems to be distinct from that ch. 23. 2. and more general, as may be gathered from the persons said to be assembled here and there. Though others think them to be the same, and this to be a return to his former Discourse.

2 Then David the king stood up upon his feet b, and said, Hear me, my brethren c, and my people. As for me, I had in mine heart to build an house of rest d for the Ark of the covenant of the LORD, and e for the foot-stool of our God, and had made ready for the building:

b Partly out of Reverence to God and his Word, which was the Matter of the following Discourse; and partly out of Respect to this great and honourable Assembly. c So he calls the Princes and chief Rulers, both because they had a share with him, though under him in the Government; and in compliance with the Divine Command, that the King should not be lifted up above his brethren, Deut. 17. 20. d A place where it might be fixed, and no more removed from place to place, as it had been. e Which is here put expositively, for by the Footstool, &c. he means the Ark.

3 But God said unto me, * Thou shalt not build an house for my name, because thou hast been a man of war, and hast shed † blood.

* 2 Sam. 7. 5. Ch. 22. 8. † Heb. blouds.

4 Howbeit, the LORD God of Israel chose me before all the house of my father to be king over Israel * for ever: for he hath chosen * Judah to be the ruler; and of the house of Judah, the house of my father; and among the house of my father, he liked me to make me king over Israel.

* 2 Chr. 13. 5. * Gen. 49. 8. 1 Sam. 16. 13.

5 * And of all my sons (for the LORD hath given me many sons) he hath chosen f Solomon my son to sit upon the throne of the kingdom of the LORD over Israel.

* Ps. 72. 68. Ch. 22. 9.

f It is not my Fancy or fond Affection, but Gods express Will, that Solomon should be preferred before his elder Brethren; and therefore all of you are obliged to submit to him, and accept of him as your king by Divine Appointment.

6 And he said unto me, * Solomon thy son, he shall build my house and my courts: for I have chosen him to be my son, and I will be his father.

* 2 Sam. 7. 13. 1 Chr. 22. 10.

7 Moreover, I will establish his kingdom for ever, if he be † constant to do my commandments * and my judgments, as at this day g.

† Heb. strong. * Heb. strong.

g As he hath begun and hitherto continued in some good measure to do.

8 Now therefore in the sight of all Israel, the congregation of the LORD, and in the audience of our God h, keep and seek for all the commandments of the LORD i your God, that ye may possess this good land, and leave it for an inheritance for your children after you for ever.

h i. e. I do here exhort and charge you every one, calling God who is here present, and this Congregation wherein all Israel are present by their Representatives, for Witness against you, if you do not follow my Counsel. i Keep those Commands which you know, and seek for or search into what you are yet ignorant of, that you may distinctly understand the whole will of God and all the parts of your Duty, and seriously give up your selves to the Practice thereof.

9 And thou, Solomon my son, know thou the God k of thy father, and serve him with a perfect heart, and with a willing mind; for * the LORD searcheth all hearts, and understandeth all the imaginations of the thoughts l: if thou seek him, he will be found of thee; but if thou forſake him m, he will caſt thee off for ever n.

k Know him, ſo as to love him and ſerve him, as it follows: for Words of Knowledge in Scripture-uſe commonly imply Affection and Practiſe: or acknowledge him, as thy God, by loving and obeying him: For otherwiſe Solomon did already know God, having doubtleſs been very well inſtructed in the knowledge of Gods Nature and Law. l If thou doeſt only put on a Profeſſion of Religion to pleaſe me and ſecure thy hopes of the Kingdom; or if thy obedience to God be unſincere and with grudging, thou may'ſt indeed deceive me, but thou canſt not deceive him, for he ſearcheth thy inward Thoughts and the Motions of thy Heart. m If when I am dead and gone, and thou art perfectly at thy own diſpoſe, thou ſhalt caſt off that Religion and Fear of God of which thou now makeſt Profeſſion, and ſhalt continue to do ſo without true Repentance for thine Errours. n Notwithſtanding all his Promiſes made to me and to my Seed, and that great Honour and Favour which he hath ſhewed to thee, with which poſſibly thou mayeſt flatter thy ſelf.

10 Take heed now, for the LORD hath choſen thee to build an houſe for the ſanctuary o, be ſtrong p and do it.

o Or, for a ſanctuary, i. e. which is to be a Sanctuary for him, to wit, for the Ark, to dwell in. p Take Courage and Reſolution to break through all Difficulties, Troubles, Diſcouragements or Oppoſitions which thou mayeſt poſſibly meet with.

11 Then David gave to Solomon his ſon the pattern of the porch q, and of the houſes thereof r, and of the treaſuries thereof, and of the upper chambers thereof, and of the inner parlours thereof s, and of the place of the mercy-ſeat t.

q To wit, of the Temple; which is neceſſarily to be underſtood. r Either 1. the houſes of the Porch, ſo called becauſe they went through the Porch into them. Or rather 2. The Houſes of the Temple manifeſtly underſtood in the next foregoing Clauſe of this Verſe; to wit, the Holy Place, and the Holy of Holies; which may well paſs for two Houſes, becauſe they were ſeparated by a Partition; and becauſe they were of differing Dimenſions, as appears by 1 King. 6. 2, 20. eſpecially ſeeing the Holy Place is called the greater Houſe, 2 Chron. 3. 5. comparitively to the Holy of Holies, which was the leſſer Houſe, and ſo you have two Houſes. s By theſe he ſeems to underſtand all thoſe Rooms which were made againſt the Wall of the Houſe round about, as it is ſaid 1 King. 6. 5. which are here called by divers names, according to the difference of their ſituation or uſe. t i. e. In what particular part of the Holy of Holies it was to be placed.

† Heb. of all that was with him.

12 And the pattern † of all u that he had by the ſpirit x, of the courts of the houſe of the LORD, and of all the chambers round about, of the treaſuries of the houſe of God, and of the treaſuries of the dedicate things y.

u For, Even the pattern of all: for this clauſe belongs both to the foregoing and to the following Particulars. x By the Spirit of God, as is evident from v. 19. For ſeeing all the particulars of the Tabernacle built by Moſes were ſuggeſted to him by Gods Spirit, by which even the Workmen were inſpired, Exod 25. 40. and 31. 3. it is not credible that God would uſe leſs care and exactneſs in the building of this far more glorious and durable Work. y All which were within the Courts or adjoyning to them, as the other Chambers, v. 11. were adjoyned to the Houſe.

13 Alſo for the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, and for all the work of the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD, and for all the veſſels of ſervice in the houſe of the LORD.

14 He gave of gold by weight, for things of gold, for all inſtruments of all manner of ſervice, ſilver alſo for all inſtruments of ſilver, by weight, for all inſtruments of every kind of ſervice.

15 Even the weight for the candleſticks of Gold, and for their lamps of gold, by weight for every candleſtick, and for the lamps thereof: and for the candleſticks of ſilver by weight, both for the ‖ Main ho. ‖ candleſtick, and alſo for the lamps thereof, accordy of the. ding to the uſe of every candleſtick z.

z Whether they were large and fixed in one place, whereof there were ten in the Holy place, 1 King. 7. 49. or ſuch as were leſs and looſe to be carried from place to place, as need required.

16 And by weight he gave gold for the tables of ſhew bread a, for every table; and likewiſe ſilver for the tables of ſilver:

a By this and 2 Chron. 4. 19. it appears, that there were divers Tables to be uſed either ſucceſſively or together about the Shew-bread; but one of them ſeems to have been of more Eminency and uſe than the reſt, and therefore it is moſt commonly called the Table of the Shew-bread in the ſingular number. But of this and the reſt of the Utenſils here named, ſee the Notes on Exodus.

17 Alſo pure gold for the fleſh-hooks, and the bowls and the cups: and for the golden baſons he gave gold by weight for every baſon, and likewiſe ſilver by weight for every baſon of ſilver.

18 And for the altar of incenſe, refined gold by weight; and gold for the pattern of the chariot of the * cherubims b, that ſpread out their wings and co- 1 King. 6. vered the ark of the covenant of the LORD c.

b i. e. Of the Cherubims, which Solomon was to make, of which ſee 1 King. 6. 23. (for thoſe which were faſtened to the Mercy-ſeat were made by Moſes long before) which he fitly compares to a Chariot, becauſe within them God is oft ſaid to ſit and to dwell, as 2 King. 19. 15. Pſal. 80. 1. & 99. 1. and ſometimes he is ſaid to ride upon a Cherub, Pſal. 18. 10. And becauſe a Chariot is made to carry a Perſon from place to place, this Expreſſion may be uſed to intimate that God was not ſo fixed to them by the building of this Temple, but that he both could and would remove from them if they forſook him. And when they did ſo, God did make uſe of the Chariot of his Cherubims to convey himſelf away from them, as is noted Ezek. 10. 15, &c. c Not above it, for that was done by Moſes his Cherubims, but before it, to keep it from the Eyes of the High-Priеſt, when he entered into the moſt Holy Place, 1 King. 6. 23.

19 All this ſaid David, * the LORD made me ‖ underſtand in writing by † his hand upon me d, even all the works of this pattern.

* Ex. 25. 40. ‖ Or, to me. † Or, from.

d The meaning is either 1. That God revealed this to Samuel: Or, (ſee 1 Chron. 9. 22.) or God, or Nathan, or ſome other Man of God who put it into Writing, and by them to David. Or, 2. That God did, as it were, by his own Hand and Finger, (wherewith he wrote the Ten Commandments, Exod. 31. 18.) write theſe things upon the Table of my Mind, which now I deliver to thee.

20 And David ſaid to Solomon his ſon, Be ſtrong and of good courage e, and do it: fear not nor be diſmayed, for the LORD God, even my God, will be with thee, he will not fail thee, nor forſake thee, until thou haſt finiſhed all the work for the ſervice of the houſe of the LORD.

e See the Notes on v. 10.

21 And behold, the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, even they ſhall be with thee for all the ſervice of the houſe of God, and there ſhall be with thee for all manner of workmanſhip, every willing ſkilful man, for any manner of ſervice: alſo the princes and all the people will be wholly at thy commandment.

CHAP. XXIX.

David by his Example and Intreaty, 1—5. Cauſes the Princes and People to offer willingly, 6—9. David's Thankſgiving and Prayer, 10—19. The People having bleſſed God and Sacrificed, make Solomon King, 20—25. David's reign and death, 26—30.

8 And they with whom precious ſtones were found, gave them to the treaſure of the houſe of the LORD, by the hand of * Jehiel the Gerſhonite.

9 Then the people rejoyced g, for that they offered willingly, becauſe with perfect heart they offered willingly to the LORD: and David the king alſo rejoyced with great joy.

g Becauſe this was both an Effect of God's Grace in them, and an Eminent Token of God's Favour and Goodneſs to be continued to them, and a good Pledge that this great and long-deſired Work of the building of the Temple, would receive a certain and a ſpeedy Accompliſhment.

Or rather 2. Of the laſt clauſe of that 14th verſe, of thine own, &c. For the Land which we poſſeſs is thine, not ours; we are not the Proprietors or perpetual Poſſeſſors of it, but only thy Tenants: and as our Fathers once were meer ſtrangers in it, even with or before Men, Pſal. 105. 12. ſo we (this day are no better with or before thee, having no abſolute Right and Title in it, but only to paſs through it, and ſojourn in it for that ſhort time that we live in the World. And thus the Argument ſeems to be borrowed from Levit. 25. 23. where this is given as a reaſon why the Inheritances of the Land of Canaan could not be Sold for ever, but only till the Jubily, for, ſaith God, the land is mine, as to Dominion and Propriety, for ye were (or, for, or, but you are) only ſtrangers and ſojourners with me. p We only give to thee what we muſt ſhortly leave, and what we cannot keep to our ſelves: and therefore it is a great Favour that thou will accept ſuch Offerings; or, and therefore we are not perpetual Poſſeſſors of this Land and the Fruits of it, but only Pilgrims and Paſſengers thorough it. Gen. 23. 4. Heb. 11. 13. 1 Pet. 2. 11.

16 O LORD our God, all this ſtore that we have prepared to build thee an houſe for thine holy name, cometh of thine hand, and is all thine own.

17 I know alſo, my God, that thou * triеſt the heart, and haſt pleaſure in uprightneſs. q By the largeneſs of their Offering I diſcern the ſincerity, Willingneſs and Generoſity of their Hearts towards thee: for David judged, as in reaſon and charity he ought, of the Tree by its Fruit, and of their Hearts by their Actions.

18 O LORD God of Abraham, Iſaac, and of Iſrael our father, keep this for ever in the imagination of the thoughts of the heart of thy people r, and ‖ prepare their heart unto thee s. ‖ Or, direct.

r Since it is from thy Grace that thy People have ſuch willing Minds to thy ſervice, as was before acknowledged, I beg the continuance of that Grace to them, that they may perſiſt in the ſame generous and pious Diſpoſition towards thee and thy Worſhip.

s Or, rather, as it is in the Margent, ſtabliſh or confirm, &c. Thou who haſt begun a good Work, confirm and carry it on by thy Grace, otherwiſe it will languiſh, and this very People will prove degenerate.

19 And give unto Solomon my ſon a perfect heart to keep thy commandments, thy teſtimonies and thy ſtatutes, and to do all theſe things, and to build the palace for the which I have made proviſion t.

20 And David ſaid to all the congregation, Now bleſs the LORD your God. And all the congregation bleſſed the LORD God of their fathers, and bowed down their heads, and worſhipped the LORD and the king u.

u The Lord with Religious, and the King with Civil Worſhip, as it is evident.

21 And they ſacrificed ſacrifices unto the LORD x, and offered burnt-offerings unto the LORD, on the morrow after that day, even a thouſand bullocks, a thouſand rams, and a thouſand lambs, with their drink-offerings and ſacrifices in abundance for all Iſrael y:

x Before the Ark which was there. y Either 1 on the behalf of all Iſrael, to praiſe God in their Names, to procure God's Preſence and Bleſſing for them all. Or 2. So many, that the Feaſts which, after the manner, were made of the remainders of the Sacrifices, were abundantly ſufficient for all the Iſraelites which were then preſent and deſired to partake of them; or for all the Governours of Iſrael there Aſſembled, who may well paſs under the name of all Iſrael, becauſe they repreſented them all.

22 And did eat and drink before the LORD z on that day with great gladneſs, and they made Solomon the ſon of David king the ſecond time a, and * anointed him unto the LORD to be the chief gover- * 1 King. nour b, and Zadok to be prieſt c. 1. 39.

z i. e. Before the Ark, in Courts or Places as near to it as they conveniently could. Or, as in God's Preſence, in a Solemn and Religious manner, praiſing God for this great Mercy, and begging his Bleſſing upon this great Affair. a This is called the ſecond time in reference to the firſt time, which was either 1. when he was made King during Adonijah's Conſpiracy, of which ſee 1 King. 1. 34. &c. And ſo this was done after David's Death, and not upon that day, when this Feaſting and Solemnity laſted, as the words at firſt view ſeem to inſinuate, this being related in the ſame verſe, and immediately after the Relation of the Feaſt. But there are Examples of things done at diſtant times put together in one verſe, as Act. 7. 15. So Jacob went down into Egypt, and died, he and our Fathers, i.e. firſt he, and afterward our Fathers. So here, They did eat——on that day with great gladneſs, and afterward they made Solomon——king the ſecond time. And this Opinion ſeems to be confirmed by the following Paſſages, in which it is related, that at this ſame time they anointed Zadok to be Prieſt, and that Solomon was King inſtead of David, and that all Iſrael, and all David's ſons ſubmitted to him: all which was not done till after David's Death, as may be gathered by comparing this with 1 Kings 1. & 2. or 2. in 1 Chron. 23. 1. where it is ſaid that David——made Solomon his ſon king over Iſrael; i.e. he declared him his Succeſſor. And ſo this ſecond time was during David's Life. And what David had more privately declared, ch. 23. he now more ſolemnly owns in this great and general Aſſembly, in which by David's Order, and the Conſent of all that Aſſembly, Solomon was anointed King, i. e. to be King after his Father's Death. And this Opinion the Text ſeems moſt to favour. For it is ſaid, And they made Solomon king, &c. then, who? That muſt be fetched out of the foregoing Words and Verſe, they who did eat and drink before the Lord on that day with great gladneſs, as it is here ſaid, and then immediately it follows, and that with a copulative conjunction, and they made Solomon king, &c. which without violence cannot be pulled away from the foregoing Words. And therefore they muſt be David and all the Congregation, who were then preſent, v. 20. of whom it is ſaid, they ſacrificed, &c. v. 21. and they did eat, &c. and they made Solomon, &c. The great Objection againſt this Opinion is, that there anointed Zadok to be Prieſt at this time, which was not done till after David's death; for till then Abiathar was not thruſt out from being Prieſt, &c. 1 King. 2. 25, 27. This indeed is a difficulty, but not inſolible. It muſt be remembred that the High-prieſt had his Vicegerent who might officiate in his ſtead, when he was hindred by ſickneſs or other indiſpentable Occaſion; and that there ſeems to be ſomething more than ordinary in Zadok's caſe; for although Abiathar was properly the High-prieſt, yet Zadok ſeems after a ſort to be joyned in Commiſſion with him, as we ſee 2 Sam. 15. 24, & 25. 11. and it is expreſly ſaid, Zadok and Abiathar were Prieſts, 2 Sam. 20. 25. and 1 King. 4. 4. And it may be further conſidered, that this anointing of Zadok might be occaſioned by ſome miſcarriage of Abiathar not recorded in Scripture. Poſſibly he was unſatisfied with this deſign of Tranſlating the Crown to Solomon, and did now ſecretly favour Adonijah's Perſon and Right, which afterward he did more openly defend: Which being known to David by information, might induce him and the Princes who favoured Solomon to take this courſe. Which they might the more willingly do in conſideration of that Divine Threatning, 1 Sam. 2. 31. &c. of Tranſlating the Prieſthood from Ithamar's and Eli's houſe, of which Abiathar was, to Eleazar's Line, to which it had been promiſed to perpetuity, Numb. 25. 13. of which Line Zadok was. And they might judge this a fit Seaſon, or might be directed by God at this time to Execute that Threatning to the one, and Promiſe to the other Family. And yet this Action of theirs in Anointing Zadok did not, as I ſuppoſe, actually conſtitute him High-prieſt, but only ſettled the Reverſion of it upon him and his Line after Abiathar's death. Even as David's making Solomon King, ch. 23. 1. and their anointing Solomon to be the chief Governour here, did not put him into actual Poſſeſſion of the Kingdom, but only gave him a Right to it in Reverſion after the preſent King's death, as Samuel's anointing of David, 1 Sam. 16. had done to David before him. Hence, notwithſtanding this Anointing, Abiathar continued to exerciſe his Office till Solomon thruſt him out, 1 King. 2. 27. and even after he was removed from the Execution of his Office, yet he was reputed the Prieſt till he died, being ſo called 1 Kings 4. 4. And this, I hope may in ſome fort reſolve that difficulty. For the other Arguments they ſeem not conſiderable. For as for what follows, v. 23, 24, 25. Then Solomon ſat on the Throne, &c. that indeed ſeems to belong to the time after David's death, being ſufficiently ſeparated from this 22d. verſe; and not ſo knit to the foregoing Words, as thoſe words, and they made Solomon King, &c. are. And for the particle, then, that is conſeſſed by all to be often uſed at large and indefinitely for, about, or after that time. b i. e. To be King after David's death. c Of which the laſt Note but one.

Or, 3. The Throne of the Lord is put for, The Throne of the People of the Lord, by a conciſe and ſhort manner of Speech, which is frequent in the Hebrew Language, as when the Key of David is put for the Key of the Houſe of David; and the Mountain of the Lord, for the Mountain of the Lord's Houſe: Or 4. Becauſe this Throne fell to Solomon not by right of Inheritance, for he had elder Brethren, but by the ſpecial Appointment and Gift of the Lord. And ſo this, of the Lord, is the genitive caſe of the Efficient, as the Learned call it, and ſignifies, which the Lord gave him.

K. Solomon's ſolemn Offering at Gibeon, 1——6. His choice of Wiſdom, is bleſſed by GOD, 7——12. His Strength and Wealth, 13——17.

* 1 Kings, 3. 45.

AND * Solomon the ſon of David was ſtrengthened a in his kingdom, and the LORD his God was with him, and magnified him exceedingly.

* 1 Chr. 22. 17. Heb.

a Or, eſtabliſhed, after his Seditious Brother Adonijah and his Partiſans were ſuppreſſed; and he was received with the univerſal Conſent and Joy of his Princes and People.

b To wit, concerning his Intention of going to Gibeon, and that they ſhould attend him thither, as the next Verſe ſhews.

3 So Solomon, and all the congregation with him, went to the high place c that was at * Gibeon, for there was the tabernacle of the congregation of God, which Moſes the ſervant of the LORD had made in the wilderneſs.

* 1 Kin. 3. 4. 1 Chr. 16. 39. & 21. 29.

c Upon which the Tabernacle was placed; whence it is called the great high Place, 1 Kings 3. 4.

4 * But the ark of God had David brought up from Kirjath-jearim, to the place which David had prepared for it: for he had pitched a tent for it at Jeruſalem d.

* 1 Sam. 6. 17. 1 Chr. 16. 1.

d He ſeparated the Ark from the Tabernacle, and brought it to Jeruſalem, becauſe there he intended to build a far more noble and laſting Habitation for it.

5 Moreover, * the brazen altar that Bezaleel the ſon of Uri, the ſon of Hur, had made, ‖ he e put before the tabernacle of the LORD: and Solomon and the congregation ſought unto it f.

g i. e. Which Altar. But that he had now ſaid v. 5. and therefore would not unneceſſarily repeat it. Or rather, who: and ſo theſe Words are emphatical, and contain a Reaſon why Solomon went thither, becauſe the Lord was there graciouſly preſent to hear Prayers and receive Sacrifices.

7 In that night h did God appear i unto Solomon, and ſaid unto him, Ask what I ſhall give thee.

h After thoſe Sacrifices were offered. i In a Dream, of which ſee the Notes on 1 Kings. 3. 5, &c.

10 And behold, I will give to thy ſervants, the hewers that cut timber, twenty thouſand meaſures of beaten wheat, and twenty thouſand meaſures of barley, and twenty thouſand baths of wine, and twenty thouſand baths of oyl.

11 Then Huram the king of Tyre anſwered in writing, which he ſent to Solomon, Becauſe the LORD hath loved his people, he hath made thee king over them.

12 Huram ſaid moreover, Bleſſed be the LORD God of Iſrael that made heaven and earth, who hath given to David the king a wiſe ſon, † endued with prudence and underſtanding, that might build an houſe for the LORD, and an houſe for his kingdom.

Yet Solomon thought fit to number them again, becauſe Death might have made a conſiderable Alteration among them ſince David's numbring of them; and it behoved him to have an exact Account of them.

18 And he ſet * threeſcore and ten thouſand of them to be bearers of burdens, and fourſcore thouſand to be hewers in the mountains, and three thouſand and ſix hundred over-ſeers to ſet the people a work.

CHAP. III.

The place and time of building the Temple. The meaſure and ornaments thereof, 1——10. The Cherubims, 11——13. The Vail and the Pillars, 14——17.

THEN * Solomon began to build the houſe of the LORD at Jeruſalem in mount Moriah, ‖ where n, &c. the LORD appeared unto David a his father, in the place that David had prepared b in the threſhing-floor of * ‖ Ornan the Jebuſite.

* 1 Kin. 6. 1. ‖ Or, which was ſeen of David his father.

a Which Place the Lord had Conſecrated by his gracious Appearance there, 1 Chron. 21. 26. Or, which was ſeened unto David, 1 Chr. 21. 18. & 22. 1. to wit, to be the Place where the Temple ſhould be built; which God pointed out to him, partly by his Appearance, and principally by his Spirit ſuggeſting this to David at that time. b By pulling down the Buildings which were upon it, or near it, by levelling the Ground, and poſſibly by marking it out for the Temple and Courts, the Dimenſions whereof he very particularly and exactly underſtood by the Spirit of God. c i. e. In the place where that Threſhing-floor formerly ſtood.

† 1 Chr. 21. 28. 2 Sam. 24. 18.

2 And he began to build in the ſecond day of the ſecond month d, in the fourth year of his reign.

d Of this Verſe, and the reſt of this Chapter, ſee my Notes on 1 King. 6.

3 Now theſe are the things * wherein Solomon was † inſtructed e for the building of the houſe of God. The length by cubits after the firſt meaſure was threeſcore cubits, and the breadth twenty cubits.

* 1 Kin. 6. 2. † Heb. ſom-was inſtructed.

e Partly by his Father David, and partly by the Spirit of GOD, which inſpired and guided him in the whole Work. Or, theſe were Solomon's Foundations, the Hebrew verb being put for the noun, as it is elſewhere. The Senſe is, Theſe were the Meaſures of the Foundations, dations, upon which he intended to build the Temple. f i.e. According to the Measure of the first and ancient Cubit. By which it is evident that there were Cubits of different sorts and sizes; which also appears from Ezek. 40. 5. and 43. 13. But how big those Cubits were, and how much larger than the common Cubits, and whether this was the Cubit used by Moses in the building of the Tabernacle, which seems most probable, or some other and yet larger Cubit, is not agreed among Learned Men, and cannot now be exactly known, nor is it of any great moment for us to know.

* 1 Kings 6. 3. 4 And the * porch that was in the front of the house, the length of it was according to the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the height was an hundred and twenty g: and he overlaid it within with pure gold.

g This being a kind of Turret to the Building. The breadth of it here omitted is expressed to be ten Cubits, 1 Kings 6. 3.

† Heb. good, Gen. 2. 12. 5 And the greater house h he ceiled with fir-tree, which he overlaid with † fine gold, and set thereon palm-trees and chains.

h i.e. The Holy Place, which was thrice as large as the lesser house or the Holy of Holies, which is called the Most Holy House, v. 8. See the Notes on 1 Chron. 28. 11.

† Heb. covered. † Gr. for glory. 6 And he † garnished the house with precious stones † for beauty: and the gold was gold of Parvaim i.

i See the Notes on 1 Kings 9. 26, &c.

7 He overlaid also the house, the beams, the posts and the walls thereof, and the doors thereof with gold, and graved cherubims on the walls.

8 And he made the most holy house, the length whereof was according to the breadth of the house, twenty cubits, and the breadth thereof twenty cubits: and he overlaid it with fine gold amounting to six hundred talents.

9 And the weight of the nails k was fifty shekels of gold: and he overlayed the upper chambers l with gold.

k i. e. Of each of the Nails or Heads of those Nails whereby the Plates were fastned to the Boards. l Of which fee on 1 Chron. 28. 11.

|| Or, (as some think) of marble-work. Gr. of wrought work. 10 And in the most holy house he made two cherubims || of image-work m, and overlaid them with gold.

m Made in the shape of young Men or Boys, as they commonly are. Or, of moveable work, fo called because they were not fixed to the Mercy-seat, as the Mosaical Cherubims were, but stood upon their feet, as it is said here v. 13. in a moving posture.

11 And the wings of the cherubims were twenty cubits long: one wing of the one cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was likewise five cubits, reaching to the wing of the other cherub.

12 And one wing of the other cherub was five cubits, reaching to the wall of the house: and the other wing was five cubits also, joyning to the wing of the other cherub.

|| Or, toward the house. 13 The wings of these cherubims spread themselves forth twenty cubits: and they stood on their feet, and their faces were || inward n.

Heb. Towards the House, or rather, that House, not the Holy House as divers understand it; for then their backs must have been turned towards the Ark, which was indecent and directly contrary to the posture of Moses his Cherubims which looked towards it, but the Most Holy House, which was last named, v. 8. and of which he continues yet to speak; this posture being most agreeable to their life, which was with their Wings to close in the Ark and cover it, as it is expresly affirmed below, ch. 5. 8.

* Mat. 27. 51. † Heb. cast to ascend. 14 And he made the * vail o of blue, and purple, and crimson, and fine linen, and † wrought cherubims thereon.

o To wit, the Inner Vail before the Most Holy Place, by comparing this with Exod. 26. 31. 1 Kings 6. 21.

* 1 Kings 7. 15. 21. Jer. 52. 21. † Heb. long. 15 Also he made before the house p * two pillars of thirty and five cubits † high q, and the chapiter that was on the top of each of them was five cubits.

p i. e. Before the Holy House, or before the Temple, as this is explained, v. 17. left it should be understood of the Most Holy House, of which he had spoken before. q To wit, both of them: of which fee the Notes on 1 Kings 7. 15.

16 And he made chains, as in the oracle r, and put them on the heads of the pillars, and made an hundred pomegranats s, and put them on the chains.

r As he had done, or like unto those which he made, in the Oracle; of which fee 1 Kings 6. 21. The particle, as, is oft understood, as Gen. 49. 5. Deut. 33. 22, &c. s In each Row; or 200 in all, as it is faid 1 Kings 7. 20.

* 1 Kings 7. 21. || That is, he shall establish. || That is, in it is strength. 17 And he * reared up the pillars before the temple, one on the right hand, and the other on the left, and called the name of that on the right hand, || Jachin, and the name of that on the left, || Boaz.

CHAP. IV.

The Altar of Brass: 1. The molten Sea upon twelve Oxen, 2——5. The ten Lavers, Candlesticks and Tables, 6——8. The Courts, and the Instruments of Brass, 9——18. The Instruments of Gold, 19——22.

MOreover he made * an altar of brass, twenty cubits the length thereof, and twenty cubits the breadth thereof, and ten cubits the height thereof a. * Exod. 38. 1.

a Qu. How could this be when God had said, Thou shalt not go up by Steps unto mine Altar, that thy Nakedness be not discovered thereon, Exod. 20. 26. and Steps were necessary for so high an Altar as this was? Answ. 1. These Steps were to made that there was no fear of this Inconvenience. 2. That Law was useful and fit when it was made; but afterwards when the Priests were commanded to wear Linen Breeches in their Holy Ministrations to cover their Nakedness, Exod. 28. 42. it was not necessary. 3. However God could undoubtedly dispense with his own Law, as here he did; for he it was that gave these Dimensions for the Altar.

2 * Also he made a molten sea b of ten cubits, † from brim to brim, round in compass, and five cubits the height thereof, and a line of thirty cubits did † Heb. from his brim to his brim. compass it round about. * 1 Kings 7. 23.

b Of this and v. 3, 4, 5. &c. see the Notes on 1 Kings 7. 23, &c.

3 * And under it was the similitude of oxen, which did compass it round about: ten in a cubit compassing the sea round about. Two rows of oxen were cast, when it was cast. * 1 Kings 7. 24.

4 It stood upon twelve oxen, three looking toward the north, and three looking toward the west, and three looking toward the south, and three looking toward the east: and the sea was set above upon them, and all their hinder parts were inward.

5 And the thickness of it was an hand breadth, and the brim of it like the work of the brim of a cup, || with flowers of lilies; and it received and held three thousand baths. Or, flowers.

6 He made also * ten lavers c, and put five on the right hand, and five on the left, to wash in them: such things as they offered for the burnt-offering they washed in them; but the sea was for the priests to wash in. * 1 Kings 7. 38. † Heb. for the burnt-offering.

c Of which see 1 Kings 7. 39, &c.

7 * And he made ten candlesticks of gold according to their form d, and set them in the temple, five on the right hand, and five on the left. * 1 Kings 7. 49.

d Either 1. the Form which was appointed for them by God, who signified it to David. Or rather 2. the old Form which God prescribed to Moses, Exod. 25. 31, &c. for so these were made. And this Clause seems to be added here, because in many things there was a great variation from the old Form, as in the posture of the Cherubims, the height of the Altar, and divers other things.

8 * He made also ten tables e, and placed them in the temple, five on the right side, and five on the left: and he made an hundred || basons of gold. * 1 Kings 7. 48. Or, dishes.

e Of which see 1 Kings 7. 48.

9 Furthermore, * he made the court of the priests, and the great court, and doors for the court, and overlaid the doors of them with brass. * 1 Kings 7. 12. 2 Chron. 4. 9.

10 And * he set the sea on the right side of the east-end, over against the south. * 1 Kings 7. 39.

11 And Huram made the pots, and the shovels f, and the || basons; and Huram † finished the work that he was to make for king Solomon for the house of God: Or, dishes. † Heb. caused to cease.

f Of these and the following Verses fee the Notes on 1 Kings 7. 40, &c.

12 To wit, the two pillars and * the pommels, and the chapiters which were on the top of the two pillars, and the two wreathes to cover the two pommels of the chapiters, which were on the top of the pillars: * 1 Kings 7. 41.

13 And four hundred pomegranates on the two wreathes; two rows of pomegranates on each wreath, to cover the two pommels of the chapiters, which were † upon the pillars. † Heb. upon the faces of.

14 He made also bases; and || lavers made he upon the bases: Or, bases.

15 One sea, and twelve oxen under it.

16 The pots also, and the shovels, and the flesh-hooks, and all their instruments did Huram his father g make to king Solomon for the house of the LORD, of † bright brass. † Heb. polished.

g i. e. Solomon's Father; the Relative being put before the Antecedent, which is not unusual in the Hebrew Tongue. And he is so called here, because Solomon usually called him by that name out of that great respect which he bare to him for his excellent Art and Service which he did for him: it being usual to call great Artists and Inventers of things by this Name; of which fee Gen. 4. 20, 21. Or, Hiram Abin or Abif, a Man so called, or Hiram Abi, as ch. 2. 13.

17 In the plain of Jordan did the king cast them, in the † clay ground, between Succoth and Zeredathah. Heb. thickness of the earth.

18 Thus Solomon made all these vessels in great abundance; for the weight of the brass could not be found out.

19 And Solomon made all the vessels that were for the house of God, the golden altar also, and the tables whereon the † shew-bread was set b. Heb. bread of faces.

b Which were of Gold; and so are distinguished from those ten Tables mentioned v. 8. which seem to have been made of Silver. Compare 1 Chron. 28. 16.

20 Moreover, the candlesticks with their lamps, that they should burn after the manner i, before the oracle, of pure gold;

i According to the prescription of God to and by Moses.

21 And the flowers, and the lamps, and the tongs made he of gold, and that † perfect gold. Heb. pure of gold.

22 And the snuffers, and the || basons, and the spoons, and the censers, of pure gold: and the entry of the house, the inner doors thereof for the most holy place, and the doors of the house of the temple, were of gold k. Heb. lavers.

k To wit, in part; they were made of Wood, 1 Kings 6. 30. 2 Kings 18. 16. but covered with Golden Plates.

CHAP. V.

The dedicated Treasures: 1. The solemn Indudtion of the Ark into the Oracle, 2——10. Glory and Praise is sung to God who appeareth in a Cloud, which filled the house, 11——14.

THus all the work that Solomon made for the house of the LORD was finished: * And Solomon brought in all the things that David his father had dedicated; and the silver, and the gold a, and all the instruments, put he among the treasures of the house of God. * 1 Kings 7. 51.

a Or, even (as that Particle is oft understood) the Silver, and the Gold, the Remainder of those vasts Sums mentioned 1 Chron. 22. 14.

2 * Then Solomon assembled the elders of Israel, and all the heads of the tribes, the || chief of the fathers of the children of Israel unto Jerusalem, to bring up the ark of the covenant of the LORD, out of the city of David, which is Zion. * 1 Kings 8. 1. Or, princes.

b Of this and the following Verses fee the Notes on 1 Kings 8. 1, &c.

3 Wherefore all the men of Israel assembled themselves unto the king in the feast, which was in the seventh month.

4 And all the elders of Israel came, and the Levites took up the ark.

5 And they brought up the ark, and the tabernacle of the congregation, and all the holy vessels that were in the Tabernacle, these did the Priests and the Levites bring up.

6 Also king Solomon and all the congregation of Israel that were assembled unto him before the ark, sacrificed sheep and oxen, which could not be told nor numbred for multitude.

7 And the priests brought in the ark of the covenant of the LORD, unto his place, to the oracle of the house into the holy place, even under the wings of the cherubims.

8 For the cherubims spread forth their wings over the place of the ark, and the cherubims covered the ark and the staves thereof above.

9 And they drew out the staves of the ark, that the ends of the staves were seen from the ark before the oracle, but they were not seen without. And || there it is unto this day c. Or, thus.

c When this History was first written; not when it was reviewed by Ezra, who made some Additions to it: For after the Return from Babylon, neither Staves nor Ark were any more seen or heard of.

10 There was nothing in the ark save the two tables which Moses * put therein at Horeb, || when the LORD made a covenant with the children of Israel, when they came out of Egypt. * Deut. 10. 5. || Or, at the time that.

11 And it came to pass when the priests were come out of the holy place: (for all the priests that were † present were sanctified, and did not then wait by course d. † Heb. found.

d According to David's appointment, 1 Chron. 24. & 25. which was only for the Ordinary Service, but in extraordinary Solemnities, such as this eminently was, they all came together. Heb. were not by division.

12 * And also the Levites which were the singers; all of them of Asaph, of Heman, of Jeduthun, with their sons, and their brethren; being arrayed in white linen, having cymbals, and psalteries, and harps, stood at the east-end of the altar, and with them an hundred and twenty priests sounding with trumpets.) * 1 Chron. 25. 1.

13 It came even to pass, as the trumpeters and singers were as one, to make one sound to be heard in praising and thanking the LORD: and when they lift up their voice with the trumpets, and cymbals, and instruments of musick, and praised the LORD, saying, * For he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever: that then the house was filled with a cloud, even the house of the LORD; * Psal. 136.

14 So that the priests could not stand to minister by reason of the cloud: for the glory of the LORD had filled the house of God.

CHAP. VI.

Solomon blesseth the People and praiseth God, 1——11. His excellent Prayer, wherein he sheweth the right use of the Temple, 12——42.

THen * said Solomon a, The LORD hath said that he would dwell in the * thick darkness. * Kings 8. 12, &c. * Lev. 16. 2. Exod. 20. 21.

a This whole Chapter for the Substance, and almost all the Words of it, are explained in the Notes on 1 Kings 8.

2 But I have built an house of habitation for thee, and a place for thy dwelling for ever. 1 Chron. 28. 4.

3 And the king turned his face, and blessed the whole congregation of Israel, (and all the congregation of Israel stood)

4 And he said, Blessed be the LORD God of Israel, who hath with his hands fulfilled that which he spake with his mouth to my father David, saying,

5 Since the day that I brought forth my people out of the land of Egypt, I chose no city among all the tribes of Israel to build an house in, that my name might be there, neither chose I any man to be * a ruler over my people Israel: * 2 Sam. 6. 21.

6 But I have chosen Jerusalem, that my name might be there, and have chosen David to be over my people Israel. 1 Chron. 28. 4.

7 Now * it was in the heart of David my father, to build an house for the name of the LORD God of Israel. * 2 Sam. 7. 2. 1 Chron. 28. 2.

8 But the LORD said to David my father, Forasmuch as it was in thine heart to build an house for my name, thou didst well in that it was in thine heart:

9 Notwithstanding, thou shalt not build the house, but thy son which shall come forth out of thy loins, he shall build the house for my name.

10 The LORD therefore hath performed his word that he hath spoken: for I am risen up in the room of David my father, and am set on the Throne of Israel, as the LORD promised, and have built the house for the Name of the LORD God of Israel;

11 And in it have I put the ark, wherein is the covenant of the LORD, that he made with the children of Israel.

12 And he stood before the altar of the LORD, in the presence of all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands;

13 (For Solomon had made a brazen Scaffold, of five cubits † long, and five cubits broad, and three cubits high, and had set it in the midst of the court, and upon it he stood, and kneeled down upon his knees before all the congregation of Israel, and spread forth his hands toward heaven) † Heb. the cubits thereof, &c. † Heb. length, breadth, and height.

14 And said, O LORD God of Israel, * there is no God like thee in the heaven, nor in the earth; which keepest covenant, and shewest mercy unto thy servants, that walk before thee with all their heart. * Exod. 15. 11. Deut. 3. 24.

15 Thou which hast kept with thy servant David my father, that which thou hast promised him, and spakest with thy mouth, and hast fulfilled it with thine hand, as it is this day.

16 Now therefore, O LORD God of Israel, keep with thy servant David my father, that which thou hast promised him, saying, * † There shall not fail thee a man in my sight to sit upon the throne of Israel; yet so, that thy children take heed to their way to walk in my law, as thou hast walked before me. * 2 Sam. 7. 12. 1 Kings 2. 4. & 8. 25. † Heb. there shall not a man be cut off.

17 Now then, O LORD God of Israel, let thy word be verified which thou hast spoken unto thy servant David. Psal. 132. 12.

18 (But will God in very deed dwell with men on the earth? * Behold, heaven, and the heaven of heavens cannot contain thee; how much less this house which I have built?) * Chap. 2. 6. Isa. 66. 1. Acts 7. 49.

19 Have

19 Have respect therefore to the prayer of thy servant, and to his supplication, O LORD my God, to hearken unto the cry and the prayer which thy servant prayeth before thee:

20 That thine eyes may be open upon this house day and night, upon the place whereof thou hast said, that thou wouldst put thy Name there, to hearken unto the prayer, which thy servant prayeth ‖ towards this place.

‖ Or, in this place.

21 Hearken therefore unto the supplication of thy servant, and of thy people Israel, which they shall † make towards this place: hear thou from thy dwelling place, even from heaven, and when thou hearest forgive.

23 Then hear thou from heaven, and do, and judge thy servants by requiting the wicked, by recompensing his way upon his own head, and by justifying the righteous, by giving him according to his righteousness.

‖ Or, be smitten.

24 And if thy people Israel ‖ be put to the worse before the enemy, because they have sinned against thee, and shall return and confess thy Name, and pray, and make supplication before thee ‖ in this house:

‖ Or, towards.

25 Then hear thou from the heavens, and forgive the sin of thy people Israel, and bring them again unto the land which thou gavest to them, and to their fathers.

* 1 Kings 17.1.

26 When the * heaven is shut up, and there is no rain, because they have sinned against thee; yet if they pray towards this place, and confess thy name and turn from their sin when thou dost afflict them:

27 Then hear thou from heaven, and forgive the sin of thy servants, and of thy people Israel, when thou hast taught them the good way, wherein they should walk; and send rain upon thy land which thou hast given unto thy people for an inheritance.

* Ch. 20.9.

28 If there * be dearth in the land, if there be pestilence, if there be blasting, or mildew, locusts, or caterpillars; if their enemies besiege them † in the cities of their land: whatsoever sore or whatsoever sickness there be:

29 Then what prayer, or what supplication soever shall be made of any man, or of all thy people Israel, when every one shall know his own sore, and his own grief, and shall spread forth his hands ‖ in this house:

‖ Or, towards this house.

30 Then hear thou from heaven thy dwelling-place, and forgive, and render unto every man according unto all his ways, whose heart thou knowest; (for thou only * knowest the hearts of the children of men)

31 That they may fear thee, to walk in thy ways, † so long as they live † in the land which thou gavest unto our fathers.

† Heb. all the days wherein.

† Heb. upon the face of the land.

32 Moreover, concerning the stranger, * which is not of thy people Israel, but it is come from a far country for thy great Names sake, and thy mighty hand, and stretched out arm; if they come and pray in this house:

* Josh. 12. 20. Acts 8. 27.

33 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling place, and do according to all that the stranger calleth to thee for; that all people of the earth may know thy Name, and fear thee, as doth thy people Israel, and may know that † this house which I have built, is called by thy Name.

† Heb. thy name is called upon this house.

hast chosen, and the house which I have built for thy name:

Eccles. 7. 20. Jam. 3. 2. 1 Joh. 1.8.

35 Then hear thou from the heavens their prayer and their supplication, and maintain their ‖ cause.

36 If they sin against thee, (for there is * no man which sinneth not) and thou be angry with them, and deliver them over before their enemies, and † they carry them away captives unto a land far off or near;

† Heb. bring back to their heart.

37 Yet, if they † bethink themselves in the land whether they are carried captive, and turn and pray unto thee in the land of their captivity, saying, We have sinned, we have done amiss, and have dealt wickedly;

38 If they return to thee with all their heart, and with all their soul, in the land of their captivity, whether they have carried them captives, and pray toward their land which thou gavest unto their fathers, and toward the city which thou hast chosen, and toward the house which I have built for thy name:

39 Then hear thou from the heavens, even from thy dwelling-place, their prayer and their supplications, and maintain their ‖ cause, and forgive thy people which have sinned against thee.

‖ Or, right.

40 Now, my God, let (I beseech thee) thine eyes be open, and let thine ears be attent † unto the prayer that is made in this place.

† Heb. attent to the prayer of this place.

c Compare Exod. 40. 35.

3 And when all the children of Israel saw how the fire came down, and the glory of the LORD upon the house d, they bowed themselves with their faces to the ground upon the pavement, and worshipped, and praised the LORD, saying, * For he is good, for his mercy endureth for ever.

* Ch. 5. 13.

d The Cloud first came down upon the House, and then entred into the House, and was seen both within it by the Priests, and without it by the People.

4 Then the king and all the people offered sacrifices before the LORD.

5 And king Solomon offered a sacrifice of twenty and two thousand oxen, and an hundred and twenty thousand sheep: so the king and all the people dedicated the house of God.

6 * And the priests waited on their offices, the Levites also with instruments of musick * of the LORD, which David the king had made to praise the LORD, because his mercy endureth for ever; when David praised ‖ † by their ministry e: and the priests sounded trumpets before them, and all Israel stood.

* 1 Chron. 23. 5. 2 Chron. 29. 26. Neh. 12. 36.

† Heb. by their hand.

e For David composed the Psalms or Hymns, 1 Chron. 16. 7. and appointed them to be sung by the Levites, and Instrumental Musick to be joyned to their Voices.

7 Moreover, Solomon hallowed the middle of the court f that was before the house of the LORD: for there he offered burnt-offerings, and the fat of the peace-offerings, because the brazen altar which Solomon

Solomon had made, was not able to receive the burnt offerings, and the meat-offerings, and the fat.

f Of this and ss. 8, 9, 10. see the Notes on 1 King. 8. 64. &c.

8 Also at that time Solomon kept the feast seven days, and all Israel with him, a very great congregation, from the entring in of Hamath, unto * the river of Egypt.

* Josh. 13. 3.

9 And in the eighth day they made † a solemn assembly: for they kept the dedication of the altar seven days, and the feast seven days.

† Heb. A restraint.

10 And on the three and twentieth day of the seventh month, he sent the people away unto their tents, glad and merry in heart for the goodness that the LORD had shewed unto David, and to Solomon, and to Israel his people.

11 Thus * Solomon finished the house of the LORD g, and the kings house: and all that came into Solomons heart to make in the house of the LORD, and in his own house, he prosperously effected.

* 1 King. 9. 1, &c.

13 If I shut up heaven that there be no rain, or if I command the Locusts h to devour the land, or if I send pestilence among my people:

† Heb. Or if I send pestilence among my people.

14 If my people † which are called by my name, shall humble themselves and pray, and seek my face, and turn from their wicked ways: then will I hear from heaven, and will forgive their sin, and will heal their land.

† Heb. Or if I send pestilence among my people which are called.

15 Now * mine eyes shall be open, and mine ears attent † unto the prayer that is made in this place i.

† Heb. To the prayer of this place.

i Or, That shall be made in or towards this place: for he speaks of the Answers which he will give to the Prayers which shall be made here. Heb. Of this place.

16 For now have * I chosen, and sanctified this house k, that my name may be there for ever: and mine eyes and mine heart shall be there perpetually.

* Ch. 6. 6.

17 And as for thee, if thou wilt walk before me, as David thy father walked, and do according to all that I have commanded thee, and shalt observe my statutes and my judgments:

18 Then will I establish the throne of thy kingdom, according as I have covenanted with David thy father, saying, * † There shall not fail thee a man to be ruler in Israel.

19 * But if ye turn away, and forsake my statutes and my commandments, which I have set before you, and shall go and serve other gods, and worship them:

20 Then will I pluck them up by the roots out of my land which I have given them; and this house which I have sanctified for my name, will I cast out of my sight, and will make it to be a proverb, and a by-word among all nations.

21 And this house which is high, shall be an astonishment to every one that passeth by it; so that he shall say, * Why hath the LORD done thus unto this land, and unto this house!

* Deut. 29. 24. Jer. 22. 8, 9.

22 And it shall be answered, Because they forsook the LORD God of their fathers which brought them forth out of the land of Egypt, and laid hold on other gods, and worshipped them, and served them: therefore hath he brought all this evil upon them.

CHAP. VIII.

Solomon's Buildings, 1——6. The Heathen who remained in the Land he maketh Tributaries: but the Israelites Rulers, 7——11. His yearly solemn Sacrifices: he appointeth to the Priests and Levites their places, 12——16. The Navy fetcheth Gold from Ophir, 17, 18.

* 1 Kings 9. 10.

AND * it came to pass (at the end of twenty years, wherein Solomon had built the house of the LORD, and his own house.)

2 That the cities which Huram had restored to Solomon a, Solomon built them, and caused the children of Israel to dwell there.

a Which Solomon gave to Hiram, who not being pleased with them, 1 King. 9. 12, 13. here returns them to him again.

3 And Solomon went to Hamath zobah, and prevailed against it.

4 And he built Tadmor in the wilderness b, and all the store-cities, which he built in Hamath.

b Or this and the following verses, see on 1 King. 9. 18. &c.

5 Also he built Beth-horon the upper, and Beth-horon the nether, fenced cities, with walls, gates and bars:

6 And Baalath, and all the store-cities that Solomon had, and all the chariot-cities, and the cities of the horsemen, and † all that Solomon desired to build in Jerusalem, and in Lebanon, and throughout all the land of his dominion.

† Heb. All the desire of Solomon which he desired to build.

7 As for all the people that were left of the Hittites, and the Amorites, and the Perizzites, and the Hivites, and the Jebusites, which were not of Israel,

8 But of their children who were left after them in the land, whom the children of Israel consumed not, them did Solomon make to pay tribute unto this day.

9 But of the children of Israel did Solomon make no servants for his work: but they were men of war, and chief of his captains, and captains of his chariots and horsemen.

10 And these were the chief of king Solomons officers, even two hundred and fifty that bare rule over the people.

11 And Solomon * brought up the daughter of Pharaoh out of the city of David, unto the house that he had built for her: for he said, My wife shall not dwell in the house of David king of Israel, because the places are † holy whereunto the ark of the LORD hath come c.

* 1 King. 3. 1. & 7. 8.

† Heb. Holiness.

c Not because every place where once the Ark came was thereby consecrated to God, and might not after the Ark was gone be put to any common use; for then both the house of Obed-edom and all other places where the Ark either rested or pased were made Holy thereby, and unlawful for Men to dwell in; but either 1. Because she was a Woman, and attended by many other Women, who besides the common Pollutions of all, are subject to many and frequent Ceremonial Pollutions peculiar to their Sex, and either she, or at least many of her followers might be Heathens at this time; and therefore he thought it indecent that such persons should come as it were in God's stead, and succeed him in the place where he had dwelt. Or, 2. He speaks not of the time when the Ark was gone, but whilst it was there; and these words contain a Reason not of the more remote words, why he now brought her up thither, but of the words immediately preceding, why he built this House for her; because the Ark was now in the House of David, which therefore ought to be kept pure and free from the very Danger and Appearance of Pollution.

12 Then Solomon offered burnt-offerings unto the LORD, on the altar of the LORD, which he had built before the porch, 13 Even after a certain rate every * day, offering according to the commandment of Moses, on the sabbaths, and on the new moons, and on the Solemn feasts, * three times in a year, even in the feast of unleavened bread, and in the feast of weeks, and in the feast of tabernacles.

* Exod. 29. 38. * Exod. 23. 14. Deut. 16. 16.

14 And he appointed according to the order of David his father, the * courses of the priests to their service, and * the Levites to their charges, to praise and minister before the priests, as the duty of every day required: the * porters also by their courses at every gate: for † so had David the man of God commanded.

* 1 Chron. 24. * 1 Chr. 25. 1. † Heb. So

† Heb. the commandment of David the man of God

15 And they departed not from the commandment of the king, unto the priests and Levites, concerning any matter, or concerning the treasures.

16 Now all the work of Solomon was prepared unto the day of the foundation of the house of the LORD, and until it was finished: so the house of God was perfected.

e All the Materials were procured, and in all points squared and fitted and compleated before hand.

17 Then went Solomon to Ezion-geber f, and to ‖ Eloth, at the sea-side in the land of Edom.

‖ Or, Elath, Deut. 2. 8.

18 And Huram sent him by the hand of his servants, ships, and servants that had knowledge of the sea, and they went with the servants of Solomon to Ophir, and took thence four hundred and fifty talents of gold, and brought them to king Solomon.

CHAP. IX.

The queen of Sheba visiteth Solomon, and admireth his wisdom: giveth and receiveth presents. 1——12. Solomon's Gold, his Target, 13——16. His throne of ivory, 17——19. His vessels, his provisions, 20——24. His chariots and horses; his tributes; his reign and death, 25——31.

1 Kin. 10. 1. &c. Matth. 12. 42. Luke 11. 31.

A Nd * when the queen of Sheba heard of the fame of Solomon, she came to prove Solomon with hard questions at Jerusalem, with a very great company, and camels that bare spices, and gold in abundance, and precious stones: and when she was come to Solomon, she communed with him of all that was in her heart.

a Almost all this Chapter is contained in 1 King. 10. where it is explained.

2 And Solomon told her all her questions: and there was nothing hid from Solomon which he told her not.

3 And when the queen of Sheba had seen the wisdom of Solomon, and the house that he had built,

4 And the meat of his table, and the sitting of his servants, and the attendance of his ministers, and their apparel, his ‖ cup-bearers also, and their apparel, and his ascent, by which he went up into the house of the LORD, there was no spirit in her.

Or, stairs.

5 And she said to the king, It was a true † report which I heard in mine own land, of ‖ thine acts, and of thy wisdom.

† Heb. word. Or, things.

6 Howbeit, I believed not their words, until I came, and mine eyes had seen it: and behold, the one half of the greatness of thy wisdom was not told me: for thou exceedest the fame that I heard.

7 Happy are thy men, and happy are these thy servants, which stand continually before thee, and hear thy wisdom.

8 Blessed be the LORD thy God, which delighted in thee to set thee on his throne, to be king for the LORD b thy God: because thy God loved Israel, to establish them for ever, therefore made he thee king over them, to do judgment and justice.

b I.e. In the Lord's Name and Stead, both in general, because all Kings have and hold their Kingdoms from God, and act as his Vicegerents and Deputies; and in a special manner, because he sat in God's own Throne, and ruled over God's Peculiar People, and did in a singular and eminent manner maintain the Honour and Worship of God in his Land, and in the Eyes of all the World besides.

9 And she gave the king an hundred and twenty talents of gold, and of spices great abundance, and precious stones: neither was there any such spice as the queen of Sheba gave king Solomon.

10 And the servants also of Huram, and the servants of Solomon, which brought gold from Ophir, brought algum-trees, and precious stones.

Or, Chests. † Heb. high ways. Gr. ascents.

11 And the king made of the algum-trees ‖ † terraces to the house of the LORD, and to the kings palace, and harps and psalteries for singers: and there were none such seen before in the land of Judah.

12 And king Solomon gave to the queen of Sheba all her desire, whatsoever she asked, besides that which she had brought c unto the king: So she turned, and went away to her own land, she and her servants.

c Besides what he gave her of his Royal Bounty, as it is expressed, 1 King. 10. 13. which was in compentation for her Presents, as is here noted.

13 Now the weight of gold that came to Solomon in one year, was six hundred and threescore and six talents of gold;

14 Besides that which chapmen and merchants brought: and all the kings of Arabia, and ‖ governours of the country, brought gold and silver to Solomon.

Or, captains.

15 And king Solomon made two hundred targets of beaten gold: six hundred shekels of beaten gold went to one target.

16 And three hundred shields made he of beaten gold: three hundred shekels of gold went to one shield: and the king put them in the house of the forrest of Lebanon.

17 Moreover, the king made a great throne of ivory, and overlaid it with pure gold.

18 And there were six steps to the throne with a foot-stool of gold, which were fastened to the throne, and † staves on each side of the sitting-place, and two lions standing by the staves.

† Heb. hands.

19 And twelve lions stood there, on the one side, and on the other, upon the six steps. There was not the like made in any kingdom.

20 And all the drinking vessels of king Solomon were of gold, and all the vessels of the house of the forest of Lebanon, were of † pure gold: ‖ none were of silver; it was not any thing accounted of in the days of Solomon.

† Heb. gold. Or, was not esteemed.

21 For the kings ships went to Tarshish with the servants of Huram: every three years once came the ships of Tarshish bringing gold and silver, ‖ ivory, and apes, and peacocks.

Or, elephants.

22 And king Solomon passed all the kings of the earth in riches, and wisdom.

23 And all the kings of the earth sought the † presence of Solomon, to hear his wisdom that God put in his heart.

† Heb. face.

24 And they brought every man his present, vessels of silver, and vessels of gold, and rayment, harnesh, and spices, horses, and mules, a rate year by year.

25 And Solomon * had four thousand stalls d for horses and chariots, and twelve thousand horsemen, * whom he bestowed in the chariot-cities, and with the king at Jerusalem.

1 Kin. 4. 26. & 10. 26. Chap. 1. 14.

d To wit, greater Stalls, in each of which were ten Stalls, in all 40000 Stalls, as it is 1 King. 4. 26. where see the Notes.

26 * And he reigned over all the kings, * from the river, even unto the land of the Philistins, and to the border of Egypt.

27 And the King † made silver in Jerusalem as stones, and cedar-trees made he as the sycamore-trees, that are in the low plains, in abundance.

28 * And they brought unto Solomon horses out of Egypt, and out of all lands.

29 Now the rest of the * acts of Solomon first and last, are they not written in the † book of Nathan the prophet, and in the prophecy of Ahijah the Shilonite, and in the visions of * Iddo the seer e, against Jeroboam the son of Nebat?

† Heb. words. * Chap. 12. 15.

e Mentioned also ch. 12. 15. supposed to be the same who is called Obed, ch. 15. 1. This, and the other Prophets mentioned, were also Historians, and wrote some Annals or Histories of their times; out of which these Sacred and Canonical Books were taken, either by these, or other Prophets.

30 And Solomon reigned in Jerusalem over all Israel forty years.

31 And Solomon slept with his fathers; and he was buried in the city of David his father, and Rehoboam his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. X.

Rehoboam made king. The Israelites by Jeroboam request a relaxation, 1——5. Rehoboam refusing the old men's counsel, by the advice of young men, answereth them roughly, 6——15. Ten tribes revolting, kill Hadoram, and make Rehoboam to flee, 16——19.

A Nd * Rehoboam went to Shechem a: for to Shechem were all Israel come to make him king.

1 Kin. 12. 1. &c.

a The Contents of this Chapter are in 1 King. 12. where see the Notes.

2 And it came to pass when Jeroboam the son of Nebat, (who was in Egypt, whither he had fled from the presence of Solomon the king) heard it, that Jeroboam returned out of Egypt;

3 And they sent b and called him. So Jeroboam and all Israel came, and spake to Rehoboam, saying,

b Or, For (as that Particle is oft used, as hath been noted before) they had sent, &c. So this is the Reason why he returned, as was said, v. 2.

4 Thy father made our yoke grievous, now therefore ease thou somewhat the grievous servitude of thy father, and his heavy yoke that he put upon us, and we will serve thee.

5 And he said unto them, come again unto me after three days. And the people departed.

6 And king Rehoboam took counsel with the old men that had stood before Solomon his father, while he yet lived, saying, What counsel give ye me, to return answer to this people?

7 And they spake unto him, saying, If thou be kind to this people, and please them, and speak good words to them, they will be thy servants for ever.

8 But he forsook the counsel which the old men gave him, and took counsel with the young men that were brought up with him, that stood before him.

9 And he said unto them, What advice give ye, that we we may return answer to this people, which have spoken to me, saying, Ease somewhat the yoke that thy father did put upon us?

10 And the young men that were brought up with him, spake unto him, saying, Thus shalt thou answer the people that spake unto thee, saying, Thy father made our yoke heavy, but make thou it somewhat lighter for us: thus shalt thou say unto them, My little finger shall be thicker than my fathers loins.

11 For whereas my father † put a heavy yoke upon you, I will put more to your yoke: my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

† Heb. laded.

12 So Jeroboam and all the people came to Rehoboam on the third day, as the king bade, saying, Come again to me on the third day.

13 And the king answered them roughly, and king Rehoboam forsook the counsel of the old men:

14 And answered them after the advice of the young men, saying, My father made your yoke heavy, but I will add thereto: my father chastised you with whips, but I will chastise you with scorpions.

15 So the king hearkened not unto the people, for the cause was of God, that the LORD might perform his word which he spake by the * hand of Ahijah the Shilonite, to Jeroboam the son of Nebat.

1 Kin. 11. 31.

16 And when all Israel saw that the king would not hearken unto them, the people answered the king, saying, What portion have we in David? and we have none inheritance in the son of Jesse: every man to your tents, O Israel: and now David, see to thine own house. So all Israel went to their tents.

17 But as for the children of Israel that dwelt in the cities of Judah, Rehoboam reigned over them.

18 Then king Rehoboam sent Hadoram that was over the tribute, and the children of Israel stoned him with stones, that he died: but king Rehoboam † made speed to get him up to his chariot, to flee to Jerusalem.

† Heb. strengthened himself to get him up.

19 And Israel rebelled against the house of David unto this day.

CHAP. XI.

Rehoboam raising an Army to subdue Israel, is forbidden by Shemaiah 1——4. He strengtheneth his Kingdom with Forts and Provision, 5——12. The Priests and Levites, and such as feared God, forsaken by Jeroboam, who turneth Idolater, strengthens the Kingdom of Judah, 13——17. The Wives and Children of Rehoboam, 18——23.

1 Kin. 12. 21. &c.

A Nd * when Rehoboam was come to Jerusalem, he gathered of the house of Judah and Benjamin a an hundred and fourscore thousand chosen men which were warriours, to fight against Israel, that he might bring the kingdom again to Rehoboam.

a Of this Verse, and v. 2, 3, 4. see the Notes on 1 Kings, 12. 21, &c.

2 But the word of the LORD came to Shemaiah the man of God, saying,

3 Speak unto Rehoboam the son of Solomon king of Judah, and to all Israel in Judah and Benjamin, saying,

4 Thus saith the LORD, Ye shall not go up, nor fight against your brethren: return every man to his house; for this thing is done of me. And they obeyed the words of the LORD, and returned from going against Jeroboam.

5 And Rehoboam dwelt in Jerusalem, and built cities for defence in Judah.

b I.e. Repaired, and enlarged, and fortified them: as building is oft used in Scripture, as hath been formerly proved: For these Cities, or divers of them, were built before, as appears from Jos. 10. 12. & 12. 15. & 15. 24, 33, 35, 58. & 19. 42.

6 He built even Beth-lehem, and Etam, and Tekoa,

7 And Beth-zur, and Shoco, and Adullam,

8 And Gath, and Mareshа, and Ziph,

9 And Adoraim, Lachish, and Azekah,

10 And Zorah, and Ajalon, and Hebron, which are in Judah and in Benjamin, fenced cities.

11 And he fortified the strong holds, and put captains in them, and store of victuals, and oyl, and wine.

12 And in every several city c he put shields, and spears, and made them exceeding strong, having Judah and Benjamin on his side.

c To wit, so fortified, as he said v. 11.

13 And the priests and the Levites that were in all Israel, † resorted to him out of all their coasts.

† Heb. stood.

14 (For the Levites left their * suburbs, and their possession, and came to Judah and Jerusalem: for Jeroboam and his sons had cast them off from executing the priests office unto the LORD d.

* Num. 35. 2. * Ch. 12. 9.

d They would not suffer them to instruct and assist the Israelites in the Worship and Service of God, nor to go up to Jerusalem to Worship in their Courses: and these Priests would not joyn with them in the Worship of the Calves, as they were desired and commanded to do; and therefore they willingly forsook all their Patrimonies and Possessions for God's sake.

15 And he ordained him priests for the high places, and for the devils, and for the calves e which he had made.)

e Or, for the high places, both for the Devils (i. e. the Baals, or false gods, which divers of his People worshipped, whom he permitted and encouraged to do so, giving them liberty to do any thing but to serve God at Jerusalem) and for the Calves. So he erected two sorts of High-places, some for Baal, and some for the True God, whom he pretended and would be thought to worship, in and by the Calves.

16 And after them out of all the Tribes of Israel, such as set their heart to seek the LORD God of Israel f, came to Jerusalem, to sacrifice unto the LORD God of their fathers.

f Such as loved and feared God in truth, and with their whole Heart.

17 So they strengthened the kingdom of Judah, and made Rehoboam the son of Solomon strong three years: for three years they walked in the way of David and Solomon g.

g This honourable mention of Solomon, as a Pattern of Piety, is a considerable Evidence of his true Repentance before his death: of which see more on 1 King. 11. 43.

18 And Rehoboam took him Mahalath the daughter of Jerimoth to wife, and Abihail the daughter of Eliab, the son of Jesse:

19 Which bare him children; Jeush, and Shamariah, and Zaham.

20 And after her, he took * Maachah the daughter of Absalom, which bare him Abijah, and Attai, and Ziza, and Shelomith.

* 1 Kin. 15. 2. She is called Michaiah the daughter of Uriel. Chap. 13. 2.

21 And Rehoboam loved Maachah the daughter of Absalom above all his wives and his concubins: (for he took eighteen wives, and threescore concubins, and begat twenty and eight sons and threescore daughters.)

22 And Rehoboam made Abijah the son of Maachah the chief, to be ruler among his brethren h: for he thought to make him king.

h He declared him his Successor, and gave him the Dominion over his Brethren: wherein (if he was not the First-born, as it seems to be implyed, because this is mentioned as an Effect of his Superlative Love to his Mother) he transgressed that Law, Deut. 21. 15, 16. unless God was pleased to dispence with it at this time.

23 And he dealt wisely, and dispersed i of all his children throughout all the countries of Judah and Benjamin, unto every fenced city k: and he gave them victuals in abundance: and desired † many wives l.

† Heb. multitude of wives.

i Lest his other Sons should after his death unite their Counsels and Forces together against Abijah, he wisely dispersed them into several and distant Places, and under pretence of honouring them with the Government of them, he made them Tributaries at first, appointing several persons to observe their motions, and prevent their Combinations.

k Agreeable to their Quality, that their Restraint might be more easie to them. l Either 1. for his Children: Or rather, 2. for himself, by comparing this with v. 21.

CHAP. XII.

Rehoboam forsaking the LORD is punished by Shishak, 1——4. Shemaiah reproveth him: He with the Princes repenteth: Is preserved in his kingdom, but subjected of the Egyptians: They spoil the royal Palace, 5——12. His reign and death, and Abijah his son is made king, 13——15.

A Nd it came to pass when Rehoboam had established the kingdom, and had strengthened himself, * he forsook the law of the LORD, and all Israel with him.

* 1 Kin. 14. 22. † Ch. 11. 17.

2 And it came to pass, that in the fifth year a of king Rehoboam, Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem (* because they had transgressed against the LORD)

* 1 Kin. 14. 24, 25.

a Presently after the Apostacy of the King and People, which was in his fourth year, by comparing this with ch. 11. 17.

3 With twelve hundred chariots, and threescore thousand horsemen: and the people were without number that came with him out of Egypt, the Lubims b, the Sukkiims c, and the Ethiopians d.

b A People of Africa bordering upon Egypt: of whom see ch. 16. 8. Dan. 11. 43. Nah. 3. 9. c A People living in Tents, as the Word signifies; and such there were not far from Egypt, both in Africa and in Arabia. d Either those beyond Egypt, or the Arabians.

4 And he took the fenced cities which pertained to Judah, and came to Jerusalem.

5 Then came Shemajah the prophet to Rehoboam, and to the princes of Judah, that were gathered together to Jerusalem because of Shishak, and said unto them, Thus saith the LORD, Ye have forsaken me, and therefore have I also left you in the hand of Shishak.

6 Whereupon the princes of Israel, and the king humbled themselves, and they said, The LORD is righteous.

7 And when the LORD saw that they humbled themselves e, the word of the LORD came to Shemajah, saying, They have humbled themselves, therefore I will not destroy them, but I will grant them some deliverance, and my wrath shall not be poured out f upon Jerusalem by the hand of Shishak.

‖ Or, a little while.

e Which though they did not forcedly, yet God was pleased to far to regard it, as to mitigate their Calamity. f I will give some stop to the course of my Wrath, which was ready to be poured forth upon them to their utter Destruction.

8 Nevertheless, they shall be his servants; that they may know my service, and the service of the kingdoms of the countries g.

g That they may experimentally know and feel the difference between my Yoke and the Yoke of a Foreign and Idolatrous Prince, and what Mischief they have done to themselves by forsaking me and my Service.

9 So Shishak king of Egypt came up against Jerusalem, and took away the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the kings house h, he took all: he carried away also the shields of gold, which Solomon had * made.

* 1 Kin. 10. 16.

h Upon which Condition, and Rehoboam's Submission to him he delivered up to him the fenced Cities of Judah, which he had taken, v. 4. But of this, and the two next verses, see on 1 Kin. 14. 26, &c.

Ch. 9. 15.

10 Instead of which king Rehoboam made shields of brass, and committed them to the hands of the chief of the guard, that kept the entrance of the kings house.

11 And when the king entred into the house of the LORD, the guard came and fet them, and brought them again into the guard-chamber.

12 And when he humbled himself, the wrath of the LORD turned from him, that he would not destroy him altogether: ‖ and also in Judah things went well i.

‖ Or, and yet in Judah there were good things.

i Heb. There were good things. The meaning is either 1. Though there were many Corruptions in Judah, yet there were also divers good things there, which were not in Israel, as the Word and Ordinances, and pure Worship of God, Prophets and Ministers of God's Institution, and divers truly Religious People. And so this is an additional Reason why God would not destroy them. Or, 2. Notwithstanding this fact, they began to recruit themselves, and to regain some degree of their former Prosperity. Whence it follows, v. 13. So, there being some respite given, and Peace being restored, Rehoboam strengthened himself, &c.

13 So king Rehoboam strengthened himself in Jerusalem, and reigned: for * Rehoboam was one and forty years old when he began to reign, and he reigned seventeen Years in Jerusalem, the city which the LORD had chosen out of all the tribes of Israel, to put his Name there: and his mothers name was Naamah an Ammonitess.

* 1 Kin. 14. 21.

‖ Or, fact.

14 And he did evil, because he ‖ prepared not k his heart to seek the LORD.

1 Sam. 7. 3.

k Or, directed not: or, settled not, &c. i. e. Although he humbled himself, and seemed penitent for a season, and professed the True Religion and Worship of God; yet he quickly relapsed into his former Sins, because he was not sincere nor serious in his Actions, and his Heart was not right with God.

15 Now the acts of Rehoboam, first and last, are they not written in the † book of Shemajah the prophet, and of Iddo the seer, concerning genealogies l? And there were wars between Rehoboam and Jeroboam continually.

† Heb. words.

CHAP. XIII.

Abijah Maweth against Jeroboam king of Israel, 1——3. Declareth the right of his cause, 4——12. Trusteth in God; overcometh Jeroboam, 13——20. His Wives and Children, 21, 22.

* 1 Kin. 15. 1, &c.

NOw * in the eighteenth year of king Jeroboam began Abijah to reign over Judah.

2 He reigned three years in Jerusalem: (his mothers name also was Micajah the daughter of Uriel of Gibeah) and there was war between Abijah and Jeroboam.

a Called Maachah the Daughter of Absalom, 1 Kings. 15. 2. She might be Daughter to one, and Grand-daughter to the other; or the proper and natural Daughter of the one, and the others by Adoption; of which there are instances in Scripture: or the same Person might be called Uriel and Absalom. See 1 Kings. 15. 2.

3 And Abijah † set the battel in aray c, with an army of valient men of war, even four hundred thousand chosen men: Jeroboam also set the battel in aray against him with eight hundred thousand men, being mighty men of valour.

c Against Jeroboam. We need not scrupulously enquire into the Lawfulnels of this War, for this Abijah, though here he makes a fair Flourish and maintained the better Cause, yet was indeed an Ungodly Man, 1 King. 15. 3. and therefore minded not the satisfaction of his Conscience, but only the Recovery of his Parents Ancient Dominions.

4 And Abijah stood up upon mount Zemaraim d, which is in mount Ephraim, and said, Hear me, thou Jeroboam, and all Israel.

d Some commodious Place whence his Voice might be heard by Jeroboam, and some of his Hosts, who possibly were pitched in the Valley. Or, the two Armies being pitched near to one another, Abijah might desire a Parly before they fought; whereupon Jeroboam, and some of his Commanders and Souldiers, might draw near to him, and stand below him at the bottom of the Hill, where they might hear his Speech: which Jeroboam was the more willing to do, that in the mean time he might cause an Ambushment to come behind Abijah and his Army, as he did v. 13. whilest he was quietly standing before them, and seemed to hearken to any Terms of Accommodation which might be offered.

5 Ought ye not to know, that the LORD God of Israel gave the kingdom over Israel to David for ever, even to him and to his sons by a covenant of salt e?

e i. e. By a perpetual Covenant, which thy Usurpation cannot disannul. For the Phrase see on Numb. 18. 19.

6 Yet Jeroboam the son of Nebat, the servant of Solomon the son of David, is risen up and hath * rebelled against his lord.

* Heb. lifted up the hand.

7 And there are gathered unto him vain men, the children of Belial f, and have strengthened themselves against Rehoboam the son of Solomon, when Rehoboam was young g and tender-hearted h, and could not withstand them.

f Such as have cast off the Yoke and Obedience which they owed both to God and to their King. g Not in Age, for he was then 41 years old, but in his Kingdom, which he had but newly obtained, and in Experience in Politick, and especially in Military Affair, to which he was wholly a stranger, as having been born and bred up in a time of great Peace and Security. h i. e. Cowardly and fearful, who durst not adventure to chastise the Rebels as he should have done. But herein Abijah forgets his Duty both to his Father, whom he falsely traduceth; and to God, by whose Express Command Rehoboam was restrained from the War against Israel, which otherwise he had both Courage and Resolution to prosecute, as appears from the History, 1 King. 12. 21.

8 And now ye think to withstand the kingdom of the LORD, in the hand of the sons of David i, and ye be a great multitude k, and there are with you golden calves l, which Jeroboam * made you for gods m.

* 1 Kin. 12. 28.

i That Kingdom which was not set up by Vain Men in pursuance of their own Ambition and Discontent, as yours was, but ordained and established by God himself in the House of David. k Or, because (that Hebrew Particle being oft so used) ye be, &c. This he mentions partly as the ground of their Confidence, that they had more Tribes and a greater Host; and partly as a presage of their Downfal, which trusting to the Arm of Flesh is. ‖ Or, but there are, &c. There is that among you which may dampen your Courage and Confidence: You brought those Images which God abhors and severely forbids. m Or, for God, as that plural word is most commonly used, i. e. instead of God, to give them the Name of God, as Exod. 32. 4. and that worship which is peculiar to him.

9 * Have ye not cast out the priests of the LORD, the sons of Aaron, and the Levites, and have made you priests after the manner of the nations of other lands? so that whosoever cometh to consecrate himself n with a young bullock, and seven rams, the same may be a priest of them that are no gods o.

* Ch. 11. 14.

n i. e. To make himself a Priest. See on Levit. 7. 37. o That have nothing of the Nature or Power, though you give them the Name of Gods.

10 But as for us, the LORD p is our God, and we have not forsaken him q, and the priests which minister unto the LORD, are the sons of Aaron, and the Levites wait upon their business.

p Heb. Jehovah, the only True and Great God. q we maintain his Honour and Worship which you have ungratefully rejected.

* Ex. 30. 8. 2 Chr. 29. 11.

r So called, because it was made of pure Gold, Exod. 25. 23, 24. He saith Table and Candlestick, though there were ten of each, ch. 4. 7, 8. either 1. because Shishak had carried away all but one: Or, 2. the singular number is put for the plural, as 1 Kings 7. 48. and oft elsewhere. Or, 3. because ordinarily there was but one of each used at a time for those uses. s And from Evening to Morning continually, Lev. 24. 2, 3. for which end one Candlestick was sufficient, and it is very improbable that all the Candlesticks were used every night. u This he saith, though he was an ungodly King; either because he flattered himself, and fancied that his keeping up the External Worship of God would make full satisfaction for the Errours of his Life: Or, that he might hereby encourage his own Souldiers, and convince or terrifie his Enemies.

† Heb. in the head. Ch. 20. 27. * Acts 5. 39.

12 And behold God himself is with us † for our captain, and his priests with sounding trumpets to cry alarm against you x: O children of Israel, * fight ye not against the LORD God of your fathers y, for ye shall not prosper.

x Upon the founding whereof God hath solemnly promised to assist his People, Numb. 10. 9. y You have not only us for your Enemies, but God, even the God whom your fathers honoured and served, to their own great Comfort and Benefit.

13 But Jeroboam caused an ambushment to come about behind them z: so they were before Judah, and the ambushment was behind them.

z Whilest Abijah was discourling, Jeroboam takes the advantage of it to lay an Ambush.

14 And when Judah looked back, behold, the battel was before and behind: and they cried unto the LORD, and the priests founded with the trumpets.

15 Then the men of Judah gave a shout; and as the men of Judah shouted, it came to pass that God smote a Jeroboam and all Israel before Abijah and Judah.

a By strengthning the Hearts and Hands of the Men of Judah, and taking away the Spirits and Power of their Enemies; and, it may be, by some extraordinary Assistance.

16 And the children of Israel fled before Judah: and God delivered them into their hand.

17 And Abijah and his people slew them with a very great slaughter: so there fell down slain of Israel five hundred thousand b chosen men.

b A vast number: but it hath been oft observed and recorded by sacred and profane Historians, that in those antient times there were very numerous Armies, and oft times very great Slaughters; and if this Slaughter was more than ordinary, there is nothing strange nor incredible, because the Almighty God fought against the Israelites.

18 Thus the children of Israel were brought under at that time, and the children of Judah prevailed, because they relyed upon the LORD c God of their fathers.

c They put their Truft in him and confidently expected Help from him: which is a disposition of heart that God prizeth and taketh kindly. See 2 Kings 18. 5. 2 Chron. 20. 20. Psal. 22. 4. Dan. 3. 28.

19 And Abijah pursued after Jeroboam, and took cities from him, Beth-el d with the towns thereof, and Jeshanah with the towns thereof, and Ephraim e with the towns thereof.

d Which Jeroboam recovered afterwards, as appears by the course of the History, tho it be not particularly mentioned, which is the case of many other confiderable things. And in the mean time it is very probable, that when Jeroboam's Host was discomfited, and he expected that Abijah would purfue his Victory, he removed the Golden Calf from Beth-el, which lay near Abijah's Kingdom, to some fafer place. e A City so called, possibly the same which is mentioned, Joh. 11. 54. or that which is called Ophra, Judg. 8. 27.

20 Neither did Jeroboam recover strength again in the days of Abijah: and the LORD ſtrook him f, and he died g.

f i. e. Jeroboam, as appears from the contrary condition of Abijah deſcribed in the next verſe. Him God might ſtrike either with vexation and horror of Mind: or with ſome painful and lingring, but incurable Diſeaſe, like that of Jehoram, which tormented him two years together, and at laſt killed him, 2 Chron. 21. 19. g Not preſently, but a year or two after this time.

21 But Abijah waxed mighty, and married fourteen wives, and begat twenty and two ſons, and ſixteen daughters h.

h Not now after this Victory, for he died preſently after it, but in the whole time of his Life, before he was King, and afterward.

22 And the reſt of the acts of Abijah, and his ways, and his ſayings, are written in the ‖ ſtory of the prophets * Iddo.

Aſa is made King: He deſtroyeth Idolatry, 1——5. Having peace ſtrengtheneth his Kingdom with Forts and Armies, 6——8. In a Fraiſt, calling on God, he overthroweth Zerah, and ſpoileth the Ethiopians, 9——15.

SO Abijah ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city of David, and * Aſa his ſon reigned in his ſtead: in his days the land was quiet ten years a.

a i. e. There was no open War, either by Baaſha or others; only there were ſecret Grudges and private Hoſtilities between his and Baaſha's Subjects, 1 Kings 15. 16.

2 And Aſa did that which was good and right in the eyes of the LORD b his God.

b Of this and the next verſe, ſee on 1 Kings 15. 11, 12.

3 For he took away the altars of the ſtrange gods, and the high places, and brake down the † images, and cut down the groves:

† Heb. Statues.

4 And commanded Judah to ſeek the LORD God of their fathers c, and to do the law and the commandment d.

c By his Royal Edicts he required them to Worſhip God, and him only. d i. e. To practiſe all which the Laws of Moſes required of them.

5 Alſo he took away out of all the cities of Judah the high places, and the † images: and the kingdom was quiet before him.

† Heb. Sunne-images.

6 And he built fenced cities in Judah: for the land had reſt, and he had no war in thoſe years, becauſe the LORD had given him reſt.

7 Therefore he ſaid unto Judah, Let us build theſe cities, and make about them walls, and towers, gates, and bars, while the land is yet before us d: becauſe we have ſought the LORD our God, we have ſought him, and he hath given us reſt on every ſide: ſo they built and proſpered.

d i. e. In our Power, as that Phraſe is oft uſed. See on Gen. 13. 9.

8 And Aſa had an army of men e, that bare targets and ſpears, out of Judah, three hundred thouſand, and out of Benjamin, that bare ſhields and drew bows, two hundred and fourſcore thouſand: all theſe were mighty men of valour.

e Which, as it ſeems, he had now gathered together upon the information of Zerah's Deſign againſt him.

9 * And there came out againſt them Zerah the Ethiopian f with an hoſt of a thouſand thouſand and three hundred chariots, and came unto Mareſha g.

* Ch. 12. 3.

f Or, the Arabian, as the Hebrew word Cuſh is commonly uſed, as hath been noted before: Theſe being much nearer to Aſa than the Ethiopians, who alſo could not have come to Aſa, but thorough Egypt, which probably the King of Egypt would not permit him to do. g A City upon and within the Borders of Judah, Joſ. 15. 44.

10 Then Aſa went out againſt him, and they ſet the battel in aray in the valley of Zephathah, at Mareſhah.

11 And Aſa cried unto the LORD his God, and ſaid, LORD, † it is * nothing with thee h to help, whether with many, or with them that have no power: Help us, O LORD our God; for we reſt on thee, and in thy Name i we go againſt this multitude. O LORD thou art our God, let not ‖ man prevail againſt thee.

h i. e. There is no difference, nor no difficulty, with thee. † Or, to thy Commiſſion, in Conſideration of thy Aſſiſtance, and for the maintenance of thy honour, and ſervice, and people.

12 So the LORD ſmote the Ethiopians before Aſa, and before Judah, and the Ethiopians fled.

13 And Aſa and the people that were with him, purſued them unto Gerar k: and the Ethiopians were overthrown, that they could not recover themſelves, for they were † deſtroyed before the LORD, and before his Hoſt, and they carried away very much ſpoil.

14 And they ſmote all the cities round about Gerar l, for * the fear of the LORD came upon them: and they ſpoiled all the cities, for there was exceeding much ſpoil in them.

* Ch. 17. 10.

l Partly becauſe they had joined with Zerah in this War; and partly becauſe the Ethiopians had ſheltered a great part of the Remains of the Army in them.

15 They ſmote alſo the tents of Cattel m, and carried away ſheep and cammels in abundance, and returned to Jeruſalem.

m i. e. The dwellers in Tents, which were either a part of Zerah's Company or joyned with them, or had come along with them them to furnish that great Host with necessary Provisions; which their Custom of dwelling in Tents made them more capable of doing.

CHAP. XV.

Asa with Judah and many of Israel moved by Azariah the Prophet, renew a solemn Covenant with God, 1——15. He removeth Maachah his Mother for her Idolatry: bringeth the hallowed things again into the Temple; and enjoyeth a long peace, 15——19.

AND the ſpirit of God came upon Azariah the ſon of Oded.

2 And he went out † to meet Aſa, and ſaid unto him, Hear ye me, Aſa, and all Judah and Benjamin, * The LORD is with you a while ye be with him, and if ye ſeek him, he will be found of you; but if ye forſake him, he will forſake you b.

a To defend you againſt all your Enemies, as now you have ſeen, and you may hereafter expect, if you perſiſt in that good Courſe into which you are entred. b But let not this Victory make you preſumptuous or ſelf-confident; for you are upon your good behaviour; and if you leave God, he will leave and deſtroy you after he hath done you good.

3 Now for a long ſeaſon * Iſrael hath been without the true God, and without a teaching prieſt, and without Law c.

* Ch. 12. 1.

c Heb. For many days have been to Iſrael without the true God, &c. i. e. They have long lived without the found knowledge and Worſhip of the True God. The Prophet confirms his foregoing Exhortation and the Threatning annexed to it, That if they forſook God he would forſake them, for the uſual manner of Gods dealing with Iſrael formerly, and therefore in the ſame caſe they may expect the ſame uſage. Iſrael here mentioned and propounded as an Example is here underſtood, either 1. Specially of the Ten Tribes diſtinguiſhed by that Name from the Kingdom of Judah; whoſe Condition had been ſince Jeroboam's Revolt, and now was ſuch in ſome meaſure, as is here deſcribed, they having been and ſtill being, without God and his True Worſhip, and therefore expoſed to many Vexations, and Wars, and Miſeries. But theſe had not as yet turned unto God or ſought him, nor was God yet found of them, as is ſaid of this Iſrael, v. 4. Nor had they as yet been exerciſed with thoſe grievous and continual Vexations, and Wars, and mutual Deſtructions of which he here ſpeaks, v. 5, 6. and which in ſucceeding times they felt. For except that one Blow which they had from Abijah, ch. 13. we read of none other great Miſchiefs which befel them. Or rather 2. Generally of the whole Nation of Iſrael in former times, and eſpecially in the times of the Judges; to which all that follows ſuits very well: For then many times they were, though not wholly and univerſally, yet in a very great meaſure and, for the generality of them, without God, and his Law, and Teaching Prieſts, as plainly appears from divers Paſſages in the Book of the Judges; and then indeed they were brought to all the Exigencies and Calamities here following; then they had grievous Wars both Foreign and Domeſtick; and then they did ſometimes turn to the Lord and ſought him, and he was found of them, and did raiſe up Judges and Saviours to them; of which ſee Judg. 2. at large, & Judg. 3. 9, 15. & 10. 10. &c.

4 But when they d in their trouble did turn unto the LORD God of Iſrael, and ſought him, he was found of them.

d i. e. Iſrael, mentioned v. 3.

5 And in thoſe times e there was no peace to him that went out, nor to him that came in f, but great vexations were upon all the inhabitants of the countries g.

e When Iſrael lived in the groſs Neglect and Contempt of God, and his Law and Worſhip. f Men could not go abroad about their private Occaſions without great danger; as it was in the days of Shamgar, Judg. 5. 6. which is a good Comment upon this Text. g Heb. of thoſe Countries, i. e. The divers Parts of the Land of Iſrael, both within and without Jordan.

† Heb. broken in pieces.

6 And nation was † deſtroyed of nation h, and city of city: for God did vex them with all adverſity.

h i. e. One part of the People of Iſrael deſtroyed the other by Civil Wars: of which ſee inſtances, Judg. 9. 23, &c. and 12. 1, &c. As all the People of Iſrael are called a Nation, ſo the ſeveral Tribes and Families of them are ſometimes called Nations, as Gen. 17. 4. Exod. 2. 2. Acts 4. 27. compared with Pſal. 2. 1.

7 Be ye ſtrong therefore i, and let not your hands be weak k: for your work ſhall be rewarded l.

i Go on therefore Courageouſly and Reſolutely to maintain Gods Worſhip and to root out Idolatry, as you have begun to do; for this is the only right Method of preſerving your ſelves from ſuch Calamities as your Predeceſſors have felt. k Be not diſcouraged with the Oppoſition which you may poſſibly meet with. l What you do for God and for his Honour and Service ſhall not go unrequited.

8 And when Aſa heard theſe words, and the prophecy of Oded the prophet m he took courage n, and put away the † abominable idols out of all the land of Judah and Benjamin, and out of the cities which he had taken o from mount Ephraim, and renewed the altar of the LORD p, that was before the porch of the LORD.

m To wit, of Azariah, v. 1. who was alſo called by his Father's Name Oded. Or Oded may be here put patronymically for the ſon of Oded; as David is put for Chriſt the ſon of David, Jer. 30. 9. and elſewhere; and Moſes for the Sons of Moſes, Pſal. 90. Title. Or here is an Elliptſis of the Relative Word, of which there are many inſtances both in ſacred and profane Authors; as 2 Sam. 23. 19. the Brother of Goliah: Matt. 4. 21. John the ſon of Zebedee: Luke 24. 10. Mary the Mother of James, by comparing Mark 15. 40. Joh. 19. 25. Mary the Wife of Cleophas, and many other places. And ſo this place may be thus read, When Aſa heard theſe words, even the Prophecy of the Son of Oded the Prophet. And this Elliptſis is the more eaſy and tolerable, becauſe this deſect might be well enough underſtood and ſupplied out of v. 1. Though ſome underſtand this to be another Prophecy of Oded the Father, which is not here expreſſed, which Azariah his Son repeated to them for the confirmation of his own Prophecy. n For it required great Courage to put away all the Idols, to which ſo great a number of his People were to this day addicted, and among others, Maachah the Queen, his mother, whom for this reaſon he depoſed. 1 Kings 15. 13. o To wit, Abijah his Father; which was eaſily underſtood from ch. 13. 19. Or, which had been taken, the active word being oft to uſed imperſonally for the paſſive, as Hebricians know. p Which had been either decayed through Age and long Uſe of it, or broken by his Idolatrous Mother's means: Or, he conſecrated, or dedicated the altar, &c. Which poſſibly had been polluted by Idolaters, and now needed ſome purification.

9 And he gathered all Judah and Benjamin, and * the ſtrangers with them, out of Ephraim and Manaſſeh, and out of Simeon q, (for they fell to him out of Iſrael in abundance, when they ſaw that the LORD his God was with him.)

* Ch. 11. 16.

q Which Tribe, though they had their Inheritance out of the Portion of Judah, did for the generality of them Revolt to Jeroboam with the other Tribes, as appears from many paſſages of Scripture. Which they might conveniently do, becauſe their Portion bordered as on one ſide upon that of Judah, ſo on the other ſide upon that of Dan; and therefore might indifferently join with the one or other, as they ſaw fit. r To wit, from the King of Iſrael.

10 So they gathered themſelves together at Jeruſalem, in the third month s, in the fifteenth year of the reign of Aſa t.

s To wit, of the ſacred Year in which the Feaſt of Weeks or of Pentecoſt fell: of which ſee Exod. 23. 16. Deut. 16. 9. t Aſa had Peace but Ten years, ch. 14. 1. After which probably there were ſome Bickerings and Skirmiſhes, which ſeem to have been compoſed: and after that Zerah comes againſt him and is diſcomfited. 16 And alſo concerning * Maachah † the mother of Aſa the king, he removed her from being queen, becauſe ſhe had made an † idol in a grove: and Aſa cut down her idol, and ſtamped it, and burnt it at the brook Kidron.

† Of this and the following verſes, ſee on 1 King. 15. 2, 13, 14, 15.

17 But the high places were not taken away out of Iſrael: nevertheleſs, the heart of Aſa was perfect all his days.

18 And he brought into the houſe of God the things that his father had dedicated, and that he himſelf had dedicated, ſilver, and gold, and veſſels.

19 And there was no more war unto the five and thirtieth year of the reign of Aſa a.

* For though there were continual Skirmiſhes between Aſa and Baaſha and their People all their days, 1 King. 15. 16. yet it did not break forth into an open War till Aſa's 35th year, i. e. till that was ended. But how this 35th year is to be computed, ſee the Note on ch. 16. 1.

CHAP. XVI.

Aſa maketh a League with the Syrians againſt the king of Iſrael, 1——6. For which the Prophet reproving him, he putteth him into priſon, 7——10. He is ſick, and ſeeketh to the Phyſicians, and not to God: his death and burial, 11——14.

IN the ſix and thirtieth year of the reign of Aſa a * Baaſha king of Iſrael came up againſt Judah, and built Ramah, to the intent that he might let none go out or come into Aſa king of Judah b.

1 Kings 15. 17.

a Or, of the Kingdom of Aſa, i. e. of the Kingdom of Judah, which was now Aſa's Kingdom; or from the time of the diviſion of the two Kingdoms. Rehoboam reigned 17 years, ch. 12. 13. Abijah 3 years, ch. 13. 2. Aſa had now reigned 15 years, ch. 15. 10. All which put together, make up the 35 years mentioned ch. 15. 19. And in the next year Baaſha was againſt him; and the ground of War was the deſection of many of his Subjects to Aſa, ch. 15. 9. whom Aſa endeavours to engage together with his own Subjects, by an Oath and a Covenant, to be true and faithful to God, and conſequently to himſelf; which was done in his 15th year, ch. 15. 9, 10. and therefore in his 16th year, called here the 35th year of his Kingdom, he commenceth an open War againſt him. If it be objected, That the Reign, or Kingdom of Aſa is otherwiſe underſtood of the time of Aſa's perſonal Reign (as I may call it) ch. 15. 10. The anſwer is obvious, That there are many inſtances in Scripture (ſome of which have been formerly given, and others will be given in their proper places) where the ſame Word or Phraſe is taken differently, and that in the very ſame Chapter and Hiſtory. And particularly this variety is elſewhere uſed both by Sacred and Prophane Writers, in the Computation of the years of Princes, which are ſometimes reckoned from the beginning of their Reign, and ſometimes from other remarkable Times and Occurrences. Thus Nebuchadnezzar's years are ſometimes computed from the beginning of his Reign, as 2 Kings 25. 8. Jer. 52. 12, 29, 30. and ſometimes from his compleat Conqueſt of Syria and Egypt, &c. as that Paſſage, Dan. 2. 1. In the ſecond year of Nebuchadnezzar, is by the general ſtream of Interpreters underſtood. Thus Abaziah's years, which doubtleſs were uſually computed from the time of his Birth, are computed from another Head, ch. 22. 2. where ſee the Notes. And the like differences are obſerved in computing the years of ſome of the Syrian Monarchs and Roman Emperors: and particularly of Auguſtus, the years of whoſe Reign are variouſly accounted by the Roman Hiſtorians; ſometimes from his firſt Conſulſhip, ſometimes from the time of the Triumvirate, and ſometimes from that Famous Victory at Actium, where he utterly overthrew his Competitor, and made himſelf ſole and unqueſtionable Emperor. And therefore it is not ſtrange if it be ſo here. And that it muſt neceſſarily be thus underſtood, appears from hence, that it cannot be the 36th year of the Reign of Aſa in his own perſon, becauſe Baaſha began to Reign in Aſa's 3d year, 1 King. 15. 28. and reigned only 24 years, and conſequently died in Aſa's 26th, or 27th year, as it is ſaid he did, 1 King. 15. 8. b That he might keep his Subjects from revolting to Aſa, as he perceived they began to do, ch. 15. 9. and keep Aſa's Subjects from coming into his Dominions to ſeduce his People from their Obedience to him.

2 Then Aſa brought out ſilver and gold c out of the treaſures of the houſe of the LORD, and of the kings houſe, and ſent to Benhadad king of Syria, that dwelt at † Damaſcus, ſaying,

c This verſe, and v. 3, 4, 5, 6. are explained, 1 King. 15. 18, &c.

3 There is a league between me and thee, as there was between my father and thy father: behold I have ſent thee ſilver and gold, go, break thy league with Baaſha king of Iſrael, that he may depart from me.

4 And Ben-hadad hearkened unto king Aſa, and ſent the captains of † his armies againſt the cities of Iſrael, and they ſmote Ijon, and Dan, and Abel-maim, and all the ſtore-cities of Naphtali.

† Heb. the captains of his armies.

5 And it came to paſs, when Baaſha heard it, that he left off building of Ramah, and let his work ceaſe.

6 Then Aſa the king took all Judah, and they carried away the ſtones of Ramah, and the timber thereof, wherewith Baaſha was a building, and he built therewith Geba, and Mizpah.

7 And at that time * Hanani the ſeer came to Aſa king of Judah, and ſaid unto him, Becauſe thou haſt relied on the king of Syria, and not relied on the LORD thy God, therefore is the hoſt of the king of Syria eſcaped out of thine hand d.

* 1 King. 16. 1. 2 Chron. 19. 2.

d And ſo reſerved to be a Scourge to thy Kingdom and Poſterity hereafter: Whereas if he had joyned with Baaſha againſt thee, thou ſhouldeſt have overthrown them both, and prevented all that Miſchief which that Monarch will do one day to thy Family.

8 Were not * the Ethiopians and the Lubims e, a huge hoſt, with very many chariots and horſemen? yet becauſe thou didſt relie on the LORD, he delivered them into thine hand.

* 2 Chron. 12. 3.

e Either the Libians in Africa; or another People, poſſibly deſcended from them, but now ſeated in ſome part of Arabia.

9 For * the eyes of the LORD run to and fro throughout the whole earth, ‖ to ſhew himſelf ſtrong in the behalf of them, whoſe heart is perfect f toward him; herein thou haſt done fooliſhly; therefore from henceforth * thou ſhalt have wars g.

f i. e. Upright and ſincere, as thine is not. Obj. The heart of Aſa is ſaid to be perfect all his days, ch. 15. 17. Anſw. He was perfect and ſincere in the things there ſpoken of, in the Eſtabliſhment of the outward Worſhip of God; but not in the inward Worſhip of God, truſting, and fearing, and loving him with all his heart, of which he here ſpeaks. Or thus; He was perfect or ſincere in the general Courſe of his Life, though in ſome particulars, whereof this is one, his heart did not perfectly cleave to God, as it ſhould have done. With Baaſha, ch. 15. 4.

10 Then Aſa was wroth with the ſeer, and put him in † a priſon houſe h, for he was in a rage with him, becauſe of this thing. And Aſa † oppreſſed ſome of the people the ſame time.

† Heb. priſon of ſtocks.

11 And behold, the acts of Aſa firſt and laſt, lo, they are written in the books of the kings of Judah and Iſrael.

12 And Aſa in the thirty and ninth year of his reign was diſeaſed in his feet until his diſeaſe was exceeding great: yet in his diſeaſe he ſought not to the LORD, but to the phyſicians i.

i He did not humble himſelf before God, nor earneſtly deſire his Help, but put all his Confidence in the Skill and Endeavours of his Phyſicians, of whom, it ſeems, he had great experience.

13 And Aſa ſlept with his fathers, and died in the one and fortieth year of his age.

14 And they buried him in his own ſepulchre, which he had † made for himſelf in the city of David, and laid him in the bed which was filled with ſweet odours, and divers kinds of ſpices prepared by the apothecaries art k: and they made a very great burning l for him.

CHAP. XVII.

Jehoſhaphat is made King, reſpecteth well and proſpereth, 1——5. He ſendeth Levites with the Princes, to teach Judah, 7——9. He is feared by the Nations round about, who bring him preſents, and tribute: his greatneſs, captains, and armies, 10——19.

AND † Jehoſhaphat his ſon reigned in his ſtead a, and ſtrengthened himſelf againſt Iſrael.

† 1 King. 15. 24.

a Againſt the King and People of Iſrael, who had moleſted the Kingdom of Judah with Wars all the days of Aſa, after that Sin of his mentioned, ch. 16. 2, &c.

2 And he placed forces in all the fenced cities of Judah, and ſet garriſons in the land of Judah, and in the cities of Ephraim, which Aſa his father had taken.

3 And the LORD was with Jehoſhaphat, becauſe he walked in the firſt ways of his † father David b, and ſought not unto Baalim

† Or, of his father, and of David.

b Which David walked in before he fell into thoſe horrible Sins of Murder and Adultery. Or, in the ways of David, and his firſt ways. For the beginning of Aſa's Reign was ſuch as might have been, though he declined at laſt. For it ſeems more probable that this Paſſage is a Reflection upon Aſa, whoſe laſt ways were much his worſt, and of wroſe Repentance we have no Evidence, than upon David, who, though he fell dreadfully in the matter of Uriah, yet did manifeſtly repent of it, and return to his firſt and holy courſe of Life, in which alſo he continued until death, having this Character given him by the Holy Ghoſt, and all the while That he did right in all things, ſaving that of Uriah. 1 King. 15. 5.

4 But ſought to the LORD God of his father, and walked in his commandments, and not after the doings of Iſrael c:

c i. e. Their Worſhip of the Calves, or other Idols.

5 Therefore the LORD eſtabliſhed the kingdom in his hand, and all Judah † brought to Jehoſhaphat preſents d, and he had riches and honour in abundance.

d As Subjects in thoſe times and places uſed to do to their Kings, as a Token of their Reſpect and Subjection to them. See 1 Sam. 10. 27. 2 Sam. 8. 2. 1 King. 10. 25. 2 Chron. 32. 23.

6 And his heart ‖ was lift up e in the ways of the LORD: moreover, * he took away the high places and groves f out of Judah.

‖ That is, encouraged.

* 2 Chron. 19. 3.

e Above all diſcouragements, and difficulties, and fears, by which Men's Hearts uſe to be caſt down: He was Valiant and Reſolute for God and his Ways. f To wit, ſuch idolatrous Idols as were Worſhipped, as appears by comparing this with ch. 21. 11. And though Aſa had done this before, yet either he did not do it effectually, or the Jews (who were many of them mad upon their Idols) had ſecretly made new Ones, in the latter part of his Reign, which he grew more inſirm in Body, and more remiſs in God's Service.

7 Alſo in the third year of his reign, he ‖ ſent to his princes, even to Ben-hail, and to Obadiah, and to Zechariah, and to Nethaneel, and to Michajah, to teach g in the cities of Judah.

Or, ſent Ben-hail.

g To inform the People of their Duty, and of the King's pleasure. As Judges or Justices of Peace teach or instruct the People in the Laws of the Land, when they deliver their Charges upon the Bench; so did these Princes in the King's Name, admonish and require the People to observe and obey the Laws of God, which were the Municipal Laws of that Land: The particular Explication and Inforcement whereof, they left to the Levites and Priests here following, who were sent for this end, and accordingly taught the people, v. 9.

8 And with them he sent Levites, even Shemajah, and Nethaniah, and Zebadiah, and Asahel, and Shemiramoth, and Jehonathan, and Adonijah, and Tobijah, and Tob-adonijah, Levites; and with them Elishama and Jehoram, priests.

9 And they taught in Judah, and had the book of the law of the LORD with them, and went about throughout all the cities of Judah, and taught the people.

10 And * the fear of the LORD † fell upon all the kingdoms of the lands that were round about Judah h, so that they made no war against Jehoshaphat.

* Gen. 35. 5. † Heb. was.

h Justly concluding from this singular Piety that God would eminently appear for him, and against all those who had ill Will to him, which was their Case. For even the Heathens could not but observe, that the Kings of Judah were either Prosperous or Unhappy, accordingly as they served God or forsook him.

11 Also some of the Philistins i brought Jehoshaphat presents, and tribute-silver; and the Arabians k brought him flocks, seven thousand and seven hundred rams, and seven thousand and seven hundred he-goats.

i Who had been Subjects to this Kingdom ever since David's Time, but, it seems, had neglected this Duty in the Times of his Predecessors, but now were moved by their own Fears to perform it. k Either because he had upon some just occasion waged War against them, and subdued them; though the Particulars of it be not described in Scripture: Or, because, they voluntarily put themselves under his Protection, in Recompence whereof they sent him those Presents: Or, only as a free Acknowledgment of their Respects to him.

12 And Jehoshaphat waxed great exceedingly; and he built in Judah ‖ castles and cities of store.

‖ Or, palaces.

13 And he had much business in the cities of Judah l: and the men of war, mighty men of valour were in Jerusalem.

l Partly to repair and fortifie them, and furnish them with all necessary Provisions: and partly to purge out all the Relicks and Seeds of Idolatry and Injustice, which were more secretly and subtilly managed in the Cities than in the Country, and which were first and most in the Cities, and thence spread their Infection into the Country about them. See Jer. 2. 28.

14 And these are the number of them according to the house of their fathers. Of Judah the captains of thousands. Adnah the chief, and with him mighty men of valour, three hundred thousand.

15 And † next to him m was Jehohanan the captain, and with him two hundred and fourscore thousand.

m Either 1. After his death, as his Successor in the same Command. And the like is supposed concerning Jehoiachad, v. 18. Or, rather 2. Next to him in Place and Authority; or, at least, in Power and the Numbers of his Host.

16 And next him, was Amasiah the son of Zichri, who willingly offered himself n unto the LORD, and with him two hundred thousand mighty men of valour.

n As Volunteers and Auxiliaries, to be ready upon Occasion, as the Service of God and the King should require. Possibly these or most of them were the Strangers which had come out of Israel into the Kingdom of Judah in Asa's days, and probably since that in his Time.

17 And of Benjamin, Eliada a mighty man of valour, and with him armed men with bow and shield, two hundred thousand.

18 And next him was Jehozabad, and with him an hundred and fourscore thousand, ready prepared for the war.

19 These waited on the king o, besides those whom the king put in the fenced cities throughout all Judah.

o These above-mentioned were the Trained Bands or Auxiliaries: whose chief Officers waited upon the King to receive his Commands, and to raise, and bring in all, or part of their Forces, to the Service of the King and Kingdom, as need required.

CHAP. XVIII.

Jehoshaphat joined in affinity with Ahab, is persuaded to go with him against Ramoth-gilead, 1——3. Ahab, seduced by false prophets, according to the word of Micajah, is slain there, 4——34.

NOw Jehoshaphat had riches and honour in abundance, and joined affinity with Ahab a.

a For Joram his eldest Son married Athaliah, Ahab's Daughter, ch. 21. 6. 2 King. 8. 18. This Chapter is for substance the same with 1 King. 22. where it is explained.

2 * And † after certain years he went down to Ahab to Samaria: and Ahab killed sheep and oxen for him in abundance, and for the people that he had with him, and persuaded † him to go up with him to Ramoth-gilead.

* 1 King. 22. 2. † Heb. at the end of years. † Heb. he.

3 And Ahab king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat king of Judah, Wilt thou go with me to Ramoth-gilead? And he answered him, I am as thou art, and my people as thy people, and we will be with thee in the war.

† Heb. Go up with me. Heb. as thou, as I.

4 And Jehoshaphat said unto the king of Israel, Inquire, I pray thee, at the word of the LORD to day.

5 Therefore the king of Israel gathered together of prophets, four hundred men, and said unto them, Shall we go to Ramoth-gilead to battel, or shall I forbear? And they said, Go up, for God will deliver it into the kings hand.

6 But Jehoshaphat said, Is there not here a prophet of the LORD † besides, that we might enquire of him?

† Heb. yet.

7 And the king of Israel said unto Jehoshaphat, There is yet one man, by whom we may enquire of the LORD: but I hate him, for he never prophesieth good unto me, but always evil: the same is Micajah the son of Jimla, and Jehoshaphat said, Let not the king say so.

8 And the king of Israel called for one of his † officers, and said, † Fetch quickly Micajah the son of Jimla.

Or, a chamberlain. † Heb. Hasten.

9 And the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat king of Judah, sat either of them on his throne, clothed in their robes, and they sat in a ‖ void place, at the entring in of the gate of Samaria, and all the prophets prophesied before them.

Or, floor.

10 And Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah had made him horns of iron, and said, Thus saith the LORD, With these thou shalt push Syria, until † they be consumed.

† Heb. even unto the consuming.

11 And all the prophets prophesied so, saying, Go up to Ramoth-gilead, and prosper: for the LORD shall deliver it into the hand of the king.

12 And the messenger that went to call Micajah, spake to him, saying, Behold the words of the prophets declare good to the king ‖ with one assent: let thy word therefore, I pray thee, be like one of theirs, and speak thou good.

Heb. are one mouth.

13 And Micajah said, As the LORD liveth, even what my God saith that will I speak.

14 And when he was come to the king, the king said unto him, Micajah, shall we go to Ramoth gilead to battel, or shall I forbear? And he said, Go ye up and prosper, and they shall be delivered into your hand.

15 And the king said to him, How many times shall I adjure thee, that thou say nothing but the truth to me, in the Name of the LORD?

16 Then he said, I did see all Israel scattered upon the mountains, as sheep that have no shepherd: and the LORD said, These have no master, let them return therefore, every man to his house in peace.

17 (And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, Did I not tell thee, that he would not prophecy good unto me, ‖ but evil?)

Or, to

18 Again he said, Therefore hear the word of the LORD: I saw the LORD sitting upon his throne, and all the host of heaven standing on his right hand, and on his left.

19 And the LORD said, Who shall entice Ahab king of Israel that he may go up and fall at Ramoth-gilead? and one spake, saying after this manner, and another saying after that manner.

20 Then there came out a * spirit, and stood before the LORD, and said, I will entice him. And the LORD said unto him, Wherewith?

* Job 4. 15.

21 And he said, I will go out and be a lying spirit in the mouth of all his prophets. And the LORD said, thou shalt entice him, and thou shalt also prevail: go out, and do even so.

22 Now therefore behold, the LORD hath put a lying spirit in the mouth of these thy prophets, and the LORD hath spoken evil against thee.

23 Then

23 Then Zedekiah the son of Chenaanah, came near, and smote Micajah upon the cheek, and said, Which way went the spirit of the LORD from me, to speak unto thee?

24 And Micajah said, Behold, thou shalt see on that day, when thou shalt go ‖ into † an inner chamber to hide thy self.

Or, from the chamber to chamber. † Heb. a chamber in a chamber.

25 Then the king of Israel said, Take ye Micajah, and carry him back to Amon the governour of the city, and to Joash the kings son:

26 And say, Thus saith the king, Put this fellow in the prison, and feed him with bread of affliction, and with water of affliction, until I return in peace.

27 And Micajah said, If thou certainly return in peace, then hath not the LORD spoken by me. And he said, Hearken, all ye people.

28 So the king of Israel, and Jehoshaphat the king of Judah went up to Ramoth-gilead.

29 And the king of Israel said to Jehoshaphat, I will disguise my self, and will go to the battel, but put thou on thy robes. So the king of Israel disguised himself, and they went to the battel.

30 Now the king of Syria had commanded the captains of the chariots that were with him, saying, Fight ye not with small or great, save only with the king of Israel.

31 And it came to pass, when the captains of the chariots saw Jehoshaphat, that they said, It is the king of Israel: therefore they compassed about him to fight: but Jehoshaphat cried out, and the LORD helped him, and God † moved them to depart from him.

† Heb. incited, stirred up, provoked.

32 For it came to pass, that when the captains of the chariots perceived, that it was not the king of Israel, they turned back again † from pursuing him.

† Heb. from after him.

33 And a certain man drew a bow † at a venture, and smote the king of Israel † between the joynts of the harnesh: therefore he said to his chariot-man, Turn thine hand, that thou mayest carry me out of the host, for I am † wounded.

† Heb. Filling his fulness. † Heb. between the breasts, and between the habergeon. † Heb. made sick.

34 And the battel increased that day: howbeit, the king of Israel staid himself up in his chariot against the Syrians until the even. And about the time of the sun going down, he died.

* Deut. 17. 8. † Heb. and they returned.

p Who were not Priests and Levites, but such persons of other tribes as were most Eminent for their Dignity, Ability and Integrity. But whether these Persons made up one Court, called the Sanhedrim, by which all Causes Ecclesiastical and Civil were decided; or there were two distinct Courts, the one Ecclesiastical, consisting of the Priests and Levites; the other Civil, consisting of the Chief of the Fathers of Israel, belongs to another place to determine, and requires more words than the nature of this Work can permit. q i. e. For Sacred Matters concerning the Laws and Worship, and Service of God. r For Matters of Difference between Man and Man. s i. e. When Jehoshaphat and his Company were returned to Jerusalem, then he made this Order concerning establishing Judges there. But fo this last Clause may seem superfluous and tautological, being more than implyed in the beginning of the Verse. Or rather, when they, i. e. the Causes and Controversies last mentioned, shall return, or he returned to Jerusalem; i. e. When the Causes shall be so difficult that the Judges ordained in every City cannot determine them; or, when you Brethren that dwell in every City shall come to you, as it is expected v. 10. appealing from their City-Courts to the great Court or Council at Jerusalem. Of which see on Exod. 18. 26. Deut. 1. 17. & 17. 8. As for the Phrase, not only Persons but Things are said to return, or be returned, as Blood, 1 Kings, 2. 33. and Clouds, Eccles. 12. 2. and Reproach, Hos. 12. 14. If it be further objected, That these Causes were never brought to Jerusalem before, and therefore cannot be properly said to be returned thither; That may be answered both from the usage of our Law, wherein such Causes are said to be returned to Westminster, which never were there before; and from the use of Scripture, wherein Sinners are commonly said to return to the Lord, though they had never been with the Lord in that Sense before, but where estranged from God even from the Womb till the time of their Conversion. And the Dust, i. e. Man's Body, is said to return to the Earth, Eccles. 12. 7. though it was never there before.

9 And he charged them, saying, Thus shall ye do in the fear of the LORD, faithfully and with a perfect heart t.

t Passing such Sentences with your Mouths, as your own Mind and Consciences, upon the hearing of the Parties, shall judge to be just, and not acting against your own Consciences for Carnal Motives, as Corrupt Judges do.

10 And what cause soever shall come to you of your brethren that dwell in their cities, between blood and blood u, between law and commandment, statutes and judgments x, ye shall even warn them that they trespass not against the LORD y, and so wrath come upon you, and upon your brethren: this do, and ye shall not trespass z.

u Of which see the Notes on Deut. 17. 8. x When any Debates or Differences shall arise about the meaning of any of God's Laws, one Party possibly putting this, and the other a quite differing Sense upon the same place, or one alledging one place, and the other another place, which may seem to clash with it. y Ye shall not only give a Righteous Sentence for what is just, but ye shall admonish the Offender, and others, to take better heed to themselves, and their ways for the future. z So you shall not bring Guilt and Wrath upon your selves and others, which otherwise you will certainly do.

11 And behold, Amariah the chief priest is over you a in all matters of the LORD b; and Zebadiah the son of Ishmael, the ruler of the house of Judah c, for all the kings matters d: also the Levites shall be officers before you e. † Deal couragiously, and the LORD shall be with the good f.

† Heb. take courage and do.

a Shall be your President to direct and affist you. b In Spiritual, or Ecclesiastical Matters. c Either 1. the Prince, or chief Ruler, under the King, of the Tribe of Judah, which is called the House of Judah, 2 Sam. 2. 4, 7, 10. 1 Kings 12. 21, 23. 1 Chron. 28. 4. Jer. 13. 11. Ezek. 4. 3. Or, 2. The Ruler of the King's House, which also seems to be called the House of Judah, 2 Chron. 22. 10. and more fully, the Kings house of Judah, Jer. 22. 6. And who so fit to manage the Kings Matters as the Ruler of the King's House? d For Civil Causes or Controversies which might a rise either between the King and his People; or between Subject and Subject, which may be called the Kings Matters, because it was a principal part of his Office to see them justly decided. e They shall be at your command to see your just Sentences executed; which work was fitly committed to the Levites, as persons who might add their Instructions to the Corrections, and might work the Guilty to an acknowledgment of their Fault, and a submission to their Punishment. And so this is an Argument to encourage the Judges to proceed courageously and vigorously in their Work, because they had the Levites to stand by them and assist them. f 1 c. Shall protect and bless good Judges in their doing of Good and Just Things.

CHAP. XX.

Several Armies come against Judah: Jehoshaphat in his fear proclaimeth a fast, 1—4. His Prayer, 5—13. Jehaziel's Prophesy, 14—17. The Enemies are overthrown, 20—25. The People return in Triumph, blessing God, 26—30. His Reign: his Navy miscarrieth, 31—37.

IT came to pass after this also, that the children of Moab, and the children of Ammon, and with them † other beside the Ammonites a, came against Jehoshaphat to battel.

† Or, of the Ammons. Compare ch. 26. 7, 8.

a To wit, the people that dwelt in Mount Seir, who were now Confederate with them, as appears from v. 10, 22, 23. Or, This is the Name of a Peculiar People called either Mehumim, of whom you read 2 Chron. 26. 7. (and so there is only a Transposition of two Letters in the Hebrew word, which is not unusual in that Language) or Menunim, as the LXX Interpreters render this Word; or Summonim, or Mehummonim, as it is in the Hebrew (the two first Letters being not Prefixes, as they are commonly made, but part of the Word or proper Name of that People) who, as it may seem, now dwelt in Mount Seir, being either of the Old Stock of the Edomites, or another Nation fince come in their stead or mixed with them. Others render the place thus, for (as the Hebrew min often is taken) with them (i.e. with the Moabites) were the Ammonites or children of Ammon. Which may be distinctly noted, either to shew the largeness of the Confederacy, in which not only the Moabites were engaged, who dwelt nearer Jehoshaphat's Kingdom, but the Ammonites also who lived at a greater distance from him: Or to intimate that the Ammonites being possibly instigated by the Syrians their next Neighbours, were the first Beginners and chief Promoters of the War, and Engaged both the Moabites and the Inhabitants of Mount Seir in their Quarrel.

2 Then there came some that told Jehoshaphat, saying, There cometh a great multitude against thee from beyond the sea b on this side Syria c, and behold, they be in Hazazon-tamar, which is Engedi.

b To wit, the Dead Sea, beyond which Mount Seir lay. c Or, and from Syria, largely so called, and so it includes the Moabites and Ammonites. And it may be thus expressed, to intimate that they came by the Instigation of the Syrians, who thought by this means to revenge themselves of Jehoshaphat for joyning with Ahab against them.

† Heb. He fear. 3 And Jehoshaphat feared d, and set † himself to seek the LORD e, and proclaimed a fast f throughout all Judah.

d Partly from Humane frailty, and partly from the Remembrance of his own Guilt and the Wrath of God denounced against him for it, ch. 19. 2. e The Phrase notes his settled Resolution, Seriousness, and Earnestness in it, and the preparing and fixing his Heart for it. f Partly in token of his Humiliation and Penitence for his Sins, and partly to make himself and his people more Fervant in their Prayers.

4 And Judah gathered themselves together, to ask help of the LORD: even out of all the cities of Judah they came to seek the LORD.

5 And Jehoshaphat stood in the congregation of Judah and Jerusalem, in the house of the LORD g before the new court h, g Largely so called, i. e. in one of the Courts of the Temple, even in the Court of the People, and upon that Brazen Scaffold which Solomon had Erected for such a purpose, 2 Chron. 6. 13. h i.e. Besides and before the Priests Court: for there were but two Courts belonging to the Temple, as is noted 2 Kings 21. 5. & 23. 12. And Jehoshaphat stood in the one, which must be that of the People; and before the other, which therefore can be no other than that of the Priests, which is called the New Court, because it had been lately renewed when the Altar was renewed, ch. 15. 8. as the Command of Love is called a new Command, Joh. 13. 34. 1 Joh. 2. 8. becauseit was fo folemnly renewed, and revived, and reinforced by Christ.

6 And said, O LORD God of our fathers, art not thou God in heaven? and rulest not thou over all the kingdoms of the heathen? and in thine hand is there not power and might, so that none is able to withstand thee.

Deut. 4. 39. 7 Art not thou our God, † who didst drive out the inhabitants of this land before thy people Israel, * Jam. 2. 23 and gavest it to the seed of Abraham * thy friend for ever?

† i. e. To whom thou hast engaged thy self by Covenant to be his Friend, and the friend of his Seed for ever, and therefore we trust thou wilt not forsake us his Posterity.

8 And they dwelt therein, and have built thee a sanctuary therein for thy name, saying,

9 * If when evil cometh upon us, as ‖ the sword, * 1 Kings judgment k, or pestilence, or famine, we stand be- 8. 33, fore this house, and in thy presence, (for thy name 35, 37. is in this house) and cry unto thee in our affliction, then thou wilt hear and help. ‖ Or, sword of judgment

k Or rather, the sword of judgment or of Vengeance, i. e. War, whereby thou judgest and punishest thy People for their Sins. Compare Levit. 26. 25.

10 And now behold, the children of Ammon, and Moab, and mount Seir, whom thou * wouldest * Deut. not let Israel invade, when they came out of the land 2. 4, 5, of Egypt, but * they turned from them, and destroy- 22. 24. ed them not:

11 Behold, I say, how they reward us, to come to cast us out of thy possession, which thou hast given us to inherit.

12 O our God, wilt thou not judge them? for we have no might against this great company that cometh against us l: neither know we what to do, but our eyes are upon thee m.

l Thus he speaks, partly though he had great Armies to be drawn together in due time upon great Occasions, ch. 17. 14, &c. Yet he seems to have been surprized by these Men before his Forces were in readiness to oppose them: and partly because he well knew and piously and wisely considered that no Humane Forces, though numerous and valiant, were able to defend him without Gods Assistance, which he feared by his Sins he had forfeited, and then he had really been as weak as Water. m Looking to thee only for Relief and Succour.

13 And all Judah stood before the LORD with their little ones n, their wives and their children.

n Whom they used to present before the Lord in times of great Distress, partly to stir up themselves to more fervent and faithful Prayers, that their Eye being upon their harmless and tender Children, might affect their Heart with a greater Sense of their Misery: and partly to move God to Compassion, not as if he were capable of Passions or Changes upon such a Sight, but because God hath declared himself that he will be prevailed with by such Methods as these.

14 Then upon Jahaziel the son of Zechariah, the son of Benajah, the son of Jeiel, the son of Mattaniah, a Levite of the sons of Asaph, came the spirit of the LORD in the midst of the congregation o.

o He was suddenly inspired by God with the following Message.

15 And he said, Hearken ye, all Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem, and thou king Jehoshaphat, Thus saith the LORD unto you, * Be not afraid nor dismaid by reason of this great multitude; for the battel is not yours, but Gods p. * Exod. 14. 13, 14.

p God will fight for you, and he alone will do the Work, you need not strike a Stroke.

16 To morrow go ye down q against them: behold, they come up by the † cliff of Ziz, and ye † Heb. shall find them at the end of the ‖ brook, before the ascent. wilderness of Jeruel. ‖ Or, valley

q From Jerusalem, where he and his Army now were; which stood upon high ground.

17 Ye shall not need to fight in this battel; set your selves, stand ye still, and see the salvation of the LORD with you, O Judah and Jerusalem: fear not, nor be dismaid; to morrow go out against them, for the LORD will be with you.

18 And Jehoshaphat bowed his head, with his face to the ground r: and all Judah, and the inhabitants of Jerusalem fell before the LORD, worshipping the LORD.

r In token of his Reverence to God and his Message, his belief of the Promise, and his Thankfulness for so great a Favour.

19 And the Levites, of the children of the Kohathites, and of the children of the Korhites, stood up s to praise the LORD God of Israel with a loud voice on high t.

s By Jehoshaphat's Appointment. t i.e. With most loud voice, with Heart and Voice lifted up: whereby they shewed their full assurance of the Victory, as if it were already accomplished.

20 And they rose early in the morning, and went forth into the wilderness of Tekoa: and as they went forth Jehoshaphat stood and said, Hear me, O Judah, and ye inhabitants of Jerusalem, * Believe in the LORD your God, so shall ye be established; believe † his prophets t. so shall ye prosper u. * Heb. † Heb.

t i. e. Gods Promise delivered to us by this Prophet, and consequently all other Predictions of the Prophets that either have been past or shall be. u Take heed, lest by your Unbelief you frustrate God's Promise.

21 And when he had consulted with the people x, † he appointed singers unto the LORD y, and † that they should praise the beauty of holiness z, as they went out out before the army, and to say, * Praise the LORD, * 1 Chron. for his mercy endureth for ever. 16. 41.

x i. e. With the Elders or chief of the People; partly to take their Advice about the Expediency of the Thing; and partly that they might excite and prepare themselves and the People under them to this great Work of Praising God. y To the Honour and Service of God. z Or, the Glory, or Magnificence or Majesty of Holiness, i.e. (by a vulgar Hebraism) the Holy Majesty; a Periphrasis of God. Or, according to the beauty or magnificence of the sanctuary, i. e. in the same comely Order and Magnificent Manner, as they used to do it in the Temple; where the following Song was usually sung, as 2 Chron. 5. 13. & 7. 3, 6.

† Heb. and when they began. Heb. in singing and in praising. Heb. to praise the beauty of holiness. Heb. while they went out. Heb. from the going out. Heb. from the hand of. Heb. destroyed. Heb. to make an end. Heb. to finish.

22 † And when they began † to sing and to praise a, the LORD set ambushments b against the children of Ammon, Moab and mount Seir, which were come against Judah, and ‖ they were smitten.

a So acceptable are the Fervent Prayers of Gods People to God, and so terrible to their Enemies. b Or, lyers in wait, either 1. the Holy Angels, who appeared in the shape of Men, and possibly put on the Appearances and Visages of Moabites or Ammonites, and in that shape flew the rest, who supposing this Slaughter to be done by a part of their own Army, fell upon them, and so broke forth into Mutual Slaughters. Or, 2. God raised Jealousies and Antipathies amongst themselves, which by degrees broke forth, first into secret Ambushments, which one party laid for another, and then into open Hostilities and Outrages to their utter Destruction. So Vain are all Mens Attempts against God, who needs none to destroy his Enemies but themselves, and their own Mistakes and Passions, which he can, when he pleaseth, arm against them.

23 For the children of Ammon and Moab, stood up against the inhabitants of mount Seir, utterly to slay and destroy them: and when they had made an end of the inhabitants of Seir, every one helped † to destroy another.

24 And when Judah came toward the watch-tower c in the wilderness, they looked unto the multitude, and behold, they were dead bodies fallen upon the earth, and † none escaped.

c Which stood upon the Cliff of Ziz mentioned above v. 6. or some other Hill which looked toward the Wilderness, where their Enemies lay encamped, whose Numbers, and Order, and Condition they could descry from thence.

25 And when Jehoshaphat and his people came to take away the spoil of them, they found among them in abundance both riches with the dead bodies, and precious jewels d (which they ſtript off for themselves) more than they could carry away: and they were three days in gathering of the spoil, it was so much.

d Which they brought with them partly to corrupt any of Jehoshaphat's Officers as they saw Occasion: partly to procure necessaries for their vast Army from time to time: and partly because they came as to a Triumph rather than to a Fight, being secure and confident of the Victory because of their great Numbers, and especially because they thought to surprize Jehoshaphat or he could make any considerable preparations against them; God also permitting them to be puffed up to their own Destruction.

That is, Blessing. Heb. valley of Berachah. Heb. blessed.

26 And on the fourth day they assembled themselves in the valley of ‖ Berachah e; for there they blessed the LORD: therefore the name of the same place was called the valley of Berachah unto this day.

e Heb. of Blessing; so called from their solemn Blessings and Praises given to God in it upon this Occasion.

27 Then they returned every man of Judah and Jerusalem, and Jehoshaphat in the * forefront of them, to go again to Jerusalem with joy: for the LORD had made them to rejoyce over their enemies.

28 And they came to Jerusalem with psalteries, and harps, and trumpets, unto the house of the LORD f.

f To renew their Praises in the Court of the Temple, the proper and usual place for it.

Ch. 17. 10. 29 And * the fear of God was on all the kingdoms of those countries g, when they had heard that the LORD fought against the enemies of Israel.

g Which were near, or which heard their things.

30 So the realm of Jehoshaphat was quiet: for his God gave him rest round about.

1 Kings 22. 41, &c. 31 * And Jehoshaphat reigned over Judah: he was thirty and five years old when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and five years in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Azubah the daughter of Shilhi.

32 And he walked in the ways of Asa his father, and departed not from it, doing that which was right in the sight of the LORD.

33 Howbeit, the high places were not taken away h; for as yet the people had not prepared their heart unto the God of their fathers i.

h Not fully nor universally; of which see on ch. 17. 6. i The Fault was not in Jehoshaphat, but in the People, who, though they did Worship the True God, yet would not be confined to the Temple, but for their own Conveniency, or from their Affection to their Ancient Custom chose to Worship him in the High Places: which Jehoshaphat was forced to connive at, left those People being debarred from that dearly-beloved Practice, should fall into a Neglect of God and his Worship.

34 Now the rest of the acts of Jehoshaphat, first and last, behold, they are written in the † book of Jehu the son of Hanani, * who † is mentioned in the book of the kings of Israel. † Heb. words. * 1 Kings 16. 1.

35 And after this k did Jehoshaphat king of Judah joyn himself with Ahaziah king of Israel, who did very wickedly l: † Heb. was conjoyned.

k This is mentioned as an Aggravation of his Sin, after so great a Favour and Obligation laid upon him by God; and after he had been so sharply reproved and threatned by a Prophet for the same thing, ch. 19. 2. yet he relapsed into the same Sin, which proceeded partly from that near Relation which was contracted between the two Families, and partly from the Facetious and Cafinal of Jehoshaphat's Temper, which could not relish the Solicitations of others, in such things as might seem indifferent. For he did not joyn with him in a War, as he did with Ahab, but in a peaceable way only, in a Matter of Trade and Commerce. And yet God sharply reproves and punisheth him for it, v. 37. to shew his great dislike and detestation of all friendly and familiar Conversation of his Servants and People with Idolaters and professed Enemies of God and of Religion, as Ahaziah was, who is therefore thus stigmatized in the next words, who did very wickedly. l Or who did industriously, and multitudes, and constantly work wickedness, as the Hebrew Phrase implies, giving himself up to Idolatry and all Wickedness.

36 And he joyned himself with him to make ships to go to Tarshish m: and they made the ships in Ezion-geber n.

m Of which see on 1 Kings 10. 22. & 22. 48. n Of which see on 1 Kings 9. 26.

37 Then Eliezer the son of Dodavah of Mareshah, prophecied against Jehoshaphat, saying, Because thou hast joyned thy self with Ahaziah, the LORD hath broken thy works. And the ships were broken that they were not able to go to Tarshish.

CHAP. XXI.

Jehoram is made King and slayeth his Brethren, 1—4. His wicked Reign, 5—7. Edom and Libnah revolt, 8—13. The Prophecy of Elijah against him in writing, 12—15. Phillistins and Arabians oppress him: his incurable disease, death and burial, 15—20.

NOw * Jehoshaphat slept with his fathers, and was buried with his fathers in the city of David: and Jehoram his son reigned in his stead. * 1 Kings 22. 50.

2 And he had brethren the sons of Jehoshaphat, Azariah a, and Jehiel, and Zechariah, and Azariah a, and Michael, and Shephatiah: all these were the sons of Jehoshaphat king of Israel b.

a Two sons called by the same Name, though doubtless distinguished by some additional Title, which is not mentioned here, because it did not concern succeeding Ages to know it. Though indeed there is a Difference in their proper Names, the one being Azariah, the other Azariahu, hu being the last Syllable in his Name, as in Elihu, and others. b So he is called either, 1. Because he was so by Right: Or 2. Because he was King not only of Judah and Benjamin, but of a great number of Israelites, who had come into and fortled themselves in his Kingdom, in his and in his Predecessors days; who being a considerable, and the truest and best part of Israel, may well be called Israel, being more truly and properly Gods Israel than their Apostate Brethren, who were no longer worthy of that Name. Or, 3. Because all his Subjects were Israelites; and therefore he was King of Israel, though not of all Israel. Or, 4. With some reflection upon his Memory, for making so strict an Alliance and friendship with the King of Israel, whose Cause he defended with his own and his Kingdoms great Hazard, as if he had been the King not so much of Judah, as of Israel. And this may be the rather noted here, because here specifily follows a sad Effect of that wicked and cursed Match. Some say Israel was forced into some Copies by the Transcriber instead of Judah, as it was first written.

3 And their father gave them great gifts of silver and of gold, and of precious things, with fenced cities in Judah: but the kingdom gave he to Jehoram, because he was the first-born c.

c Whom he conceived that he ought to prefer by vertue of that Law of God, Deut. 21. 15. though otherwise he would not have done it, having probably ere this time perceived his perverse and wicked Inclinations, and how much he was feared by his Idolatrous Wife. Now he saw his Errour when it was too late.

4 Now * when Jehoram was risen up to the king- * 2 Kings dom of his father, he strengthened himself d, and slew 15, 17. all his brethren with the sword e, and divers also of the princes of Israel f.

d He took Courage and hardned his heart, as that word sometimes signifies. e Partly because they were dear to him, or he knew that they would, oppose him in his wicked Designs: and partly for his own Security, left his People, who, as he believed, would be highly exasperated with the Execution of his Counsels, should advance any of them to the Throne, and depose him. f Either 1. of Ju-

…ah, here called Israel, of which see the Notes on v.2. Or, 2. The Princes or Chief Men of Israel, properly so called; not the Princes of all Israel are of the several Tribes thereof, but the Chief of those Families, who out of Love to God and to the True Religion, had forsaken their Estates and worldly Advantages in the Kingdom of Israel, and were now incorporated with the Kingdom of Judah, especially struck at, either 1. Because his Wife instigated him to cruelty, both to punish them for their Revolt from her Father, and to deter others from following their Example: Or, 2. Because he justly and truly thought these would be most firm and constant to, and zealous for that Religion which he was resolved to oppose, being both by their Conscience and Interest obliged to it.

5 Jehoram was thirty and two years old g when he began to reign, and he reigned eight years in Jerusalem.

g Of this, and v.6,7,8,9,10. see the Notes on 2 Kings 8.17, &c.

6 And he walked in the way of the kings of Israel, like as did the house of Ahab: for he had the daughter of * Ahab to wife: and he wrought that which was evil in the eyes of the LORD.

* Ch. 22.2.

7 Howbeit, the LORD would not destroy the house of David, because of the covenant that he had made with David h, and as he promised to give a † light to him, and to his * sons for ever.

† Heb. lamp. * Heb. sons.

h For which in 2 Kings 8.19. it is for David his servants sake; i.e. Not for David's Merits, but for Gods free Promise and Covenant, as 2 Sam. 7. it is here explained.

8 In his days the Edomites revolted from under the † dominion of Judah, and made themselves a king.

† Heb. hand.

9 Then Jehoram * went forth with his princes, and all his chariots with him: and he rose up by night, and smote the Edomites which compassed him in, and the captains of the chariots.

* 2 Kings 8.21.

10 So the Edomites revolted from under the hand of Judah unto this day. The same time also did Libnah revolt from under his hand; because he had forsaken the LORD God of his fathers i.

i To wit, publickly and avowedly; letting him at Defiance, as the next verse shews. And this is mentioned, either 1. As the Reason why the Priests, whose City Libnah was, forsook him, because he had forsaken God: Or rather, 2. As the Reason why God raised up so many Enemies against him, both from abroad and at home.

11 Moreover, he made high places k in the mountains of Judah, and caused the inhabitants of Jerusalem to commit fornication l, and compelled Judah thereto.

k Not to the Lord, whose sworn Enemy he was, but to Baals or False Gods. l Not only by his Counsel and Example, but as it follows, by Force, by Threats, and Penalties.

12 And there came a writing to him from Elijah the prophet m, saying, Thus saith the LORD God of David thy father n, Because thou hast not walked in the ways of Jehoshaphat thy father o, nor in the ways of Asa king of Judah;

m Q. How could this be, when Elijah was wrapt up to Heaven in Jehoshaphats time, 2 Kings 2. & 3. 11. Ans. Either 1. This was Elisha, or some other Prophet called Elijah, because he acted in the Spirit and Power of Elijah, for which cause John the Baptist also is so called. Or rather, 2. This was really written by Elijah who by the Spirit did clearly foresee and foretel the Reign and Acts of Jehoram, (as others did of Josiah, 1 Kings 13. 2. and Josiah of Cyrus, ch. 45. 3. long before they were born) and in confirmation thereof left this Prophecy with Elisha, to be delivered in due time by him or some other person in his Name, and as from his Mouth. n While he Names his mentions either to upbraid him with his degeneration from so worthy a Parent: Or to take off his Presumption and Confidence, which was grounded upon his being the Son and Successor of David, in whose Posterity the Crown was settled for ever by Gods special Appointment, and by the Approbation of the People. o Whose wise Counsel and good Example this hast despised.

13 But hast walked in the way of the kings of Israel, and hast made Judah and the inhabitants of Jerusalem to go a whoring, like to the whoredoms of the house of Ahab, and also hast slain thy brethren of thy fathers house, which were better than thy self p:

p More Innocent, and Righteous, and Pious.

14 Behold, with † a great plague will the LORD smite thy people q, and thy children, and thy wives r, and all thy goods.

† Heb. a great stroke.

q Qu. Why the People for his Sin? Ans. 1. Because the Generality of them sinned in complying with his Wicked and Idolatrous Commands through Fear, v. 11. 2. Because he suffered in his Peoples Destruction: For as the Honour, and Safety, and Strength of a King lies in the Multitude and Prosperity of his People, Prov. 14. 28. so when they are diminished and destroyed, the King is weary much weakned and endangered by it. r Whose Lives shall go for the Lives of thy Brethren, v. 4.

15 And thou shalt have great sickness by disease of thy bowels, until thy bowels fall out, by reason of the sickness day by day s.

s i. e. From day to day continually. Or, year upon year; i. e. one year after another, or, for the space of two years, as the Event shews, v. 19. Heb. days upon days. Days are oft put for a year, as *Exod.*13.10. *Levit.*25.29. *Numb.*9.22. Judg. 17.10. 1 Sam. 1.3. & 27.7. Amos 4.4.

16 Moreover, the LORD stirred up against Jehoram the spirit of the Philistins t, and of the Arabians, that were near the Ethiopians u.

t A People fully subdued and dispirited: but God now raiseth their Spirits and Courage to do his Work. u Heb. near the Cushites, i.e. Either the Ethiopians, from whom they were parted only by the Red Sea, each dwelling upon the opposite Shores of it: Or, rather a People in Arabia, frequently mentioned in Scripture, and so called, either for their likeness in Colour and Complexion to the Ethiopians properly so called; or because the one of these People were a Colony of the other. But the Ethiopians above Egypt were far enough from these other Arabians, being separated from them by the Red Sea.

17 And they came up into Judah, and brake into it, and † carried away all the substance that was found † Heb. took away. in the kings house, and his sons also and his wives: so that there was never a son left him, save † Jehoahaz † Or, Ahaziah. v the youngest of his sons.

v Whom also they slew, ch. 22.1. except Ahaziah and Athaliah; Ch.22.1. who possibly were hidden in some secret and safe place. † Called also Jehoahaz, so Ahaziah, which signifies the very same thing with Jehoahaz, and Azariah, ch.22.6. whose signification is near akin to the other, all signifying Gods taking or helping of him.

18 And after all this the LORD smote him in his bowels with an incurable disease.

19 And it came to pass that in process of time, after the end of two years, his bowels fell out by reason of his sickness: so he died of sore diseases: and his people made no burning for him, like the * burning of his fathers. * Chron.

20 Thirty and two years old was he when he began to reign, and he reigned in Jerusalem eight years, and departed z † without being desired. ‖ howbeit they † Heb. without desire. buried him in the city of David, but not in the sepulchres ‖ Heb. with. of the kings.

z Heb. Went, to wit, the way of all the Earth, as it is more fully expressed, Jos. 23. 14. Or, to the land of darkness, as Job 10.21,22. Or, to his long home, Eccles. 12. 5. Or, went away, to wit, out of this World; as this Word is used, Job 14. 20. Eccles. 5. 15. & 6. 4. there being many such Words and Phrases used concerning death in the Old and New Testament, signifying that death is not an Annihilation, but only a Translation into another place and state. See Gen. 15. 15. Phil. 1. 23. ‖ Heb. without desire, which may belong either 1. To himself; he had no desire of living longer, nor any pleasure in Life, but was heartily weary of it, through his exceeding Pains: Or rather, 2. To his People, who did not desire that he should live long, i. e. but oft and heartily wished that he had died sooner: Which come upon of him they shewed both by making no burning for him, as they used to do for Good and Laudable Kings, ch. 16. 14. and by denying him burial among the Kings, as it here follows. Desire is here put for a person or thing whose life or continuance is desirable or desired by others, as Isa. 2. 16. Ezek. 24. 16, 18, 21, 25. Lam. 2. 23. & 1. 11, 16. And this is an emphatical Expression, because he refused with Men to desire the deaths of some persons, whom after-ward they lamented heartily with that they were alive again, as they did Josiah, v. 25. to do. But for this ungodly and unhappy Prince, his people did not only in his life time with his Death, but afterwards they did not repent of those desires, nor wish him alive again, but rejoyced that they were delivered from so great a Plague as he was to them.

CHAP. XXII.

Ahaziah is made King, reigneth wickedly, 1——3. In his confederacy with Joram the son of Ahab he is slain by Jehu, 4——7. Athaliah destroyeth all the Seed Royal, save Joash who was hid, and usurpeth the Kingdom, 10——12.

AND the inhabitants of Jerusalem made * Ahaziah * 2 Kings his youngest son, king in his stead: for the band of men that came with the Arabians a to the camp, had slain all the * eldest. So Ahaziah the son of Jeho- * Chron. ram king of Judah reigned.

a Either 1. a cruel Sort of Men who came along with the Arabians, and therefore flew those whom the Arabians had spared, and only carried into Captivity. Or 2. The Philistins, who did accompany the Arabians in this Expedition, ch. 21.16. who lived near the Kingdom of Judah, and therefore thought to make as sure work as they could in destroying all the Branches of the Royal Family, who otherwise, they expected, would recover strength, and revenge themselves upon them.

2 Forty and two years old was Ahaziah when he began to reign b, and he reigned one year in Jerusalem: his mothers name also was * Athaliah the daugh- * Chron. ter of Omri c.

b Oliveth. He was then only 22 years old, as is affirmed, 2 Kings 8. 26. Besides, Joram his Father, died in his fortieth year, as is twice noted, ch. 21. 5, 20. how then can this be true? Answ. 1. In the Hebrew it is, A fon of 42 years, &c. which is an ambiguous Phrase, and though it doth for the most part, yet it doth not always signifie the Age of the Person, as is manifest from 1 Sam. 13. 1. where see the Notes. And therefore it is not necessary that this should note his Age, (as it is generally presumed to do, and that is the only ground of the difficulty) but it may note either 1. The Age of his Mother Athaliah; who being so great, and infamous, and mischievous a Person to the Kingdom and Royal Family of Judah, it is not strange if her Age be here described, especially seeing she her self did for a season sway this Scepter. Or, rather 2. the Reign of that Royal Race and Family from which by his Mother he was descended, to wit, of the house of Omri, who reigned 6 years, 1 Kings 16. 23. Ahab his son reigned 22 years, 1 Kings 22. 51. Jehoram his son 12 years, 2 Kings 3. 1. All which four together, make up exactly these 42 years. For Ahaziah began his Reign in Joram's 12th year, 2 Kings 8. 25. And such a kind of Computation of the years, not of the Kings Person, but of his Reign or Kingdom, we had before, *ch.*16. 1. where see the Notes. And so we have an account of the Persons Age, in 2 Kings 8. 26. and here of the Kingdom to which he belonged. Answ. 2. Some acknowledge an Errour in the Transcribers of the present Hebrew Copies, in which Language the numeral Letters for 22 and 42 are so like, that they might easily be mistaken. For that it was read 22 here, as it is in the Book of Kings in other Hebrew Copies, they gather from hence, that it is at this day so read in divers ancient Greek Copies, as also in those two ancient Translations, the Syriack and the Arabick, and particularly in that Famous and most Ancient Copy of the Syriack which was used by the Church of Antioch in the Primitive Times, and to this day is kept in the Church of Antioch, from which that most Reverend, Learned, Pious, and Publick-spirited Archbishop Usher did at his own great Charge get another Copy transcribed, in which he hath published to all the World that he found it here written, Twenty and two years old, &c. Nor doth this overthrow the Authority of the Sacred Text, as Infidels would have it, partly because it is only an Historical Passage of no Importance to the Substantial Doctrines of Faith and a good Life; and partly because the Question here is not whether this Text be true, but which is the true Reading of the Text, whether that of the generality of present Copies, or that which was used in the Ancient Copies, which the Ancient and Venerable Translators above mentioned did follow: For it seems unreasonable and uncharitable to think that all of them would have conspired to have changed the Text, and put in twenty and two, for forty and two, if they had so read it in their Hebrew Copies. Nor can this open any great Door to those innumerable Changes which some have boldly and rashly made in the Hebrew Text without any such pretence of Authority, as there is for this, which as they are affirmed without Reason, or Authority, or Necessity, so they may as easily be rejected. If all this will not satisfie our present Infidels, I desire them only to consider what hath been hinted before upon such Occasions, that many Difficulties which did seem unanswerable, being now fully cleared by later Writers, it is but reasonable to think that this may be so in after times, either by finding of some Hebrew Copies in which it may be Twenty and two years, &c. or by some other way. c i. e. Of Omri's Family: Or of Ahab, Omri's Son. Grandchildren are oft called Sons and Daughters, as *Matth.*1.1. Luke 3.26.

3 He also walked in the ways of the house of Ahab, for his mother was his counseller d to do wickedly.

d Being a Crafty and an Imperious Woman.

4 Wherefore he did evil in the sight of the LORD, like the house of Ahab: for they were his counsellers after the death of his father e, to his destruction.

e Who, whilst he lived, seduced his Son by his Counsel and Authority, and made other Evil Counsellers then unnecessary.

5 He walked also after their counsel, and went with Jehoram the son of Ahab king of Israel, to war against Hazael f king of Syria at Ramoth-gilead: and the Syrians smote Joram.

f Following the evil Example of Jehoshaphat therein, *ch.*18. though he would not follow him in what was good. But of this and the following verses see 2 Kings 8.28, 29. & 9. 21, 27.

6 And he returned to be healed in Jezreel, because of the wounds † which were given him at Ramah, when he fought with Hazael king of Syria. And ‖ Azariah the son of Jehoram king of Judah, went down to see Jehoram the son of Ahab at Jezreel, because he was sick. † Heb. Ramathwhich they had wounded him. ‖ Heb. Azariah.

7 And the † destruction of Ahaziah * was of God † Heb. breaking. by coming to Joram: for when he was come, he went out with Jehoram against Jehu the son of Nimshi, whom the LORD had anointed * to cut off the house of Ahab. * 2 Kings 9.14.

8 By his Providence so disposing Occasions and Ahaziah's Inclinations, that he should come at that season to receive his deserved Judgment.

8 And it came to pass that when Jehu was executing judgment upon the house of Ahab, and * found the princes of Judah, and the sons of the brethren h of Ahaziah, that ministred to Ahaziah i, he slew them. * 2 Kings 10.13.

h Either properly so called: Or the Sons of his Cousins or near Kinsmen, who are oft called Brethren: for his Brethren were slain, v. 1. i That came thither to wait upon their King Ahaziah, as is here implyed, and withal to visit Joram and his Children, as is noted 2 King 10. 13.

9 * And he sought Ahaziah k: and they caught him, (for he was hid in Samaria l) and brought him to Jehu: and when they had slain him, they buried him m, because (said they) he is the son of Jehoshaphat, who sought the LORD with all his heart. So the house of Ahaziah n had no power to keep still the kingdom. * 2 Kings 9.27.

k Who, though wounded, had made an escape, 2 Kings 9. 27. l Either 1. In the Kingdom of Samaria, to wit, in Megiddo: Or, 2. In the City of Samaria: and so he fled first to Megiddo; and, not thinking himself safe there, he fled to Samaria; where he was taken, and sent thence by Jehu's Order to Megiddo, where he received the Sentence of Death. See more of this matter upon 2 Kings 9. 27. m They gave his Servants leave to carry him away to Jerusalem and bury him there, 2 Kings 9. 28. Both God and Men are oft times find to do what they and others do by their permission, when they could hinder them. n i. e. His Posterity, because they were young and feeble, being ground between two Millstones, the great and growing power of Jehu; and the craft and tyranny of Athaliah.

10 * But when Athaliah the Mother of Ahaziah o saw that her son was dead, she arose, and destroyed all the seed royal of the house of Judah. * 2 Kings 11.1.

o This, and v.11,12. are explained on 2 Kings 11. 1, 2,3.

11 But Jehoshabeath the daughter of the king took Joash the son of Ahaziah, and stole him from among the kings sons that were slain, and put him and his nurse in a bed-chamber. So Jehoshabeath the daughter of king Jehoram, the wife of Jehojada the priest (for she was the sister of Ahaziah) hid him from Athaliah, so that she slew him not.

12 And he was with them hid in the house of God six years, and Athaliah reigned over the land.

CHAP. XXIII.

Jehojada maketh Joash King, 1——11. Athaliah is slain, 12——15. The pure worship of God is restored, 16——21.

AND * in the seventh year Jehojada strengthened himself, and took the captains of hundreds, Azariah the son of Jeroham, and Ishmael the son of Jehohanan, and Azariah the son of Obed, and Maaseiah the son of Adaiah, and Elishaphat the son of Zichri, into covenant with him. * 2 King. 11.4,&c.

a Not all but those here following, in whom he put most trust. But this Chapter is almost all taken out of 2 Kings 11. where it is explained.

2 And they went about in Judah, and gathered the Levites out of all the cities of Judah b, and the chief of the fathers of Israel c, and they came to Jerusalem.

b Partly because they could do this without any suspicion, upon pretence of some solemn feast; which time, it is probable, was chosen for this purpose: and partly because he knew them to be well affected to the Cause of God and the King, to which they were obliged by the two inseparable ties, Conscience and Interest. c i. e. Both of the two Tribes, and of the ten Tribes, all which are called Israel; and he useth the name of Israel rather then that of Judah; because there were now great numbers of the other Tribes incorporated with Israel; and those he esteemed more faithful then many of Judah, having given better proofs of the truth of their Religion than they: and therefore he picks out of the chief men of the other Tribes, as well as of Judah and Benjamin.

3 And all the congregation made a covenant with the King in the house of God: and he said unto them, Behold, the kings son shall reign, as the LORD hath * said of the sons of David. * 2 Sam. 7.12. & 2 Chron. 6.16.

4 This is the thing that ye shall do; A third part of you entring on the sabbath, of the priests and of the Levites shall be porters of the † doors d; † Heb. gates. d Both that of Shur, 2 Kings 11.6. and other doors adjoyning or leading to it.

5 And a third part shall be at the kings house; and a third part at the gate of the foundation e: and all the people shall be in the courts f of the house of the LORD.

e At the East-gate, thought to be so called because it stood lower than the rest of the doors at the foot of the steps, by which they went up from the Kings house to the Temple. f Either 1. to the two Courts; and so by the People he understands as well the generality of the Levites who had no particular stations allotted to them, as their Brethren had, v.4,5. which were to be in the Priests Court, as the People, who were in the Court of the People: or 2. in the Court of the People, which may be called Courts, the plural number being put for the singular, in regard of great amplitude and divers quarters and partitions, into which it was or might be divided: as the Temple is called Sanctuaries, because of its division into divers parts. *Levit.*26.31.

6 But let none come into the house of the LORD g, save the priests, and they that minister of the Levites h, they shall go in, for they are † holy: but all the people shall keep the watch of the LORD i. † Heb. holiness. Lev. 21.6.

g Strictly so called, as it is distinguished from the Courts, into which others were permitted to come, v. 5. to wit, into the Holy Place. h They who are to minister in course, or by my present appointment. i i. e. Of the house of the Lord, as the phrase may be filled up out of this place and 2 Kings 11 6. The fence is, Let them stand in their Court to prevent and oppose any person who shall endeavour violently to break into the house to seize upon the King, or to disturb their present work; which he expected Athaliah and her Complices would do.

7 And the Levites shall compass the king round about, every every man with his weapons in his hand, and whosoever else cometh into the house, he shall be put to death: but be ye with the king when he cometh in, and when he goeth out.

8 So the Levites and all Judah did according to all things that Jehojada the priest had commanded, and took every man his men that were to come in * on the sabbath, with them that were to go out on the sabbath: for Jehojada the priest dismissed not the courses.

9 Moreover, Jehojada the priest delivered to the captains of hundreds, spears, and bucklers, and shields, that had been king Davids, which were in the house of God.

10 And he set all the people (every man having his weapon in his hand) from the right † side of the † temple to the left side of the temple, along by the altar and the temple, by the king round about.

† Heb. shoulder. † Heb. house.

11 Then they brought out the kings Son, and put upon him the crown, and * gave him the testimony, and made him king: and Jehojada and † Heb. Let the King live. his sons k anointed him, and said, † God save the King.

* Deut. 17.18.

k And Zechariah among the rest, whom afterwards he ungratefully slew, *ch.*24.21.

12 Now when Athaliah heard the noise of the people running and praising the king, she came to the people into the house of the LORD.

13 And she looked, and behold the king stood at his pillar, at the entring in, and the princes and the trumpets by the king: and all the people of the land rejoyced, and sounded with trumpets; also the singers with their instruments of musick, and such as taught to sing praise. Then Athaliah rent her clothes and said, † Treason, treason. † Heb. Conspiracy.

14 Then Jehojada the priest brought out the captains of hundreds, that were set over the host, and said unto them, Have her forth of the ranges: and whoso followeth her, let him be slain with the sword. For the priest said, Slay her not in the house of the LORD.

15 So they laid hands on her, and when she was come to the entring of the horse gate, by the kings house, they slew her there.

16 And Jehojada made a covenant between him and between all the people, and between the king, that they should be the LORDS people m.

l i. e. The Lord, as is sufficiently implied in the end of this verse, and plainly expressed, 2 Kings 11.17. Or, between himself; that the People might see that he brought them under no bond, but what he would take upon himself. m i. e. That every one in his place and station would maintain the Law and Worship of God, and root out all idle Worship; which they did in the next verse.

17 Then all the people went to the house of Baal, and brake it down, and brake his altars and his images in pieces, and * slew Mattan the priest of Baal before the altars. * Deut. 13.9.

18 Also Jehojada appointed the offices of the house of the LORD by the hand n of the priests * 1 Chron. 24.1. * Numb. 28.2. † Heb. by the hands of David. the Levites, whom David had * distributed in the house of the LORD, to offer the burnt-offerings of the LORD, as it is written in the * law of Moses, with rejoycing and singing, as it was ordained † by David.

n Or, as it is in the Hebrew, put the offices of the house of the Lord into the hand, i. e. he restored the Priests and Levites, either 1. To their places and offices, which (suffering in the time of the Idolatrous Kings, and of Athaliah, had been disposed of to persons of other Tribes, partly to gratifie their wicked friends, and partly to bring Gods House and Worship into disgrace: Or, 2. to the exercise of their offices, from which they had been in a great measure hindred.

* 1 Chron. 26.1, &c.

19 And he set the * porters at the gates of the house of the LORD, that none which was unclean in any thing, should enter in.

20 And he took the captains of hundreds, and the nobles, and the governours of the people, and all the people of the land, and brought down the king from the house of the LORD: and they came through the high gate o into the kings house, and set the king upon the throne of the land.

o To wit, of the Court belonging and leading to the Kings Palace.

21 And all the people of the land rejoyced: and the city was quiet, after that they had slain Athaliah with the sword.

CHAP. XXIV.

Joash reigneth well all the days of Jehojada, 1—14. he dieth: is buried honourably: and Joash falleth to Idolatry: slayeth Zechariah the son of Jehojada, 15—22. He is spoiled by the Syrians: slain by Zabad and Jehozabad. Amaziah succeedeth him, 23—27.

JOash * was seven years old a when he began to reign, and he reigned forty years in Jerusalem: his mothers name also was Zibeah of Beer-sheba. * 2 King. 12.1, &c.

a A great part of this Chapter is explained on 2 Kings 12.

2 And Joash did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, all the days of Jehojada the priest.

3 And Jehojada took for him two wives, and he begat sons and daughters.

4 And it came to pass after this, that Joash was minded † to repair the house of the LORD. † Heb. to renew.

5 And he gathered together the Priests and the Levites, and said to them, Go out unto the cities of Judah, and gather of all Israel b, money to repair the house of your God from year to year c, and see that ye haste the matter. Howbeit the Levites hasned it not.

b i. e. Of all the Israelites that were in the Kingdom of Judah. See Ch. 15. 17. and 21. 2. c Either 1. repair part of it every year till the reparations be perfected: Or, 2. gather it from year to year, till you get such a sum as may suffice for the work; for he supposed one or two years collection would not suffice for the work, whether it were that collection of half a shekel for every man, of which see Exod. 30.12, 13. 2 Kings 12. 14. or a voluntary contribution required for the present exigence of the Temple by virtue of the command and example of Moses, who made such a collection for the building of the Tabernacle, *Exod.*35.5. See also *Nehem.*10.32. which he thought would not be any great sum, because of the great iniquity and impiety which yet had reigned for many years, and yet continued in the generality of the people of the Land, the Levites not excepted, as the last Clause of this Verse shews.

6 And the king called for Jehojada the chief d, and said unto him, Why hast thou not required of the Levites to bring in out of Judah and out of Jerusalem, the collection, according to the commandment of * Moses e the servant of the LORD, and the congregation of Israel, for the tabernacle of witnes? * Exod. 30.12.

d It is observable, that he is not called the Chief Priest, or High Priest, but only the Chief, or the Head, which he might be in many other respects, either by reason of his near relation to the Royal Family: or because he was the Chief of one of the 24 Families, or because he had been the chief man in the contriving and bringing about of this great Change, and the General of the Forces employed about it. And the High Priest seems to be mentioned as a distinct person from Jehojadah here, 2 Kings 12. 9. 10. All which make it questionable, whether Jehojadah was the High-Priest or no. e Heb. the Collection of Moses, i. e. such an one as he commanded or made in the like case: of which see on v. 5. In like manner we read of the Sins of Manasseh, 2 Kings 24. 3. and of the Sin of Jeroboam frequently.

7 For the sons of Athaliah f, that wicked woman, had broken up the house of God g, and also all the dedicate things of the house of the LORD did they bestow upon Baalim.

f To wit, Ahaziah, and his Brethren before they were carried away captive, ch. 21. 17. who did this by her instigation, as this phrase implies. g Both broken up the Treasuries, and defaced the House it self.

8 And at the kings commandment they made a cheft, and set it without at the gate of the house of the LORD h.

h i. e. Of the Court of the People, whether all manner of persons might come to offer.

9 And they made † a proclamation through Judah † Heb. caused to pass. and Jerusalem, to bring in to the LORD the collection that Moses the servant of God laid upon Israel in the wilderness.

i i. e. A Collection answerable to it; as they are said to be guilty of the errour of Balaam and gainsaying of Core, Jud. v.11. who fell into sins of the same kind.

10 And all the princes, and all the people rejoyced, and brought in, and cast into the cheft, until they had made an end.

11 Now it came to pass, that at what time the cheft was brought unto the kings office k, by the hand of the Levites, and when they saw that there was much mony, the kings scribe, and the high priests officer came and emptied the cheft, and took it, and carried it to his place again. Thus they did day by day, and gathered money in abundance.

k From the gate of the Court into one of the Chambers belonging to the Temple, which was appointed by the King for this office.

12 And the king and Jehojada gave it to such as did the work of the service of the house of the LORD, and hired masons and carpenters to repair the house of the LORD, and also such as wrought iron and brass to mend the house of the LORD.

13 So

13 So the workmen wrought, and † the work was perfected by them, and they set the house of God in his state, and strengthned it. † Heb. the work was healed.

14 And when they had finished it, they brought the rest of the money before the king and Jehojada, wherof were made vessels for the house of the LORD l, even vessels to minister, and † to offer withal, and spoons, and vessels of gold and silver: and they offered burnt-offerings in the house of the LORD continually, all the days of Jehojada. † Heb. offer.

l Because Athaliah and her Sons had taken the old ones away, v. 7.

15 But Jehojada waxed old, and was full of days when he died, an hundred and thirty years old was he when he died.

16 And they buried him in the city of David among the kings, because he had done good in Israel m, both towards God, and towards his house.

m i. e. In Judah, which was an eminent part of Israel, and the only part of it which owned God, or was owned by God as his Israel, to whom therefore he oft appropriates this name, thereby signifying that the other Tribes were unworthy of that honourable title, and had forfeited all their right in it to Judah. See on ch. 21. 2.

17 Now after the death of Jehojada, came the princes of Judah, and made obeisance to the King n: then the King hearkned unto them.

n In that posture presenting their requests to him, that they might not be confined to unnecessary and troublesome journeys in coming to Jerusalem to worship, but might have the liberty, which their Fore-fathers enjoyed, of worshipping God in the High-places, which liberty, when once they had obtained, they knew they could then worship Idols without observation or disturbance: which was the thing at which they aimed. And for the prevention of such Abuses, God obliged all to worship him in one place.

18 And they left the house of the LORD God of their fathers, and served groves and idols: and wrath came upon Judah and Jerusalem for this their trespass o.

o By Hazael King of Syria: of which see 2 Kings 12.17, 18.

19 Yet he sent prophets to them, to bring them again unto the LORD, and they testified against them: but they would not give ear.

20 And the spirit of God † came upon Zechariah the son of Jehojada the priest, which stood above the people p, and said unto them, Thus saith God, Why transgress ye the commandments of the LORD, that ye cannot prosper? because ye have forsaken the LORD, he hath also forsaken you. † Heb. clothed.

p In an higher place, that his voice and message might be the better heard.

21 And they q conspired against him, and stoned him with stones at the commandment of the king, in the court of the house of the LORD.

q i. e. The people to whom he preached, who were easily corrupted by the examples of their Apostate King and Princes.

22 Thus Joash the king remembred not the kindness which Jehojada his father had done to him, but slew his son: And when he died, he said, The LORD look upon it, and require it r.

r i. e. Make inquisition for my innocent blood. Which he did not with from any desire of private revenge, with which so wise and good a man would never be willing to die; but partly from a zeal to Publick Justice and the punishment of such gross wickedness; and partly to deter them, if possible, from completing their murderous intentions. But these words may as well be rendred indicatively as optatively, The Lord will look upon it, and require it, i. e. He will examine this Action, and require satisfaction from you for it.

23 And it came to pass † at the end of the year s, that the host of Syria came up against him: and they came to Judah and Jerusalem, and destroyed all the princes of the people from among the people t, and sent all the spoil of them unto the king of † Damascus u. † Heb. the end of the year.

s So soon did God hear the cry of his Holy Prophets blood, and revenge it. t That it might appear they were sent and directed by God to single out to destruction the first beginners and chief promoters of this general Apostacy. u To Hazael the King of that part of Syria called Syria Damascena, from its capital City Damascus.

24 For the army of the Syrians * came with a small company of men, and the LORD delivered a very great host into their hand, because they had forsaken the LORD God of their fathers. So they executed Judgment against Joash. * 2 King. 12.17.

25 And when they were departed from him, (for they left him in great diseases) his own servants conspired against him, for the blood of the sons x of Jehojada the priest, and slew him on his bed, and he died: and they buried him in the city of David, but they buried him not in the sepulchres of the kings.

x i. e. Or Zechariah his son: the plural number Sons, put for the singular Son, as it is frequently both in Scripture, as Gen. 46. 7. Numb. 26. 42. and in Cicero and other profane Authors. Or he might kill other sons of Jehojada with him, either because they owned him in what he had said; or left they should revenge his death.

26 And these are they that conspired against him; ‖ Zabad the son of Shimeath an Ammonitess, and Jehozabad the son of ‖ Shimrith a Moabitess. ‖ Or, Jozachar. 2 Kings 12.21.

27 Now concerning his sons, and the greatness of the * burdens laid upon him y, and the † repairing of the house of God, behold, they are written in the ‖ story of the book of the kings. And Amaziah his son reigned in his stead. * Or, Sharp. 2 Kings 12.18. † Heb. ‖ 2 Kings 12.21.

y Either the severe Prophecies against him, which are oft called Burdens; of which one instance is Recorded, and there might be others that are not Recorded: or the great Judgments of God upon him, both by the Syrians, v. 23, 24. and by great diseases, v. 25.

CHAP. XXV.

Amaziah beginneth to reign well; slayeth his father's murderers, 1—5. Having hired an army of Israelites against the Edomites, at the word of a Prophet he dismisseth them, 5—10. And with his own people overthroweth the Edomites: The Israelites in their return besiege Spail, 11—13. Amaziah serveth the Gods of Edom, and despiseth the admonition of the Prophet, 14—16. He provoketh Joash to his over-throw, 17—24. His Reign: he is slain by Conspiracy, 25—28.

AMaziah * was twenty and five years old a when he began to reign, and he reigned twenty and nine years in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Jehoaddan of Jerusalem. * 2 Kings 14.1, &c.

a Of this Verse, and v. 2, 3, 4. see the Notes on 2 Kings, 14. 1, &c.

2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, but not with a perfect heart.

3 Now it came to pass, when the kingdom was † established to him, that he slew his servants that had killed the king his father. † Heb. confirmed upon him.

4 But he slew not their children, but did as it is written in the law in the book of Moses, where the LORD commanded, saying, * The fathers shall not die for the children, neither shall the children die for the fathers, but every man shall die for his own sin. * Deut. 24.16. Ezek. 18.20. Jer. 31.30.

5 Moreover, Amaziah gathered Judah together, and made them captains over thousands, and captains over hundreds, according to the houses of their fathers, throughout all Judah and Benjamin: and he numbred them * from twenty years old and above, * Numb. able to go forth to war, that could handle spear and shield. 1.3.

6 He hired also an hundred thousand mighty men of valour out of Israel b, for an hundred talents of silver.

b Out of the Kingdom of the Ten Tribes.

7 But there came a man of God to him, saying, O king, let not the army of Israel go with thee; for the LORD is not with Israel c, to wit, with all the children of Ephraim.

c He hath forsaken them, and for their sakes will curse thy Forces, if thou joynest thy self with them.

8 But if thou wilt go, do it, be strong for the battel d: God shall make thee fall before the enemy: for God hath power to help, and to cast down.

d Take Courage and strengthen thy self, as much as thou canst. It is an Ironical Concession, like that, Go, and perish.

9 And Amaziah said to the man of God, But what shall we do for the hundred talents which I have given to the † army of Israel? And the man of God answered, The LORD is able to give thee much more than this. † Heb. to the troop.

10 Then Amaziah separated them, to wit, the army that was come to him out of Ephraim, to go † home again: wherefore their anger was greatly kindled against Judah e, and they returned home † in great anger. † Heb. to their place. † Heb. in heat of anger.

e Because they were both disgraced by this Rejection, and disappointed of that Prey and Spoil which they hoped to gain, whereas now they were sent away empty; for the 100 Talents probably were given to their Officers only to raise Men for this Service; that Sum being otherwise too small to be distributed into so many hands.

11 And Amaziah strengthened himself, and led forth his people, and went to the valley of salt, and smote of the children of Seir, ten thousand.

12 And

12 And other ten thousand left alive, did the children of Judah carry captive, and brought them away unto the top of the rock, and cast them down from the top of the rock, that they were broken all in pieces.

† Heb. the lips of the hand. 13 But † the souldiers of the army which Amaziah sent back, that they should not go with him to battel, fell upon the cities of Judah, from Samaria even unto Beth-horon f, and smote g three thousand of them h, and took much spoil.

f To wit, Beth-horon the Lower, which was in the Tribe of Benjamin; and from thence to Samaria, either 1. to the City of Samaria; for the Kings of Judah had taken divers Places within the Kingdom of Israel. Or, 2. To the Kingdom of Samaria: Beth-horon, all and other Places between that City and their own Kingdom. g I. e. Killed, as that word is generally underſtood. h Not 3000 Cities, but 3000 Perſons dwelling in them, who peſtily oppoſed them in taking the Spoil, which was the Thing they fought.

14 Now it came to paſs, after that Amaziah was come from the ſlaughter of the Edomites, that he brought the gods of the children of Seir, and ſet them up to be his gods, and bowed down himſelf before them, and burned incenſe unto them.

15 Wherefore the anger of the LORD was kindled againſt Amaziah, and he ſent unto him a prophet, which ſaid unto him, Why haſt thou ſought after the gods of the people, which could not deliver their own people out of thine hand i?

i Therefore thou art not only ungrateful and impious, but alſo ridiculouſly fooliſh, in offending that God whoſe Power and Goodneſs thou haſt now found, and in worſhipping ſuch gods of whoſe Impotency thou haſt had late Experience.

16 And it came to paſs as he talked with him, that the king ſaid unto him, Art thou made of the kings counſel k? forbear, why ſhouldeſt thou be ſmitten l? Then the prophet forbare, and ſaid, I know m that God hath † determined to deſtroy thee, becauſe thou haſt done this, and haſt not hearkned unto my counſel.

k Who art thou that preſumeſt to direct and govern my Affairs, without my Commiſſion? l Provoke me no further, leſt I cauſe thee to be killed for thy Sawcineſs. m This he might know either by the plain and poſitive Rules of God's Word, as Prov. 29. 1. or by the Suggeſtion of God's Spirit.

* 2 Kings, 14. 8. 17 Then * Amaziah king of Judah took advice n, and ſent to Joaſh the ſon of Jehoahaz, the ſon of Jehu king of Iſrael, ſaying, Come, let us ſee one another in the face.

n I. e. About the Injury which the Iſraelites had done to his People, v. 13. and how he ſhould repair it. But of this, and the following Verſes ſee on 2 Kings, 14. 8, &c.

18 And Joaſh king of Iſrael ſent to Amaziah king of Judah, ſaying, The ‖ thiſtle that was in Lebanon, ſent to the cedar that was in Lebanon, ſaying, Give thy daughter to my ſon to wife: and there paſſed by a wild beaſt that was in Lebanon, and trode down the thiſtle.

‖ Or, furbuſh, or, thorn.

† Heb. beaſt of the field.

19 Thou ſayeſt, Lo, thou haſt ſmitten the Edomites, and thine heart liſteth thee up to boaſt: abide now at home, why ſhouldeſt thou meddle to thine hurt, that thou ſhouldeſt fall, even thou, and Judah with thee.

* Ch.22.7. 20 But Amaziah would not hear, for * it came of God o, that he might deliver them into the hand of their enemies, becauſe they ſought after the gods of Edom.

o Who gave him up to his own Error and Paſſion, in order to his Ruine.

21 So Joaſh the king of Iſrael went up, and they ſaw one another in the face, both he, and Amaziah king of Judah, at Beth-ſhemeſh, which belongeth to Judah.

†Heb. ſmitten. 22 And Judah was † put to the worſe before Iſrael, and they fled every man to his tent.

23 And Joaſh the king of Iſrael took Amaziah king of Judah the ſon of Joaſh, the ſon of Jehoahaz, at Beth-ſhemeſh, and brought him to Jeruſalem, and brake down the wall of Jeruſalem: from the gate of Ephraim to † the corner-gate, four hundred cubits.

† Heb. the gate of it that looketh, &c. 25. 23.

24 And he took all the gold and the ſilver, and all the veſſels that were found in the houſe of God with Obed-edom p, and the treaſures of the kings houſe, the hoſtages alſo, and returned to Samaria p I. e. With Obed-edom's Poſterity, to whom the Cuſtody of the Sacred Treaſures was committed. See 1 Chron. 26. 15.

25 And Amaziah the ſon of Joaſh king of Judah, lived after the death of Joaſh ſon of Jehoahaz king of Iſrael, fifteen years.

26 Now the reſt of the acts of Amaziah, firſt and laſt, behold, are they not written in the book of the kings of Judah and Iſrael?

27 Now after the time that Amaziah did turn away † from following the LORD, they † made a conſpiracy againſt him in Jeruſalem, and he fled to Lachiſh; but they ſent to Lachiſh after him, and ſlew him there.

† Heb. from. † Heb. they made.

28 And they brought him upon horſes, and buried him with his fathers in the city of ‖ Judah.

CHAP. XXVI.

Uzziah is made king; reigneth well in the days of Zechariah, and proſpereth, 1—15. He invadeth the Prieſt's office; is ſmitten with a leproſie, 16—21. He dieth, and Jotham ſucceedeth him, 22. 23.

2 He built Eloth, and reſtored it to Judah, after that the king ſlept with his fathers.

3 Sixteen years old was Uzziah, when he began to reign, and he reigned fifty and two years in Jeruſalem: his mothers name alſo was Jecoliah of Jeruſalem.

4 And he did that which was right in the ſight of the LORD, according to all that his father Amaziah did b.

b To wit, for a Time, but not perfectly nor conſtantly, which was Amaziah's Caſe alſo.

7 And God helped him againſt the Philiſtins, and againſt the Arabians that dwelt in Gur-baal, and the Mehunims.

8 And the Ammonites gave gifts to Uzziah, and his name † ſpread abroad, even to the entring in of Egypt, for he ſtrengthened himſelf exceedingly.

† Heb. went forth.

h Partly to guard his Cattel from the Inroads and Depredations which the Arabians were accuſtomed to make: and partly to give Notice of the Approach of any Enemy, and to give ſome ſtop to their March on that ſide.

11 Moreover, Uzziah had an army of fighting men, that went out to war by bands i, according to the number of their account, by the hand of Jeiel the ſcribe, and Maaſeiah the ruler, under the hand of Hananiah, one of the kings captains.

i I. e. Some Bands at one time and ſome at another, as Occaſion required. See the Notes on 1 Chron. 27. 1, &c. and 2 Chron. 13. 14.

12 The whole number of the chief of the fathers of the mighty men of valour, were two thouſand and ſix hundred.

13 And under their hand was † an army, three hundred thouſand and ſeven thouſand and † five hundred, that made war with mighty power, to help the king againſt the enemy.

† Heb. three hundred thouſand, and ſeven thouſand, and five hundred.

14 And Uzziah prepared for them throughout all the hoſt, ſhields and ſpears, and helmets, and habergeons, and bows, and ‖ ſlings to caſt ſtones.

‖ Heb. ſtones of ſlings.

15 And he made in Jeruſalem engins invented by cunning men, to be on the towers, and upon the bulwarks, to ſhoot arrows and great ſtones withal: and his name † ſpread far abroad, for he was marvellouſly helped till he was ſtrong.

† Heb. went forth.

16 But when he was ſtrong k, his heart was lifted up to his deſtruction: for he tranſgreſſed againſt the LORD his God, and went into the temple of the LORD *, to burn incenſe upon the altar of incenſe.

k When he was ſtrengthened in his Kingdom, and free from the fear of any Enemy. * Into the Holy place, where the Altar of Incenſe ſtood, and into which none but the Prieſts might enter, much leſs offer Incenſe.

17 And Azariah the Prieſt went in after him, and with him fourſcore prieſts of the LORD, that were valiant men:

18 And they withſtood Uzziah l the King, and ſaid unto him, *It * appertaineth* not unto thee, Uzziah, to burn incenſe unto the LORD, but to the * prieſts the ſons of Aaron, that are conſecrated to burn incenſe: go out of the ſanctuary for thou haſt treſpaſſed, neither ſhall it be for thine honour from the LORD God m.

* Num. 18. 7. * Exod. 30. 7.

l Heb. Stood up againſt Uzziah, not by force, or laying hands upon him to reſtrain him, for in the next Verſe you ſtill find the Cenſor in his hand; but only by admonition and reproof, which here follows. m Expect that God will puniſh thee, or put ſome brand of infamy upon thee for this preſumption. But this they expreſs modeſtly, and by a figure called Meioſis, where more is meant than is expreſſed, becauſe they conſidered that he to whom they ſpake, though an Offender, was their Lord and Sovereign.

19 Then Uzziah was wroth n, and had a cenſor in his hand, to burn incenſe: and while he was wroth with the prieſts, the leproſie even roſe up in his forehead o, before the prieſts in the houſe of the LORD, from beſide the incenſe altar p.

n With the Prieſts. o So as he could not hide his ſhame: though it is probable it was alſo in the reſt of his Body. p By a ſtroke from an inviſible hand coming from the Altar; that he might be aſſured that this was the effect of God's juſt diſpleaſure againſt him.

20 And Azariah the chief prieſt, and all the prieſts looked upon him, and behold, he was leproſus in his forehead, and they thruſt him out from thence q; yea, himſelf * haſted alſo to go out, becauſe the LORD had ſmitten him.

* Ex. 12. 33.

q Not by force, as was noted on v. 18. which needed not, for he voluntarily haſted away, as it follows; but by vehement perſuations and denunciations of God's further Judgments upon him, if he did not depart. Some ſuppoſe that the Earth-quake mentioned Amos 1. 1. Zech. 14. 5. happened upon this occaſion, as another token of God's diſpleaſure againſt this unparalleld arrogancy.

21 And Uzziah the king was a leper unto the day of his death r, and dwelt in a * † ſeveral houſe being a leper s, for t he was cut off from the houſe of the LORD: and Jotham his ſon was over the kings houſe, judging the people of the land.

* 2 Kings 15. 5. † Heb. free. * 2 Chron. 26. 21.

r God would have this Leproſie to be incurable, as a laſting monument of his Anger againſt ſuch preſumptuous Invaders of the Prieſt's Office. s As he was obliged to do by Law, Levit. 13. 46. which he durſt not now reſiſt, being under the hand and ſtroke of God, and under the fear of further and worſe Plagues, if he did ſo. t So the following words are a reaſon of the former; he dwelt in a ſeveral houſe, becauſe he might not come into the Temple or Courts, nor conſequently into any publick Aſſembly, or the Society of others. Or, and therefore, as the Hebrew Chi oft ſignifies; and the Particle and is oft underſtood. So it is an inference from the next fore-going words, He was a Leper, and therefore he was cut off, &c. He who could not content himſelf with God's allowance, but uſurped the Prieſt's place and office, is now deprived of the priviledge of the meaneſt of his People. A juſt and moſt ſuitable Judgment.

22 Now the reſt of the acts of Uzziah, firſt and laſt, did Iſaiah the prophet the ſon of Amoz write.

23 So Uzziah ſlept with his fathers, and they buried him with his fathers in the field of the burial which belonged to the kings: for they ſaid, He is a leper: and Jotham his ſon reigned in his ſtead.

a To wit, to offer Incenſe. But ſeeing this was not commendable, now is this mentioned as an exception from the fore-going Character, That he did as his Father did in that which was right: Save Amos. It is an exception only from the laſt Clauſe, where alſo one word may be ſupplied out of the fore-going words, as is moſt uſual in Scripture, thus, He did according to all that his father Uzziah did, then it ſtily follows, howbeit, &c. 10 And now ye purpose to keep under the children of Judah and Jerusalem for bond-men, and bond women unto you: but are there not with you, even with you, sins against the LORD your God d?

d Which, if not repented of, may bring down the like Vengeance upon your own Heads.

11 Now hear me therefore, and deliver the captives again, which ye have taken captive of your brethren: for the fierce wrath of the LORD is upon you.

12 Then certain of the heads of the children of Ephraim, Azariah the son of Johanan, Berechiah the son of Meshillemoth, and Jehizkiah the son of Shallum, and Amasa the son of Hadlai, stood up against them that came from the war:

13 And said unto them, Ye shall not bring in the captives hither: for whereas we have offended against the LORD already, ye intend to add more to our sins and to our trespass: for our trespass is great, and there is fierce wrath against Israel.

16 At that time did king Ahaz send unto the kings f of Assyria to help him.

f i. e. The King; the Plural Number for the singular: Either, 1. Because he was a Great King, and a King of Kings; as the Elephant, &c. as others think, the Crocodile, is called Behemoth, which signifies Beasts, Job 40. because of his vast Bulk and Eminency above other Beasts. Or, 2. Because he wrote to divers of the Kings or great Princes, who may be called Kings in a more general Signification of the Word, and indeed are so called, Isa. 10. 8. Are not my Princes altogether Kings.

17 For again the Edomites had come and smitten † Heb. a Judah, and carried away † captives.
smiting. 18 * The Philistins also had invaded the cities of Josh. 15. the low country, and of the south of Judah b, and had taken Beth-shemesh, and Ajalon, and Gederoth, and Socho, with the † villages thereof, and Timnah, with the † villages thereof, Gimzo also and the villages thereof: and they dwelt there.
† Heb. daughters. b That part of Judah which was towards the Sea, and towards the Philistins Land. b Of which see Jos. 15. 21.

19 For the LORD brought Judah low, because of
* Heb. made Ahaz king of Israel: for * he made Judah naked, and transgressed sore against the LORD.

i Taking away their Ornament and their Defence and Strength, to visit, their Treasures, which he lent to the Assyrian to no purpose; their Fronti'r Towns, and other strong Holds which by his folly and Wickedness were lost; their Religion, and the Divine Protection, which was their great and safe from Security, which by his Sins he forfeited. See the Note on Exod. 32. 25.

20 And * Tilgath-pilneser king of Assyria came
* 2 Kings. 16. 7. unto him, and distressed him k, but strengthened him not l.

21 For Ahaz took away a portion out of the house of the LORD, and out of the house of the king, and of the princes, and gave it unto the king of Assyria: but he helped him not l.

k Or, Straitned him, by robbing him of his Treasures. l A most Emphatical Expression: for though he weakned his present Enemy the Syrian, as is related, 2 Kings, 16. 9. yet really, and all things considered, he did not strengthen Ahaz and his Kingdom, but rather weaken them; for by the removing the Syrian, who, though a troublesom Neighbour, was a kind of Bulwark to him, as to many other Enemies, he smoothed the way for himself, a far more dangerous and mischievous Enemy, as appears by his Invasion of Judah in the very next Reign of Pekah.

22 And in the time of his distress did he trespass yet more against the LORD. This is that king Ahaz m.

m This Manner and Reproach of Mankind, that unteachable and incorrigible Person, whom even grievous Afflictions made worse, which commonly make Men better. This is he whose name deserves to be remembred and detested for ever. Or, king Ahaz was the same, no Changling, not a whit better by all the Methods which God used with him.

23 For he sacrificed unto the gods of † Damascus, which † Heb. smote him n: and he said, Because the gods of the kings of Syria help them, therefore will I sacrifice to them, that they may help me. But they were the ruine of him and of all Israel.

n Or, which had smitten him formerly, i. e. had enabled their Whippers, the Syrians, to smite him, as he fondly imagined: which yet he saw confuted, having now found by experience, that they could not save them from the Assyrian Power.

24 And Ahaz gathered together the vessels of the house of God, and cut in pieces the vessels of the house of God, and shut up the doors of the house of the LORD, and he made him altars in every corner of Jerusalem.

25 And in every several city of Judah he made high places ‖ to burn incense unto other gods, and provo-‖ Or, ked to anger the LORD God of his fathers.

26 Now the rest of his acts, and of all his ways, first and last, behold, they are written in the book of the kings of Judah and Israel.

27 And Ahaz slept with his fathers, and they buried him in the city, even in Jerusalem: but they brought him not into the sepulchres of the kings of Israel: and Hezekiah his son reigned in his stead.

CHAP. XXIX.

Hezekiah his good reign; he restoreth Religion; exhorteth the Levites, 1——11. They sanctifie themselves, and cleanse the house of God, 12——19. He offereth solemn Sacrifices, with songs of Prayse, and the Congregation add their offerings, 20——36.

HEzekiah * began to reign, when he was five and
* 2 Kings 18. 1. twenty years old, and he reigned nine and twenty years in Jerusalem: and his mothers name was Abijah the daughter of Zechariah.

2 And he did that which was right in the sight of the LORD, according to all that David his father had done.

3 He, in the first year of his reign, in the first month, opened the doors of the house of the LORD a, and repaired them.

a Which Ahaz his Father had shut up, ch. 28. 24.

4 And he brought in the priests, and the Levites, and gathered them together into the east-street b, b Which was before the Eastern Gate of the Temple.

5 And said unto them, Hear me, ye Levites, sanctifie now your selves, and sanctifie the house of the LORD God of your fathers, and carry forth the filthiness c out of the holy place d.

c That filthy Altar, which Ahaz had put in the place of God's Altar, 2 Kings, 16. 11, &c. and the Idols, or other abominable or polluting things which were there. d The Temple: or the Priests Court, which also is called an holy Place, Levit. 6. 16. & 10. 13. Numb. 28. 7.

6 For our fathers have trespassed, and done that which was evil in the eyes of the LORD our God, and have forsaken him, and have turned away their faces from the † habitation of the LORD, and † turned † Heb. set. their backs e.

e Either 1. Metaphorically; they have wilfully, and obstinately, & oft and contumeliously forsaken God, and his House and Worship: that being a posture being a signification of Contempt. Or, 2. Literally and properly. For Ahaz having removed the Altar of God into a by-place, 2 Kings, 14. and directing his Worship towards the East, after the manner of the Heathens, whom he designed to follow; and not to the West, as the Israelites did by God's Command, in which Quarter the Ark was, he must needs consequently turn his Face upon the Altar, and House, and Ark of God.

7 Also * they have shut up the doors of the porch,
* 2 Chron. 28. 24. and put out the lamps, and have not burnt incense, nor offered burnt-offerings in the holy place, unto the God of Israel.

8 Wherefore the wrath of the LORD was upon Judah and Jerusalem, and he hath delivered them to † trouble, to astonishment, and to * hissing f, as ye see
* Jer. 25. 9. & 29. 18. with your eyes.

f i. e. To such Calamities as all that see and hear of, shall be astonished at, and hiss at those, who by their own Sin and folly have brought such Miseries upon themselves. See on 1 Kings 9. 8.

9 For lo, our fathers have fallen by the sword, and our sons, and our daughters, and our wives are g in captivity for this.

g Or, were, though they were presently released, ch. 28. 5, 14, 15.

10 Now it is in mine heart to make a covenant with the LORD God of Israel, that his fierce wrath may turn away from us.

11 My sons h, ‖ be not now negligent: for the ‖ Or, LORD hath * chosen you to stand before him, to serve

h So he calls them indifferently, though many of them were older than himself, because he was by his tender Love and Affection as he was by his Office obliged to be, a Nursing Father to them. See Isa. 49. 23. i In sanctifying your selves and the Temple, v. 5. and in quickning and preparing your selves and the People to Gods Service.

12 Then the Levites arose, Mahath the son of Amasai, and Joel the son of Azariah, of the sons of the Kohathites: and of the sons of Merari; Kish the son of Abdi, and Azariah the son of Jehalelel: and of the Gershonites; Joah the son of Zimmah, and Eden the son of Joah:

13 And of the sons of Elizaphan; Shimri, and Jehiel: and of the sons of Asaph; Zechariah, and Mattaniah:

14 And of the sons of Heman; Jehiel and Shimei: and of the sons of Jeduthun; Shemajah, and Uzziel.

15 And they gathered their brethren and sanctified themselves, and came, according to the commandment
* Or, of the of the king, ‖ by the words of the LORD, to cleanse ‖ Or, mouth k of the house of the LORD.

16 And the priests went into the inner part of the house of the LORD k, to cleanse it, and brought out all the uncleanness that they found in the temple of the LORD, into the court l of the house of the LORD. And the Levites took it to carry it out abroad into the brook Kidron.

k Not the Holy of Holies, into which onely the High-priest might enter, and that but once in a year, but the Holy Place. l To wit, the Priests Court, called here the Court, by way of Eminency.

17 Now they began on the first day of the first month to sanctifie, and on the eighth day of the month came they to the porch of the LORD; so they sanctified the house of the LORD in eight days, and in the sixteenth day of the first month they made an end m.

m In 16 Days purging the House, and Porch, and Courts, and all the Chambers belonging to the Temple. This is noted to imply partly the Universal Abuse and Defilement of all the parts of it by Ahaz, which required so much time to remove; and partly the diligence of the Priests in this Work.

18 Then they went in to Hezekiah the king, and said, We have cleansed all the house of the LORD, and the altar of burnt-offering, with all the vessels thereof, and the shew-bread table, with all the vessels thereof.

19 Moreover, all the vessels which king Ahaz in his reign did cast away in his transgression, have we prepared and sanctified, and behold, they are before the altar of the LORD.

20 Then Hezekiah the king arose early, and gathered the rulers of the city, and went up to the house of the LORD.

21 And they brought seven bullocks, and seven rams, Ezr. 6. 3. and seven lambs, and seven he-goats n for a * sin-offering for the kingdom o, and for the sanctuary p, and for Judah q: and he commanded the priests the sons of Aaron to offer them on the altar of the LORD.

n The Number of seven is famous and customary in Sacred Matters, and is here used in regard of the vast numbers and various kinds of Sins, the Guilt whereof yet lay upon the Kingdom, which was now to be expiated. Indeed, in case of one particular Sin of Ignorance done by the People, there was but one bullock to be offered, Levit. 4. 13, 14. but here the Sins were many and presumptuous, &c. o To make Atonement for the Sins of the King and the Royal Family, and the Court. p For all the Idolatry and Uncleanness wherewith the Temple had been polluted, which, as it had been cleansed naturally by the Priests Hands, so now was to be purged morally by Sacrifices. q For the Sins of all the People of Judah.

22 So they killed the bullocks, and the priests

t Now that you have reconciled your selves and the House to God's Favour, and that he is willing and ready to accept your Sacrifices.

u Wherein there was more generosity than in the other Sacrifices, because they were wholly burnt and offered to God, and the People had no share in them as they had in the rest.

32 And the number of the burnt-offerings which the congregation brought, was threescore and ten bullocks, an hundred rams, and two hundred lambs: all these were for a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

33 And the consecrated things x were six hundred oxen, and three thousand sheep.

x i. e. All the Offerings consecrated to God besides the Burnt-offerings already mentioned.

34 But the priests y were too few, so that they could not flay all the burnt-offerings z: wherefore their brethren the Levites † did help them ‖ till the † Heb. strengthened them. work was ended, and until the other priests had sanctified themselves: for the Levites were more upright in heart, to sanctifie themselves, than the priests.

y To wit, such as were sanctified and fit for their Work, as the following words shew: for otherwise the number of the Priests was more than sufficient for this Employment. z And much less all the other Sacrifices, which were more numerous; the slaying whereof was the Priests proper work, Levit. 1. 5, 8. * Necessity excusing their deviation from the Rule, as it hath excused others in like Cases.

35 And also the burnt-offerings were in abundance *, with the fat of the peace-offerings, and the drink-offerings for every burnt-offering. So the service of the house of the LORD was set in order.

* Or, for the Burnt-offerings were to be offered all in abundance. So it is a reason why the Priests could not flay all the burnt-offerings, as was said v. 34. Because there was so much other work for them, for the Burnt-offerings were not only to be flayed, but also to be offered, to wit, wholly, and with them the Fat of Peace-offerings, &c.

36 And Hezekiah rejoyced, and all the people, that God had * prepared the people: for the thing was done
* 1 Chron. 29. 9. suddenly.

† It was, as a very great, so a sudden Change, that the People, who but the other day were so ready to comply with wicked Ahaz in his Idolatrous and Impious Prescriptions, were now so free and forward in Gods Service: whereby it plainly appeared to be the Work of the Almighty God changing their Hearts by his Holy Spirit.

CHAP. XXX.

Hezekiah proclaimeth a solemn Passover for Judah and Israel, 1——12. They having delivered the Altars of Idolatry, keep the feast 14 days, 13——26. The Priests and Levites bless the people, 27.

ANd Hezekiah sent to all Israel a and Judah, and wrote letters also to Ephraim and Manasseh b, that they should come to the house of the LORD at Jerusalem c, to keep the passover unto the LORD God of Israel.

a Whereby he understands all the Persons of the Ten Tribes, who were now settled in his Kingdom; as appears by their contradistinction to Ephraim and Manasseh here following. b I. e. To all the remainders of the Ten Tribes, v. 5. who are here Synecdochically expressed by the names of Ephraim and Manasseh, as elsewhere by the name of Ephraim only. But he names these two Tribes, becaufe they were neareſt to his Kingdom, and a great number of them had long ſince, and from time to time joyned themſelves to the Kingdom of Judah, 2 Chron. 15. 8,9. and therefore had moſt hopes of ſucceſs amongſt them. c Admoniſhing them of their Duty to God, and perſwading them to comply with it.

2 For the king had taken counſel, and his princes and all the congregation in Jeruſalem, to keep the

* Numb.9. paſſover in the ſecond * month d.

10,11. d Which was againſt the common Rule and Practiſe, but was juſtified by that Supreme Law of Neceſſity, and by a juſt Impediment, which made the doing of this in its proper time, to wit, the fourteenth day of the firſt Month, impoſſible, becauſe the Temple was not cleanſed nor they prepared till that time was paſt, *ch.*29.3,17. Compare *Numb.*9.10,11.

3 For they could not keep it at that time e, becauſe the prieſts had not ſanctified themſelves ſufficiently f, neither had the people gathered themſelves together to Jeruſalem g.

e Which God had appointed for it, Exod. 12. 6. One Reaſon whereof was evident in it ſelf, becauſe the Temple was not then purified and prepared; to which he adds two other Reaſons. f To wit, in ſuch manner and degree as was fit, nor in ſuch numbers as were neceſſary for the ſlaying and offering of ſo many thouſands of Paſchal-offerings, as appears, becauſe they were not ſufficient for thoſe Offerings, which were comparatively few, ch. 29. v. 32, 33, 34. g As they uſed and ought to do at that time from all places: which now they could not do, becauſe neither the thing was agreed upon, nor the People ſummoned thither till the proper time was paſt.

† Heb. was right in the eyes of the King.

4 And the thing † pleaſed the king, and all the congregation.

5 So they eſtabliſhed a decree b, to make proclamation throughout all Iſrael, from Beer-ſheba even to Dan, that they ſhould come to keep the paſſover unto the LORD God of Iſrael at Jeruſalem: for they had not done it † of a long time in ſuch ſort as it was written i.

b They fixed this Reſolution. i i. e. So as God had commanded them to do it, to wit, That all the Males in Iſrael ſhould do it: Which expreſs Command of God they ought to have obeyed, rather than the wicked Commands or Edicts of Men to the contrary: which was both the Judgment and Practiſe of the Prieſts and Levites, and other godly Iſraelites, as is manifeſt from 2 Chron. 15. 8, &c.

† Heb. from the hand.

6 So the poſts went with the letters † from the king, and his princes throughout all Iſrael, and Judah, and according to the commandment of the king, ſaying, Ye children of Iſrael, turn again unto the LORD God of Abraham, Iſaac, and Iſrael, and he will return to the remnant of you, that are eſcaped out of the hands of the kings of Aſſyria k.

k To wit, Pul and Tilgath-pilneſer, who had carried their Brethren away Captives, 2 Kings 15. 19, 29. 1 Chron. 5. 26. 2 Chron. 28.20.

7 And be not ye like your fathers, and like your brethren, which treſpaſſed againſt the LORD God of their fathers, who therefore gave them up to deſolation, as ye ſee.

† Heb. Harden not your neck.

† Heb. give the hand.

8 Now † be ye not ſtiff-necked as your fathers were, but † yield your ſelves l unto the LORD, and enter into his ſanctuary which he hath ſanctified for ever m: and ſerve the LORD your God, that the fierceneſs of his wrath may turn away from you.

l Heb. Give the Hand to him; i. e. ſubmit your ſelves to him by obeying his Command, and renew your Covenant with him: both which things were done amongſt Men by this Ceremony of giving the Hand. See 1 Chron. 29. 24. Ezra 10. 19. Ezek. 17. 18. m Not for a tranſient and temporary uſe; but as long as the State and Church of Iſrael had a being, whatſoever Alterations ſhould happen therein.

9 For if ye turn again unto the LORD, your brethren and your children ſhall find compaſſion before them that lead them captive, ſo that they ſhall come again into this land: for the LORD your God is

* Exod. 34. 6. gracious and merciful, and will not turn away his face from you, if ye return unto him.

10 So the poſts paſſed from city to city, through the country of Ephraim and Manaſſeh, even unto Zebulun: but they n laughed them to ſcorn, and mocked them.

n i. e. The Generality of the ten Tribes; who by long want of Meat had now loſt all their Appetite to Gods Ordinances, and from a neglect were now fallen into a Contempt and Deriſion of them; for which they paid dear. For about ſix years after their Reſiſal of this Offer of Grace they were all carried Captive, 2 Kings 18. 1, 10.

* Ch.11.16 11 Nevertheleſs, * divers of Aſher, and Manaſſeh, and of Zebulun, humbled themſelves and came to Jeruſalem.

12 Alſo in Judah the hand of God was to give them one heart to do the commandment of the king, and of the princes, by the word of the LORD o.

o i. e. God by the Power of his Grace inclined their Hearts to an unanimous compliance with Gods and the Kings Will. And this is mentioned as the Reaſon of this wonderful Change wrought in theſe Men, who had lately been utterly averſe from Gods Worſhip, and wholly given up to Idolatry; as was noted before on ch. 29. 36.

13 And there aſſembled at Jeruſalem much people, to keep the feaſt of unleavened bread in the ſecond month, a very great congregation.

14 And they aroſe, and took away the * al. * Ch.28. tars p that were in Jeruſalem, and all the altars for incenſe took they away, and caſt them into the brook Kidron.

p To wit, of Burnt-offerings; becauſe they are diſtinguiſhed from the Altars of Incenſe here following; both which were removed and deſtroyed, partly becauſe all the Iſraelites were confined to the Altars of the Temple; and partly becauſe theſe Altars were erected to Idols.

15 Then they killed the paſſover on the fourteenth day of the ſecond month: and the Prieſts and the Levites were aſhamed q, and ſanctified themſelves, and brought in the burnt-offerings into the houſe of the LORD.

q Their Negligence and Remiſneſs being upbraided by the great and general Alacrity and Forwardneſs of the People.

16 And they ſtood in † their place, after their man- † Heb. ſtanding. ner, according to the law of Moſes the man of God: the prieſts ſprinkled the blood r, which they received of the hand of the Levites.

r Of the Sacrifices upon the Altar, *Levit.*1.5. s Who flayed and killed the Sacrifices which the Prieſts, if they had been ſanctified, ſhould have done, as it was obſerved before, *ch.*29.34.

17 For there were many in the congregation that were not ſanctified t: therefore the Levites had the charge of the killing u of the paſſovers x, for every one that was not clean y, to ſanctifie them unto the LORD.

t That had more deſire to come to the Paſſover, than care and diligence to cleanſe and prepare themſelves for it. Now theſe perſons were either 1. The Prieſts, who were before taxed with Uncleanneſs and Unpreparedneſs. Or rather 2. the People, as is implied in the word Congregation, and expreſſed in the next verſe, and confirmed by the Reaſon here following. u Becauſe many of the People were unclean, and therefore many more Sacrifices were to be offered for their Purification than the Prieſts could kill. x i. e. Either 1. the Paſchal Lambs; which the Levites here offered, becauſe of the Impurity of many of the Maſters of Families, who otherwiſe, as ſome think, ſhould have killed the Paſchal Lambs in their own Houſes, Exod. 12. 3. Or, 2. The other Sacrifices which accompanied the Paſſover, which alſo are called by the ſame Name, as is evident from *Deut.*16.2,3. where ſee my Notes: which the Levites here killed, for the Reaſon now mentioned. y So far as they could make any diſcovery of their uncleanneſs, either by their own Confeſſion, or otherwiſe. But there were many whoſe Uncleanneſſes were not known, and therefore did not cleanſe themſelves, as is ſaid, v. 18. as they ought to have done.

18 For a multitude of the people, even many of Ephraim and Manaſſeh, Iſſachar, and Zebulun, had not cleanſed themſelves, yet did they eat the paſſover, otherwiſe than it was written z: but Hezekiah prayed for them, ſaying, † The good LORD pardon † Heb. The every one, LORD that is good.

z They had ſo eager a deſire to partake of this Ordinance, that rather than neglect it, they would venture upon it with ſome Ceremonial Uncleanneſs upon them.

19 That prepareth his heart to ſeek God, the LORD God of his fathers, though he be not cleanſed according to the purification of the ſanctuary a.

a i. e. With that Ceremonial Purification which was required of them that came into Gods Sanctuary. So he calls it to diſtinguiſh from that Moral and Internal Purity which they are here acknowledged to have.

20 And the LORD hearkened to Hezekiah, and healed the people b.

b From their Uncleanneſs; which it ſelf was a Spiritual Diſeaſe, and which probably produced a Diſeaſe, or Diſtemper, or Trouble in their Minds and Conſciences; which alſo had formerly brought, and might juſtly now bring even outward Diſeaſes upon the Body, or, at leaſt, Guilt, which is a Diſeaſe upon the Soul: From all which the Lord was pleaſed now to heal them, by pardoning this their Sin, and accepting them and their Services, as if they had been clean. Which it is likely God was pleaſed to manifeſt by ſome outward Sign, poſſibly by fire from Heaven conſuming the Sacrifices; which was the uſual Token of Gods Approbation, as hath been formerly noted more than once.

21 And the children of Iſrael that were † preſent at Jeruſalem, kept the feaſt of unleavened bread ſeven days with great gladneſs: and the Levites, and the prieſts praiſed the LORD day by day, ſinging with † loud inſtruments unto the LORD.

22 And Hezekiah ſpake † comfortably unto all the Levites c that taught the good knowledge of the LORD d: and they did eat throughout the feaſt ſeven days, offering peace-offerings, and making confeſſion e unto the Lord God of their fathers.

c Encouraged them to a chearful and diligent attendance upon their Holy Miniſtrations by the promiſe of his Favour and utmoſt Care for them, which he faithfully performed, ch. 31. 4, &c. d Who by their Office were to inſtruct and build up the people in the Knowledge and Fear of God: which is mentioned as the Cauſe of his Reſpect and Kindneſs to them, which was for their works ſake, as it is ſaid, 1 Theſſ. 5. 13. e Either 1. Confeſſing their Sins: which Work was to accompany many of their Sacrifices: of which ſee Levit. 5. 5, and 16. 21. Or rather, 2. Confeſſing Gods Goodneſs, or praiſing of God, which oft goes under this Name, as 1 Chron. 16. 8, 24. which alſo ſeems to be more proper work for this Seaſon of Joy.

23 And the whole aſſembly took counſel to keep † Heb. to do. 1 Kings 8. 65. * other ſeven days: and they kept other ſeven days † with gladneſs f.

f Not in the ſame manner as they had done the former, which conſiſting new Paſchal Lambs, and eating only Unleavened Bread, (of which there is not the leaſt intimation in the Text) but only in the Solemn Worſhip of God, by Sacrifices, and Prayers, and Praiſes, and publick Inſtruction of that great Congregation in the good Knowledge of the Lord; which was ſo dear to Hezekiah, v. 22. and at this time moſt ſeaſonable and neceſſary for the people after ſo long and diſmal a Night of Ignorance, Superſtition and Idolatry, as both Iſrael and Judah had been involved in.

25 And all the congregation of Judah, with the prieſts and the Levites, and all the congregation that came out of Iſrael, and the ſtrangers that came out of the land of Iſrael, and that dwelt in Judah, rejoyced.

26 So there was great joy in Jeruſalem: for ſince the time of Solomon the ſon of David king of Iſrael, there was not the like in Jeruſalem.

The People forward in deſtroying Idolatry: Hezekiah ordereth the Courſes of the Prieſts and Levites: and provideth for their work and maintenance, 1——4. The People forward in Offerings and Tithes, 5——10. Hezekiah appointeth Officers to diſpoſe of the Tithes, 11——19. his ſincerity, 20, 21.

Heb. all. 2 Kings 18. 4. Heb. ſtatues. Heb. groves. Heb. made.

NOw when all this was finiſhed, all Iſrael that were † preſent, went out to the cities of Judah, and * brake the † images in pieces, and cut down the groves, and threw down the high places, and the altars out of all Judah and Benjamin, in Ephraim alſo and Manaſſeh a, † until they had utterly deſtroyed them all. Then all the children of Iſrael returned every man to his poſſeſſion into their own cities.

a Either 1. In thoſe Cities belonging to Ephraim and Manaſſeh, which the Kings of Judah had formerly taken from the Kings of Iſrael. Or, 2. In the Tribes of Ephraim and Manaſſeh. For although theſe were a part of Hoſhea's Kingdom, yet Hezekiah preſumed to do this, partly by virtue of the Law of God, to which both Iſrael and Judah owed Subjection, which commanded the extirpation of theſe things out of the whole Land of Canaan: Partly by the ſpecial Impulſe and Direction of Gods Spirit, which ſometimes did put perſons upon Heroical and Extraordinary Actions, not to be drawn into Imitation: And partly becauſe he knew that Hoſhea contented himſelf with the Worſhip of the Calves, and did not practiſe that great Idolatry which his Predeceſſors had uſed, and therefore would patiently ſuffer the breaking of theſe Images of Baal, and the things belonging to them; which is all that was done at this time.

2 And Hezekiah appointed the courſes of the prieſts and the Levites, after their courſes, every man according to his ſervice, the prieſts and Levites for burnt-offerings, and for peace-offerings to miniſter, and to give thanks, and to praiſe in the gates of the tents of the LORD b.

b i. e. Within the Gates of the Houſe of the Lord: which is here called Tents, partly becauſe all Houſes are oft ſo called, as Judges 19. 9. and 20. 8. Pſal. 65.25. And partly becauſe the Houſe of the Lord, to wit, the Prieſts and Levites, frequently ſo called, encamped there, and kept their Stations and Orders there by courſe.

3 He appointed alſo the kings portion of his ſubſtance, for the burnt-offerings c, to wit, for the morning and evening burnt-offerings, and the burnt-offerings of the ſabbaths, and for the new moons, and for the ſet feaſts, as it is written in the * law of the * Numb. 28.& 29. LORD.

c Which had hitherto been, and were to be taken out of the Treaſures of the Temple which were collected from the People, 1 Chron. 26.20. *Nehem.*10.32,33. but that he might eaſe them in their preſent poverty, which his Predeceſſor had brought upon them, and engage them to a more chearful attendance upon Gods Service, he took the Burden upon himſelf.

4 Moreover, he commanded the people that dwelt in Jeruſalem, to give the portion of the prieſts, and the Levites, that they might be encouraged in the law of the LORD d.

d i. e. Freed from worldly Cares and Diſtractions, and enabled to give up themſelves entirely to the ſerious Study of Gods Law, in which many of them were ignorant, and to the Inſtruction, and Direction, and quickning of the People in their ſeveral Duties.

5 And as ſoon as the commandment † came abroad † Heb. brake forth the children of Iſrael brought in abundance the firſt fruits of corn, wine, and oil, and ‖ honey f, and of all the increaſe of the field, and the tithe of all things brought they in abundantly. ‖ Or, Dates.

e Either 1. as ſoon as the Report of this Command of the King, v. 4. was got abroad into other parts. Or, 2. as ſoon as the King enlarged and extended that Command to all the parts of his Kingdom, which v. 4. was confined to them that dwelt in Jeruſalem. f Or, Dates, as the Hebrew Writers generally, and many other learned Hebreeians underſtand this word, which is given to them, becauſe of the Sweetneſs of their Taſte in ſome ſort reſembling Honey. For the Law requires no Tithes but of the Fruits of Trees, or of the Earth, or of Beaſts.

6 And concerning the children of Iſrael and Judah, that dwelt in the cities of Judah, they alſo brought in the tithe of oxen and ſheep g, and the * tithe of holy * Lev. 27. things, which were conſecrated unto the LORD their 30. Deut. God h, and laid them † by heaps. 14. 28. † Heb.

g They brought in not only the ſame Tithes which the Dwellers in Jeruſalem did, to wit, of corn, and wine, and oil, &c. which they had in their own Storehouſes in that City; but alſo Oxen and Sheep, which were more proper to the Country: For under the Cities of Judah, are comprehended the Suburbs and Territories adjacent and belonging to them, as is evident from the Nature of the Thing, and the Law of God. h This may be taken either 1. by way of Explication, even the Tithe of holy things, &c. Or rather, 2. by way of Addition, the Tithe of all Holy things which were conſecrated unto the Lord, whether by Vow, or voluntary Promiſe, or otherwiſe; as the Tithes of Gains by Merchandiſe, or Spoils of War, &c. of which ſee *Gen.*14.20. & 28.22. *Numb.*31.28,30. heaps, they had

7 In the third month i they began to lay the foundation of the heaps, and finiſhed them in the ſeventh month k.

8 And when Hezekiah and the princes came and ſaw the heaps, they bleſſed the LORD l, and his people Iſrael m.

l Both for giving ſuch plentiful Proviſions to his Land in this Year, and for giving his People ſuch liberal and pious Hearts towards this good Work. m They praiſed them for their forwardneſs and faithfulneſs in it.

9 Then Hezekiah queſtioned with the prieſts and the Levites concerning the heaps n.

n How it came to paſs that no more of their Proviſion was ſpent, and that there yet remained ſuch great Heaps of it.

10 And Azariah the chief prieſt of the houſe of Zadok o, anſwered him, and ſaid, * Since the people be- * Mal.3.10. gan to bring the offerings p into the houſe of the LORD, we have had enough to eat, and have left plenty: for the LORD hath bleſſed his people q, and that which is left is this great ſtore.

10 Thus ſaith Sennacherib king of Aſſyria, Whereon do ye truſt, that ye abide ‖ in the ſiege in Jeruſalem?

‖ Or, ſtay?

11 Doth not Hezekiah perſwade you to give over your ſelves to die by famine and by thirſt, ſaying, The LORD our God ſhall deliver us out of the hand of the king of Aſſyria?

12 Hath not the ſame Hezekiah taken away his high places, and his altars, and commanded Judah and Jeruſalem, ſaying, Ye ſhall worſhip before one altar, and burn incenſe upon it.

13 Know ye not what I and my fathers have done unto all the people of other lands? were the gods of the nations of thoſe lands any ways able to deliver their lands out of mine hand?

14 Who was there among all the gods of thoſe nations, that my fathers utterly deſtroyed, that could deliver his people out of mine hand, that your God ſhould be able to deliver you out of mine hand?

15 Now therefore let not Hezekiah deceive you, nor perſwade you on this manner, neither yet believe him: for no god of any nation or kingdom was able to deliver his people out of mine hand, and out of the hand of my fathers: how much leſs ſhall your God deliver you i out of mine hand.

i Seeing I have deſtroyed ſo many Nations, and ſome of them ſtronger than you, in ſpight of all their gods, it is not probable that your God ſhould defend you, which none of the reſt could do for their People.

16 And his ſervants ſpake yet more againſt the LORD God, and againſt his ſervant Hezekiah.

17 * He wrote alſo Letters to rail on the LORD God of Iſrael, and to ſpeak againſt him, ſaying, As the gods of the nations of other lands have not delivered their people out of mine hand, ſo ſhall not the God of Hezekiah deliver his people out of mine hand.

25 But Hezekiah rendred not again, according to the benefit done unto him: for his heart was lifted up m; therefore there was wrath upon him, and upon Judah and Jeruſalem n.

m For that prodigious Victory over the Aſſyrians, above v. 21. and for his miraculous Reſtauration from Sickneſs, and the confirmation of that Work by a ſtrange and ſupernatural Motion of the Sun, and by the Honour ſince done him by an Embaſſy from the great and potent King of Babylon. All which probably raiſed in him too great an Opinion of himſelf, as if theſe things were done, if not by his Power, yet, at leaſt, for his Piety and Virtues. And inſtead of walking humbly with God, and giving the Glory of all entirely to him, he took the Honour to himſelf, and vainglorioufly ſhewed his Riches and Precious Treaſures to the Babyloniſh Ambaſſadors, 2 Kings 20. 12. &c. n Who might juſtly be puniſhed for Hezekiah's Sin, becauſe they followed him in it, as they confeſs in the next verſe.

25 Because they have forsaken me, and have burnt incense unto other gods, that they might provoke me to anger with all the works of their hands; therefore my wrath shall be poured out upon this place, and shall not be quenched.

26 And as for the king of Judah, who sent you to enquire of the LORD, so shall ye say unto him, Thus saith the LORD God of Israel concerning the words which thou hast heard, 27 Because thine heart was tender, and thou didst humble thy self before God when thou heardest his words against this place, and against the inhabitants thereof, and humbledst thy self before me, and didst rend thy clothes, and weep before me; I have even heard thee also, saith the LORD.

28 Behold, I will gather thee to thy fathers, and thou shalt be gathered to thy grave in peace, neither shall thine eyes see all the evil that I will bring upon this place, and upon the inhabitants of the same. So they brought the king word again.

n Which they did, though properly it belonged to the Priests, because the Priests, who were Sanctified, were not sufficient for that Work, there being so many thousands of the Cattel; and they were fully employed in the killing of the Sacrifices and the sprinkling of the Blood, which was more properly the Priest's work than the other.

12 And they removed the burnt-offerings o, that they might give according to the divisions of the families of the people, to offer unto the LORD p. as it is written * in the book of Moses: and so did they with the oxen q.

o i. e. Those Cattel which were to be offered for Burnt-offerings, to wit, some of the lesser Cattel; for these also might be offered as Burnt-offerings, Levit. 1. 10. And hence it may seem that all these small Cattel were not given to the People to be eaten by them for their Paschal-Lambs, but that some of them were to be offered as burnt-offerings for the People. And these they put apart by themselves, partly lest they should be confounded with them which were for another use; and partly, that they might not be hindred from that which was their present and more immediate work, as it follows, that they might give, to wit, the Paschal-lambs or Kids. p These words may belong either 1. to the more remote words, the burnt-offerings, the other words being to be put within a Parenthesis, or there being a trajection in the words, which is frequent in Scripture, and which is here observed by some learned Interpreters. Or, 2. to the last words, and to the Paschal-lambs, which they were first to offer to the Lord, by killing them and sprinkling the Blood, as was noted before, and then to be given to the People; though the giving be here mentioned before the offering, such Transpositions being usual in Scripture and other Authors. q To wit, as they did with the lesser Cattel, of which see the fifth Note on this Verse. They removed those Oxen which were to be offered as Burnt-offerings, from those which were to be offered as Peace-offerings.

*Exod. 12. 8, 9.

† Heb. made them run.

r Those from which the Burnt-offerings were removed, v. 12. to wit, the Peace-offerings, part of which fell to the share of the Offerer, who was Josiah, and by his Gift to the People.

14 And afterward they made ready s for themselves, and for the priests: because the priests the sons of Aaron were busied in offering of burnt-offerings and the fat until night: therefore the Levites prepared for themselves, and for the priests the sons of Aaron.

s To wit, the Paschal-lambs, and their part of the Peace-offerings.

15 And the singers the sons of Asaph, were in their † place, according to the * commandment of David, and Asaph, and Heman, and Jeduthun, the kings seer: and the porters * waited at every gate; they might not depart from their service; for their brethren the Levites prepared for them.

t When he and his People hoped that God was reconciled, and the Foundation of a solid and lasting Happiness was laid, their hopes were quickly blasted. So much are Men oft mistaken in their Judgments about the Designs of God's Counsel and Providence. u Which the Assyrian had lately taken from the King of Egypt; of which he boasts, Isa. 10. 9.

21 But he sent Embassadors to him, saying, What have I to do with thee, thou king of Judah? I come † Heb. the house of my war. not against thee this day, but against the † house wherewith I have war x: for God y commanded me to make haste: forbear thee from meddling with God, who is with me, that he destroy thee not.

x Heb. against the house or family of my war; i. e. Against the House of the King of Assyria, between whom and me there is War. y Either his False God by their lying Priests: Or, the True God either, 1. by some Prophet: For God's Prophets used sometimes to deliver or send Commands from God to Heathen Kings. Though it is not probable either that Pharaoh would regard the Command of the true God: Or, that a Prophet of the Lord would not acquaint Josiah with this Message: or that Josiah would oppose Pharaoh in a War undertaken by God's Command. Or, 2. either 2. by a Dream, as God spoke to another Heathen King, Abimelech, Gen. 20. 3. Though it is not impossible that he pretended this for his own Advantage, that Josiah might not assist his Enemies.

22 Nevertheless, Josiah would not turn his face from him z, but * disguised himself a, that he might fight with him, and hearkened not unto the words of Necho, from the mouth of God b, and came to fight in the valley of Megiddo.

*2 Kings 23. 29.

z Being peradventure incouraged to do so by a Misinterpretation of that Promise made to him, ch. 34. 28. Thou shalt be gathered to thy grave in peace. Thus God over-rules the Errors and Miscarriages of Men to the Accomplishment of his own Counsels. a Changed his Habit, that he might not give his Enemies the Advantage of aiming at his Person, which he wisely thought they would do, that being a likely course to end their trouble, as indeed it proved. b Either 1. which Pharaoh sent to him in the Name of God, or as coming from God's Mouth. Or, rather 2. which Pharaoh received from the Mouth of God, who was pleased some way or other to impart this Mind to him; and which Pharaoh acquainted him with by the Command of God. And therefore Josiah is here blamed for not hearkening to this Message. Although, if he sinned herein, it was only a sin of Ignorance, for he did not know that God had spoken this to Pharaoh, and was not bound to believe his Testimony, which he had good reason to suspect in this matter. Yet methinks, he ought so far to have regarded it, as to have enquired the Mind of God about it; which he neglected to do, and therefore he cannot be wholly excused, and is here taxed for it.

23 And the archers shot at king Josiah: and the king said to his servants, Have me away: for I am † sore * wounded.

† Heb. wounded greatly.

24 His servants therefore took him out of that chariot, and put him in the second chariot that he had: and they brought him to Jerusalem, and he died, and was buried ‖ in one of the sepulchres of his fathers. And * all Judah and Jerusalem mourned for Josiah.

25 And Jeremiah lamented for Josiah, and all the singing men, and the singing women spake to Josiah in their lamentations to this day c, and made an ordinance in Israel, and behold, they are written in the lamentations d.

c In all their succeeding Lamentations for their publick Calamities, and for the ruine of their City, and Temple, and State, and Church, they remembred Josiah's death as their first and most fatal Blow, and as that which opened the Flood-Gates to all their following Miseries, and it was ordained that they should do so, as the next words intimate. d Either in that Canonical Book of Jeremiah's Lamentations, or in some other Volume of mournful Ditties, made by divers Persons upon occasion of their following Calamities, which is since lost.

Or, 2. his Benignity, Clemency, and Kindness towards all his Subjects, being of a most tender Disposition and Carriage both towards God, ch. 34. 27. and towards Men. But the former seems principally intended, because it best agrees both with the History of Josiah, which is wholly taken up with the former, and speaks little or nothing of the latter, and with the following words; and it doth not differ from the Hebrew word hesed, which though it doth most frequently express kindness to Men, yet sometimes it notes a Man's Piety to God and his House, as is manifest from Nehem. 13. 14.

12 And he did that which was evil in the sight of the LORD his God, and humbled not himself f before Jeremiah the prophet, speaking from the mouth of the LORD.

f Or Repentance for his past Errors, and Obedience to God's express Commands, which he would not yield to thorough the Pride of his Heart, as is intimated by this Phrase, and expressed, Jer. 38. 19.

13 And he also rebelled against king Nebuchadnezzar, who had made him swear by God g: but he stiffened his neck, and hardened his heart h from turning unto the LORD God of Israel.

Heb. Ezek. 17. 13.

g Who had required and forced him to swear Fealty and constant Obedience to him by the True God, whom he had served, and whom he called upon to be a Witness against him if he broke his Oath. So his Rebellion was aggravated with Perjury, and horrid Contempt of God. Compare Ezek. 17. 18. h i. e. He added Obstinacy and Incorrigibleness to his Sins.

14 Moreover, all the chief of the priests, and the people transgressed very much i, after all the abominations of the heathen, and polluted the house of the LORD which he had hallowed in Jerusalem.

i They were universally corrupt; and therefore God justly brought upon them a general Destruction.

15 * And the LORD God of their fathers sent to them † by his messengers, rising up ‖ betimes, and sending k; because he had compassion on his people, and on his dwelling place:

*Jer. 25. 3, 4. & 29. 19. & 35. 15. & 44. 4. Zech. 1. 4. Heb. sending. ‖ Heb. rising early.

k i. e. Sending them early and diligently, as a careful Householder, who riseth betimes about his Business, and pursues it till Night come. God sent them many Prophets and Messages, some at the very beginning of their Apostasie, and others afterward, as they proceeded in their Impiety, until the very day of their Captivity.

16 But they mocked the messengers of God l, and despised his words, and misused his prophets m, until the wrath of the LORD arose against his people, till there was no † remedy n.

An Eminent Instance we have in this, That because Jeremy prophesied that Zedekiah should be led to Babylon, Jer. 32. 5. and Ezekiel, That he should not see Babylon, Ezek. 12. 13. Therefore they believed neither, as the Hebrew Writers relate. n Because the People would not repent, and God would not pardon them.

17 * Therefore he brought upon them the king of the Chaldees, who slew their young men with the sword, in the house of their sanctuary o, and had no compassion upon young man or maiden, old man, or him that stooped for age: he gave them all into his hand.

It is probable they killed them in the very Courts and House of God, to which some of them fled for Refuge, such places being esteemed Sacred and Inviolable by the Heathens themselves.

18 And all the vessels of the house of God, great and small, and the treasures of the house of the LORD, and the treasures of the king, and of his princes: all these he brought to Babylon.

19 And they burnt the house of God, and brake down the wall of Jerusalem, and burnt all the palaces thereof with fire, and destroyed all the goodly vessels thereof.

CHAP. I.

Cyrus's Proclamation to Israel for building the Lord's Temple at Jerusalem, 1—4. The chief of the People prepare for their return, 5, 6. Cyrus restores the Vessels of the Temple to Sheshbazzar Prince of Judah, 7, 8. Their number, 9—11.

1 NOW in the first year of Cyrus king of Persia a, (that the word of the LORD * by the mouth of Jeremiah might be fulfilled) the LORD stirred up the spirit of Cyrus b king of Persia, that he † made a proclamation throughout all his kingdom, and put it also in writing, saying, a To wit, Of his Empire or Reign in Babylon: For he had now been king of Persia for many Years. b i.e. Put into him a Mind and Will to this work.

* 2 Chron. 36. 22. Jer. 25. 12. & 29. 10. † Heb. caused a voice to pass.

2 Thus saith Cyrus king of Persia, The LORD God of Heaven hath given me all the kingdoms of the earth c, and he hath * charged me d to build him an house at Jerusalem, which is in Judah.

* Isa. 44. 28. & 45. 13.

c To wit, in those parts of the World; all that vast Empire formerly under the Assyrians and Babylonians. The Gift of which he ascribes to the great God, either by virtue of those common Notions which were in the Minds of the Heathens, who though they worshipped Idols, yet many of them did acknowledge a true and supream God: Or by that clear and express Prophecy of Isaiah concerning him, Isa. 44. 28. & 45. 1, 13. so long before he was born; which Prophecy the Jews had doubtlesly shewed him, which also carried a great evidence with it, especially to him who was so highly gratified and incouraged by it: or by a special Illumination which God vouchsafed to him, as he did to Nebuchadnezzar and Darius, and some others of the Heathen Princes. d Either by his Prophets, Isaiah formerly, or Daniel now: or by an inward suggestion to his Mind.

3 Who is there among you of all his People d? his God be with him e, and let him go up to Jerusalem, which is in Judah, and build the house of the LORD God of Israel, (he is the God) which is in Jerusalem f.

d To wit, of Israel. A material clause; by vertue of which they justly refused the help of those Aliens who pretended to joyn with them in the building, ch. 4. 2, 3. e Let his God help him, as I also shall do. f Or only, in Jerusalem, as it is in the Hebrew. So it notes the place where he allows and requires them to build it.

4 And whosoever remaineth g, in any place where he sojourneth, let the men of his place † help him h with silver, and with gold i, and with goods, and with beasts, besides the free-will-offering for the house of his God that is in Jerusalem.

† Heb. lift him up.

g Who, when his Brethren were gone up, was desirous to go with them, but forced to tarry there for want of necessaries for his journey. h I require my Officers to take care that they may be supplied, either by the voluntary Contributions of the People; or by a moderate Tax to be laid either only upon those Jews who were resolved to stay, or upon the Gentiles also; which the Persian Monarchs being absolute, had a Power to do; and which was the more reasonable, because the King himself submitted to it, and bore a great part of the burden; and because it was for the House of the great God to whom they all owed their present Peace and great Felicity. i Which upon this occasion I give you leave to transport.

5 Then rose up the chief of the fathers of Judah and Benjamin i, and the priests and the Levites, with all them whose spirit God had raised to go up k, to build the house of the LORD which is in Jerusalem.

i And with them some of other Tribes, as appears from 1 Chron. 9. 3. but these only are named, because they were most considerable for number and quality. k To whom God had given that pious disposition, and that Fortitude and Resolution which it required to break through their difficulties, which were great and many, such as their present penury, the length, and hazards, and costliness of the Journey, their Settlements in comfortable Habitations, their dispersion in several and distant places, which hindred the Conjunction of their Counsels and Actions, the multitude of their Enemies, the actual possession of their Country by others, the great backwardness of many of their own Brethren to go with them, and many other discouragements.

6 And all they that were about them, ‖ strengthened their hands l with vessels of silver, with gold, with goods, and with beasts, and with precious things, besides all that was willingly offered.

‖ That is, helped them.

l Either because they had embraced, or at least favoured the Jewish Religion, concerning which they were instructed by the Israelites that had now for a long time dwelt among them: or rather, that they might hereby gratifie the King's humour, and purchase his favour: for they perceived him to be hearty and forward in the work.

7 Also Cyrus the king brought forth the vessels of the house of the LORD, * which Nebuchad-nezzar had brought forth out of Jerusalem m, and had put them in the house of his gods;

* 2 Kings 24. 13. 2 Chr. 36. 7.

m Of. These are said to have been cut in pieces, 2 Kings. 24. 13. how then are they here returned? Answ. That Hebrew word used 2 Kings. 24. 13. signifies not so properly to cut in pieces, as to cut off, as from the use of the word, Deut. 25. 12. 2 Sam. 4. 12. 2 Kin. 18. 16. Jer. 9. 26. And these vessels when they were taken away from the Temple, might very well be said to be cut off from it, because they had for so long time been so constantly, and as it were, inseparably united to it, and kept in it. In like manner, the meat-offerings, and drink-offering are said to be cut off from the house of the Lord, Joel 1. 9. And it is very improbable, that they should deface and cut in pieces those magnificent Vessels which they could so easily transport whole to Babylon. Although, if some of the larger of them had been cut into two or more parts, yet the parts of them might be delivered to the Jews, who could, without great difficulty, reduce them to their former Unity and Form.

8 Even those did Cyrus king of Persia bring forth by the hand of Mithredath the treasurer, and numbered them n unto * Sheshbazzar o the prince of Judah p.

* Or, Shinah, Neh. 7. 15.

n i. e. He caused them to be delivered to the Jews by number. o i. e. Zerubabel, as appears by comparing ch. 3. 8. with 5. 16. to whom the Persians, or rather the Chaldeans, had given this name or Sheshbazzar, as they gave other names to Daniel, and his companions, Dan. 1. 7. p And the Captain and Governour of these returning Jews, chap. 2. 2. So the Scepter is not yet departed from Judah.

9 And this is the number of them: thirty chargers of gold, a thousand chargers of silver, nine and twenty knives q:

q Large Knives used in the killing of the Sacrifices, which are here mentioned, because the Hafts of them were made of, or covered with Gold or Silver.

10 Thirty basons of gold, silver basons of a second sort r, four hundred and ten: and other vessels a thousand s.

r The first or chief were of Gold, and these of Silver are called the second, or next to them of worth and use. s He speaks of Vessels of a middle size; for great and small were 5400, as it follows here. Or, as some render it, other Vessels by thousands: they were not distinctly numbered according to their various forms and uses, but were promiscuously put together by thousands.

11 All the vessels of gold, and of silver, were five thousand and four hundred. All these did Sheshbazzar bring up with them of † the captivity, that were brought up from Babylon unto Jerusalem.

† Heb. the captivity.

CHAP. II.

The number of the People that returned, 1—35. and of the Priests, 36—39. of the Levites, 40. of the singers, 41. of the Porters, 42. of the Nethinims, 43—54. and of Solomons Servants, 55—58. Concerning the Priests, that could not shew their Pedigree, 61—63. The whole number of them and their Substance, 64—67. Their Oblations, 68—70.

NOW * these are the children of the province a that went up out of the captivity, of those which had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away unto Babylon, and came again unto Jerusalem and Judah, every one unto his city b; a i. e. The Israelites, called the Children of the Province, either 1. Of Babylon, of which Province we oft read, as ch. 7. 16. Dan. 2. 48. & 3. 1, 12, 30. called the Province by way of eminency; of which they are called Children, because of their birth and habitation in it for a long time, it being usual to call the Inhabitants of any City or place its Children. Or rather 2. Of Judea, called a Province, ch. 5. 8. And he calls it thus emphatically to mind himself and his Brethren of that sad Change which their Sins had made among them, that from an illustrious, independent, and formidable Kingdom, were fallen to be an obscure, servile, and contemptible Province, first under the Chaldeans, and now under the Persians. b Either unto those Cities or Towns which belonged to their several Ancestors. Or rather, to those which were now allotted to them, and from this time possessed by them. For their former Cities were either demolished, or possessed by other Persons, which they were not now in a capacity of disturbing.

* Neh. 7. 6.

2 Which came with Zerubbabel c: Jeshua, Nehemia, ‖ Serajah, Reelajah, Mordecai, Bilshan, Mispar, Bigvai, Rehum, Baanah: the number of the men of the people of Israel.

Or, Seraiah, Neh. 7. 7.

c As for this Catalogue, it differs in some names and numbers from that Neh. 7. which might be from divers causes, partly because several names were given to one and the same Person; and partly because of the many Changes which might happen in the same Families between the time of the first making of this Catalogue by Ezra, and the making of it anew so many Years as that Catalogue Nehem. 7. was made after the former.

3 The children d of Parosh e, two thousand an hundred seventy and two.

d i.e. The Posterity, as that word is for the most part, if not constantly taken in this Catalogue. e That descended either from Parosh, or from that Family whereof Parosh was the chief. And so for the rest.

4 The children of Shephaliah, three hundred seventy and two.

5 The children of Arah, seven hundred seventy and five f.

f In Nehem. 7. 10. they were only 652. It seems 775 marched out of Babylon, or gave in their names that they would go; but some of them died, others changed their Minds, others were hindred by Sickness, or other Casualties, happening to themselves or their Relations; and so there came only 652 to Jerusalem. And the like is to be said in the like differences: which it suffices to hint once for all.

21 The children of Beth-lehem i, an hundred twenty and three.

i Either of a Man called Bethlehem, or the Bethlehemite by way of eminency. Or, of the place so called. And so these were the remainders of the Inhabitants of that City. And the like may be said of the two following names, Netophah and Anathoth, or others of the like Nature.

22 The men of Netophah, fifty and six.

23 The men of Anathoth, an hundred twenty and eight.

p The names of the places whence they came, and where they had lived in the time of their Captivity. q The names either of the Heads of the Families living in the places last mentioned; or of other places where the persons here underflood had dwelt.

60 The children of Delajah, the children of Tobiah, the children of Nekoda, six hundred fifty and two.

61 And of the children of the Priests: the children of Habajah, the children of Koz, the children of Barzillai: (which took a wife of the daughters of * Barzillai the Gileadite, and was called after their name.)

* 2 Sam. 17. 27.

r To wit, Barzillai. Which name he preferred before that of his own Family, accounting it, as it seems, a greater Honour to be allied to so noble a Family, than to be a Priest of the Lord. But by this ambition he deprived himself of the honour and advantage of the Priesthood, as it is here noted, v. 62.

62 These sought their register among those that were reckoned by genealogy s, but they were not found: therefore † were they as polluted, put from the † Heb. as polluted from the priesthood.

s The Jews were generally very exact and careful in their Genealogies, partly from their own Choice and Interest, that they might preserve the distinctions of the several Tribes and Families, which was necessary both to make out their Claims or Titles to Offices or Inheritances, which might belong to them by death, or otherwise, as here we see, and to govern themselves thereby in the matter of Marriages, and some other things wherein the practice of some Laws required the knowledge of these things: and partly by the special Providence of God, that so it might be certainly known of what Tribe and Family the Messiah was born. But as they took care of all their Families, so doubtless they took a more punctual and regular care about the Royal Family, upon which all their hopes depended.

63 And the ‖ Tirshatha t said unto them, that they should not eat of the most holy things, till there stood up a priest with * Urim and with Thummim u.

Or, Governour

* Exod. 28. 30.

t i.e. The Governour, to wit, Zerubbabel. Whence Nehemiah also is so called, Neh. 8. 9. and 10. 2. u That this point which could not be found out by any human skill or industry, might be determined by divine direction. Hereby it appears that the Urim and Thummim were lost in the destruction of the City and Temple, tho' the Jews fed themselves with hopes of recovering them, but in vain. Of the Urim and Thummim, see Exod. 28. 30. Numb. 27. 21. 1 Sam. 23. 9.

64 The whole congregation † together was * forty and two thousand three hundred and threescore v:

† Heb. as one. ch. 3. 9. * Neh. 7. 66.

x The particular summs here recited come only 29818. Unto whom are added in this total summ 12542. Which either were of the other Tribes beside Judah and Benjamin: or were such as were supposed by themselves and others to be Israelites, but could not prove their pedigree by their genealogies, and therefore could not be so punctually and particularly described, as the former.

65 Besides their servants, and their maids, of whom there were seven thousand three hundred thirty and seven: and there were among them two hundred singing-men and singing-women y.

y For Women as well as Men were devoted to, and employed in this exercise in the Temple-Service, as appears from 1 Chron. 25.5,6. And the Parents of these Persons had taken care to instruct and exercise them as far as they could in this Art, both for Gods service, and for their own benefit, when Jerusalem and the Temple should be rebuilt; which they knew would be done after Jeremiahs 70 years were expired.

66 Their horses were seven hundred thirty and six: their mules two hundred forty and five:

67 Their camels four hundred thirty and five: their asses six thousand and seven hundred and twenty.

68 And some of the chief of the fathers, when they came to the house of the LORD z that is at Jerusalem, offered freely for the house of God to set it up in his place.

z i.e. To the ruins of the house; or to the place where that house stood.

* 1 Chron. 26. 2.

69 They gave after their ability unto the * treasure of the work, threescore and one thousand drams of gold ‖, and five thousand pound of silver, and one hund ed priests garments.

‖ A dram of gold is supposed to be of the weight of the fourth part of a shekel, and of the value of a French Crown.

70 So the priests and the Levites, and some of the people, and the singers, and the porters, and the Nethinims, dwelt in their cities, and all Israel in their cities.

This was a sacred kind of month wherein there were divers Festivals, as appears from Lev. 23. for which the People had been preparing themselves, and now came to Jerusalem to the celebration of them.

(Or, Joshua) 2 Then stood up ‖ Jeshua the son of Jozadak b, and his brethren the priests, and ‖ Zerubbabel, the son c of * Shealtiel, and his brethren, and built the altar d of the God of Israel, to offer burnt offerings thereon, as it is * written in the law of Moses the man of 13 So that the people could not discern the noise of the shout of joy, from the noise of the weeping of the people: for the people shouted with a loud shout, and the noise was heard afar off.

c Here the Kings answer may seem to begin, and this following account he sends to them, and after that lays down his commands. d The Royal City of the Medes and Persians.

3 In the first year of Cyrus the king, the same Cyrus the king made a decree concerning the house of God at Jerusalem, Let the house be built, the place where they offered Sacrifices, and let the foundations thereof be strongly laid, the height thereof threescore cubits, and the breadth thereof threescore cubits e:

e He did not command them to make it so large, for he left the ordering of the proportions of the Building to their skill and choice; but he restrained them that they should make it no larger; lest they should hereafter make use of it to other purposes against himself: But those proportions differ much from those of Solomon's Temple, which was but Thirty Cubits high, only the Porch was 120 Cubits high, and but 20 Cubits in breadth. Either therefore Solomon Cubits were sacred Cubits, which were larger than the other, and these were but common Cubits. Or, the 60 Cubits of heighth are meant only of the Porch, which he would not have to be so high and magnificent as that of Solomon; was, lest they should be puffed up with it, and by degrees arrive at their former heighth and insolence. And the word rendred breadth, may be, and is by some rendred more generally, the extension, or amplitude, or the length of it; it being improbable that the King should give orders about the breadth, and none about the length of it.

4 With three rows of great stones, and a row of new timber f: and let the expences be given out of the kings house.

f As Solomon's Temple was built, 1 Kings 6. 36. Whereof Darius was informed by some of the Jews, who also desired that it might be done in this manner.

5 And also let the golden and silver vessels of the house of God, which Nebuchadnezzar took forth out of the temple which is at Jerusalem, and brought unto Babylon, be restored g, and † brought again unto the † Chald. temple which is at Jerusalem, every one to his place; and place them in the house of God.

g To Sheshbazzar: For this is part of Cyrus's Decree (which is here recited) and not Darius's, which does not begin till the next verse.

6 Now therefore Tatnai, governour beyond the river, Shethar-boznai, and † your companions the A- † Chald. pharsachites which are beyond the river, be ye far from thence h:

Ezra 5.3.

h i. e. From hindering or discouraging the work.

7 Let the work of this house of God alone: let the governour of the Jews, and the elders of the Jews, build this house of God in this place.

8 Moreover, † I make a decree, what ye shall do to † Chald. the elders of the Jews, for the building of this house of ye, or, I. God: that of the kings goods, even of the tribute beyond the river, forthwith expences be given unto these men, that they be not † hindred i. † Chald. restrained.

10 That they may offer † sacrifices of sweet savours † Chald. unto the God of heaven, and pray for the life of the king, and of his sons.

11 Also I have made a decree, that whosoever shall alter this word, let timber be pulled down from his house, and being set up, I let him be hanged thereon, and let his house be made a dunghil for this.

12 And the God that hath caused his name to dwell there, destroy all kings and people that shall put to their hand, to alter and to destroy this house of God which is at Jerusalem: I Darius have made a decree, let it be done with speed.

13 Then Tatnai, governour on this side the river, Shethar-boznai, and their companions, according to that which Darius the king had sent, so they did speedily.

Or 2. Artaxerxes Longimanus, the Son of Xerxes, who was best known by the name of Artaxerxes, who is here joyned with Cyrus and Darius, because though the Temple was finished, as to the substance of the work, in Darius's Reign, c. 15. yet it was after-wards more fully compleated and adorned by Artaxerxes, as is evident from ch. 7. v. 20, 27. by whom Nehemiah was sent to Jerusalem with a large Commission and full Power to take care about the building of the City, and all other things concerning the Jewish Nation and Religion.

Of the King of Persia, which was now King of Assyria also, or Emperor of that vast and famous Assyrian Empire: which was first subdued by the King of Babylon, who therefore is frequently called the Assyrian; and for the same reason the Persian Monarch is here so called emphatically, to note the great Power and Goodness of God in turning the Hearts of their great Monarchs, whose Predecessors had been the chief Persecutors and Oppressors of God's People.

Ezra's Genealogy, 1——5. The Priests, Levites and Ezra go up to Jerusalem, 6——10. The gracious Commission of Artaxerxes to Ezra, 11——26. Ezra blesseth God for his favour to his People, 27, 28.

* Neh. 2.1. † 1 Chron. 6.14.

NOw after these things, in the reign of * Artaxerxes a king of Persia, Ezra † the son of Serajah b, the son of Azariah, the son of Hilkiah.

a The same of whom he speaks ch. 6. 14. b i. e. His Grandson. Here are divers Persons omitted for brevity sake, which may be supplied out of 1 Chron. 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11.

2 The son of Shallum, the son of Zadok, the son of Ahitub,

3 The son of Amariah, the son of Azariah, the son of Meraioth,

4 The son of Zerajah, the son of Uzzi, the son of Bukki,

5 The son of Abishua, the son of Phinehas, the son of Eleazar, the son of Aaron the chief priest:

6 This Ezra went up from Babylon c, and he was a ready scribe d in the law of Moses, which the LORD God of Israel had given, and the king granted him all his request, according to the hand of the LORD his God upon him e.

c With the King's Consent and Commission. d i. e. A learned and expert Doctor: for in that sense the word Scribe is oft used, as Jer. 8. 8. Matt. 7. 29. & 17. 10. & 23. 2, 13. Mark 12. 28. compare with Matt. 22. 35, 36. e i. e. By the Grace and Favour of God disposing the Heart of the King.

7 And there went up some of the children of Israel, and of the priests, and the Levites, and the singers, and Ch. 2. 43. the porters, and * the Nethinims unto Jerusalem f, in the seventh year of Artaxerxes the king.

f This is here related in the general, but how he procured this is particularly related hereafter.

8 And he came to Jerusalem in the fifth month, which was in the seventh year of the king.

9 For upon the first day of the first month † began † Heb. was he to go up from Babylon, and on the first day of the fifth month came he to Jerusalem, according to the good hand of his God upon him. The foundation of the going up.

10 For Ezra had prepared his heart g to seek h the LAW of the LORD, and to do it, and to teach in Israel statutes and judgments.

g Or, disposed, &c. i. e. He had set his Mind and Affections upon it, and made it his chief design and business. h i. e. To search and find out the true Sense and meaning of it, and thence to learn what Sins or Errors were to be reformed, and what Duties were to be performed. i The order of things in this Verse is very observable: first he endeavours to understand God's Law and Word, and that not for Curiosity or Ostentation, but in order to Practice: Next he conscientiously practiseth what he did understand, which made his Doctrine much more effectual: And then he earnestly desires and labours to instruct and edifie others, that they also might know and do it.

11 Now this is the copy of the letter that the king Artaxerxes gave unto Ezra the priest, the scribe, even a scribe of the words of the commandments k of the LORD, and of his statutes to Israel.

Or, Ezra the priest, a priest, scribe of the k The Phrase seems emphatical, noting that he explained both the words and the things: For the Jews in the Land of their Captivity had in a great measure lost both their Language, and the Knowledge of Gods Commands, and therefore Ezra and his Companions instruct them in both. Of which see more on Nehem. 8. 8.

12 Artaxerxes king of kings, unto Ezra the priest, Or, Ezra a scribe of the law of the God of heaven, perfect peace, and at such a time.

a priest, scribe of the 13 I make a decree, that all they of the people of Or, of the Israel, and of his priests, and Levites in my realm, who are minded of their own free will to go up to Jerusalem, go with thee.

God of heaven,

14 Forasmuch as thou art sent † of the king, and of † Chal. his † seven counsellers, l to enquire concerning Judah and Jerusalem, according to the law of thy God which is in thine hand u; l His chief Nobles and Officers of State; of whom see Esth. 1. 14. m i. e. To make enquiry into all Modes and Precedents from your Laws, and to reform them. n Which is now and always in thy hand, being the matter of the daily study and exercise which thou now carriest along with thee, the interpretation whereof belongeth unto thee.

from before

15 And to carry the silver and the gold which the king and his counsellors have freely offered unto the God of Israel, whose habitation is in Jerusalem;

16 * And all the silver and gold that thou canst † Ch. 8. 25. find o in all the province of Babylon, with the free-will-offering of the people p, and of the priests offering willingly for the house of their God, which is in Jerusalem:

o i. e. Procure, as that word is used, Gen. 6. 8. & 26. 12. Psal. 84. 3. & 119. 162. Prov. 1. 13. & 2. 4. & 3. 13. Whatsoever thou canst get of my Subjects by way of free gift. p To wit, of Israel.

17 That thou maist buy speedily with this money, bullocks, rams, lambs, with their meat-offerings, and their drink-offerings, and offer them upon the altar of the house of your God, which is in Jerusalem:

18 And whatsoever shall seem good to thee, and to thy brethren, to do with the rest of the silver, and gold, that do after the will of your God.

19 The vessels also that are given thee for the service of the house of thy God, those deliver thou before the God of Jerusalem.

20 And whatsoever more shall be needful for the house of thy God q, which thou shalt have occasion to bestow, bestow it out of the kings treasure house.

q Towards the Reparation, or adorning, or compleating of it. See the Notes on ch. 6. 14.

21 And I, even I Artaxerxes the king, do make a decree to all the treasures which are beyond the river, that whatsoever Ezra the priest, the scribe of the law of the God of heaven, shall require of you, it be done speedily.

22 Unto an hundred talents of silver, and to an hundred measures of wheat, and to an hundred baths † Chal. cors. of wine, and to an hundred baths of oil, and salt without prescribing how much r:

r Because it was but of mean price, and of very common and necessary use in all their Sacrifices, Lev. 2. 13. Mark 9. 49.

23 † Whatsoever is commanded by the God of hea- † Chald. ven, let it be diligently done for the house of the God what soever of heaven: for why should there be wrath against the realm of the king and his son s?

of the decree.

e For the omission of any part of his Worship occasioned by my neglect. This danger and duty he discerned, partly by natural light, and principally by the information of Ezra, ch. 8. 22. who had the King's Ear and Heart.

24 Also we certifie unto you, that touching any of the priests and Levites, singers, porters, Nethinims, or ministers of this house of God, it shall not be lawful to impose toll, tribute or custom upon them.

25 And thou, Ezra, after the wisdom of thy God that is in thine hand f, set magistrates and judges which may judge all the people that are beyond the river, all such as know the laws of thy God, and teach ye them that know them not.

f i. e. Which God hath put into thy Heart, and which appears in the works of thy hand. Wisdom is sometimes ascribed to the hands, as Psal. 78. 72. See my Latin Synopsis on *Gen.*38. 14. Or, by the Wisdom of God, he means the Law of God, which was said to be in his hand, v. 14.

26 And whosoever will not do the law of thy God, and the law of the king g, let judgment be executed † Chal. to rooting out. speedily upon him, whether it be unto death, or † to banishment, or to confiscation of goods, or to imprisonment.

g To wit, concerning these matters. Or, which Law of God is by this my sanction now become my Law also, to which I expect their punctual and ready obedience. For as for the Civil Laws of the Empire, Ezra neither was skilful in them, nor was intrusted with the Execution of them, which was committed to other hands.

27 Blessed be the LORD God of our Fathers, which hath put such a thing as this in the kings heart, to beautifie the house of the LORD, which is in Jerusalem:

28 And hath extended mercy unto me before the king and his counsellors, and before all the kings mighty princes: and I was strengthened as the hand of the LORD my God was upon me, and I gathered together out of Israel chief men to go up with me.

CHAP. VIII.

Ezra's Companions who returned from Babylon, 1——14. He sendeth 12 Iddo for Levites to be Ministers for the Temple, 15——20. He keepeth a Fast at Ahava, 21——23. He committeth the Treasures to the Custody of the Priests, 23——30. From Ahava they come to Jerusalem, 31, 32. The Treasure is weighed in the Temple, 33——35. The Commission is delivered to the Adversaries, and they further the House of God, 36.

THese are now the chief of their fathers, and this is the genealogy of them that went up with me from Babylon, in the reign of Artaxerxes the king.

2 Of the sons of Phinees; Gershom: of the sons of Ithamar: Daniel: of the sons of David; Hattush.

* Ch. 2. 3. 3 Of the sons of Shechaniah; of the sons of * Pharosh a; Zecharia: and with him were reckoned by genealogy of the males b, an hundred and fifty.

a i. e. One of the Sons of Pharosh: whereby he is differenced from the other Shechaniah, v. 5. b Though the Males only be expressed here, and in the succeeding Verses, yet it is more than probable they carried the Women along with them, as they did carry little ones, as it is expressed here, v. 21.

4 Of the sons of Pahath-moab; Elihoenai, the son of Zerahiah, and with him two hundred males.

5 Of the sons of Shechaniah; the son of Jahaziel c, and with him three hundred males.

c Either his only Son, or the most eminent of his Sons, and therefore so called here.

6 Of the sons also of Adin; Ebed the son of Jonathan, and with him fifty males.

7 And of the sons of Elam; Jeshajah the son of Athaliah, and with him seventy males.

8 And of the sons of Shephatiah; Zebadiah the son of Michael, and with him fourscore males.

9 Of the sons of Joab; Obadiah the son of Jehiel, and with him two hundred and eighteen males.

10 And of the sons of Shelomith; the son of Josiphiah, and with him an hundred and threescore males.

11 And of the sons of Bebai; Zechariah the son of Bebai, and with him twenty and eight males.

‖ Or, the youngest son. 12 And of the sons of Azgad; Johanan ‖ the son of Hakkatan, and with him an hundred and ten males.

13 And of the last sons of Adonikam, whose names are these, Eliphelet, Jeiel, and Shemajah, and with him threescore males.

[Or. Zaccai as some read. 14 Of the sons also of Bigvai; Uthai, and ‖ Zabbud, and with them seventy males.

15 And I gathered them together to the river that [Or, pitched runneth to Ahava d; and there ‖ abode we in tents three days: and I viewed the people, and the priests, and found there none of the sons of Levi e.

d Or, the river of Ahava, as it is called v. 21, 31. By comparing of these places, it seems that Ahava was the name both of the River, and of the Town or place by which it ran. Either this was that River which other Writers call Adiabra, which runs to Assyria, which thence is called Adiabene: or some other River running into Euphrates. e To wit, who were simple Levites, and not Priests. And therefore the Levites mentioned, chap. 7. 7. by anticipation were not yet come to him.

16 Then sent I for Eliezer f, for Ariel, for Shemaiah, and for Elnathan, and for Jarib, and for Elnathan, and for Nathan, and for Zecharia, and for Meshullam, chief men: also for Joiarib, and for Elnathan, men of understanding.

f To come to me, and go along with me to Jerusalem. g Who seem to have had more knowledge, than pious Zeal for God, and his House and solemn Worship, which was continued to Jerusalem.

17 And I sent them with commandment g unto Iddo the chief h, at the place Casiphia i, and † I told them what they should say unto Iddo, and to his brethren the Nethinims, at the place Casiphia, that they should bring unto us ministers for the house of our God.

† Heb. I put in the mouth.

g Which he might do, partly by virtue of that Authority which he had over them by his Priesthood; and partly by that Authority which he either had received, or could easily procure from the King to that purpose. h The Head of the rest, either by Ecclesiastical Order or Government, which the Persian Kings allowed to the Jews; or by some Grant or Commission from the King. i Not a place near the Caspian Lake, as some guess from the likeness of the names; for that was at too great a distance for his present purpose, but some other place not far from Ahava; where he knew that there was a College, or considerable company of Levites together.

18 And by the good hand of our God upon us, they brought us a man of understanding, of the sons of Mahli, the son of Levi, the son of Israel and Sherebiah, with his sons, and with his brethren, eighteen:

19 And Hashabiah, and with him Jeshajah of the sons of Merari, his brethren and their sons, twenty.

20 * Also of the Nethinims, whom David and the * Succeeding princes had appointed for the service of the Levites k, two hundred and twenty Nethinims: all of them were expressed by name.

k The Gibeonites who were devoted to this Service by Joshua and the Princes of his time, Jos. 9. 21. and are said to be appointed by David and his Princes, because they were confirmed by them in their former Office, and more particularly applied to the several Services of the Temple: Though this be not distinctly related in 1 *Chr.*23.& 25.& 26.because his business there was to give an account only of the new Constitutions and Alterations made by David in those matters.

21 Then I proclaimed a fast there, at the river Ahava, that we might afflict our selves before our God, to seek of him a right way l for us, and for our little ones, and for all our substance.

l i. e. A safe and prosperous Journey; or such a way and course as might be best for us.

22 For I was ashamed to require of the king a band of Soldiers and Horsemen, to help us against the enemy in the way: because we had spoken unto the king, saying, The hand of our God is upon all them for good, that seek him, but his power and his wrath is against all them that forsake him.

23 So we fasted and besought our God for this, and he was entreated of us m.

m He gave us some Assurance of his gracious Answer to our Request.

24 Then I separated twelve of the chief of the priests, Sherebiah, Hashabiah, and ten of their brethren with them n:

n Or, and Shorebiah, &c. who were the Levites mentioned v. 18. who were jointly intrusted together with the Priests with the charge of carrying these things carefully and safely. The Particle and, is oft understood.

25 And weighed unto them the silver and the gold, and the vessels, even the offering of the house of our God, which the king, and his counsellors, and his lords, and all Israel there present, had offered.

26 I even weighed unto their hand, six hundred and fifty talents of silver, and silver vessels an hundred talents, and of gold an hundred talents:

27 Also twenty basons of gold, of a thousand drams, and two vessels of † fine copper, † precious as gold o.

† Heb. bright.

o Heb. desirable as gold, not that it was of equal price and worth with it, but for its incomparable Excellency in its kind, and for its great Rarity, for which cause there were only two Vessels of that sort.

28 And

† Heb. holiness. Lev. 21. 6. † Heb. holy to the LORD.

28 And I said unto them, Ye are † holy unto the LORD, the vessels are † holy also, and the silver and the gold are a free-will-offering unto the LORD God of your fathers.

29 Watch ye, and keep them, until ye weigh them before the chief of the priests, and the Levites, and chief of the fathers of Israel at Jerusalem, in the chambers of the house of the LORD.

30 So took the priests and the Levites, the weight of the silver, and the gold, and the vessels, to bring them to Jerusalem unto the house of our God.

31 Then we departed from the river of Ahava, on the twelfth day of the first month, to go unto Jerusalem, and the hand of our God was upon us, and he delivered us from the hand of the enemy, and of such as lay in wait by the way p.

p To wit, in the direct way. Whereby it may be conjectured, that God directed them to fetch a little compass, and to go a more uncouth and unfrequented way, as they had begged of God, v. 21.

32 And we came to Jerusalem, and abode there three days.

33 Now on the fourth day was the silver, and the gold, and the vessels weighed in the house of our God by the hand of Meremoth the son of Uriah the priest, and with him was Eleazar the son of Phinehas, and with them was Jozabad the son of Jeshua, and Noadiah the son of Binnui, Levites:

34 By number and by weight of every one: and all the weight was written at that time.

† His/their free entry, or the safe captivity, the sing of the word: penitus, Gr. Or, a place.

35 † Also the children of those that had been carried away, which were come out of the captivity q, offered burnt offerings unto the God of Israel, twelve bullocks for all Israel, ninety and six rams, seventy and seven lambs, twelve he-goats for a sin offering: all this was a burnt-offering unto the LORD.

q To wit, these now commers, whom God had safely conducted hither.

36 And they delivered the kings commissions unto the kings lieutenants, and to the governours on this side ‖ Or, assisted. the river; and they ‖ furthered the people, and the house of God r.

r In the adorning and furnishing of it with these Vessels and other Conveniencies; and in promoting Gods Worship and Service therein.

CHAP. IX.

Ezra and others, hearing of the unlawful Marriage of the People with Strangers, mourn for it, 1——4. He prayeth unto God, and confesseth their Sins, and particularly this, 5——15.

NOW when these things were done, the princes a came to me, saying, The people of Israel, and the priests, and the Levites have not separated themselves from the people of the lands b, doing according to their abominations c, even of the Canaanite, the Hittite, the Perizzite, the Jebusite, the Ammonite, the Moabite, the Egyptian, and the Amorite.

a Who feared God, and understood that Ezra was come with large Commission from the King, and with this design, to reform all Disorders, whereof this was not the least. b i. e. From the Heathen Nations round about them, which God had expressly commanded them to do, *Deut.*7.2,3. c To wit, either, 1. Marrying promiscuously whomsoever they liked, as the Heathens used to do; Or, 2. Imitating them in their Idolatrous or other wicked Practices, into which they were drawn by their Heathenish Affinities. Although they are not charged with any other Crime befides their Marriage in the following account of it.

2 For they have taken of their daughters for themselves, and for their sons: so that the holy seed have ‖ mingled themselves with the people of those lands d: yea, the hand of the princes and rulers e hath been chief in this trespass.

d This they had done, either, 1. In the Land of their Captivity into which these People were carried as well as others, as appears from Jer. 25. 9, &c. Or rather, 2. Since their return, as may be gathered from v. 8, 9, 10, 14. e Who should have restrained the People from this Sin, by their Authority and Example; and by doing otherwise, made the Sin more general, and involved themselves and the Nation in the Guilt of it.

3 And when I heard this thing, I rent my garment, and my mantle, f and plucked off the hair of my head, and of my beard g, and sat down astonied h.

f Both my inner and my upper Garment. g In testimony of my great Grief and Indignation; which was usual among all those Eastern and Ancient People, wherein he did not transgress that Law, *Lev.*19.27. *Deut.*14.1. because he did not shave off all the Hair, but only plucked off some hairs. h Partly for Grief and Shame at the Sin; and partly for fear of some great and dreadful Judgment which he expected and feared for it.

4 Then were assembled unto me i every one that trembled at the words of the God of Israel k, because of the transgression of those that had been carried away l, and I sat astonied until the evening sacrifice m.

i To joyn with me both in lamenting the Sin, and in indeavouring the redress of it. k i. e. Who stood in awe of God, and of his Word, and durst not violate his Commands; or who feared his Threatnings against those that did so, and trembled for fear of God's Judgments upon them, and upon the whole Land for their sakes, at the following words imply. Compare Isa. 66. 2, 5. l To wit, into Captivity, and were lately returned from it, and yet were not reclaimed either by their former Affliction, or by their late Deliverance. m When the People used to Assemble together. See Psal. 141. 2. Acts 3. 1.

5 And at the evening sacrifice I arose from my ‖ heaviness, n and having rent my garment and my mantle, I fell upon my knees, and spread out my hands unto the LORD my God,

n i. e. From that mournful posture, v. 4. and put my self into the posture of a Petitioner. Or, by reason of my heaviness, or affliction. Having mourned for the Sin, I considered that was not sufficient, and that God expected the Confession and Amendment of it, and therefore I fell to prayer.

6 And said, O my God, I am ashamed and blush to lift up my face to thee, my God: for our iniquities o are increased over our head, p and our ‖ trespasses grown up unto the heavens.

o He includes himself in the number of the Transgressors, not only by a Rhetorical figure called Communication, but partly because he himself was guilty of many Sins: and partly because the Princes and Priests, and so many of the People having done this, the Guilt was now become National. p Like deep Waters, in which we are as it were drowned, and ready to perish. Compare Psal. 32. 4.

7 Since the days of our fathers, have we been in a great trespass unto this day q; and for our iniquities have we, our kings, and our priests been delivered into the hand of the kings of the lands, to the sword, to captivity, and to a spoil, and to confusion of face, as it is this day.

q We are not purged from the Guilt and Filth of our Fathers Sins; but we are still feeling the sad Effects of their Sins in the continuing Captivity of a great number of our Brethren; and we are still repeating the same Sins.

8 And now for a † little space r grace hath been ‖ shewed from the LORD our God, to leave us a remnant to escape s, and to give us a ‖ nail t in his holy place u, that our God may lighten our Eyes x, and give us a little reviving in our bondage y:

† Heb. moment. ‖ Or, remnant. ‖ Or, a place.

r It is but a little while since God hath delivered and rescued us, and yet we are already returned to our former Sin and Folly. Or thus, we have enjoyed this Favour but a little while, and now we are sinning it away, and frustrating our own Happiness. s That by his Favour many of us should escape out of Captivity, whom he calls but a remnant, because the far greatest part of the Israelitish Nation were yet in Captivity. t i. e. Either 1. A fixt and merciful Prince of our own Nation and Religion; such being compared to Nails or Pins, as Isa. 22. 23. Or rather 2. Some kind of Settlement; whereas before we were toffed and removed from place to place as our Masters pleased. It is a Metaphor from Tents, which are fastened by Cords and Nails, or Pins. u i. e. In the holy Land, as the Land of Judah is called, Zech. 2. 12. Or, in Jerusalem, which is called The holy City, Neh. 11. 1, 18. Dan. 9. 24. which is peculiarly mentioned, because of the Temple, which was the Nail which fastened their Tents, and gave them some ground of hopes to continue in their Land. x i. e. That he might revive and comfort our hearts. For as darkness is oft put for a State of Sorrow and Affliction, so light is put for Joy and Comfort. y For we are not quite delivered, but still wear our Fetters upon us, being even here in subjection to our former Lords.

9 For we were bond-men z, yet our God hath not forsaken us in our bondage, but hath extended mercy unto us in the sight of the kings of Persia a, to give us a reviving b, to set up the house of our God, and † to repair the desolations thereof, c and to give us † a wall d in Judah and in Jerusalem.

† Heb. to set up. † Heb. a fence.

z i. e. In greater Bondage than that in which we now are. a i. e. Hath given us to find Favour in their Eyes. b To recover us from the Grave of dreadful Calamities in which we lay like dead Men and dry Bones, *Ezek.*37.1.&c. c To wit, of the Temple: either to build the House where there was only an heap of the Ruins of the old Temple. Or rather 2. To frequent and celebrate the Worship of God in that place, which hath long lain like a desolate and neglected place by or the Building of that called Ezra mentioned in the next foregoing words. d Heb. an hedge, or a fence, either 1. The Wall built about Jerusalem. But it is probable that was not yet built, as we shall see by the following History. Besides, this fence is intimated to be as much a fence to the rest of Judah, as to Jerusalem: Or 2. The Favour and Protection of the Kings of Persia, whose Edicts on their behalf were under God their Security against all those Enemies wherewith they were encompassed. Or 3. The powerful and gracious Providence of God, which had brought them together, and planted them in their own Land, and watched over them from time to time.

10 And now, O our God, what shall we say after this e? for we have forsaken thy commandments, e What Apology can we make for our selves after thou hast conferred such great and high favours upon us, and we have so grossly abused them?

† Heb. by the hand of thy servants.

11 Which thou hast commanded † by thy servants the prophets, saying, The land unto which ye go to possess, it is an unclean land with the filthiness of the people of the lands, g with their abominations, which have filled it † from one end to another, with their uncleanness.

† Heb. from mouth to mouth.

g This notes the cause or matter of this uncleanness. The Land was not unclean in it self, but only polluted by the filthiness of its Inhabitants. g Or, of these Lands, which are round about it. This Land is as corrupt as any of the rest of the Heathen Nations.

* Exod. 23.32. Deut. 7.3.

12 Now therefore * give not your daughters unto their sons, neither take their daughters unto your sons, nor seek their peace, or their wealth for ever: h that ye may be strong i and eat the good of the land, and leave it for an inheritance to your children for ever.

h But root them out, as I have commanded you to do; which always they have abundantly deserved, both of mine, and of your hands. See Deut. 7.2. i Although you may fancy that this way of making Leagues and Marriages with them, is the only way to establish and settle you, yet I assure you, it will weaken and ruin you, and the contrary course will make you stronger.

13 And after all that is come upon us for our evil deeds, and for our great trespass k, seeing that thou our God † hast punished us less than our iniquities deserved, and hast given us such deliverance as this m, † Heb. hast punished us beneath our iniquities.

k After all our former sinnings for our sins. l And after all thy favour shewed to us in the multitude of thy judgments. m So full, so sudden, and unexpected, and amazing, not only to our enemies, but also to our selves.

14 Should we again break thy commandments, n and joyn in affinity with the people of these abominations: wouldest not thou be angry with us till thou hadst consumed us, so that there should be no remnant nor escaping o?

n Was this a fit and just requital of all thy kindnesses? or was this thy end and design in these actions? or wilt thou take this well from our hands? o Can we reasonably expect any thing from thee less than utter ruine?

15 O LORD God of Israel, thou art righteous p, for we remain yet escaped q, as it is this day: behold, we are before thee in our trespasses r: for we cannot stand before thee s, because of this t.

p A just and holy God, who doth hate, and wilt infallibly punish sin and sinners. Or, thou art merciful, as appears from hence, that notwithstanding all our sins, thou hast not utterly destroyed us, but left a remnant of us. The Hebrew word here rendred righteous, is oft used for merciful; as is well known to all the Learned. q Or, though we remain, &c. i. e. Though thou hast yet spared us in part, yet thou art righteous, and therefore wilt certainly punish and destroy us according to our deserts, if we do not repent us, and reform this great wickedness. r We are here in thy presence, and do are all our sins; we are arraigning our selves before thy Tribunal, acknowledging our selves to be vile offenders, and thee to be just, if thou destroy us. s To wit, in Judgment, as that word is oft used, as Psal. 130. 3. Compare Psal. 1. 5. we must needs fall and perish at thy presence, as the phrase is, Psal. 9.3. t Because of this our great guilt, and the aggravations of it.

CHAP. X.

Shechaniah encourageth Ezra to reform the strange Marriages, 1——4. All Israel sweare to do accordingly, 5. Ezra mourning, assembleth the people, 6—8. The people at the exhortation of Ezra repent, and promise amendment, 9——14. Their care to perform it, 15,16. The names of them that married strange wives, 18——44.

NOw when Ezra had prayed, and when he had confessed, weeping and casting himself down before the house of God, there assembled unto him out of Israel, a very great congregation of men, and women, and children a: for the people † wept very sore b.

† Heb. wept a great weeping.

a Awakened by the words and example of this holy Priest, and great Potentate. So inexpressible is the good, which is done by the good example, and the evil, which is done by the bad example of a great Person, or of a Minister. The fame of his great zeal and grief, and of his many and publick expressions thereof in the Court before the Temple, being in an instant dispersed over all the City, brought a great company together. b Being greatly affected with Ezra's prayer, and with the common sin.

2 And Shechaniah the son of Jehiel, one of the sons of Elam, answered and said unto Ezra, We have trespassed c against our God, and have taken d strange wives of the people of the land: yet now there is hope in Israel concerning this thing e.

c He saith, we, either, 1. Because he was guilty in this matter. Or rather, 2. In the name of the People, and their several Families, and his own amongst the rest. For this mans name is not in the following Catalogue, but there we have his Father, Jehiel, and his Fathers Brethren, five other Sons of his Grandfather Elam, v. 26. It was therefore an evidence of his great Courage, and good Conscience, that he durst so freely and fully discharge his duty, whereby he shewed, that he honoured God more than his nearest and dearest Relations. d To wit, into conjugal society with our selves. e In case of our repentance, and reformation. Therefore let us not sorrow like persons without hope, nor sit down in despair, but let us fall upon action, and amend our errours, and then trust to Gods mercy.

3 Now therefore let us make a covenant with our God, † to put away all the wives f, and such as are † Heb. to born of them g, according to the counsel of my lord h, bring forth. and of those that tremble at the * commandment of our God i, and let it be done according to the law k.

* Deut. 7.3.

f Which though it may seem harsh, yet is not unjust, if it be considered, 1. That Marriages made between some prohibited Persons; as suppose, between a Father, and his Daughter, a Brother, and a Sister, are not only unlawful, but void Marriages, and ipso facto, null, by the Political Laws of Civil Nations. And therefore these Marriages with Idolatrous and Heathen Women, being expressly and severely forbidden by God, might well be disannulled. And it was one of good Theodosius his Laws, that those actions which were done against law, should be accounted not only unlawful, but null. 2. That there were many peculiar laws given to the Jews concerning the marrying, and putting away of Wives, as hath been observed before in their proper places, and therefore it is not strange, if there be something more in this case, then is now usual with us. 3. Supposing the Matrimonial Tye had continued, yet they might be excluded from co-habitation with them, as a just punishment upon them for the wilful breach of a known and positive Law of God. g This may seem harder than the former, but many things may be said: 1. Whatsoever evil befel either them or their Children, they had all reason to accept it as the just and deserved fruit of their own sin. 2. That Children may, and sometimes do suffer, at least temporal evils, for their Parents sins, or upon occasion of them, is most evident, both by the Scripture instances, and by the Laws and Usages of Nations in some cases. 3. This may seem to have been a necessary part of severity, partly as a proper punishment of the Parents sin herein, and to deter others more effectually from the like practices: partly to prevent the corruption of their other Children by the Conversation and Society of this ungodly and idolatrous Brood: and partly, lest such Children, being continually present with them, and stealing into their affections, might at last prevail with them to take their ejected Wives again. 4. These Children were only cast out of the Families and Commonwealth of Israel, but were not utterly forsaken and ruined, but due care was probably taken by Authority, that they should have fome provision made for them, and some care taken about their Education in the Jewish Religion, &c. h Either 1. As thou counsellest and desirest us to do. Or, 2. Let us do it in such manner as thou shalt think fit and agreeable to the Law, as it follows: for it requires great caution, as being a matter of no small difficulty. i And of other serious and religious persons who may with thee consider and regulate the business. k This is meant, either 1. Of the matter of the business, let that be done which the Law requires; let them be put away. Or, 2. Of the manner of it, which must be according to the Rules of Gods Law.

4 Arise, for this matter belongeth unto thee! l we also will be with thee; be of good courage, and do it.

l Because thou hast both skill to manage it, and authority both from God, and from the Persian King to do it.

5 Then arose Ezra, and made the chief priests, the Levites, and all Israel to swear, that they should do according to this word. And they sware.

6 Then Ezra rose up before the house of God, and went into the chamber m of Johanan the son of Eliashib: and when he came thither, he did eat no bread, nor drink water: for he mourned because of the transgression of them that had been carried away.

m That he with the Princes and Elders, as it follows v. 8. might consult about the execution of their Resolutions.

7 And they made proclamation throughout Judah and Jerusalem, unto all the children of the captivity, that they should gather themselves together unto Jerusalem;

8 And that whosoever would not come within three days, according to the counsel of the princes and the elders, all his substance should be † forfeited, and himself † Heb. separated from the congregation n of those that had cursed. been carried away.

n Either by Banishment: Or rather by Excommunication from the Church, and People, and House, and Publick Worship of God.

9 Then all the men of Judah, and Benjamin o, gathered themselves together unto Jerusalem within three days: (it was the ninth month, on the twentieth day of the month) and all the people sat in the street of the house of God p, trembling because of this matter, and for † the great rain q.

† Heb. the rain of greatness.

o Not only of these two Tribes, as appears from the following Catalogue, where there are Priests and Levites; but all the Israelites, v. 25. who are thus described, partly because the greatest part of them were of these Tribes, though others were mixed with them: and partly because they all now dwelt in that Land which formerly was appropriated to those Tribes. p In that street of the City, which was next to the Temple, and within the view of it, that so they might be as in Gods presence, whereby they might be awed to a more faithful and vigorous prosecution of their work. And this place they might chuse rather than the Court of the People, because they thought it might be polluted by the delinquents, who were all to come thither. q Which they took for a token of Gods displeasure against them.

† Heb. sit in the street. Heb. trembling.

10 And Ezra the priest stood up, and said unto them, Ye have transgressed, and † have taken strange wives to increase the trespass of Israel.

† Heb. made to dwell.

11 Now therefore make confession unto the LORD God

God of your fathers, and do his pleasure r, and separate your selves from the people of the land, and from the strange wives.

r You have sinfully pleased your selves, now please God by your Obedience to his Command.

12 Then all the congregation answered, and said with a loud voice, As thou hast said, so must we do.

13 But the people are many, and it is a time of much rain, and we are not able to stand without, neither is this a work of one day or two: for ‖ we are many that have transgressed in this thing.

‖ Or, we have great multitudes of sinners in this thing.

14 Let now our rulers of all the congregation stand s, and let all them which have taken strange wives t in our cities, come at appointed times, and with them the elders of every city, and the Judges thereof u, until the fierce wrath of our God ‖ for this matter, be turned from us x.

‖ Or, till this matter be dispatched.

s Let the great Council, called the Sanhedrim, be settled, and meet to judge and determine of all particular Causes. t To wit, of their heathen Nations such as were not proselyted to the Jewish Religion before their Marriage; or since revolted from it. u Who are best able to inform the great Council of the quality of the persons, and of all Matters of Fact and Circumstances. x i. e. Until the thing be done, and Gods wrath thereby removed.

15 Only Jonathan the son of Asahel, and Jahaziah the son of Tikvah, † were employed about this matter y: and Meshullam, and Shabbethai the Levite helped them.

† Heb. stood, or were employed.

y To wit, to take due care that the business should be executed in the manner proposed, that the Officers and Delinquents of every City should come successively in convenient time and order, as they should appoint, and to take and keep an exact account of the whole transaction, and of the names of the Cities and Persons whose Causes were dispatched, and to give notice to others to come in their turns, and to prepare the business for the hearing of the Judges. And these two were Priests, as their Coadjutors or Helpers were Levites; that so they might inform the persons concerned, if any matter of doubt did arise.

16 And the children of the captivity did so: and Ezra the priest, with certain chief of the fathers, after the house of their fathers, and all of them by their names were separated z, and sate down in the first day of the tenth month to examine the matter.

z i. e. Sequestred themselves from all other business, and gave themselves wholly to this.

17 And they made an end with all the men that had taken strange wives, by the first day of the first month.

18 And among the sons of the priests, there were found that had taken strange wives: namely, of the sons of Jeshua, the son of Jozadak, and his brethren; Maaseiah, and Eliezer, and Jarib, and Gedaliah.

19 And they gave their hand a that they would put away their wives: and being guilty, they offered a ram of the flock for their trespass.

a i. e. They covenanted or swore by giving their hand; which was the usual gesture in those cases. Of which see Levit. 6.2. Ezek. 17.18.

20 And of the sons of Immer; Hanani, and Zebadiah.

21 And of the sons of Harim; Maaseiah, and Elijah, and Shemaiah, and Jehiel, and Uzziah.

22 And of the sons of Pashur; Elioenai, Maaseiah, Ishmael, Nethaneel, Jozabad, and Elasah.

23 Also of the Levites; Jozabad, and Shimei, and Kelaiah, (the same is Kelita) Pethahiah, Judah, and Eliezer.

24 Of the singers also, Eliashib: and of the porters; Shallum, and Telem, and Uri.

25 Moreover of Israel b: of the sons of Parosh, Ramiah, and Jeziah, and Malchia, and Miamin, and Eleazar, and Malchijah, and Benajah.

b i. e. Of the People of Israel, distinguished from the Priests and the Levites hitherto named, who before were called Judah and Benjamin, v. 9. where see the notes.

26 And of the sons of Elam; Mattaniah, Zechariah, and Jehiel, and Abdi, and Jeremoth, and Eliah.

27 And of the sons of Zattu; Elioenai, Eliashib, Mattaniah, and Jeremoth, and Zabad, and Aziza.

28 Of the sons also of Bebai, Jehohanan, Hananiah, Zabbai, and Athlai.

29 And of the sons of Bani; Meshullam, Malluch, and Adaijah, Jashub, and Sheal, and Ramoth.

30 And of the sons of Pahath-moab, Adna, and Chelal, Benajah, Maaseiah, Mattaniah, Bezaleel, and Binnui, and Manasseh.

31 And of the sons of Harim; Eliezer, Ishijah, Malchiah, Shemaiah, Shimeon, 32 Benjamin, Malluch, and Shemariah.

33 Of the sons of Hashum; Matanai, Mattathah, Zabad, Eliphelet, Jeremai, Manasseh, and Shimei.

34 Of the sons of Bani; Maadi, Amram, and Uel.

35 Benajah, Bedejah, Chelluh,

36 Vaniah, Meremoth, Eliashib.

37 Mattaniah, Mattenai, and Jaasau,

38 And Bani, and Binnui, Shemei,

39 And Shelemiah, and Nathan, and Adajah,

40 ‖ Machnadebai, Shashai, Sharai,

‖ Or, Mashaddai, according to some copies.

41 Azareel, and Shelemiah, Shemariah, 42 Shallum, Amariah. and Joseph.

43 Of the sons of Nebo; Jehiel, Mattithiah, Zabad, Zebina, Jadau, and Joel, Benajah.

44 All these had taken strange wives: and some of them had wives by whom they had children c.

c Whereby he implies that most of their Wives were barren. Which came to pass by Gods special Providence, partly to manifest his displeasure against such matches, and partly that the practice of this great and necessary duty might not be encumbred with too many difficulties.

NEHEMIAH.

This Book seems not to have been written by Ezra, because it is written in a quite differing, and more plain and easy stile, and without that mixture of Chaldee or Syriack words, which is in the Book of Ezra, but by Nehemiah, who writ an account of his own Transactions, as Ezra did of his. But whether this be the same Nehemiah, who came up with Zerubbabel, Ezra 2.2. and Nehemiah 7.7. may be questioned, the same name being oft given to divers persons. And for the name of Tirshatha, which is used both Ezra 2. 63. and Nehemiah 7. 65,70. that seems to be the Title of his Office, and so belongs to any Governour, whether it was Zerubbabel, or Nehemiah, or any other.

CHAP. I.

Nehemiah understanding by Hanani, the affliction of the Jews, and the misery of Jerusalem, 1——3. mourneth, fasteth and prayeth, 4. His prayer for them, 5——10. and for success in his petition to the King, 11.

THE words a of Nehemiah the son of Hachaliah. And it came to pass in the month * Chisleu b, in the twentieth year c, as I was in Shushan d the palace, a Or rather, the acts, or deeds as the word oft signifies; of which here treats. b Which is the ninth month, containing part of November, and part of December. c Of Artaxerxes, ch. 2.1. d The Chief and Royal City of Persia, Esth. 3.15.

2 That Hanani, one of my Brethren e came, he and certain men of Judah, and I asked them concerning the Jews that had escaped f, which were left of the captivity g and concerning Jerusalem.

e Of my Family or Tribe or Nation. f Out of the slavery which they indured in strange Lands. g The remnant of those numerous Captives.

3 And they said unto me, the remnant that are left of the captivity there in the province h are in great affliction and reproach i: the wall of Jerusalem also is broken down, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire k.

* King. 25.10.

h i. e. In Judea, which was now made a Province under the Persian Monarchs: see the Notes on Ezra 4. 8. i Despised and distressed by the neighbouring Nations. k i. e. The walls and gates continue in the same woful plight in which Nebuchadnezzar left them, the Jews not being yet in a condition to rebuild them, nor having Commission from the Kings of Persia to do so, but only to build the Temple and their own private Houses. And this made their enemies scorn them; who also would have ruined them, but for fear of offending the Persian King.

4 And it came to pass when I heard these words, that I sate down and wept, and mourned certain days, and prayed before the God of heaven.

5 And said, I beseech thee, * O LORD God of heaven, the great and terrible God, * that keepeth covenant, and mercy for them that love him, and observe his commandments,

* Dan. 9.4. * Exod. 20.6.

6 Let thine ear now be attentive, and thine eyes open, that thou mayest hear the prayer of thy servant, which I pray before thee now, day and night, for the children of Israel thy servants, and confess the sins of the children of Israel, which we have sinned against thee:

thee: both I, and my fathers house have sinned,

7 We have deale very corruptly l against thee, and have not kept the commandments, nor the statutes, nor the judgments which thou commandedst thy servant Moses.

l Or we have wholly corrupted, to wit, our selves, and our ways, and thy Worship.

8 Remember, I beseech thee, the word that thou commandedst thy servant Moses, to deliver to us, saying, * If ye transgresse, I will scatter you abroad among the nations:

* Lev. 26. 33. Deut. 4.25,&c. * Deut. 30. 4.

9 But if ye turn unto me, and keep my commandments, and do them; * though there were of you cast out unto the uttermost part of heaven, yet will I gather them from thence, and will bring them unto the place that I have chosen to set my name there.

10 Now these are thy servants, and thy people, whom thou hast redeemed by thy great power, and by thy strong hand.

11 O LORD, I beseech thee, let now thine ear be attentive unto the prayer of thy servant, and to the prayer of thy servants, † who desire to fear thy name: and prosper, I pray thee, thy servant this day, and grant him mercy in the sight of this man m. For I was the kings cup-bearer n.

† Heb. who will fear, or delight to fear.

m The King: who though a God by Office, is but a Man by Nature, and therefore his heart is wholly at thy disposal. n Whereby I had opportunity to speak to him, and some favour and freedom with him; which encouraged me to make this Prayer, and to hope for some success.

CHAP. II.

Artaxerxes unadvisedly the cause of Nehemiahs sadnesse, 1—6. Sendeth him with Letters to Jerusalem, 7,8. Nehemiah to the grief of the enemies cometh to Jerusalem, 9——11. and secretly by night vieweth the ruines of Jerusalem, 12——15. He encourageth the Jews to build, 17,18. The enemies deriding, charge them with rebellion against the King, 19. Nehemiahs answer, 20.

* Esth. 3. 7. AND it came to pass in the month * Nisan a, in the twentieth year of Artaxerxes b the King, that wine was before him: and I took up the wine, and gave it unto the king. Now I had not been before-time sad in his presence.

a Which was four months after he had heard those sad tidings. The reason of this long silence and delay might be manifold; either because he thought fit that some time should be spent by himself and possibly others of his brethren in seeking God by solemn Prayer and Fasting, for Gods blessing and the good success of this great affair: or because he could not take so long and dangerous a journey in the depth of Winter: or because his turn of attending upon the King did not come to him till that time: or because till then he wanted a fit opportunity to move it to the King, by reason of the King's indisposition, or occasions, or multitude of attendants, among whom there probably were divers enemies to the Jews, who, he feared, might hinder his design and desire. b Artaxerxes Longimanus, the Son of the great Xerxes, who reigned both with his father, and after his death alone: whence the years of his reign are computed two ways, one from the death of Xerxes; and the other from his first entrance upon the administration of the Kingdom, which was committed to him in the fifth year of Xerxes, when he began the Grecian War, and left his Son King or Viceroy in his stead, as the manner of the Persians was. It may seem doubtful, and is not much material which way of computation is here used. Others understand this of Artaxerxes Mnemon.

2 Wherefore the king said unto me, Why is thy countenance sad c, seeing thou art not sick? this is nothing else but sorrow of heart. Then I was very sore afraid d, c His fasting joyned with inward grief had made a sensible change in his very countenance. d Partly being daunted by the Majesty of the King, and the suddennesse and sharpnesse of his question: partly fearing lest there was arising some jealousie or ill opinion in the King concerning him; partly because it was an unusual and ungrateful thing to come into the King of Persia's presence with any badges or tokens of sorrow, Esth. 4. 2. and principally from his doubts or fears of disappointment, because his request was great and invidious, and odious to the most of the Persian Courtiers, and might be represented as dangerous, and might seem improper for a time of feasting and jollity.

3 And said unto the King, * Let the King live for ever e. Why should not my countenance be sad, when the city, the † place of my fathers sepulchres f, lieth waste, and the gates thereof are consumed with fire?

* 1 Kings 1.31. Dan. 2. 4. & 6. 21. † Heb. house.

4 Then the King said unto me, For what dost thou make request? So I prayed to the God of heaven g?

e My sadnesse comes not from any discontent with my own condition, or any dissatisfaction to the King, for whom my hearty Prayers are that he may live for ever; but from another cause. f Which by all Nations are effeemed sacred and inviolable and honourable. He saith not a word of the Temple or of Religion, for he wisely confidered that he spake before a heathen King and Court who cared for none of those things. g To direct my thoughts and words, and to incline the Kings heart to grant my request.

5 And I said unto the king, If it please the king h, and if thy servant have found favour in thy sight i, that thou wouldest send me unto Judah, unto the city of my fathers sepulchres, that I may build it.

h My request, whatsoever it is, I humbly and wholly submit it to the King's good pleasure, being resolved to acquiesce in it. i I pretend no merit, but am an humble Suppliant for thy Grace and favour, whereof having received some tokens, I am thereby emboldened to make this farther request.

6 And the king said unto me, (the † queen also sitting by him k) For how long shall thy journey be? and when wilt thou return l? So it pleased the king to send me, and I set him a time m.

k Which is here noted, partly as an unusual thing; for commonly the Kings of Persia dined alone, and their Queens seldom dined with them, as Historians note: and peradventure, because the Queen expressed some kindness to him, and promoted his request with the King. l This question shewed the King's respect and affection to him, and that he was not willing to want his attendance longer than was necessary. m Either that 12 years mentioned, ch. 5. 14. & 13. 6. or rather a far shorter time: for which cause, among others, he built the walls with such dispatch, even in 52 days, ch. 6. 15. and probably not very long after that returned to the King by whom he was sent a second time with more ample Commission, and for the King's service, and the Government of that part of his Dominions.

7 Moreover, I said unto the king, If it please the king, let letters be given me to the governours beyond the river, that they may convey me over n till I come into Judah.

n That they may safely conduct me through their several Territories.

8 And a letter unto Asaph the keeper † of the kings forrest, o that he may give me timber to make beams for the gates of the palace, which appertained to the house p, and for the wall of the city, and for the house that I shall enter into q. And the King granted me, * according to the good hand of my God upon me.

o Of the Forest of Libanus, famous for pleasure and for plenty of choice Trees. p To wit, of the Kings Palace, which was adjoyning to the house of God. Or, of the Tower or Fence belonging to the House of God, to wit, for the Gates of the Courts of the Temple: for though the Temple was built, the Courts and other Buildings belonging to the Temple might yet be unfinished. q Whereunto I may build an house in which I may dwell whilst I am there, and which I may dispose of as I see fit.

9 Then I came to the governours beyond the river, and gave them the kings letters. (Now the king had sent captains of the army, and horsemen with me.)

10 When Sanballat the Horonite r, and Tobiah the servant s the Ammonite, heard of it, it grieved them exceedingly that there was come a man to seek the welfare of the children of Israel.

r So called, either from his Family, or from the place of his birth or rule, which is supposed to be Horonaim, an Eminent City of Moab, Isa. 15. 5. Jer. 48. 3. s So called probably from his servile original, or condition from which he was advanced to his present power and dignity: which also may be mentioned as one reason why he now carried himself so insolently and perversly towards the Jews; it being usual for Persons suddenly raised from a mean to an high estate, to fo demean themselves.

11 So I came to Jerusalem, and was there three days t.

t Resting my self after my long Journey, and enquiring into the state of the City.

12 And I arose in the night u, I and some few men with me, neither told I any man what God had put in my heart to do at Jerusalem: neither was there any beast with me, save the beast that I rode upon x.

u Concealing both his intentions and actions as far and as long as he could, as knowing that the life of his business lay in secrecy and expedition. x To prevent noise, and the notice of what I did.

13 And I went out by night y, by the gate of the valley z, even before the dragon-well a, and to the dung-port b, and viewed the walls of Jerusalem, which were broken down, and the gates thereof were consumed with fire.

y The Footmen which accompanied him directing and leading him in the way. His design was to go round about the City, to observe the compass and condition of the Walls and Gates, that he might make sufficient provisions for the work. z Or, which see ch. 3. 13. a A fountain or water so called, either from some figure of a Dragon or Serpent which was by it: or from some living Dragons which abode there when the City was desolate: for Dragons delight to be in desolate places, and nigh to Springs of Water, as divers have observed. b Through which they used to carry the dung out of the City.

14 Then I went on to the gate of the fountain c, and to the kings pool d: but there was no place for the beast that was under me to pass e.

c i. e. Which led to the Fountain, to wit, of Siloah or Gihon. d That which King Hezekiah had made: of which see 2 Chron. 32. 30. e The way being obstructed with heaps of rubbish.

15 Then went I up in the night by the brook f, and viewed the wall, and turned back, and entred by the gate of the valley, and so returned g.

f Of Kidron; of which see on 2 Sam. 15. 23. g Having gone round about the City.

16 And the rulers knew not whither I went, or what I did, neither had I as yet told it to the Jews nor to the priests, nor to the nobles, nor to the rulers, nor to the rest that did h the work i.

h Or, were to do, or should do, i. e. Whom he intended to employ in it. i Here following, of building the Walls.

17 Then said I unto them, Ye see the distresse that we are in, how Jerusalem lieth waste, and the gates thereof are burnt with fire: come, and let us build up the wall of Jerusalem, that we be no more a reproach.

18 Then I told them of the hand of my God which was good upon me; as also the kings words that he had spoken unto me. And they said, Let us rise up and build. So they strengthened their hands for this good work.

19 But when Sanballat the Horonite, and Tobiah the servant the Ammonite, and Geshem the Arabian i heard it, they laughed us to scorn, and despised us, and said, What is this thing that ye do? Will ye rebel against the king l?

k Either the King's Lieutenant in Arabia, as Tobiah was among the Ammonites, and Sanballat among the Moabites: Or, rather an Arabian by his birth. And it seems probable that both he, and Sanballat, and Tobiah, were chief Men or Governours among the Samaritans, or in their Army. See ch. 4. 1, 2, 3. l Do you design to fortifie this City against the King.

20 Then answered I them, and said unto them, The God of heaven, he will prosper us; therefore we his servants will arise and build: but * ye have no portion, nor right m, nor memorial n in Jerusalem.

m You have no authority over us, nor interest in our Church or State, or City, but are meer Aliens from the Common-wealth of Israel. We disown and detest that mungrel-Worship and Religion which you have set up. We desire not your favour, or friendship, or help in this matter. And you have nothing to do to enquire into, or meddle with our concerns, or to hinder us in our present undertaking. n No Testimony, or Monument, either of your Relation to us by Birth or Religion, or of your kindness to us or to this place. But we have many memorials of your Malice and Enmity against us.

CHAP. III.

The Names of the several Families that builded; their Order wherein, and the Proportion, how much they builded, 1——32.

Ch. 12. 10. THEN * Eliashib the high priest a rose up b with his brethren the priests, and they built the sheep-gate c; they sanctified it d, and set up the doors of it; even unto the tower of Meah e they sanctified it, unto the tower of * Hananeel.

Jer. 31. 38

a Grand-child of Jeshua, the first High-Priest after their return from Babylon. b Began the work. c Which was next to the Temple: so called, either from the Sheep-Market, or the Sheep-pool of Bethesda, John 5. 2. where the Sheep were washed, and then brought to the Temple to be sacrificed. d Or, they prepared or repaired it: for to the word sometimes signifies. But our translation seems best, both because that use of the word is most common, and because this is spoken only of this gate, which being built by the Priests, and nigheft to the Temple, and with a special Eye to the service of the Temple, for which both Men and Things were most commonly brought in this way, and being also the first part of the building, might be in a peculiar manner sanctified by solemn Prayer and Sacrifice, whereby it was dedicated to God's Service, and this either, 1. As it was considered in it self, or with respect to the rest of the building, of which this was the beginning, and in a manner the first-fruits, and therefore in the sanctification of it the whole lump and building was sanctified. And seeing the whole City is oft called the holy City, it is not strange if the Walls and Gates of it be also holy, and said to be sanctified, and especially this Gate. Compare Deut. 20. 5. e Or, of an hundred; so called, either because it was an hundred Cubits high, or so far distant from the Sheep-Gate.

Ch. 12. 39. at the gate I.

2 And † next unto him built the men of Jericho f: and next to them built Zaccur the son of Imri.

† Or, by.

f The Posterity of the ancient Inhabitants of Jericho. See Ezra 2. 34.

3 But the * fish-gate g did the sons of Hassenaah build, who also laid the beams thereof, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof h.

* Or, the gate of fishes. Neh. 12. 39. Zeph. 1. 10. Ch. 2. 14.

g Of which mention is made, 2 Chron. 33. 14. Neh. 12. 39. Zeph. 1. 10. so called, either from the Fish-market which was near it; or, because the Fish was brought in by it from the Sea, Neh. 13. 16. this Gate being North-Westward from Jerusalem. h This is either here related by anticipation, the whole work being here mentioned together, though this part was not done till afterwards, ch. 6. 1. & 7. 1. Or this was done to some of the Gates, but not to all; and therefore this is said to be done more compleatly and universally afterwards.

4 And next unto them repaired i Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz: and next unto them repaired Meshullam the son of Berechiah, the son of Meshezabeel: and next unto them repaired Zadok the son of Baana.

i To wit, the demolished or decayed Wall, there being no gate in this part. And so in the rest which follow.

5 And next unto them the Tekoites repaired; but their nobles put not their neck k to * the work of their Lord l.

Jer. 27. 2

k i. e. Did not submit to it, would not farther it, either through Pride, or Sloth, and Carelessnesse, or Covetousness, or Covetous Compliance with the Enemies of the Jews. l Either, 1. Of Nehemiah, who was their Lord and Governour, and had given a general command for the carrying on of this work. Or, 2. Of God, whom they owned for their Lord, whose work this was, partly because it had proceeded thus far by God's singular Providence and Blessing: and partly because it was done for the defence of the City, and People, and Temple of God. And therefore they are branded to all posterity for the neglect of so great and pious a work.

6 Moreover the old gate repaired Jehoiada the son of Paseah, and Meshullam the son of Besodeiah; they laid the beams thereof, and set up the doors thereof, and the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

7 And next unto them repaired Melatiah the Gibeonite, and Jadon the Meronothite, the men of Gibeon, and of Mizpah, unto the throne of the governour on this side the river l.

l i. e. Unto the place where the Governour of the Country on this side Euphrates, for, and under the Persian Kings, sometimes had a Palace or Throne, to which all perfons living in the adjacent parts, were to resort for judgment.

8 Next unto him repaired Uzziel the son of Harhajah, of the goldsmiths; next unto him also repaired Hananiah, the son of one of the apothecaries, and they † fortified m Jerusalem unto the broad wall.

m It is not said, they repaired, as was said of the rest, but they fortified it, either because this part of the Wall was less demolished than the other, and therefore they needed not to repair it, but only to make it stronger by some additions; or, to note their extraordinary care and diligence, that they would not only repair it, and restore it to its former state, but make it stronger than ever it was; which also might be fit to be done in that part of the City. Others render it, they left, as this word commonly signifies: and so the meaning is, They omitted the building of that part of the Wall, because it remained standing; this being that piece of 40 Cubits which was pulled down by Joash King of Israel, and rebuilt by Uzziah, who made it so strong, that the Children could not pull it down without more trouble than they thought fit to imploy about it. But this Chapter gives us an account of what they did in the Building, not of what they did not, but left as they found it.

9 And next unto them repaired Rephajah the son of Hur, the ruler of the half part of Jerusalem n.

n As Rome was anciently divided into several Quarters or Regions, so was Jerusalem, and especially this was divided into two parts, whereof one was in the Tribe of Benjamin, and nearest to the Temple, the other in the Tribe of Judah, and more remote from it: which accordingly had two several Rulers, this Man and the other, verse 12. but both under the chief Governour of the City.

10 And next unto them repaired Jedajah the son of Harumaph, even over against his house o: and next unto him repaired Hattush the son of Hashabniah.

o That part of the Wall which was next to him, which his own Interest obliged him to do with care.

11 Malchijah the son of Harim, and Hashub the son of Pahath-moab, repaired the † other piece, and the tower of the furnaces.

† Heb. second.

12 And next unto him repaired Shallum the son of Hallohesh, the ruler of the half part of Jerusalem p, he and his daughters q.

p i. e. Of the other half, &c. See on v. 9. q Who were either Heiresses, or rich Widows, and called part to be done at their charges.

13 * The valley-gate repaired Hanun, and the inhabitants of Zanoah, they built it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and a thousand cubits on the wall unto * the dung gate.

* Ch. 2. 13

14 But the dung-gate repaired Malchiah the son of Rechab, the ruler of part of Beth-haccerem r: he built it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof.

r A Town or Territory, the Government whereof was divided between two persons.

15 But * the gate of the fountain repaired Shallum the son of Col-hozeh, the ruler of part of Mizpah, he built it, and covered it, and set up the doors thereof, the locks thereof, and the bars thereof, and the wall of the pool of † Siloah s by the kings garden, and unto the stairs that go down from the city of David.

* Ch. 2. 14. † Heb. Shelah.

s That part of the Wall which was directly against that Pool.

16 After him repaired Nehemiah the son of Azbuk, the ruler of the half part of Beth-zur unto the place over against the sepulchres of David t, and to the * pool that was made u, and unto the house of the mighty x.

* 2 Kings. 20. 20.

t i. e. The place which David appointed for his own Sepulchres, and the Sepulchres of his Successors the Kings of Israel and Judah. u To wit, by Hezekiah, 2 Kings, 20. 20. Whereby it is distinguished from that Pool which was natural. x Or, of the valiant: which possibly possibly was formerly appointed for the receipt of those chief Captains that should attend upon the King in their courses, or of some other valiant Commanders, who should upon occasion resort to Jerusalem.

17 After him repaired the Levites, Rehum the son of Bani: next unto him repaired Hashabiah, the ruler of the half part of Keilah, in his part.

18 After him repaired Bavai the son of Henadad, the ruler of the half part of Keilah.

19 And next to him repaired Ezer the son of Jeshua, the ruler of Mizpah, another piece over against the going up to the armory y at the turning of the wall z.

y Either to the house of the Forreſt of Lebanon, which was their Armory from Solomon's days, Isa. 22. 8. or to some other place, which either before or since that time had been used as another, and less Armory for common occasions. z Or, at the corner: or, which is in the corner.

[Or, Zacai. 20 After him Baruch the son of ‖ Zabbai, earnestly repaired a the other piece, from the turning of the wall b, unto the door of the house c of Eliashib the high priest.

a Did his work with eminent diligence and fervency: which is here noted to his commendation. b Or, from the corner, as v. 19. c Unto that part of the Wall which was over against, or next to this door.

21 After him repaired Meremoth the son of Urijah, the son of Koz, another piece, from the door of the house of Eliashib, even to the end of the house of Eliashib d.

d Therefore the door was not in the middle of the House, as now they commonly are, but at one end of it.

22 After him repaired the priests, the men of the plain e.

e Either of the plains of Jordan; or of the plain Country round about Jerusalem, as it is called, ch. 12. 28. And they are thus called, because they, or their Parents, either were born, or now did, or formerly had dwelt in those parts; whence they came to Jerusalem, when the service of the Temple required it.

23 After him repaired Benjamin, and Hashub, over against their house: after him repaired Azariah the son of Maaseiah, the son of Ananiah by his house.

24 After him repaired Binnui the son of Henadad, another piece, from the house of Azariah, unto the turning of the wall, even unto the corner.

25 Palal the son of Uzai, over against the turning of the wall f, and the tower g which lieth out from the kings high house h, that was by the * court of the prison i: after him, Pedajah the son of Parosh.

[a] Jer. 32. 2. & 33. 1. & 37. 21.

f In a part of the Wall, which jutted out as the tower here following did, and therefore was oppoſite to, or over against that turning. g Or, even the tower. h Either from the Royal Palace: or from some other smaller house which the King formerly built there, either for prospect or for defence. i A place oft mentioned: of which see Jer. 32. 2. & 38. 7, 13.

26 Moreover the Nethinims dwell in * ‖ Ophel k, unto the place over against * the water-gate l toward the east, and the tower that lieth out.

[a] 2 Chron. 27. 3. [b] Or, the tower. [c] Ch. 8. 3. & 12. 37.

k Or, who dwelt in Ophel: for this seems to be only a description of the person, whose work follows. l So called, because by that Gate Water was brought in, either by the People for the use of that part of the City, or rather by these Nethinims, who were Gibeonites, for the uſes of the Temple, for which they were drawers of Water, Jos. 9. 21.

27 After them the Tekoits m repaired another piece, over against the great tower that lieth out, even unto the wall of Ophel.

m The same spoken of before, v. 5. who having dispatched their first share sooner than their Brethren had done theirs, freely offered their help to supply the defects of others, who, as it seems, neglected that part of the work which had been committed to them. And this their double diligence is noted both for the greater shame of their Nobles, who would not do any part of it, v. 5. and for their own greater honour, who were so far from being corrupted by the bad Example of their Nobles, that they were rather quickened and enflamed to greater Zeal and Industry in this publick and pious work.

[a] 2 Kings, 11. 16. Jer. 31. 40. 28 From above * the horse-gate n repaired the priests, every one over against his house.

n Not that belonging to the King's Palace, 2 Chron. 23. 15. but one of the Gates of the City so called, either because nigh unto that were many Stables for Horses: or because the Horses commonly went out that way to their watering place.

29 After them repaired Zadock the son of Immer, over against his house: after him repaired also Shemajah the son of Shechaniah, the keeper of the east-gate o.

o To wit, of the City, or of the Temple: which being the chief Gate, was committed to his particular Care and Custody.

30 After him repaired Hananiah the son of Shelemiah, and Hanun the sixth son of Zalaph, another piece: after him repaired Meshullam the son of Berechiah, over against his chamber p.

p Or, chambers, the singular Number for the plural.

31 After him repaired Malchiah, the gold-smiths son, unto the place of the Nethinims, and of the merchants, over against the gate Miphkad, and to the ‖ going up of the corner. [Or, corner.

32 And between the going up of the corner unto the sheep-gate, repaired the goldsmiths and the merchants.

CHAP. IV.

The Enemies scoff and are angry, 1——3. Nehemiah prayeth against them, and continueth the work, 4, 5. Understanding the wrath and design of their Enemies, he setteth a watch, 7——12. He inserts and encourageth the Labourers, 13——18. And giveth military precepts, 19——23.

BUt it came to pass, that when * Sanballat heard that we built the wall, he was wroth, and took great indignation, and mocked the Jews a. [Ch. 3.

a Pretending contempt in his words when he had grief in his Heart.

2 And he spake before his brethren b and the army of Samaria c, and said, What do these feeble Jews? will they † fortifie themselves? will they sacrifice? will they make an end in a day d? will they revive the stones out of the heaps of the rubbish e which are burnt f?

[Or, restore.] [Or, finish.]

b Tobiah, v. 3. and Geshem, ch. 2. 19. and others, whom he calls his Brethren, because of their conjunction with him in office and interest. c Whom he designed hereby to incense against them, or at least to understand their minds therein. d Do they intend to begin, and finish the work, and keep the Feast of Dedication by Sacrifice all in one day? for if they spend any long time about it, they cannot think that we, and the rest of their Neighbours, will suffer them to do it. Thus he perſuaded himself and his Companions, that their attempt was ridiculous; and this mistake kept him from giving them any disturbance, till it was too late. So God infatuated him to his own grief and shame, and to the advantage of his people. e Will they pick up their broken stones out of the Ruines, and patch them together, for other Materials they want. f i. e. Which Stones were burnt, and broken, or confumed to powder, to wit, by the Chaldeans when they took the City. See ch. 1. 3.

3 Now Tobiah the Ammonite was by him, and he said, Even that which they build, if a fox go up g, he shall even break down their stone-wall h.

g He mentions the Foxes, because they were very numerous in those parts, and because in the late Desolations the Foxes did walk in the Mount and City of Zion, Lamen. 5. 18. wherewith he seems to upbraid them. h It is so low, that a Fox can easily get to the top of it, and so weak, and done so hastily and carelessly, that the least thrust will tumble it down.

4 Hear, O our God, for we are † despised: and turn their reproach upon their own head i, and give them for a prey in the land of captivity k:

[Or, scorn.]

i Let them be really as contemptible as they represent us to be. This, and the following requests, may seem harsh, but they were both just, as being directed against such malicious, inveterate, and implacable Enemies to God, and to his People, and necessary for the vindication, and defence of God's Honour, and Worship, and People. k Let them be removed from our Neighbourhood, and carried into Captivity; and there let them find no favour, but further severity. Or, give them for a prey to their Enemies, and let their carry them into the land of captivity.

5 And * cover not their iniquity, and let not their sin be blotted out from before thee l; for they have provoked thee to anger before the builders m.

[a] Psal. 109. 14. Jer. 18. 23.

l Let their wickedneſs be in thy sight, so as to bring down deserved judgments upon them, that either they may be convinced and reformed, or others may be warned by their example. God is said to cover or hide sin when he forbears to punish it. m i. e. They have not only provoked us Builders, but Thee also. Or, they have provoked or derided the builders to their face. i. e. openly and impudently, in contempt of God, and of this work, which is done by his direction and encouragement.

6 So built we the wall: and all the wall was joyned together unto the half thereof n: for the people had a mind to work.

n Either, 1. in length, or rather, 2. in height: for the whole circumference of the Wall was distributed among the Builders, who also had carried on thework, beginning at the sheep-gate, and ending there also, as appears from ch. 3. 1, 32. and the walls of Jerusalem are said to be made up, here v. 7.

7 But it came to pass that when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and the Arabians, and the Ammonites, and the Ashdodites, heard that † the walls of Jerusalem were made up, and that the breaches began to be stopped o, then they were very wroth,

[Or, Thus.] [Or, all will be upon you v. 8.] [Or, fortifying v. 7.]

o i. e. That the breaches which the Chaldeans had made, and had left in the walls, were well-nigh stopped up.

8 And conspired all of them together, to come and to fight against Jerusalem, and † to hinder it.

[Heb. to do.]

9 Nevertheless, we made our prayer unto our God, and set a watch against them day and night, because of them.

10 And Judah p said, The strength of the bearers of of burdens is decayed, and there is much rubbish q, so that we are not able to build the wall r.

p i. e. The Jews now dwelling in Judah, to wit, some of them being partly terrified by their Enemies, and partly wearied with hard and continual labours. q More than we are able suddenly to remove. r Being forced to spend our time in removing the rubbish, and other works imposed upon us; and therefore we muſt desist, at least for a season.

11 And our adversaries said, They shall not know, neither see, till we come in the midst among them, and slay them s, and cause the work to cease.

s We will come secretly, and unexpectedly upon them, so as they shall neither foresee their danger, nor be able to prevent it.

12 And it came to pass that when the Jews which dwelt by them t, came, they said unto us ten times u, From all places, whence ye shall return unto us, they will be upon you x.

[Or, That all will be upon us v. 8.] [Or, returne v. 4.]

t Or, among them: whereby they came to the knowledge of their Counsels. u i. e. Very often. A certain number for an uncertain. x i. e. They will invade you every way, by which we can come to you, or you to us; and therefore do you keep Watches on every side. But these words may be otherwise rendred thus, on all parts where you shall be quiet, or at rest. i. e. secure: for the Hebrew Schob signifies not only to return, but also to be quiet, or at ease, as Hebricians know) they will be upon us, i. e. upon our people, and City Jerusalem, where you are. And they rather say upon us than upon you, to manifeſt their affection to them, and conjunction with them, and that they looked upon themselves as Members of the same Body and Church with them, and took what was designed or done against them, as if it were against themselves, and therefore gave them this friendly notice. Or the place may be rendred thus, They told this (to wit, the Enemies intentions) to us ten times, coming from all places where they dwelt, or rested (Heb. you rested. The second person being put for the third, as it is both in the Hebrew Language, as Gen. 10. 19, 30. & 25. 18. and in the Hebrew Text, Psal. 22. 9. and in other Languages and Authors: of which see my Latine Synopſis upon Gen. 10. 19. and that it is so here, we have the confent of the Seventy, and Arabick, and of some modern and accurate Interpreters, who render it by a Verb of the third perſon) about us; whence they came purposely to, inform and warn us. Or thus, They told this to us ten times from all places whence they did return to us. Which phrase of returning to us, i. e. to Jerusalem, suits very well with those perſons who came up with their Brethren from Babylon to Jerusalem, and went thence into several parts of the Country to dwell, where they thought meet, and returned now, and at other times, as they had occasion, to their brethren at Jerusalem.

[Heb. from the two wayes] [Or, Tibe] [Or, &c.]

13 Therefore set I † in the lower places behind the wall y, and on the higher places z, I even set the people after their families, with their swords, their spears, and their bows.

y To stand by, and within the Walls where they were loweſt and not yet raiſed to their due heighth, and therefore moſt liable to the Enemies assault. z Upon the the tops of the Walls where they were finiſhed, and the Towers which were built here and there upon the Wall; whence they might shoot arrows, or throw stones against their Enemies, when they made their Approaches.

14 And I looked, and rose up, and said unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, Be not ye afraid of them: remember the LORD which is great and terrible, and fight for your brethren, your sons and your daughters, your wives, and your houses.

15 And it came to pass when our enemies heard that it was known unto us, and God had brought their counsel to nought, that we returned all of us to the wall, every one unto his work a.

a Our Enemies being frustrated in their hopes, which were wholly built upon the secrecy, and suddenneſs of their attempt, we knowing this, returned to our buſineſs.

16 And it came to pass from that time forth b, that the half of my servants c wrought in the work, and the other half of them held both the spears, the shields, and the bows, and the habergeons d; and the rulers were behind all e the house of Judah f.

b Left our Enemies should repeat their enterprize. c Of my domeſtick Servants, and of my Guards, who should have attended upon my own perſon. d i. e. All their weapons: they stood in their Arms prepared for Battel. e Partly to encourage them in their work, and sanctimes to affiſt with their own hands: and partly to direct and command them in case of an assault. f i. e. The Jews who were upon the wall.

17 They which built on the wall, and they that bare burdens, with those that laded, every one with one of his hands wrought in the work, and with the other hand held a weapon g.

g This is not to be taken properly, for they could never have done their work with one hand; and the next Verſe tells us the Sword was not in their hands, but by their sides; but figuratively; this being a proverbial speech, such as is frequent amongſt the Latines, as when they say of a man pretending kindneſs with evil design, He carries bread in one hand, and a stone in another.

18 For the builders, every one had his sword girded † by his side, and so built: and he that sounded the trumpet h was by me.

[Heb. with his loyns.]

h To call the People together, when, and where it was fit and neceſſary.

19 And I said unto the nobles, and to the rulers, and to the reſt of the people, The work is great and large, and we are separated upon the wall, one far from another.

20 In what place therefore ye hear the sound of the trumpet; resort ye thither unto us: our God shall fight for us.

21 So we laboured in the work: and half of them held the Spears, from the rising of the morning, till the stars † appeared i.

[Heb. arose.]

i Working very early, and very late.

22 Likewise at the same time said I unto the people, Let every one with his servant lodge within Jerusalem k, that in the night they may be a guard to us, and labour on the day.

k Not in the Suburbs, or adjoining Villages, as probably many of them did, returning thence to their work in the morning.

23 So neither I, nor my brethren, nor my servants, nor the men of the guard which followed me, none of us put off our clothes l, ‖ saving that every one put them off for washing m.

[Or, save that we went naked.]

l Neither by day, nor by night, as the manner is when we go to Bed; they constantly kept themselves in a readineſs for fighting. m When they were to waſh and cleanſe themselves from some natural or moral impurity, which might befal them or their Garments.

The People complain of their Brethren, by reason of their Debts, Mortgages, and Bondage, 1——5. Nehemiah rebuketh the Usurers, and causeth them to make a Covenant of Restitution, 6——13. He rebuketh his own Allowances, and keepeth Hospitality, 14——17. The quantity of his Preparations, and his Prayer, 18, 19.

AND there was a great cry of the people, and of their wives, against their brethren the Jews a.

a To wit, the great and rich ones who had oppreſſed their Brethren.

2 For there were that said, We, our sons, and our daughters are many b: therefore we take up corn for them c, that we may eat, and live.

b Which is in it self a Bleſſing, but to us is turned into a Curſe. c i. e. We are forced by our and their Neceſſities to take up Corn, to wit, upon their own unreaſonable terms, as is here implied, and plainly expreſſed in the following Relation. Others, Let us take up, &c. i. e. seeing we do the publick Work, let Provition be made for us and our Children out of the publick Stock. But this is no Petition, but a Complaint, as will appear.

3 Some also there were that said, We have morgaged our lands, vineyards, and houses, that we might buy corn, because of the dearth d.

d Which might eaſily happen, both from the multitude of the People now in and near Jerusalem, and from their building work, which wholly took them up, and kept them from taking care of their own Families, and from the Expectation and Dread of their Enemies Invaſion, which hindred them from going abroad to fetch in Provision, and the People round about from bringing it in to them; or from divers other causes.

4 There were also that said, We have borrowed money for the kings tribute e, and that upon our lands and vineyards.

e Which was laid upon them all. See Ezra 4. 13. & 7. 24.

5 Yet now our flesh is as the flesh of our brethren f, our children as their children: and lo, we bring into bondage g our sons and our daughters h to be servants, and some of our daughters are brought into bondage already, neither is it in our power to redeem them i: for other men have our lands and vineyards.

f We are of the same Nature, and Nation, and Religion with them, although they treat us as if we were Beaſts or Heathens, forgetting both Humanity and God's Law, Deut. 15. 7. g We are compelled to ſell them for our Subsiſtence. h Which was an evidence of their great Neceſſity, because their Daughters were more tender, and weak, and unfit for Hard-service, and more expoſed to Injuries than their Sons. i Which we are allowed to do, Exod. 21. 7. but have not wherewith to do it.

6 And I was very angry when I heard their cry, and these words.

7 Then † I consulted with my self, and I rebuked the nobles, and the rulers, and said unto them, Ye exact usury every one of his brother k. And I set a great assembly against them l,

[Heb. my heart consulted in me.]

k Which was against the plain and poſitive Law of God, Deut. 23. 19, 20. especially in this time of publick Calamity and Dearth. l I called a publick Congregation, both of the Rulers and People, the greateſt part whereof were free from this Guilt, and therefore more impartial Judges of the matter, and reproſentated it to them, that the Offenders might be convinced, and reform this Abuſe; if not for fear of God, or Love of their Brethren, yet at leaſt for the publick Shame, and the Cries of the Poor.

8 And I said unto them, We, after our ability, have * redeemed our brethren the Jews, which were sold unto the heathen m; and will ye even sell your brethren? or shall they be sold unto us n? Then held they their peace, and found nothing to answer.

[a] Lev. 25. 48.

m I.

m I, and my Brethren, and Predeceſſors, have uſed our utmoſt Intereſt and Power, both with the Kings of Perſia, that our Brethren might be redeemed from that Bondage into which God had told them for their Sins; and with particular Perſons in Babylon, and Perſia, and the adjacent parts, whoſe Bond-ſlaves the Jews were, and who would not part with them without a Price, which we paid and who would not part with them without a Price, which we paid for them. n Do you expect that we ſhould pay you a Price for them, as we did to the Babylonians? Or, muſt we uſe as much importunity to ſolicite you for their Redemption, as we did to their Enemies?

9 Alſo I ſaid, It is not good o that ye do: ought ye not to walk * in the fear of our God, becauſe of the reproach of the heathen our enemies p?

o i.e. It is a very bad and wicked thing; as this ſame Phraſe is uſed, Prov. 16. 29. & 17. 26. & 18. 5. & 19. 2. A common Figure, called Meioſis, where more is underſtood than is expreſſed. p Who are round about you, and obſerve all your Actions, and will loath and reproach both you for ſuch barbarous uſage of your Brethren, and Religion for your ſakes: Which if you have any Love or Reſpect either to God, or to your ſelves, you will prevent.

10 I likewiſe, and my brethren q, and my ſervants r † might exact of them money and corn s: I pray you let us leave off this uſury.

† Heb. do lend them money. So Gr.

q To wit, in Office; thoſe who are employed with me in the Government of this People. r In my name, and for my uſe. s As a juſt Recompence for our Pains and Care for the Publick Good, to which we wholly devote our ſelves, even to the neglect of all our private Concerns. But I will not rigorouſly exact, but do freely remit my own right, which, in thoſe Circumſtances, it is my duty to do; and therefore you alſo ought to do ſo, ſeeing I lay no burden upon you, but what I am willing to bear a part of upon my own Shoulders.

11 Reſtore, I pray you, to them, even this day, their lands, their vineyards, their olive-yards, and their houſes, alſo t the hundredth part u of the money, and of the corn, the wine, and the oil, that ye exact of them.

t Alſo require not: which is to be ſupplied out of the next Verſe, where it is expreſſed in their anſwer to, and grant of this deſire. u Which they required every Month for the uſe of their Monies or Goods, according to the Cuſtom then uſed, and afterwards by the Romans.

12 Then ſaid they, We will reſtore them x, and will require nothing of them y, ſo will we do as thou ſayeſt. Then I called the prieſts z, and * took an oath of them a, that they ſhould do according to this promiſe.

* Jer. 34. 8, 9.

x To wit, the Lands and Houſes. y For the hundredth part. z Either 1. As Delinquents in that kind; or rather as Witneſſes; that the Oath being taken before the Prieſts, who acted in God's Name and ſtead, the Oath might make the more deep and durable Impreſſion upon their Conſciences. See Numb. 5. 19. 1 Kings 8. 31, 32. a Not of the Prieſts laſt mentioned, for it doth not appear that any of them were guilty, and it is abſurd to think that they only were guilty of this Extortion, as they muſt be, if this them belongs to them only; but of all the Perſons who were before charged with this Crime, 10, 3, 4. whether Prieſts or others, as is evident from the Text, and from the nature of the thing.

13 Alſo I ſhook my lap b, and ſaid, So God ſhake out every man from his houſe, and from his labour c, that performeth not this promiſe; even thus he he ſhaken out, and † emptied. And all the congregation ſaid, Amen, and praiſed the LORD. And the people did according to this promiſe.

† Heb. emptied. So Gr.

b i.e. The Lap or extream parts of my Garment, which I firſt folded together, and then ſhook it and ſcattered it afunder. This was a Form of Swearing then in uſe. c i.e. From enjoying what he hath got by his labour.

14 Moreover from the time that I was appointed to be their governour in the land of Judah, from the twentieth year, even unto the two and thirtieth year of Artaxerxes the king, that is, twelve years d, I and my brethren e have not eaten the bread of the governour f.

d Not that he continued ſo long together at Jeruſalem, of which ſee ch. 2. 6. but that he ſo long governed Jeruſalem by himſelf when he was preſent, and in his abſence, by a Deputy. e Either my Fellow-officers, or they whom I left in my ſtead, who, as they were to do my work, ſo might have required my rights. f i.e. That allowance which by the Laws of God and Nations, and of the King of Perſia, the Governours might require for the Maintenance or their own Dignity and Office, and of the publick Service.

15 But the former governours g that had been before me, were chargeable unto the people, and had taken of them bread and wine, beſide forty ſhekels of ſilver h; yea even their ſervants bare rule over the people i: but ſo did not I, becauſe of the fear of God k.

g Not Ezra, who was no Governour, but only a Prieſt ſent to teach them, and to reſtrain Church-abuſes, nor Zerubbabel, but others between him and Nehemiah, whom he forbears to name, becauſe he deſigned not to diſgrace any Perſon, but only to reform the Abuſes. h Which they required of the People for every day to defray their other Expences. i i.e. Ruled them with Rigor and Cruelty; which fault of the Servants is charged upon their Maſters, the former Governours, becauſe they did not reſtrain nor puniſh them. k Becauſe I feared to break Gods Commands, or to incur his Diſpleaſure by ſuch immoderate and unſeaſonable Oppreſſions of the People. This he ſpeaks not to commend himſelf, but rather to diminiſh his Praiſe, and to ſhew that this was no heroical Action, nor work of Supererogation, to be admired rather than imitated; but only his Duty in that caſe, which for his own ſake he durſt not decline; and conſequently that it was their Duty alſo now to relinquiſh even thoſe Rights which in other Times and Conditions they might lawfully require.

16 Yea, alſo I continued in the work of this wall l, neither bought we any land m: and all my ſervants were gathered thither unto the work.

l Overſeeing, directing, and encouraging the Workmen, which was my whole buſineſs; and this at my own Coſt. m Of our poor Brethren, whoſe Neceſſities gave me abundant opportunity of enriching my ſelf with good Bargains. But I durſt not build my Houſe upon other Mens Ruins.

17 Moreover, there were † at my table an hundred and fifty † of the Jews and Rulers n, beſides thoſe that came unto us from among the heathen that are about us.

† Or, were ſitting. † Or, about.

n Not only Jews of the inferior ſort, for whom meaner Proviſions might ſuffice, but alſo their Rulers, ſuch as there were in many places, for whom better Proviſion was fit; who reſorted to him upon all occaſions, either to pour out their Complaints, as here they did; or to give him notice of the Enemies deſigns; or to receive his orders and directions.

18 Now that which was prepared for me daily, was one ox, and ſix choice ſheep; alſo fowls were prepared for me, and once in ten days, ſtore of all ſorts of wine: yet for all this required not I the bread of the governour o, becauſe the bondage was heavy upon this people.

o But bore it out of my own Eſtate: Which was very conſiderable, his Office in the Perſian Court being a place of very great Profit as well as Honour, and that Profit no doubt continued to him in this abſence from the King. From this great and daily Expence, it ſeems more than probable, that Nehemiah did not continue here for twelve years together, as ſome would think, or at leaſt that he did not this all that time, but only during the great and preſent Exigences and Diſtreſſes of the Jews, which ceaſed in good part after the Walls were built, and the Hearts of all the Jews revived, and their Enemies diſpirited thereby.

19 * Think upon me, my God, for good, according to all that I have done for this people p.

* Ch. 13. 22.

p As I have done thy People good for thy ſake, ſo do me good for thine own ſake; for thou art pleaſed, and haſt promiſed graciouſly to reward us according to our works, and to meet to Men the ſame meaſure which they meet to others.

CHAP. VI.

Sanballat and Tobiah ſending to Nehemiah to meet them, intend to do him miſchief, 1, 2. Nehemiah's anſwer, 3. They charge him with Rebellion, 4——7. his anſwer to it, 8, 9. Shemaiah's falſe Prophecies to diſcourage Nehemiah, 10. his reply, 11——13. The work is finiſhed to the terror of the Enemies, 15, 16. Secret Correſpondence between the Nobles of Judah and Tobiah, 17, 18.

NOW it came to paſs, when Sanballat, and Tobiah, and Geſhem the Arabian, and the reſt of our enemies heard that I had built the wall, and that there was no breach left therein; (though at that time I had not ſet up the doors a upon the gates.)

a Not all of them. See on ch. 3. 1, 2, 3.

2 Then Sanballat, and Geſhem ſent unto me, ſaying, Come, let us meet together b in ſome one of the villages in the plain of Ono c. But they thought to do me miſchief.

b To conſult about the common Service of our Maſter the King of Perſia; or to make a friendly Accommodation. c A City in the Tribe of Benjamin: Of which ſee chap. 11. 35. and 1 Chron. 8. 12.

3 And I ſent meſſengers unto them, ſaying, I am doing a great work d, ſo that I cannot come down: why ſhould the work ceaſe, whilſt I leave it, and come down to you.

d He tells them one, but not the only, nor the principal reaſon of his refuſal, becauſe his coming might cauſe the work to ceaſe, not only by the neglect of it during his abſence, but by his death, which they by this means might compaſs; though he thought it not fit to expreſs ſo much to them.

4 Yet they ſent unto me four times after this ſort, and I anſwered them after the ſame manner.

5 Then ſent Sanballat his ſervant unto me, in like manner the fifth time, with an open letter e in his hand:

e Thereby bidding open Defiance to him, as before he had uſed ſecret Practices; and intimating that he would do that by manifeſt force, which he had intended to do by ſudden ſurprize.

6 Wherein was written, It is reported among the heathen f, and ‖ Gaſhmu g ſaith it, that thou and the Jews think to rebel: for which cauſe thou buildeſt the wall, that thou maiſt be their king, according to theſe words h.

‖ Or, Gaſhmu ſaith it, that is, the Arabians ſay ſo.

f The neighbouring People whom you proudly and diſdainfully call Heathens or Gentiles. g Called Geſhem, v. 1. Who affirmed it and would prove it: h i.e. According to theſe reports; or, that thou muſt juſtifie and verifie theſe Rumours. Others according to theſe things, i.e. When theſe things which thou art now doing ſhall be finiſhed. But the firſt ſenſe ſeems moſt agreeable to the uſe of the ſame words in the next verſe.

7 And thou haſt alſo appointed prophets to preach of thee at Jeruſalem, ſaying, There is a king in Judah: and now ſhall it be reported to the king, according to theſe words, Come now therefore, and let us take counſel together i.

i We have now a King of our own Nation, and are free from the Bondage of a Foreign Yoke. k That we may impartially examine the matter, that either thy Innocency may be cleared, and falſe Accuſations may be prevented; or if thou art guilty, the King may be informed.

8 Then I ſent unto him, ſaying, There are no ſuch things done as thou ſaiſt, but thou feigneſt them out of thine own heart.

9 For they all made us afraid l, ſaying, Their hands ſhall be weakned from the work, that it be not done. Now therefore, O God, ſtrengthen my hands.

l i.e. They endeavoured to do ſo, and actually did terrifie ſome Perſons.

10 Afterward I came unto the houſe of Shemajah, the ſon of Delajah m, the ſon of Mehetabel, who was ſhut up n; and he ſaid, Let us meet together in the houſe of God, within the Temple o; and let us ſhut the doors of the temple; for they will come to ſlay thee; yea, in the night will they come to ſlay thee.

m Probably one of the chief of the Prieſts, 1 Chron. 24. 26. n In his Chamber adjoyning to the Temple, upon pretence of ſingular Devotion, Sequeſtration from the World, and ſpecial Acquaintance, and much Communion with God in his Retirements, after the manner of the Prophets; and withal upon pretence of certain knowledge, which he had by the Spirit of God and of Prophecy, concerning their approaching Danger, from which they could be ſafe no where but in the Temple, which the very Heathens owned for a Sanctuary, which they might not violate. o For the danger is ſo near, that we cannot ſafely tarry here ſo long as to conſult what to do in this juncture. His deſign herein was partly to diſcourage and diſgrace Nehemiah, and thereby to ſtrike a Dread into all the People, and give a ſpeedy and full ſtop to the work; partly to prepare the way for the Enemies to aſſault and take the City, whilſt Nehemiah was ſhut up, and unable to give them any oppoſition; partly to juſtifie their Accuſation of Nehemiah to the King by his flight upon it; and partly, that there by the help of other Prieſts, who were conſcious of his Plot, he might either deſtroy him, or ſecure his Perſon till the City by ſome of his Complices were betrayed into the Enemies hands.

11 And I ſaid, Should ſuch a man as I p flee? and who is there that being as I am, would go into the temple to ſave his life q? I will not go in.

p I the chief Governour, upon whoſe Preſence, and Counſel, and Conduct, the very Life and Being of the whole City and Nation in a great meaſure depends: I who have profeſſed ſuch Reſolution, and Courage, and Confidence in God. I who have had ſuch eminent Experience of God's gracious and powerful Aſſiſtances, of his calling me to this Employment, and carrying me through it when our Danger was greater than now it is. Shall I now diſhonour God and Religion, and betray the People and City of God by my Cowardiſe? God forbid. This is not the counſel of God, nor of a friend, but a Plot of mine Enemies, as it here follows. q As if I had an evil Cauſe or Conſcience; as if I were a Malefactor, who fled thither for Refuge; as if I durſt not truſt God with my Preſervation, except I went into the Temple, which it is not lawful for me, being no Prieſt, to do.

12 And lo, I perceived r that God had not ſent him, but that he pronounced this prophecy againſt me: for Tobiah and Sanballat had hired him.

r Partly by conſidering the ſinful Nature and pernicious Conſequence of this Counſel; partly by the Suggeſtion of God's Spirit, whoſe Counſel and Help I fought in this matter; and partly by the Event which diſcovered that there was no ſuch Danger from the Approach of the Enemy, as was pretended.

13 Therefore was he hired, that I ſhould be afraid, and do ſo, and ſin s, and that they might have matter for an evil report, that they might reproach me t.

s By going into a place forbidden to me, and that in ſuch a time, and manner, and upon ſuch an occaſion; which would have been both Sinful and Shameful. See on v. 11. t As a Coward, and conſcious of my own guilt, that ſo they might make me contemptible and odious, both to my own People, and to the King of Perſia.

14 My God, think thou upon Tobiah and Sanballat according to theſe their works, and on the propheteſs Noadiah u, and the reſt of the prophets that would have put me in fear.

u One that falſly pretended to the Spirit of Prophecy, to deceive and deſtroy Nehemiah. He prays to God to remember and puniſh theſe falſe Prophets, becauſe he was not yet in a capacity to do it, having ſuch powerful Enemies round about him, and ſo many rich and potent Jews highly diſcontented for their great loſs by his means, ch. 5.

15 So the wall was finiſhed in the twenty and fifth day of the month Elul x, in fifty and two days y.

x Anſwering part to our Auguſt, and part to September. y To be computed either 1. From the time of Sanballat's ſending this Letter to him: Or, as moſt judge, from the beginning of the Work: Which though a great thing, yet it is not at all incredible, conſidering 1. That the Walls and Gates were not wholly pulled down by the Chaldeans: For to what purpoſe ſhould they make that vaſte of time and labour. 2. That where the Walls were thrown down, yet the Materials remained, which they now uſed. 3. That in the building of the Walls they minded not Curioſity, but only Strength and Safety. 4. The great numbers of the Builders, and the prudent Diſtribution of the Work among them, and their admirable Zeal and Diligence in the Work. 5. That there want not parallel Inſtances even in Heathen Authors; for both Curtius and Arian report, that Alexander the Great built the Walls of new Alexandria, which contained above ſeven Miles in length, within twenty days ſpace. 6. That there was an eminent hand of God in carrying on this Work, which their very Enemies here acknowledge.

16 And it came to paſs, that when all our enemies † heard thereof, and all the heathen that were about us ſaw theſe things, they were much caſt down in their own eyes z, for they perceived a that this work was wrought of our God b.

† Heb. and fell their own eyes.

z i.e. In their Opinion, or themſelves being Judges. For though ordinarily Men are very prone to judge partially, and ſtill to flatter themſelves with vain Hopes and Fancies, yet this caſe was ſo clear and remarkable, that they began to deſpair. Now they ſaw that all was loſt, that their Deſigns were broken, and that their Miſchief was now likely to fall upon their own heads. a By that admirable Courage, and Conſtancy, and quickneſs wherewith this Work was managed, notwithſtanding all their Difficulties and Diſcouragements. b That it was the Work of that mighty God of Iſrael, whom they had great reaſon to fear; and withal they took it for an ill Omen to them, and a ſure Preſage that God would ſtill watch over that City and People, and cruſh thoſe who ſhould oppoſe or diſturb them.

17 Moreover, in thoſe days the nobles of Judah † ſent many letters unto Tobiah c, and the letters of Tobiah came unto them.

c Correſponding with him againſt Nehemiah, and againſt their own City and Nation.

18 For there were many in Judah ſworn unto him d, becauſe he was the ſon in law of Shechaniah the ſon of Arah; and his ſon Ichanan had taken the daughter of Meſhullam, the ſon of Berechiah e.

d To be true to him in the proſecution of his wicked deſigns. e This is noted to ſhew the miſchief of ſuch unequal and forbidden Marriages; and how reaſonable and neceſſary Ezra's Action was in the diſſolution of them.

19 Alſo they reported his good deeds before me, and uttered my ‖ words to him: and Tobiah ſent letters to put me in fear.

‖ Or, matters.

CHAP. VII.

Nehemiah committeth the Charge of Jeruſalem to Hanani and Hananiah, 1, 2. His Advice to them, 3, 4. He finds out a Regiſter of the Genealogy of them that came at firſt out of Babylon, 5——64. The whole number of them, 66, 67. Their Subſtance, 68, 69. Their Offerings, 70——73.

NOW it came to paſs when the wall was built, and I had ſet up the doors, and the porters, and the ſingers, and the Levites were appointed a.

a i.e. When I had taken order that the Levites ſhould be ſummoned from all places to celebrate the Dedication of the Wall, as it was done, ch. 12. 27.

2 That I gave my brother Hanani b, and Hananiah the ruler of the palace c, charge over Jeruſalem d: (for he e was a faithful man f, and feared God g above many h.)

b Of whom ſee ch. 1. 1, 2. c i.e. Of Nehemiah's Court, juſtly ſo called, becauſe he lived in great Splendor, and like a Vice-Roy, though it was wholly at his own charge. d To preſerve its Peace and Safety, and to take particular care of the ſhutting the Gates of the City. e To wit, Hananiah laſt mentioned; for it was needleſs to ſay any thing in commendation of Hanani, who had ſhewn his Piety and Zeal for God and his Country, in taking a tedious Journey from Jeruſalem to Shuſhan, to inform Nehemiah of the ſad Eſtate of Jeruſalem, and to implore his helping hand to relieve it, chap. 1. f He choſe not Magiſtrates and Officers out of any partial or carnal Reſpects to his own Kindred, or Acquaintance, or Favourites, but from true Piety and Prudence, ſuch as were fitteſt for, and would be moſt Faithful in their Employments. g This is added as the Ground and Reaſon, both why he was Faithful, and why Nehemiah put ſuch Truſt and Confidence in him, becauſe he knew that the Fear of God would keep him from yielding to thoſe Temptations to Perfidiouſneſs, which he was likely to meet with when Nehemiah was gone, and againſt which a Man deſtitute of God's fear hath no ſufficient fence. h More than moſt Men did, or, above the common pitch of Piety.

3 And I ſaid unto them, Let not the gates of Jeruſalem be opened, until the ſon be hot i; and while the k ſtand by, let them ſhut the doors, and bar them, and appoint watches of the Inhabitants of Jeruſalem, every one in his watch, and every one to be over againſt his houſe l.

i i.e. Till it be clear and broad day; when Enemies approaching may be diſcovered, and the People of the City will be ready for the Defence in caſe of an Aſſault. k i.e. The Watches appointed to that end, as is manifeſt from the following words. l i.e. Every one in his turn, keeping watch with others in that watching-place which is next to his houſe.

† Heb. by the hand of Lords, or Superiors.

4 Now the city was † large and great: but the people were few therein, and the houſes were not built m. m i.e. Not all, nor compleatly built; but only ſome ſlight Buildings of Boards or Stones were made for the preſent uſe of the generality o. the People.

5 And my God put into mine heart n, to gather together the nobles and the rulers, and the people o, that they might be reckoned by genealogy p, and I found a regiſter of the genealogy of them which came up at the firſt q, and found written therein;

n This Action, though meerly prudential, he doth not aſcribe to himſelf, or his own Wit, but to the Gift, and Grace of God diverting and inclining him to it. o Not only for the particular end here mentioned, but for divers other weighty purpoſes and matters, of which the following Chapters treat. p That ſo it might appear to what Families each perſon belonged, and where their ancient Habitations lay, which for a great number of them were in the City, the replenihing of which was now his deſign. q To wit, with Zerubbabel, as it follows, v. 7. But this following Catalogue differs in ſome particulars from that Ezra 2. of which ſee the Notes there.

* Ezra 2. 1, &c.

6 * Theſe are the children of the province, that went up out of the captivity, of thoſe that had been carried away, whom Nebuchadnezzar the king of Babylon had carried away, and came again to Jeruſalem, and to Judah, every one to his city;

7 Who came with Zerubbabel: Jeſhua, Nehemia, Azariah, Raamiah, Nahamani, Mordecai, Bilſhan, Miſpereth, Bigvai, Nahum, Baanah: the number, I ſay, of the men of the people of Iſrael was this:
